District Banquet In Plainview For Grand Cross Of Color

The annual district banquet for the Grand Cross of Color was held in the Congress Inn, Thursday, November 12, in Plainview. Thirty members from Earth, Big Spring, Lockney and Plainview attended.

The tables were arranged to form a cross and covered with white table cloths. The centerpiece for each table was a large candle surrounded by lovely flowers using the seven colors in the rainbow.

A large white cross was placed at the entry of the room. The Welcome Address was given by the chairman, Gene Riddlehuber of Plainview.

Following the banquet of turkey, dressing and all the trimmings, the Kelley Trio, Donita, Annita and Connie sang "Follow Me". Mrs. Berda Foster of Lockney gave a brief part of the program using "Obligations" as her topic. Marvin Sanders, Earth, sang "He Touched Me" followed by the Kelley Sisters who sang "Jesus Walked".

During a business meeting, the following officers were elected: Chairman-Joe Foster, Lockney; secretary and treasurer-Mrs. Joe Foster, Lockney; decorations-Mrs. Wilma Sites, Plainview; and program chairman Mrs. Juanita Brown, Plainview.

Decorations for this banquet were done by Mrs. John Varnell of Big Spring.

Bees Needed In Cucurbit Fields

One of the main reasons cucurbits fail to produce properly is the scarcity of honey bees to take care of the pollination job.

This is especially true for backyard garden plots in the larger cities, where bees lack natural nesting places, according to Dr. John E. Larsen, Extension Service horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

He said some pollination is accomplished accidentally by other insects, but bees are still the major factors to consider. The most common cucurbits are melons, cucumbers and squash.

Under commercial production conditions, melons and cucumbers need one bee hive for two to three acres, Larson recommended.

"Some growers rent hives," he pointed out. "In the High Plains, one grower rented 10 hives. He paid $3 to $4 per colony for three months and thought he had been taken."

Research has shown that bigger, earlier melon crops can be had when hives are near the field. But if wild bees are plentiful, then hives are not needed. Wild bees are usually adequate in number in East Texas, but are often scarce elsewhere.

If hives are rented, the horticulturist said, the increased melon production should more than compensate for the cost.

In the case of seedless watermelons, and if there are wild bees around, Larsen said the general recommendation is two seedless plants to one regular or seeded plant. If there are bee colonies near the field, three seedless plants to one seeded plant should be satisfactory.

Larsen explained that bees must transfer pollen from seeded plants to seedless plants before fertilization can occur. But with ordinary melons, the bees need only to work the same plant because it has both male and female flowers.

The Texas Beekeepers Association conference was preceded by meetings of the American Bee Breeders Association and the Southern States Beekeeping Federation.

"Nothing could be more irrational than to give the people power, and to withhold from them information without which power is abused. A people who mean to be their own governors must arm themselves with power which knowledge gives. A popular government without popular information or the means of acquiring it is but a prologue to a farce or a tragedy, or perhaps both."—James Madison.

Fire Standards Depend on Risk

New standards for fabric flammability must be technologically practicable and involve a realistic "trade-off" between costs and risk, according to Geoffrey V. Lund, director of research and development for M. Lowenstein & Sons, Inc.

"This means," said Mr. Lund, "that the development of technology must precede the enactment of new standards. Right now we are at the point where we have developed the method to treat children's sleepwear and some bedding components."

"It would be impossible to have a uniform standard for fabric flammability," Mr. Lund added. "It is more likely that different standards will have to be developed for each end use depending on the type and nature of the hazard involved."

Troop 373 Plans Tour Of Library In Muleshoe

Nixon farm bill, if it passes Congress. ment Preston Smith, Senator Ralph Yarborough, Representative Bob Price, Rocky Mountain Farmers Union president Charles Hanavan, Canadian Uniform president Paul Babeay of Alberta, Canada, National Farmers Union communications vice president Stan Weston, and National Green Thumb director, Dr. Blue Carstenson.

Waste Compactors Gaining Popularity In American Homes

What's the worst conglomeration of mess in any household? Garbage, of course, piles and piles of it.

And what's worse than staring at mounds of garbage? Taking it out.

Such unpleasant chores never cease for the homemaker, unless a new waste compactor is stored beneath the kitchen cabinet, advises Jan Sabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist.

The waste compactor reduces the bulk of a week's worth of garbage on a 4-to-1 ratio in 60 seconds, with just the push of a button. It injects a deodorizer solution and then pops the crushed waste into a bag.

The new appliance consumes all kinds of garbage, including paper wrappings, boxes, cans, plastic and glass bottles and most food wastes.

Waste compactors have an average cost of $235. The bags and deodorizer solution must be purchased in addition.

Somewhat smaller than a dishwasher, the trash masher requires no special wiring or plumbing and comes in various colors. Two models are available, the free standing or the built-in type.

489 In December Scouts Den No.3 Make Book Case

A December draft call of 489 was announced by Col. Charles M. Duncan, acting state Selective Service director.

Local boards will fill the call with men having random sequence numbers one through 160, --as far as possible. Some with higher numbers may get called by some local boards.

Quota is Texas' share of the national total of 7,000 men, all for the Army. Inductions are set for December 1-17.

On December 31, all men in 1-A, 1-A-0 or 1-0 with numbers lower than the highest reached during the year by their own local boards will be assigned to an extended priority selection group for call during the first quarter of 1971. Those with a higher number than the highest reached will be assigned to the second priority group for 1971.

Cub Scouts of Den #3 met Wednesday afternoon at the Scout Hut under the leadership of Mrs. Phil Neinst and Mrs. Don Taylor.

Denner Rodney Davis led the Cubs in the pledge of allegiance, singing of America and the Cub Scout Promise.

The Cubs built a bookcase to use in the Scout Hut to hold their school books. This was accomplished by filling four milk cartons with sand, which was used for the stand. Boards were placed over the cartons for the shelves. The bookcase was painted using Cub Scout colors of blue and gold.

Den Chief, Bryan Taylor, led the Cubs in a game called "One, One, Three, Zero".

Ricky Higgins served refreshments of cookies and Kool-Aid to Kyle Kelley, Lonnie Neinst, Mike Wimberly, Glen Hausmann, Jimmy Robbins, Rudy DeLeon and Rodney Davis.

10 Auto Accidents In Lamb During October

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated ten accidents on rural highways in Lamb County during the month of October, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in eight persons injured and an estimated property damage of $14,575.00. The rural accident summary for this county during the first ten months of 1970 shows a total of 92 accidents resulting in four persons killed, 44 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $87,528.00.

Traffic wise, November and December are noted as dangerous months for pedestrians. During November and December of 1969 in Texas, there were 86 pedestrians killed and 885 injured in collisions with motor vehicles. Some of the attributing factors are: early hours of darkness, bad weather, drinking intoxicating beverages, holidays, and lack of drivers' and pedestrians' attention.

The veteran patrol supervisor listed some tips to aid both pedestrians and drivers. Always wear something light colored when walking after dark. If possible, carry some kind of light and walk on the left side of the road facing traffic. If you have a dark colored raincoat or overcoat, put a strip or two of reflectorized material across the back and front when walking on the street or highway.

School Students To 43 Fifth Grade Rites In Turkey

Have Access To Food Program

Governor Smith has notified 1,182 school superintendents that he wants all Texas pupils to have full access to food programs.

He called attention to food services and equipment made available through the National School Lunch Act as mandatory on January 1, 1971. Smith said that hungry children are vulnerable to malnutrition's effect on growth, ability to learn and general intellectual performance.

Students In Beginners Band

Forty-three fifth grade students are currently enrolled in the Beginner Band Program, according to Jerry Starks, Band Director.

Practice started for the new band on Monday, November 9. Starks began their training by teaching proper care and handling of their instruments.

Basic steps on the correct way to blow a horn are being taught this week. Starks said the new band would be taught musical notes beginning next Monday.

"This group is interested in learning music and I expect to have a good band", Starks said.

We Are All Consumers in The Concern for Quality

by NANCY ANN MILLER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

We are all consumers. And, as consumers, we want good value and good service in every product we buy in the market place.

It's a long road from producer to consumer and much can happen along the way. A manufacturer may design a better product, but it depends on man and machines, packaging and transportation to get it to the consumer as originally conceived.

In these many steps, there is always the possibility of human or mechanical error, occasionally not uncovered through inspections, and a defective product—or one that seems not to work properly—may come into your home.

If this does happen, what should you do? First check the informative labels or instruction book to be sure you know how to use and care for the product properly. This may eliminate the need for a service call or for returning the item.

When this does not suffice, assemble receipts, hangtags and the original package if possible. Return the merchandise to the store and the department where it was purchased.

State clearly what is wrong, and if the item is left for repair be sure to get a receipt.

If you write the manufacturer, give brand name, the model number, size and color. Explain why you are returning the product and include your name, address, zip code and telephone number on your correspondence.

Making an intelligent complaint takes courtesy, and patience, but it is one way to be a good consumer and contribute to the goal of better products and better services.

Ruth Street Is Prexy Of 8th Grade Class

Ruth Street was named president of the Springlake-Earth 8th grade class when members met Wednesday, November 11 for a meeting.

OUTPUT PER MAN-HOUR on the farm increased 89% between 1959 and 1969. Farmers now produce over 20% more food and fiber on 6% fewer acres, according to New Holland, the farm equipment division of Sperry Rand.

TODAY LESS THAN 30% of the United States population lives in rural areas. Less than 25% of America's 54 million rural residents live on farms and earn their livelihood from agriculture.

Fewer Rings Around The Collar

The official outlook of job opportunities over the next ten years for white and blue-collar workers has been given. More rapid growth in white-collar occupations, slower growth in blue-collar occupations and faster than average growth among service and sales workers is the government prediction for the next decade.

According to the 1970-71 edition of the "Occupational Outlook Handbook" distributed by the U. S. Government Printing Office and reported in the October issue of the National Consumer Finance Association FINANCE FACTS monthly newsletter, there will be a strong demand for computer operators, systems analysts, recreation workers, engineers, para-medical specialists, office machine operators, and business machine servicemen.

The expansion in white-collar opportunities reflects the continued expansion anticipated for the service producing industries. This involves the growing demand for people capable of performing research and applying scientific findings in industry. It also includes increasing needs for educational and health services.

Although the number of blue-collar workers as a group will increase at a much slower rate in comparison to their white-collar brethren, the number of craftsmen will grow at about the same rate as total employment.

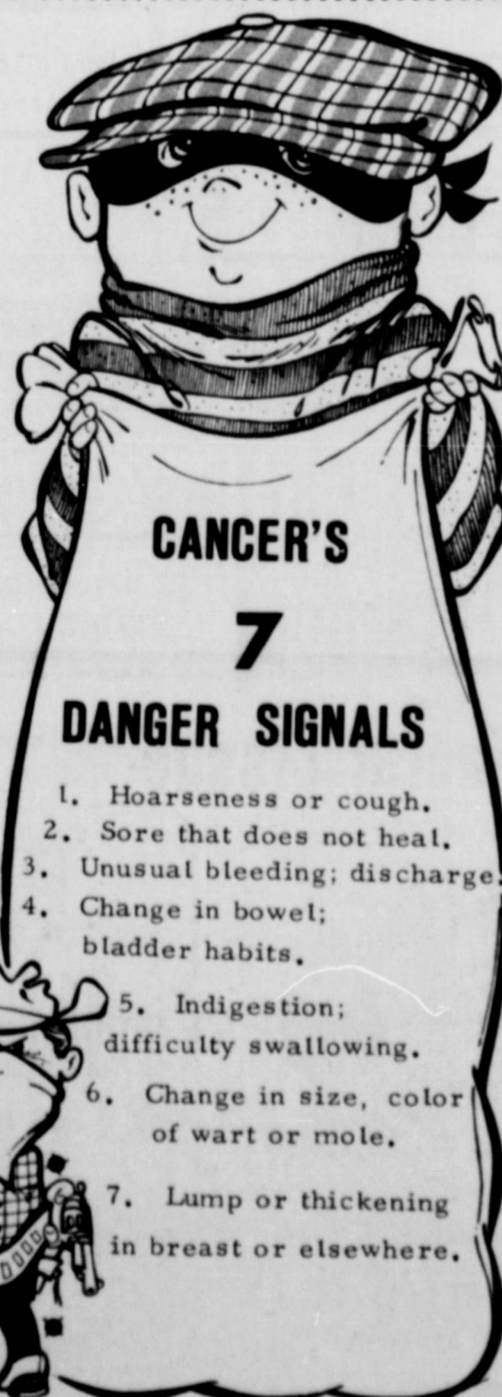

By 1980, professional and technical workers will increase by one-half. A high school education will be sufficient for 8 out of 10 jobs. Half or more of the total work force will be in white-collar jobs, 7 of every 10 will be in service jobs. We don't know what prophetic detergent the government is using.

DINA JO HAMPTON

Dina Jo Hampton Scout Of Week

As the Thanksgiving Season approaches, Travis Jacques and his family have much to be thankful for. We also feel the need to say thank you to all of you for your cards, visits, letters, gifts and prayers. This thank you seems very inadequate for the overwhelming concern of our community, but it truly comes from our hearts. God answers prayers and He must have a need yet for our witness and labor in this community.

Travis Jacques and Family

We would like to express our appreciation for the food, flowers, memorials and many other acts of kindness you showed during the loss of our loved one.

Your thoughtfulness in our time of sorrow will always be remembered. May God bless each and everyone of you.

"Why should freedom of speech and freedom of the press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal things than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinion calculated to embarrass the government?" - Nikolai Lenin.

People who cook with pride cook with GAS. Mrs. Alex Zotos does.

Some of the world's best cooks are found in the kitchens of America, and they give themselves every cooking advantage, like gas range cooking. Good cooks like Mrs. Zotos and nine out of 10 professional chefs agree that precise temperature control makes the difference in good cooking, and with gas you get exactly that. Gas also gives immediate response and constant temperature, so important in oven cooking.

So, give yourself every advantage and cook with gas. Remember, people who cook with pride cook with gas.

Here's one of Mrs. Zotos' favorite recipes.

Wolverines End Season With 5-5 Record

The Springlake-Earth Wolverines ended the 1970 football season Friday night with a 13-12 victory over the Happy Cowboys. The Wolverines had a season record of 5 wins and 5 losses. The Wolverines won the toss and elected to receive. They controlled the ball for four plays and lost the ball on a fumble. Steve Cole recovered the fumble for Happy and on the third kept the ball and scored the first play, kept the ball and scored the first touchdown of the night, travelling 17 yards to paydirt. Bill Pearson tried to carry the ball over for a two point conversion but failed. Following the kickoff after the score, Eddie Blair carried the ball for 5 yards, then Tony Barton got the handoff and accumulated 25 more yards and a first down. The Wolverines stalled at this point and had to punt after failing to make another first down. The Cowboys failed to get anything going and had to punt to the Wolverines. Failing to make a first down on the ground, Glasscock elected to pass, but Cole intercepted for the Cowboys. Capitalizing on the interception, the Cowboys marched down field and Ruben Garcia went over from the one-yard line for another six points. The try for the two point conversion failed again.

The Wolverines completed the scoring for both teams on this drive, completing a 30 yard pass from Glasscock to Carl Sulser. Glasscock, then on keeper, scampered 35 yards for the six points. Glasscock kicked the extra point. On the second play following the kickoff, the Cowboys fumbled, and Ricky Enloe recovered for the Wolverines. The first quarter ended at this point, with the score Happy 12-S-E 7. The second quarter was strictly a defensive game. The Wolverines had possession of the ball for 13 plays and the Cowboys for 15 plays with neither team scoring. The third quarter was more or less a repeat performance for both teams. In the fourth quarter, the Cowboys failed to get a drive going and had to turn the football over to the Wolverines. The Wolverines took the ball and marched down field for the final touchdown of the game. Tony Barton scored from five yards on a pitch out from Glasscock. The Wolverines attempted a two point conversion, but failed. Happy had possession of the ball one more time but failed to make a first down. With the Wolverines taking the ball, they completed two plays and the game ended with the score Wolverines 13-Cowboys 12.

A NEW LOOK NEEDED

Vocational education, the neglected stepchild of the educational system, has been downgraded by the public and relegated by educators to unmotivated students. Many parents have felt that vocational education was good only for someone else's children. A new emphasis must be given to vocational training. Educators should reorient vocational programs to meet the pressing manpower needs of today and tomorrow. Counselors should point out the many opportunities in the skilled trades. Business leaders and the public should lend encouragement and know-how. Let's all recognize the value, dignity and personal fulfillment of careers in the world of work. Let the craftsman's skills be a badge of honor. Incidentally, there's another plus for vocational schools. Their campuses are quiet and orderly — quite a contrast to the student unrest which is commonplace today in so many colleges and universities.

Monthly Employment Survey To Be Conducted Here

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of November 15, Walter A. Freeman, Jr., Director of the Bureau's regional office in Denver announced today.

In addition to the regular questions on employment asked each month, the survey will again collect information about supplemental or part-time jobs and the number of hours devoted to them.

The Bureau will also ask whether each person included in the sample voted in the November election or had been registered to vote. Similar questions were asked in November 1968, 1966, and 1964.

The households to be interviewed here are part of a scientifically designed sample that is representative of the entire U. S. population. The employment and unemployment statistics are collected monthly by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation as a whole and of its major regions.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept confidential and are used only to compile statistical results. The law safeguarding the privacy of the individual applies to all information collected by the Census Bureau.

Interviewer who will visit households in this area included in the sample survey is Mrs. Rosemary McNeese of Amherst.

Money Factors Influence Consumption Of Meat

There are several factors which influence the per capita consumption of meat in the United States but, explains Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, none is more important than meat production.

How is the per capita consumption of meat figures in the first place? Uvacek says it's simple, namely, meat production plus imports, minus meat exports, divided by the human population. Since imports are small and exports insignificant, the really important factor then is meat production.

Larger production of beef, for example, tend to raise the per capita consumption level as long as they are greater than the population growth. Beef consumption per capita is expected to reach 114 pounds this year compared with 110 pounds last year, notes the specialist.

Income is another factor Uvacek relates as highly important to meat consumption. As per capita income (after taxes) rises, meat consumption usually increases, he says. This relationship is much more pronounced for certain cuts such as steaks and roasts and less evident for items like bacon and ham.

Price has a major influence on meat consumption levels and the usual pattern--as prices rise--meat consumption moves lower. Consumption of specific meat cuts, however, varies considerably in their reaction to price changes, explains Uvacek.

Research indicates that the consumer's occupation also affects consumption habits. Laborers, for example, tend to eat more meat than white-collar workers.

Where one lives also influences the types of meat and the amount consumed, notes Uvacek. City dwellers, in general, eat more meat than rural people. Regional differences in meat consumption habits are real. A person who grew up in the North East U. S. is likely to consume more lamb and heavier beef than is a native Texan, says Uvacek.

Family size and its composition may also play a role in meat consumption. In general, explains the specialist, teenagers in a family usually eat more meat while older people consume very little. As a rule, the per capita consumption of meat decreases as a family size increases, says Uvacek.

Race, religion and nationality are cited as greatly affecting the meat consumption habits of people. The season of the year also comes in for consideration and is most important when specific cuts of meat are considered. The spring and summer "cook out" season brings much stronger demands for hamburgers, steaks and hot dogs while roasts and stews are winter-time favorites.

And finally, says Uvacek, meat consumption is a rather complicated process that yields a single simple figure but one that had best not be misinterpreted.

THE FIRST production-line self-tying pickup baler was introduced in 1940 by New Holland now the farm equipment division of Sperry Rand.

IN 1940 A FAMILY could select from about 1,000 food items. Today the average supermarket has 8,000--many of which were not available ten years ago.

IF ALL FARMS with a value of production of less than $2,500 were eliminated, we'd have 42% fewer farms. If that figure was raised to less than $5,000, we'd lose 59% of our farms, and at $10,000 we'd lose 72% of them.

THE AVERAGE FARMER has more machine horsepower working for him than the average factory worker.

Religious Leader Making Impact On World Faiths

Las Vegas, Nevada (LWS) Sri Paul Twitchell, a new religious leader, who heads an ancient faith, ECKANKAR, the Ancient Science of Soul Travel, is making deep inroads on the orthodox faiths of the world.

Paul Twitchell is a charismatic, youngish man with bright blue eyes and has a warm friendly approach to life. He wears a baggy blue suit, blue sports cap, blue shirt, sock and sneakers, pants usually held up by a safety pin and drives a battered sports car.

He is said to have mastered the art of leaving his body and be in many places simultaneously. But he keeps himself hidden from the public, purposely, to insure privacy and time for his spiritual work in this world.

He is known to his followers as the MAHANTA, and ancient title of the Light-Giver, the VIGURU, highest of Gurus, and the living ECK Master. His mail averages approximately 10,000 letters weekly. His writings, personal lecture tours and workshops on Soul Travel are estimated to reach some fifty million people world-wide.

More than a million people around the globe, most of whom he has never seen, believe this amazing man is a living God. He is the new world spiritual leader to them. Nightly they sit in meditation whispering his name in hopes of spiritual rejuvenation.

For these people he has the ability to be in all places simultaneously. He heals and answers their prayers at vast distances. Many say he talks with them in their own homes while his physical body is thousands of miles away. He often appears to friends, by their own account, to warn them of danger.

He sleeps four hours nightly, reads over 6,000 words a minute and eats little. The pressure of his work keeps him from personal contact with people, except on lecture tours. He never talks by telephone.

Besides a spiritual retreat in Mexico, he maintains his headquarters in Las Vegas, Nevada, and a residence on the Pacific Coast. He has several international offices in major cities around the world. Classes in ECKANKAR exist in several hundred cities throughout the globe.

In an interview at his spiritual retreat in Mexico, Paul Twitchell said, "ECKANKAR means SOUL TRAVEL. It is a natural religion that opens the consciousness to gain God-Realization. It is done without the use of drugs, or other artificial means. This is why many people are turning to ECK for a way back to heaven again."

"It is the oldest path to God-Realization, the ability to be with God. Its teachings are sweeping Europe and gaining a foothold in this country. I predict it will be the next big movement on college campuses," Paul Twitchell said.

He adds that it has nothing to do with psychic phenomena, ESP, astral travel, table tipping, fortunetelling or yoga. It is only a path to God via Soul Travel.

Paul Twitchell turned down the Beatles in 1967, when they approached him to study ECK, because of their indulgence in smoking pot and the Hindu religion. He does not approve of drugs in any form.

When he walks on the streets in a metropolitan city, hundreds of people recognize him and begin to follow. Often he will end up with a crowd of several hundred people helping him shop.

He was born on board a famous Mississippi River packet boat under a fantastic set of circumstances and raised in a small southern river town. He adopted the name of the family that took him to raise, but he says his real name is Peddar Zaskq.

He learned ECKANKAR at an early age from an older sister who taught him out-of-body movement before he could walk. Together, they studied under Sri Sudar Singh in Allahabad, India. Later, he went into the Himalayas to study under Rebarzar Tarz, an extraordinary Master of Soul Travel.

A biography of his unusual life, IN MY SOUL, I AM FREE by Brad Steiger (Lancer Books), is a runaway seller.

His experiences in the spiritual worlds are told in his famous book, THE TIGER'S FANG, (Lancer Books). It is a good seller in paperback.

A recent book, ECKANKAR, THE KEY TO SECRET WORLDS, (Lancer Books), is also a good seller.

He has published twenty-two books.

8th Grade Team Takes District Championship

The 8th grade squad of Springlake-Earth were declared district champions on Thursday, November 12, after they crushed the Happy team with a score of 34-14.

The first quarter of the game was scoreless even though both teams were doing their best to hit paydirt.

In the second quarter, Edwin Fuller made a 30 yard run to score 6 points, and Doug Jones made the extra points. Shortly thereafter, Dickie Bradley made a 5 yard run to chart up another 6 points. Everything was really clicking. The local team was high as Doug Jones made a 65 yard run for another 6 points.

Happy received 6 points on a kick-off return. The half-time score was S-E 20-Happy-6.

In the third quarter, Doug Jones made a run for 10 yards and scored 6 points. Happy got warmed up and scored a touchdown with an extra point.

In the fourth quarter, Doug Jones ran 5 yards for 6 points and Dickie Bradley scored the extra points.

The final score was S-E 34 Happy 14.

The Happy team did not have a 7th grade team so, therefore, the S-E 7th grade defense played in the last half of the 8th grade game.

The S-E 8th grade team is the 3-A District champs with 5 wins, 1 loss and 3 ties.

The S-E 7th grade team are co-champs with Hart with 4 wins, 1 loss and 2 ties.

A Trip To Where? Shown In Muleshoe

A film on drug addiction and abuses of drugs, entitled "A Trip To Where?" will be shown in the Muleshoe High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, November 19.

The film is sponsored by the Alpha Zeta Pi of Beta Sigma Phi. Everyone is invited to attend. No admission will be charged.

Doctors Can Now Conquer Heroin Addiction

Your doctor now has available a way to conquer completely heroin addiction. This announcement was made today by Doctor Paul Williamson of Practice Research, Inc.

"First, we put the patient on methadone which might be described as a mild narcotic," Doctor Williamson said. "When an addict takes methadone, he can hold a job or go to school. This is impossible on heroin. In six months to a year, after he establishes a normal life, we then use electrosleep to take him off methadone."

"Electrosleep has been used for as much as ten years in Germany to fight addictions," the doctor said. "It is now being manufactured in Texas, in New York and will shortly be manufactured in Nebraska. The Russians have had a similar technique for twenty years and the Japanese for about eight.

"We have the means, but we haven't the people," Doctor Williamson said. "It is the function of Practice Research to tell the people and the doctors what now can be done. We cooperate in any way possible with all existing anti-heroin programs. Our work is funded by foundations."

"For example, in Fort Worth, there is an entirely private program run by Doctor P. J. Carter. He has had great success with many addicts. Our job is to inform the people and to do anything within our power to assist Doctor Carter."

PLAYING CARD MONEY

Did you know that playing cards were once used as money in North America?

For over 60 years ordinary playing cards were legal tender in Canada.

In 1686 the French-Canadian government was in financial trouble. French money was extremely scarce and the French Proconsul of Canada petitioned his homeland for reserves. The money didn't come and he was desperate.

There was no paper or printing machinery in Canada so the Proconsul confiscated all the country's playing cards.

He then made each card, or part of a card, worth a fixed amount. He signed the new currency, circulated it and issued an ordinance legalizing it.

The people accepted and honored the card money and it lasted over 60 years. The authorities in France had no objections either, because it saved them from sending regular money to Canada.
