Show Your Colors Campaign Underway Here

Lubbock citizens are being urged by Harry Bunton, Commander of American Legion Post # 808 to wear the lapel U.S. Flags being passed out this week. The local post is working closely with National Commander L. Eldon James' Program Operation Show Your Color.

The American Legion's answer to anti-Viet Nam, anti-draft demonstrations being perpetrated by a minority of college students and others, has received an initial response exceeding expectations.

The first pin was placed on the lapel of Legionnaire Governor John Connally as the Texas Department kicked off the program. When pinned, Governor Connally gave his wholehearted support of the aims and purposes of "Operation Show Your Colors".

The concluding services were held in the City of Lubbock Cemetery with Sedberry Funeral Home in charge.

He emphasized this is not just for Legion members only, but for all loyal Americans as a symbol of American unity.

"Any business or other civic organization interesting in obtaining a supply of the pins for distribution to its employees or members, may do so without charge by contacting The American Legion Department Headquarters, Drawer L, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. The world's largest Negro organization last voiced strong support for American intervention in South Viet Nam and said draft card burners "stab in the back every American now serving on the battle front." Delegates to the National Baptist Convention representing 5.5 million Negro church members also said that citizens who protest American policy in Viet Nam encourage the enemy.

LUBBOCK'S INDIFFERENCE

In every man's life there comes a time when he has to stand up for convictions that will not gain the favor of his peers or superiors. Undoubtedly some of the world's greatest men stood alone because their thinking was not conventional. Ralph Waldon Emerson, an American essayist, poet, thinker, transcendentalist, was not accepted by his contemporaries on his philosophical ideas based on a search for reality through spiritual intuition.

Many other cases have shown that individualism has brought about the well-being of the world through past and present livelihood. With all of the examples of what the unconventional can challenge and bring about, there should be an accelerated expression of grievances by the citizens of our city. Many of us are merely behaving in the tradition in which they were brought up. Do not think that this is any reflection on your ability to express yourself; it is only a plea to make you aware of the West Texas Times' purpose. I know that your desire and ideas have been suppressed in the past, but there are no excuses for not speaking out today.

Many of you seem to forget that there is such a thing as "freedom of the press", and this is the only medium by which you can let the concerned of our City know if you are or not satisfied with the way certain trends are being run in your city. Some of you complained that the West Texas Times is not worth reading because its news does not interest you. Nevertheless, you never bring any of this to the forefront of attention. Surely you discuss it with your neighbor, but what good will this do if you are just as apathetic as you are about problems existing in our CITY....your objective is to relate those things which grieve you most, to the West Texas Times....after all, this is its purpose just as long as you simply sign your name to what you have written. If you are too cowardly to support your convictions of your city....then sign it anonymously. Before you engage in your venture to dissent, you must be objective in your criticism.

Criticism can only help to challenge the city; it will not hurt the city in the long run. Honestly, I hope these words will not fall on deaf ears, for preparations should be made today to ensure a better future. Changes cannot be made in any city, if there is no knowledge of problems burdening YOU.....

the NBC Television Network Wednesdays. Acting bugged Cosby until he remembered something from his sandlot days.

Sandlot Lesson Helps High-Priced Comedian

Negro comedian Bill Cosby has made the risky leap from nightclub headliner to TV star partly because of a boyhood lesson he learned on city sandlots. Strictly speaking, Cosby has made the leap not to TV star, but co-star.

He shares top billing with Robert Culp in the new global adventure series, "I Spy," on the NBC Television Network in color Wednesdays (10 - 11 p.m. PT; 9-10 p.m. CT). Cosby and Culp portray a pair of international "tennis bums" who actually are undercover agents.

What made the career venture a little risky, Cosby now readily admits, was the fact that he never had acted before. "People told me I had nothing to worry about, though, because I have all this experience as a comedian." And he has. In three fast years, he's risen from witty waiter to high-priced favorite in the late shows on TV sets and nightclub floors from coast to coast.

"But success in comedy has nothing to do with success in acting," says Cosby. "As a comedian, I'm up there by myself. I can blow a line and nobody knows it but me. I don't get a laugh, so what? At least I don't wreck a scene or throw another actor."

"I can go before a million people and do my little routines and not be nervous. But put me in front of a camera in a dramatic scene with nobody there but the director and the technicians and I would tighten up."

This was the Cosby predicament right through camera rehearsal preceding filming of the series' first episode. Steps promptly were taken to remedy the situation. Culp went to work with Cosby between scenes, evenings, weekends. Also a dialogue coach was hired to help Cosby. Then Cosby found he could help Cosby. He suddenly remembered being in a similar fix in his boyhood days as a pitcher on the sandlots of Philadelphia.

"I guess you could call it a suicidal tendency," he said. "I'd be pitching this game, going along good, when out of the blue I'd tell myself 'It's going to come any minute, I'm going to walk a guy,' and sure enough I would. Same thing on the bowling alley when I had spares to hit, I'd talk myself right out of hitting 'em."

Once he realized his present problem, said Cosby, it was not hard to find the solution -- just stop talking to himself. In a sense, says Bill, he's given up talking for listening -- listening to what the other actors in a scene have to say, then reaching to it.

"It's turned the trick," says Cosby. Agreeing with the co-star, Culp says, "Cos never acted before, but the fellow is fast, one of the fastest guys I ever saw. I've never seen anyone become a good actor so quickly."

Nursing VS Bottle: Debate Rages

By Louise Chase
Women's Medical News Science

New York, N. Y. (WMNS) - Whether a woman decides to nurse her newborn baby or to bottle-feed it depends, in part, on how much education she has had and what socio-economic group she's a member of. A three-man team of Duke University researchers found that women who've had at least a high school education and who are married to men holding professional, managerial, or clerical positions are more likely to breast-feed their babies than are women who've had less education and are married to working class men doing skilled, semi-skilled or unskilled work.

The middle-class mothers, observe the researchers, are likely to be "avid consumers of literature by infant care experts." They accept the widely-held belief of such experts that breast feeding is better both "medically and psychologically for the baby, provides greater intimacy and personal satisfaction for the mother, is natural and more convenient."

The bottle feeders, on the other out philosophy. As many as a third of these mothers bottle-feed because they plan to return to work. The rest want the husband to share in the job of infant feeding, believe the method to be less trouble, want to avoid jealousy on the part of other children in the family, are concerned about modesty.

The researchers note that the working-class mothers "have made a complete shift in one generation. All but one of our bottlefeeders were breastfed by their own mothers (in the early 1930s)." But the present generation of mothers, they note, grew up and came to maturity during the immediately after World War II, years which brought "more independence in dating, marriage, divorce work." Along with this, they note, was the development of excellent materials for formula feeding.

The number of women nursing their babies has declined dramatically since World War II. Between 1946 and 1956, the proportion of bottlefed infants discharged from hospitals increased from 35% to 63%, and almost half of the remaining 37% on the breast were already being supplemented from the bottle.

Despite these statistics, many experts continue to stress the superiority of nursing. They point out that mother's milk contains immunizing agents which may help protect infants from allergies, colds, gastro-intestinal disorders and colic. They also believe that breast-feeding contributes to emotional stability. As for the psychological advantages, the view of H. F. Meyer, M. D., pediatrics professor affiliated with Northwestern University's School of Medicine, sums up a widely-held conviction: "Nursing promotes a feeling of security to both mother and baby. It brings to full fruition the mother's attitude motherhood."

Although there is general agreement that mother's milk is splendid nourishment for most babies, the experts disagree about much else.

The Duke University researchers contend, "Our earlier belief that breast feeding is medically and psychologically better for the child has not been sustained by accumulated evidence. Therefore, the only justification is in terms of the personal needs of the mother."

How To Kill Your Critter DEAD

When Sam'l was a youngish man
In the hills of Arkansaw,
He'd shoot grub for the frying pan
And bring it to his Maw.

His game was always cleanly shot,
Plugged squarely through the eye,
And folks who had an empty pot
Would often ask Sam why.

How come you never miss — or drill
your critter in the tail?
How come you always make a kill
Where other hunters fail?

I'm short on powder, Sam'l said,
Can spare one load each day,
I GOT to shoot my critter dead —
Or I'd be eating hay.

Advertising dollars are a form of ammunition. Sometimes you haven't got too many and you have to make every shot count. At such times, like Sam'l, you MUST get results; you just can't afford to fool around with "maybe media."

That's when it's reassuring to know you have a sure-shot winner in the "Times". For the "Times" is no scatter-shot blunderbuss. It's a high power rifle that bullets your message straight and fast to the folks who have money to spend on the things you have to sell.

So... next time YOU want to get more sales at lowest cost... aim for the bull's eye marked "Advertising Results." Pull the trigger to bigger sales by running your ad in the MANHATTAN HEIGHTS and WEST TEXAS TIMES.

THEFT

Sammie Grant, 2804 Juniper, told police that her and a friend left the house at approximately nine O'clock, Friday evening, and returned about eleven-thirty the same evening and discovered that someone had taken from her purse thirty dollars ($30.00) in cash, one $20 bill and one $10.00 bill.

The screen to her house was off the window, but there were no pry marks on the window. She told authorities that she did not know who would take money out of her purse.

MORAL OF STORY:

"It never pays to leave large sums of money at home under any conditions, Sammie, you are only making Christmas happier for an unknown friend."

HOUSE BURGLARY

James Jackson, 2801 Juniper, another victim of burglary in the same section of town, reported that he came home approximately 12:45, lunch time, last Saturday, and noticed that his front door was open. Upon checking his house he found that assorted can goods, stew meat, lunch meat, and other assorted meats had been taken from his house.

He went on to add that he saw a woman in front of his house that he personally knew and believed that she had taken his food, but after investigating the lady it was learned that she didn't take the meat. The value of the meat was about $15.00.

MORAL OF STORY:
"One should be careful about exaggeration".

CAR BURGLARY

Mary Simmons, 2403 Cedar, told police that she stopped at Gambell's Bar-B-Q for a few minutes, and when she returned to her car, her purse was gone. The purse was a large black patent leather purse with a white wallet, papers and cash inside.

MORAL OF STORY:
"No matter how hungry one gets, we should be concerned about leaving our properties in safe security."

JUVENILES FIGHTING

At 802 Avenue C, police found out that two teenagers (sisters) had been fighting.

After talking to the pair it was learned that one of them had a knife hidden down in her bra which she tried to throw on the bed, at which time one of the girls tried to take the knife from the other and was cut on the hand, arm, and chest.

ASSUALT
Judy Washington, 710 Avenue C, told police she was walking down Avenue C enroute to the store when another female started calling her all sorts of names. Judy said she ignored the young lady, but at that time the lady ran out of the house with a butcher knife and stabbed her, Judy, in the head several times and once in her left side.

Leopards Win District, Nip Amarillo 14-7

The mighty Leopards struggled out of a difficult situation last Saturday to win the District 1-AAA championship.

Early in the first quarter, fans sat speechless, quietness fell over Coyote Stadium when the scoreboard flashed 7-0.

The Leopards played hard, but just couldn't get started. Just when everybody thought the mighty Leopards were falling, they picked up with the usual teamwork and steamed with a touchdown.... Norris started the ball flying when he caught the ball -----passed it off to fullback Nelson, back to Norris, down to Manning, over to Harris for a tremendous TD.

The Leopards scored the second touchdown in the fourth quarter by Reginald Robinson.

The Leopards will play Marlin for Bi-District on Saturday afternoon at Coyote Stadium.

Marlin hasn't lost a game since the Leopards punished them in October.

A PRAYER FOR THE BATTLEFIELD

Dear Father in heaven today, we long for peace, and it is hard for us to face the prospect of continual warfare. Give us strength to answer the heroic summons of Christ to contend earnestly for the faith. Help us to remember that our Saviour came to bring peace to those who will accept God's terms of unconditional surrender to him. May we constantly revoice in this message of eternal peace and blessedness.

But may we not forget that Christ came to bring a sword--that this sword of the Spirit is in our hands to wield against sin and to rescue the perishing who are enslaved by the devil. When the way seems hard and the burdens seem heavy, teach us to go to Calvary for our season of prayer. Help

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS ABOUT THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

By Thomas James Patterson

Here are but a few facts revealed in a book, "The Unanswered Questions About President Kennedy's Assassination." This book is written by Pulitzer Prize-Winning author, Sylvan Fox, city editor of the New York World-Telegram, a Scripps-Howard newspaper.

In revealing some facts about the late president there is an episode which seems to be bizarre. Oswald went to his rooming house, got a gun, put on a jacket and left, according to the Commission's reconstruction of his movements. But before his departure, a curious incident occurred.

This story is told by a housekeeper at Oswald's boarding house, 1026 North Beckley. She said that at about 1:00 p.m., while Oswald was still in his room, where he remained a total of only three or four minutes before leaving, a Dallas police car drove up to the rooming house.

She went on to add, "Right direct in front of that door, there was a police car stopped and honked." "I had worked for some policemen and sometimes they come by and tell me something their wives would want me to know, and I thought it was them, and I just glanced out and saw the number and I said, 'Oh, that's not their car' for I knew their car."

Joseph A. Ball, the Commission Assistant Counsel questioning Mrs. Roberts, asked her: "Where was it parked?" "It was parked in front of the house," she answered.

She went on to add, "And then they just eased on, the way it is, it was the third house off Zangs and they just went on around the corner that way."

"DID THIS police car stop directly in front of your house?" Ball persisted.

"Yes," Mrs. Roberts replied, "It stopped directly in front of my house and it just 'tip-tip' and that's the way Officer Alexander and Charles Brunley would do when they stopped, and I went to the door and looked and saw it wasn't their number."

"Where was Oswald when this happened?" Ball asked. "In his room," Mrs. Roberts said.

A moment later, Ball took the testimony one step farther. "Were there two uniformed policemen in the car?" he asked. Continued on Page Six

LUBBOCK'S INDIFFERENCE

In every man's life there comes a time when he has to stand up for convictions that will not gain the favor of his peers or superiors. Undoubtedly some of the world's greatest men stood alone because their thinking was not conventional. Ralph Waldon Emerson, an American essayist, poet, thinker, transcendentalist, was not accepted by his contemporaries on his philosophical ideas based on a search for reality through spiritual intuition.

Many other cases have shown that individualism has brought about the well-being of the world through past and present livelihood. With all of the examples of what the unconventional can challenge and bring about, there should be an accelerated expression of grievances by the citizens of our city. Many of us are merely behaving in the tradition in which they were brought up. Do not think that this is any reflection on your ability to express yourself; it is only a plea to make you aware of the West Texas Times' purpose. I know that your desire and ideas have been suppressed in the past, but there are no excuses for not speaking out today.

Many of you seem to forget that there is such a thing as "freedom of the press", and this is the only medium by which you can let the concerned of our City know if you are or not satisfied with the way certain trends are being run in your city. Some of you complained that the West Texas Times is not worth reading because its news does not interest you. Nevertheless, you never bring any of this to the forefront of attention. Surely you discuss it with your neighbor, but what good will this do if you are just as apathetic as you are about problems existing in our CITY... your objective is to relate those things which grieve you most, to the West Texas Times... after all, this is its purpose just as long as you simply sign your name to what you have written. If you are too cowardly to support your convictions of your city,.... then sign it anonymously. Before you engage in your venture to dissent, you must be objective in your criticism.

Criticism can only help to challenge the city; it will not hurt the city in the long run. Honestly, I hope these words will not fall on deaf ears, for preparations should be made today to ensure a better future. Changes cannot be made in any city, if there is no knowledge of problems burdening YOU.....

Sandlot Lesson Helps High-Priced Comedian

Negro comedian Bill Cosby has made the risky leap from nightclub headliner to TV star partly because of a boyhood lesson he learned on city sandlots. Strictly speaking, Cosby has made the leap not to TV star, but co-star. He shares top billing with Robert Culp in the new global adventure series, "I Spy," on the NBC Television Network in color Wednesdays (10 - 11 p.m. PT; 9-10 p.m. CT). Cosby and Culp portray a pair of international "tennis bums" who actually are undercover agents.

What made the star venture a little risky, Cosby readily admits, was the fact that he never had acted before. "People told me I had nothing to worry about, though, because I have all this experience as a comedian." And he has. In three fast years, he's risen from witty waiter to high-priced favorite in the late shows on TV sets and nightclub floors from coast to coast.

"But success in comedy has nothing to do with success in acting," says Cosby. "As a comedian, I'm up there by myself. I can blow a line and nobody knows it but me. I don't get a laugh, so what? At least I don't wreck a scene or throw another actor."

"I can go before a million people and do my little routines and not be nervous. But put me in front of a camera in a dramatic scene with nobody there but the director and the technicians and I would tighten up."

This was the Cosby predicament right through camera rehearsal preceding filming of the series' first episode. Steps promptly were taken to remedy the situation. Culp went to work with Cosby between scenes, evenings, weekends. Also a dialogue coach was hired to help Cosby. Then Cosby found he could help Cosby. He suddenly remembered being in a similar fix in his boyhood days as a pitcher on the sandlots of Philadelphia.

"I guess you could call it a suicidal tendency," he said. "I'd be pitching this game, going along good, when out of the blue I'd tell myself 'It's going to come any minute. I'm going to walk a guy,' and sure enough I would. Same thing on the bowling alley when I had spares to hit. I'd talk myself right out of hitting 'em."

Once he realized his present problem, said Cosby, it was not hard to find the solution -- just stop talking to himself. In a sense, says Bill, he's given up talking for listening -- listening to what the other actors in a scene have to say, then reaching to it.

"It's turned the trick," says Cosby. Agreeing with the co-star, Culp says, "Cos never acted before, but the fellow is fast, one of the fastest guys I ever saw. I've never seen anyone become a good actor so quickly."

Nursing VS Bottle: Debate Rages

By Louise Chase
Women's Medical News Science

New York, N. Y. (WMNS) - Whether a woman decides to nurse her newborn baby or to bottle-feed it depends, in part, on how much education she has had and what socio-economic group she's a member of. A three-man team of Duke University researchers found that women who've had at least a high school education and who are married to men holding professional, managerial, or clerical positions are more likely to breast-feed their babies than are women who've had less education and are married to working class men doing skilled, semi-skilled or unskilled work.

The middle-class mothers, observe the researchers, are likely to be "avid consumers of literature by infant care experts." They accept the widely-held belief of such experts that breast feeding is better both "medically and psychologically for the baby, provides greater intimacy and personal satisfaction for the mother, is natural and more convenient."

The bottle feeders, on the other out philosophy. As many as a third of these mothers bottle-feed because they plan to return to work. The rest want the husband to share in the job of infant feeding, believe the method to be less trouble, want to avoid jealousy on the part of other children in the family, are concerned about modesty.

The researchers note that the working-class mothers "have made a complete shift in one generation. All but one of our bottlefeeders were breastfed by their own mothers (in the early 1930s)." But the present generation of mothers, they note, grew up and came to maturity during the immediately after World War II, years which brought "more independence in dating, marriage, divorce work." Along with this, they note, was the development of excellent materials for formula feeding.

The number of women nursing their babies has declined dramatically since World War II. Between 1946 and 1956, the proportion of bottlefed infants discharged from hospitals increased from 35% to 63%, and almost half of the remaining 37% on the breast were already being supplemented from the bottle.

Despite these statistics, many experts continue to stress the superiority of nursing. They point out that mother's milk contains

versity's School of Medicine, sums up a widely-held conviction: "Nursing promotes a feeling of security to both mother and baby. It brings to full fruition the mother's attitude motherhood." Although there is general agreement that mother's milk is splendid nourishment for most babies, the experts disagree about much else.

The Duke University researchers contend, "Our earlier belief that breast feeding is medically and psychologically better for the child has not been sustained by accumulated evidence. Therefore, the only justification is in terms of the personal needs of the mother."

How To Kill Your Critter DEAD

When Sam'l was a youngish man
In the hills of Arkansaw,
He'd shoot grub for the frying pan
And bring it to his Maw.

His game was always cleanly shot,
Plugged squarely through the eye,
And folks who had an empty pot
Would often ask Sam why.

How come you never miss — or drill
your critter in the tail?
How come you always make a kill
Where other hunters fail?

I'm short on powder, Sam'l said,
Can spare one load each day,
I GOT to shoot my critter dead —
Or I'd be eating hay.

Advertising dollars are a form of ammunition. Sometimes you haven't got too many and you have to make every shot count. At such times, like Sam'l, you MUST get results; you just can't afford to fool around with "maybe media."

That's when it's reassuring to know you have a sure-shot winner in the "Times". For the "Times" is no scatter-shot blunderbuss. It's a high power rifle that bullets your message straight and fast to the folks who have money to spend on the things you have to sell.

So... next time YOU want to get more sales at lowest cost... aim for the bull's eye marked "Advertising Results." Pull the trigger to bigger sales by running your ad in the MANHATTAN HEIGHTS and WEST TEXAS TIMES.

Show Your Colors Campaign Underway Here

Lubbock citizens are being urged by Harry Bunton, Commander of American Legion Post # 808 to wear the lapel U.S. Flags being passed out this week. The local post is working closely with National Commander L. Eldon James' Program Operation Show Your Color.

The American Legion's answer to anti-Viet Nam, anti-draft demonstrations being perpetrated by a minority of college students and others, has received an initial response exceeding expectations.

The first pin was placed on the lapel of Legionnaire Governor John Connally as the Texas Department kicked off the program. When pinned, Governor Connally gave his wholehearted support of the aims and purposes of "Operation Show Your Colors".

The concluding services were held in the City of Lubbock Cemetery with Sedberry Funeral Home in charge.

A birthday dinner honoring Mr. Sheppard L. (Shep) Robinson Saturday evening, November 22nd. The party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Titus of 1917 E. 16th Street.

Friends helping to make this a special occasion were Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Genero Rodriquis, Mr. and Mrs. Burton McCutchen, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Morland and Mr. Elbert Moore.

Mr. Shep expressed a very enjoyable evening.

He emphasized this is not just for Legion members only, but for all loyal Americans as a symbol of American unity.

"Any business or other civic organization interesting in obtaining a supply of the pins for distribution to its employees or members, may do so without charge by contacting The American Legion Department Headquarters, Drawer L, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. All requisitions will be filled as rapidly as possible," Commander Bunton stated.

NAACP Drive To Boost Registration In Texas

VICTORIA, Texas. -- A massive voter registration program, designed to increase the number of Negro voters in Texas by at least 50 per cent, was announced at the 29th annual meeting of the Texas State Conference of NAACP branches which closed here, Sunday, Nov. 7.

The campaign will be supervised by W. C. Patton, NAACP field director for voter registration. Texas is one of four states that still require the poll tax in state and local elections. Annual payment of the tax constitutes registration for voting in such elections. The tax has been banned in all Federal elections.

Out of a total of 700,900 potential Negro voters, an estimated 375,000 were registered to vote in the 1964 Presidential election, slightly more than 50 per cent of the total. A 50 per cent increase over the 1964 figure would bring the Negro's voting strength up to 562,500.

The campaign will get under way immediately, Mr. Patton said. Local units of the Association throughout the state will be involved and it is anticipated that deputies will be assigned to facilitate payment of the poll tax.

In order to be able to vote in the primaries and state elections next year, the poll tax will have to be paid by Jan. 31, 1966.

This group of ambitious youngsters who were accompanied by their principal and two instructors, lodged on Texas Southern's campus for two nights,

Thursday and Friday.

While on campus each student was able to capture in their own minds of student life on a college as far as dormitory life is concerned.

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Roberts replied. "And one of them sounded the horn?" Ball asked.

"Just kind of a 'tilt-tilt'--twice," accerted Mrs. Roberts.

Mrs. Roberts was uncertain about the number on the police car. The Commission reports says she testified at first that she thought the car was number 106, then said it was 107. She told the FBI it was car number 207.

The Commission says that "investigation has not produced any evidence that there was a police vehicle in area of 1026 North Beckley at about 1 p.m. on November 22. Squad car 207 was at the Texas Depository School Book Building, as was car 106. Squad cars 107 and 170 were sold in April, 1963, and their numbers were not re-assigned until February 1964.

THIS IS another of those strangely bland comments one finds throughout the report. Does the Commission believe that if a police car had pulled up to Oswald's rooming house to blow its horn as a signal, its occupants would have informed the police dispatcher at headquarters of their actions? And why does the Commission assume that simply because a police car is sold, it ceases to exist and is no longer available for use? Who bought the two police cars? We are not told....Perhaps someone knows....

Leopards Win District, Nip Amarillo 14-7

The mighty Leopards struggled out of a difficult situation last Saturday to win the District 1-AAA championship.

Early in the first quarter, fans sat speechless, quietness fell over Coyote Stadium when the scoreboard flashed 7-0.

The Leopards played hard, but just couldn't get started. Just when everybody thought the mighty Leopards were falling, they picked up with the usual teamwork and steamed with a touchdown.... Norris started the ball flying when he caught the ball -----passed it off to fullback Nelson, back to Norris, down to Manning, over to Harris for a tremendous TD.

The Leopards scored the second touchdown in the fourth quarter by Reginald Robinson.

The Leopards will play Marlin for Bi-District on Saturday afternoon at Coyote Stadium.

Marlin hasn't lost a game since the Leopards punished them in October.

A PRAYER FOR THE BATTLEFIELD

Dear Father in heaven today, we long for peace, and it is hard for us to face the prospect of continual warfare. Give us strength to answer the heroic summons of Christ to contend earnestly for the faith. Help us to remember that our Saviour came to bring peace to those who will accept God's terms of unconditional surrender to him. May we constantly revoice in this message of eternal peace and blessedness.

But may we not forget that Christ came to bring a sword--that this sword of the Spirit is in our hands to wield against sin and to rescue the perishing who are enslaved by the devil. When the way seems hard and the burdens seem heavy, teach us to go to Calvary for our season of prayer. Help

By Thomas James Patterson

Here are but a few facts revealed in a book, "The Unanswered Questions About President Kennedy's Assassination." This book is written by Pulitzer Prize-Winning author, Sylvan Fox, city editor of the New York World-Telegram, a Scripps-Howard newspaper.

In revealing some facts about the late president there is an episode which seems to be bizarre. Oswald went to his rooming house, got a gun, put on a jacket and left, according to the Commission's reconstruction of his movements. But before his departure, a curious incident occurred.

This story is told by a housekeeper at Oswald's boarding house, 1026 North Beckley. She said that at about 1:00 p.m., while Oswald was still in his room, where he remained a total of only three or four minutes before leaving, a Dallas police car drove up to the rooming house.

She went on to add, "Right direct in front of the door, there was a police car stopped and honked." "I had worked for some policemen and sometimes they come by and tell me something their wives would want me to know, and I thought it was them, and I just glanced out and saw the number and I said, 'Oh, that's not their car' for I knew their car."

Joseph A. Ball, the Commission Assistant Counsel questioning Mrs. Roberts, asked her: "Where was it parked?" "It was parked in front of the house," she answered.

"DID THIS police car stop directly in front of your house?" Ball persisted.

"Yes," Mrs. Roberts replied, "It stopped directly in front of my house and it just 'tip-tip' and that's the way Officer Alexander and Charles Brunley would do when they stopped, and I went to the door and looked and saw it wasn't their number."

"Where was Oswald when this happened?" Ball asked. "In his room," Mrs. Roberts said.

NAACP Drive To Boost Registration In Texas

VICTORIA, Texas. -- A massive voter registration program, designed to increase the number of Negro voters in Texas by at least 50 per cent, was announced at the 29th annual meeting of the Texas State Conference of NAACP branches which closed here, Sunday, Nov. 7.

The campaign will be supervised by W. C. Patton, NAACP field director for voter registration. Texas is one of four states that still require the poll tax in state and local elections. Annual payment of the tax constitutes registration for voting in such elections. The tax has been banned in all Federal elections.

Out of a total of 700,900 potential Negro voters, an estimated 375,000 were registered to vote in the 1964 Presidential election, slightly more than 50 per cent of the total. A 50 per cent increase over the 1964 figure would bring the Negro's voting strength up to 562,500.

The campaign will get under way immediately, Mr. Patton said. Local units of the Association throughout the state will be involved and it is anticipated that deputies will be assigned to facilitate payment of the poll tax.

and eating--were made by the students by means of washing cars, selling candy apples, and a record hop.

This group of ambitious youngsters who were accompanied by their principal and two instructors, lodged on Texas Southern's campus for two nights,

Thursday and Friday.

While on campus each student was able to capture in their own minds of student life on a college as far as dormitory life is concerned.

To sum up the entire trip as one student proclaims, "The Astro-Dome is unbelievable; one cannot explain or describe everything which was seen by the human eye."

us to witness again how mush Jesus suffered for us. May our eyes be

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Roberts replied. "And one of them sounded the horn?" Ball asked.

"Just kind of a 'tilt-tilt'--twice," accerted Mrs. Roberts.

Mrs. Roberts was uncertain about the number on the police car. The Commission reports says she testified at first that she thought the car was number 106, then said it was 107. She told the FBI it was car number 207.

The Commission says that "investigation has not produced any evidence that there was a police vehicle in area of 1026 North Beckley at about 1 p.m. on November 22. Squad car 207 was at the Texas Depository School Book Building, as was car 106. Squad cars 107 and 170 were sold in April, 1963, and their numbers were not re-assigned until February 1964.

THIS IS another of those strangely bland comments one finds throughout the report. Does the Commission believe that if a police car had pulled up to Oswald's rooming house to blow its horn as a signal, its occupants would have informed the police dispatcher at headquarters of their actions? And why does the Commission assume that simply because a police car is sold, it ceases to exist and is no longer available for use? Who bought the two police cars? We are not told....Perhaps someone knows....

Please Father, help us to lose ourselves in the joyous service of Christ, that we may indeed find life blessed or eternal. May we pray a special blessing upon our young men that are facing the battlefield, please give them extraordinary strenght, and the courage to stand and be good soldiers.
