"Charges Not Fair" Says Mother Of Deceased Black Children

"It's not fair, not right," said Mrs. Julia Whaley, 25 year old mother of two black children who were struck and killed by a pickup truck driven by a 60-year old white man last Sunday afternoon. Authorities of the Lubbock County Criminal District Attorney's office charged the man, C. J. Atwood, with negligent homicide, a misdemeanor, charges on Monday afternoon. According to police, he was also in violation of not wearing glasses. The children, Christopher Lee Whaley, age 7; and Brandi Annette Whaley, age 5, were enroute to a grocery store across the street from their residence, 307 Avenue U, Apt. 105, according to the mother. "They were holding hands and going to buy some milk at Serv-U Food Store, when it all happened," she said. She continued: "They were several witnesses who saw my kids push the light for it to change in their favor, as I have taught them," cried the mother. "My oldest daughter, Scarla, age 8, was with them. They had the right of way, but the pickup hit them." Christopher was a second grader at Jackson Elementary School, while his sister had not entered public school. According to Mrs. Whaley, it was about 2:30 p. m. in the afternoon (Sunday) when they went to the store. My oldest daughter told me vividly that the light did change in their favor, but the man ran the light. Police reports reveal the accident happened at approximately 2:40 p. m. at Fourth Street and Avenue U. Brandi died at 4:06 p. m. and Christopher at 10:30 p. m. at Lubbock General Hospital. They became the city's 18th and 19th traffic fatalities this year. Police said they were crossing Fourth Street, south on Avenue U, when a pickup truck driven by the Lubbock man struck them as they crossed the intersection. The pickup truck, traveling west on Fourth Street, was pulling a boat and trailer. Brandi suffered massive head and chest injuries while Christopher suffered broken ribs, a broken leg and

Brandi Whaley

Mexia Rally

Among the several thousand persons who came to the Memorial Rally for Carl Baker, Steven Booker, and Anthony Freeman were Elder R. L. Caro and Rev. John Williams, both of Lubbock. This special effort was sponsored Saturday, August 8th, for the three young men (The Comanche 3) who were tragically drowned at Comanche Crossing on June 19, 1981. "This rally was held at the site of the Juneteenth activities at Comanche Crossing," says Rev. Williams. "People assembled at 12 noon in Mexia and by motorcade travel together, thousands went to the site."

Juan Perez, Brown Hair

The services included prayer, music, speakers and resolutions. "It was good to see so many people there for the same cause," said Rev. Williams. "We as black people got to get together and do what is right for all of us." One of the speakers of the afternoon was the author of the bill which made the 19th of June a State legal holiday, State Rep. Al Edwards of Houston.

State Rep. Edwards told the large audience: "I want the system to respect me, and I want them to protect me." According to Rev. Williams, the purpose of the rally was to: 1. focus on an individual's human right to LIFE, LIBERTY and THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS as stated in the Declaration of Independence; 2. awaken the conscience of the community-at-large to insure that the persons responsible be brought to justice. Special Prosecutor Larry Baraka said enough evidence had been presented to indict the three deputies involved on charges for negligent homicide; and 3. seek answers to the following questions surrounding the incident: 1. Why were six men in a boat certified by the Coast Guard to safely hold three average sized people? Continue on Page 2

Poor May Apply For Section 8 Housing

The poor have a right to apply for Section 8 housing. This includes poor people already residing in public housing. Persons who apply and are denied Section 8 have a right to a notice and hearing. Furthermore, those persons placed on a waiting list are entitled to know the approximate date that they can expect housing.

Section 8 Background
Under the Section 8 Existing Housing Program, HUD allocates congressionally-appropriated funds for use around the country, usually to housing authorities such as the Housing Authority of the City of Lubbock (hereinafter LHFA).

The housing authority assumes the responsibility for advertising the program to both landlords and tenants, taking applications from prospective tenants and determining their eligibility under congressional and HUD guidelines. Low-income families desiring housing assistance file an application with their local housing authority. If eligible for the program, the families receive either certificate of family participation or a place on the waiting list, if all the authority's certificates for the size unit needed have already been distributed.

Once they have received the certificate, the applicants enter the private market in search of suitable units and landlords willing to participate. All types of rental housing are eligible for the program, whether they be single family homes or apartments in large high-rise projects. Units must, however, comply with the housing quality standards prescribed by HUD.

When the applicant finds both a suitable unit and a willing landlord, the landlord and tenant request the housing authority to approve the leasing of the unit under the program. The housing authority then determines whether the rent fits within the applicable rent limits, whether the lease conforms to the federal requirements and, by inspection, whether the unit meets the housing quality standards. If everything is approvable, the tenant and the landlord execute the lease, and the housing authority and the landlord enter into a housing assistance payments contract. The lease will specify the contribution which the family must make towards the rent, and the housing assistance payments contract will obligate the housing authority to pay the landlord the difference between the family's contribution and the approved contract rent for the unit.

"Blacks Must Continue Support of Schools, Churches" Says Dr. King

The President of Huston-Tillotson College of Austin warned Black America that it has "only two fundamental institutions in this country, and if we let either of them fail, we will be lost as a people." Dr. John T. King who also holds the rank of Major General in the U. S. Army Reserves, urged Black America to rally in support of "our churches and our colleges" or not much else will matter in the ongoing struggle for full and equitable citizenship. King who heads the small independent college, made these remarks last month before the 72nd Annual Convention of the NNACP at the Denver, Colorado Convention Complex. He told the more than 4,000 NNACP delegates that their leadership in support of the two Black institutions is vital if the two continue not only to survive but thrive in a healthy and democratic climate, brought about in large part by their efforts. "Complacency on the part of Black America will do more to help kill off these schools and churches than any other thing," he warned, adding, "that the danger that this will happen is greater than many of us believe."

Elementary school registration for the Lubbock Public Schools is scheduled for August 24, from 8:00 a. m. - 12 Noon. Students new to Lubbock; students who were not pre-enrolled at regular basis, there would be very little need to call in emergency donors. The idea was born to have a community wide blood drive with all segments of the population cooperating to provide blood for the community. A goal of 300 units of blood has been established. If this goal is met Lubbock will have met blood needs for one week.

Leaders of the black community endorsing the drive are Rev. Adolphus Cleveland, Theron Cole, Joan Ervin, Kado Lang, Harold Chatman, T. J. Patterson, Eddie P. Richardson, George Scott, Vera Newsome and Rose Wilson. The blood drive will be conducted by South Plains Blood Service, a non-profit corporation serving 22 county areas in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. It is the only blood bank serving the area. Current blood needs average 22,000 units per year.

The new school year begins with teachers reporting for duty on August 20. A general faculty meeting for all employees of the Lubbock Public Schools is scheduled for August 20, at 8:30 a. m. in the Civic Center Exhibit Hall. Following the faculty meeting all teachers will report to their respective buildings at 10:30 a. m. The New Teacher Orientation Meeting is scheduled for August 19, at 9:00 a. m. in the

Operation Blood Brother

In a press conference at Mae Simon Community Center last Friday afternoon, another milestone was passed as leaders of Lubbock's black community endorsed Operation Blood Brother. Operation Blood Brother is a city-wide effort to help provide blood needs in Lubbock for a week. It was recently endorsed by the Human Relations Commission, COMA, LULAC, the Lubbock Black Chamber of Commerce, Lubbock Digest, YMCA, Auxilio Center, and other business and civic organizations.

The blood drive is set for August 29 and 30 at five locations throughout the city. Saturday's drive will be at: Buddy Holley Center, 10-5; Green Fair Major Community Center, 2807 Weber Drive, 10-1; and South Plains Mall, 3-8. Sunday's locations are the Parkway Mall, 10-5; and the Christian Renewal Center, 12-5, 303 Toledo. Operation Blood Brother came about in response to an emergency call for donors for a child with leukemia. At that time it was noted that if the people of Lubbock donated blood on a regular basis, there would be very little need to call in emergency donors. The idea was born to have a community wide blood drive with all segments of the population cooperating to provide blood for the community. A goal of 300 units of blood has been established. If this goal is met Lubbock will have met blood needs for one week.

Approval Given For I-27 Across Lubbock

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has received official written approval of the final environmental statement from the Federal Highway Administration for the proposed extension of Interstate Highway 27 across the city of Lubbock.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will now begin work on the next phase of engineering necessary for the development of this project.

The proposed highway development will extend in a generally north-south direction from the present intersection of IH 27 and Loop 289 (North) to south of the intersection of US Highways 87 and Loop 289 (South). It will follow the present location of US Highway 87 from the North Loop to the vicinity of 16th Street, bear southwesterly to the vicinity of 26th Street and Avenue H; then continue south along the west side of Avenue H to the traffic circle and thence to a crossing with the South Loop.)

The proposed facility will consist of a six lane freeway and two frontage roads for the length of the project. Interchanges or grade separations will be constructed approximately every half-mile at intersections with major city streets. The project will be approximately 6 1/2 miles in length.

Maps and drawings showing geometric design, environmental studies and all other available data concerning the development of this project may be inspected and copied at the District Headquarters Office, 601 Slaton Road, Lubbock, Texas.

"Black Folk Got To Work Hard" Says Dr. McCloney

Speaking to several hundred Lubbockites - including black, white and brown persons - Dr. L. H. McCloney, executive director of the Waco Housing Authority and acting president of Paul Quinn College, said: "Black folk got to learn to work hard."

His remarks were made to the annual East Lubbock Early Settlers' Reunion at the Booker T. Washington American Legion Hall, Post 808 last Thursday evening.

Using a subject of "Successful Living In Changing Times," Dr. McCloney presented four steps which he felt were necessary for all persons to have a successful life. They were: 1. Purpose; 2. Develop Skills; 3. Capacity of hard work; and 4. Reliance on a cosmic reality.

An African Methodist Episcopal minister, the audience felt his remarks and were in accord with what he had to say.

He was introduced by Mr. D. C. Fair, Jr., executive director of the Lubbock Housing Authority. "I have known this man for several years and I enjoy in hearing what he has to say several times a year," says Mr. Fair.

Serving as master of ceremonies was Mr. George Woods, one of the two who organized the effort several years ago. Mr. James Craven, Sr., who is passed on, was the other founder. Mayor Pro Tem Alan Henry presented an honorary citizenship to Dr. McCloney.

Mr. Johnny Ray Watson provided the music of the evening. He sang: "Let It Rain."

Did It God's Way," and "Praise The Lord." He was called back for the third selection.

Mrs. Edna Rye Walker, who recently retired from the Lubbock Public Schools, gave an overview of how she saw Lubbock. Spending most of her life here, she presented a vivid picture of how it was in those days. She told one story of why she never left Lubbock. She said: "Back in 1948, my husband (Jimmy) and I was tired of Lubbock. He had a friend in Butte, Montana and wanted us to come out there. So my husband told me we would save money the next year and move there. Here it is 1981, and he has not taken me to Butte, Montana," smiled this beautiful lady.

"We hope to continue this special effort each year," said Mr. Woods. "Maybe I won't be here, but the committee will keep it going."

"There are some people I forgot to thank for their special efforts on last week, namely: the ladies who baked those delicious cakes," said Mr. Woods.

Rev. Tony Williams, pastor of the Community Baptist Church, offered the invocation while Dr. McCloney gave the benediction.

Reese Wins Safety Award

A year's hard work in making Reese a safer place to live has paid off. The National Safety Council has presented the base with the Award of Merit, its second highest award.

A letter announcing the award from General B.L. Davis stated, "To receive this award denotes the dedication and professionalism we strive for in the Air Training Command. This is an exceptional accomplishment."

The award is based upon a perfect record or a five percent reduction in overall injuries and fatalities at an installation. Reese proved its ability to remain safety conscious by having the largest reduction in ground safety incidents, based on two years of statistics. Reese was down 25.11 percent.

Grambling Should Win SWAC Championship

(First of four preseason outlooks)

by Barry Cooper (c) 1981

In Miami, Fla. one year, Grambling Coach Eddie Robinson placed both hands on the podium and leaned toward his audience. He had just been asked if Grambling would be weakened by the loss of several key players. "We don't rebuild," Robinson told the questioner. "We just reload."

Because of the Tigers' awesome depth and outstanding recruiting, they've ruled the Southwestern Athletic Conference for the last decade. Sometimes a Jackson State or an Alcorn State will throw a scare into the Tigers, but not very often.

Grambling has won or shared the last four SWAC titles. This year, they'll make it five in a row.

The SWAC race should go like this: FIRST—Grambling; SECOND—Jackson State; THIRD—Alcorn State; FOURTH—Mississippi Valley; FIFTH—Southern; SIXTH—Texas Southern; SEVENTH—Prairie View.

GRAMBLING (10-2 overall, 5-1 in the SWAC last year) should have little trouble holding on to its title. So strong are the Tigers that they could win the NCAA Division I-AA national championship.

Grambling returns a whopping 16 starters—eight on offense and eight on defense. That experience could give the Tigers a decided advantage over SWAC schools.

Top returnee is triple-threat wingback Trumaine Johnson, who rushed for 432 yards and caught 13 touchdown passes last season. Also back is wide receiver Terry Gordon, who hauled in 42 catches last year. Senior quarterback Thomas Ezell will inherit the No. 1 quarterback spot from Michael Williams.

The Tigers' defense could be a pillar of strength. It's anchored by the "Trees of Terror" line, which includes ends Robert Smith (6-foot-9, 235 pounds) and Arthur King (6-6, 260) and tackles Willie Blount (6-5, 260) and Robert Thomas (6-4, 261). For relief help there's freshman recruit Fred Polk. He is—are you ready for this—6-11, 325.

JACKSON STATE (8-3, 5-1)—actually tied Grambling for the SWAC crown last year, but that was of little help. These Tigers, unlike Grambling, failed to make the I-AA playoffs and face the prospect of battling the G-men again for supremacy in the league.

Jackson State looks strong enough to challenge but not succeed in their quest for the conference crown. The Tigers figure to be strong on offense and defense, with standout defense end Thomas Straughters leading the way. The big name on offense is quarterback Keith Taylor, who passed for 705 yards and rushed for 333 more a year ago.

ALCORN STATE (6-4, 3-3) figured it would challenge for the title last season, but over confidence knocked the Braves for a look. Alcorn played well during the first five weeks of the season, but folded after that.

Weaknesses appear to be a lack of an adequate passing game; a troubled defensive secondary and the need for better leadership.

Top returnee for the Braves is running back Gregory Jones, who bulled his way for 1,054 yards last season. He can't do it by himself, though, and Coach Marion Casem must come up with a talented quarterback.

On defense, the Braves have holes to fill in their line and secondary. Still, Alcorn should be good enough to hold off Mississippi Valley for third.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY (5-5, 3-3) could be in for some hard times. The Delta Devils return 18 lettermen, though 12 of them are starters. There is not much depth. "We are going to be a very young club at the skill position," says Delta Devils' Coach Archie Cooley.

States strength could be in its defensive line, where all four starters return.

Last year, State had the third-best offense in the conference, but that feat may be hard to match because of the loss of quarterback Lloyd Farmer and wide receivers Billy Brown and Wally Wright.

The bottom line is that it'll be tough to match last year's record.

SOUTHERN (4-5-1, 3-2) has a new coach in Otis Washington, and has changed its offense and defense. That alone will slow the Jaguars, as they get accustomed to the new formations.

All Youth Rodeo At South Plains Fair

Nine events have been scheduled for the all-youth rodeo, slated October 2-3, the last two days of the eight-day run of the 64th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair.

General manager Steve L. Lewis said competition would be held at 7:30 p. m. on both dates in the Fair Park Livestock Pavilion. The competition, which is fast becoming one of the major attractions at the exposition, is sponsored jointly by the fair association and Lubbock County 4-H Clubs.

Cash prizes are to be awarded in all events and 75 percent of all entry fees will be paid back. Mail entries will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis at Route 9, Box 92, Lubbock, Texas 79423, or by telephone 806-745-2936.

Events and associated entry fees include barrel racing, over 14 and under 14, $12.50 each; pole bending, over 14 and under 14, $12.50.

Books open on the events on Sept. 25 and will close Sept. 30. Signed entry forms must be turned in with entry fees by 7 p. m. on the night of the performance, Lewis noted.

Seven stage shows, including some old and new faces, have been booked for Fair Park Coliseum during the 1981 exposition.

Charley Pride, returning for a record 10th appearance here, will open the slate on Sept. 26. He'll be followed by Mickey Gilley, Johnny Lee and the Urban Cowboy band Sept. 28; Don Williams, Sept. 29; Marty Robbins and Little David Wilkins, Sept. 30; Slim Whitman and Boxcar Willie, Oct. 1; Mel Tillis and the McZines Brothers, Oct. 2; Jacky Ward and the Kendalls, Oct. 3.

Williams will be presented in only one show — 8 p. m. — but all other shows will be at 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. daily.

All seats are reserved and tickets are $6, $7 and $8 for all shows. Mail order reservations requests must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Peas are the oldest known vegetable.

Four-fifths of everything alive is in the sea.

Jellyfish can evaporate.

Norman gibb is back at quarterback after passing for 1,230 yards last year. Gibb won't be enough, however, to keep Southern from finishing with a losing record.

TEXAS SOUTHERN (2-9, 2-4) has a new coach in Joe Redmond, but not much else. It will be a long road back to respectability.

PRARIE VIEW (2-8, 0-6) will battle Texas Southern for next-to-last place in the league.

Weaknesses appear to be a lack of an adequate passing game; a troubled defensive secondary and the need for better leadership.

Top returnee for the Braves is running back Gregory Jones, who bulled his way for 1,054 yards last season. He can't do it by himself, though, and Coach Marion Casem must come up with a talented quarterback.

BLACK POETRY

THE BLACK PROPRIET OF LOVE (Dedicated to every mother)

I thank God with all my heart and my soul for the mother that he gave to me

I thank God with all my strength and my life for the heavenly divine mother he gave me

The birds sing, the bees hum each time she enters the room

She is sunshine, she is joy She is a wonder to behold She is my mother

I thank God for the most wonderful mother that he could give to a human being

Oh God, I thank thee for a sweet warm gentle mother She is my mother, she is my mother, I love this lady with all my heart, this is something no one can take from me but God

If the Angels could have sprinkled out more love She would be a heavenly creature

I'm so proud to stand on the highest mountain and yell from deep within, she is my mother

—David Cook

Thanks, James Roy Lewis

Some may say it's too late to thank Mr. James Roy Lewis for his contribution as founder and father of the first Black newspaper in Lubbock and the South Plains of Texas. We say it's not too late, and the Lubbock Digest has thanked him with each issue since September 9, 1977.

He was the catalyst behind the "Carver Heights" newspaper. It later became the "Manhattan Heights" newspaper, and finally, the "West Texas Times."

Mr. Lewis, with his own manner of news-writing—preferably sports—and weekly debits of advertisement, planted deep roots for positive Black journalism. He believed, vividly, the Black community in Lubbock and the South Plains of Texas should have a weekly newspaper. Something we (Black people) could relate, and at the same time, fill an important void.

Perhaps one of the most significant days in his life came last April when the boys and girls of Alderson Junior High School honored him. As he told a teacher there: "I will never forget this day."

He was a sports enthusiast and showed it with coaching and managing—as well as promoting—the Lubbock Black Hubbers and professional basketball teams.

He was all of this, and more to Lubbock. A very modest man—who loved to fish—he cared!

Most of all, in our opinion, he was the founder and father of Black journalism in Lubbock and the South Plains of Texas.

Thanks, James Roy Lewis, for coming our way and leaving some of your persistence.

The Lubbock Digest is your great, great, great grandchild. Thanks Pop!!

"Thank You"

Dear Mr. Patterson and Mr. Richardson: I want to thank the two of you for allowing me to work for you this summer.

We need more black community leaders here in Lubbock who are willing to help our young people. Without people like you two to help us, we will not realize our full potentials.

Our community should be honored to have two such fine, outstanding citizens in it. Again thanks for the chance!

French find answer first Unemployment is Unacceptable

"Over twenty million people in the industrialized countries are unemployed, exclaimed Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber. Monsieur Servan-Schreiber, somber analysis, is of the startling French election results, with the election of a Socialist President and selection of Communist Party officials as members of the French cabinet, ceased eyebrows to raise at the communist hating Commonwealth of California Club in San Francisco last month.

"Madness" murmured many from luncheon table to table, unable to comprehend the rising unemployment problems taking place right here in America of seven million people much less in another country.

Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, noted author, former editor, publisher, member of Parliament and the French Government Cabinet, was stating the obvious

Reading Help For Your Children

Despite all of the odds that seem to be against parents who are fighting losing battle in their efforts to salvage their children educationally, there are occasional victories and bright spots.

One of these bright spots—which is in a critically important area of parental concern—is represented by the perhaps unlikely name of "Scoop." "Scoop" is part of a reading program designed primarily for largely black and minority-oriented classrooms. The urgency of the need for such a program is reflected in recent US government statistics which indicate that approximately 44% of black youth at age 18 cannot read past the 4th grade level. Unless something is done at once to correct this tragic situation, our burden of non-productivity as a race may be so heavy that most (or all) of us may be viewed by some as being expendable individually or as a race of people.

"Scoop" and the remedial program of which it is a part, costs our school systems about 15¢ per week per child or next to nothing if the money can't be raised. The overall program, called an "Assault on Illiteracy Program (AOIP)", is distributed only through urban schools. Its basic elements are produced by the developer of four of the five best-selling reading programs in the United States school systems. It takes the best ingredients from these programs and directs them to meet your children's critical needs.

Just what is "Scoop"? It is an exciting and attractive weekly newspaper for young people. It—along with its associated components in AOIP—is oriented primarily to pupils from the fourth to the twelfth grade levels. "Scoop" has received the distinction of being the best black and minority-oriented reading vehicle in the nation.

As a children's weekly reader, it is designed to entice black youth primarily into the habit of reading. In the 15 major school systems where "Scoop" has appeared each week, the pupils' responses have been unprecedented. Teachers have reported that they have never seen such interest, and even excitement, in all of their teaching experience.

Part of the reason for this rests with "Scoop" in and of itself. Once parents see "Scoop", their own interest and readiness for involvement come quickly to the surface.

But perhaps the best part about "Scoop" is what comes with it.

There is, first of all, what is called a "foolproof" Teacher's Guide. The Teacher's Guide is called "foolproof" because it is prepared in such a way that the teacher needs only to choose one of several options in terms of content and method for the pupils to follow themselves. The teacher's inherited attitudes have little space or opportunity for coming into play.

During the summertime, the Teacher's Guide becomes a parent's guide. "Scoop" is a 52-weeks-of-the-year reader. And it welcomes and calls for the most active

MONEY FOR HOUSING Where It Is And How To Get It!

This Week: S&L Service Corporations

by William R. Morris, ASFC

Faced with deep cuts in federal subsidies and constantly increasing costs, blacks in the housing industry and community organizations serving low-income neighborhoods are faced with serious problems of survival under the Reagan Administration just approved economic programs. By now it is clear that lower-income communities will have to get by on much less federal aid than they have received in the past.

Although not nearly as plentiful, there remains a number of lesser-known but quite influential private and quasi-public programs with funds targeted for use in deteriorating neighborhoods. This column is the first of a series which will look into the programs of major housing finance institutions such as Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Federal National Mortgage Association, National Housing Partnerships, National Consumer Cooperative Bank, the Local Initiatives Support Corporation, Community Development Credit Unions and other money sources the public rarely hears about.

This week's column reviews the activities of S&L Corporations, a tool of the nation's savings and loan associations. By an Act of Congress in 1964, federal

Savage Reports from Zimbabwe in First Stop on African Tour

It's Wednesday evening, August 5th; and I am reporting from Salisbury, Zimbabwe, in the southern part of Africa. Since it is the winter season here, the temperature is only about 60 degrees.

I'm staying in an up-to-date, 18-story hotel, the Monomatapa, named after the feared black 15th century paramount chief of this area.

Tomorrow morning I am going to meet with Prime Minister Robert Mugabe, and Friday afternoon I will leave for Johannesburg, South Africa.

I was picked up at my house in Washington, D. C., by a U. S. Air Force man, yesterday, at 6:30 a. m. He drove me to Andrews Air Force Base from where we took-off in an Air Force version of the Boeing 707.

On board were six other Members of Congress, including two other Blacks: Shirley Chisholm of New York, and George Crockett of Detroit. Also, accompanying us were 10 staff members of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, four Army escort officers, a medical officer, plus an Air Force crew.

The first leg of our journey, crossing the Atlantic Ocean, took almost eight hours. We landed in Dakar, Senegal, the western most tip of Africa, to refuel.

Incidentally, about four miles off the coast of Dakar is the Island of Gores, the concentration point for the African slave trade of the 17th and 18th centuries.

It took another eight hours to fly the 4,350 miles southeast to Zimbabwe.

I read during most of these 16 hours, to improve my understanding of what I am about to experience, in a three-week official fact-finding mission to seven nations in the west, south, and east parts of the Motherland.

I am taking this trip instead of a vacation because I need to learn, first-hand, more about what America is doing in Africa, as contrasted with what it should be doing here. After all, the Reagan Administration seems to be favoring the fascist South African regime, while opposing the black liberation struggle in Angola and Namibia.

No matter how much tougher our government is about to make it for us in America, we must not overlook the even greater pain it may be preparing to inflict upon our African brothers and sisters.

Now, let me become more specific about the country where I am: Zimbabwe, an area which boasted a thriving economy as long ago as the 9th century.

Until Blacks won a fair election in April 1980, ending 92 years of white-settler rule, Zimbabwe was known as Rhodesia, so named in 1888 for the racist British adventurer Cecil Rhodes. Last year's election, of course, was imposed on the white tyrants by decades of violent, black revolutionary struggle in which Mugabe played a leading role.

Of Zimbabwe's hefty $3.4 billion gross national product in 1979, reportedly 25 percent was manufacturing, twice as much as agricultural. Only eight percent was mining, mainly gold, though mining accounted for more than 69 percent of Zimbabwe's export earnings. And Zimbabwe has two-thirds of the world's known reserves of metallurgical grade chromite.

Its infrastructure is modern, with excellent internal transportation and electrical power networks. Its beautiful capital, Salisbury, a commercial center of some 650,000 residents, reminds me of Miami, Florida.

Only about 240,000, or three percent, of Zimbabwe's 7.2 million population is white. That is 25 Blacks to every one white.

Yet, that tiny minority still greatly influences this nation's government, owns the best half of all the land, and controls the country's highly developed and diversified economic power and rich natural resources.

However, if its newly-established black democratic political control is sustained, as seems likely, this maldistribution of economic power surely will be corrected. This appears certain even if Mugabe's professed gradualism and non-alignment do not prove to be the wisest course for Zimbabwe Blacks, the majority of whom have not finished elementary school.

Indeed, as a Marxist, Mugabe's own commitment to Pan-African socialism should further insure the necessary corrections, especially when one adds to this the fact that he was held in detention by the former Rhodesian rulers for 10 of his 56 years.

From all I have read about him, I have confidence in Mugabe, despite landlocked Zimbabwe's dependence on South Africa for trade and communication routes. No doubt about it is this dependence which has caused Zimbabwe to continue economic cooperation with South Africa while raising its political opposition.

Already, public participation is noticeably increasing in Zimbabwe's private business sector, and public education and medical care for the masses are being expanded dramatically. In sharp contrast with our nation's new upside-down priorities, Zimbabwe's national budget this year decreased defense expenditures 12 percent, while increasing education and health expenditures 55 percent.

Yet, a danger is that about one-fourth of this budget is borrowed, generating strong inflationary pressures—though growth in GNP is expected to equal this year's anticipated 15 percent rate of inflation.

I will be reporting next week from Cape Town, South Africa.

saving and loan associations have been able to form separate corporations which, among other things, can finance, develop and manage low-income housing and related community development projects on more flexible terms than their parent S&L's. They did not really get off the ground until 1970, when regulations were eased by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Almost overnight, more than 2,000 corporations were organized with many becoming directly involved in housing development.

There are two basic forms of service corporations: Type "A" and "B." Type A corporations are those in which all Federal savings and loans having a home office in the same state may invest a percentage of their assets in. Type B can be wholly or multiple-owned corporations and are not required to be open to all

We have many residents of our community who are sick at this report. Among them are

Mrs. Ora Craven, who is home from the hospital; and is at her son's residence at this report; Mrs. Sarah Taylor, Mrs. Mary Roberts, and many others.

Let's whisper a prayer and visit those who are ill in our community. Let us not forget our bereaved families also.

At this writing, the funeral service of Mr. James Roy Lewis, who passed away last Saturday afternoon, is incomplete at this report.

Mrs. Marie Emery is on the sick list. She is the sister of Mrs. Justyne Morton.

Money for Housing

associations. Many Type B corporations are owned by a single S&L. Operating under different names in different cities, service corporations are active in nearly every urban area today. In Chicago its RESCORP, New York City has its TASCOP and in Washington, DC its known as SAFE. St. Louis S&Ls call themselves the Savings Service Corporation.

These corporations can function as separate entities and make investments that savings and loans could not make. One very important aspect of their operation is to utilize combinations of other government and private sector programs involving subsidized housing and commercial-type projects. They can participate in joint ventures with for-profit and non-profit organizations, invest in housing partnership syndications, and manage properties for themselves or other owners.

For instance, a service corporation can put up the money to buy property and rehabilitate it. The contractor does the work and gets construction money from the parent S&L; then the builder and corporation divide the profits. The arrangements may also include permanent financing through the parent S&L for homebuyers. In St. Louis, the corporation has financed turnkey rehabilitation of inner city housing through insured loans to builders. In Maryland, a wholly-owned corporation specializing in urban loans provide take-out commitments to a local housing authority. In recent times, high interest rates have slowed the pace of service corporations but this situation can be expected to improve as the administration's community revitalization programs begin to take effect.

It becomes extremely important to black economic progress that equal opportunity rules be more rigidly enforced for service corporations now than they have been in the past. This is unlikely to happen unless blacks insist upon a fair share of the action. Because of the flexibility they offer, service corporations can provide new sources of financial and technical
