SUMMERTIME IS PLAYTIME—Slaton girls have equal opportunities with boys for planned recreation this year. Under the direction of Coach M. W. Kerr, the Slaton Girls Summer Recreation Program is filling a need with some 105 local girls. Softball, basketball, volleyball, badminton, table tennis, and other games are planned and supervised by Kerr and three assistants, Misses Kay Porter, Beverly Bland, and Monty Dickson.

105 Girls Taking Advantage of Summer Recreation Program Available Here

By Beverly Bland

One hundred five girls are enrolled in this year's Slaton Girls Summer Program. The program, now in its second year, is for girls between the ages of 9 and 15. It will continue daily through July 18.

Coach M. W. Kerr is director of the program. He is assisted by Kay Porter, Monty Dickson, and Beverly Bland.

Consisting of a recreation schedule revised weekly, the program is aimed to create spirit and enthusiasm in local girls for summer recreation. The activity is sponsored by the Slaton School Board, and supported by parents of the girls.

Basketball, volleyball, badminton, ping pong, calisthenics, and softball are on the daily sports schedule. Each Wednesday the girls meet at the Little League Baseball park, where they play softball until 10:30 a. m. Then they go swimming.

During the first week of the program, the girls played softball, games, and had a picnic lunch one day at Slaton Park. Last week the picnic was held in Lubbock, and they visited the Tower Theater.

Scrimmage basketball is held each Friday at 9:30 a. m. before the regular schedule begins.

On Saturday night, June 22, girls 12 through 15 played softball at Pony League Park. This coming Saturday, the 9 through 11 group will play, with the game beginning at 7 p. m.

Schedules for the girls activities are arranged so that while one group plays basketball in the gym, another group is playing baseball and volleyball outside.

Average attendance for the past two weeks has been about 70.

FOOD LAW NEEDED

No new drug can come onto the market in the United States without having passed a series of careful tests to determine its safety. This is a good thing, as some 11,000 new drugs have come on the market since the revised Federal Food and Cosmetic Act was passed in 1938.

Unfortunately, there is no corresponding law with regard to food. A manufacturer does not have to have proof that a chemical additive is safe for human consumption before he adds it to a food product. He is only restricted from using additives which have been proven unsafe.

According to George P. Larrick, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, about 700 different chemical additives are now going into various foods. Of these, he estimates, some 550 have been adequately tested and declared to be safe. That leaves about 150 additives concerning which there is some doubt. Until the Food and Drug Administration can say positively that it regards any one of these additives as unsafe—and that requires tests which may take several years—manufacturers can legally continue putting them into food.

Bills now before Congress—and this is not the first year that such bills have been submitted—provide that chemical additives cannot be used until they have been proven safe for human consumption. Passage of the legislation would be a useful step toward better protection of food consumers, which is to say, all of us.

SHORT-CHANGED

Too much of what passes for entertainment on television is an elaborate version of the old you-scratch-my-back-and-I'll-scratch-your routine. A lot of the so-called entertainment is not entertainment at all, but a more or less cynical bid for further publicity to plug a new book or movie or phonograph record, or to call attention to a magazine article that just happens to be coming out the following week.

By using this system, the master of ceremonies is able to attract Big Names to his program. The Big Names, in turn, are able to mention their current ventures to a few million people. It's all very folksy, and the fact that the Big Names do nothing more entertaining than exchange a few witless pleasantries with the masters of ceremonies seems to be beside the point.

The whole thing is presumably based on the idea that the American public has an unquenchable thirst to see the Big Names of the entertainment world, whether or not they are entertaining. There is some truth in the theory. But sooner or later it is going to occur to audiences that they are being short-changed.

THE PUBLIC MONITOR

An important point about misleading ads on television was made recently by Harry A. Babcock, chief of the Federal Trade Commission's bureau of investigation. "Our most important monitors," said Babcock, "are the public."

Commercials on TV are perfectly legitimate; they pay the bills and make our richly varied television fare possible. But some of the commercials have been grossly misleading, and a few have advanced claims that were false. This is of particular concern to the FTC—and should be to all thoughtful citizens—because the TV commercials play to a captive audience, and because they use channels of communication which are considered to be the property of all the people.

The FTC has been making warning noises for some time. Now it is beginning to get into the field of action. Perhaps this will tend to curb the few advertisers who present misleading or false claims. At the same time, it is well to remember Babcock's remark, "Our most important monitors are the public."

These days when you see a young fellow all dressed up in a suit and necktie he's probably on his way to his job as a mechanic. If you see a youth in overall pants and a T-shirt he's undoubtedly off to a date with his high school sweetheart.

Construction experts plan to apply stabilization treatment to the leaning tower of Pisa and thus end the danger of collapse. Now if the world's statesmen could just do something like that with the Temple of Peace.

A Wisconsin woman turned in a blank ballot because she found no one listed she wanted to vote for. More remarkable was the fact there was no one she wanted to vote against.

Note to anyone who thinks baseball is merely a game: This year sponsors will spend nearly 32 million dollars for the telecasting and broadcasting of big league ball games, including the all-star game on the world series.

Perhaps some newspaper commentators are too hard on Nasser. All he is trying to do is to get every Arab to sign a contract with a reserve clause so that they'll only be able to play on his team.

Texas delights in gushers, but not those coming from rainfalls that last for weeks.

Faced with the prediction that 10 persons will die in traffic accidents in Texas during the 24-hour period of July 4th, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has called state police forces together for a coordinated effort to prevent death and injury on our highways during the forth-coming holiday.

Col. Garrison has ordered all facilities of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Division and the License and Weight Division to bolster the force of the Texas Highway Patrol. Their mission will be that of patrolling our highways July 4 to remove dangerous drivers from the road before accidents occur.

120 More Units
"At least 120 more units from other divisions of the department will be in operation during the 24-hour holiday to add to the patrol strength," he said. "Our divisions will patrol around the clock, and every effort will be made to reduce the death count from the 10 we anticipate."

The prediction of 10 traffic deaths came from N. K. Woerner, chief of the department's statistical division, who said 12 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the holiday last year.

Col. Garrison said law enforcement officers throughout the state once again will be working overtime to carry their part of the traffic law enforcement load.

All Forms Violence
In addition to the operation to prevent traffic deaths and injuries, the Texas Department of Public Safety will be keeping its eye on all other forms of violence.

The department's "Operation Deathwatch" will be in effect for the 24-hour period starting at 12:01 a. m. July 4. In the operation all forms of death and violence will be reported to the department here.

The state police director urged all Texans who plan to celebrate the holiday to plan safety in their activities, especially while swimming. And he suggested that special care be taken with foods to prevent them from spoiling before eating time.

Bro. and Mrs. C. L. Newcomb and their children, Carolyn and Gary, returned home Friday from a three week vacation spent with relatives in Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee. Bro. Newcomb enjoyed some fishing at Wingo, Ky.

Roy Hodges and his children Billy Roy, Shirley and Connie, returned Thursday from Dallas where Billy Roy had been for a check-up at Scottish Rite Hospital. He was dismissed from further treatments at the hospital.

Mrs. W. D. Rhea of Houston will leave this week end after a two week visit with her sister, Mrs. Melton Hancock, and Mr. Hancock. Mrs. Rhea's son, Roy D., his wife and their three children visited a few days last week in the Hancock home. Roy D. went to school in Slaton two years and made his home with his aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse George and Jane from Clayton, N. Mex., visited Friday and Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Evans.

Army Reserve Training Program in Fourth Army Area Meeting With Good Results; Vacancies Now Available

The Army Reserve is on the march in the Fourth U. S. Army area.

More and more young men from throughout Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, the five states which comprise the Fourth U. S. Army area, are realizing the importance of benefits derived from belonging to the Army Reserve.

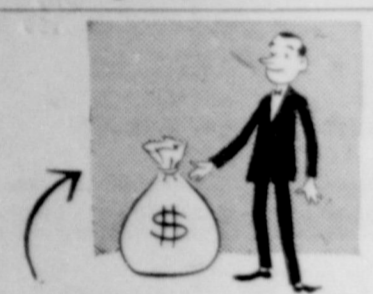

Since 1955 when Congress passed the revised Reserve Forces Act, the trend toward the Reserve has taken a definite upward swing. In fact, so definitely upward that during the past year the Fourth U. S. Army area has realized approximately 70 per cent increase in reserve enlistment participation.

240,000 Reservists
The number of paid participating reservists throughout the United States climbed 30,700 in the last six months of 1956, reaching a record total of 240,000, the Army announced.

The net gain for the first half of fiscal 1957 included 30,700 enlisted men and 3,700 officers.

Some 18,000 reservists between ages 17 and 18½ signed for six-months active duty training, and many are among the 12,000 reserve component trainees presently undergoing instruction.

According to Colonel J. D. Cone,

In 1945, it cost THIS MUCH

Today, it costs THIS MUCH

You would pay almost twice as much today to buy or build your home as you paid 12 years ago. To put it another way, you can build only half a house in 1957 with the money it took for a whole house in 1945.

How about your fire insurance? Have you enough today—on house and contents—to meet any loss?

We are qualified to help you determine just what insurance, and how much, you need on your home and furnishings. Phone us right now—we'll be glad to discuss your insurance problems with you.

And remember, if you're not fully insured—it's not enough!

Pember
INSURANCE AGENCY
135 N. 8th VA 8-3541

Fourth U. S. Army Reserve Forces Officer, a young man now has an opportunity to become draft exempt as long as he actively participates in the Army Reserves.

"The exemption means that he can continue his schooling, business venture, or plan a secure future without his plans being interrupted," he said.

"The new revised Reserve program also provides more lenient terms for prospective enlistees," he continued, "and several choices of plans can be considered."

Formerly high school students could be deferred under the old program, and were required to spend six months on active duty and seven and half years in the Ready Reserve, to complete an obligation of eight years total military obligation.

Modernized Program
Under the modernized program, a high school student between ages 17 and 18½ may enlist in the Reserve within one year of expected date of entry on active duty for training.

This one year period may be waived for qualified high school students who would otherwise be precluded from enlistment by reaching 18½ while still in school, and not within one year of expected graduation. The actual enlistment would not be accomplished earlier than 30 days before becoming 18½.

Those enlisting under either one year or waiver conditions may delay active duty training until they complete school, cease to pursue studies, or reach age 20, whichever occurs first. In no case will a person be enlisted who would reach age 20 before completing high school.

Ready Reserves
After completion of six months active duty training, the student is required to spend three years in the Ready Reserves, and four and half years in the Standby Reserve.

Another choice is that persons between ages 17 and 25 who have not been ordered to report for induction to active duty can elect to enlist in the Regular Army for two years, spend two years in the Ready Reserve upon release, and request two years in the Standby Reserve. The total military obligation under these circumstances is six years.

Young men between ages 18½ and 25 who have not been ordered for induction into the Army can enlist in the Reserve for six months active duty training, and spend five and half years in the Ready Reserves to complete a military obligation of six years. Men between these ages must enter active duty for training within 120 days of enlistment in the Reserve.

Three-Year Obligation
The fourth and last choice for prospective Reservists between ages 26 and 35 who have not been ordered to report for induction, is to enlist in the Reserve for six months active duty training and spend two and half years in the Ready Reserve for a three year total military obligation.

Colonel Cone, whose job is to coordinate all Army Reserve activities in the Fourth U. S. Army area, said that the primary mission of the Reserve is to train men to meet a standard of readiness for mobilization into active service in case of an emergency. Congress determines when a state of emergency exists.

Trained Manpower
"Never before in history has the active Army had to depend so much on Reserve and National Guard for trained manpower," he said.

"In reality, the Reserve, including the National Guard, is the backbone of the Regular Army. The Regular Army is the nucleus around which the Reserve is organized; a sort of cadre which will absorb the initial shock during an emergency until the Reserve can commit its strength."

Reserve units similar to all types of Active Army units are located in the Fourth U. S. Army area with nearly every trade and profession represented in these units.

61 Courses
Sixty-one courses in 15 Army service schools are available to qualified enlisted Reservists. Courses offered are from four weeks to 33 weeks duration, and cover a wide variety of subjects ranging from electrical motor and generator repair to medical laboratory specialists.

Reservists selected for enrollment in the various courses will be called to active duty training for the duration of the course.

Schools which are now open for enlisted Reservists are the Adjutant General's; Armor; Antiaircraft Artillery and Guided Missile; Chemical Corps; Artillery and Guided Missile; Engineer; Finance; Infantry; Medical Service; Ordnance; Quartermaster; Signal, and Transportation schools. For women there is the Women's Army Corps school.

Two Hours Per Week
Training two hours each week with a total of 48 drill periods a year, reservists learn the basic fundamentals of whatever type designation their unit represents. Lessons learned through books and academic instruction during these periods, are put to practical use during the 15-day summer camp training scheduled each year.

Summer training is held at active Army posts and is supported and assisted by Regular Army troops. Besides this training, each reservist must qualify with the weapon with which he is armed.

Each reservist is paid according to rank or rating for each drill attended, and during summer training camp they receive up to 17 days' pay.

All Skills
The Army Reserve has use for all type skills, from truck drivers and mechanics, to the highly professional. When entering the Reserve, many men request job assignments where they can learn a trade. Even hobbyists have occasionally found their hobbies useful in the Army and follow them as a regular military job.

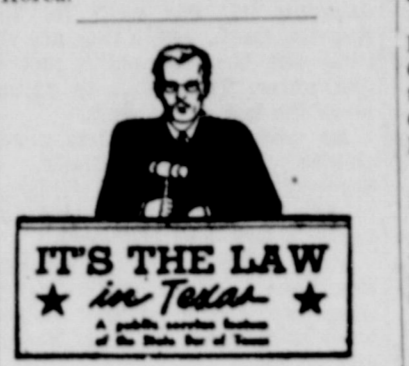

As in colonial days when colonists walked for miles and even days to volunteer their services in defense of their new country, some reservists in the Fourth U. S. Army area travel as much as three hours round-trip to participate in their unit's weekly drill. Many reservists live considerable distances from their unit's activities, but they prefer to accept such disadvantage in order to belong to a unit of their choice where their particular skills can be utilized.

An Army Reserve unit may be organized in any town provided enough men volunteer to join, and if the Department of the Army has allotted vacancies in the State for such new units.

The march of young men to join the Army Reserve during the past year is looked upon as a symbol there will be an Army Reserve as long as there is an America. The indicated pattern of future trends towards supporting and maintaining the Reserve program shows that young men of America are willing to do their part should the chips begin to fall.

The principal reason behind mass acceptance of the new Reserve program is that more and more people today are realizing that should the Army Reserve forces, under the old system, suddenly be ordered to meet all combat readiness requirements, there would not be time to provide the same basic and specialized training as was given during World II, and Korea.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A Child's Health and Safety Program

YOUR CHILD AND THE DOCTOR
It's a good idea to give written consent for necessary medical care if your child leaves home for a visit or a camping trip, or if you plan to be away for any length of time.

For example, a summer camp nurse may bring a boy into a hospital with an acute case of appendicitis. But the doctor may well hesitate to go ahead and operate without the parents' consent.

Is the doctor arbitrary, and is such permission just a legal technicality? No, he is well within his rights, though he may give first aid—but only for emergency treatment where a child's health or life may be at stake. He is likely to put off follow-up care until he can reach the child's parents. A relative or baby sitter generally cannot grant consent for a child's treatment.

Even an adult must request treatment and grant consent to medical care on his own before a doctor can give it to him. Children cannot do this.

By going to your doctor you show your willingness and consent to accept his treatment. Your consent is assumed also when you ask for a house call by the doctor, or if as a result of an accident you come to a hospital for emergency treatment. If you are unconscious, the doctor may well give you emergency care, yet later he should get your consent to further treatment.

Minors cannot consent to medical treatment, and except in dire emergencies their parents or guardians must give it for them.

The consent should not be broadly or loosely phrased, but should be as specific as circumstances permit.

The principal reason for having the consent in writing is to avoid later misunderstandings. It is a protection both to the patient and physician!

Cheating Drivers, Pedestrians Called Accident Makers by Safety Expert

"Too many motorists play the game of Cops and Drivers!" So said J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, in connection with the Know and Obey Traffic Laws program launched this month by the Texas Safety Association.

The safety expert asserted that drivers and pedestrians are always cheating in traffic are the real accident makers.

"Fortunately," he said, "most motorists and pedestrians obey traffic laws and regulations most of the time. If they didn't, our accident rates would soar to even greater heights."

"Statistics show that traffic law violators figure largely in traffic fatalities. In four out of five fatal accidents one or more driver violations are reported."

"Many of these violators feel that only suckers obey the laws. They know all the angles and short cuts. You know these characters—the ones who always overdrive the posted speed limits. They jump the red lights at intersections. They weave from lane to lane and sneak by on your right if you slow down at an intersection. They never really stop at stop signs.

Citing the record, Musick said the most frequent violations reported in fatal traffic accidents are excessive speed, failure to yield the right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line and disregard of an officer or traffic control device.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—Water legislation promises to be a lively topic at the special session of the legislature in October.

Gov. Price Daniel has announced he will urge creation of a state-wide water agency empowered to negotiate with federal authorities in financing reservoirs.

That is likely to prove controversial in itself. Then there is likelihood of considerable discussion over the State Board of Water Engineers and its recent troubles. Fuses get lit that way.

Former State Sen. Joe Carter resigned as the Board's general counsel. Board dissent erupted into public view at a meeting called by Chairman R. M. Dixon to demand Carter's resignation. Member O. D. Dent, in support of Carter, avoided attending the meeting and no action was taken.

Dixon accused Carter of being "disloyal" and working against his confirmation in the Senate. But Dent indicated Carter wasn't the main reason for Board dissolution and his leaving doesn't mean Board harmony.

Carter remained non-combative. INSURANCE BOARD CHANGES—New Insurance Board Chairman Penn Jackson took over duties earlier than planned last week after a snarl developed in the re-organization law.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the Board cannot legally function without employing a newly authorized commissioner. But there is no money to pay him until Sept. 1.

Gov. Daniel decided to accept resignations of the outgoing Board members immediately. Jackson took office. Hold-over appointee Joe Gibbs remained. Third member, Dave Irons, will join shortly. Together they will try to untangle the knot and launch a new era in insurance regulation.

ONE-THIRD COMING BACK—U. S. Trust victims can expect to get back a little more than 33 cents on the dollar.

State Liquidator J. D. Wheeler says there will be $2,449,221 for distribution to creditors after suits by claimants are settled. Approved claims total $7,292,365.

Litigation by a group of claimants seeking priority is still pending on appeal.

Meanwhile, Gov. Daniel has asked federal authorities to use diplomatic channels to return Ben Jack Cage to Texas for trial. Cage faces theft and embezzlement charges, involving a half million dollars, in connection with the collapsed ICT Insurance Co. He is reportedly in Brazil where he has extradition immunity.

OIL CUT-BACK LASHED—Texas' biggest slash ever in oil allowable ruffled up the dander of independent oil men.

July allowable was scissored 390,449 barrels a day by the Railroad Commission in an effort to cope with increased imports and excessive stocks.

Four associations of independents fired telegrams to Washington. They urged immediate steps in Congress to cut imports. They said the slash puts national security at the mercy of unreliable foreign oil supplies.

No blame was aimed at the Railroad Commissioners. Independents said the officials were "compelled" to order the cut.

FARM PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN—Let-up in rains has sent farmers scurrying back to the fields in hope of making some late crops after all.

Agriculture Commissioner John White granted a third emergency extension of the cotton planting deadline in 44 Central and East Texas counties. July 1 is the new cut-off date.

Intensification of insect control programs was urged in view of the deadline extension.

Livestock and ranges are reported in good to excellent condition as far west as the Pecos. But fly and other pest problems were widespread and serious.

ANTI-BLOOPER PLAN URGED—So many legislative bloopers are turning up that lawmakers are beginning to look for some way to prevent recurrence.

One proposal is for the Legislative Council to screen all bills coming before committees, especially conference committees where final writing is done.

It took an attorney general's opinion to decide that a pension could be paid this summer to Texas' only surviving Confederate veteran, Walter Williams. Legislative action wasn't clear.

Insurance reorganization was snarled again when it was discovered that the new law required employment of a Commissioner but his salary doesn't start until Sept. 1.

Typographical errors resulted in incorrect appropriations in several instances.

Granddaddy of the bunch was a botch in the school fund diversion bill. Unclear is whether it transfers $8,000,000 or $12,000,000.

There were numerous smaller errors too.

DANIEL LISTS HOLDINGS—Even though he first said he did not need to file a code of ethics statement, Gov. Daniel has listed his outside investments under the new ethics law.

His holdings: two mutual life insurance policies, a fraternal life insurance policy, an accidental death insurance policy, and a one-third ownership in the Trinity Publishing Co., Inc. of Liberty.

POLITICS ASTIR AGAIN—Push is underway by two rival Democratic forces for control of Texas party machinery next year.

Employment of J. J. (Jake) Pickle to head up a grassroots drive for the State Democratic Executive Committee was announced last week. Pickle was a key worker in Gov. Daniel's campaign and is well known as a political organizer.

Liberal rivals, the Democrats of Texas, gave notice of combat weeks ago. They are busy with precinct-by-precinct organizing.

SHORT SNORTS—Charles K. DeVal, Kilgore publisher, re-elected president of Texas Good Roads Assn., urged "intensive public attention and interest" in Texas' highway plans. He viewed it as necessary to a sound highway program "essential to the long-term growth of the Texas economy."

In a personal visit to the nation's capital, Governor Daniel asked curtailment of excessive oil imports. He decided a controversial section of a natural gas bill that would invoke restrictions against state and local price regulation. He plugged for more money for Texas river surveys. And he called on the State Department to push efforts to return Ben Jack Cage to Texas for trial.

State Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin has announced plans to retire from the legislature at the end of his current term. He will become assistant to the president of Southland Paper Mills in Lufkin.

Official Highway Maps Available At Slatonite

The official highway travel map of Texas, completely redrawn to include 450 Texas towns not shown in previous years, is now available at The Slatonite.

Inch for inch, the map, which is possibly one of the most widely known travelogues of the state, gives more travel guidance about the largest state in the nation than any comparable printed matter of such handy size. A new cartographic system employed to produce the 1957 map made possible the addition of 30 per cent more information.

Multi-lane highways, farm-to-market highways and state and federal highways are indicated. Key altitudes are also noted, and roadside parks as well as state parks are indicated.

All streams and public lakes of major size are shown, and cities with a population of 50,000 or more are mapped as a city inset. Color photographs on the back side of the map picture Texas' recreational, industrial, and landscape attractions.

A running account of Texas history and the state's natural resources, climate, size, recreational facilities and industries are included in the backside information.

Unfavorable Money Market Holding Up State Action in Veterans Land Program

"Over 20,000 Texas veterans are victims of an unfavorable money market." This statement was made by Land Commissioner Earl Rudder in answer to inquiries concerning progress in processing applications to purchase land under the Veterans' Land Program.

"So far, we haven't been able to sell our bonds," the Commissioner continued. "When a second $100,000,000 bond issue was passed by voters in November, many veterans assumed that loans would be available immediately. This has not been the case," Commissioner Rudder said.

"Aside from time necessary to enact legislation putting the new program into effect, inability to sell the bonds has prevented the program from developing as was hoped. In addition, the maximum rate of three percent that can be paid on bonds, which is prescribed by law, is a limiting factor."

"How is the program progressing?" Commissioner Rudder said he is frequently asked. "We are processing a few loans as money becomes available from the revolving fund created by bonds sold during the first program. We are also watching the money market very carefully and exploring every possibility of sale. The bonds will be offered again just as soon as we feel there is a possibility of selling them," he said.

In summing up the situation, Commissioner Rudder said he hoped that veterans who now have applications pending will understand problems involved. He indicated that applications are still being processed in the order in which they are received when money is or becomes available.

Misses Eva and Hazel Holsey of Corsicana came Saturday evening for a visit with their niece, Mrs. J. B. Sharp, Rev. Sharp and children. They are here to visit with the new baby, Beverly Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Winchester and children returned to their home in McKinney last Tuesday after a two week visit in the home of Mrs. Winchester's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jones. Mr. Winchester who is a patient at the Veterans' Hospital in McKinney returned to the hospital for further treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jones and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ham visited in Hart, Texas, Sunday with the Joneses' son, William, and Mrs. Jones.

Few area farmers can recall a year when it rained as much and as early as it did this year, and yet was so difficult to get a crop up to a stand. Many farmers replanted twice, which means three plantings.

The Big Job is under way

Santa Fe is now loading thousands of cars of grain and grain products on its lines

Santa Fe has been serving agriculture since 1874, when we sponsored the migration of the Mennonite farmers who established the Kansas wheat belt, and brought with them from Europe the ancestors of the better varieties of wheat grown in America today.

During harvest time, Santa Fe has a big job to do.

At the country stations and terminal elevators along the line, as agriculture's "hired man," Santa Fe loads over 121,000 boxcars of grain a year—the total production of over 9,000,000 fertile acres. We also load over 34,000 cars of grain products on our line annually.

An important part of this job is done in advance by our own agriculture department, by collecting data on planted acreage, weather, crop damage and other factors that affect yield.

These statistics provide useful information for farmers, elevator operators and others interested in grain movements, and assist us in spotting grain-tight boxcars at strategic points at harvest time.

Our agriculture department works with the Federal and State agriculture departments, land grant colleges, and county agents in fighting destructive insects and plant diseases.

We are also privileged to award university scholarships annually to many farm youths in our territory.

We of the Santa Fe are proud of the part we have in serving the farmers of the West and Southwest in their essential task of feeding the Nation.

TELEPHONE TALK

J. C. Oakley, Manager

SHE'LL GET YOUR NUMBER

your personal list of out-of-town telephone numbers ...
 If isn't, we'll be glad to get any new numbers you need—charge, too. Just call Long Distance and ask the operator numbers you want.

As always, you'll find Long Distance service is much and more convenient when you keep a list and call by er.

Long Distance is a real bargain, too. You can call from to Dallas for only 95c (station-to-station, after 6 p. m. all day Sunday).

I LIKE MY PHONE BECAUSE ...

you were asked to name the one "main" reason why you have a telephone, what should it be?
 Time-saver, maybe? Housewives, especially, get so much done during the day by using their telephone as an errand business aid? The phone is an essential tool for most and professional people.

Companion? Folks who have to stay close to home because of illness or family responsibilities find the telephone a friend. Frequently, it's their number one means of getting up with friends they don't often get to see.

Others find it reassuring just to have a telephone close by,
 they can use it to call for help in an emergency.

But most of us, I imagine, like having a telephone simply because it's an easy, pleasant way to visit the people we enjoy most to talk to.

Telephone service means a lot of different things to a lot of different people. For whatever reasons you like having a phone, you can be sure we're always searching for new and ways to make it even more useful, convenient, and economical.

NOT OUT TILL YOU COUNT TEN

Remember this old saying? "Don't lose your temper till you count to 10." Still pretty good advice, I guess.
 and 10 can be a magic number for saving your telephone bill, too.

When you make a call and don't get a quick answer, a rule of thumb is to wait at least 10 rings before you give up.

Especially during the summer—when people are out in the yard so often—it's a good idea to allow them some extra time to reach the phone.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

WESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Slaton Girls Named to Posts Girls State

Two Slaton girls, Sandra Long, and Alice Green, were named to offices at Bluebonnet Girls State, held at the Texas School for the Blind in Austin. Miss Long represented the Home Demonstration Club, and Miss Green, the American Legion Auxiliary.

Miss Long was named a council member of City "K," while Miss Green was named a county commissioner.

Over 360 junior students from Texas high schools attended the 10-day event, which ended June 19. It was sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Texas.

Sandra Long Girls State Councilwoman

Mrs. Roy Murphy and sons, Larry, Billy and Mike, of Snyder visited with friends in Slaton Friday. Mrs. Murphy and Larry were en route to Lubbock. The Murphys are former residents of Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Story of Lubbock were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lovett Sunday. The Storys lived in Slaton about 25 years ago. He was employed by the Santa Fe here at that time.

David Collins who is working in Abilene for the summer, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hinkle and boys from Wichita, Kansas, visited last week end with Mr. Hinkle's brother, A. P. Hinkle, and Mrs. Hinkle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hord spent a few days last week fishing at Lake Conchas. Mr. Hord reports that they caught a few fish but their luck wasn't so good.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hickman spent the week end in Baird visiting with relatives. They have as their house guest for the next week or two, Mrs. S. W. Browning of San Antonio.

Classification Talk Given by Jim D. Campbell

Jim D. Campbell, minister of music at First Methodist Church, made his classification talk before Slaton Rotarians last Thursday. He was introduced by W. C. Williams.

Campbell traced the history of church music from its use as recorded in the Old Testament, where it was used by the Jewish people, until present day times.

He described the duties of a minister of music as being to train choirs, to instill congregational singing, and a worship of God with music.

He said that a minister of music should be able to teach music, lead group singing, be a teacher of religious education. The ability to get along with both children and adults is one of the prime abilities to look for in a minister of music, he said.

Visiting Rotarians included Harold Manchester, Dallas; B. E. Adair, Lubbock; and John T. Morris, Ralls.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks Kennedy and four children from Purcell, Okla., are visiting with Mrs. Kennedy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Edwards.
