Early to bed, early to rise makes a man confused, sleepy and dumb... dumb because he knows it isn't the time it is.

Be that as it may, we Texans again will advance our clocks beginning at 2 a. m. Sunday, April 26, to Daylight Savings Time. This new time will continue through the spring and summer until the last Sunday in October.

This is done in order to "save" an hour of daylight for working in the yard or for leisure.

VBS Clinic Held Monday

A Vacation Bible School Clinic was held Tuesday, April 21, at the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe.

The purpose of the clinic was to prepare leaders from the area for the forthcoming VBS weeks which are scheduled throughout the summer. Programs, projects and recreational activities were among the topics discussed.

Those attending from Earth were Mrs. R. S. Cole, Mrs. Robert Geissler, Mrs. Jimmy Craft, Mrs. Price Hamilton, Mrs. Larry Tunnell and Bro. and Mrs. David Hartman.

Aurelia Sanders and Polly Middleton were in Whiteface Sunday to see about relatives of the Sanders family following the tornado Friday night.

THE SCENE OF DEATH... Mrs. Alton Morris was dead on arrival at the West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe Friday night after a tornado struck the Morris home in Lazbuddie. Her husband, Alton Morris and their daughter, Jeannie and his mother were injured in the storm.

Lazbuddie Among Communities Hit By Tornado, One Dies There

Twenty-two people killed, 12 towns storm-struck and millions of dollars of damage, were the news that greeted the population of Earth as they arose Saturday morning, after a short, sleepless, uneasy night. Lamb County had been under a tornado alert until late in the night. Two separate storms poured out destruction Friday night.

The tornadoes, howling with the roar of a fleet of jets, ripped through Sherwood Shores, Whiteface, Whitarral, Cotton Center, Plainview, Lazbuddie, Claytonville, Silverton, Hedley, Pampa and Kress, and unknown hundreds were injured from the Red River Valley to the tip of the Panhandle.

In the community of Lazbuddie Mrs. Alton Morris, 51, died when her brick home was destroyed. Her husband and daughter Jeannie were injured. The three were trapped inside the demolished home. Morris' mother who lived in a small home immediately behind the Alton Morris home was slightly injured when her home was twisted from its foundation and wrecked. The dead woman was later reported to have died from a heart attack. The Morris farm was wrecked in about 60 seconds. As the tornado moved on it left uprooted trees, a barn in shambles, outbuildings and farm equipment in ruin. Livestock killed, nothing was left intact. After destroying the Alton Morris farm, the tornado moved along to the Wayne Clark home, inflicting damages and slightly injuring members of the family.

At the C. C. Graef home the tornado dipped down to damage the house, leaving gaping holes in the roof, windows blown out, walls almost ready to cave in. The grounds of the lovely home with a fall-out shelter built in the back yard were left in an upheaval with trees uprooted, wires down, outbuildings lying in waste.

Graef said he and his wife were watching television and when the lights went out they went in the back bedroom and went to bed. They had just gotten in bed when a glass went flying through their bedroom and the roaring of a million freight trains seemed to fill their ears. Only about 30 seconds is all it took to leave the Graef property in waste. Plainview, Whiteface and Sherwood Shores at Clarendon received the greatest amount of damage.

Early Saturday a drive through Plainview showed the faith and courage of these people. They were clearing, cleaning and trying to start over again, though their hearts were heavy their hands had tasks to perform.

In Whiteface Sunday the people were being fed at the IOOF building. These people though a stunned stare was fixed on their faces, were busy in the hurried clean-up campaign to get things back in shape. They expressed thankfulness that most of their townspeople were attending the school play entitled "Lights Out" when the light went out in Whiteface and the town was being uprooted. The school and the group of people attending the play received minor damages.

C. C. GRAEF HOME was left with walls bulging, holes in the roof, windows gone, trees lying on the roof and limbs and debris all over the lovely grounds. Outbuildings were lying crumpled on the ground.

4-H Sets County Fair Date

Approximately 35-4-H members, adults and leaders were present Monday, April 20, at the show barn in Earth for the regular monthly meeting of the Springlake-Earth 4-H Club.

The meeting was opened with the inspiration given by Larry Dear, Cokey Hopping led the 4-H motto and pledge.

During the business meeting the tentative date of September 13 was set for the Lamb County Fair to be held in the county seat of Littlefield.

The motion to send $4.00 to the district 4-H headquarters to aid the 4-H clubs of Peru was voted on and passed. It was also decided that the local group would use a portion of the money taken in at the recent livestock show for purchasing brooms to be used at the show barn.

The program which consisted of two method demonstrations was presented by four members of the local club. The proper procedure for using and caring for a fall out shelter was given by Bruce and Brad Bridges. An explanation of fire safety on the farm was presented by 4-H members Sheila and Kent Lewis.

Following the program, Connie Dear led the group in several recreational activities. Refreshments of doughnuts were served by Mrs. Lexie Branscum to all those attending.

Martin was named as the third director. Shelby was ineligible for re-election because of the length of time he had served on the board of directors. The vote was made by secret ballots. After the election the group reorganized and Craft was named to remain as president with Donald Kelley as vice president and J. A. Littleton, Jr. as secretary.

Jimmy Craft, president of the directors served as master of ceremonies.

He also introduced Eudell Baucum, manager of the Springlake Co-op Gin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Middleton, publishers of the News-Sun. He also gave a brief report on his method of ginning cotton. The marketing association report, financial report and other reports from committees were given by representatives of cooperatives doing business with the local gin. Mrs. L. K. Anderson and Mrs. Dub Marten registered guests. Those winning prizes during the meeting were Mrs. J. A.

Alicia [Galloway] Nemecek Receives Citizenship Award At Wayland

Mrs. Alicia Galloway Nemecek, senior from Earth, and Mike Ballew, senior from Gainesville, were named 1970 winners of the annual Citizenship Award at Wayland Baptist College at the Citizenship Chapel on Monday.

Speaker for the event was Dr. Marvin Baker, President of South Plains College, Levelland.

In the presentation of special citations to the two students, Dr. Roy C. McClung pointed out that the two had been chosen because they "had been thought worthy by the students and faculty to be named Wayland's Man and Woman Citizen of the Year because they exemplify Christian citizenship according to criteria set for such recognition by the College in 1957."

Mrs. Nemecek was born in Amherst and moved to Earth where she attended elementary school and high school. She was active in Future Homemakers of America, Future Teachers of America, band and other activities. Her favorite studies have been English and history.

At Wayland, Mrs. Nemecek has been an AGATE leader, Student Government Association Secretary of Student Affairs, member of Delta Chi Delta sorority and Concert Choir. She was a Beauty Pageant entry, senior class favorite, Basketball Queen and Spinning Wheel. Mrs. Nemecek worked one summer as an Invincible and has always been a dedicated worker in her church.

Ballew was born and lived all his life in Gainesville, before coming to Plainview and Wayland in 1967. He received his education in the Gainesville schools and attended Cook County Junior College. He has traveled widely, covering most sections of the United States, studied during one microterm session in Greece, has seen Canada and Cuba, and spent last summer touring Europe.

Ballew has served as resident assistant at Wayland for two years, is past president of Alpha Phi Omega, is a member of the Concert Choir and is president of the Baptist Student Union.

The student body and faculty worked out the criteria listed on the plaque, instituting Wayland's Citizenship Awards. Citizens of the Year are elected by the junior and senior classes from the graduating seniors. Purpose of the Award is to inspire students to be outstanding citizens of the College community and to be active Christian citizens after graduation, exemplifying what Wayland strives to produce.

Selection for the honor is made on the basis of Christian attitudes, commendable academic record, diversity of interests, loyalty to American ideals, personal integrity, and exemplification of the Wayland spirit.

Participating in the assembly were David Howard, president of Student Government Association, Alvin Walker, Paul Butler, Dean of Students and Mrs. Nemecek.

A surprise for the winners at the end of the chapel was the presentation of their families who had been previously notified. Given special recognition were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ballew, Mike's parents from Gainesville, Joe Nemecek, husband of Alicia, 1969 Wayland graduate and teacher at New Deal, Mrs. L. H. Galloway and Mrs. J. J. Barlow, Alicia's mother and grandmother from Earth.

Interest In Loose Stacking Hay Continues

Interest in loose stacking hay--without baling--continues to increase among livestock producers, according to County Agricultural Agent Buddy C. Logsdon.

Stacking hay loose may be a method where the cattlemen can reduce hay harvesting costs and conserve labor, continues Logsdon. Also, the loose hay can be self-fed, and be as good quality as baled hay. These and other advantages mean less expense for maintaining cattle in good wintering condition.

Request a cope of the new publication, L-857, LOOSE HAY STACKING, from your county agricultural agent's office to obtain ideas on how you can benefit from new practices on your farm or ranch.

Greatest meteor shower on record occurred on November 12-13, 1833. It consisted of some 240,000 meteors.

Many Children Are Poisoned Each Year

More than 500,000 children will swallow poison this year in the United States and 90 per cent of all cases reported will involve children under the age of five.

The tragedy of the situation, says the Texas State Department of Health, is that most all accidental poisonings are preventable.

Why are young children the greatest victims of accidental poisoning? The pre-school child has an inquisitive nature. Closets and cupboards are great places to hide and investigate. A child will taste, bite and swallow anything he can reach, and teething time calls for chewing on furniture, toys and window sills.

At about the age of two, a child takes to "mountain climbing", using chairs, tables or stools to open medicine cabinets and any other reachable places.

Accidental poisonings don't just happen. They take a special mixture of factors which normally have a formula which reads: A contributing thing, plus a contributing surrounding, plus a contributing individual. The result of this formula is poisoning.

Many of us are unaware of the potential dangers of medicines and other household substances. Even salt and pepper may produce an injurious or deadly effect when used in large amounts. A five-year-old youngster in Rhode Island died after swallowing about two tablespoons of ordinary pepper. In another tragedy, a 22-month-old child died after inhaling a large amount of talcum powder.

How do you determine if your child may have been poisoned? Suspect it when you observe: 1. Bottles or packages of medicines, household cleaning agents or poisonous substances open near children; 2. Unconsciousness, confusion or sudden illness which is unexplained; 3. Pain or burning sensation in mouth or throat; 4. Discoloration of lips and mouth and strange odors on the breath.

If you suspect an accidental poisoning, take the following steps: 1. Call your doctor at once; 2. If you cannot reach the doctor, take your child to the nearest hospital and be sure to take the container of the suspected poison with you. A sample of the chemical can be most useful also; 3. One important point: A person who has swallowed poison should not be made to vomit since this could aggravate the situation.

The phrase, "Poison Proof Your Home", may seem trite due to over-usage. But it is even more meaningful today than in the past with the advent of more and more home chemicals. In 1968 in Texas a total of 73 fatal home poisonings were recorded. Some 4,000 fatal poisonings occur in the United States each year.

To help poison proof your home, you can: 1. Store all medicines and household products in locked cabinets; 2. Clean out medicine cabinets regularly; 3. Don't put hazardous objects in soft drink bottles but keep them in their containers; 4. Don't leave any medicines, insecticides or fuel oils where children can get to them. Don't use lead-based paints on toys or furniture.

FINANCIAL FACTS

By: Norlan Dudley

Did you ever hear of the "Brasher doubloon"? It is regarded as the most valuable coin in the world today. Once owned by George Washington, it is now worth $150,000. Actually it is a $16.00 gold piece.

On May 29th, 1965, this numismatic masterpiece was stolen. It had been on display with other coins at the Sterling Memorial Library. The famous library is located at Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut.

The doubloon was one of six made by Ephraim Brasher, a goldsmith. Being a good neighbor, he gave the coin to George Washington in 1787. The coin had been given to Yale about thirty years ago.

Thanks to Richard F. Andrews, an insurance company investigator, the coin was recently recovered.

A doubloon is a former Spanish gold coin.

WE CAN NOW SUPPLY YOU WITH

HYBRID GRAIN SORGHUM

NK 222-A Start with the dependability of NK 222... one of the most popular grain sorghum hybrids ever developed. Add carloads of yield potential in areas of adaptation. And you've got NK 222-A.

NK 222 More farmers have planted NK 222 than any other grain sorghum. The reason is the unique NK 222 dependability. Farmers report success with NK 222 under just about every weather condition imaginable. No other yellow endosperm hybrid has matched the year-in, year-out performance of NK 222.

NK 270 This new, short grain hybrid from Northrup King has the ability to come through with top yields for you. The short, strong stalks defy lodging. And you'll be proud of the extreme uniformity of your NK 270 fields. Excellent smut resistance fights off this common yield-cutter. Large NK 270 heads have excellent exertion for easy harvest. Threshold of NK 270 is outstanding, too. Look at these NK 270 yields: 9,114 lbs. at Texico, New Mexico ... 9,000 lbs. at Nazareth, Texas ... 7,057 lbs. at Marienthal, Kansas.

has broken the 11,500 lb. yield barrier

NK 280 is the hybrid for you to choose when you're ready to shoot for top grain sorghum yields. In fact, if you're an above-average sorghum grower, you can produce a whole trainload of grain every year from your acreage. NK 280 growers have produced 200,000 lbs. of grain--enough to fill a giant hopper car--with just four bags of NK 280 seed.

Superstar corn hybrids

PX 635 full-season hybrid tailored for combine harvest

PX 635 is a modern, hard starch hybrid that's well-suited for combine harvest. Grain quality stays high. The ears are long and slender ... tough cobs won't break up in the combine. And PX 635 stands well even in high population plantings.

WE APPRECIATE SAWYER YOUR BUSINESS

FERTILIZER & CHEMICAL

Guy F. Kelley

Earth Phone 257-2085

NK 265

stress-proven grain for the Southwest

Stress won't rob you of grain yield when you plant NK 265 from Northrup King. First of all, NK 265 has excellent smut resistance. It defies this costly disease, and keeps right on producing big yields of red grain.

NK 275 If all-round performance and high yields are more important than fancy appearance, NK 275 is the grain sorghum for you to plant. This widely adapted Northrup King variety can be counted on to come through with superstar performance ... even in areas where downy mildew is a problem. Large, semi-compact heads are filled with red grain ... thresh clean and easy. Look at these extra stress tolerances of NK 275: maize dwarf mosaic tolerant, salt tolerant. And these yields: 9,541 lbs., Dimmitt, Texas; 8,712 lbs., Marienthal, Kansas; 8,960 lbs., Hoxie, Texas; 8,829 lbs. Anton, Texas.

High yielding grazing crops

Trudan 2 The "hot weather forage". Count on Trudan 2 hybrid sudangrass to come through when feed is normally short. The hotter the better as far as Trudan 2 is concerned. Yields hold up under heavy grazing--even under drier than normal conditions.

PX 63 Outstanding single cross with a great yield record

PX 63 has proved its ability to outperform varieties that are much later in maturity ... both on dryland and under irrigation. And, it can withstand the stress of hot weather.

NK 735 High yielding prolific

Medium to full-season hybrid that does well in the coastal plain corn belt. NK 735 has a strong doubling tendency. Uniform ears have blocky, hard kernels. Tall, leafy plants stand well. Uniform ear height speeds harvest. Husk cover is good for insect protection.

The observance of Earth Day in Texas is a great opportunity for the people of our State to learn about the problems and about some of the possible solutions. Participation in Earth Day and support of its goals are important steps in our attempts to restore and preserve the delicate balance of nature.

National Earth Day Was Wednesday

Governor Preston Smith Monday urged Texans to observe and support Wednesday, April 22, as EARTH DAY in Texas.

Earth Day, a national program, will focus attention on the problems of the environment, including pollution, overpopulation, and the destruction of nature's ecological balance.

Part of a week devoted to environmental education on many college and university campuses and in many cities, Earth Day is dedicated to public education about and solutions of environmental problems.

Governor Smith said, "One of the recommendations of the Governor's Conference of Student Body Presidents, which we hosted last week, was that we enthusiastically endorse Earth Day.

"Pollution, the environment, and ecology are words which are much used today. All of us who are concerned with the future of Texas and of our nation are concerned with pollution and destruction of our environment. All of us want to find practical solutions to the problems we have in these areas.

Cancer Drive For Area Incomplete

Mrs. Lewis reported Monday that a total of $1,100 had been collected, but the drive was incomplete. Deadline for the drive is Tuesday, April 28.

Study Club Has Program On "Power Of The Press"

"Power of the press, and proof of its permanent use as history" was brought out when publishers of the News-Sun, Ross and Polly Middleton addressed members of the Town and Country Study Club Thursday night in the Earth Community Building.

The scripture reading for the meeting was II Timothy 2:15-16: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman who needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

Mrs. Jack Hinson called the membership roll. Members answered by giving a current event. Among the answers were comments about the safe return of our men from their trip in space; the local Little Dribblers winning the National Championship Tourney; the comments Paul Harvey, news commentator, made about the Little Dribblers Program; the many local UIL winners and also the local math winners at West Texas State Contest.

The serving table was decorated with a yellow linen cloth and centered with a lovely floral arrangement of apricot colored roses and greenery. Mrs. Gladys Parish and Mrs. Helen Kelley served angel food cake topped with whipped cream, sandwiches and coffee to those attending.

President Mrs. Marie Ross introduced Mr. and Mrs. Middleton who took the speakers stand one at a time to explain newspapering in a small town.

Mrs. Middleton told her audience that family and friends must not make any difference in reporting the news, good or bad. She pointed out that editors and publishers of small newspapers lead lonely lives so to speak, as they could not become close friends without being asked to omit unbecoming news items and to flower up the stories where their friends are involved.

In pointing out the difference in news medias, naming radio, TV and newspapers, the speaker told her audience that if you are not present at that particular moment when radio tells it or TV shows it you have missed out on the event. "Newspapers," she pointed out, "can be read at leisure and can be kept for ages."

A name was given of a local young married woman she pointed out, that this girl was in the second grade when she and her husband came to town and in thumbing back through the issues she found this lady's pictures as winners in beauty contests, in UIL contests, in FHA, etc. Then came her wedding day and the announcement of her children. This, she pointed out, radio and TV were unable to have the permanent history of the town and its population.

Various points of progress were mentioned since the Earth News-Sun had its origin on August 13, 1954. The News-Sun has the bound history of the town since that time. Not only that, they have dug back into the lives of pioneers of the area to preserve the history of Earth in the permanent files of the News-Sun.

To bring out the point of newspapers being a history book of places and events, a newspaper dating back to January 4, 1800, was exhibited. It carried the full story of the funeral arrangements of General George Washington's death on December 14, 1799.

Mrs. Pete Parish was asked to read the story to the group. Mrs. Middleton pointed out this issue was from a monthly newspaper, published the 4th day of each month.

Mr. Middleton told the group how the paper was put together and showed page paste-ups of the latest issue.

Following the program a short business meeting was conducted.

Mrs. Cara Morgan was hostess for the event.

Members present were Mrs. Ray Kelley, Mrs. Wayne Ruthford, Mrs. Cara Morgan, Mrs. John Welch, Mrs. B. Campbell, Mrs. Gladys Parish, Mrs. J. L. Hinson, Mrs. M. E. Kelley, Mrs. R. W. Fanning, Mrs. Reta Richardson and Mrs. Marie Ross.

Guests present were Mrs. L. H. Roberts of Sweetwater, Oklahoma and the speakers, Mrs. Middleton was presented a gift by the club.

CANNED FOODS AND CLOTHING DONATED TO GIRL'S TOWN USA

Members of the local club drove to Whiteface Saturday and delivered canned foods and numerous items of clothing to Girl's Town there.

The group toured the grounds and the new dormitory at Girl's Town and were dinner guests of the girls.

Those going were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hinson, Mrs. R. W. Fanning, Mrs. John Welch, Mrs. Cara Morgan and Mrs. Marie Ross.

Cotton Ginning Costs Studied By Economists

College Station, --Rising costs have been a problem for cotton ginners for many years, but more recently, the rapid increase has created a serious situation for most gins.

Johnny Feagan, Extension economist in farm organization, reports that studies made by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmer Cooperative Service and Economic Research Service indicate that only the most efficient operations will survive under existing conditions.

He says the studies are continuing and are aimed specifically at increasing the efficiency of cotton ginning. The studies include ways of reducing costs and increasing the efficiency of gins under present methods of organizing and operating cotton gins and reduction in total costs by a closer inter-relationship between production, processing and marketing of cotton.

Feagan says early findings from the studies indicate that potentially the most important and widest application approach would be for directors, managers and members of cooperative gins in Oklahoma and adjoining Texas counties to organize a cooperative central cotton ginning association to test and determine the practicality of central ginning and consolidation.

If found feasible, the association could then proceed with the establishment of a full-scale central ginning operation. Volume ginning, he notes, is a most important factor in reducing costs.

Those making the studies say that any one, two or all of the suggested methods of cost-cutting could be applied at present without conflict or duplication.

When It Comes To Seeing For Safety, The Eyes Have It

"I just didn't see the other car."

How many times has a motorist stood near an accident scene and offered this rather pitiful excuse for being involved in the crash?

"Accident investigation officers hear it all the time," says Paul Graham, President, Texas Motor Transportation Association, "and it just points up one of the most important aids to safe driving. They're called 'eyes.' The trouble is, too many drivers just don't use them properly."

Professional drivers—the men who haul the nation's goods in tractor-trailers—know how to use their eyes. "They use them to get the 'big picture,'" Graham says. "And they automatically have a much bigger picture than the automobile driver—they sit up much higher and therefore can see much farther ahead."

There are five common distractions that can get in the way of that big picture, according to Graham. They are:

1. Route problems--confusion over where one is and where one is going.
2. Mental disturbances--concentrating on the "problems of life" rather than the problems of the road.
3. Distractions inside the vehicle--children, for example.

4. Scenery.

5. Unfamiliar situations.

"However, offsetting these are five basic steps used and proved out over the years by professional drivers," Graham says.

"They are easy to learn. With a little practice they will become routine:

1. The 'aim high in steering' formula. This calls for repeated glances well ahead at the center of the intended driving lane. The eyes should sweep over the scene—a full block in the city, a half-mile on rural roads.

2. Get the big picture. Keep your eyes sweeping over the scene, while maintaining proper spacing—more than one car length for each 10 miles per hour in speed. And get into the ground-viewing habit. This refers to the habit of glancing at the ground beside the front wheel of another vehicle before overtaking to pass or before meeting oncoming cars.

3. Keep your eyes moving. Shift your eyes every two seconds. Check your rear-view and side-view mirrors at least every five seconds.

4. Leave yourself an "out." Think ahead. Strive for a space cushion, adjust speed to visibility and in doubtful situations reduce speed and touch brakes.

5. Always be certain that the other drivers see you. That's what horns, lights, and turn signals are for.

By practicing these five steps you will improve your driving immeasurably—and your chances for survival! You won't be the poor driver standing beside his demolished vehicle saying, "I just didn't see the other car," Graham says.

"You will see him in time and thereby be able to avoid the accident. This is defensive driving. Defensive driving is the safest kind of driving!"

Happiness is finding your glasses soon enough to still remember what you wanted them for.—Wm. R. Davis, The Three Forks (Mont.) Herald.

You're not too old to learn—unless you are a teenager.—Harold S. May, The Florence (Ala.) Herald.

Many Breads Make Meals More Exciting

COLLEGE STATION,--Although 72 percent of the bread purchased is enriched white bread, many varieties can help sandwiches fit any occasion—from a he-man picnic to afternoon tea.

Penny-wise, Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, says the larger 1 1/2 pound loaf will cost less an ounce than the pound loaf.

She adds that plain breads usually cost less than those with added seed, fruits or other flavoring agents.

Combine breads and fillings that complement each other in flavors and textures. The specialist with Texas A&M University has these suggestions:

Enriched white bread; ground ham, peanut butter, sliced bananas and lettuce; cold roast beef, cucumber and cottage cheese.

Rye bread; baked ham; corned beef, horseradish and salad dressing; shredded carrot and raisin with mayonnaise; salmon salad; swiss cheese.

Cinnamon Bread; cream cheese and chopped nuts; diced apple and dates with salad dressing.

Raisin Bread; pineapple and cream cheese.

Weiner Buns; grilled weiners; creamed turkey.

Hamburger buns; egg salad; dark turkey meat; hamburger.

Although diet-conscious folks have made bread a whipping-boy, Mrs. Clyatt says it is an important source of essential protein, iron, niacin, thiamine and riboflavin as well as energy.

Breads store best in a freezer. The next preferred storage is a well-ventilated bread box with the bread wrapper closed after each use, she says.

Bread stored in the refrigerator will develop a harsh crumb rapidly but mold will be retarded.

It is calculated that hydrogen comprises 90% of all matter and over 99% of matter in interstellar space.

The Lord preserves the faithful.—(Psalms 31:23).

The way of the Lord is the way of peace, and comfort from sorrow. It is the way of joy, prosperity, overcoming. It leads to the land of prayer's fulfillment. The yearnings of our hearts find a true measure of contentment when we follow in the way of our Lord of love. In the secret depths of our being let us join in the Psalmist's song: "Be strong, and let your heart take courage."

Howard Cummings Commissioned Lieutenant

Howard (Buddy) Cummings, Jr. received his commission as a Second Lieutenant on April 2, 1970, at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

Six weeks before graduation he was selected to serve as Officer Trainee Lieutenant Colonel. In this capacity he had under his command half of the class of about 600 men. In addition to this honor, he had achieved a scholastic grade to qualify as a distinguished graduate.

He and his wife, Peggy, and two boys, Gregg and Mark will move to Florida early in May from Knoxville, Tennessee, where Lt. Cummings finished the University of Tennessee in December.

He will report to Eglin Air Force Base where he will serve as chief of in-procession of military records for the 3201st Air Base Group.

Just goes to show how really careless and unconcerned we people are when we have to be awakened by a member of the staff CBS in Washington, D. C., to find out what the town of Earth, Texas, is doing in connection with "Earth Day."

Well, that's what happened Wednesday. So far behind was the staff of your weekly newspaper that we had scarcely dared take the time to utter a greeting to each other when out of the clear blue yonder, when everyone hated the thought of one more thing to do, the telephone rings and out comes this nice voice "I'm from CBS in Washington and I want to know what you people in Earth are doing in connection with 'Earth Day'."

Like a shot from a pistol I took the blow...

My thoughts went wild... what could I say... the cold facts were Earth was doing nothing -- nothing at all.

I muttered something about "Oh, dear, if I had a moment to think this over..."

The voice questioned, "What is the population of Earth?"

"Approximately 1,500," I replied.

"What is your chief economy?"

"Cotton and maize," I replied, "and this is the best cotton growing spot in the state of Texas and ranks real high in the nation."

Again came the voice, "I want to tape what you people are doing for 'Earth Day' for broadcast on the news. Do you realize your town is the only town in the nation to be named 'Earth,' and to have an Earth Day named after you. How does it feel?"

The tape had started rolling and I was so wide awake now, that every muscle in my body was strained, and for the first time in my life I found words hard to come by.

I looked out on the street to get some kind of idea. There was nary a soul in sight. I felt like I was suddenly all alone in Earth--a town that had gone to sleep.

I found my voice and said something to this effect, "Well, folks, here in Earth, Texas, it is a beautiful sunny day and being an agriculturist little town, we here in Earth are doing what we normally do. The farmers are in the fields taking advantage of this warm and beautiful day and we other people are going about our work conducting our business in the customary manner with no demonstrations or pomp."

I gave them the mayor's name and number and got off the phone.

About an hour later another call came in. The voice said, "I'm Barbara McMann, a member of the staff of Congressman Bob Price in Washington, D. C. and I'm trying to help in getting information on what towns across the nation are doing for 'Earth Day' and being named Earth, Texas. I'm sure you folks are in full swing. I, too, want to know something about the history of Earth."

This was it----for a second time I had found the voice that normally finds words quite easy to come by, wishing I could think up a doozy of an answer, but nothing was being done here.

I said, "Barbara, we have a history. One that I am proud of. We had a big history paper on the town's 45th anniversary in August and I have individual histories from almost every pioneer in the area, but it is not at my finger tips at the present."

She said, "Better get out ye old paper because someone will probably call you back."

I gave the telephone number of Perry Martin, president of the Chamber of Commerce. She called him before I could get across the street to tell him to get prepared.

Martin referred her to Mrs. Marshall Kelley, but she never called Mrs. Kelley.

Think it over folks, if the newspaper had tried to promote "Earth Day" in Earth, Texas, we would have met with a multitude of negative attitudes.

How many times we have heard, "What are you people trying to pull now? You all up there at the paper have some kind of day going all the time."

If we have all finally given up together, the situation is bad.

We have the potential here to do so many things. Our youth are waiting to be guided. They would have been glad to have joined us in a clean-up and brown candles in the shape of a man. Assorted tissue flowers draped to the floor from the end of each table.

The invocation was given by Kent Parish at the beginning of the banquet.

Jerry Barden, junior class president, gave the welcoming address, with Steve Busby, president of the 1970 senior class giving the response.

Entertainment was provided by the Hawaii Brothers, Laakea and Komaka Kamaooha. The brothers sang various Hawaiian songs and played various Hawaiian selections.

The two brothers who are currently students of the Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock are originally from Hawaii.

The banquet menu included: almond toffee punch, fruit cocktail, fried shrimp, hush puppies, potato boats, pineapple sherbet and iced tea.

Members of the sophomore class having a high scholastic average were selected to serve the dinner.

Johnny McNamara gave the benediction ending the banquet.

Hottest spot on earth is Al Azizyah, Libya where a temperature of 136.4 F in the shade was recorded in 1922.

Members of the 1970 junior and senior classes of Springlake-Earth High School, members of the faculty and invited guests were present at the school cafeteria Saturday night as the junior class treated the '70 seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

The "South Seas" banquet theme and the senior theme "Place in the Sun" were cleverly combined in the decorations. The entrance hall immediately acquainted the guests with the banquet theme as they confronted a beautiful sunset scene of water, sky, sun and palm tree on the north wall.

The words "Welcome to the South Seas" on a background of fish nets and sea shells gave each guest a personal welcome.

As the guests entered the cafeteria they were immediately transported to the tropics. Attention was drawn to the center of the room where an island complete with palm trees, grass, rocks, shells and a native enjoying the atmosphere lay under a sheltering palm was erected.

The lovely country of the South Seas was brought into the room by posters of the South Seas accented with colorful tissue flowers.

The scene was not without the contemporary effect as one corner of the room featured posters painted with psychedelic paint accented with a blue psychedelic spotlight.

The grill on the west wall of the cafeteria provided the background for the entertaining band. The grill decorations consisted of a blue background with the words "A Place in the Sun" in silver foil.

Streamers draped across the lights with fish nets crossing in the center completed the total decor of the two themes.

The head table, at the beginning of a large circle, was centered with a lovely floral arrangement of blue flowers, accented with candles.

Banquet tables were centered with novelty centerpieces composed of small palm trees day or something that would have gone along with the nation-wide theme, but we hadn't the energy to care. We are unwilling to clean up the town. How can we accomplish any goal until we shed our apathy and carelessness.
