

Little Alice Faye Adrian, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adrian, has taken a dim view of "Ye Old West Texas," after she and her mother spent several days in Sunny California.

Seems Mama (Faye) had quite a time chauffeuring the car down the highway when Alice Faye first spotted orange trees, she didn't know oranges grew on trees, she just knew her daddy sold oranges in their grocery store in Earth. In fact, she was only vaguely aware that there were trees in this world, since they are so sparing in West Texas.

She had the time of her life seeing the sights of the BIG, BIG cities, big trees and millions of orange groves and without fail each time she passed orange trees she begged to stop and "Pull off a few oranges."

Mama Faye feels that after this trip, little Alice Faye will never have any higher ambition in life other than becoming an "Orange Picker in California."

COTTON, NOT GOLD
I've heard that streets in heaven would be paved with pure gold, and I have often thought how wonderful that would be.

However, being a Texan I love of things in Texas, so right here and now I want to tell you readers in far away places that our streets in Earth, Texas are PAVED WITH PURE COTTON, I can prove it too, cause OUR MAIN STREET CAUGHT FIRE LAST WEEK.

(Guess this difference in our streets somewhat goes to prove that this is Earth, not Heaven.)

I understand Earl Jordan, manager for Brown-White Equipment Co. left Wednesday for Chicago to attend a big national meeting at the International Harvester Company.

Now, I'm not exactly certain why Earl went, but I am prone to wonder if perhaps he went so he could come back with added enthusiasm for I-HC tractors and Equipment. So he could teach (his young son) TO WANT AN INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER and perhaps erase from his mind once and for all that terrible sentence he learned last week when he expressed his desire quite clearly for a JOHN DEERE.

I have often heard that old expression "When it rains, it pours," I hadn't taken much stock in it though until this past week when we had two pretty bad fires in Earth. Luckily for Earth that we had a new fire truck, cause with fires like those fellows were fighting last week it would have taken lots of rain to pour on those fires to put them out. Luckily our big new fire truck got all thawed out and really puts out the water.

EARTH WAS SADDENED -- 6 Earth was saddened this week by the death of "Red" Gilmore. Red had made many, many true friends throughout the area who mourn his passing.

MY HOW TIME FLIES
Polly Jr. had a birthday last week, I called her at college and she seemed to be having difficulty thinking of herself as no longer being a teen-ager.

If she herself has difficulty, wonder what she thinks yours truly (Polly Sr.) has, who still can't imagine her as being grown up, but sees her as a little girl in spite of the years.

1961 Cotton Crop Record For Earth - Springlake Area

The cotton harvest in the Earth-Springlake areas as well as over the entire county has practically drawn to a close this week.

According to gin reports the crops in and around Earth and Springlake are completely harvested.

At press time the number of bales ginned at one gin was not available in the Earth - Springlake area. However, a total of 38,425 bales were reported ginned in the area gins.

This past year's crop has been a record setter over the entire county and came up to the expected forecast made earlier in the year of a 200,000 plus crop.

More than 210,000 bales have been ginned in Lamb County as compared to 187,000 last year. Lamb County agent Bill Kimbrough said the crops were of lower than average grade due to bad weather. However, pricewise, farmers will come out ahead this year, as the market does not discriminate against "wasty" cotton, as it has in the past.

Mr. Kimbrough also reported that more money was made in Lamb County on grain sorghum the past year than in several years. This he said was due to the tremendous yield and the price was about 30 cents per hundred higher than last year's price.

Robnetts Meet At Intersection Results W-H-A-M

No injuries were received when two automobiles collided at the intersection of Elm and Second Streets Monday morning.

The accident occurred when two busy ladies, each hurrying to their respective jobs got their timing off just by seconds. The results was a smashing blow to both.

The two involved were Mrs. Zeph Robnett, who was driving west on second St. in a '58 Chevrolet enroute to Springlake School where she serves as librarian, as she approached Elm Street, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Billie Robnett was driving south in her '60 model Ford enroute to her job as receptionist for Dr. Holt.

The two almost succeeded in passing the intersection without accident, but the timing was off by a second and somehow Judy (the daughter-in-law) rammed the mother-in-law's car causing approximately $150 damages to each car.

The Robnetts believes in keeping things in the family, even car accidents. (Incidentally Judy and her mother-in-law, Edna are the best of buddies).

FACT or FABLE

(Test your current event I.Q.)

True

False

The Fable

Thirty-one per cent of the nation's influential citizens think rural electrics have contributed only moderately, or not at all, to the national welfare. This misconception was revealed in a recent nation-wide public opinion survey.

The Facts

Rural electric systems, financed by Rural Electrification Administration loans, have raised rural living standards, and reduced farm drudgery. Electrical helpers enable fewer farmers to provide an abundance of choice food for city tables. Rural demand for electrical equipment and appliances has created a new multi-million dollar market for industry, and improved employment opportunities. Equally important, adequate electric power in rural areas is speeding decentralization of industry and rapid establishment of vital defense outposts.

We're proud to be one of nearly 1,000 locally owned rural electric systems contributing to our nation's welfare!
