

Monday marks the beginning of Public Schools Week, and in the Earth-Springleake area, about everyone who can manipulate goes out to school at least once during the week and eats dinner.

I always enjoy the fellowship and the food so much.

However the majority of us go out, eat and return to our own business without visiting any of the classrooms to get an idea of what is being taught, and the way it is being presented. One should take time to visit the classes, not only during Public Schools Week, but as often as is possible.

Everyone will agree that Public Schools have done a great part in educating the masses of our people, therefore playing a great part in our nation's progress.

However we begin to wonder what our school students are being taught when we daily see surveys students across the nation are taking and see their score. It may be that parents are not taking time to teach their children what a great privilege it is living in this land of ours, or it may be that the history of Our Nation is being neglected.

The story of our great Patriots may be watered down, losing its power.

In an opinion survey conducted among high school students, most high school seniors actually expressed the belief that business is bad for the country. Fifty-six per cent of these young Americans said government could eliminate economic problems in this country by taking from the rich and giving to the poor. And 61 percent of the students expressed themselves in favor of government censorship and control of the press, radio and television.

In a questionnaire answered by 6000 high school students, 25 per cent of the boys and 35 per cent of the girls said government should control basic industries such as power, steel and the railroads.

Another survey on the question, "Who contributes most toward improved living standards — business, government or union leaders?" business ran a poor third.

In some California schools it has been suggested that the pledge to the American Flag be omitted from the daily routine, as it is against the beliefs of some of the students.

I say that if a student cannot rise and pledge his loyalty to the American Flag, he should, with his family, be deported to the country in which he belongs!

This article was picked up from a recent article written by Wes Izzard in the Amarillo News.

ONE - WORLDISM IN THE SCHOOLS

A month ago the Associated Press carried a story from Redding Conn., about a high school editor named Virginia Olsen who caused an uproar by advocating that old fashioned patriotism be done away with.

The young woman wrote an editorial titled "A Higher Loyalty." She charged that American patriotism, as practiced today, is narrow, selfish, egotistical, and centered. It should, she insisted, be replaced by "a higher loyalty" — a loyalty to the world.

Explosions of indignation could be heard from coast to coast. One of the high school paper, The Owl's where Robert Hughes, an editor of the high school paper, The Owl's Hoot, challenged Virginia with an editorial of his own.

"Has this young woman been allowed to go through high school without being taught anything at all about our history and our government?" Robert wants to know.

"Let us hope and pray," Editor Hughes concludes. "That this young woman's opinion is the exception rather than the rule, because no one will ever convince us that the American people will give up their rights without a fight.

"And we will never have to worry about losing that fight as long as every American citizen will stand up and shout, 'I owe my allegiance, my loyalty, and my life to God and my country!'"

"What higher loyalty is there."

Perhaps someone should write Miss Olsen a letter beginning:

"No Virginia; there is no Santa Claus — no Santa Claus who can wave a wand and make the world one. You'd better stick with Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln, or you'll be stuck with Krushchev."

Ray Keeling Gives Formal Statement Concerning His Candidacy for Judge

Ray Keeling has formally authorized the Earth News-Sun to announce his candidacy for the office of County Judge of Lamb County.

Ray is 46 years old, owner of the Ray Keeling Buick - Rambler and International Truck dealership in Littlefield. He was a business administration major at the University of Texas and after college played professional football with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1938 and 1939.

Ray stated that he is a candidate running on principle, a man who will serve all of the County justly, rather than be subject to the wishes of minority pressure groups and "big-wig and clicks."

Ray believes that a strong two party system is essential to maintain our free-representative form of government. It would be better for the Nation, the State of Texas and for Lamb County.

"A two party system is by far the best for the people as a whole," Keeling stated. "The one party system restricts the choice of the people as to who their elected officials are to be; local, state and national."

The only way we can effectively start this vitally needed two party system is on the local level.

"A serious question arises concerning our public welfare program. Certainly local assistance should be rendered to any person or family who has a real need. On the other hand, a definite inequity exists when we have a large dispersal of Welfare commodities to able-bodied men, yet a shortage of farm workers simultaneously."

Keeling said he will "abide by and enforce the national, state and local laws as required by the oath of office; emphasis placed on school attendance and other preventive measures to insure the well-being of our youth."

Ray enlisted in the Army during World War II as a private and came up through the ranks to Captain in the Ordnance Department. He, his wife, Dorothy Elizabeth and three daughters, Connie, Nancy and Jean live at 123 East 13th St., Littlefield. He is a member of the First Methodist Church in Littlefield; a member of the Board of Stewards, and former Chairman of the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church. He is a charter president of the Muleshoe Rotary Club, former commander of the American Legion Post in Muleshoe and former mayor of the city of Muleshoe as well as former mayor of the city of Littlefield. Ray served on the charter commission that drafted the city charter for Littlefield; a member of the Littlefield Rotary Club and is presently serving his second term as vicepresident on the Board of Directors of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

Health Report From State Department

Dysentery, while not a major killer among Texans, still claims many lives each year. Sadly most deaths occur among infants under one year of age.

Last year there was a 10 percent increase of shigelosis...the technical name for bacillary dysentery...according to the Texas Morbidity published each week by the Communicable Disease Division of the Texas State Department of Health.

At the end of the year, the 1961 total stood at 3,915 cases compared to 3,420 cases at the end of 1960.

The total deaths from dysentery have not been compiled for 1961; however, in 1960 there were 79 deaths from the disease with 53 percent among infants.

Dysentery is transmitted "by eating contaminated foods, or drinking contaminated water or milk, and by hand-to-mouth transfer of contaminated material; by flies; by objects soiled with feces of a patient or carrier."

This is one of the reasons food-handlers should wash their hands thoroughly before any food preparation...and especially after visiting the bathroom.

Also foods which are moist or eaten raw require special attention in washing and preparation.

Fly control and control of fly breeding are important steps in fighting this disease. Control of existing flies can be done by screening, fly traps and by contact poisons and space sprays.

Fly breeding can be controlled with adequate garbage collection and disposal, elimination of garbage dumps and substitution of land-fill operations, and provision for proper sewage disposal.

Infant mortality from shigelosis can be curtailed with adherence to good hygiene principles, scrupulous cleanliness in preparation, handling and refrigeration of food, safe milk and water for infant feeding, and continuous supervision of their diet.

It is generally acknowledged that many cases of unreported diarrheal probably result from shigelosis. Suspect victims should seek the aid of their physician.

The Earth News-Sun has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Mrs. Doris Eaton for the office of County School Superintendent, subject to the Republican Party Primary on May 5. In making her announcement Mrs. Eaton released this statement.

"When I filed for a place on the ballot as a candidate for the office of County Superintendent, I did so with the intention of immediately beginning proceedings to abolish the office entirely.

"The office of County School Superintendent is obsolete, an archaic holdover from the pioneer days. It is a needless drain on the taxpayers, and in the interest of economy, should be done away with.

"However, upon investigating further, I find this cannot be done as easily or quickly as I had first hoped. To abolish the office will require action by the State Legislature, since the civil statutes preclude abolition by petition of local voters.

"Therefore I shall continue to do actively campaign for the office, with the avowed purpose of implementing proceedings as soon as possible to abolish the office.

"The office of County School Superintendent pays approximately $8,000 per annum. This is an unnecessary drain on the taxpayers of Lamb County and can be eliminated, in the interest of governmental economy. Economy in government must begin at the local level, and the abolition of the office of County School Superintendent is a prime example of how governmental economy can begin at home.

"During the interim period, abolition proceedings continue, I shall work to the best of my ability to carry out the duties of the office, minor though they may be.

"I am a graduate of Texas Women's University, and have taught in public schools for 13 years. I have been a resident of Lamb County for 15 years, and in addition to my teaching duties, I am a housewife and mother. My family and I reside at 125 E. 15th St. in Littlefield.

"Your vote and support of my candidacy will be appreciated."

Performance Of Cotton Varieties Summarized

The farmer and his neighbor were the largest suppliers of cottonseed for planting the 1961 cotton crop in Lamb County, according to a Planter Box Survey made in 1961. The survey was made by the Texas Certified Seed Producers, Inc., with assistance from the Agronomy Department of A & M College, County Agent Bill Kimbrough, and ginners in Lamb County.

Two Hundred sixty-two samples were taken from the planter box. Such information as source of seed, was seed certified or non-certified, years from certification, was seed treated, treatment used, was germination known, etc., was also obtained from the farmer.

Germinations were made on all samples. Non-treated samples were treated prior to germinating to prevent excessive mold growth in the germinator. Mold spreads easily to other samples, which have not previously been infested, causing difficulty in making a true germination count. It is recognized that treating these samples raised the laboratory germination count over that which the farmer got in the soil. Therefore, it is reasonable to assume that the class of seed (non-certified) which had the highest percentage of non-treated seed, germinated less in the soil than in the germinator.

The germination of fifty-three samples of certified average eighty-two percent and seventy-six percent respectively. Of the major sources of non-certified seed, that which was gotten from another farmer, five percent from the seed dealer, twenty-percent from the ginner, and one percent from the oilmill.

Only five percent of all seed were not treated, and seven percent did not know treatment used. One hundred percent of the non treated seed were the farmer's own.

Seventy-three percent of all seed were the farmer's own or from another farmer, five percent from the seed dealer, twenty-percent from the ginner, and one percent from the oilmill.

Five percent of the seed were fuzzy, thirty-three percent acid de-were certified and eighty percent were non-certified.

Eighty-nine percent of all non-certified seed were the farmer's own or from another farmer. Seventy-eight percent of all seed were not tagged with a Texas Tested Seed Label. Ninety percent of the non-labeled seed were the farmer's own or from another farmer.

This survey was made in five other major cotton producing counties in Texas. Lamb County compared to the average of the five counties as follows.

The germination of certified seed was one percent higher and non-certified was the same as the five county average.

The farmer and his neighbor supplied thirteen percent more, the seed dealer six percent less, the ginner seven percent less of the seed planted.

Thirteen percent less non-treated seed were planted.

Thirty-nine percent less fuzzy, fourteen percent more acid delinted, twenty-one percent more mechanically delinted, and four percent more seed on which other procedures were used to remove a part or all of the lint were planted.

Two percent less planted all or a major part of their crops with certified seed.

Seven percent less of all seed planted were tagged with a Texas Tested Seed Label.

Some conclusions which can be made from this survey are as follows:

1. The farmer and his neighbor

lanted, fifty-two percent mechanically delinted, and ten percent were processed in some other manner to remove all or a part of the lint.

Ninety-three percent of the fuzzy seed were the farmer's own or another farmer.

It takes 115 gallons of water to grow enough wheat for just one loaf of bread. This is pointed out by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Frank Welch in urging measures to develop our water resources.

He notes that most people think of water as something to drink or to cook and wash with. Actually, however, 90% of our water is utilized for agriculture and 40% for industrial uses.

"When we stop to think that nine out of every ten gallons of water used in the United States enter into the production of food, fiber, and manufactured products, we cannot help but recognize water as a dominant factor in further economic development and as a key item in our production race with the Communist nations.

"While our population is rising rapidly, our demand for water is growing even faster. We're using about 300 billion gallons of water a

Rural Family Purchases To Be Surveyed Soon

College Station—A scientifically selected group of Texas rural families will be asked soon to report on the things they bought in 1961, it was announced today by Mr. Cary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician.

Questions about their purchases will be asked as part of a nationwide Survey of Consumers Expenditures, first of its kind in 20 years. Information about families and their towns under 2,500 population will be gathered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and similar information from families in metropolitan areas will be gathered by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Texas' rural representatives in the national sample will be families chosen at random in Anderson, Baylor, Brazoria, Lavaca, Palo Pinto, and Reeves counties. They will be interviewed by employees of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, under the supervision of Mr. Palmer.

Information provided during interviews will be kept confidential and will be combined with in-

Absorbent cotton and felts for upholstery and mattresses also come from linters.

Topographic Mapping Program For Water Resource Investigation

The Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District during a business session held this week at the District Office in Lubbock, entered into a cooperative program of topographic mapping with the Texas Water Commission (formerly State Board of Water Engineers) and the U. S. Geological Survey.

John J. Vandertulip, Chief Engineer for the Texas Water Commission, met with the District Board and explained at length the topographic mapping work which is being commenced in the High Plains by the Water Commission and the USGS.

He explained that the new mapping program will initially include work in nine counties within the High Plains Water District area; however, it will be extended to include the entire High Plains as the work progresses.

The initial counties within the High Plains Water District that are involved in the program are Lubbock, Floyd, Hockley, Lamb, Bailey, Parmer, Castro, Cochran, and Lynn counties.

The portion of Deaf Smith, Randall, Potter and Armstrong counties within the High Plains Water District will be named as soon as possible.

Vandertulip said, "The State's funds for topographic mapping are to be used in conjunction with water resources investigations. Ground-water studies as well as surface-reservoir studies require good topographic maps. These maps also serve many other purposes and are a distinct asset to the area."

There will be a total of 2,540,000 acres of land involved in the in-

Farm Records Are Essential for Success

College Station — Good farm records are essential for a successful operation, says Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist. Records provide the proof of past performance, and they are an indication of the potential of a given farm, farm manager and the technology used.

Proper records will allow the farmer to compare one enterprise with another and they are very important when the farmer wants to combine enterprises. An analysis of a good set of records will point out the strong and weak points of the business, and they are also handy to have around when it comes to file income tax.

The type of record book or system you use depends on what you want your records to do for you, says Parker. The minimum record should include an inventory of land, buildings, equipment, livestock and supplies; all expenses grouped by kind; all income received; land use and production of crops and livestock; and a place to summarize the year's operation. The more details the record shows the more valuable it will be.

Parker says this is a good time to get your records for 1962 started, and it is also a good time to study last year's records to determine if any changes need to be made.

It is easier to keep good records if you have a special place to work. Entries should be made as soon as they occur or as soon thereafter as possible, Parker advises.

If you need help in setting up your records or in analyzing your old one, see your local county agent. He can start you on the road to good records.

USDA Announces Developments On Cotton Fabrics

College Station—Longer lasting collars and cuff on men's wash-wear shirts and a single treatment that gives cotton wash-wear properties and also permanently dyes, starches and adds finishing agents to the fabric were announced today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A cotton interliner was treated to give it wash-wear qualities and then bonded by an adhesive to outer layers of untreated cotton cloth to make the collars and cuffs. The finished fabric not only has wash-wear qualities similar to those of the treated interliner but also has high resistance to fraying or abrasion that is ordinarily associated with cotton. Samples made with the treated interliner were somewhat stiffer than the usual soft collars and cuffs but less stiff than acceptable starched ones. The wash-wear qualities were rated excellent.

The new multipurpose treatment involves use of divinyl sulfone derivatives. These chemicals have the unusual ability to react with cotton's cellulose molecules to produce a good wash-wear finish and at the same time to attach other finishing materials permanently to the cellulose molecules. The derivatives could prove even more versatile in cotton processing. They may be capable of attaching to cotton many other chemicals, including those that give resistance to fire, heat, rot, mildew and some repellency to water and oil.

By adding both dye and starch to a solution of divinyl sulfone derivatives, the scientist obtained a permanently starched and colored wash-wear fabric. Laundering tests indicated the treated fabric was highly resistant to damage from chlorine bleach.

The new treatment can be applied with conventional textile finishing equipment. Fabric is dipped into the chemical solution, run through squeeze rolls to remove excess solution, then dried and cured at normal processing temperature.

Research workers at USDA's Southern Utilization Research Division at New Orleans worked out the new treatments.

75% of all West Point graduates were Boy Scouts.

Varieties of Sesame Were Tested At Research Foundation

One thousand and ten strains and varieties of sesame were planted in the sesame breeding program at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1961. These strains made a total population of approximately two hundred and forty-three thousand plants.

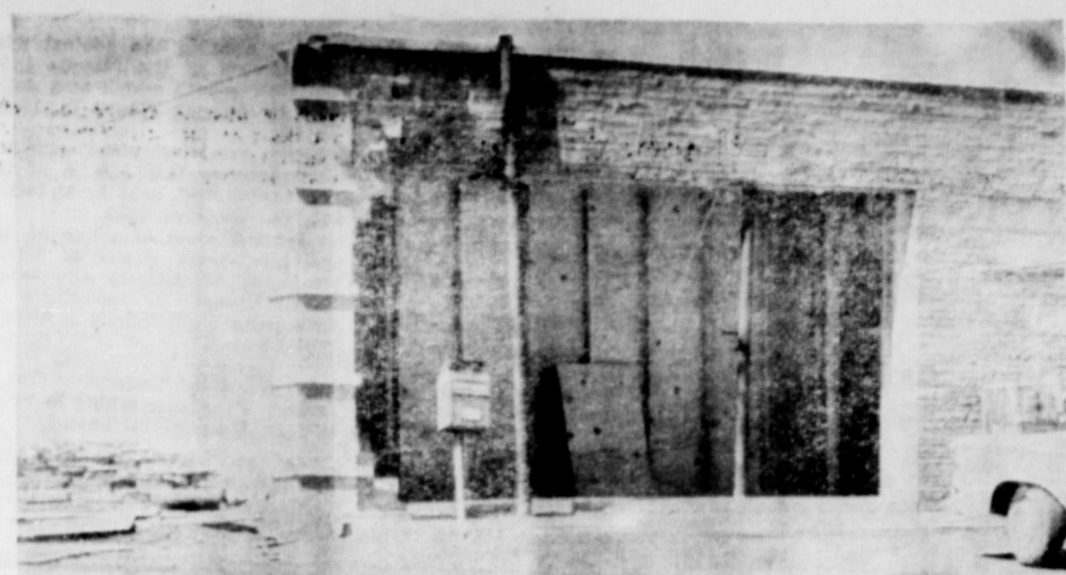

One hundred and eighty-five plants were selected from the two hundred and forty-three thousand in the breeding nursery during October 1961. A few hand crosses were made in the nursery during the summer between desirable shattering plants and paper shell nonshattering types. Seed from these crosses will be planted in the 1962 nursery.

Seed from eight sesame strains and varieties were sent to the atomic energy laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tennessee in the spring of 1961. Each strain was irradiated at three different levels of Cobalt 60. The objective of this program is to induce genetic mutations that might be desirable. All irradiated seed were planted in nursery plots on June 1st, 1961. A few strains from this group that had outstanding plant characteristics were selected for use in the breeding program.

The new greenhouse, a gift of the Jim Hill Estate at Hereford, Texas, will permit acceleration of the sesame breeding program. The objective of the sesame breeding program is to develop high yielding, nonshattering varieties that can be harvested with a grain combine. Dr. Earl H. Collier, Chief Agronomist at the Foundation said.

Visiting in the Jack McCord home over the weekend were their daughter, Kay McCord, Joann Hubble of Farwell, Kay Cole and Kay Woolery, both of Hereford, and Dinah Thompson of Tulla. All are students at WTSU in Canyon.

75% of all important officers in High School and College were Boy Scouts.

A temporary wall was erected inside the U. S. Post Office in Earth, as re-construction of the original wall began this week by builders of High-light Homes, who was contracted for the work by the bank who are owners of the building. The wall was cracked and caved in about three weeks ago when an automobile went wild and crashed into the Post Office building.

Nitrogen Suggested For Small Grain

College Station—Been wondering how to increase the forage or grain yields of your small grain crop? R. J. Miers, extension agronomist, says nitrogen, applied before the plants begin to joint but late enough to avoid the danger of a hard freeze, is the answer.

If the crop has been grazed, much of the available nitrogen has been utilized by the plants and removed by animals. Grain crops need nitrogen at this time to stimulate additional growth for maximum yields, explains Miers. Nitrogen applications also increase the protein levels of grain, and in wheat improves the baking of the flour.

Application rates of 20 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre will usually pay big dividends if moisture is adequate, says the specialist. For specific application recommendations, consult your local county agent.

Depreciation And Taxes on Farm Equipment Explained

College Station — Depreciation takes its toll from farm machinery, buildings and other farm investments every year. It's just simple economics that capital goods lose value as they age. There is a bright spot, however, because farmers can deduct this depreciation from their income tax, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

tant for filing, should study the complete their own tax returns or provide information to an accountant. All farmers, whether they choose on depreciation available to them. A copy of the 1962 Farmers Tax Guide, which may be obtained from the local county agent, provides an explanation of the alternatives available. The discussion in Chapter 9 of the Guide explains how each of these choices can affect the amount of tax to be paid in a particular year.

A rather recent change in the tax law allows what is called Additional First Year Depreciation. This is a flat 20 percent deduction allowed the first year on personal property used in farming (or business) provided the assets have a useful life of six or more years. The total amount on which this deduction can be taken is $10,000 on a single tax return, or $20,000 on a joint return, explains Bates.

For computing regular year-to-year depreciation, the farmer has a choice of three different methods. If the Straight Line Method is used, the farmer subtracts a reasonable salvage value from the cost of the asset, and then divides the remainder by the number of years of estimated useful life. This gives the annual depreciation allowance, which is the same amount every year.

Under the Declining Balance Method, the rate of depreciation on NEW assets is double the rate used in straight line method. For example, on a tractor having 10-year life, the depreciation is computed by taking 20 percent of the cost as the first year's allowance. This is then subtracted from the cost, and 20 percent of the remainder is the second year's allowance, Bates pointed out. No salvage value is required under the Declining Balance Method since there is a "remainder" after 10 years deduction.

The farmer's choice of the Declining Balance Method or other fast write-off on an asset would depend on his need of larger deductions. For example, in a year of unusually good income, a tractor, combine or other asset bought could be placed on this method, thereby doubling the depreciation.

Conversely, if the year's income is small, any asset bought could be placed on the Straight Line Method, thereby holding the depreciation to the lowest possible level.

Farmers should also remember that depreciation may be taken on breeding stock. It should be claimed on those animals that are purchased at a cost considerably above what they will bring when discarded from the herd.

It is believed that many farmers can manage to claim larger deductions on their business assets, thus reducing their tax obligation, says Bates. Get a copy of the 1962 Farmers Tax Guide and study the choices you have in claiming this important business deduction, he suggests.
