

Girl Reporter Finds New Thrills (?) In Taking Pictures

By SANDY MARTIN

After a year and a half of earning my car payment as a journalist, I have finally come to realize that some phases of the newspaper world education didn't prepare me for. The area is photography, and the dangers of getting a really good picture. I'm one of the 40 aspiring photojournalists enrolled in photography 3313 at Texas Tech the same way. We spent four months sitting in the basement of the journalism building, learning the trade techniques (which combined with creative genius) would eventually earn me a Pulitzer Prize.

Study Basics
Learning the basics of aim, focus and shoot. I was divided and one battered twin lens camera doled out to every four students. Then, we were given two weeks for each assignment. Since most of the class had visions of working for the New York Times or at least the Dallas Morning-News, we all assumed we would have assignments that somehow related to newspaper work. We assumed wrongly.

Ranging from asinine to ridiculous, our assignments were time consuming and useless. After a basic experience with light and shadows, we went on to more advanced work such as visual metaphors, photo series and one rather nebulous assignment entitled "The Great American Dream." The series was to be on the subject of our choice, and it was supposed to play up our creative talents. While the more artistic males in the class used this opportunity to photograph the female body in various stages of undress, I spent two days sneaking around the Lubbock Cemetery searching for unusual tombstones.

Grave Situation

My professor considered grave monuments a dead subject, and consequently gave me a low grade. My grades didn't improve much during the semester, and neither did my subject matter.

To be totally honest, my highest grade all year was a B and I earned it with what my professor called an "interesting" photo of a doorknob.

None of this, however, prepared me for the assignments I get at The Slatonite. My editor never asks me for anything artistic or creative — just dangerous.

One of my favorite assignments is shooting the Tiger football games each Friday night. I am an avid football fan, so I really don't mind risking life and limb for a good action shot. But sports pictures were never mentioned in photography class, and I had to learn the hard way that holding a camera does not make one immune to getting run over once in a while.

To get a sharp, close action shot, a player needs to be within about 10 or 12 feet of me. But there's no guarantee that once they get that close they'll simply smile and run on. In fact, odds are they'll get even closer and if I don't move, I'll end up on the bottom of a dogpile.

That's happened twice since the season began, and I really feel a little foolish apologizing to 6'2" tackles for getting in their way.

Close Contact

The first time I was hit was the first time I ever tried to take football pictures, which was the Levelland scrimmage. I was stupid enough to get down on my knees for a low level shot, and as a reward for my "arty" efforts, I received a jammed finger.

I got in the way again Friday night, but this time I made a mistake when I second guessed our defense. An Abernathy player had the ball and was running to my side of the field. I figured he would be brought down within bounds. I figured wrong. This skirmish with several players netted me a bruised hip and a huge grass stain on my knit pants.

Although I have accepted my football assignments cheerfully, I was somewhat apprehensive about an assignment that came up Monday.

Roger Evans of Slaton Flying Service needed some aerial pictures of Oscar Buxkemper's farm and I unwittingly agreed to take them.

What really happened was that Editor Dalton Wood tricked me with a simple question. I was in the darkroom printing some photographs when Dalton asked me if I could take a picture at 1:30.

"Sure," I said through the closed door. "Where at?"

"The airport," he answered calmly.

"Okay. What's happening out there?" When he explained what Roger needed, and that we were going to fly over the land in a helicopter for the picture, I almost went into cardiac arrest.

Well-Grounded

I have never been in an airplane of any kind, and I suffer from terminal acrophobia. When Dalton asked me if I'd ever flown before, I told him no, but I had taken the elevator to the top of the Great Plains Life Building once.

Aerial photography — another subject we never covered in Photo 3313.

When I got to the airport Roger and Mr. Buxkemper were waiting. I started edging toward the helicopter with doors, and Roger headed for the bubble-top one with no door on the passenger side, my side. Logically I knew I couldn't take a picture through a door or window, but still I had hope until Roger pointed out my seat in the doorless chopper.

Since Mr. Buxkemper was seated in the middle, he had only a lap belt to secure him. Getting him settled took only a few seconds, but my elaborate system of seat belts (Thank the Lord!) took several minutes to master.

Two straps came over my shoulders and fastened to the seat belt. While Roger was hooking all these together, he warned me not to play with the seat belt buckle because it would undo everything.

"Just don't accidentally hit this and everything will be all right," said Roger. "Keep these shoulder straps loose so you can turn and move around in here."

Complete Attention

Assuring Roger I would not touch anything, accidentally or otherwise, I secretly tightened all the straps while he secured himself in the cock.

Mr. Buxkemper seemed to be calm about the whole thing. But then, why shouldn't he? He had a door and a door on one side and me on the other. There was no way he could fall out.

Falling out of that helicopter was my prime worry from the start. I have the utmost of faith in Roger as a pilot, so I didn't waste time and energy worrying about crashing — just about falling out.

I was beginning to develop some measure of confidence while we sat inside the helicopter letting it warm up. But Roger lifted off without giving me any warning, and my confidence swirled away with the dust below us.

When next I opened my eyes, we were several hundred feet in the air, flying south.

I can't describe how I felt. I was petrified, thinking that I was going to fall out of that helicopter. I was oblivious to the noise of the rotors, the rush of the wind and the sheer beauty of flying. I was scared and uneasy, and my face must have shown it.

Shows Concern

Roger (perhaps a little concerned with the possibility of having to clean up the interior of the helicopter) asked me several times how I was doing. Not trusting myself to open my mouth, I just nodded (being careful not to move any part of my body except my head).

I gradually got used to the view of a doll house size Slaton and I was actually beginning to enjoy this new experience, when Roger banked to the right and a slight pull at my restraining belts reminded me there was nothing but a lot of air between me and the ground.

We circled the farmhouse twice and by some miracle I managed to shoot a half dozen pictures.

I fervently hoped the pictures would be all right. I was not anxious to reshoot this particular assignment.

Roger took the scenic route back and we flew over most of Slaton. I can honestly say that by the end of the flight I had conquered my fears and I was having Slaton's workhorse, Bill McClesky, ran for 212 yards in 34 trips, scoring three touchdowns as the Tigers rolled up 308 yards rushing and had 19 first downs to 11 for the home team.

Slaton's offensive line did a terrific job throughout the game, and Coach Cook and First Assistant Tommy Boyd commended the entire group up front for some really fine blocking.

The offensive line, which for most of the game included Michael Bednarz, Russell Heinrich, Mark Ethridge, Tracy Angle, Loran Roberts, Tim Bourn and Bill Burks "really came off the ball fast and drove the defenders back," said Boyd. "They did great."

This week the Tigers will host always-tough Denver City, which lost last week to Crane, 14-8. If Slaton should beat the Mustangs, it would be the first time ever in 14 meetings, in which DC has scored 541 points to just 51 for Slaton. Because of some of the lopsided scores DC has run up on Slaton—especially in the 1960s—Slaton fans would rather beat this team than any other, and a special edition of The Slatonite is planned for Saturday morning after the game if the Tigers win it.

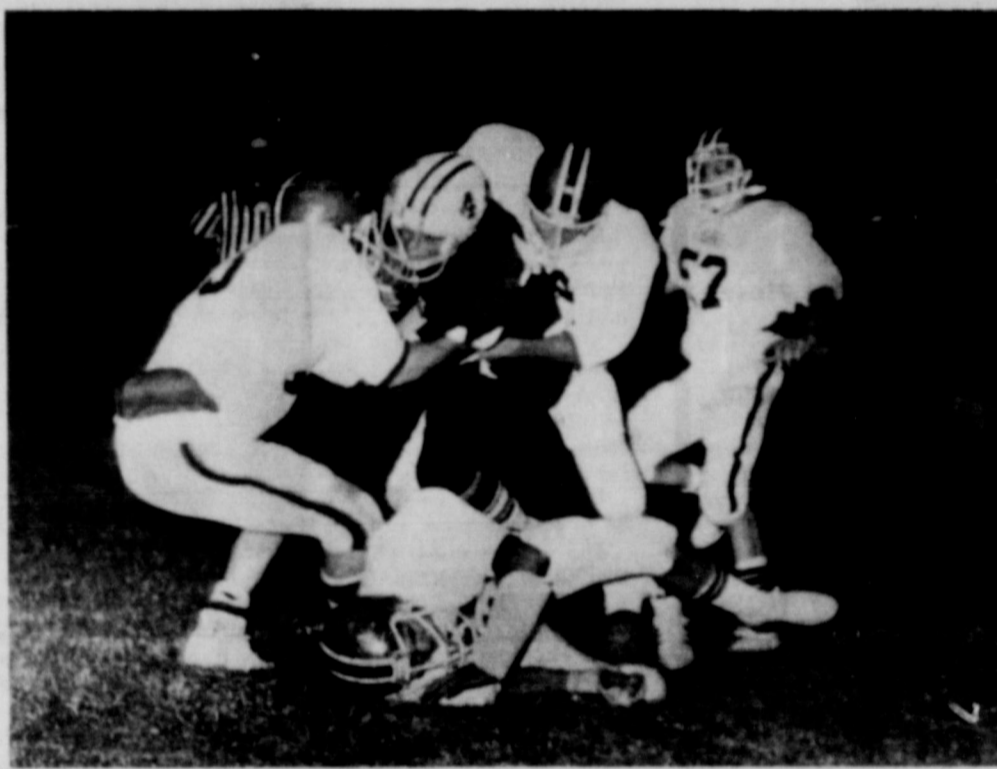

The only other extra ever published by The Slatonite was when the Tigerettes won state.

Abernathy led 7-0 at the end of the first half on a pass to Davis from Quarterback Wayne Riley, with Davis also kicking the point. Slaton got as deep as the Antelopes 5 in the second quarter, but an interception stopped that.

Riley scored from the 1 to give Abernathy a 13-0 lead midway of the third quarter, with a kick no good. Slaton kept grinding out yards until McClesky went around right end to score from the 9. An attempted pass for two points was incomplete, and it was 13-6, Abernathy.

Slaton Savings And Loan Stockholders Vote Name Change

Fred Myers, executive vice president of Slaton Savings and Loan Association, has announced a change of name of that organization to Sentry Savings Association.

The name change unanimously was authorized by the Association's stockholders Sept. 16. Along with the new name, Myers also announced the scheduled opening of the firm's newest office in Lubbock, scheduled for Jan. 1, 1976.

The Association presently is operating offices in Slaton, Post, Tahoka and Lamesa.

Myers added, "We're growing, and we owe it all to our customers. Their trust has grown into what will be our fifth office location and we'd like to return the favor by offering more and better services and greater convenience to all our customers."

There has been no change made in the Association's stockholders or in its management.

"The name change simply gives us more flexibility for future growth," said Myers.

Slaton came back in the fourth period, first with McClesky scoring from the 1, then dashing 15 yards for another with 7:21 left to make it 19-18, Abernathy. McClesky then lunged for two points, and jubilant Slaton fans saw their team leading 20-19. But with 3:03 left, Davis took another pass and romped 68 yards for another TD. Another pass interception prevented Slaton from scoring in the remaining time.

In addition to McClesky's good running, Slaton's Steve Wood, who subbed in at quarterback for Mike Tumlinson in the last half, ran six times for 47 yards. Tumlinson gained 21 in six carries, Gipson 14 in four trips.

The loss gave Slaton a season mark of 1-3, with all losses close ones, and all due to long pass plays from the opposition.

PEOPLE I know have been for years that if the auto companies wanted to, they could make cars which get 40 or 50 miles per gallon of even with the larger engines so common in recent years. Apparently there is some truth to those assertions, since 1976 cars are going to get a lot more mileage than the 1975s, or at least, the claim.

Model A and the 1940 Fords and used to get pretty good mileage, or more aged friends tell me. But cars gradually got more powerful, and cars grew inches and a lot of pounds every year. Some of the new models in the 60s got 10 miles per gallon.

I had a bottle of water to pour on the fuel tank in the summertime, because every time I went to go up a long hill it would vaporize. It needed rings, so every time I'd take the spark plugs out and they'd be off so they'd fire for a couple of miles. In spite of all that, it had lots of power. Steering wasn't too great, because the wheel about half a turn before it happened. The tail end stuck 'way up in the air and as you rocketed down the hill it would sway in rhythm with the

Hawkins-Jordan Vows Repeated

Sheila Ann Hawkins and Ricky Lloyd Jordan were united in marriage at 3 p.m. Sept. 27 in the Golf Course Road Church of Christ, Midland.

Dr. Robert A. Hawkins, father of the bride, read the double ring ceremony for his daughter and for the son of Edward L. Jordan, Acuff.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin styled with long sleeves and a lace bodice. Her detachable train fell from her shoulders and was accented with lace and lace roses. The bride wore a tulle veil which was caught in a crown of lace which featured seed pearl accents.

Maid of honor was Connie Jordan, Lorenzo. Bridesmaids were Paula Kelsey, Madisonville, and Donna Jordan, Lorenzo.

Attendants were attired in long dresses of burgandy velvet trimmed in pink. They carried pink and burgandy nosegays with burgandy streamers. Their headpieces were made of pink net caught with deep pink roses.

Best man was Tommy Harrell, Ralls. Groomsmen were Gary Thornton and Darron McGee, both of Lubbock.

Kayla Haralson was flower girl.

Tom Gordon was soloist.

A reception in the church followed the ceremony.

The couple is now at home near Lorenzo.

The bride is a 1974

graduate of Roosevelt High School and is currently employed by Al Cooper Ford in Ralls.

Boosters Express Optimism

A large crowd of still-daunted Slaton Tiger boosters turned out Monday night for the weekly Tiger Club meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building, expressing faith in the team and confidence that the Tigers can beat Denver City for the first time ever.

"Our only major lapses this season have been in the defensive secondary," said head coach Eddie Cook. "I still think we have one of the best teams in this area, and I still think we can beat Denver City."

Cook pointed out that all three of the Tigers' losses have been because of breakdowns in pass coverage, but that he was not blaming the youngsters altogether. He said coaching was at fault in not preparing for the option pass which beat Slaton against Abernathy.

Cook noted that Denver City will bring a very large team to Slaton with players weighing 242, 239 and 240 in the alignment. But Slaton coaches had high praise for the Tigers' own line, both on offense and defense.

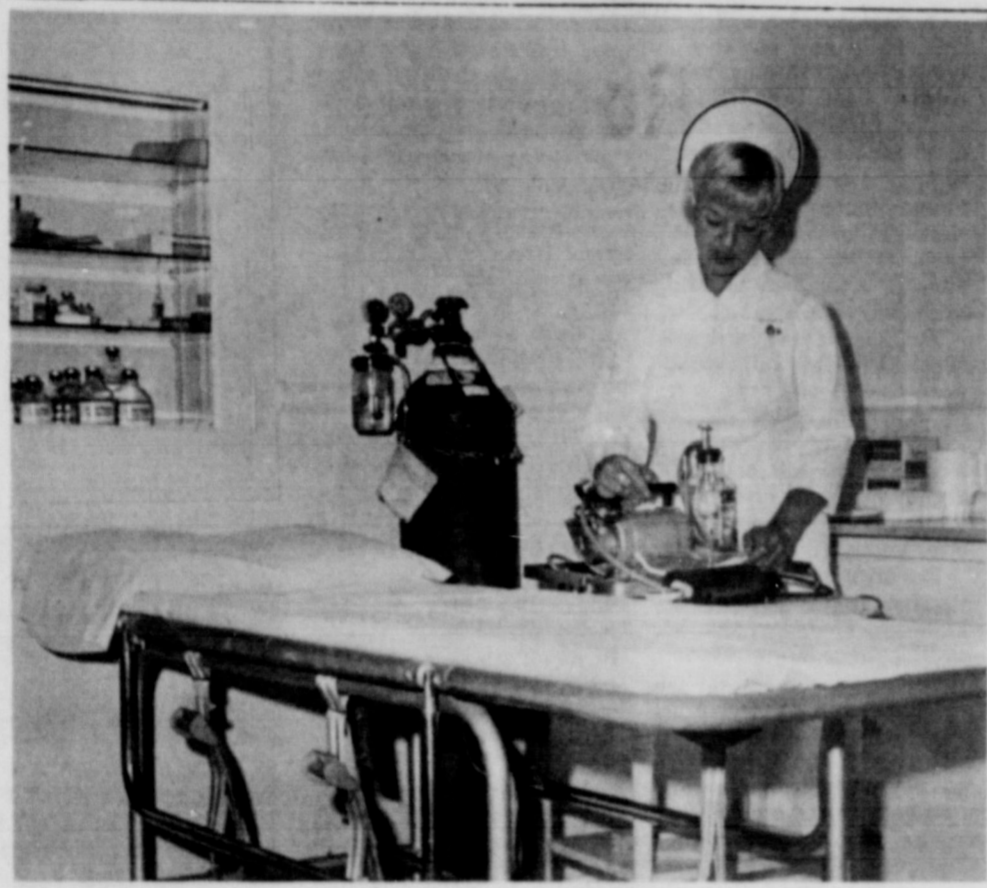

Tiger Club president Curtis Aycock again urged Tiger fans to wear red, and reminded fans that the club still is selling caps, windbreakers, bumper stickers and tickets on a half beef. Both DC and Slaton now have 1-3 records.

The First Grade at West Ward has prepared the bulletin board display at the Slaton ISD Central Office, 300 South 9th Street.

The board, captioned "WHERE THE ACTION IS—FIRST GRADE," contains color snapshots mounted on colorful construction paper fall leaves.

George Harlan took the pictures of all first grade rooms showing the things that first graders do during a day at school. The students are pictured doing art activities and number work, saying the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, in reading and social studies classes, and eating in the cafeteria.

The first grade board will remain on view until Oct. 10. People are welcome to come to the Central Office and look at the materials that are on display.

Mercy Hospital Now Has Recovery Room

An extensive renovation at Mercy Hospital has recently been completed and both a recovery room and a cast room have been added to the hospital's facilities.

According to Hospital Administrator Arnold Ingraham, the recovery room was a badly needed facility. "The Joint Commission recommended that we set up a recovery room. Before, we would take the patient from surgery back to his room. Now we have emergency equipment in the recovery room which can be used if the patient gets in trouble."

Located across from surgery on the fourth floor, the recovery room is equipped with oxygen, oral-nasal pharyngeal suction, airways, IV solutions and emergency drugs.

Nurse on Hand

A nurse stays with the patient while he's in the recovery room until he becomes fully reactive and his vital signs stabilize.

"Since the doctors are next door in surgery," said Marilyn Wade, director of nurses, "we can just call out if anything comes up. The patient has the advantage of having emergency equipment and doctors nearby."

The cast room is a new addition to Mercy also. A fracture table in the room enables doctors to make the patient more comfortable while setting bones. Traction equipment, splints, and materials for making casts are also in the room.

"This setup pretty well enables us to take care of most orthopedic problems," said Ingraham. "Before we put this room together, most of the casting materials were more or less stashed in a corner until it was needed."

Lab Moved

In other renovation, the laboratory was moved into a different room. This gave the lab technicians more room to work in and enabled more equipment to be put to use.

Medical records were also relocated, and the staff dining hall was moved and improved.

Much of the equipment for the recovery room was donated. Slaton Lions Club purchased the suction machine which is now in use. "We have nearly everything we need in the recovery room now," said Ingraham, "except for a respirator. Several civic clubs are considering buying one for a project, and we certainly appreciate their efforts."

Improvements are continuing almost daily at Mercy Hospital. "We want to give the community the best hospital possible," said Ingraham.

INSUR-MATION

By Bob Kern Pember Insurance 828-6251

If someone has an accident, falling over the sprinkler, etc., while on my property, what kind of policy do I need to be covered for damages?

You are protected if you carry a homeowner's policy... the personal liability with a medical clause is built into it automatically. If not, a personal liability floater may be added to a standard fire policy for a minimal fee. If you live in an apartment there are several options... you may carry a separate liability policy or the fire policy with the personal liability floater would pertain to these circumstances. Also, there is a special policy written especially for renters. A homeowner's tenant policy will cover your furniture in case of damage and has a liability clause built into it.

West Texas will never be the same... thanks to you.

Thanks to you there's something new and exciting on the West Texas horizon. And since you're responsible for it, we thought you should be the first to know.

A very old friend, Slaton Savings and Loan Association, is receiving a very new name, Sentry Savings Association. Along with the new name is a new logo and the announcement of the scheduled opening of our newest office in Lubbock on January 1, 1976.

Why the change? Simply put — we're growing, and again, we owe it all to you. Because over the years you've entrusted us with the responsibility of your financial future. A trust that has grown into what will be our fifth office location, and we'd like to return the favor. By offering you more and better services, greater convenience, and a larger staff of the same friendly and helpful people you've come to know through Slaton Savings.

What else can we say except, thank you. You've been very good to us. Come by soon and let us show our appreciation.

Second Grade Class Utilizes Local Paper

Moore's class receives the mail. They study it and most of the material in the newspaper is advanced for the readers, they say Mrs. Moore is trying to get a newspaper is Mrs. Moore. being classification now, and we use the classified ads as an example." The children are becoming familiar with the different parts of a newspaper. They are learning what a front page is, what ads are and how the whole paper fits together.

"Next semester we are going to try to put out a newspaper of sorts of our own," said Mrs. Moore. "It'll have a front page and a classified ad page."

The students all told what they like best about the paper. Many of them named the football pictures as their favorite. Advertisements were also popular, and every child in the class now recognizes the Be Switched slogan of the local electric company.

"They have also learned what 'The Bank with a Heart' is," Mrs. Moore said. "Now they look for an ad with the heart in it."

Each week the students cut out pictures or ads that interest them the most and make a bulletin board out of them. Since Noel Sparkman, the cheerleaders' mascot, is in the class, there is a lot of interest in the football pictures. This week, an entire bulletin board is devoted to Tiger football.

As the year passes, several of the students will be able to read some of the paper. But now, the menu is about the only copy the students read themselves.

Still, they look forward to getting the paper each week. It's a welcome change from textbooks and it makes learning a little more fun.

Quarterback Better, Eagles Still Bombed

Southland scored again in the third quarter on a beautiful 40 yard pass from Wheeler to receiver Paul Eckert. The PAT failed.

Dawson scored twice in the final stanza, bringing the end score to 58-19. Eagle Coach J.J. Thomason praised Buxkemper, Chaffin and Curt Wheeler for their good job on defense.

On offense, Buxkemper totaled 78 yards rushing and caught three passes for 42 yards.

This week the Southland team takes on Loop. "We're looking for Bobby Flores and Rick Cardona to play for the first time this year on Friday," said Thomason.

Junior High Jottings

By DEBRA ANTHONY and SHERRY CARLTON This week has been an exciting one. The Colgate School Action Plan has begun. The money obtained from the collection of box tops and labels will be used to buy gym equipment and other things that can be used in the school.

FFA Chapter Elects Leaders

The Slaton FFA chapter met for the first time this school year Tuesday and elected officers.

John T. Basinger will lead the group as president. Gary Aycock is vice president; Kirk Burkett, secretary; Jeff Jones, treasurer; Patrick Kitten, reporter; and Joey Orr, sentential.

Members voted Rhonda Hoffman as chapter Sweetheart.

The chapter decided to wear the Greenhanders wear their green gloves Oct. 20-27. Greenhanders initiation was also discussed.

Jerome Schwertner exhibited a hoist for a pickup at the South Plains Fair, winning second in the individual constructed projects.

We have six new students. They are Irene Peirce and Elisa Rodriguez, eighth grade; Benito Rodriguez and Delores Revas, seventh grade; and Junita Rodriguez and Ray Diaz, sixth grade.

Mrs. Turney would like to recognize Carla Basinger for her outstanding average.

Miss Price would like to recognize Norma Aguiar for being the best gum chewer. Miss Johnson would like to recognize Annette Smith.

The question of the week is "What do you think was the best event at the fair?"

Tammy Norwood--The boys.

Brownie Smith--Boom-A-Rang.

Christina Herrera--Karol Steffens--The Flying Bobs.

STUDIES THE SLATONITE—These members of Mrs. Annette Moore's second grade class are using the Slatonite to learn about newspapers. Each week they make a bulletin board of the stories they are most interested in. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Interlock Knits New Fabric In Use Today

Interlock knits—one of today's newest fabrics—help create the popular soft, feminine lightweight fashions, but they require several precautions for success in sewing, Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist, says. "Homesewers can find interlock knits in a wide range of solids and brightly colored heat transfer prints, and they often cost less than similar quality traditional double knits, because the knitting method is mechanically fast, efficient and easy," she said. "To identify an interlock knit, look at the cut edge along the width of the fabric. An interlock knit looks the same on both sides, with a back loop opposite each front loop, producing parallel vertical rows of loops," she explained.

"Most pattern styles suitable for soft, lightweight fabrics are appropriate for interlock knits, too. But avoid styles with many small pattern pieces such as yokes or insets," she cautioned.

To sew on interlocks, the specialist recommends using the same general techniques that apply to lightweight double knits—with a few additional safeguards.

"These are necessary because interlocks will run (like nylon hosiery) along the vertical loops in one direction only."

"To identify the direction of the run, gently spread the vertical loops apart at each end, and the problem end will show."

To prevent or check against runs, cut garment pieces—when possible—so that the hem edge is cut along the edge that runs. This way, if a small run starts in the hem it can be easily

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Texas cotton interest organizations caucused in Lubbock September 5 and selected fourteen farmers, twelve of them from the High Plains, to fill or serve as alternates in important positions in the national cotton industry. The High Plains area was represented at the caucus by W.B. Criswell of Idalou, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.; PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson; and J.D. Smith, a PCG Past President, of Littlefield.

Three members and three alternates were named as directors to Cotton Incorporated (CI), the company which conducts the dollar-a-bale program for producers under the Cotton Research and Development Act.

Two members and two alternates were nominated for a single position on the Cotton Board, the administrative body responsible for collections, disbursements and project approval in the CI program. The Secretary of Agriculture is required by law to appoint one of the "pairs" submitted by interest organizations and normally chooses the one for whom the organizations express a preference.

Three men and three alternates were named as producer delegates to the National Cotton Council (NCC), the industry's research, promotion and service organization which embraces all seven segments of the cotton industry.

On the CI governing body the group placed J.D. Smith, L.C. Unfred of New Home and Donnell Echols of Lamesa. Echols is also a Past President of PCG. Alternates on this board were named as Robert Warren of Lamesa, Clifford Hoelscher of St. Lawrence, and Don Marble of South Plains. Marble is current Chairman of the PCG Board.

Nominated for members and alternates, respectively, on the Cotton Board were Dan Davis and Donald Johnson, both of Lubbock, Wilmer Smith of Wilson and Lloyd Cline of Lamesa.

St. Joseph's Happenings

Hi! once again from St. Joseph's. Last Saturday the basketball girls had their car wash and made $108. This money will be used to buy new suits for the players. Congratulations to Coach Schütte and the girls on a job well done.

Monday, the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th graders started the annual Christmas card sale, with each box selling for $1.25. The reason for selling these cards is to keep Christ in Christmas and to generate funds used in operating the school.

Monday was also the first meeting of the Home and School Association. This group met in the cafeteria at 8 p.m. where parents and teachers were introduced to each other.

The Finance Chairman asked for suggestions for raising funds during the school year; and sister Angelita announced that 131 students are presently enrolled from 81 families. Refreshments were served.

The Civics Club has organized once again this year with the following officers serving during the first semester: President-Conda Bruedigam, Vice-President-Wesley Kitten, Secretary-Marsha Dee Davis, Treasurer-Kevin Sokora and Sargents at arms-Lyndal Hurst and Kim Kitten. Service projects will be decided at the next meeting.

Second graders are having fun ordering books from their book club this week. On Friday they will begin making Halloween decorations.

All first graders are hard at work to be chosen as a "Super Dog". These students are chosen each week for outstanding work during that week and they receive a surprise for their efforts. It's fun to see who will be wearing the little "Super Dog" tag each Friday.

St. John's To Install New Pastor

St. John Lutheran Church of Wilson will install their new pastor, Bobby Zacharias, during Sunday morning services at 9 a.m. Pastor Robert E. Lee of Lubbock will conduct the installation services.

At 6 p.m. Sunday evening the congregation will host a family welcome for the new minister. Refreshments will be served at the Parish Hall.

THOUGHTS

From The Living Bible

Everyone must make up his own mind as to how much he should give. Don't force anyone to give more than he really wants to, for cheerful givers are the ones God prizes. God is able to make it up to you by giving you everything you need and more, so that there will not only be enough for your own needs, but plenty left over to give joyfully to others. It is as the Scriptures say: "The godly man gives generously to the poor. His good deeds will be an honor to him forever."

PRaise THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD

In a weekend of witnessing to the love and power of Jesus Christ recently in a nearby city, our faith was renewed as we heard many people, young and old, tell about a love that was above and beyond anything they had ever experienced.

Everybody seems to get along pretty well (some more successfully than others), living in their own strength and power, but there always comes a time in each life when one realizes there has to be a love and strength beyond their own abilities to live a meaningful and fulfilling life.

This kind of love comes only through Jesus Christ, as we accept Him by faith. And as we continually seek to live closer to Him, this walk comes, also, through faith.

During the weekend, several children asked Jesus to come into their hearts. One little child said he was not ready for Jesus to come into his heart. The lady who was sharing with the children asked this child if he would like to know what to do whenever he did get ready to ask Jesus in. The child answered yes. So the lady explained to the child. Immediately as she finished explaining, the child said, "Now I'm ready."

One of the little girls who had received Jesus into her heart, upon returning home that night was anxious to share this experience with her father who had not been present with her. He had been busy working that day, several things had gone wrong, and he was weary. She sat down close to him on the couch and said, "Daddy, guess what happened tonight?" As children will, she asked him two or three times, then he answered, "Don't bother me, I don't feel like playing games!" She put her arms around him and whispered, "Jesus came into my heart tonight."

I thought how sad it is for fathers (and sometimes mothers) to be so disinterested in what's happening to their children, especially when they've had an experience with Jesus they're wanting to share. When the parent is disinterested, this is like throwing cold water on them, and stopping the flow of love.

My first thought was that I'd never do anything like that. That kind of news would thrill me. But somehow I began remembering some instances when I had stopped God's flow of love, for example, when I became angry with someone. There have been times when I've had to go read I Corinthians, chapter 13, several times a day, for several days continuously, calling on God's help for love and patience.

"Love is very patient and kind, never jealous or envious, never boastful or proud, never haughty or selfish or rude. Love does not demand its own way. It is not irritable or touchy. It does not hold grudges and will hardly even notice when others do it wrong."

Then as I prayed for more faith, love and understanding, the answer seemed to impress me, "You already have these things you're asking for--you're just not using them! Get busy and start using them!"

In II Timothy 1:8, the Bible tells us, ourselves, have to stir up this inner power that's already in us, if we have Jesus in our hearts.

Praise the Lord!

Wilson Sets Homecoming

Homecoming activities have been set at Wilson High School for Oct. 9-10, when the Wilson Mustangs meet Meadow Friday evening at 7:30.

Pre-homecoming activities will begin Thursday evening with a parade through town, featuring the high school and junior high marching bands, the homecoming queen and pep squad beau candidates, the cheerleaders, pep squad and a car decorating contest for grades 1-12, as well as other local supporters.

The parade will begin, and end, at the high school, where a pep rally and bonfire are planned to begin at dusk.

Friday's activities will begin at 5:00 p.m. as the local Lions Club opens the doors of the school cafeteria for their annual Barbecue Supper with all the trimmings. Ex-students can register at the cafeteria, and will be recognized during halftime activities.

The new Homecoming Queen and Pep Squad Beau will be crowned during the half-time activities, and the winners of the car decorating contest will be announced, according to Royce Whitely, high school principal.

Following the football game, Ex-students and their families are invited back to the school cafeteria for coffee, doughnuts and visitation.

The Ex-Students Association is making plans for a "big" homecoming next year, and urges all exes and their families to attend, according to the Association's president, Donald Klaus.

WILSON LUNCH MENU
 Monday - Steak and Gravy, cream potatoes, hot rolls, English peas, milk, jello with fruit.
 Tuesday - Red Beans, spinach, cornbread, buttered corn, milk, pineapple rice pudding.
 Wednesday - Frito Pie, slaw, hot rolls, potatoes au gratin, milk, plum cobbler.
 Thursday - Fish, buttered carrots, hot rolls, green beans, milk, peach halves.
 Friday - Hot Dogs, baked beans, milk, lettuce & tomatoes, orange juice, red velvet cake, milk.

HARD GOING—Cooper Pirate Kelly Choban has a hard time running with Idalou's Jerry Miller hanging onto him; Idalou won the game last Friday.

WHS Yearbooks On Sale Oct. 16

Subscription orders for the 1976 yearbook at Wilson High School will be taken at a Yearbook Assembly on Thursday, Oct. 16.

High School and Junior High students will be given just this one opportunity to place an order for the yearbook. No extra books will be ordered, but orders will be placed for students absent from school on Yearbook Thursday. In the event that an absent student does not wish to purchase his book, the copy will be placed on sale on a first-come, first-served basis. Validation of all orders, by full remittance, will take place at a later date.

Elementary students will have five days during which to order their 1976 yearbooks—Oct. 20-24.

Persons who do not have children in school, but who wish to purchase a copy of the yearbook, may do so by sending a full remittance of $9 per book to Gloria Price, Wilson High School, Box 9, Wilson, Tx. 79381. A receipt will be mailed.

Nursing Home News

BY GLADYS RICHARDSON
 We've had a busy and exciting week planning parties, films and a Christmas Bazaar. But, we'll be telling you more about this later. I appreciate Bobbie Hogue for getting the care center news in my absence last week.

The ladies auxiliary met Monday and set a work day for Oct. 20 beginning at 2 p.m. They are also having an Auxiliary membership drive.

If you would like to become a member and can help us work, that's fine. But if you can't attend the meetings because of your work, but would like to help with money, it's $3 a year for membership.

If you're interested, you can contact me at the care center or come by there.

We would appreciate gifts of jewelry, combs or brushes to use as Bingo prizes.

The Lubbock County Library will show a film Friday Oct. 10 at 3 p.m. for the residents.

October birthdays are William Tooke, Lena Stahl, Susie Bradshaw, Lena Mae Payne, Sarah Benton, Lena Berhend, Ada Lahue and Sallie Harris and Arrendonda Simona.

The October birthday party will be Oct. 14 at 2:30 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 16, Margaret Harden will show a film of Hawaii.

Idalou Wallops Cooper

By BILL AYRES
 Cooper S.I.D.

The Idalou Wildcats dominated last Friday's game from the opening minutes till the closing seconds of the game, despite a major personnel change by the Cooper Pirates. The Wildcats outrushed the Pirates 10 to 1 for 315 yards to blow the Pirates out of the game 34-6.

The Pirates, after a three-game losing streak, attempted to correct the situation by moving a couple of players to new positions. Kelly Choban, due to his running ability, was moved from quarterback to a running back. Donnie Seale, the giant-size wingback, was moved to quarterback. Donnie had played in that position about four years ago, so he didn't come into the game totally unprepared. However, the Wildcat defense proved too hard to handle. Idalou's defense held the Pirates to 5 first downs and a little over 150 total yards rushing and passing. The Pirates were held scoreless until the last four minutes of the game. Just prior to the score by the Pirates, two of their players were injured. Fullback Scott Armstrong and new quarterback

Seale were both hurt and removed from the game. Neither was hurt seriously and should be ready for this week's game. Choban was moved back to the quarterback position and was able to begin to move the team down field. With 4:15 left in the game, Choban threw a pass to David Martinez who ran 55 yards to score. The try for the extra point went wide, to give the Pirates their only score.

Wilson FHA Elects Officers

The Wilson FHA elected Lisa Clary as their president for the coming school year.

Vice president is Donna Brieger, secretary is Cheryl Wilke, treasurer is Cindy Wuensche, parliamentarian is Shelly Cook, historian is Tracy Lee, reporter is Cherie Stone and degree is Vicki Kubacak.

Representatives are Jan Wilke, Brenda Talkmitt, Kim Rice and Kathaleen Bednarz.

The new chapter mothers are Clara Crews and Madeline Rice.

Fifteen entries from the FHA chapter were shown in the South Plains Fair. Those entering were June and Bonnie Schwertner, Tracy Lee, Kerrie Lee, Rhonda Nolte and Nell Childers. Tracy Lee won second place in pies and cakes with an uniced Angel Food cake.

Homemaking III girls in FHA are working on a child development community project.

They are Karla Bailey, Kelly Jones, Kelly Crews,

Vicki Kubacak, Christina Nava, Cheryl Wilke, Brenda Talkmitt.

Non-FHA girls participating are Diana Viesca and Janie Zuniga.

Hammer & Nails

The building and trades class at Slaton High School has made a good start according to the students.

Officers are: president, Mark Baldwin; vice president, Jimmy Steffens; secretary, Gayla Renfro; treasurer, Cindy Kincer; parliamentarian, Sandy Walton; reporter, Bobbie Sims; and sergeant at arms, Noe Pena.

The class is starting its district projects. They will go to Tulia Oct. 25 for a VICA meeting. They will leave that morning at 5 o'clock.

Freshest Produce
 If you buy fruits and vegetables from a roadside stand or truck, find out what day the fresh produce comes in. That's the day to buy.

Preparation
 When you prepare fresh fruits for salads or desserts ahead of time, either cover them with water or sprinkle them with lemon juice to prevent discoloration. This method will save you last minute preparation time and help keep the fruit fresh and colorful.

To Tenderize
 To tenderize tougher cuts of meat, marinate them. Marinades can also add a delicious flavor.

Helen Cedillo Receives Grant

HELEN CEDILLO
 Helen Cedillo, a sophomore Speech major at West Texas State University in Canyon, received a $100 Aids in Grant from the Theta Eta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma which is comprised of women educators from Lynn, Garza, and Terry counties.

The recipient of this grant must be actively involved in the acquisition of a degree from a university. Helen was chosen by the organization as a worthy recipient and was presented the check by two of the Wilson members, Mrs. Pearl Davidson and Gloria Price.

Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cedillo of Wilson.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

Armed with immunizing agents and legislation, private physicians, public health officials and an educated public have done much to drastically cut the incidence of disease in Texas.

Statistics show just how well the job is being done in Texas, but health authorities say that the country is still vulnerable to local epidemics. The percentages of the younger vaccinated children are still low enough to allow the quick spread of these diseases once they get started.

Dr. M.S. Dickerson, chief of the Communicable Disease Services Section of the Department of Health Resources, puts it simply. He says, "Not enough children are being vaccinated."

While 84 percent of the nation's preschool children had been fully vaccinated for polio in 1963, the percentage dropped to only 60 percent in 1973.

And, on a nationwide basis, says Dr. Dickerson, protection against other diseases has followed the same pattern.

In Texas, immunization of preschoolers has been given a high priority by the Department of Health Resources. Great success has been seen in raising immunization levels in the preschool target area.

Children in Texas have every right to expect freedom from immunizable diseases, and the Texas Department of Health Resources and the First Lady's Volunteer Program of the Office of the Governor will join forces to promote immunizations in pre-school children.

The pre-schoolers, from newborns to first graders, are the most susceptible children to the diseases which are preventable through immunizations. The threats of rubella, measles, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, mumps, and tetanus are still with us despite the great success the state has had in preventive efforts. Dr. Fratis L. Duff, new director of the Department of Health Resources, emphasizes the need to meet the continuing challenge of preventive immunizations in young children. Approximately a quarter of a million babies are born in Texas each year, and these children will enter a large reservoir of susceptibles unless they are immunized. Epidemics are still a possibility in Texas if all children aren't protected. Mrs. Dolph Briscoe recently hosted the organizational meeting of the Texas Immunization Action program. Noting the possibility of infection, she asked: "Wouldn't it be wonderful if no child was afflicted with these diseases which can be prevented with immunizations?"

Commenting on the state's first case of more than 214, said: "It's a warning to have a single paralytic polio in Texas. We can't have it."

One of the roads into disease of the emergency vaccines—has been compulsory school immunization passed by the Legislature. This applies to children day care centers.

Southland EAGLE Roundup

Fort Davis Trip
Football fans, students, and players will travel nearly 300 miles to Fort Davis Oct. 9 to a combination field trip and football games. Buses will leave at 2:15 p.m. Thursday for the field trip.

Grades 7-12 will go on the trip. Elementary students may go if they are accompanied by their parents as sponsors and chaperones. Students will spend Thursday and Friday nights at Prude Ranch near Fort Davis at school provided facilities (gyms and dorms). Camper hookups will be available. All participants in the field trip need to take $10 for meals, and a bedroll and sleeping bag.

Students will tour McDonald Observatory and Fort Davis National Park Friday. A 7th-9th grade game and a high school game will be played Saturday afternoon. Buses will return to Southland after the games.

Regular bus routes will run Thursday at 2:15 p.m. School will also dismiss Friday at 2:15 p.m.

BICENTENNIAL BITS

The Slaton Bicentennial Committee met Tuesday, Sept. 23, with Ellis Schmid presiding. Routine business was handled. The next meeting of the committee will be Thursday, Oct. 30.

Ladies, while your husbands and sons are writing essays trying to win the NFL Football Bicen contest to get tickets to the Super Bowl, why don't you enter the Woman's Day Bicen Essay contest? First prize is $1,000 cash. Details are in the October issue of Woman's Day magazine.

School children are participating in a wide variety of Bicen projects—we mentioned several in an earlier column. Add to those: a burlap wall hanging made by third graders in Missouri; a Bicentennial Center constructed by two classes in Maryland (the pupils worked on projects they chose such as weaving, candle-dipping, making colonial dolls and games, and making a quilt. They sold chances on the quilt and made $94); and a number of history classes have made time-lines of the 200 years of our nation's existence. One elementary school, in San Francisco, persuaded the Board of Education to paint the school red, white and blue!

Only one stack of Slaton Souvenir Bicentennial calendars remain for sale at the Chamber of Commerce office. No more copies will be printed.

Several ladies are helping Mrs. Tunnell with typing and proofreading of the Slaton pioneer cookbook. A final reminder: if you have not turned in your recipe, do so NOW!

The Slaton Bicen Committee Heritage Committee will be meeting this month to prepare for action on the museum planned for Slaton. If you have materials to give

- Chevette is international in design and heritage, incorporating engineering concepts proved around the world.
- Its wheelbase is about the same as a VW Rabbit's.
- It has more front-seat head room than a Datsun B-210, more front-seat leg room than a Toyota Corolla.
- Its turning circle is one of the shortest in the world.
- It can carry cargo up to four feet wide.
- It is well insulated against noise.
- It is protected by 17 anti-corrosion methods.
- It is basically a metric car.
- It comes with a clear, simple self-service booklet.
- It has a standard 1.4-litre engine. A 1.6-litre engine is available (except Scooter).

Vocational Education Leads to Good Careers

With an increased interest in vocational education, great numbers of career-minded Americans are turning to specialized vocational schools for training in a variety of occupations from auto repair to X-ray technology.

Unlike other forms of education, career education is exclusively employment-oriented, offering concentrated courses in skills. The number of schools and the occupations they teach is mindboggling. About 10,000 vocational schools offer hundreds of occupations, and in order to make a good choice, the Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission advises students to look before they leap.

"American consumers are becoming increasingly attracted to the promising value of a vocational education. There is an increasing need for prospective students to make a careful evaluation of a specific vocational course or school before they make any financial commitment. The essential criterion for that evaluation should be the value of the school's training in helping students get a good job," said Federal Trade Commission Chairman Lewis A. Engman.

The process of selecting the right career can be an exciting bargain hunt, well worth careful effort. After all, it's probably the most important purchase a person makes in his or her lifetime. The following information suggests a path that is bound to help you succeed.

First, choose a career which is suitable to your likes or hobbies.

For a complete list of possible careers, consult your local library for the U.S. Department of Labor's "Occupational Outlook Handbook." This Handbook is an invaluable source of information, covering 800 different careers. For example, it predicts if the demand in these careers will rise, remain stable or decline through the 1970's. It describes the duties and average earnings of each job and indicates what sort of training is required for entry level positions.

Next look into schools. Go to your library for the U.S. Office of Education's directory of "Postsecondary Schools with Occupational Programs" which lists schools by occupational categories. For a free "Directory of Accredited Private Trade and Technical Schools," write to the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, 2021 L. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Write to four or five schools for catalogues which will give you important facts such as cost, a description of the courses and facilities, and other pertinent bits of information.

Look for the school's accreditation since this is an important factor. There are many accrediting bodies recognized by the U.S. Office of Education. Is the school approved by one of them?

While accreditation, which is a voluntary process, should not be the only factor in making a choice, a school which has been accredited has undergone an exhaustive and vigorous "looking over" by experts in the occupational area it teaches.

According to the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, the major accrediting body in this vocational area, it accredits only those schools which prepare a graduate for the job market.

Some schools will also provide lists of employers who hire the school's graduates. Put this list to work. Ask the employers for their evaluation of the school's teaching ability. Are they satisfied with the school's graduates? Will they continue to hire them?

The best test is to visit the school yourself, even if it involves money, time and trouble — it's worth it. At the school you can compare the catalogue with the real thing.

Finally, write to your state's school licensing agency which is usually in the State Education Department. Ask what information they can provide about the school.

...you take a little. Up to you have thought of yourself as a moderate drinker, and therefore, safe. But, for one thing, the idea that you are safe is a flat lie. Taking even the kindest definition of 'moderation', you are doing yourself progressive physical harm. Although the body has great regenerative powers, the cells of the brain and nervous system, once destroyed, are lost forever — and we know these are the cells affected, first and most potently by ethyl alcohol. Habitual drinking will cause lasting impairment to brain, nervous system, and liver. More and more physicians are revising their easy-going attitude toward 'moderate' imbibing. Every time we over-imbibe, science believes, a certain amount of brain damage results. Even one drink affects the uppermost level of the brain, which is the center of restraint, inhibitions and judgment."
