Minister Speaks About Church

by Denise Kinner

(Editor's Note: Lubbock Digest staff writer, Denise Kinner, interviewed Rev. Roy P. Davis. In this interview, Rev. Davis points out how difficult it is for a young black minister to have an opportunity to preach at the various black churches in the community. Ms. Kinner will continue to report, from time to time, about the role of the black pastor and minister in Lubbock. If you'd like to comment on these articles, please feel free to write: Pastor Talks, Lubbock Digest, P. O. Box 2553, Lubbock, Texas 79408).

Rev. Roy P. Davis

"Young Black Minister Has Hard Time In Lubbock"

Many people believe he became a minister because of his father, Rev. A. L. Davis -- former pastor of St. Luke Baptist Church -- but if you talk to Rev. Roy P. Davis, he'll tell you that it didn't happen that way.

"If I had become a minister just because my father wanted me to be a minister I would really be scared of that. I didn't choose to go into the ministry. If it was left up to me, I would have been a doctor or lawyer so that I could attain a high social status. However, I was called by God to become a minister. I know that without a doubt."

Rev. Davis recently returned to Lubbock after attending school in New Orleans. When he first moved from Lubbock, Davis says he left with a burdened heart. One of the things that troubled him most was the fact that the doors of churches in East Lubbock are closed to young ministers.

"Every young minister desires to have a church. That is his goal. But sin, Satan and the willfulness of the people sometimes will not permit that to be so. The young minister in East Lubbock has no where to preach or to pastor except on youth days or special occasions because people set the qualifications above the young minister. Young ministers can see the need in the community but are not able to produce anything because of the simple fact that the qualifications are far above them -- because the people say they want someone who has experience. The young ministers have been shut out."

Another problem that troubles Davis is the lack of direction given by the church to the community's youth.

"There is so much jealousy, envy, and corruption in the church and young people are looking at the church and they say that if that's the way the church is, then they can't handle it. Young people in the community are desiring to know Christ but we as ministers have forgotten that it is our duty to serve them and not be served."

Davis said he would like to meet with the young people of East Lubbock to let them know what God has to offer them.

Davis concluded that many of the communities problems could be solved if the people of East Lubbock would seek Christ.

"The people are not of fellowship with God. Nothing is going to improve in East Lubbock or the churches until the people come back to the church."

Lubbock Republican Attends Fete

by Denise Kinner

Two weeks ago Republican leaders from across the country met with President Reagan to discuss administration policies. McKinley Shephard, president of the Black Republican Council of Texas, was present at the meeting. Shephard told the Lubbock Digest that the meeting was called to discuss the administration's position on the Voting Rights Act and tax exemption for private schools that practice racial discrimination.

"The President's stance on tax-exempt status of schools that discriminate is that he is not for it. He simply wanted to get it out of the hands of the IRS. There was a misinterpretation of his policy on the part of some Democratic leaders."

As far as the Voting Rights Act, Shephard stated that the President supports the act in its present form without the revisions approved by the House. In its present form, the act requires litigants to prove that officials who changed voting laws or boundaries intended to discriminate against minorities. The House passed version would merely require litigants to show that discrimination resulted. The House proposal also includes "bailout provisions" which would enable some areas to be exempt from the act's requirements.

Shephard, who is running as a Republican for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 6, says that President Reagan is not an enemy of the black community and is not a racist. Shephard says he is trying to convince blacks in the community and state to vote for good Republican candidates.

"I'm not trying to convert Democrats into becoming Republicans. I'm trying to get black people to vote for good Republican candidates. I don't think blacks should feel guilty for voting for a Republican just because they have always voted Democratic."

Shephard says he is in full support of the Reagan administration policies and that he appreciates the President giving black Republicans access to his office and staff.

"Even though Democrats control the black vote, it took a Republican President to bring a black from Lubbock to the White House," concluded Shephard.

NAACP Holds Meeting

The Lubbock Branch will hold its regular monthly meeting on Saturday night, February 13, 1982, at Mae Simmons Community Center, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

On the agenda will include the political action committee who will kick off their 1982 voter's registration drive, headed by Chairperson Diana Henderson, Harry Stolley, Jr. and Rose Wilson, president.

Also the chairman of the membership committee, Roosevelt Carroll, will report on the kick-off of the membership drive. President Wilson is asking all members to be present. "Shall we see you on Saturday night," she said.

Governor's Stand Upsets Civil Rights Groups

Texas Governor Bill Clements drew the wrath of civil rights groups last week when he announced that he did not support the House-approved version of the Voting Rights Act.

Clements told a Senate Judiciary Committee that he supports simple extension of the present act.

The present law requires litigants to prove that local officials intended to discriminate when they designed discriminatory voting laws or practices. But under the House-passed version, the government could prove the act was violated if they simply proved that discrimination resulted.

The League of Women Voters of Texas and the NAACP withdrew their support of Clements' position on the Voting Rights Act after learning his testimony.

Senate Approves Antibusing

Last week the U. S. Senate approved the most stringent antibusing legislation ever approved by either chamber of Congress. The amendment, approved by a 58 to 38 vote, would prohibit courts from ordering the busing of students more than five miles or 15 minutes from their homes. Also, the Justice Department would be forbidden to seek a busing remedy in federal courts.

Rose Wilson, president of the Lubbock Branch of NAACP, told the Lubbock Digest that the anti-busing bill will in effect put an end to cross-town busing as a means of desegregating public schools. "I think it would be impossible for any bus to pick up children from their homes and take them to another school in 15 minutes. It would be impossible to bus children from East Lubbock to West Lubbock in 15 minutes."

The anti-busing bill has not yet been considered by the House.

Employment Office Moves

The Texas Employment Commission announced last week that the Casual Labor Office, located at 1805 Texas Avenue, has been relocated to 1514 Avenue O. This move became effective Monday. Velma Burkham, TEC Manager, emphasizes there will be no curtailment of services offered.

The office serves employers who use temporary skilled and unskilled labor, and will be open from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday thru Friday. Ms. Burkham states there are usually plenty of applicants standing by including skilled furniture packers, dock and construction workers, and general laborers. The main TEC office is located at 1602 16th Street, and both offices may be reached by calling 763-6416. There is no charge for services provided to the employers or the applicants.

"This time around the social net is in shreds," the report added.

The recently enacted legislation continuing the minimum benefit for those eligible prior to 1982 also contained a provision which expanded the scope of Social Security number fraud and increased the penalties for conviction.

Prior to passage of this legislation, criminal penalties were provided for: (1) knowingly and willfully using a Social Security number that was obtained with false information, (2) using someone else's Social Security number, or (3) unlawfully disclosing or compelling the disclosure of someone's Social Security number. The crime was considered a misdemeanor and the penalty involved a fine of up to $1000 or imprisonment for up to one year or both.

The amended law expanded misuse of Social Security cards by making it unlawful to: (1) alter, buy, sell or counterfeit Social Security cards or (2) possess a regular or counterfeit card with the intent to sell or alter it.

The provision also made all unlawful acts affecting the Social Security number or card a felony, rather than a misdemeanor. It increased the maximum fine for conviction to $5000 and the maximum prison term to 5 years.

Soul Sisters Social Club Elects 1982 Officers

Pastor Urges NAACP Support

Pastor, pleads for unity to all Pastors and Churches to unite together as one, once a month, for the advancement of Lubbock's progress.

Oh, come let us reason together saith the Lord: Isreal 1:18, "As Isaiah made the call in time past, so is it now in our time, as we can see conservative force is aggravate, and have set positive goals. We must remember that we believe that God helps those who help themselves.

Now we aware that the NAACP is the greatest, and broadest civil rights organization we have. So why not make this branch the greatest in the State of Texas.

We have a good presentation with an A one team of workers, but they are not greater than the people, that support them. We must say thanks to the members who are striving so hard to help make this organization grow. Thanks to you, Pastors, who are encouraging your church members to become members of the NAACP.

For this, we know

Rev. H. L. Caro
NAACP Church
Committee

that God called the ministers to lead his people. He is the head, but we must step out in civil rights affairs as well as inspirational. A special effort must be put forth to make the program go better in Lubbock, because in times like these, it'll take everyone to join this fight. You can't send messages, you must come yourself.

We want to see the NAACP membership triple. Its forces this year's enrollment.

We are calling for regular and new members to join in and make this team effort work. For more information call 747-8463.

Toe Jam At EHS

Last year Estacado High School audiences were treated to a new theatrical experience when they entered the high school auditorium to see "A Raisin in the Sun". Instead of sitting in the regular auditorium seats, the audience members sat on stage, on chairs on risers of various levels. Since the actors were only a few feet from the audience, the audience members could hear and see very clearly, which greatly added to the emotional impact of the play. Plans are underway for a second "on stage" presentation by the Estacado actors and their director, Nancy Shurbet Krebbs. This year's major production, entitled "Toe Jam", will be presented in the same unique style. "Toe Jam" is a modern Black drama by Elaine Jackson. The characters and their problems are relevant to today. Xenith Graham, a talented and imaginative Black girl of twenty-one, dreams of being an actress and playwright. Her younger sister, Alice Graham, is wrapped up in her boyfriend, Charles, a man who Xenith scornfully describes as, "Older than Mal He looks like the last thought I'd have before committing suicide!" February Black Awareness Month

by
Eddie P. Richardson

Last week, we started a series on Dr. Carter G. Woodson. Dr. Woodson was an elementary school teacher, high school principal, teacher, college professor, and dean of the college of liberal arts at Howard University, and at West Virginia State College. He retired from teaching in 1922 to devote all of his time to research and writing. He had organized the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History in Chicago in 1915, contending against the prevailing white authorities that the Negro had an important past and had contributed to the mainstream of civilization.

In 1916, the association was incorporated and the first issue of the Journal of Negro History was published. Because of his determination and staunch belief in the ultimate acceptance of the Negro through established historical truths, Dr. Woodson is now venerated by scholars of both races and has rightly earned the title of "the fathers of modern Negro historiography".

More famous slaveholders, St. Thomas Aquinas, Italian theologian, Christopher Columbus, Italian navigator, Martin Luther, German reformation leader, Alexander Hamilton, U. S. Statesman, Ulysses S. Grant, 18th U. S. President. The man who led the Union in the Civil War that ended slavery himself owned slaves. In 1848, when he married Julia Dent in Missouri, she owned one slave. She received a second as a wedding present, and later acquired a third one. Grant, in his own name, brought a slave named William Jones from his father-in-law and later freed him.

Last week, we talked about Career Day activities and this kind of thing but the more you look around at the organizations who sponsor Career Day and world of work programs. You seldom see a self employed Black on the program. The total picture should be painted. It's good that Blacks work for major white institutions, but that's only half the picture. What about R. J. Givens, Bobby Williams, Edward Deo, T. S. Jamison, Almo Sedberry, Tull Thornton, Welford Hooper, Phillip Glaspie, C. B. Stubbs, Mrs. Lee and others. This would include such people as barbers, beauticians, there's Jimmy Hoover, private contractors, Marshall Taylor, Watson Childress, Charles Gibbs, and other self-employed blacks. All blacks don't work for white folks. Paint the total picture for our youngsters to see. What about the two major black financial institutions -- i. e. Atlanta Life Insurance Company and Universal Life Insurance Company. There is nothing wrong with blacks working for white institutions. Everyone can't and do not want to be an entrepreneur. Since this is Black Awareness Month -- this is extremely key and crucial.

"Letters to the Editor"

"Recognition"

Dear Editor:

I, the only male child and only male grandchild, gave my last full measure of devotion on an institutional battlefield 10,000 miles from home. It is my dream and prayer that someday the Asians, the Europeans, the Israelites, the Africans, the Australians, the Latins, and the Americans could all live in one world.

It is my hope that, in my own country, the Klansmen, the Blacks, the Hebrews, and the Catholics will sit down together in the common purpose of good will and dedication; that the moral and creative intelligence of our united people will pick up the chalice of wisdom, and place it upon the mountain top of human integrity; that all mankind from all the earth, shall resolve, 'to study war no more'.

That, Mr. President, is how I feel and that is my external hope for the Great American Society.

From your most honorable,
Joe Nevergone

"Black History Month"

Dear Editor:

We wish to take this means to thank all of you who have aided us in giving much needed financial assistance in replacing one of the men's dormitory at Texas College that was completely destroyed by fire a couple of months ago. Texas College is located in Tyler, Texas and owned and operated by the C. M. E. Church. About sixty-five percent of the 600 students enrolled there are of the Baptist faith and students come from many sections of the U. S. and other nations in the world.

One student from Los Angeles lost his life in the fire and ten others were treated for other injuries and disabilities.

Would also like to remind our friends and readers that the 56th anniversary of Black History month will be observed in February. It was in 1926, that Dr. Carter G. Woodson, a Harvard Ph.D initiated Negro History Week. In those early days we will recall that the words Afro and Black were seldom used.

It was Dr. Woodson's hope that through this special observance, all Americans would be reminded of their ethnic roots and a togetherness in the United States' racial groups would develop out of a mutual respect for backgrounds.

In 1976, the Association expanded the week's celebration to a month to provide more time for programs, observances and celebrations. For more details and information write: Associated Publishers, Inc., 1401 14th St. N. W. Washington, D. C. 20005, Tel (AC) 202-667-2822. (A non-profit organization. "New Federalism"

Dear Editor:

As the President and other government officials move toward "new Federalism" and cut social welfare programs to balance the federal budget, most Americans, including blacks, believe that high taxes and budget deficits are the results of too many black people receiving too much money from government assistance programs.

Fortunately, Ebony magazine published last month some very significant figures from U. S. government sources. Those figures indicate that blacks receive less than one-third of the total American dollar spent for social welfare programs.

Of the total 30 million spent on Social Security Retirement and Survivor's Insurance, blacks receive only 9.1% while whites receive 89.4%. Blacks receive only 8.6% of the total 30 million spent on Medicare while whites get 88.7%. Of 2.2 million spent on Veterans Compensation and Pension, whites receive 81% while blacks get only 10%. Blacks receive only 27.5%, and whites 64.2% of the total 4.1 million spent for Supplemental Security Income. Only 11 million dollars go to Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Whites receive 51% of that while blacks get 42%. Of the 22.3 million spent for Food Stamps, blacks receive 32%. Blacks get 44.1% and whites 55.9% of the total 23 million spent for Medicaid. Thirty-one million dollars is paid for Public Housing of which blacks receive 47.1% and whites, 38.4%. Social Security Disability is funded in the amount of 4.7 million dollars 16.5% of which goes to blacks and 81.5% to whites. White Americans receive 54% of the 5.3 million that is spent for Education for the Disadvantaged; blacks receive 34.5%. For Unemployment Insurance we spend 2.8 million of which blacks get only 16.7% while whites receive 78.5%.

The facts are quite different from the picture we usually see in the newspapers and on television when the issue of welfare is discussed. Two-thirds of American social welfare dollars go to white American -- quite a revelation -- no?

Sincerely,
Vivian I. Davis

Tale of Technology & Telecommunications Healthy Investment Outlook - 1982

Revolution is everywhere in America this year including the investment sector. Some small fortunes will be made by those investors who find common stocks with superior technical products and proper management.

The applicant of computers to the design and manufacture of industrial products promises to reverse the decline of industrial productivity in the United States as well as deliver better designed, higher quality products than this nation has ever seen. Sensational areas for stock investments exist in the fields of high technology (software), telecommunications (cable TV) and health care (genetics).

Two hundred thirty million Americans will have to make their way to these investment opportunities in spite of the current stumbling blocks out of Washington. "What a realistic reading of the high employment budget is telling us that fiscal policy has been and will continue to be highly stimulative."

"And with the Fed trying to hold monetary growth to about three percent, that kind of fiscal policy is madness. Unless the budget is brought under control, it will mean a weak recovery with a crowding out of private investment as high interest rates nullify the supply side effects of the tax cut," Otto Eckstein, noted economist is

JULIAN BOND

Who's in charge here?

By Julian Bond

"I didn't do it!" That's what Ronald Reagan said when he disclaimed any responsibility for the national recession. "Our administration is a clean-up crew for those who want on a non-stop binge and left the tab for us to pick up," the president recently explained.

"Ed Meese did it!" That's what White House aides Michael Deaver and James Baker said when they were asked who decided to repeal the policy begun by Richard Nixon that denied tax exemptions to segregated schools.

"The news media did it!" That's what Richard Allen, former national security adviser, said after he was asked to leave his job in the Reagan White House. Allen departed after having neglected to report gifts of $1,000 in cash and a wristwatch or two.

There is nothing new about the ability of elected and appointed officials to saddle others with responsibility for past mistakes that create current unpleasantness. Today's leaders will always try to blame the mess we're in on those recalls of yesterday who they persuaded us to throw out.

All of this gives the impression that our government is directed by a never-ending stream of incompetents, each digging a deeper hole that someone else will have to extract us from.

And it makes you wonder who's in charge.

They must all look alike

Remember when President Reagan thought that Sam Pierce, secretary of housing and urban development, was someone else? The president greeted the only black member of his Cabinet as "Mr. Mayor."

This kind of confusion about the identity of ethnics occurred under Jimmy Carter, too. Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif., was invited to sup at the White House with the president and the prime minister of Italy because someone thought that the congressman was of Italian, rather than Japanese, ancestry.

Now the Reagan White House has done it again. The White House recently sent Mineta a photo taken at a Christmas party for members of Congress. The accompanying note said that Mineta would probably want to keep the photo as a memento.

But that act of generosity puzzled the California congressman, for the photo showed a smiling Ronald Reagan with Sen. Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii.

Maybe the White House thinks that Mineta collects pictures of other lawmakers of Oriental extraction? Or that he's the mayor of Honolulu?

Intent or effect?

Right-wing Republicans want guilt in civil-rights cases to hinge, in part, on the "intent" of the employer who denies a black man a job or the "intent" of the state legislature whose reapportionment plans prevent black voters from participating fully in the electoral process.

"Intent" is impossible to prove unless the guilty party admits that race was a motive for his actions. Few of today's racists will admit -- publicly, at least -- that they believe in racial superiority.

That is why supporters of the House-passed version of the Voting Rights Act renewal are asking that "effect" rather than "intent" be the guide for determining guilt in voting discrimination cases.

So, are we to judge Ronald Reagan's first year in office by his "intent" or his "effect"?

If the president were graded under the latter test, he would clearly be found guilty of:

— Trying to make it more difficult for black people to vote;

— Reducing the living standard of a sizable portion of the black population while inflicting proportionately less damage on the white population;

— Limiting the employment opportunities of blacks and women by removing and weakening equal-opportunity regulations; and,

— Producing a foreign policy that ignores the legitimate national, economic and political claims raised by the worldwide underclass and of supporting totalitarianism when its victims' skins are dark.

If that's the "effect," what else could the "intent" have been?

(SEE PAPER ENTERPRISE ABON)

quoted as stating in a business magazine.

Prudential Insurance Company of America predicts Gross National Products (GNP), all the goods and services produced in the country, will be up two percent by year end and expects unemployment will peak at nine percent. Inflation and interest rates are expected to continue to recede, renders "the Rock."

In 1982, the primary trade-off will be between lower inflation and high real economic growth, according to Bank of America, the country's largest commercial bank.

The Housing sector of the economy has been decimated by high interest rates and represents as does many other investments an opportunity to go bargain shopping. The effects of monetary restraint will show increasing benefit in 1983 and beyond, at best.

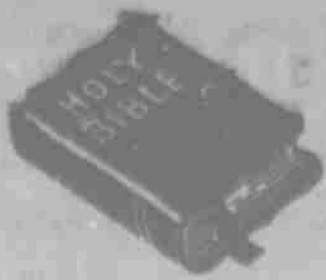

Cheap cost is not enough to make people buy. Rapid advances in computer technology will enable management to take full advantage of research data, handle more complex product designs and better meet the demands of new product development, as well as, increase the efficiencies of work place for greater output at lower total cost. Thereby increasing the value for lower total cost. Thereby increasing the value of the product to the consumer.

Considering the contribution the telecommunications and health care industries can make -- much of the U. S. success and strength could be expected to show its face in the latter part of this year.

Because of its demand for business communication the telecommunications industry should grow more rapidly in 1982-85 period.

Health care, too, is expected to be one of the most robust industries this year. The only real question is how fast can the larger companies

CHURCH DIRECTORY

Your Absence from Church is A Vote To Close its Doors

Rev. Robinson Speaks

Harvey E. Robinson
Pastor
East Lubbock Church of God

What Makes A Soul Winner?

When the church was born, all of its converts gladly received the Word... (1) that Jesus was the Christ, and that God had raised him from the dead; (2) that he is at the right hand of the Father as an intercessor for man; (3) and that in the name of Jesus are sins forgiven and the Holy Ghost was sent from heaven to give power and to keep saved.

This was the first message of salvation. The people that heard it and received it gladly were baptized and received the baptism of the Holy Ghost and became soul winners.

What made them soul winners? They continued steadfastly in the apostle's doctrine and fellowship.

Please note that before one can be a soul winner for Christ, he must know whom he believes in and be happy with his salvation and position in life. For the joy of the Lord is the strength of every believer. The first soul winners were steadfast because God through Jesus Christ had delivered them not IN sin, but FROM the power of sin and Satan.

Their fellowship was with the apostles and the other believers in Jesus Christ. One cannot do what the unbeliever does and go where the unbeliever goes and be a soul winner. We cannot serve Christ and Satan.

They ate and prayed together steadfastly. One cannot do anything for God unless their minds are made up, for a double-minded man is unstable in all of his ways. That is, if you cannot make up your mind, you will swing from side to side.

They were concerned about each other's welfare.

A person cannot be soul winner if he is not concerned about his brother's welfare. These early Christians sold their possessions and goods and shared with one another. I am not saying for you to sell what you have and share, but I am saying that soul winning is loving thy neighbor as thyself.

They continued daily in the temple.

They were not just Sunday Christians. The Bible says that they were there daily in prayer before God. They did not allow Satan to steal their love for Christ and His church out of their lives.

They were praising God.

Everywhere you met them, they were praising God. Many had been bound by different habits, vices, and were slaves to sin and Satan. But Jesus had set them free from their sins. The matter of being free from sin thrilled their souls and the joy of God was all over them, and a continual praise was given to God for this. (Acts 2:42-47).

A soul winner must first be an example. The man who is not saved must see a difference in you and him. When one is lost, his mouth does not have the good news of Christ, but when the lost man is found of Christ, he becomes a new man.

The blood of Jesus has never lost its power. It will wash the dirtiest of sin from a man's life and give him a new start in life. That was the message over 1,900 years ago, and it is just as true today.

If Jesus has cleansed you and made you whole, and you want to be a soul winner for Him, call me today at (806) 747-8829.

APPRECIATION FOR SCOTTS -- An appreciation day for Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Scott is scheduled for Sunday, March 7, 1982, at St. John Baptist Church at 2:30 p. m. Rev. James Moore told the Lubbock Digest that there were several reasons why he decided to plan this event.

Scott to be a Christian man. He still works hard. It's just a mystery to me how he and his wife get around so well and it's an honor for me to honor them."

Rev. Moore is asking all churches in Lubbock to participate.

"We're asking each minister to ask each member of his congregation for one dollar. We would like all churches in Lubbock to get involved because we may not have another chance."

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

The members and friends of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast met in the lovely home of Mrs. Verlina Hereford last Saturday morning at 9 a. m. with vice president, Mrs. C. E. Fair, presiding.

Opening devotion and business began the meeting. Participating were Mrs. Mildred Bogus and Mrs. Fair. Devotional leader was Mrs. Bogus. The morning devotion lesson was taught by Mrs. Elnora Dinwiddie. Scriptures were found in 37th Psalms.

— Living Bible —
"Never envy the wicked! Soon they fade away like grass and disappear. Trust in the Lord instead. Be kind and good to others. Then you will live safely here in the land and prosper feeding in safety. Be delighted with the Lord. Then He will give you all your hearts desire. Commit everything you do to the Lord. Trust Him to help you do it and He will."

The speaker said the flesh is weak, but trust. And say I can make it! With God all things are possible."

Read the entire division of the 37th division of Psalms. Sister Dinwiddie, you are a star. A super star. In this show of God, we love you! A solo was sung by Mrs. Elnora Dyer. It was entitled: "I Don't Know About Tomorrow." Also singing was Rev. Tony Williams who sang "Old Ship Of Zion." This man really did sing that song. Mrs. Beulah Winters led the group with the singing of "When I've Done The Best I Can, Will You Guide Me?" Everyone sang just like the stars -- they know they are!

One sentence sermon: "Void Not to Temptation." Think about it!

Remarks were made by all present. Breakfast was served in such a spacious beautiful atmosphere. We had a crowd, but we missed seeing you there!

The guest list last week included: Rev. Ford, Rev. Tony Williams and wife, Mrs. C. C. Peoples, Mrs. Catherine Alexander, Mrs. Barbara Gates, Mrs. Beverly Hereford, Mrs. Lorne Gayton, Mrs. Joshia Hereford, and Shun Hereford. We were happy to have Mrs. Elnora Dinwiddie and Mrs. Elnora Dyer back with us. Each of you make our lives worth living.

Our sick and shut-ins this week include: Rev. Montgomery, Gary Brooks, Mrs. Artie M. Washington, Dr. F. L. Lovings, and Beatrice Anderson. We know there are others whom we fail to mention. Read Mark 11:22-24. Speak to those mountains.

A Look At The Black Church

by Rev. Robert D. Adams
Unity Baptist Church

(Editor's Note: This is a series written by Rev. Robert D. Adams, pastor of the Unity Baptist Church. Because of the interest shown by some readers, it will continue next week.)

Most Black Preachers Think Preaching is It!

One of the upsetting things about black pastors is that they are not really concerned about winning souls. They would like to have more church members, but they are not interested in winning souls for Christ.

Brother Pastor, I don't care how much you talk about soul winning, evangelism, and so forth; I don't care what you say, nobody knows this any better than I. A pastor who does not personally win souls will not make soul winnings of others.

The man who does not have burden enough and power enough to win souls personally, will not have the burden and power he needs in the pulpit. Every pastor ought to be a great soul winner.

Brethren, let's face a basic truth -- the failure in our churches is, first of all, a pastor failure.

There is no way to build great soul-winning churches without soul winning pastors. Here is the first and easiest key to building great soul-winning black churches. You must get on fire for God; you must love precious souls; you must have love to see a man saved; you must go after the man next door. If you become a faithful soul winner, your church will change. If you have

Services were held as usual at the New Hope Baptist Church. Sunday School began at 9:30 a. m. Morning worship started at 10:45 a. m. Devotion was led by Deacon Givens and Deacon Francis. The Choir was present at its place. The sermon was delivered by Rev. George W. Singleton. His wife was also present. His scripture lesson was found in St. John 2:1-3. His subject was: "They Have No Wine." It was a wonderful message. During the 7 p. m. evening services, he delivered another message. His subject was: "Where The Real Service Is." His text scripture was found St. Matthew 4th Chapter, using several verses. Rev. A. L. Dunn was present at the evening services. Rev. Single-
