A & M, Texas Universities Dedicate Thanksgiving Game to Prisoners of War

HQ ATC, Randolph AFB, Tex. —Two arch football rivals, the University of Texas and Texas A&M University, have united in dedicating their traditional Thanksgiving Day gridiron clash in Austin Thursday to Americans who are prisoners of war or missing in action in Southeast Asia.

At least 25 graduates and former students of the two universities are among the 1,500-plus American servicemen who are missing in action. Some 430 of the 1,500 are known to be prisoners.

A dedication statement prior to the game will call the crowd's attention to the fact that some of the men have been in prison longer than six years, and that North Vietnam is ignoring her Geneva Convention agreements regarding humane treatment of war prisoners.

The Memorial Stadium ceremony will include a "Missing Man" flyover by four Air Force RF-4 Phantom jets from Bergstrom AFB, Texas. One aircraft will peel away from the formation in honor of Americans from all the armed services who are missing or imprisoned.

Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets from the University of Texas will be at the gates after the game collecting spectator's signatures on petitions to North Vietnam requesting humane treatment for the prisoners.

Specifically, North Vietnam has never disclosed a full list of the prisoners; has not released the seriously ill and wounded, has not allowed impartial inspection of her

New Vocational Nursing Classes to Be Opened Here in February, 1971

A Vocational Nurse is a person trained to care for acute, subacute, convalescent, and chronic patients requiring nursing services. She also is one who works under the direction of a licensed physician or a registered nurse. A Vocational Nurse may be employed by physicians, hospitals, public health agencies, industries and nursing homes.

This is what young ladies of our community will have an opportunity of training for, beginning February 1, 1971, if they happen to be interested in this type of work. Deadline for applications for this particular course will end prisons, and has not allowed a free exchange of mail between the prisoners and their families.

January 6th, 1971.

This special effort is sponsored by the Lubbock Public Schools, Department of Vocational Nursing. The office is located at 610 Avenue Q.

There is a great need for qualified vocational nurses. One of the greatest health and civic problems facing the United States today is the lack of personnel who are adequately trained to care for the sick. Throughout Texas a severe shortage of nurses has been of great concern to the nursing profession. Due to this problem, the Lubbock Public Schools, local hospitals and the Texas Education Agency has worked out a cooperative program to educate vocational nurses.

If you are concerned about this type of training, why not contact the Department of Vocational Nursing at 763-4466.

Grand Jury to Probe Jackson State Shooting December 7th

It has been confirmed that a federal grand jury will reconvene December 7th to investigate the fatal shooting by police of two young blacks at Jackson State University, in Mississippi, last May.

The Hinds County grand jury indicted a 20-year-old black last July 29 on arson and riot charges, but concluded police were justified in opening fire.

However, the President's Commission on Campus Unrest concluded October 1st the police gunfire was unjustified. The commission was unable to substantiate a police contention that sniper fire preceded the police volley.

John W. Hushen, public information director for the Justice Department, said last week a federal grand jury met for four days at Jackson, Mississippi, but adjourned July 2nd while the county grand jury studied the matter. At the time, Attorney General John N. Mitchell promised a "complete investigation."

Attends Funeral Rites At Fort Worth

Mr. Leo Sedberry and Mrs. Maude Hamilton attended funeral services at Fort Worth, Texas, last Saturday for a relative, Mrs. Helen Sedberry Dancy.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. at Pleasant Mount Gilead Baptist Church, 5312 Houghton Street, with Reverend L.J. Jenkins officiating. Reverend R.L. Sanders is pastor of Pleasant Mount.

Other survivors include a sister, Mrs. Lorene Johnson of Waco, three brothers, Sam Calvin and Carl Sedberry of Graham, Texas and Jewel Sedberry of Clifton, Texas, along with neices, nephews and other relatives and friends.

Burial was held in Cedar Hill Memorial Park suburb of Fort Worth, with Baker Funeral Home in charge.

The Estacado Matadors, for the third year in a row, will be in a playoff contest with Brownwood for the bi-district title. Both teams stand 1-1 in bi-district clashes over the past two years, but the Lions of Brownwood won the toss of the coin Saturday and will host this year's playoff at Brownwood tomorrow evening, Friday, at 7:30 p.m.

Estacado has played the Lions in previous years at a neutral site; Abilene in 1968, with the Matadors winning 49-8 in their bid for the championship and the Lions coming back last year to win 28-13.

Estacado put everything into the game last Friday night here against Sweetwater at Lowery Field as they won 43-0.

Tickets for the Friday game went on sale here Tuesday but the Lubbock Public School athletic ticket office will be closed Thursday and Friday. Ducats will be $2.50 for adults and 50 cents for students if purchased at school or $1.00 if purchased at the gate.

Tickets are also on sale at the Dunlap's stores through tomorrow.

Estacado will bring a record of 7-2-1 into this year's contest and the Lions sport a 9-1 record. They won nine straight after dropping their season opener to Abilene Cooper, 32-6.

Estacado clinched their crown with a 6-0-1 reading and Sweetwater claimed second place with a 5-2 mark. This is the third straight year the Matadors have gone through their league schedule without a loss.

City Flag Contest Opened Here

Entries are now being accepted at the Chamber of Commerce in the city-wide city flag contest.

The contest is being held to select an official city flag to represent Lubbock and will be used by the city council as its official banner. The flag will also be made available for individual purchase and will be used on car bumper stickers to be produced and distributed by the Chamber of Commerce.

The contest is open to all residents of the city of Lubbock and the winner will receive a color television set. The two runner-ups will win black and white portable televisions.

A panel of five judges, made up of members of the Women's Division, will select the top three entries.

Honored With Surprise Birthday Party

Mrs. Bernice Kelly was the recipient of a surprise birthday party last Monday evening which was arranged at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bull Davis, 2107 Ash Avenue by her husband, Ulysses Kelly and friends.

Sharing the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Hemanes, Mrs. Robert Cork, Mrs. Pearl B. Mitchell, Mrs. Mattie Beaty, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dial, Nathan Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Bull Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Kinner and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Strong.

Lubbock Man Building Bridges in Communications Gap at Tech

Among the more than 20,000 students at Texas Tech University, many may feel lost in the crowd, unable to find someone to talk to.

T. J. Patterson, assistant to the Dean of Business Administration, is trying to bridge a part of the communications gap by counseling with freshman business students.

He and Dr. Jack D. Steele, dean of the College of Business Administration, teach two sessions of a type of orientation course which shows the student what he can find in the various fields of business opportunity.

"We also bring in discussion of social problems such as pollution, because no matter what field a person goes into he will be involved with these types of problems," said Patterson.

Patterson spends approximately two hours each day talking and counseling with students. Beside giving individual counseling to students, he also has been holding rap sessions on Saturday mornings. Twenty-five business administration students selected at random are invited to "come and talk things over."

"We talk about anything that is on the student's mind," he said.

Patterson tells the people that come to him, "If you have a problem, bring it out in the open. Looking at the problem and defining it is half of the solution. After we can look objectively at it, we will work together to find the solution."

"My function here is somewhat like that of a catalyst," he said. "I try to stir the students toward a constructive action. I believe that part of the problem is that sometimes the students don't know who they really are—they don't have confidence in themselves. I try to show the students that they are somebody—somebody very important."

Patterson says there is somewhat of a reluctance on the part of the students to come to his sessions.

"They seem to feel we are taking the 'parental approach'—checking up on them," he said. "We need to come up with ways to show them that we are not watching over them, but that we are here to help them to find themselves."

TALKING IT OVER—Saturday morning rap sessions are giving freshman business administration students at Texas Tech University a chance to talk about their personal and academic problems. Working on the plans for the next session are T. J. Patterson, assistant to the Dean of Business Administration, and Barbara Johnson, a freshman business administration major from Houston. (Tech Photo)

Patterson works on the theory of participation. Each person who participates in an action contributes to it.

"Each person adds something to the rippling effect of our counseling service, helping it to spread."

A native Texan, Patterson was born in Waxahachie. He received his degree from Bishop College in Dallas. He taught for seven years in the Lubbock schools along with serving as editor of the West Texas Times for the past 6 years, and is a veteran of Vietnam.

Patterson came to Tech Sept. 1, after serving for 2 years as director of the poverty program in Lubbock.

"I left the program because I found that I spent too much time fighting symptoms, not causes. I believe part of the answer in the fight against poverty is education. Fighting hunger with a bread line is good for today, but what about tomorrow? We have to find the causes behind the poverty."

The key to Patterson's work is involvement.

"Now in 1970, I want to help begin solving the problems of the future. We are working for everybody, we are not just doing it for us. We welcome contributions in the way of participation from anyone."

"I expect that after the mid-semester reports come out we will have more people coming to us for help. Sometimes it takes a shock to start students looking for solutions."

The main problem that freshmen usually have, he said, is not knowing how to budget their time.

"I am also for the coordination of our work with other branches of the campus, especially with the University Counseling Center," he said.

City Wide Mission Holds Pre-Thanksgiving Program

The members of the City Wide Mission presented a Pre-Thanksgiving program and dinner last week. The theme for the program was, "Giving Thanks to the Lord While We Have Time." The program was enjoyed by all.

Sister Lillie Parks brought the Thanksgiving message. Sister D.C. Fair gave the welcome to the guests present. Sister Pearl Baker read the scripture, Psalms 37:1-11, and Sister Washington gave the prayer. Sister Mary Sterling was the emcee of the program and sung the following solos: "Lord, I Thank You," "Amazing Grace," "Precious Lord," and "If You Hear of My Home Going, Don't Worry About Me."

After the program, a state menu was served. Mrs. G. H. Davis was responsible for baking all the goodies which included baked turkey and dressing. Mrs. Fair was responsible for the delicious baked ham.

The program was held at the residence of Mrs. John Fair. Those guests present were Sister Washington, Sister Howard and Sister Coleman—mother of the late Wash Coleman. Mr. Rector Parks was a guest also and named by members as "Mission Sweetheart."

The next meeting will be held in the home of Sister Pearl Baker.

Around the hub city

Miss Ann Clark of 2726 East 9th Street, recently returned from a trip to the West Coast via Greyhound bus. She spent her vacation seeing other parts of these United States.

She admits that the entire trip was "wonderful."

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Castilow received message from Panama that they have another granddaughter, born to S/Sgt. and Mrs. Roosevelt Thomas. Born November 11 at the base hospital, Nicole Lyvette weighed 5 lbs., 15 ozs. Mrs. Thomas, nee Betty Doris, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Castilow, and is a graduate of Dunbar High School, The Thomases, who have been in Panama since February of this year, have two other daughters, Lisa Lynette, 3, and Marlyn, 22 months.

Mrs. Eula Joiner has returned from Dallas where she has been at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Austin, who is gravely ill.

Mr. Alphonso Perkins has returned to his home in California, after attending funeral services for his father, Eddie Perkins, at Vernon, Texas. Mrs. Paralee Bell accompanied her son to Vernon, along with other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Willie Collins has returned to her home in Denver, Colorado, after attending the funeral services of her sister, Mrs. Amada Young, at Waco, Texas, last week. She visited in Lubbock going and coming. She is the sister of Mrs. Rosa Henry.

Little Darrell E. Berry has been relieved of the cast he has worn since October 23rd. He is doing nicely and is in the process of learning to walk again. He is making rapid progress, much to the delight of his family, friends and doctor.

The Rising Star Baptist Church was host to the Federation of Choirs last Sunday afternoon. Most of the choirs were present and the singing was very good. In the absence of the president, A. L. Smith, Brother William Baldwin presided. Brother Willie Turner was able to be present after spending several weeks in the hospital. The third Sunday in December, the Greater St. Luke Baptist Church will be host for the Federation.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Carr recently announced the engagement and pending marriage of their daughter, Shirley, to Joe Terry Nelms. The wedding is scheduled for December 12th.

Shirley is a former student at West Texas State University at Canyon, Texas. Joe is a graduate of Elcentro Junior College and is currently employed at Texas Tech.

Mrs. Mary Sterling will be accompanying Sister L. E. Moore, an evangelist of Dallas, Texas, in services at Midland, Texas, beginning December 8th through 15th. It certainly will be worthwhile to hear both of these Christian workers together.

Afro-American History Notes: In science and to a lesser degree, in industrial invention, black men have distinguished themselves. In 1770, the remarkable Benjamin Banneker of Maryland made the first American clock which struck off the hours. Henry T. Blari, also of Maryland, became the first Negro to receive a patent when his corn harvester was registered in 1835.

Norbert Rillieux's work on evaporation and the liquid reduction process, in the opinion of some, has been "the greatest in the history of American chemical engineering."

As early as 1667 one Lucas Santomee of New York was trained in medicine in Holland and practiced under the Dutch and the British. A slave by the name of Oneissimus provided Americans with an effective antidote for smallpox in 1721. In this same era, another slave, James Derham of Philadelphia, became the first American Negro medical doctor. As a freedman, he built up a large interracial clientele in New Orleans during the 1780's. James McCune Smith received a medical degree from Scotland's Glasgow University in 1837. David J. Peck has the distinction of being the first black to graduate from an American medical school when Rush Medical College of Chicago awarded the M.D. Degree in 1847.

Here on the sixth floor of the Pioneer Hotel, we view some fifty yards away, the remains of a great man made structure that faced the never to be forgotten May 11 tornado, just six months ago. It is the Great Plains Life Building. Apparently this hotel suffered no damage and we slept well in spite of any thoughts we might have had in the garden of memory. Some 541 displaced families are still being housed temporarily in government-owned homes and nearly 15 million dollars worth of rebuilding has been done with millions more on the drawing board. 420 motel rooms, (including the one I usually stopped in on visits to Lubbock) were destroyed. But Lubbock, like the regular stop, Roy Cooper Motel, is bouncing back with much rebuilding—along with a lot of storm cellars, too.

During the riots in Washington, D.C. that followed the assassination of Martin Luther King, authorities looked around for a Negro figure that the majority of rioters—the street men—would listen to. The man they came to choose was not a political leader, nor the head of a civil rights organization, but a singer and one who is quite popular in West Texas today. He has made several visits to the Permian Basin in recent years. James Brown is his name and he is known as Soul Brother No. 1.

Brown's plea to the rioters was characteristically black, in rhyme, witty, pointed, aggressive: "Don't terrorize—organize! Don't burn—Give the kids a chance to learn. Go home—listen to the radio. Listen to some James Brown records. I used to shine shoes in front of a radio station in Augusta, Georgia. Today I own that station. . . That's black power—own something, be somebody." End of quote.

Rep. Curtis Graves, one of several Negro members of the Texas legislature recently told this column that the best text books now in use in Texas schools are inadequate on the subject of the Negro's role in American history. "None of the heroes of the slave area are mentioned—Harriet Tubman, Frederick Douglass or Crispus Attucks. What they say about the black man's contribution is so diluted it would lead any child to believe the Negro had no role," he concluded.

None-the-less major school systems, colleges and universities—many of them in the South—are changing texts and curricula to adopt more Negro history and to

P. T. Baker, administrative director of instruction for schools in Austin, Texas, acknowledges that a shortage of qualified teachers is a major problem in trying to step up instruction in this area. To help meet the problem, Austin has instituted a series of training lectures for social studies teachers.

Final Rites Held for Lubbock Woman

Services for Mrs. Alice Hasting Dial, 22, of 1619 Avenue D, Apt. 3, were held last Friday afternoon in Sedberry Funeral Chapel with the Rev. S. S. Scott officiating. Burial was held in City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of Sedberry Funeral Home.

Mrs. Dial was found dead early Monday morning, November 9th, in a bedroom of her residence by her mother, Mrs. Sarah Hasting, of the same address.

Survivors include her husband, Arthur of Fort Worth; a son, Eddie Carl Hastings of the home; two daughters, Jacquelyn and Marie of the home; her mother, Mrs. Sarah Hasting; her father, E. D. Johnson of Madisonville; two brothers Robbie M. and Robert, both of Lubbock; a sister, Donna McCullough of Lubbock and a half-brother, Hester D. Jenkins of Lubbock.
