Houston Senator Blasts Ethics-Pay Raise Amendment in Midland Speech

Senator Henry C. Grover, of Houston, in a noon-time speech to the Midland Jaycees Friday, called for voters to defeat the fraudulent Ethics-Pay Raise Constitutional Amendment May 18. He pointed out that among the dangers of this amendment, which would take from the people their right to set legislative pay and give it to a commission, is the strong possibility of lobbyists being appointed as member of the pay raise commission.

The Houston Senator said "this is not a scare tactic, but a fact of life in keeping with political appointment practices." "To be specific," he said, "the lobbyist for the Texas Chemical Counsel is just completing his term as Chairman of the Texas Aeronautics Commission; a lobbyist for a major Houston Insurance Company was appointed in 1967 to the state employees retirement board; and a former member of the Water Pollution Control Board became a lobbyist after being appointed to that Board, and has since represented many clients, including practice before the Air Pollution Control Board."

These are but a few, and he said that he had no idea how many other members of the state boards and commissions are currently. Continued On Page Five people of our city ever think of even considering additional feedlots in the area in this day and time when pollution is the cry nation wide?

"It is highly difficult to sit down at our dinner tables and enjoy one's meal when such nauseating odors prevail.

"We request that you deny approval of additional feedlots in East Lubbock. We appreciate the efforts of the City Fathers, Chamber of Commerce, Board of City Development and all other concerned individuals in attracting new business to the City of Lubbock, however, additional feedlots would not be in the best interest of the citizenry."

The letter was signed by the Executive Board of UBC.

D.W. Lewter, feedlot operator, faced heavy opposition from adjacent property owners and from the city planning staff in his request to continue a feedlot operation in the Southeast area of the city.

Lewter was trying to get approval of the Zoning Board of Adjustment. The Lewter operation was first approved in 1968 for a two-year period.

Ed Irons, superintendent of Lubbock Public Schools, is scheduled to be feature speaker. A photographic display from E.C. Struggs Junior High School will also be presented.

The annual tea is sponsored by the Reiks Chapel Baptist Church and the Lincoln-Douglas Club. The public is cordially invited to participate in the affair.

UBC Addresses Lewter Feedlot Case

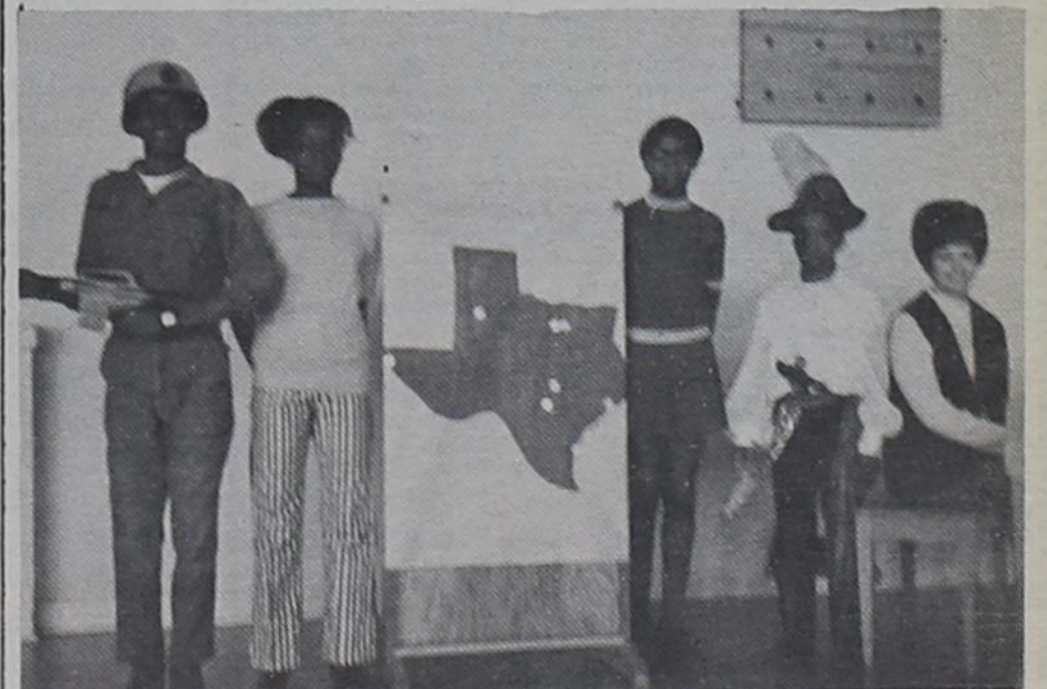

Not only did the Lubbock Zoning Board of Adjustment deny a request for a cattle feedlot in Southeast Lubbock, but the executive committee of the United Black Coalition met in an emergency session last Wednesday night to take action on the matter. The committee submitted the following letter to the Council.

"To Honorable Mayor and City Council:

"It has recently come to our attention that the matter of the additional feedlots in East Lubbock is to come before you. We would like to call to your attention that the citizens of East Lubbock and other sections have objected to the existing feedlots and will object to additional feed lots.

Many Issues May Need Vote This Year

The reprint of an article from the Austin American-Statesman by Glen Castlebury on this page graphically points out why every citizen in the state of Texas should take the time and effort to register before the deadline February 28th.

Mr. Castlebury did what we consider a terrific job of explaining some of the pitfalls and problems that may befall the taxpayers in the state of Texas if the Amendment he talks of is not voted down on May 18th.

The Ethics Commission Amendment, as it is referred to, is nothing more than a back-door way for the elected representatives in Austin to provide themselves with pay raises without having the approval of the people who are paying their salaries. Always before, the Texas taxpayers—who were registered voters—were able to determine whether or not their representatives received a pay raise. Under the new idea, presented in this Amendment, the taxpayer, the guy who must foot the bill, will have no voice in the matter.

Therefore, it is most important that everyone register to vote before the deadline. If for no other reason than to be able to vote on this one issue on May 18th. But there will be four amendments on the 18th ballot, adding even more importance to that vote.

The State of Texas extended the registration period from January 31st to February 28th this year because so many people had not been registered by the end of January. The voter registration rolls are still short as of this time, and the deadline is this Sunday. Certainly there will not be another extension, primarily because of the great deal of interest already in the Ethics Commission Amendment across the state. One wouldn't expect the legislatures to extend the registration deadline again when that would give opponents of their plan more time to rally their forces. Therefore we advise our readers to be sure and get registered before this Sunday.

There will be more elections during the year, although they have not been proposed as yet. Special elections always arise during "off-year" periods, and probably one that will come up in the very near future in certain areas of the state will be the vote on local option liquor-by-the-drink. Regardless of your feeling on this question, you certainly will want to be a qualified voter if the issue comes up.

So once again, may the reader be reminded—there may be many issues during the upcoming year, get registered!

Brotherhood Week, February 21-28

Some years ago, the Washington, D.C. Trades Unionist suggested a new approach. "Wouldn't it be an improvement to have one week of hate and 51 weeks of Brotherhood?"

Think on that as you go through life during the rest of this week.

What Others Are Saying . . .

CAPITOL A

By Glen Castlebury

Many Texas voters, maybe even a healthy majority, will find themselves on May 18 in the unlikely situation of having to vote against what members of the Legislature call an ethics law.

The so-called ethics proposal on the constitutional amendments ballot already is coming across loud and clear as a legislative pay raise vehicle—which it is.

The amendment takes out of the Constitution the $4,800 ceiling for legislative salaries and lets the legislators set their own pay—as "recommended" by still another state commission which the amendment would create.

Rightly or wrongly, the pay thing has been knocked down by the voters repeatedly and overwhelmingly, and it probably will be the main death cause of the new idea.

But the pay thing is only the proposal's worst provision. It has other problems, too, which reflect its hasty conception as a means of placating a public upset by the most blatant money-making scheme uncorked among public officials in years.

First, questions can be raised about the membership of the commission envisioned as the Emily Post of the personal and financial conduct of members of the legislature, state officials, political appointees and, to some degree, the press and whoever else walks on the carpets of the chambers.

The nine-member commission would consist of three people appointed each by the chief justice of the Supreme Court, the presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals (hmm. . .) and the chairman of the Judicial Qualifications Commission. (The what?). They would be fine men all, no doubt, reflecting the high caliber of the men making the appointments.

But coming from the politically insulated, if not isolated, circuitous route, would they have any real finesse in the problems and in's-and-out's of Capitol Hill? They obviously would not be at all politically answerable—which, considering the present circumstances, may be a point in the commission's favor.

Second, provisions for financial disclosure are a sham since they grant the privilege of confidentiality. By putting this privileged provision in the Constitution, the Legislature effectively is tying the hands of any future Legislature which may have a change of complexion and a change of heart and actually want to let the public scrutinize the public officials.

It has been a favorite joke at the state house that the disclosure provision might be interpreted as covering the press. The joke has worn thin because the provision is meaningless, but even if it wasn't there wouldn't be any worry—as there was among lawmakers—about filing such a statement within 10 days.

Third, the gutting of any future disclosure law most of all emphasizes the point that none of the material in the amendment needs to be in the Constitution.

Once giving up the pay raise idea, the commission could have been created by statute. If such a commission really was armed and doing its job, its status would be safe because any future effort to gut it or kill it would be politically explosive.

One would think that a legislature hamstrung daily by outmoded constitutional restrictions would see the folly of their ways. But it was, after all, sheer folly which fostered the problem here in the first place.

Everything allegedly being done in the name of ethics in the amendment could have been done by simple statute.

But instead, the state now stands on the verge of being barred from having a good, toothy disclosure law. A good disclosure act would put the financial matters on the basis of each man individually being judged by an electorate armed with the information they need to pass judgement.

For the outright bad cases, a good criminal statute would put the matter in the hands of the district attorney, a jury, a judge and the due process—and that, more than some hornless, obscure commission, is where questions of right and wrong belong.

Do We Need Black Leaders or Unity?

Over the past 260 years the black community has been overly blessed with various assortments of hustlers, pimps, con men, swindlers, and just plain phonies masquerading as leaders. It is past time for leaders in the black community to emerge and work toward better organization.

We need leaders to motivate and inspire our black people to help themselves to better economic status, better human status, better educational status and a better over-all self image.

The black leaders have led us well—to banquets and fashion shows.

Niggers need to stop eating, begging, dancing and grinning everytime they get together. In the main, this is all the leaders provide, and you can rest assured their pockets are fatter after each affair, and still the community stays in the same old rut.

After all these years it is time to try something different. Let's get the total community together in work sessions, to chart and plan a course of action for a better community for all people.

The day of hand shaking, foot shuffling, show casing is over. It's time now to act, and act in a positive manner.

The day of the black hand-picked leader from downtown is over, as well is the day of the self-appointed black leader. These blacks have never been truly representative of the black community. In most cases, they were not even liked or accepted by the masses of blacks, although he has always been respected by the white community. In many cases this white respect is far greater than that of the people he supposedly speaks and acts for. The blacks he is suppose to speak for in most cases he does not speak to, or even relate to. He has always tricked, and fooled the politicians around election time, and has over the years taken from them thousands of dollars.

For over two hundred years the leader concept has not worked. It has always been a few blacks and the power structure deciding what is best for, or what, the black community needs.

The time is now that the black community speak for itself and whoever is chosen by the black people as their spokesman must be fully informed of what he or she is talking about.

With community unity, with everyone in the community working together for the good and well being of all concerned, there will no longer be any need for the hand-picked and self-appointed leaders. Anyone, chosen by the community, will always be able to address any issue and be truly representative of a whole community, and not just a handful of people in the community.

Dear Mr. Patterson:

I was somewhat disappointed to hear of your comments in the February 18 issue of the West Texas Times concerning the United Black Coalition meeting held February 11, and the statement that the City Manager's office "had confirmed earlier in the week that he would be available for the meeting". An invitation was extended for the City Manager to attend after my letter of February 4, 1971, to Mr. Eddie Richardson suggested that some of our Police Department personnel attend the upcoming meeting. This invitation was conveyed to me, and my office advised Mr. Richardson by telephone that I would be unable to attend due to a prior commitment for that date...one that was made in early January.

Police Chief J. T. Alley also was unable to attend because of conflict with the opening night of the Regional Golden Gloves Tournament sponsored by the Police Department, and the West Texas Times office was also advised that he would not be present. The names of those who would attend were given to the West Texas Times prior to the February 11 meeting, so it came as a complete surprise to us when we learned that members of the Coalition had been erroneously advised that the City Manager and Police Chief would be there.

I can assure you we shall continue to make every effort to assist East Lubbock, as well as other areas of the City, with whatever problems exist in these areas. I regret that your column did not portray the true picture regarding the invitation to the February 11 meeting, since, obviously, little effort was made to check events as they actually happened.

Very truly yours,
S/W. R. Blackwell
City Manager

House Burglary

M.L. Thomas, 3312 East Broadway, reported to the Lubbock Police Department this week that someone did break into his house while he was away. The unknown person entered by breaking out a window and reaching inside to unlock the latch.

Once inside, the burglar took approximately $40 worth of meat (including steaks and pork chops); three blankets and three quilts.

Car Burglary

A car burglary was reported on the campus of Estacado High School one day last week. Mark Heagley told Lubbock police that someone gained entry into his locked car. Entry was gained by opening the door on the passenger side.

Taken from the car was a stereo tape recorder, and a tape. Both items were valued at $136.98.

House Burglary

Sandra Faye Murphey, of 1001 East 28th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone did knock a piece of wood off the back door of her house and reach inside and let themselves in.

Once inside, the unknown person did take a tape recorder and fourteen tapes. The cost of the items is believed to be $156.95.

Assault with Intent To Murder

A Lubbock man told police that he cut his wife with a knife. He also stated that he cut the lady because of a misunderstanding they had.

The lady had been cut up under her neck and ear. She refused to go to the hospital by ambulance, but did go by private vehicle.

It was undetermined at the time if the lady would file charges against her husband.

Burglary

Eugene Torres, 1808 Avenue C,

reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone did pry the lock off the front door of his residence while he was away and remove a blanket and a dozen cans of his favorite beverage.

The value of the items taken was $20. He did have an idea who could have taken the items. He said he would file charges, if he was sure who the person was.

LCC Wins 11th Freedom Award

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge have notified Dr. Mattox, president of Lubbock Christian College, that the college was selected to receive "The Distinguished Service Award" for the 1970 college campus program.

"The Freedom Preservation Week" program held at LCC during April, 1970, and the year-round work of the Speaker's Bureau both contributed to the winning of the award. Dr. C. L. Kay, assistant president, has carried the major load of the Speaker's Bureau and has given 363 speeches and slide shows to student groups, civic clubs, teacher organizations, industrial representatives, agricultural organizations, veteran and DAR chapters across the nation.

Actual presentation of the award will be at a later date yet to be announced.

Around the hub city

Well, the snow came again. It really helped the people of the "Hub City", because the 5 inches (reported in our area) was equivalent to .80 inch of rain. You know as well as this reporter that we need as much moisture as we can get right now.

Rev. A.L. Davis, pastor of Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church, returned last week from a most interesting trip to Philadelphia, Pa. He reported talking with some black people who are working on economic development in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cannon, Jr., of 202 East 7th Street, Mount Pleasant, Texas, were in our city last Sunday to pick up the body of Mrs. Ida Stevens, which was at Jamison Funeral Home.

They are the owners of Turner Brother's Funeral Home of Mount Pleasant. Thile here on their brief visit, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Troy Nash, of 2506 Fir Avenue. Mrs. Cannon is a cousin of Sam Bett of Abernathy, Texas.

This reporter had the opportunity of talking with one of the blue chipper football players of Texas last week. The young man, Lawrence Williams, of Wichita Falls, Texas, will definitely be an asset to Texas Tech University.

"Wreath for a Dying Star" Topic for March Planetarium

A nebula is a vast cloud composed of dust and gas. A planetary nebula is a cloud of gas and dust in space with a more regular form than the ordinary gaseous nebulae.

The topic for the March programs at Moody Planetarium will cover planetary nebulae, so named by Sir William Herschel because, when seen through a telescope they show a perceptible disk, somewhat like that seen when the more distant planets are observed.

Well-known planetary nebulae are the Crab Nebula, Ring Nebula and Owl Nebula.

"Wreath for a Dying Star" will explain how a star explodes and a cloud of gasses expands into space. Old records made by Chinese astronomers show there once was a star where the Crab Nebula is today. In 1054 the star flared up, then dimmed out.

The lecture-demonstrations will be given Saturdays and Sundays at 3 p.m. at the Planetarium, located at The Museum on the campus of Texas Tech University.

Admission is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for students, and free to members of the West Texas Museum Association.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Gov. Preston Smith placed a new $470 million revenue-raising program before the Legislature, and prompt action toward consideration in the House was promised by Speaker Gus Mutscher.

Governor proposed raising the general sales and auto sales tax rates to four per cent and boosting tuitions in state supported colleges and universities.

He stuck by his original recommendation to appropriate welfare funds for only 10 months of the biennium, meanwhile trusting that the federal government will take over 100 per cent of welfare costs. Latter assumes a shift of the nearly $300 million state load to Washington.

Smith, addressing a joint session of the House and Senate, served notice he is again insisting on a biennial (two-year) budget—except for welfare—and hinted strongly he would veto a one-year appropriations bill favored by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, as he did in 1969.

Here's how Smith calculates the yield on his revenue plan which replaces the spend-now-pay-later scheme he outlined January 20:

+Boosting general sales tax rate from 3.25 per cent to four per cent, $300 million for the biennium.

+Raising auto sales tax rate from three to four per cent, for a $70 million gain.

+Hiking Texas student tuitions from $50 to $125 a semester and out-of-state-student fees in state institutions of higher education from $200 to $500 a semester, estimated to yield another $100 million.

While laymakers found the new plan more realistic than the no-new-tax message, many expressed the view it would not pass unless coupled with some form of business taxation. Some legislators labeled it insufficient to meet budget needs. Most criticism centered on "lack of balance" between consumer-business levies and the stiff tuition increase recommendation.

Emergency Bills Passed—Legislature completed action on emergency bills to avert the threatened March 1 cut in medical assistance and aid to needy families with dependent children.

Final bill cleared by the House and sent to the Governor would divert $35 million of teacher retirement fund income from April through August. An earlier bill made the appropriation to welfare purposes.

Surprisingly, a bill to create a $185 million bond fund for building new colleges and universities, which sailed through House and has backing of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, bogged down in senate committee. Measure now is in sub-committee, but Lieutenant Governor Barnes still predicts passage.

Liquor Bill Emerges—Long-awaited bill to legalize sale of liquor-by-the-drink on a local option basis was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso and in the House by Rep. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi.

Legislature was empowered to pass such an act by the constitutional amendment lifting the open saloons ban at last November's general election.

Christie said the bill is "clean, enforceable," and contains no "arbitrary, unreasonable and indefensible restrictions" such as limiting mixed drink sales to establishments selling food.

Initial permit fee would cost $5,000 and annual renewals $500. Hale will introduce later tax legislation calling for a 10 per cent gross receipts levy on sale and service of mixed beverages.

Tax bill also would increase gallonage tax on distilled spirits from $1.68 to $2.70 and up wine tax per gallon in accord with the alcoholic content of vinous liquor.

Bill will further exempt mixed beverage permit holders and private clubs from the general sales tax and repeal the private club service fee of five cents a drink. Hale and Christie estimate a biennial additional tax revenue of $28 million.

Miniature bottles, subject of contention in prior legislative clashes over mixed drinks, would be banned. Mixed drink sellers would buy their stock from Texas wholesalers.

Legislation is expected to stir one of the sessions "more spirited" debates.

Courts Speak—State Supreme Court agreed to consider a court of civil appeals decision concerning the city of San Antonio's annexation of five miles of U.S. Highway 281 right-of-way.

High Court reversed an intermediate court and withdrew an earlier opinion, concluding that a home for retired teachers in Waco must pay

The exhibition will be held April 18 through May 8 in the Art Department Teaching Gallery, a feature of the university's new $5 million architecture and art complex.

Hand delivered entries will be accepted Feb. 25, 26 and March 1 only in Room 101 of the Art Building. March 1 also is the last day for receipt of entry cards, fees, and work sent by public carrier.

Entry forms and other information may be obtained from the Department of Art, Texas Tech.

ringing the bell

with Bob Tieuel

Why study Africa? It means nothing to the blacks in other parts of the world for, as some of us ignorantly say, American Negroes retained nothing that they brought from that continent.

Others look upon Africa as the "land of darkness" and think of it only as a place where traders once hunted slaves. Those who have taught blacks in the United States have made them ashamed of their African beginnings.

Without help from others these Africans conquered nature, cultivated the soil, built kingdoms and empires from scattered tribes, organized financial systems, maintained armies of defense, and defied the Arabs and Europeans for a thousand years.

When brought away from Africa and enslaved they fought their captors in hundreds of insurrections and left their record as a tradition by which their descendants were inspired to keep up that struggle until the entire race in America became free.

European scholars concede that when the traders first became acquainted with African people in the interior about five hundred years ago, they found that Africans had invented stringed instruments, domesticated the sheep, goat and cow, discovered the use of iron, developed industrial arts and fine arts, and out of feudal monarchy had shown the beginning of representative government and trial by jury.

It is an honor to be the descendants of people who have made such a brilliant record. Taken from an editorial by the founder of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History—Carter G. Woodson, 1940.

"Telling It Like It Wuz/Is"—For the second year now in recent years, we have returned to the campus of Southwestern College in Hobbs, New Mexico, to speak to the students of history, government and the social sciences on the role of the black man in history. During the past week, we spent almost a whole day doing just that and what inspiring and challenging sessions to say the least.

Topics like crime, poverty, inter-marriage, housing, racial prejudices and hangups, miscegenation, the role of the press in today's "revolution" were explored in all of their ramifications and as they all relate to Negro History observances.

Our thanks to Prof. Carl Weichman of the faculty for the invite. We look forward with pleasure on returning again soon.

Answers in Black and White: To Mrs. V. T.: We too, regret so much the misunderstanding on the part of the management of that motel and the directors of the Black History Week observance in Odessa recently. Many, many people were disappointed in that we had to move the same to Carter Chapel Methodist Church (located across from Blackshear School) at the last minute. A full scale investigation and report will be made by authorities I assure you. Watch this column for details. In the meantime, contributions for our Black History Scholarship Fund are still being received. Send them to this column, care of your favorite newspaper.

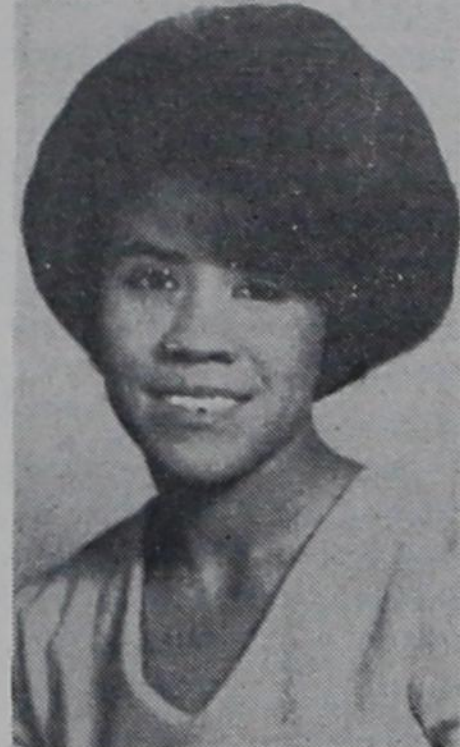

To A.T.: Glad to know that you are a bellringer. Welcome to the Club.

To N.E.T.: The West Texas Times (black-oriented newspaper) is a member of the West Texas Press Association and will be represented. (Editor's Note: Bob was mistaken, the West Texas Times belonged to the West Texas Press Association at one time, but was never billed for the next year's membership, and did not make an effort to rejoin, nor were we ever asked. We do however, and we might add, with great pride, belong to the Texas Press Association.)

Until late, Peace and keep ringing the bells of peace, joy and love.

Relatives Attend Rites for Wichita Falls Crash Victim

Lubbock citizens who are relatives of Mrs. Diana Johnson Williams, a victim in an accident last Thursday night when the sports car in which she was riding with two men was driven under a jet fuel transport truck at Sheppard Air Force Base, attended final rites for the young Wichita Falls resident Tuesday afternoon at Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church.

Young Funeral Directors of Wichita Falls, Texas, was in charge of arrangements.

Two aunts, Mrs. April Rose Anderson and Mrs. L.S. Graves, and a cousin, T.J. Patterson, attended the services.

The two men riding in the same vehicle with Mrs. Williams were Sgt. Bismarck Standard, 23, son of S/Sgt. and Mrs. Vernon D. Standard of Buckley Field, Colorado; and Airman Ralph Mackey, if this pay raise commission is created, there is absolutely nothing in its wording to prevent lobbyists from being appointed to it. "Worse yet," he said, "there is nothing to prevent those appointed to it from becoming lobbyists and, what a lucrative practice that would be! I'll guarantee that anyone who sets legislators' pay sure will have power of persuasion if he wants certain legislation passed or defeated. This is especially true since this commission also will set the pay of the Speaker and the Lieutenant Governor.

23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Mackey of Miami, Fla.

The automobile wreckage was flattened to a height of about two feet by the collision. It was driven beneath the unoccupied truck while it was parked near the flight line on the north side of the air base. Rescuers had to wait nearly six hours before removing the bodies from the wreckage because of the hazard of fire caused by fuel leaking from the tanker truck.

An Air Force spokesman said about 5,000 gallons of jet fuel were in the truck.

Improving A Tarnished Legislative Image

by Jimmy R. Allen

The tarnished image of Texas legislators has become a matter of grave concern for some thoughtful Texans. Corridor conversations at the State Capitol have started reflecting the sidewalk comments across the state about profiteering of some legislators of their public trust, a phony voting by absentee members, sex parties, and other unethical and unacceptable behavior.

While there is always exaggeration in such reports, there's enough smoke not only to cover the hard-working and honest legislator with soot but also to indicate considerable fire.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, Gus Mutscher, has responded by appointing a committee of 100 citizens chaired by Waggoner Carr, former Texas Attorney General, to draw up ethical guidelines for legislators' behavior.

It will suggest laws to eliminate conflict of interest practices in which some legislators invest in businesses subject to laws which they pass and represent clients before state agencies in which they control budgets. The committee also rejects the practice of asking a secretary or colleague to vote for one who is away on other activities.

The suggestions largely follow the pattern of a bill introduced repeatedly by Representative Jim Nugent and passed occasionally by the House only to get lost in the Senate or in other deadend streets.

There are limitations to what codes of ethics—legal or otherwise—can produce. They cannot, for instance, get into the personal immoralities, drunkenness or other misbehavior of a public official. They can deal only with the outer limits of public behavior relating to public issues.

Codes of behavior cannot produce character. Comments within the committee have highlighted the fact that the ultimate solution to such problems is for voters to elect men who are honest and responsible. Many of these men are avoiding public office because of the tarnished image. Lack of respect for public-elected service in our society is reaching an all-time high.

A basic problem is the unwillingness of tax payers to pay a living wage to lawmakers in our state. One must be rich, "on the take," or miserably pressured to serve in the Texas Legislature.

Another problem is evident in shaping legal ethical codes by legislation. The lowest common denominator must be accepted because of vested interest of powerful lawmakers and lobbyists. The teeth are quickly pulled from most such codes.

As in all of life, codes and rule books do not provide ultimate answers. However, they can furnish some guidelines for men of good intentions to apply in complex situations. They can place a spotlight on the unethical performance of those who betray public confidence. They can also communicate a genuine concern over our deteriorating moral fabric.

Shoring up sagging moral behavior by public servants is as old as society. Old Testament prophets chided kings in the name of God. New Testament Christians were exhorted to pray for those who had rule over them. Today's Christians should support honest men and reject dishonest ones. Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty.

Dr. Kearley Conducts Seminar

Dr. Furman Kearley, chairman of the Bible department at Lubbock Christian College, held a special five session seminar on "Science and Religion" at the South Main Church of Christ in Roswell, New Mexico, February 13th and 14th, 1971.

The program was requested by the teenage classes and their teachers. Dr. Kearley designed the talks for high school and college age students to assist them in meeting problems posed by the theory of evolution and the supposed conflicts between science and the Bible.

Attendance ranged from 200 to 500 and a number of students indicated that the seminar had helped to clear up many of their questions.

The Bible department at LCC is implementing a policy of assistance through qualified speakers to congregations requesting lessons on evolution, current problems of liberalism, the Holy Spirit, or other vital topics related to the christian life and faith in the Bible.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (SJR 15) Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III, Section 24, of the Texas Constitution, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 24. (1) The State Ethics Commission is created as an agency of the State. The commission consists of nine members. Three members shall be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas with the advice and consent of the Associate Justices serving on the Court, three members shall be appointed by the Presiding Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas with the advice and consent of the other Judges serving on the Court, and three members shall be appointed by the Chairman of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission with the advice and consent of the other members of the commission, of each group of three appointees no more than two shall be attorneys engaged in the active practice of law. In addition thereto there shall be two ex officio members, one from the House of Representatives and one from the Senate to be elected on the first day of each Regular Session of the Legislature by a majority of the membership of each House for a term ending on the first day of the next Regular Session.

"(2) With the exception of the initial appointees, each member shall hold office for a term of six (6) years and until his successor is appointed and has qualified. In making the initial appointments, each appointing officer shall designate one (1) appointee to serve a term of two (2) years, one (1) appointee to serve a term of four (4) years, and one (1) appointee to serve a term of six (6) years. Interim vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as vacancies due to expiration of a full term, but only for the unexpired portion of the term in question. The membership shall designate one of its members to serve as chairman for a period of two (2) years.

"(3) The members of the commission shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

"(4) The commission shall recommend the compensation, per diem, and mileage allowance of members of the Legislature, and may recommend the salary of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Lieutenant Governor at an amount higher than that of other members notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary of Article IV, Section 17, of the Texas Constitution.

"(5) The commission shall promulgate rules of ethics to govern the conduct of all legislators, legislative officers and all officeholders, appointive or elective, of any office, department, district agency, commission, board or any governmental unit or branch established by or under the authority of the constitution and laws of the State of Texas and all persons who shall use any privilege of the floor in either House of the Legislature. The Texas State Ethics Commission shall further promulgate rules providing that each member of the Legislature and each of the hereinabove named officeholders upon election and any appointee to any of these offices shall file with the State Ethics Commission a statement under oath setting out a complete financial statement in detail within 10 days after being elected or receiving an appointment. This information shall be privileged information to the State Ethics Commission to be used only by them to determine if there exists a conflict of interests or if there is or has been a violation of any of the rules of ethics promulgated by the Texas State Ethics Commission or any laws of the State of Texas. The Legislature shall enact statutes dealing with unauthorized disclosure or misuse of said privileged information.

"(6) The commission may hold its meetings, hearings and other proceedings at such times and places as it shall determine but shall meet in Austin at least once each year to review existing rules of ethics, legislative compensation rates, mileage allowances and per diem rates, and to make any changes deemed necessary.

"(7) All rules of ethics, compensation rates, mileage allowances or per diem rates currently in force, as well as all changes and recommendations by the State Ethics Commission shall be promulgated before the convening of any session of the Legislature by filing a certified copy of the proclamation with the Secretary of State.

(a) Each rule of ethics or change thereof made by the commission shall take effect on the 15th day of the legislative session following the proclamation unless disapproved before that day by resolution of either House of the Legislature.

(b) All rates of compensation, mileage allowances or per diem rates and all changes and recommendations made by the commission thereof shall not take effect until approved section by section by resolution of both Houses of the Legislature.

"All votes on these resolutions or parts thereof shall show the individual votes in the respective journals of both Houses.

"(8) The commission shall investigate any alleged violation of any rule of ethics promulgated by it and report its findings to the appropriate State agency, official, legislative body, grand jury or district attorney.

"(9) Until otherwise provided by the commission, each member of the Legislature shall receive from the public treasury an annual salary of Four Thousand, Eight Hundred Dollars ($4,800) per year and per diem not exceeding Twelve Dollars ($12) per day for the first 120 days only of each Regular Session and for 30 days of each Special Session of the Legislature. No Regular Session shall be of longer duration than 140 days. In addition to the per diem, the members of each House shall be entitled to mileage in going to and returning from the seat of government, which mileage shall not exceed Two Dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) for every twenty-five (25) miles, the distance to be computed by the nearest and most direct route of travel, from a table of distances prepared by the Comptroller to each county seat now or hereafter established; no member to be entitled to mileage for any extra session that may be called within one day after adjournment of the Regular or Called session.

"(10) The commission is further authorized to recommend to each Legislature changes which will update, improve, and effect economy in the legislative process."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the 18th day of May, 1971, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to create a State Ethics Commission empowered to set rules of ethics for members of the Legislature, State officers and legislative officers, to investigate violations thereof, and to recommend compensation for members of the Legislature and the Lieutenant Governor and recommend improvements and economy in the legislative process."
