nuclear conflict, hunger is probably the foremost problem of the world today. Approxi-mately half of the world's 3.5 billion people suffer from malnutrition, The World Food Congress in 1963 was told that around 10,000 persons die every day from starvation. And the present outlook is that hunger will grow more and more intense with the passage of time. The world's population increase is zooming along at almost 60 million souls per year. The population of the world reached the first billion by 1830, took only 100 years to reach 2 billion and only 30 more years, 1930 to 1960, to reach 3 billion. It is expected to pass 6 billion people by the turn of the century.

Almost every country in the world is searching, some desperately, for ways to increase agricultural production to feed its hungry people.

Meanwhile, in the U.S., where agriculture is using only about four-fifths of its productive capacity, consumers are enjoying the most sumptuous and varied diets in the history of the world. So it is not surprising that the urban popula-tion of this country scoffs at the possibility that the U. S. may not be immune to the problem of hunger,

"Fortunately for agriculture, the consumers and for the Nation, Congress has devised and enacted a series of programs to supplement farm income from public funds," Johnson goes on, "and for this reason and this reason alone U.S. agriculture and the U.S. diet is the envy of the world.

Now, however, there is danger that an urban-minded Congresseither this year or someime in the near future may kill this production incentive for farmers before a replacement has been found. when that happens, if it happens, it is not inconceivable that the population of the U.S. could feel the hunger pangs so well known to the people of so many other countries of the world, " Johnson concludes, Blues Beat Red

USE ALL YOU WANT

No Electric Power Shortage In Area

"Don't hold back, Use all bill that you owe," Tolk the electric power you want whenever and wherever you want in the 45,000 square mile area that we serve. There is no electric power shortage in this part of the country," Roy Tolk, president of the Southwestern Public Service Company, said today

The statement of the electric company president was made as a result of frequent articles in national magazines and other media which leave the implication that the whole nation faces a power shortage not only this year but "in the decade ahead", as one publication

"At the end of last year, when we announced our plans to invest $25,000,000 in new plant and equipment this year, I said, 'there'll be no blackouts in our service area in 1970 That still goes, I'll add at this time that there won't be any in the future, either, as long aswe have the right to plan our own future without outside interference. We have a responsibility to meet the electric service needs of this area and we have done the planning required to carry out that respon-sibility," Tolk continued. Southwestern Public Service

Company has generating capability reserves that are 18% greater than the peak load which has been predicted for pointed out Adequate reserves are normally considered to be generating capabiltiy that is equal to the largest single generating unit on your system, Southwestern's reserve capability for 1970 exceeds that margin of safety by nearly 100,000 kilowatts. Southwestern is already looking down the line at its next 500,000 kilowatts of electric generating capability. At the present time, a 210,000 kil-owatt unit, the first in a new facility southeast of Lubbock is under construction and is scheduled to go into service in mid-1971. Projected units of 289,000 kilowatts of capability are in the planning stage

"With the help of our area development department groups, I have started to write to presidents of some companies and to telephone others whose organizations are interested in expansion to tell them of the availability of electric power and other resources in this area. We have outstanding people, lots of space for expansion, a superb climate and energy reserves. Not many areas can say that these days and all of us should work to benefit from these advantages, " Tolk

JUST WHAT IS A ... FATHER?

A FATHER is a thing that is forced to endure childbirth without anes-

A FATHER is a thing that growls whenhe feels good and laughs when scared half to death.

A FATHER never feels worthy of the worship in a child's eyes. He's never quite the hero his daughter thinks, never quite the man his son believes him to be, and this worries him...sometimes. So he works too hard to try to smooth the rough places in the road for those of his own follow him.

A FATHERisa thing that gets very angry when the school grades aren't as good as he thinks they should be...so he scolds, though sometimes he knows it always isn't the students fault.

A FATHER is a thing that gives daughters away to other men who aren't nearly good enough...so they can have grandchildren who are smarter than anybody's!

So Keeping All This In Mind, Dad, Willie Wirehand Wishes You A Happy Fathers Day.
