B. C. D. And City Commission Agree To Start Hard Surfacing Of Main City Streets Immediately

At a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and a committee from the City Commission, the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce agreed to work with the City on a paving project to place caliche on a number of Slaton streets. It was agreed that the City Commission and the Chamber of Commerce would work together in selecting the streets that would be worked on and Briggs Robertson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reports that work will begin within the next few days on placing caliche on East Lubbock Street. The street will be repaired its full length and other streets leading to the oil mill and the railroad will be calichied.

Plains Lumber Purchases Stock Of Rockwell Bros.

Announcement was made this week by C. A. Porter, manager of the Plains Lumber Company, of the purchase by his company of the entire Slaton stock of the Rockwell Bros. Lumber Co., together with the building and property formerly occupied by Rockwell Bros.

The Rockwell business in Slaton has been closed and the stock moved to the Plains Lumber Company yards on South Ninth Street.

The consolidation of the two stocks greatly enlarges the supplies at the Plains Lumber Company at a time when materials of this kind are very difficult to secure and Mr. Porter considers the deal advantageous to both Companies.

"The stock that we purchased was of the best quality and included many of the best lines of building materials on the market," said Mr. Porter. "Most of these lines will now be a part of the regular stock we carry and the former patrons of Rockwell Bros. will find what they want here."

In discussing the project with the City Commission, the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce were particularly interested in securing the paving for this section of town. The cost of the work will be shared by the Chamber of Commerce, B. C. D. and the City.

"We feel that this will mean more to the progress of the town than anything we can do," said Mayor Teague. "There is a demand for homes on hard surfaced streets and the roads leading to many of our most important industries are almost impassable during wet weather. We will see that the work is done right and that we get the best grade of caliche obtainable."

FEEDING FOR DEFENSE AND PROFIT

When National Defense calls for increased manpower in the Army, "draft boards" are set up in each community to select men best fitted to serve. Applied to the nation's beef herds, the same principles of "selective service" will pay cattle raisers and result in maximum efficiency in beef production, livestock leaders say.

Today's conditions offer beef producers an opportunity for careful planning that pay, now, and will help to prevent excessive marketings in years when demand and price conditions may be less favorable, it is pointed out. Especial-

TEN POINT DEER INVADES SLATON ATTACKS MAIL CARRIER AND DR.

Two well known citizens of Slaton have been attacked lately by a ten point buck deer that came into town last week. The deer seems to be gentle but when approached made attacks upon Jimmie Wright, mail carrier for West Lockney, and one upon Dr. Roy Loveless.

The attack upon Jimmie Wright was made near the Guinn home on Lubbock Street last Friday. The deer knocked Wright down, scratched him up and tore his clothing.

Dr. Loveless reports that he found the deer in his front yard Sunday morning and as it seemed gentle he tried to give it a small piece of candy, the deer charged him and the doctor grabbed it by the horns, slapped it with a newspaper and got into the house without receiving any injuries.

No one has been found who has lost a pet deer and the theory is that it has come in from the canyon where a number of deer have been turned loose by the State Game Department.

No reports have come in within the past few days of the deer but from the experiences of Mr. Wright and Dr. Loveless everyone should be warned not to try to go near the animal and children should be particularly warned not to try to pet or get near the deer, for a child could be easily killed by it.

TECH EXPERIMENTING ON CATTLE FEEDING

The steers were purchased this week by the college animal husbandry department from Spade ranch at Smyer. The feeding is a cooperative plan between Tech and the Texas Agricultural Experiment station.

HOW TO COOK QUAIL.

The quail season (December 1st through January 15th) is on, and the Game Department goes once again to the assistance of the housewife. How do you cook quail? Well, broiled quail, according to game officials, is one of the tastiest of dishes, and here's how you do it:

Split the birds down the back and season well in the body cavity. Dot the bottom of a hot pan with butter and place quail in breast up. Cover pan tightly. After steaming ten minutes in modern oven, turn breast down for ten minutes. Turn the birds once more, put a teaspoon of butter on each, and then in ten minutes the birds will be brown and tender if they are young. Older quail will require more cooking. When done add one-half cup of hot water to gravy and pour over the birds.

The State AAA Committee has set Saturday, December 13, as the date for election of community committeemen and delegates to the county convention.

The same procedure will be followed in the committee elections this year as in previous years. George Slaughter, state committeeman, said. Farmers in each community will elect three committeemen who will serve during the coming year. At the same time they will elect a delegat and alternate to a county convention which will be held the following day. The convention will elect the county committee of three members and two alternates.

"Selection of the right men to serve as committeemen is more important this year than ever before," Slaughter, a Wharton county farmer, declared. "The Food-For-Freedom campaign has resulted in more work for committeemen, and it is expected that the follow-up on the campaign will require that committeemen spend more time working with the program than in previous years."

The AA official emphasized the added importance of electing the right man as county committee chairman, especially since he serves also as chairman of the county USDA defense board which administers the Farm Defense Program.

"County chairmen should be good organizers and leaders, capable of obtaining the fullest cooperation from all board members and farmers," Slaughter said.

WHAT'LL THEY THINK UP NEXT?

A skin full of vitamin C strengthens healing wounds by 400 per cent and speeds their recovery, says a report to the American College of Surgeons. This "skinful" is easily obtained by eating extra amounts of the vitamin. Both human and guinea pig tests were reported.

The U. S. Forrest Service has developed a machine that will plant around 8,000 trees or shrubs a day. It will be used in future shelterbelt plantings of the Prairie States Forestry Project.

C. Of C. To Give Prizes To Stores And Homes For Christmas Decorations

The Chamber of Commerce Committee in charge of Christmas decoration announced this week that $40.00 in prizes would be awarded for decorations over the town.

Five dollars will be given to the home that is judged the best in general appearance, five dollars will be awarded to the best decorated home entrance, five dollars to the best window tree decoration, and five dollars to the best scene in window or on outside. Five dollars will be given to the best decorated business front.

Two and one half dollars will be awarded to each one of these classifications for the second best and one dollar each in all classifications for the third best.

Each home owner who wishes to enter the contest should write or phone Briggs Robertson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and notify him that they wish their home entered in the contest.

The committee has also laid plans to have the business section decorated, a big tree placed on top of the grand-stand on the City Hall grounds and is working with the business firms to get Christmas lights placed in front of as many buildings as possible.

Reports from many towns over the South Plains are that many of them have already done their Christmas decorating and that there are more pretty displays than ever before. So get busy and help make Slaton have one of the biggest Holiday seasons in its history.

SLATON POSTAL RECEIPTS UP FACILITIES AT OFFICE TAXED

Reports from Postmaster K. L. Scudder show that postal receipts in the Slaton Post Office are more than 30 per cent more for November of this year than they were in November, 1940, and just 8 per cent under November of 1937, which was the record November receipts for this Post Office.

Over 2,500 money orders were written at the local Post Office during November and only 22 of this number were sent to foreign countries. The total amount of the money orders going to old Mexico amounted to less than $200.00.

From all indications, December of this year promises to be the best month of any year on record, as there are far more transients still in this community than there were in 1937, which not only showed the best November on record, but also the best December.

Mr. Scudder called attention to the fact that all Christmas packages should be mailed early as all facilities of the department will be taxed to the utmost this year. All packages should be securely packed and tied and all fancy decorations covered over with heavy packing paper, as fancy outside wrappings will be damaged, if not covered over. All packages should be addressed neatly with return address, any sealed package must have a printed permit on it, stating that it may be opened by the postal department. These stickers are on sale at drug stores.

Greeting cards not sealed may be sent as third class mail if the message is printed, signatures may be written by hand. Sealed Christmas cards go as first class at 2c in town or on rural routes out of Slaton, and 3c if mailed to other towns. The first class mail should have return addresses on it. Third class mail is not returned if it does not reach its destination.

The first class mail is much more satisfactory and those who send it will know whether their messages were received or not.

LEGION ELECTS DELEGATES

The Luther Powers Post No. 438 of the American Legion in a meeting Monday night elected delegates to the Nineteenth District Convention at Big Springs November 29, 30, next Saturday and Sunday. The delegates are Briggs Robertson, Felix Boldin, John Hanna, and Arthur Dennis.

"We had a very interesting meeting and are getting things to going in a big way," says S. W. Gentry, Commander.

INDUSTRIALIST CLAIMS TEXAS CAN GROW RUBBER

William O'Neil Says Guayule Will Meet U. S. Needs.

WILLIAM O'NEIL

Farmers in California, Texas, and Arizona can grow enough rubber to supply the defense and commercial needs of the United States within two years, at no greater price than is currently being paid for rubber from the far east.

This was the statement today of William O'Neil, president of the General Tire & Rubber company, in urging that immediate consideration be given by Congress to subsidizing farmers in these states and financing rubber extracting machinery.

The plant from which the rubber may be obtained is guayule, a native shrub of the high plateaus of Mexico, which has been imported to this country and raised successfully in the area around Salinas, California, in Arizona, and in Texas.

Farmers are able to grow this shrub and produce real rubber at from 15 to 19 cents a pound, O'Neil said, as compared to the 22½ cents a pound now being paid for plantation rubber.

"It is easy to see that as an emergency measure, the growth of guayule in the southwest has many advantages over the synthetic rubber development," said O'Neil. "For instance, the same machinery can be used in working guayule as is used with plantation rubber. Guayule may be used for all purposes for which far eastern rubber is used and this is not true of synthetic products."

The capital expenditure necessary for expensive synthetic plants is not needed for the growth of guayule. "And, most important, enough guayule can be produced in two years to supply all defense and commercial needs."

The only chemical difference between plantation rubber and guayule is that guayule has more resin content and desinizing has been made a simple process through methods developed by the Intercountry Rubber Company at Salinas. O'Neil said.

Slaton's Civic And Culture Club Has Fostered High Ideals Here

(By Mrs. J. B. Stevens)

The Junior Civic and Culture club was first organized in January, 1926, when the Civic and Culture club appointed a committee to contact girls interested in membership in a club. They found eight girls who wanted such a club with Lena Klattenhoff elected president; Mildred Johnson, vice president; Theresia Anderson, recording secretary; and Faye Tucker, treasurer. Other members were: Edith Marrs, Lois Stallings, Evelyn Stallings, and Iris Donald. Later, the same year, these were added: Elizabeth Burton, Pauline Hardesty, Faye Hampton, Gertrude King, Eunice Florence, Julia Lane, and Grace Bailey. This club ran along smoothly for about four years, then disbanded, to be reorganized later. Records of this club's activities are scarce, for this reason.

Plans were made to attend the Harvest Day Meeting at Lubbock Asbury Methodist Church on December 11, from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

The Week of Prayer Program was conducted by Miss Emma Lamb.

Seven members attended the meeting. The next meeting will be on December 10, at 2:00 p. m., with Mrs. E. C. Clifton.

Mrs. J. J. Redmon of Tulsa and Mrs. C. A. Porter of Slaton visited in the S. N. Gentry home Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Johnson and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Darland of Carlyle Tuesday evening.

The regular Fourth Sunday night singing was held at the school house Sunday night. A far crowd attended and several quartets sang special numbers.

Mrs. L. K. Hart's mother, Mrs. J. I. Cranfill, has been dismissed from a Temple hospital where she underwent major surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Grabber, newlyweds of this community, will return to the Joe Grabber home to make their home, after a honeymoon trip to Fort Worth, Gainesville and points in Alabama.

In January, 1930, Mrs. J. W. Wallace was appointed by the Civic and Culture club to re-organize a Junior club. Officers were elected and committees appointed, so that when September, 1930, rolled around, the club was able to have yearbooks made, with the course of study and programs all planned. Elizabeth Smith served as president and the program committee consisted of Mrs. Allen Ferrell, Mrs. Silas Tekell, and Frances Adams. They chose Modern Drama for the course of study. The club had a full membership of twenty-four and much good was derived from the programs.

Every year, this club plans for and looks forward to their annual guest days, when they entertain their mother club, the Civic and Culture Club, their sister club, the Daughters of Pioneer club, and the guest day for friends. Other annual social events include the Christmas party, when gifts are exchanged among members, and other gifts brought for a box for the needy, the night when they entertain husbands and friends and the annual spring picnic.

The club has a very interesting year's study and work planned for the coming year. Yearbooks have been issued and material is being gathered for the programs. The present members include Mrs. J. B. Stevens, president; Mrs. Vasker Browning, vice president; Ruby Lee Waller, recording secretary; Mrs. Charlie Walton, treasurer; Mary Lee Thompson, corresponding secretary; Phyllis Drake, parliamentary; Addie Lee Morrison, critic; Gertrude King, reporter;

Stomach Disorders Caused by Nerves

PSYCHOSOMATICS is a name that may scare you. It's tone is high-sounding, but add it to your vocabulary because it may mean peace for you. Peace for that battle that's raging between your nervous system and your stomach.

Anywhere from fifty to eighty per cent of all stomach disorders, says Helen Haberman in the November Cosmopolitan magazine, come from worry, and psychosomatics is merely the name for that relation between your mind (psyche) and your body (soma). Bringing them together in the science of psychosomatics means that your doctor, along with the rest of the medical profession is coming around to the view that it's not always your organs that are sick. It's your emotions.

Worry, says Miss Haberman in her article, goes to the stomach. Such troubles as: tax worries, a disagreeable mother-in-law, money or office worries, take their toll in stomach unrest, so that when you complain to your doctor of stomach aches he must treat your emotions as well as your body.

Strong emotions, Miss Haberman states, through your sympathetic nervous system, create a vast supply of emergency strength, and because you have no outlet for it, you get bilious. To calm your spirit, stop rushing for the sake of rushing, she suggests. Never eat when you are tired or worried, wait until you calm down before you put your stomach to work. These days of strain, calm stomachs are as important as airplanes and anti-aircraft. Start a defense program of your own. Then watch your nerves and stomach calm down.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports 10,420,000 persons employed in agriculture in the United States on November 1, nearly a half million below the total for November 1, 1940. This represented a decline of 1,112,000 workers from the number on October 1.

With importation of many drugs cut off, demand for dandelion roots by drug manufacturers in this country is growing, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Our Weekly Sermon—

The Bible carries history in terms of human personality. It is true it presents eras and epochs, but at the center of each is a personality. And in the light of the Bible's attitude toward personality we may be very sure that God's interest in every age is in the men of the age, not in the materials or inventions of the age.

Now, the Bible not only tells us the story of good men, but it at times candidly pictures bad men. It frequently sets ceteris paribus together that we may see the power of choice in both lives. There is one such instance in Genesis 25, the story of Esau and Jacob. Two brothers in one house—the same home, the same influences, the same parents, but different choices, diverging paths, one to a life of stumbling but eventual success, the other to everlasting defeat.

Because Esau preceded Jacob in birth, he had birthright privileges. But he surrendered the birthright and everything it involved that he might gratify a physical appetite. In selling out that day he surrendered probably far more than he knew. For one thing, he surrendered the headship of the Jewish people—a race set apart by God to be the custodians of the Scriptures and to give to the world its Redeemer. He sold that day the high privileges of priestly office—he sold fellowship with God. What a poor trader Esau was! He traded the long future for the present. He traded the spiritual for the physical. He traded the eternal for the temporary.

How cheaply men sell out! An act of dishonesty, a few drinks, an hour of passion, an evening of illicit thrills, and then a life of remorse. "Afterwards," says the biblical writer, Esau would like to have had things different, but it was too late. There is always an "afterwards." Afterward is another way of spelling harvest. Esau, and all his tribe, think of life as an eternal now, but beyond the "now" is a "then."

Yesterday, according to the Bible, has its influence on tomorrow. However, through the wonderful provision in God's grace, today may entirely alter the evil effects of yesterday. Whatever the past has been, God will make it different if you will but today receive Christ as Saviour. "Now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (11 Cor. 6:2). You can make a new choice today and thereby find a new life, and one day an "afterward" with no regrets.

The property owners who were so quick on the trigger to move houses out of Slaton last year will probably be regretting their action before long. Reports from real estate agents are that there are very few houses to rent in the town and that new residents are coming every day. Gas Company and Utility managers say that they are making more connections than in years and the telephone company makes similar reports.

Enterprises that have opened for business here recently all report good business and all of the long established firms are doing better than they have in many months. Christmas buying has started in earnest and it looks like 1941 is going to end up with a good score for our community.

J. C. Jenkins is one of the most cheerful school superintendents I have ever known. Most of them, with probable good reasons, have a harried, nervous manner, but J. C. is one of those solid fellows who takes things in an even stride with a twinkle in his eye and more spring in his step. School teaching must be an easy job anyway, off at four o'clock, nearly a week for Thanksgiving, a couple of weeks at Christmas and all summer to go fishing. Just why anyone would pick out the newspaper profession is a mystery, but there are a few people who will try anything to make a living, such as catching rattlesnakes, raising bullfrogs and selling vacuum cleaners when a good easy school teaching job would end all their troubles. . . . The only trouble is that teaching requires education and any dumb bell can run a newspaper. . . . at least for a while.

General Don Cherry descended upon the city from A. & M. last week and he did not come in an airplane of his design although he started his College Course in September with the intention of becoming an airplane designer. He seems to be a little slow on getting his ideas into operation but perhaps he will have one finished by Christmas and will make the trip home in a new bomber that can fly backwards.

Oddie Hood, who got the monkey on his back when it came to getting the Boy Scouts to gather old papers, says that some one has done a lot of queer figuring.

After several tons of the scrap paper had been collected Mr. Hood found that the cost of delivering the paper in Lubbock is several cents per pound higher than the paper will bring.

Oddie can probably find a lot of people who can sympathize with him including me, for I have had several of my supposed to be money making schemes to turn out the same way.

The waste of paper does seem appalling at a time like this and if it can be used it is a disgrace for our nation to destroy as much of it as we do. Perhaps the junk dealers are getting more than their share from the Boy Scouts, if so they must be a hard hearted set of business men. . . . The Christmas season should be a good one in this section with most every farmer reporting a bale to the acre. The bank is so busy these days that they have to lock the doors to keep the customers out like a fire sale on ladies underwear at a department store. Of course some of these customers are like me . . . just trying to put the money in the bank before the checks that have been written come back.

E. N. Pickens, who suffers from insomnia, says that Doctor W. E. Payne advised him to eat Post Toasties for supper and then read the Slatonite. According to the Doctors reasoning, Mr. Pickens would then have nothing in his stomach, nothing on his mind and would be able to sleep as sound as a Texas Congressman in Washington.

However, I believe the doctor has the wrong diagnosis and it is not Mr. Pickens' stomach nor his mind that is keeping him awake, but his conscience which is working on him for selling people Post Toasties.

It is very embarrassing to have a woman stick her head out of a car and start waving madly in every direction, and most women will do this every time they see some one a block away that they know. About all that is visible of the woman sitting in the car is her nose and hat and it is quite often very difficult to identify the excited individual. On several occasions I have bowed and gone to the trouble of taking off my hat, in my best side manner, to discover that the woman was signalling to some one a half a mile away.

With the development of the machine age the good old fashioned arithmetic teacher is having to take a back seat and let the business training department in the schools teach the children how to operate the complicated apparatus that can think faster and do more accurate work than the human mind.

When I was a kid I used to stand in amazement at the bank tellers window and watch him add up a string of figures as long as my arm in two and one half seconds, but now there is no thrill at all in watching some sleepy money handler add up your dollars on a machine.

While I am very slow witted at mathematics myself, I find it much easier to use a pencil and paper on multiplication and subtraction than to try to operate one of the machines, when it goes past addition, multiplication and division I have no use for pencil, paper or machine. Of course the old time bank teller might not have been correct, but nine people out of ten accepted the results because it was too much trouble to go through the agony of adding the figures.

There is an old story about a negro who stood at a cashiers window counting money with a long string of people waiting behind him.

"What's wrong," asked the cashier, "isn't it all there?" "Yes, sir," said the negro, "but it just is."

Indirect reports are that the Lubbock County Draft Board is getting mighty particular.

It is said by reliable sources that one young woman who had recently married had to bring a sample of her cooking to the Board in the form of candy and cake.

This ruling must have been decided upon in order to be sure that young men subject to the draft would not be in more danger of suffering casualties from the cooking of a young bride than they would should they be drafted and have to face an enemy abroad.

Of course we here in Slaton are sure that J. H. Brewer had nothing to do with this as he cares very little for cake and candy and besides he knows that a man who could stand the physical examination for the army is physically able to go through the cooking experiments of a bride. . . . However J. H. has gained a lot of weight lately and is it barely possible that he has been eating six to eight meals a day when attending the draft board.

We seem to have an epidemic of marriages loose here in Slaton. Every day or two some starry eyed young lady comes into our office with her mother to select wedding announcements or invitations. The young ladies all seem very much in a dream and the mothers all make the decisions as to the wording of the invitations, the style of type and the number to be printed.

Of course we never get to see the approved suitor as he is secondary in the big event, but if our memory is not too befogged, he is in a state of semi-collapse himself, and we wonder how the combination of Christmas, war conditions and getting married all at one time would effect a man in this time and age.

All we have got to advise him is that he had certainly better remember the date of the marriage and tell him that giving anniversary gifts and Christmas gifts close together in the future is going to be a severe strain.

A very impressive installation service followed. This is the first time during the club's six years of existence that the outgoing and incoming presidents were brothers. The outgoing president, Grady Burnett, made a very sincere and impressive speech as he gave the charge to the newly elected president, Bobby Burnett. The remarks of the new president, as he accepted the charge, were equally fitting and appropriate.

Another interesting brother combination is the Schmidt brothers. Fred and John are both in the Club this month—representatives from different rooms. Congratulations to the Schmidts!

The Junior High Cubs closed their football season last Thursday being defeated by Levelland Junior High, 21-6. The boys played hard and played a good game, but Levelland had them out-classed in size. Safety Assured for Tiny Tourists

Tiny tourists sometimes grow restless on long motor trips and their limitless energy and curiosity require double checking to insure that every safety precaution is being taken by their parents. With the entire rear compartment of the Family Chevrolet as his personal playground, this youngster assumes a favorite perch that ordinarily would be dangerous. However, a simple adjustment, easily made by Chevrolet mechanics, converted the rear door handle to a safety-action handle, which "free wheels" and does not open the door. After the lock is adjusted to safety position, as indicated in the inset, the lock button is depressed and the inside handle then will not open the door, rendering it "child-proof". Release of the lock button enables the driver to open the door as usual.

TEXAS PRODUCING MORE EGGS

Believing that the rest of the nation needed a chance at some of their good eggs, Texans shipped six times as many carloads of eggs out of the state in October as they did in October 1940, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Shipments increased from 120 carloads last October to 720 carloads in October 1941. This includes, in both cases, shell, frozen and dried eggs, reduced to shell equivalents.

Dressed poultry shipments maintained their normal October pace, the Bureau reported.

Five carloads of chickens and four of turkeys were shipped from Texas points during October, as compared with nine cars of chickens shipped in October, 1940. There were no car lots of turkeys shipped last October.

The Crop Reporting Board forecasts a cotton yield of 11,020,000 bales in the United States as of November 1, a decrease of 41,000 bales from the October 1 forecast.

Man about to become an owner of the electric company

WAIT a minute — this man is taking a medical examination, isn't he? That's right — and what's more he is passing it.

But what in the world does that have to do with owning an electric company?

It's this way:

The man is applying for life insurance. And when he becomes a policy owner he will automatically become a part owner of some electric company. The same thing would be true if he were depositing money in a bank. For everyone who has a bank account or a life insurance policy is part owner of some electric company.

How is that?
 Because the money you put in the bank, or buy a life insurance policy with, is invested in various businesses, including electric companies.

This makes you one of the millions of people who have a personal stake in the electric companies — an extra "plus" benefit to you from a business operation which has not only steadily improved your electric service, but has also succeeded in reducing your electric rate about 50% in the past 10 to 15 years. And it is the aim of the people who have accomplished these things — the employees of your electric company — to keep on bringing you more and more of the benefits of electricity at less and less cost.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH HAS HIGH ACCOMPLISHMENT RECORD

(By Mrs. A. L. Robertson)

It was early in 1910 that the builders of a great Railway system stood on the heights of the caprock, not far distant from the present site of Slaton, and looking across the fertile plains they visualized the sweep of this Empire Westward, but, doubtless, even they, with their wealth of experience, did not foresee the phenomenal growth that has come to the great agricultural area of the South Plains—to Slaton—and its sister cities that the Santa Fe Railway has had a prominent part in developing.

Slaton, on the edge of the prairie, June 15th, 1911, has grown to be a small city of fine homes and beautiful parks, of splendid churches and exceptional educational advantages, a town of varied interests.

Pioneers of the early days of Slaton will recall some of the discouragements and failures that came to try their faith, for it is a long road over the dusty plain, across the peaceful river, and up the green hill-side to the pinnacle of success, but you reach the goal if there is honesty of purpose and a stern resolve. In less than a month after Slaton came into existence, a small group of men and women met in a "make-shift" building, (one of the many that dotted the little town), on the corner of what is now West Garza and Ninth Street, and organized a Methodist Church, the first church of Slaton. That beloved minister of all Methodism, Rev. G. B. Overton, of Lubbock came to direct and guide its destiny, and served as the church's first pastor. Four charter members are still members of the present congregation. They are Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Forrest, Mrs. A. B. Robertson and Mrs. A. L. Robertson. From the beginning the church had a flourishing Sunday School, with Mr. A. B. Ellis, who now lives in Lubbock, as its first superintendent. The Woman's Missionary Society was organized in August, 1911, at the home of Mrs. S. S. Forrest, who served as first president.

The original Methodist Church building was a one room frame structure close in, on what is now South Eleventh street, but then—in 1911—"far out" on the lone prairie.

The first public school in Slaton was taught in this Methodist church building, and its faculty consisted of two teachers. And was ever any congregation more proud than when that first little organ was moved into the church!

Plans for the present beautiful church building at West Lubbock and 10th street, were formulated in 1919, but it was not until 1922 that the church was built. In 1937 the Annex, with commodious Sunday school rooms, was added and in 1938, a modern brick parsonage, a beauty spot of the town, was added to the church property.

Today, the Methodist church of Slaton, realizing as in the days of John Wesley, that the beginning and end of Methodism is for the best interests of those it serves, is going forward under the able ministry of Rev. H. C. Gordon, with all departments well organized. The church has a membership of five hundred. Fifty additions were made during the past year.

The Sunday School, with about three hundred enrolled and with thirty-five officers and teachers, has Mr. W. L. Hollomon as its superintendent. Mrs. S. H. Adams is president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, which has fifty-five members enrolled. The Junior and Senior Leagues are well attended. An adult choir, with Mrs. L. A. Harral as director, and a young people's choir, led by Mrs. Lillian Butler, are both doing excellent work.

In reviewing thirty years of Methodism in Slaton, one is convinced of the wisdom of the poet's words, when he wrote:

"Those Who Live Lives Active,
Full And Long
Weave The Best Tales To Stir
The Heart, It Seems,
Yet The Deeds And Dangers
Make The Web Strong,
The Charm Is Spun With Shining Threads Of Dreams."

A plan whereby farmers who are to be served by REA lines may aid in setting up those lines and save expense has been developed successfully in Texas. It will now be expanded to other states.

Investigations conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the USDA revealed that blackstrap molasses is neither a preventive nor a cure for locoweed poisoning.

Home Accident Deaths Highest In Five Years

Infections arising from cuts and scratches play major role on the home accident front. Above—The kitchen butcher knife is a poor whittling blade, especially when it is drawn toward the body. Right—Falls last year killed 16,000 Americans in their homes. Never use a chair or other furniture as an improvised ladder.

Washington, D. C.—Carelessness is writing a new stanza to "Homo Sweet Home."

According to the American Red Cross, home accidents last year accounted for their greatest fatality toll in five years. Some 33,000 persons lost their lives through falls, burns, poisoning and other hazards of everyday home life. Although less dramatic—consequently less apt to attract public interest—home accident fatalities ran a close second to death on the street and highway, trailing by 1,500 deaths.

With carelessness playing the leading role, more than half of home accident deaths were attributed to falls—occurring on stairs, slippery floors, insecure rugs and use of chairs and other articles of furniture as improvised stepladders. Burns and accidental poisoning followed in that order.

Injuries causing varying degrees of disability accounted for nearly 5,000,000 cases involving hospitalization or care of a physician, the Red Cross pointed out.

To reduce accidents in the home and on the farm, the Red Cross is launching its annual accident prevention program the last week of October. Throughout the nation, in schools and through the Junior Red Cross, some 10,000,000 "check lists" listing accident hazards will be distributed. Household holders will be urged to conduct a cellar-to-attic check-up to determine and correct hazards.

FEEDING FOR DEFENSE.

ly important are the marketing of old, barren and irregularly-producing cows; adequate care and feeding of the herd during winter months to reduce or eliminate costly losses of weight; creep feeding to keep calves gaining when more gains per pound of feed can be made than during any other period; and the use of efficient, adequate rations in the feed lot to secure maximum gains from every pound of feed.

Feeding Range Herds.
When careful selection has eliminated inefficient animals from the farm or range herd, adequate feeding is essential to give the remaining animals the care they deserve.

Cottonseed cake, supplying essential protein and phosphorus that winter grass lacks, helps to maintain productive life of the breeding herd, keep cows in condition, prevent losses in cold or dry weather, and make earlier, stronger calves. Fall "caking" or feeding of cottonseed meal should start early enough to prevent loss of weight and condition that cannot be regained later in the winter. Continued "caking" until cows are again in calf is insurance for a high-percentage calf crop, dropped early. One to two pounds of cottonseed cake, pellets or cubes, daily per head, keep range cows thrifty except during severe cold, when 2 or 3 pounds are needed.

Carefully selected herd bulls need good range or pasture; 1½ to 3 pounds of cottonseed cake, daily per head, will keep yearling or mature bulls in good condition. Supplemental roughage is needed when range is short. Yearling and two-year-old steers make good gains and growth, and are better hustlers, when fed 1 to 3 pounds of cottonseed cake, pellets or cubes, on winter range.

Feeding Farm Herds.
Farm breeding cows may be maintained in good condition during fall and winter months on 1 to 2 pounds of cottonseed meal, daily per head, 7 to 10 pounds of cottonseed hulls or hay, and 25 pounds of silage. Where legume hay is available, a practical daily ration consists of: 5 pounds of legume hay, 15 pounds of cottonseed hulls, and 2 pounds of cottonseed meal.

Yearlings or two-year-olds may be carried through winter months in good condition on a daily ration of: 20 pounds of silage, 10 pounds of hay or hulls, and 2 pounds of cottonseed meal.

A practical wintering ration for farm calves consists of: 20 pounds of silage, 5 pounds of hay or hulls, and 1½ pounds of cottonseed meal, daily per head. Another good ration is: 10 pounds of hay or sorghum fodder, 5 pounds of hulls and 1½ pounds of meal.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Woodward and daughter, Isis, of Wichita, Kansas, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart.

Mr. Ralph Payton, son of Mr. J. W. Payton of Rt. 1, Slaton, has entered Woodbury College at Los Angeles, California, and is majoring in Higher Accountancy. He is a graduate of Slaton High school.
