

William Jennings Bryan Dies While Sleeping

Dayton, Tenn., July 26.—William Jennings Bryan died.

The end came for the Great Commoner as he lay peacefully sleeping Sunday afternoon. No one was with him when he died.

Bryan, who had come here three weeks ago to attend the Scopes trial, had spent Saturday at Winchester and Chattanooga, coming here by automobile Sunday morning. At 11 o'clock he attended services at the Methodist Episcopal church, South. He led in prayer and after the benediction went to the home of Mrs. Richard Rogers where he and Mrs. Bryan have been making their home since coming to Dayton.

The dinner hour was spent with Mrs. Bryan. There were no guests at dinner. Bryan ate with relish, then retired to his room to rest.

Found Dead by Nurse

The exact hour when death came is not known. Mrs. Stevens, the nurse who is constantly with Mrs. Bryan, who for years has been an invalid, passed through Bryan's room at 4 o'clock. She noticed a strange pallor on his face. She bent over him. He was dead.

Dr. A. C. Broyles and Dr. W. F. Thomason, physicians of Dayton, were summoned. They expressed the belief that Mr. Bryan had been dead from a half to three-quarters of an hour when he was found by Mrs. Stevens. A hasty examination disclosed that heart disease had probably been the cause of death.

Washington, July 27.—Near the crest of a swelling slope, where sleeps a great company of the dead of many wars, the American government today marked out in Arlington National cemetery a final resting place for William Jennings Bryan.

His burial here late Friday afternoon with simple ceremony will fulfill his own repeated wish. In life a crusader for peace, he chose in death to lie where the tombs of military men look down upon the capital amid the beauties of the Virginia hills, near the towering memorials erected to Washington and Lincoln.

Dr. Webb Will Speak Here Sunday

Dr. Atticus Webb, editor of the Home and State, and superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, will speak at the Methodist church next Sunday at 11 a. m.

Dr. Webb is a strong speaker and has a real message for all citizens who oppose bootlegging and stand for the enforcement of law.

Be sure to hear him.

Tigers Have 5 Big Games Next Week

Slaton baseball fans will doubtless be pleased with the announcement that the local Tigers have a five game series scheduled for next week with Post—the hard team to down.

The first game of the series will be played Monday a Tiger Park, Slaton; Tuesday's game at Post; Wednesday at Slaton; Thursday at Post, and, in all probability, Manager Cypert announces, Friday's game will be played on the local grounds. Positive announcement as to where the odd game will be played, however, will be made in next week's issue of The Slatonite. This promises to be a very interesting contests, and one that local fans, especially, have been wanting to see.

PICTURESQUE COMEDIANS APPEAR IN MIX PICTURE

Lucien Littlefield and Mark Hamilton contribute several hilariously funny scenes to "The Rainbow Trail," Tom Mix's latest William Fox starring vehicle, which will come to the Custer Theatre next Friday and Saturday. One of the funniest scenes is that in a frontier saloon, where the dried up little Lucien whales the daylight out of Mark, who is six feet three. Lucien is Mix's right hand man and Mark is the chief aide of the villain. Both comedians are skilful actors, and their frequent clashes add greatly to the entertainment of this latest of Mix's Zane Grey pictures. Littlefield extracts the maximum of entertainment from his scene with a fractious buffalo.

Frank Smith and wife of Seagraves are here as the guests of their parents.

Slaton Rotary Club Entertains Visitors

J. T. Overby had charge of the program at the regular weekly Rotary luncheon last Friday noon. Rotarian Jeff Custer was the first called on, who spoke on the development of the Moving Picture Industry and brought out many interesting facts relative to this gigantic institution of modern enterprise. It was learned that some of the movie stars are obliged to be content with the starvation wage of only fifteen thousand dollars in each Saturday night's pay envelope. W. E. Olive when called on to play the role of a prophet and a seer and to tell what business conditions would be this fall, gave three reasons for refusing to play the roll. The first was that he was not a speaker, the second that he was not a lawyer, and third that he was not a liar. In the next breath he combined these three reasons into one, and what business conditions will be this fall is still as much a matter of mystery as ever.

Will Abbe gave a most interesting and thoughtful talk on "Civic Improvement needed in Slaton." He made it clear that there is much to be done in our city and that civic improvement not only produce an artistic effect but that they are necessities. Particularly did he make some good points on the matter of improving and beautifying our cemetery.

Mr. J. L. Pope, of Woodard, Oklahoma, a guest, and who was here to confer with the Board of Directors of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce with the possibility of being chosen to direct city building in Slaton in the future, was called on and spoke briefly and to the point on matters of interest to all public spirited citizens.

Evangelist Ross A. Smith, conducting the Baptist revival, was the last speaker, and made a pleasing and profitable talk which was highly enjoyed.

Visitors present were P. G. Stokes of Big Spring, and J. W. Atwood of Dallas, guests of H. G. Stokes; L. A. Wilson, singing evangelist of Slaton, guest of J. W. Hood; W. H. Smith, president of the Dayton Chamber of Commerce, guest of W. H. McKirahan; Rev. Ross A. Smith and Rev. John P. Hardesty, guests of R. H. Tudor; Rev. F. G. Callaway, guest of his son, Jack Callaway; J. G. Levey of Slaton and Wilson Armstrong, of Taylor, Texas, guest of Floyd Rector and J. L. Pope of Woodward, Oklahoma, guest of J. T. Overby.

Jim K. Wood will have charge of the program at the luncheon next Friday, July 31st.

Attorney Wilson Heads Endowment Campaign

Waco, Texas, July 27.—Vaughan E. Wilson of Lubbock, young attorney who has just been named chairman for Lubbock county of the $1,500,000 Baylor University endowment-enlargement campaign, is given high praise by a Lubbock editor. The Avalanche, commenting on Mr. Wilson's appointment, says: "Few university graduates, after leaving their alma mater and establishing themselves in their chosen profession, have made such forward strides in making friends and becoming known to so great a number of people as has Attorney Wilson since his coming to Lubbock."

"He has figured conspicuously in some of the important cases in the 72nd judicial district court since coming to Lubbock, and is popular both with the followers of his profession and with the public at large."

"In selecting him to head the endowment enlargement campaign in Lubbock county for Baylor University, those responsible acted wisely and no one doubts but that the campaign in his county will be successful under his leadership."

Mr. Wilson will be assisted by Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lubbock, and other graduates and ex-students of Baylor University in that section.

ATTEND KNIGHT TEMPLAR MEETING

R. H. McCurdy, S. R. McManus, M. J. Nelson and C. T. Lokey motored to Lubbock last Monday afternoon, and after enjoying the ball game at Lubbock, attended the Knight Templar meeting at Masonic hall, where the degrees were conferred upon a large class. A fine banquet was served to the visiting Sir Knights and members of the class and every one reports a very enjoyable time, returning to Slaton in the wee sma' hours.

Chamber of Commerce Employs New Secretary

At a very enthusiastic meeting of the Board of Directors of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday night in their office at the city hall. It was voted to employ a secretary for the ensuing year to replace the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Mr. J. J. Ross, who had just completed a year's work with the Chamber.

The name of the prospective leader was withheld, but it was stated that he is a West Texas man, thoroughly versed on the possibilities and resources of this section and a man of considerable experience as a commercial leader. Further announcements as to this man accepting, etc., is expected to be made within the next few days.

In the mean time the directors are conducting a campaign for funds for the coming year, and are meeting with the highest degree of success, the Slatonite is informed, and that the plans of the directors will materialize in big style is not in the least doubtful.

It is hoped that every citizen of Slaton and surrounding country will join solidly in this plan of the Chamber of Commerce to continue in the future as in the past in doing big things for our splendid section of the South Plains.

All West Texas Gets Good Rains This Week

The most general rain received over the south plains this year fell early Wednesday morning, reviving prospects for growing crops and insuring maturity of all feed crops.

Cotton production will be much larger than anticipated as a result of the heavy rain, that amounted from a quarter of an inch in places to as much as three inches.

The Lubbock Morning Avalanche received reports from throughout the area visited by the rains Wednesday, as follows: Levelland, 3 inches; Slaton 2 inches; Southland 2 inches; Meadow 3 inches; Idalou one and a half inches; Seagraves 1 inch; Ralls one inch; Lockney 2 inches;

Sedan one half inch; Plainview one fourth inch; Floydada one half inch; Abernathy one half inch; Tahoka one half inch; Wilson one half inch; Littlefield one fourth inch; Happy one eighth inch and Crosbyton three fourths inch.

Additional rains falling Wednesday night and this morning, extended over the entire South Plains country, according to reports, and varied in quantities up to two inches or more.

The Slaton territory is now thoroughly soaked and bumper crops, both cotton and feed are now practically assured.

Splendid Amusements for Tri-State Exposition

With a dozen counties of the Panhandle already volunteering exhibits at the Amarillo Tri-State Exposition, and more known to be coming, officers of that institution are now being assured of what they have heretofore predicted for the 1925 dates of September 26th to October 1st, inclusive.

Agricultural exhibits and livestock showing now being practically assured the best ever attempted in this section of the Southwest, attention to the attractions and amusements is now being asked by U. N. Oliver, president. "Fair time is also fun time," he says, "and while development of this section and its resources is the prime object, father and mother, as well as Jack and Jill, wish entertainment mingled with the more serious side of life. In the 1925 showing exhilaration as well as studios absorption is sought, and for this purpose it is believed the best, the most elevating, as well as amusing, has been secured."

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR BEING FATAL

Monday evening, while returning to Slaton on the Lubbock-Slaton highway, a car driven by Mart Shamburger, who was accompanied by Miss Grace Squires, head waitress for the Harvey House, ran into the rear of a Ford roadster that was stopped in the highway for tire troubles, which resulted in painful and near serious injuries to both occupants.

The car turned completely over two or three times, it is reported, and was almost completely demolished. The car that was struck was only slightly damaged.

Mr. Shamburger and Miss Squires were brought to Slaton, where they received surgical attention.

Dr. A. J. Payne and E. Bracken and families returned the latter part of last week from an outing trip through the New Mexico mountains.

GATES DRY GOODS MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

Noticeable improvements are this week being made in the large store of Gates Dry Goods company, shelving and tables are being added and re-arranged, as well as a general overhauling of the balcony and the moving of the office.

Mrs. Albert Bernson and her two small boys, Maurice and Albert, Jr., of Canadian, are visiting Mrs. Bernson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Young.

Slaton Bottling Works Has Changed Hands

Recently Messrs. C. T. Lokey and M. L. Elliott, of this city, purchased the Slaton Ice Cream and Bottling Works and will soon open for business on a large scale.

The plant is undergoing a complete overhauling, as well as new machinery and a new delivery truck being added.

In the future the firm name will be Quality Bottling & Ice Cream Works. The firm will specialize in the manufacture of Quality ice cream, and Harry Bonds of Stamford has been employed as head of this department.

Mr. Bonds is a son of a prominent ice cream man of Stamford, and is thoroughly acquainted with this phase of the business.

In addition to the already good supply of bottles, the new management of the bottling works has en route another solid car load which will arrive very soon, according to Mr. Lokey, who authorizes The Slatonite to state the opening date of the Quality Ice Cream & Bottling Works will be announced in the very near future.

Equalization Board Now in Session

A board of equalization for the City of Slaton and for the Slaton Independent School District, is now meeting daily at the city hall.

The board is composed of A. C. Hanna, Ben White and E. P. Nix. The first meeting was held Monday, and the board will probably be in session for some ten days or two weeks yet.

Rev. Atticus Webb To Visit Slaton

Rev. Atticus Webb, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, who is editor of Home and State, will be in Slaton Sunday, August 2nd. The Slatonite is informed, and will speak at 11 o'clock a. m. at the Methodist church, and at 8 p. m. at the First Baptist church.

J. E. Nelson and family are moving this week to Salida, Colorado. Mr. Nelson was recently an employe of the Santa Fe.

M. A. Pember returned Tuesday evening from a trip to Portales, New Mexico, and over that section of the country, where he was accompanying some prospectors from Louisiana. Mr. Pember reports recent big rains around Portales, and says crops are in fine shape.

Baptist Revival Closed Sunday Night

With only a limited time at their disposal because of the beginning of the Post Baptist Encampment Tuesday July 28th, the Baptist revival closed Sunday night after a week of intensive work. Monday morning the baptismal services were held at the church building, a large congregation witnessed this last scene of the meeting. A total of twenty-two were buried in baptism beneath the liquid waves. Total additions to the church during the short one week's meeting were thirty-four. Eight of these came as a result of the Jimmie Smith revival—the other twenty-six as a direct result of the Baptist meeting.

The meeting just closed has been one of the very best the local church has ever had, considering that it was only a one week's campaign. It was one of those meetings in which people were really drawn closer to the Lord, and made a feast of his precious word. Besides this, more than a score were converted to the acceptance of Christ as their personal Savior.

Rev. Ross A. Smith, Baptist pastor at Lamesa, did the preaching in this meeting. On every occasion he won completely the hearts of his hearers. Conservatively we may say as a preacher of the gospel he has not been excelled by any man who has come to Slaton in recent years. His preaching was constructive. His was not a devils, uncertain course. But, he laid out before the people the truths of the old Book and preached them unflinchingly and in great power.

The Baptist people of Lamesa are to be congratulated on having as their pastor a man of such outstanding ability as Rev. Smith. While in our city he won many, many warm and lasting friends, not only among the Baptist people, but among those he met on the streets and elsewhere.

The prayer meetings held each evening of the meeting were always well attended and, no doubt, were one of the finest influences in the meeting.

The song services conducted by Mr. Wilson, together with his special music, were of the usual high type as is known by all the home people here. A large senior choir and a junior choir of fine boys and girls rendered invaluable service to the music in the meeting. Also, Mrs. J. K. Wood and Miss Mae Driver, together with Mrs. L. A. Wilson at the piano, added largely to the effectiveness of the music with their violins. All of these have a warm place of appreciation in the hearts of those who heard them.

With such revival meetings as this one that has just closed, Slaton need no fear but that her citizenship is climbing to a higher plane of living. Such is the need, not only in Slaton, but in every other town we know anything about. When grown, mature, men and women, young people, and boys and girls of all ages join the church and submit to the ordinance of baptism as occurred last Monday morning, we need not fear that God has forgotten us or that our spiritual level is lowering.

IT'S NOT HOW MUCH, IT'S WHAT YOU SAY

Does "small talk" interfere with progress?

Millions of people every day fill up much of their time with useless remarks about the weather and a thousand other subjects which are discussed merely for politeness sake.

According to members of a company which recently visited southern Utah to film Zane Grey's story "The Heritage of the Desert" as an Irvin Willat production for paramount, "small talk" is responsible for the loss of innumerable hours every day.

"I never realized before how much time we white people waste until I observed the Navajo Indians," said Bebe Daniels. "They never say any thing unless they have something of importance to tell you. When we are with an Indian for two days without a word being said, you certainly pay keen attention when he finally says something. I think many of us say so much no one pays any attention when we have something really important. If we only spoke when what we had to say was worth while we wouldn't waste so much time."

Miss Daniels is a featured player with Ernest Torrence, Noah Beery and Loyd Hughes in "The Heritage of the Desert" to be shown at the Custer theatre Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Sloan's Homer Fatal Blow To Tigers

"Lefty" Alexander and "Woman" Sanders, two southpaws of West Texas fame, battled for thirteen innings here Wednesday afternoon, with Sanders emerging the winner when Sloan hooked up in the thirteenth, driving one under the left field fence for the circuit, scoring Jackson ahead of him.

The locals made their only count in the first inning, when two singles and a couple of errors by Jackson, who had been pulled in from left field to short, chased two men across the rubber. Johnson and Sone singled in order, then Jackson muffed a couple of grounders from the sticks of Walls and Anderson, sending Johnson and Sone home.

From here the battle raged fiercely, with both pitchers steering clear of trouble until the eighth, when Lubbock tied the count. Allen led off and was thrown out, Wells to Sone; Sanders walked; Jackson fled out to Weaver in left; Shepard singled, sending Sanders to third, and took second on the play; Sloan then drove out a ringing single, scoring Sanders and Shepard.

In the thirteenth, Jackson led off with a single; Shepard went out on strikes; then Sloan drove one to left field, which bounded under the fence for a home run. Slaton was unable to match or break the count in her half.

Slaton goes to Lubbock tomorrow for the second of the series, the game to be played at the Merrill park at 4 o'clock.

EQUIPMENT ARRIVING FOR NEW THEATRE

Some of the furniture and equipment for the theatre which is being constructed by Messrs. Custer and Napps, is beginning to arrive in Slaton and by the time the new building is completed, Mr. Custer says, everything will be ready for installation.

Among the fixtures arriving this week is a very beautiful and attractive lobby board, which will be kept in the lobby of the new show and used for painting and other kinds of advertising.

RURAL ROUTE MAIL TO LEAVE AT 8 A. M.

A change in the time of the rural route mail carriers' leaving the local postoffice on their routes has become effective, and all carriers out of Slaton now leave at 8 o'clock a. m., instead of 1:30 p. m. as heretofore.

Another Hooch Peddler Closes Out Business

Thursday of last week Chief Selmon herded another "hooch" peddler to the bars of justice over at the city hall, bringing as evidence five gallons of "chock," Selmon says they call it. The defendant, giving his name as J. W. McDonald, who is colored, paid his fine, with a promise to quit the business.

SLATON PUBLIC SCHOOL IS ABOVE THE AVERAGE

The superintendent of the schools may be found in his office in the afternoons from 2 to 4. He is anxious to meet all pupils or patrons who are seeking information concerning the work for the coming year.

Some of our young people, who failed in some feature of their work would, perhaps, like to talk with Mr. Sone and agree upon some plan of getting the matter straightened out.

All pupils who have the choice of options to make, should be planning with their parents and teachers so that they may do it intelligently.

Prospective pupils, especially for high school, should not wait to investigate the requirements of entrance and should not fail to discuss the matter of credits and courses with the superintendent.

Our citizens will do a favor to strangers who are to become patrons of our school, if they will speak to them about these conferences.

The following are a little short of the required credits, but some of them, at least, are working and may report "O K" at the opening of school: Eunice McDonald, Bevelle Morgan, Hoyt Meador, Roy McCurdy, Harold Johnson, Russell McGinnis, C. W. Wilkes. Others will be in the graduating class, moving here from other schools. It will be seen that this class will about equal the Senior class of last year.

When the large groups now in the lower high school grades reach their senior year, there will be some great classes. So often a large per cent drop out and are lost. This should not be and will not be, if the people of Slaton determine that we shall be the exception to the rule and make our schools so attractive that all the young people will carry on to the last. This is being talked to these young people now and we believe they are holding on fine. Our school now is above the average as to high school graduates and as to those who have entered college. This is a credit to our people and there is no reason why these standard shall not be raised.

The Institute will begin its work August 31st, and the regular school work will begin here on Sept. 7th.

Slaton is to have an "Education Week." Exact date will be given soon. The week will be used to stress the importance of an education and efforts will be made to induce all our young people to line up in high school or college. In the meantime the friends are asked to look about and select some one to influence into taking this step.

We are hearing of many pupils who have moved to our city and others are coming to get the benefit of the Slaton schools. So with the old ones and the new arrivals we shall have a great body of young people who will prove an inspiration to all the forces that are working for the cause of education.

The following named pupils were promoted into the Senior class and are in line for graduation: Beyrl Abel, Audran Alcorn, Velda Barron, Faye Calthorp, Maudie Pearl Mabry, Andrea Marriott, Icie Nowell, Flora Pair, Cora Peebles, Nona Mae Reed, Clemmie Jane Vaught, Mary Stout, Dan Cummings, Howard Hoffman, Irvin Jones, Durward Kelley, Ray Majors, Walter McAtee, Gilbert Tudor, Dale Watson, Alton Young, Clifton Henry, Blanche Belew, Edda Belle Benton, Ina Blinion, Mae Driver, Charles Hammett, Lona Hammett, Lamar Hancock, Vera Leininger, Lucy Manly, Wilson McKirilian, Aram Moore, Ethel Niehoff, Chas. Smith, Lillian Williams, Minter Uzzell, Eva Landers.

Later on a call was issued by the president for representatives of seven associations to meet at Post on December 8th, 1924, to consider the establishing of the assembly at Post, or some other place agreeable to the representatives. On this date the assembly was permanently established at Post and further organization had looking to the 1925 program.

The territory embraced extends from Sweetwater to Spur and from Rotan to Seminole, taking in practically all the territory north of the T. and P. railroad to Spur, Aspermont and Rotan. The board of directors of the assembly voted unanimously to extend an invitation to any other association, or church, to join in with us at their option or pleasure.

While the Post Assembly is a new and different organization from the one organized by Brownfield association, yet it is practically the same but wider in its scope of territory. And to the Brownfield association should ever go the credit for initiating this assembly.

A minimum of four literary courses are required of every pupil doing work in the schools. Not more than one laboratory course can be taken at one time.

A ruling has been passed by the board that all laboratory courses will call for a small fee to defray a part of the incidental expenses connected with the teaching of those subjects. The amount of the fees for the different courses will be determined later.

All courses given above are affiliated, except the Manual Training, just started the latter part of last year and the Commercial courses that will be installed this fall.

These should give, for the present, all the options necessary for laying the foundations of education for our young men and young ladies. With these, they should be able to enter the colleges of their choice and continue in their educational work. If deprived of this privilege, they will still be able to take up some of the duties and responsibilities of young citizens. C. L. SONE, Superintendent.

Post Baptist Assembly Will Meet July 28th To August 6th

The Post Baptist Assembly had its genesis in the last annual meeting of Brownfield Baptist association. When the report on B. Y. P. U. work was under discussion the suggestion was made that steps be taken toward the institution of a Summer Assembly for the South Plains section. A motion prevailed that such an organization be set up at once which resulted in the election of officers for the ensuing year. Mr. L. A. Wilson, educational director of the First Baptist church of Slaton, was elected president, and Mr. Bob Parris of Central church, vice president, with Miss Mary Preston of New Home church, secretary.

Registration prices: $1.00 per individual for the entire time; $2.50 per family; and 25c per single day. No charges for Sunday. Tents will be provided for all who notify W. A. Bowen in advance. These will be charged for at the lowest rate possible to pay expenses of securing them.

RETURN FROM VISIT

J. E. Nelms, chiropractor, and wife returned Sunday morning from a three weeks' visit to East Texas, visiting Dr. Nelms' old home and relatives. They camped along the way and visited with friends in Anson, Mineral Wells and Dallas. Also visited through Bonham, Honey Grove, Paris, Clarksville and Texarkana vicinities. Crops are good most all the way through the latter parts of the state, but are needing rain as well as we do here. Clarksville and Annona vicinities have a splendid cotton crop so far, and if one big rain falls soon they will make a bumper crop of cotton. Bonham community needs rain worst of all and is suffering. Leonard and Trenton are dry, but not so much that they are suffering as severely as the Bonham vicinity. Ambrose, Red River valley, north of Whitewright, has a pretty good crop, but they need rain. Melons are reasonably good, grapes are good, both white and black. Pecan trees are loaded with young pecans in the river bottoms, and a big crop is expected. Crops look fine from Dallas to Whitewright and are not suffering badly as yet. The most common thing to see in the Red River valley country near Clarksville, is a white man's plantation, with big barn, many mules, a colony of negro cabins, picaninies and watermelons galore. As the saying goes down there, "Negroes, mules and cotton." Dr. Nelms reports that his father, S. C. Nelms, as well as other landholders in the Mill creek valley, near Tom Bean and Whitewright and Kentuckytown, have the best crops of all; for the bumper crops are made during dry years in the Mill creek bottoms there. Without rain they will make over a bale to the acre, and the corn is fine, too, and roasting ears a-plenty, and more coming on yet. Doctor Nelms and wife report a dandy trip on their vacation.

MIGHTY QUESTIONS INVOLVED IN SCOPE TRIAL AT DAYTON

The trial of John Thomas Scopes at Dayton, Tennessee, for teaching evolution from a textbook adopted by that state, which trial ended last week, is not unique in the history of the world, but is certainly unique in modern civilization. It is the age old conflict between the truths of Christianity and the facts of science. The trial has been variously characterized, and its causes and effects variously interpreted and speculated on, and this will continue. History has taught us, however that the age old conflict has its basis more in the imagination than in reality.

That such a scene can take place in modern life is only proof of man's ignorance—a monument to his stupidity and cupidity. It is not the first outburst in the struggle of the human mind for light, nor will it be the last, but far be it from us to condemn the outburst. It is indisputable proof that the mind is healthy and active, despite the errors into which it falls and despite the short diameter of its limitations. The trial has provoked discussion. That is healthful. It has provoked thought. That is splendid. It has inspired investigation, and that is abundantly worth the effort. In the end the average man will know more about his Bible and he will know more of and appreciate better the scientific mind.

That mighty questions are involved is recognized by every person of above average intellect, and that in the end it will be conclusively demonstrated that there is no actual conflict between the truths of Christianity and of nature, there is not, in our mind, the slightest doubt.

Every great scientific discovery has provoked a warfare and, in olden times, violent persecutions and unspeakable cruelties on the part of misguided religious zealots against the discoverer. When Galileo announced that the earth moves about the sun and not the sun about the earth, he was cast into the dungeon. When Sir Charles Lyell, father of modern geology, announced that the tops of our highest mountains were one time ocean floor, and that these mighty elevations had been laid down in beautiful strata by water action over a period represented by millions of years, he was the subject of vile persecution. Charles Darwin himself, when his "Origin of Species" appeared in England in 1871, was persecuted and ostracized.

It is simply the spirit of opposition to anything that is new. It is manifested not only in science but in religion as well. John Huss, for espousing the doctrines of Wyclif, suffered death at the stake at the hands of religionists. Christ was put to death on the cross by those he had come to save. Luther was excommunicated when he nailed his edict on the church door and hurled defiance to the established order of things. Since then, the world has reversed itself, and the big majority of mankind now sing the praises of the men whom their great grandfathers put to death.

Every school child today is taught in the public schools the theory called the Nebular Hypothesis, to account for the origin of the universe, and the changes that took place in the original cosmos, to account for the earth, moon, planets and heavenly bodies. No theory could possibly contradict the literal interpretation of Genesis more than does the Nebular Hypothesis. Now that great theory has a rival, called "The Accretion Theory," which likewise seeks to account for and explain the origin of the universe. Both, however, may yield facts which some day will prove the truth of another theory.

For generations two other great theories have contended for supremacy in the minds of men. One is the doctrine of Catastrophism, which attributes changes in the earth and in living things to sudden and violent physical action. The opposing doctrine, which is the one generally accepted today, proclaims that the processes of progress and development have been steady, constant and gradual, and that the laws operating today effecting changes in the earth and in all life on the earth have been in operation since the beginning and are immutable and unchanging.

Let pitiless publicity and unfettered discussion and painstaking investigation continue. It is thus only that error can be discovered and avoided and the truth made known, and exalted. The Scopes trial is not, as Mr. Bryan asserts, the beginning of a death struggle between science and religion, but a sign of renewed mental vitality and an era of research that will lead all mankind from darkness into light.

Mr. and Mrs. France Baker of Lubbock were in Slaton Friday, attending the mass meeting at the city hall, when J. L. Pope, their cousin, of Woodward, Oklahoma, addressed citizens of this section.

HOW MUCH DOES A HOME COST?

One man point to a house and say: "It cost me only $3500 to build my house."

Another may point to a house very similar in size and appearance and say: "I put $4200 into that house."

But at the end of five years, or possibly less, there may be a different story to tell.

The first cost does not always prove to be the final cost!

By skimping a little here and there on quality, it is possible to build for say $3500 a home that should really cost something like $4200.

But time proves the fallacy of such methods in building a home (or any structure, for that matter). Repairs and replacements often add to the initial sum until the final cost becomes much greater than if there had been no skimping of quality in the beginning.

From 800,000 Sacks in 1902—
to 9,000,000 Sacks in 1924

That the production of the Texas Portland Cement Company has grown from 800,000 sacks to 9,000,000 sacks annually, cannot be attributed entirely to the quality of the product and the ability of the organization to render service.

This great growth reflects that intangible thing known as confidence. LONE STAR Cement has that enviable reputation which can be built only by faithful adherence to sound manufacturing and marketing policies.

Both of the LONE STAR mills use the International Wet-Blending Process exclusively. This process is the result of 20 years' experience in cement making, combined with years of painstaking research.

It is not surprising that the quality of this cement is maintained at a level 50% above the requirements of the U. S. Standard Specifications.

Yet this super-grade cement costs no more.

It has our unqualified endorsement.

By Mrs. W. H. McKirahan.

Faith, Hope and Love

Talk happiness. The world is sad enough
Without your woes. No path is wholly rough;
Look for the places that are smooth and clear,
And speak of those to rest the weary ear
Of earth, so hurt by one continuous strain
Of human discontent, and grief and pain.

Talk faith. The world is better off without
Your uttered ignorance and morbid doubt;
If you have faith in God, or man, or self,
Say so. If not, push back upon the shelf
Of silence, all your thoughts, till faith shall come;
No one shall grieve because your lips are dumb.

Talk health. The dreary never change-tale
Of fatal maladies is worn and stale;
You cannot charm, nor interest, nor please,
By harping on that minor chord, disease.
Say you are well, or all is well with you,
And God shall hear your words, and make them true. —Anon.

The lesson for the evening was taken up, which was the books of Leviticus and Numbers, with Mrs. Tudor as leader. This lesson proved very interesting and was greatly appreciated, and showed that the leader had spent some time and thought in her preparation of the lesson. The next was a contest which resulted in a great deal of fun and merriment which was the guessing of the maiden names of those present. This little contest told us that Mrs. Olive would be our leader next month. The lesson will be Deuteronomy.

Unofficial reports coming to our office are to the effect that the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is preparing a new directory for the City of Slaton. Good news!

All character of advertising is good just so it keeps a man's name and his business before the public. However, the cost is something for the shrewd business man to consider. Some advertising would bring no direct results at any price.

Some newspapers are so selfish or over-zealous in not taking charge of their community interests that they are not willing to admit that all advertising is good, but some better than others. It is poor fraternity when a small daily can see no good in one of its country cousin weekly publications. There are weekly papers in this section with larger circulations than not a few daily publications. COME TO SLATON!

Hanson Post, American Legion, Amarillo, is in the race for the 1926 State Convention. This year, in September, it will be held in Fort Worth, and Hanson Post, together with many others of the Panhandle will have strong delegations there pulling for Amarillo. As a convention city Texas ex-service men could not find a better meeting place than Amarillo, besides that city being the logical place for the next meeting.

FORT WORTH TO PLAINS RAILROAD

With all the talk going the rounds from the Plains to Fort Worth, an old these days of a direct railroad line skeleton has come to life, in the Santa Fe's line direct to Fort Worth, known as the Slaton route. Three years ago this Slaton route was much in the limelight and was looked on with favor from a standpoint of possible revenue producing and also from economy of construction.

This route is again being talked of, and it is thought the Santa Fe will give serious consideration to this project. It is pointed out that this route is the only one that will serve all the Plains country, it will also serve territory tributary to the Plains and Fort Worth, which now has no outlet east and west. Third, the north and south roads now operating in that territory would serve as valuable feeders for the Slaton route, connections being made at Aspermont with the Wichita Valley, at Rule with the K. C. M. O. & G. and at Haskell with the Wichita Valley. Fourth, all cities and towns of any importance at this time within this territory between the Plains and Fort Worth would be passed through or connected with the Slaton route at either of the above points without back haul and the farthest point would be able to reach the Slaton route at less than fifty miles.

The Slaton route would leave the present Santa Fe main line just below the Cap Rock near Post, and run in an easterly direction through Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell and Throckmorton counties and then in a southeasterly direction across the lower corner of Young county, across Palo Pinto and Parker counties, traversing the territory of oil development and wildcatting.

The towns along this proposed route, Rule, Haskell, Throckmorton, Clairmont, Post, Aspermont, Woodson, etc., are all ready to lend all encouragement possible to this construction, and the Santa Fe by using its present main line from Slaton to Post, would eliminate the heavy expenditure of scaling the Cap Rock at another point, and this route of approximately 250 miles would make an economical line from an operating expense point of view, as well as being able to secure necessary tonnage to make it pay from the start.

THE VALUE OF AN EDUCATION

In a day when everything is valued by so many people in dollars and cents, it is not amiss to calculate, as far as may be possible, the value of an education by the monetary yardstick. Statistics have been collected which are not only interesting but valuable.

"Does it pay?" is the universal criterion. If it "pays," in dollars, then it is worth consideration. If it does not "pay," in dollars, then let it alone. That is the world's dictum. It is the rule of action.

James F. Lawrence, a New York attorney, has published his statistics in the St. Louis Star, and from his article we quote:

Argument that a college education broadens, deepens and refines the mind are usually of little avail against the man or woman who measures success by worldly possessions. "What does college get you, except the ability to loaf gracefully and a lot of fan-dangled notions that have to be driven out of the boy's head by practical business?" That is the question that figures gathered over one year by James F. Lawrence, a New York attorney, whose interest in the subject was aroused by just such a discussion with his sons attempts to answer.

Here are some of his statistics from federal sources:

Less than one per cent of American men have been college graduates, yet from that less than one per cent have come 55 per cent of our presidents, 54 per cent of our vice presidents, 62 per cent of our secretaries of state, 50 per cent of our secretaries of the treasury, 36 per cent of our members of congress and 47 per cent of our speakers of the house.

Mr. Lawrence also found that 31 men in 5,000,000 with no schooling became distinguished, thus giving the man with no schooling one chance in 161,290; that 808 men in 33,000,000 with an elementary education attained distinction, or 1 in 40,841; that 1245 men in 2,000,000 with a high school education attained distinction, or 1 in 1608, and that 5768 men in 1,000,000 with a college education attained distinction, or 1 in 172.

These figures seem to answer most authoritatively that a college education gives a boy an almost overwhelming chance to become distinguished over the high school graduate. But still distinction and money are different things. What about the money end?

The Brooklyn Teachers' association made a study of this angle in 1909, and learned that "the man who left school at 14 will average $650 per year; that the man who left school at 18 will average $1550 per year, and the man who finished college will average $2923 per year."

It was then calculated that if a boy quit school at the age of 14, grammar school, he would have a normal expectancy of life of 46.16 years, and at an average earning capacity of $650 per year would earn $30,004 in his lifetime. If the boy quit at the age of 18, he would have a normal expectancy of 43.53 years, and at an average earning capacity of $1550 per year would earn $67,471, an increase of $37,467.50 in total earnings over his grammar school competitor. If the youth finished college, say at 22, his future life was estimated at 40.85 years. With an earning capacity of $2923 per year, he would earn a total of $119,404.50, a difference of $51,933 over his high school competitor and $89,400.50 over his grammar school-mate. All the figures are based, of course, upon the assumption that the boy does his work well, no matter what his age on leaving school, and that he wins the normal promotions in his line of business.

Does it pay to get a college education? The figures above are declared by federal authorities to be conservative. If you doubt them, figure a bit for yourself in your own city. It will take very little time to figure out your own grammar school class. Pick out two or three boys, normal, wide-awake fellows, who are in business or working at their trade in your neighborhood. You will find the eighth years from grammar school and the four years from high school pay rich dividends, not only in distinction, but in money.

PHILOSOPHER'S COLUMN

IN SMALL DOSES

Here are some queer questions I have tried to answer. Concede that they are foolish, but then—answer them:

1. Why and when do people whistle?
2. Is there a less number of "Whys" to ask today than there were 100 years ago?
3. If you were creating a world would you people it with perfect beings, or with prsons imperfect but capable of unlimited development through unlimited time?
4. Is it wrong to tell a lie if told solely for self protection and without possibility of causing injury to others?
5. Why do some people call other people fools?
6. What evidences of original purpose can be observed in the established order of things?
7. Assuming that "death ends all," what ought to be one's attitude toward himself and his fellowmen?
8. Assuming constant and continuous progress, is perfection attainable? If not, why not?
9. Does the universe EXIST in obedience to some law? If so, what is the law?
10. When friendship conflicts with an oath, and it is impossible to be loyal to both, to which should one adhere?
11. If all men followed my example would the world be better or worse than it is now?
12. If you positively knew that you had but thirty days remaining of life, how would you spend the time?

So Weak Couldn't Stand
"My wife's health broke down and for years she was just a physical wreck," says Mr. Thomas Glynn, of Gibson, La. "We did everything we knew, yet she seemed to get worse and worse. She was so weak till she couldn't stand, and had to be carried like a baby. It looked like nothing would save her that had been done."
CARDUI

"I began looking around. I knew that Cardui was for women. I decided to try it for her as all else had failed. She couldn't eat, she couldn't sleep, and I was desperate. "After taking a few doses of Cardui, we were so glad to note that she wanted something to eat, and with each bit of nourishment, and each day's doses of Cardui, she grew stronger and got up out of bed. She is now able to cook, and stronger than in a long time."
Cardui has been in successful use for nearly 50 years in the treatment of many common female troubles.

Our Western Trip—A Summer Vacation

By C. L. Sone.
We could hardly leave Denver, for we knew that there were so many things to see, but we promised ourselves that we would take more time on the return trip. So we started out on the road to Boulder, Colorado, only twenty-five miles away.

In the congested streets of Denver our cars became separated and quite a number of other autos got in between the car I was driving and the one the women folks were trying to follow in. In turning a corner the ladies mistook another jitney for ours and became lost. We, in the lead, did not discover the catastrophe for some little time, but when we did, we parked into the curb and anxiously awaited the coming of the hangers-on. All in vain, no wanderer arrived. We next decided to leave Ed to police the avenue and the rest of us to go back into this city of nearly a half million and look for the "Baby Link" and its helpless passengers. Imagination conjured up all the dismal possibilities of this calamity and you may easily understand with what fear and trembling we sought among the thousands of couples for just a certain one. To answer the quest it must have the "better half," the black-eyed daughter and a brown-eyed granddaughter. We found it. The success of the search, however, was due to the application, by Mrs. S., of a rule learned in early life, "If you lose a good thing, linger near the spot of the tragedy and it will turn up." We found the watchman where we had left him, as faithful as "The Boy on the Burning Deck," gathered him in and went our happy way.

A great deal of pavement has already been built and the gaps are being rapidly filled in. It is a delightful drive from Denver to Boulder. It is here that we begin to see the beautiful irrigated valleys, clearly defined from side to side by the dark green of the cottonwoods planted by the settlers along the irrigation ditches. The broad fields of alfalfa lying between, with other crops make a refreshing landscape not to be forgotten easily.

Some dry farming is attempted where the land is too high to be reached with the mountain water. This year, most everywhere, drouth has turned these higher lands into parched plains, little better than a desert. The dead grasses of the uplands furnish a remarkable contrast to the inviting fields of the wonderful valleys just below. The present supply of water is all utilized and no further areas can be developed, unless the flood waters can be stored in great reservoirs and held back for the use of these higher levels. Prior right in the irrigation laws are as inviolable as the limitations which secure the titles of lands. No one may take water from the streams without permission from the government.

Boulder was a point of special interest on our trip as it is there our son-in-law is attending the university and we had planned to arrange a stay of several days for Alice with her father. Boulder is a beautiful little city of about 20,000 people. It is well built, well paved and well lighted. It has there the University of Colorado, one of the best equipped schools west of the Mississippi.

All the western states provide well for their school systems and Colorado is no exception to this rule. Every line of educational work is cared for here and in the other college towns of Colorado. A great campus is literally crowded with magnificent buildings for the different departments of the work and students enroll here by the thousands from everywhere. The delightful climate draws students from all over the United States, and the highest class of educational work is done here.

Through the center of the city flows the mountain stream, Boulder creek. The bed of this stream is strewn with boulders from the smallest to those weighing tons each. It is very swift and carries great volumes of water to the fields and farms in the valley. The city lies right up in the shadows of the mountains which furnish vast areas for the venturesome tourists who come here by the thousands. Hiking, burro and horseback riding are the means of private conveyance. Powerful mountain-climbing autos carry passengers to the various points of interest and over the scenic drives for which Colorado is famous. Boulder is becoming more and more popular as a depot for tourists, since it is within a short drive of many, many mountain attractions.

In the mountains to the west are found the mines that furnish tungsten. This metallic ore is very valuable for use in the making of fine steel edged tools and in the making of the delicate wires found in our electric light bulbs. Nederland, twenty-five miles away from Boulder and at the head of Boulder canyon, is the depot for these tungsten mines.

A short stay in Boulder and then farther to the north. Fifteen miles north we reached the beautiful St. Vrain valley, clothed in its garments of green fields and beautiful green trees that border the banks of this mountain stream. We turn east at this point and follow this almost paradise of fruits and fields and flowers, made so by the life giving waters as they flow through the network of canals and ditches forming one of the most complete irrigation systems to be found anywhere. Loveland, Longmont and other thriving cities lie along these streams. In these cities are to be found beautiful public buildings, prosperous business corporations and lovely homes, all made possible because of the storing up of the perennial snows in the great mountain masses lying only a short distance to the west. When the warm sunshine of spring begins its work these snowfields supply with gradual flow the thirsty lands and cause the otherwise semi-arid areas to blossom as veritable edens in their beauty.

Vast orchards of cherry, plum and apple trees grow in these valleys and bear large crops of fruit. Thousands upon thousands of acres of alfalfa were almost ready for the sickle and here are found fields equalling the cotton plantations of Texas in area, given over to the raising of the sugar beet. Great sugar factories are located in the various cities of this section and it is here that the greater part of our sugar supply is made. Some of the alfalfa is shipped to the markets but the greater part is fed to the dairy stock and to the cattle and hogs that are raised here.

As we would pass from one valley across the rolling uplands we would get above and beyond the irrigable lands and what a contrast we would find. Deserted homesteads, dry and parched plains, forming veritable wildernesses of prickly pear and dwarfed mesquite. But look, we are already on a down grade and in plain view is another valley just as beautiful and prosperous as the valley through which we have passed. And so we found all along the Colorado and Wyoming country the story of the mountain stream and its priceless gift.

Though we passed over miles and miles of this beautiful country, we did not tire seeing and thinking what wonders man had wrought with the means God had placed at his disposal. Seemingly, further development is halted but it is possible that all these smooth lands even of the higher levels will sometime be reached by the waters of the mountains that flow by out of season. Some of the government's best engineers are giving thought to these important matters and something will surely result.

Fort Collins, Colorado, is the last city of importance in that state on the highway to Cheyenne, Wyoming. This is another beautiful city, noted for its splendid homes, its wonderful climate and its products because of its irrigation facilities. We came near losing some of our party here for good. This looked so much like Eden and Paradise that the only thing that carried us on was our inability of owning a home and leaving of our obligations in Texas. We thought and spoke of what a wonderful country our own beloved Plains country would be if only they were skirted by ranges of the snow-capped mountains of the Rockies. Fort Collins is the home of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Colorado. This is a great school, in keeping with the other excellent plants of the state.

By driving along at a pretty good rate we made the trip from Boulder to Cheyenne between the hours of 12 m. and 8 p. m. Bedtime found us comfortably tented in the municipal campground of Cheyenne, adjoining the site of the Western Rodeo grounds, where the annual meets of the wild west rodeos are held.

Mrs. J. I. Parker of Hamlin, Texas, and Mrs. J. F. Wicker and Miss L. E. Jones of McCauley, Texas, who have been visiting the past week with Mrs. J. E. Waldrop and other relatives, have returned home.
