It is often said that money isn't everything, yet in these days and times it is so far ahead of whatever else it is that it runs second place that no one can rightly remember what is in the race.

Men lose their health seeking it, some even will go so far as to lie, steal, or cheat in order to attain just a little more money.

Even though multitudes of people seek it daily, and spend sleepless nights planning its plight, its biblical reference declares the LOVE of money is the root of all evil. It has also been referred to as "a filthy lucre". Even so we rush heedlessly on, seeking money, over all else, family, friends, or principle.

Nosin'

As I see it, the major poverty problems of today is for the most part in having true leadership people in our world of today.

In worth bearing in mind that some of the most effective leaders today are those whose philosophies actually tend to threaten our future.

The advancement of such men whether dictators or not, is measured in terms of their ability to stamp out individualism in our world. This form of imposing on the people a pattern of living, forcing them into an unrecognizable herd-like mass which is so widespread in the world today runs contrary to all our American beliefs.

The fact that we would not readily permit an out-and-out dictator does not mean, however, that we are free of the danger of a herd-like acceptance of limitations on our rights to be individuals.

We must keep foremost in our minds, that the right to personal choice can be given away, or voted away, in a democracy as well as stolen away by a dictatorship.

Our country's great historians did not willingly surrender their individual or personal rights for security and comfort. They rightfully took the responsibility and risk involved in looking after themselves without expecting the government to look out for their well being. They didn't ask for security, they only wanted an opportunity to apply themselves in a free land, a land where they could measure their gain through individual and personal ability. As time went on, they found they needed many things in the new land, and from this necessity coupled with many long hours of thought and planning, came many new inventions that have so enriched our land today and raised our standard of living above other nations in this world is proof enough, that our country has, and must continue to thrive through the practice of individuality of thought, rather than become a herd-like mass of folks reduced to one train of thought. This "individual thinking bit" is indeed quite contrary to the philosophies of most of today's leaders that would tend to create the belief in complete prosperity from the cradle to the grave. If only the American people would turn over all their affairs to the management of the government. This, of course, gives off the untrue promise that if we do this, all is well, there is no longer cause to be concerned in the least about our personal contribution to our own advancement and welfare. All we have to do is surrender our will to work for ourselves, surrender all dedication for personal achievement, surrender our goals in life and become a mass of unthinking, breathing, yet otherwise dead Americans, being babysit by the political law makers in Washington.

Sanders, Haberer Attend A. G.'s Youth Conference

Davy Haberer and Jerry Don Sanders of Springlake were area representatives to the Texas Attorney General's youth conference in Austin July 9-12. The emphasis of the conference called by Attorney General Waggoner Carr was the drop out problem of today's high schools. It has been established there is a close relationship between drop outs and the juvenile crime problem.

In an effort to give the youths some insight into the connection of crime and the drop out, four convicts, which have total sentences of 600 years, spoke to the conference and explained how they began their careers of crime.

The Attorney General's Conference further gave proof of how the drop-out became a burden to the tax-paying public when, because he is not prepared for useful employment, he becomes a public charge on relief and fails to take his rightful place in Society.

Discussion among the youth attending the conference was also held and they talked with each other about problems of their age groups and tried to reach a workable solution. From such discussion the conference established the main causes among girls for dropping out of school is for marriage; for boys, getting a job to buy a car; and for both, a law reading level.

Sanders and Haberer traveled to Austin by chartered bus from Lubbock on July 9 and returned on July 12. Sanders reported that since their return, they had talked with Bill Mann, Springlake School superintendent. Efforts are being made to plan special assembly programs pertaining to drop outs and other teen-age problems in the coming year, as well as trying to obtain the four men from Huntsville to speak at Springlake School. All efforts are of an educational nature in line with prevention, in order, with time, to forego cure.

Neil Webb is in Dallas on business for a few days.

Swine Sale Results Tabulated

The results of the annual FFA Swine sale held July 11, at the Show barn has been tabulated and the results show a slight decline over the previous years sale.

E. G. Gaston, FFA Instructor at Springlake school reported an overall sale average of $75 for bred gilts, with the top animal, a Berkshire gilt owned by Charles Axtell, selling at $105.

Approximately 80 head of hogs were run through the sale by the FFA boys, even though sales were not as high as in preceding years due in part to dry conditions in so much of the state.

Fourteen Guns Stolen From Whites

Two men apprehended in Littlefield after an eight-block chase were charged with breaking and entering in connection with the robbery of White's Auto Supply Store in Earth Saturday morning.

The arrest of Tommy Ray, 21, Lazbuddie, and Pedro Moreno Guzman, 18, San Antonio early Saturday morning netted a recovery of 15 weapons ranging from pellet pistols to a 12-gauge shot gun. They apparently were taken between 2:00 and 3:00 a. m. in Earth.

The arrest was made after Patrolman Tray Coon and Robert Trotter gave chase to a car crossing Phelps Avenue in Littlefield about 3:30 Saturday morning. Intending a routine check of the auto, the officers stopped the car eight blocks later to discover a series of guns, tires, and ammunition. Ray was carrying a .22 Caliber pistol stuck in his trouser belt. He was first charged with driving while intoxicated and with carrying a prohibitive weapon, and both men were jailed. Ray was later arrested for a badly cut hand which he apparently received when the men entered White's Auto store. Fourteen of the 15 guns discovered in the car were identified as those taken from the store in Earth.

The guns included two pellet pistols, four .22 rifles, five .410 gauge shot guns, two 20 gauge shot guns, one 12 gauge, and the .22 pistol taken from Ray. Officers estimated the value of the guns at more than $500.

Further search of the car, disclosed a box of 22 ammunition, four mud and snow tires and six quarts of beer. The tires were taken several days ago from the Shamrock Service Station in Orlton.

The men were charged with DWI and prohibitive weapon charges in county court, and burglary charges were filed in District court.

Both men have previous jail records and Guzman was already on probation on Band E. charges. The bond was set at $5,000 each.

Poynor's White Store was the scene of some plate glass repair early Saturday morning after thieves smashed the front glass and escaped briefly with 14 guns. The two men were apprehended shortly following the robbery by Littlefield Police.

Harold Britton Wins "Golden Approach" Award

A $50 award was presented to Mr. Harold Britton, Owner-Manager, of Earth 66 Service Station recently.

The award was given by Phillips Petroleum Company for giving complete and thorough driveway service to a Phillips "Mystery Motorist".

The unexpected but well-deserved award was made when the "Mystery Motorist" made an unheralded visit to this Phillips 66 service station. To win the award, he appeared in proper uniform and gave the "Mystery Motorist" the six steps of Phillips GOLDEN APPROACH service. This included friendly approach. Using a vacuum cleaner or whisk broom to clean the floor mats, checking under the hood of the car, cleaning all the windows, checking the tires, and thanking the customer for his purchases.

At the conclusion of this service the customer identified himself as a Phillips "Mystery Motorist" and left a $50 certificate at the station.

The "Mystery Motorist" is one of hundreds of men and women who are rewarding Phillips 66 dealers and their service salesmen for giving customers outstanding service on the drive-ways.

Dealers and their personnel of more than 19,500 Phillips 66 service stations operating in 47 states and the District of Columbia are eligible to win this $50 award by being in proper uniform and giving the GOLDEN APPROACH service.

This is the first such award presented in the Earth area. The presentation was made by Mike Hamilton, District Representative of Phillips 66. Britton has operated the station for approximately a year.

Mike Hamilton, district representative for Phillips Petroleum Company and Dutch Been, Phillips Jogger in Earth, presents Harold Britton with a $50 award for his "Golden Approach" Service to the Phillips "Mystery Motorist" who was given complete and thorough driveway service at Britton's 66 Service Station.

Search For Old Photos

A word of reminder to all of you who have not already rummaged through your old family albums or shoe boxes of pictures to help in our search for scenes of Earth in its early days. After selecting some pictures, simply take your place in the line of eager contributors that is formed down the block in front of our offices, or perhaps you would prefer the line at the back entrance.

Actually, the surge of zealous donors is rather slack presently, so we could certainly use your assistance in our search.

All photos will be handled with care and return to owners upon completion of our Special 40th Anniversary Edition.

Local Poll Reveals Johnson Area Favorite

Indecision ranks high among area voters in a telephone and person-to-person poll of 50 Earth residents, contacted this week in an effort to gain some indication of how feelings ran toward the presidential race. Of those who have decided, Johnson holds a slight margin.

Poll figures ran Johnson, 19; Goldwater, 15, and those who were undecided numbered 16.

The great number of "undecided" votes seems to reveal that in staunch Democratic Country, a second look is being given to the apparent candidates. For a time in the election year, many, no doubt were Democratic voters are hesitant in signifying their choice. This may denote a two-party Texas in the very near future.

Concerning Earth, this is almost a first in its political history, for the city has up to the time remained strongly, undeniably Democratic, yet the poll indicates an abundance of serious thought to a second candidate.

Campaign Launched To Induce More Tourists To Texas

A summer campaign to pump more dollars into the Texas tourist industry has been launched by the new Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Cooperating in the public service venture are 30 outdoor advertising firms in Texas and Shreveport, La.

Outlet for the project will be 750 outdoor posters, erected now through September along highways and city streets across the state.

The message they will beam has a two-fold purpose; encourage the out-of-state visitor to tarry longer in Texas and persuade the Texan to discover the vacation opportunities his own state has to offer.

To accomplish its objective, the poster attracts the motorist's attention with one of the principal Texas hallmarks--the ten-gallon hat--bigger than life-size in bronze superimposed on a broad white background. The only copy that appears is the brief invitation, "Take time to enjoy Texas Hospitality," and the TDDA's symbol, an outline of the state within which appears the suggestion, "Tour Texas!"

Sole cost of the project to the state is production and printing of the poster paper, designed by the TDDA's advertising agency, McCann-Erison, Inc. of Houston. All space costs are being borne by the outdoor advertising industry as an expression of its interest in helping build a thriving Texas tourist industry.

The project has the full endorsement of Gov. John Connally who last year requested creation of the TDDA and Texas' first travel advertising program. Frank Hildebrand, TDDA executive director, joined Gov. Connally in paying tribute to the outdoor advertising industry for its cooperation in the campaign. "Texas last year attracted 17 million visitors who remained an average of 5.8 days and spent $532 million," he said. "Had we been able to persuade them to stay another five days, less than twice as long as they were here, Texas would have realized more than $1 billion from tourism, and would have joined only six other states whose tourists industries are that lucrative."

Hildebrand noted there is more than enough in Texas to warrant 10 days of a visitor's time.

"The problem, however, is that he does not know it. Consequently, he spends far too little time with us before returning home," he said.

"We feel the posters, going up during the peak travel period, will go far in causing the visitor to think about tarrying longer with us... in actually taking time to enjoy one of our richest assets; the almost legendary Texas hospitality."

Selections of the hospitality theme for the outdoor campaign stemmed largely from the deep impression that Texans' warmth and friendliness made on the group of national travel writers who visited Texas in April for an 8-day tour.

Only the unexpected diversity of the state has claimed more space than Texas hospitality in the columns the writers have prepared about the state since returning home.

"If our hospitality made such a favorable impression on our writer guests," Hildebrand observed, "we feel it can be as equally advantageous as a selling point in keeping our other guests in state longer."

Although increasing the out-of-state visitor's time in Texas is the principal goal of the campaign, of corollary importance is convincing the Texan to discover the vacation advantages of his state.

"The thousands of dollars that would remain at home by keeping our own people within the state will augment the tens of new dollars brought in by other visitors," Hildebrand said. "Together, these dollars will do much to boost substantially the Texas tourist industry."

Gov. John Connally, architect of Texas' new tourist development program, has endorsed a summer outdoor advertising campaign designed to help enrich the Texas tourist industry. With him and the poster message are George Redford of San Antonio, Rollins' plant manager in the capital city. Rollins is one of 30 outdoor advertising firms donating space for the campaign as a public service to the state.

Rural people of this area have the same need for electricity that city people have plus literally hundreds of additional uses. Years ago, they tried desperately to get electric service and when everything else failed, they built the Bailey County Electric Cooperative. This modern, efficient, dependable system furnishes a low cost electric service that is first rate. The member-owners of Bailey County find that electricity in addition to being a good blender, cutter heater, cooler, grinder, lighter, freezer, dryer, pumper, sander, slicer, cooker, thinner and a lot of other things you can probably name. Bailey County Electric Cooperative is a proud accomplishment of determined people building a better way of life in the rural areas. Rural electrification is good for all Texans.

It's our guess that only on rare occasions in the history of the High Plains has an agricultural project generated enough interest to draw representatives from every single one of the area's 23 counties.

Such an occasion, however, was seen July 23rd when over 60 people gathered in from over the Plains for an advanced planning session on this fall's boll weevil control program. The group, made up largely of Area-wide Boll Weevil Committee members and County Agents, showed more than a little enthusiasm for the control program when Area Extension Entomologist Don Rummel reported that weevils have been found in almost 50 cotton fields above the Caprock. Infestations have been located in Crosby, Floyd, Dickens, Motley and Garza counties, and Rummel said: "We now know that these weevils overwintered in the immediate area. He also explained that a strong effort is being made to spot spray a 1 infested areas at 5 day intervals to prevent, as much as possible, the westward spread of these weevils. "If weevil movement is not kept to a minimum," he continued, "we might wind up with so many infested areas that we couldn't carry out an effective control program this fall."

The Area-wide Committee is made up of one member from each of the 23 High Plains counties, and even committee men from the western Plains counties reported that producers in their area were strongly in favor of the program, which calls for voluntary contributions of 50 cents per bale from all High Plains farmers. A. L. Hertzog of Farwell pretty well expressed the general sentiment of committee members on the West when he said: "We would much rather pay 50 cents a bale and fight the weevil along the edge of the cap than have him in our own back yard."

Collection of this producer contribution to the weevil control program is set up to operate through area compresses and will start when harvest begins.

County Agents are assuming much of the responsibility for an educational campaign in connection with the program and were invited to attend the meeting to broaden their knowledge of its workings. Billy C. Gunter, Area Agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service who is serving as coordinator of County Agents in this effort, told the group that "the nation's most respected entomologists have told the High Plains that the boll weevil threatens invasion, and we would be utterly foolish not to do something about it. "He went on to say that diapause control system is the only known approach and that the Extension Service is committed to furnish all needed educational work."

This meeting on the 23rd followed by one day a meeting of the Boll Weevil Technical Advisory Committee at which the tentative date for the program's first spraying was set for September 10.

Other operational plans were also made, but perhaps the most interesting part of the Advisory Committee meeting was a discussion by Arthur Gieser of a new insecticide spraying technique recently tested in the Rio Grande Valley boll weevil control program. Gieser is head of the Methods Improvement Section of the USDA's Plant Pest Control Division, and the new spraying system involves the use of a technical material without water. Gieser declined to name the material, presumably pen-

Three Tech Students On Research Staff

Three senior students of Texas Tech are on the staff of the High Plains Research Foundation for the summer months. All are receiving practical training in their fields of study in various research projects of the Foundation.

Max Stapleton, Plainview, Texas, a senior student in Agricultural Education at Tech, has been employed for the summer to assist James Villiant, Water Engineer, in the field of artificial recharge. Recharge of the rain water that collects in the playa lakes is one of the ways to extend the life of the irrigation on the High Plains of Texas.

Bev Herndon, another Tech senior, grew up on a ranch near Sweetwater, Texas, and is assisting Dr. Arthur Gohike, Senior Soil Scientist. Bev's work is in the Kilgore Laboratory doing research with Midland bermuda grass, fertilizer uptake by sugar beets, as well as fertilizer needs of soybeans. Bev plans to major in range management and is gaining much that will be of great value to him in future activities.

From Olton, Texas, Roy L. Jones, also a senior student in Agricultural Education at Texas Tech, is assisting Loyd Langford, Assistant Agronomist, with grain sorghum midge research. The grain sorghum midge, as a menace to the economy of the area, is of great concern to both Texas Tech and the High Plains Research Foundation.

Dr. Earl H. Collister, Director of the Foundation, states that the Foundation is most enthusiastic over being able to offer the facilities of the Foundation as well as the scientific staff as an educational aid for the young men of the area.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We were so disappointed when our paper arrived this week and still no Boy Scout news. Last week we thought perhaps there was not room or it arrived in your office too late. I know all the boys who attended the fine camp at Tres Ritos were looking forward to sharing it with the community through your paper. I think it is indeed newsworthy when thirty boys make such a trip with no mishaps or troubles and bring home as many awards as this group of boys did.

In other communities, Scouts came next in importance after the church and school which I think is a fine thing. In our community we have Boy Scouts, thanks mainly to ONE man--our Scoutmaster, Travis Jacques. He gives unselfishly of his time and money to this group of boys, that they might learn the principles and ideals of scouting. I know in years to come, these young men will look back and they will know that he was the one who cared for them. Among other things he has done, he and his family have taken their vacation time for the last three years to go to camp with this group. Otherwise I am sure they would not have gone because it would have been too much responsibility and too tiring on anyone else.

I do not mean to criticize the others who help in his work or the ones who support other fine groups of young people, but I do think we emphasize our adult doing and organizations too much some of which are not of the best character. Generally, we do enjoy our paper and the local news. Thank you for hearing me out on this subject.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Jim Glascock

Watch For Deficiency Symptoms

Crops are moving into a period of growth when nutrient deficiencies may start showing. A lot of maize is already in the period of growth when nitrogen demand and use is high--perhaps up to actual nitrogen per day. If the nitrogen supply is not adequate, lower leaves of maize plants will start to turn yellow and eventually die. Such deficiency symptoms usually indicate that more nitrogen could have been profitably used. Now is a good time to look at your best fields. Some have started running out of nitrogen too soon. If the field has a slightly yellow cast, the odds are that the field could have used more nitrogen. A very few best fields were beginning to show a slight yellow coloring the first week in July. If your beets started yellowing too soon, it may be desirable to increase the nitrogen rate next year.

On cotton, watch for the proper balance of fruiting and stalk growth. The balance has generally been good so far. Type of season, irrigation, insects and such factors will affect this to a certain extent, but it can be a guideline for next year's fertilizer program.

Patterson Featured In Football Magazine

Burly (Red Dog) Patterson, who plays center on offense and line backer on defense was picked as one of the outstanding young prospects for '64 by Texas Football Magazine.

I, for one, feel this is an honor John truly deserves, and I am thrilled for him, but in another sense I'm sure John realizes this honor was not bestowed upon him for his work alone, as an individual, but earned by the entire team that has worked together throughout most of the school days. Springlake has waited a long time for this team to develop and mold into a working unit as you will notice as they take the field this year. Springlake can be proud of each player for they do not play for individual honor but for the honor of the entire squad and Springlake school.

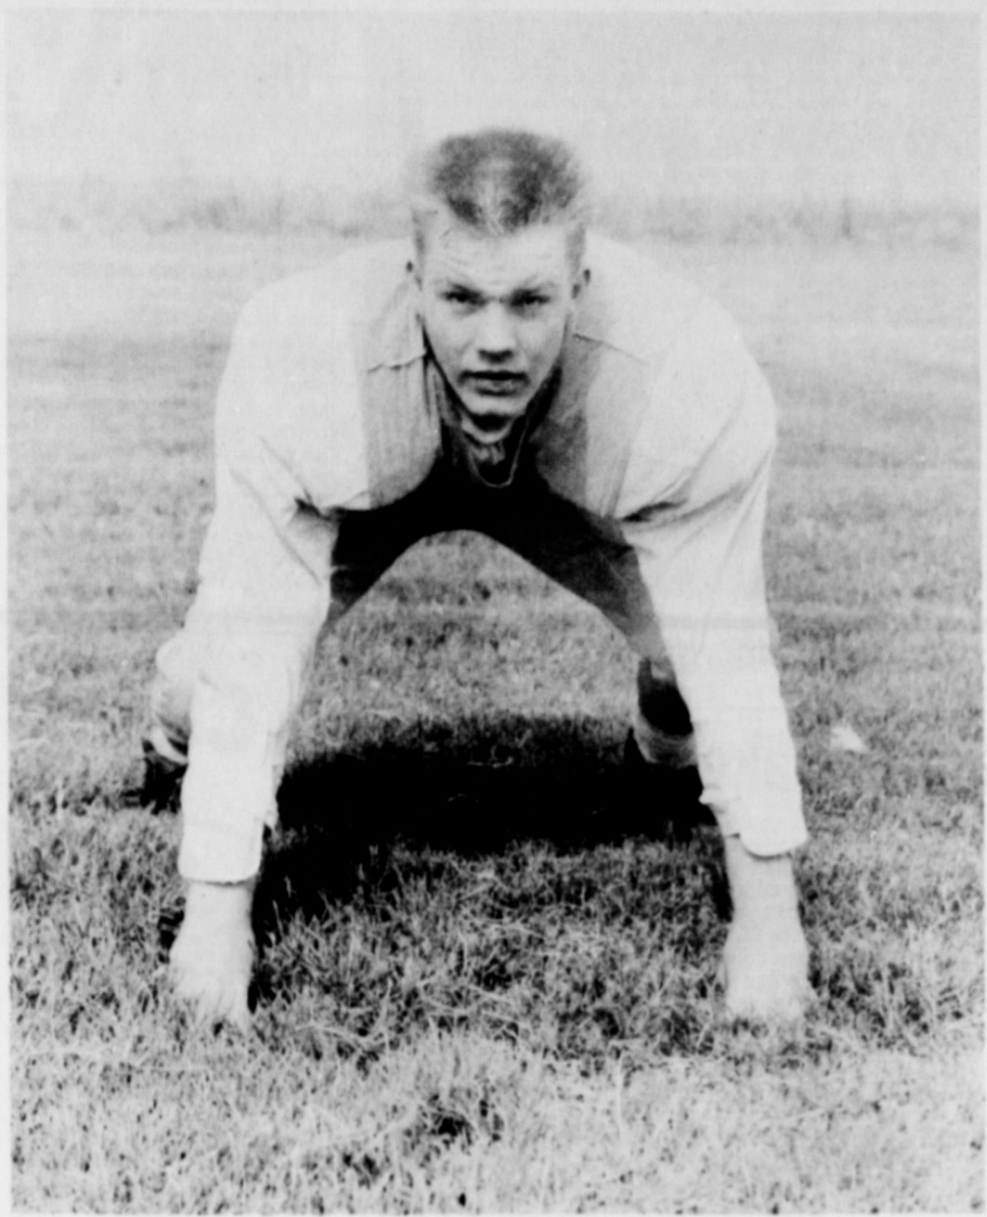

The following is taken from the magazine: District 3-A with guns all loaded and hopes high, Springlake approaches the 1964 season as Mark down Sudan as an improved team. There are 6 regulars returning among the 14 lettermen. The leading four-some will be backs Danny Masten and Mike Smith and tackles Robert Williamson and Kazell May. Although probably a year away from top contention, Hale Center is not without potential. The Owls return 14 boys who started 3 or more games. Don Townsen and Ronnie Sherod further the backfield. Silverton has a promising starting cast but no depth. As long as such backs as Morty Smith, Gregg Towe, Mac Garrison, and Fred Stafford, and linemen Larry McWilliams, Rocky Curby and Wayne Nance are available, however, the team will be tough. Kress, while very young, returns the talent to be improved. The star name is halfback Jack Lackridge, a fine runner. Other big play-makers are Johnny Watson, Mike Turner and Larry Fields, guard Mickey Garner and center Marlin Andrus.

All eyes will be on the Wolverines this year, and I, for one, hope the people interested in good team sportsmanship will keenly scrutinize this team that has earned, and enjoy playing together, to bring glory to their coaches and their great little school, Springlake.

Weevil Prevention A Must

This program to stop the boll weevil's spread to the cotton-rich Plains is not just a need—it is vital necessity. This sums up the thinking of a group of the nation's leading "weevil experts" who met in Lubbock Wednesday, July 22. The experts—entomologists representing USDA Texas A&M, Texas Tech, and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service—met to finalize the plans for a far-reaching boll weevil control program.

The program provides for not only keeping the boll weevil off the Plains, but also to push the costly insect further back to the East. This would save the added benefit of reducing cost of chemicals and applications for growers in counties adjacent to the Plains on the east. Dr. J. C. Gaines, Head of the Entomology Department at Texas A&M, said boll weevil control costs in areas of Texas where the insect is a problem run $6 to $36 an acre or more annually. In addition, up to 20% of the potential cotton crop is lost to the boll weevil.

A second meeting on Thursday, July 23, was conducted for the Areawide Boll Weevil Committee and county agricultural agents representing the 23 counties serve by the Plains Cotton Growers Association. The county agents and committeemen developed plans for the intensive educational program that will be carried out in the 23-county area. Several important points were explained and others clarified in the Technical Advisory Committee meeting. One of the most significant statements concerned the spray program, which will begin this fall. This phase is the "heart" of the weevil control program. The goal is to suppress the boll weevil below the Caprock to such an extent that it won't spread on the Plains. It was made clear by Dr. Perry Adkisson, Texas A&M Entomologist, that each and every cotton grower in the area to be sprayed must participate.

It was emphasized by the entomologists the weevil's ability to spread out over a lot of territory in a short time should cause concern. "This should be ample evidence to all Plains growers that this fight against the weevil doesn't belong solely to Plains farmers bordering the Caprock to the east," the entomologist stressed. "If conditions happen to brighten and Plains growers' guard was relaxed, the weevil could soon be 'knocking on

New Mexico's door" it was explained.

Archie Geiser of USDA's Plant Pest Control Division, and several of his co-workers, reported the initial spray program this fall would take place in Dickens, Floyd, Crosby, Motley, Garza and Briscoe counties—the possibility of the weevil's spread warrants.

Farms in the fall spray program area will be sprayed with a chemical for overwintering weevil control three and possibly four times. Dr. Sloan Jones, of Plant Pest Control, said the spraying will be done by private planes whose pilots will be under contract to Plant Pest Control for the spraying operation.

Thinking of the entomologists was that the first spray for overwintering weevil kill should take place about September 10. Applications will follow at about 10 day intervals.

Choice of a chemical—or chemicals—for the fall spraying program also came up for discussion. It was not decided which chemicals would best serve the purpose of both being economical, relatively safe for use in populated areas and effective. Plant Pest Control officials told the group a series of research tests were underway to evaluate several chemicals. Three chemicals—each known to be effective for such a program—are now being evaluated. Final selection of the chemical to be used will take place shortly.

Local Coaches To Attend Clinic

Head Coach, Jodie Mahon will represent District 3A at the annual State Coaching Clinic in Fort Worth beginning August 3. Mahon, accompanied by Coach Danny Smith, will leave Sunday to participate in the four day clinic. Registration at 8 a. m. Monday will begin the activities, with an expected 4,000 coaches from over the state signing in. This is to be the largest crowd in the history of the biggest clinic in the United States.

Activities will include lectures by some of the nation's top college coaches, plus watching the basketball and football all stars work out in preparation for the North and South All Star game.

Mahon and Smith plan to return after Friday night's football game to begin the preparation for the opening practice session of the Springlake Wolverines.

During the second week in August, the powerful Wolverines travel to Petersburg to scrimmage the defending Class A state champions. Local fans will then have the opportunity to form first hand opinions of things to come.

In the first football poll for 1964, Springlake is ranked ninth in state rankings, while Idaho is ranked sixth and Petersburg 10th.

In district 3A competition, polls have the Wolverines picked first, with a seven win, three loss record this past season.

According to word received by the Earth News-Sun, Springlake will have 15 returning lettermen with nine starters from last year's squad. The strong point in the Wolverine's favor is the speed, while a lack of depth may prove to be a detriment.

Springlake will have three All-State candidates in Thomas Gregory, 6' 3" halfback, who weighs in at 190 pounds; John Patterson, 6' center who also tips the scales at 190; Danny Byers, 205 pound tackle completes the All State candidacy.

Hale Center, ranked number two with a 2-7-1 record, has 14 returning starters. The Owls will have ample power but seem to lack in speed.

Farwell, last year's district champion, is picked at the number three spot. They will have 15 returning lettermen with five offensive starters and six defensive starters returning. The steers, with a 7-4 past season record, will present a formidable passing attack, but will lack experience in the backfield.

Fourth ranked Sudan, with a 4-6 record, will have 14 returning starters. Speed will be their favorite asset, but lack of depth keeps them from being a real power house.

Silverton, newest member of District 3A, holds down the fifth spot in the census of area coaching. Their record for the past season is identical with Sudan's, and they will have 14 returning lettermen. Their biggest hopes lie in the experienced backfield they will have, relying a great deal on their 200 pound fullback, Marty Smith.

Kress, holding the last spot, could be a surprise team this year. With 20 returning lettermen and eight returning starters, upsets could be the order of the day.

As all loyal supporters of the Wolverines, to date, will be: Ends, Floyd Henderson, 170 lb. Junior, Ray Packard, 164 lb. Senior, of Larry Glasscock 165 lb. Junior.

Quarterback, Jerry Don Sanders, 185 lb. Junior.

Fullback, Richard Mitchell, 190 lb. Jr.

Bearing any unforeseen misfortunes, it looks as though the Wolverines will have a great season, and local fans should give them all the support as they have in the past.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

If we depend on our modern drugs to the extent that we neglect good hygiene and proper first aid, we are in effect making the pill—or wonder drug—our bane.

There are several reasons why the prevention of infection, through good personal hygiene and proper first aid, is important. Many kinds of germs and most viruses are not controlled by chemical agents.

The story is told about a mother of several children who thought she was "building up" her children's resistance against winter colds and infections by giving them regular doses of antibiotics. How mistaken she was.

The increasing resistance of many germs to antibiotics is causing more and more concern. Accordingly, it is advisable to prevent infection and to obtain proper care early, if infection occurs.

If infection develops in a wound, evidenced by local redness, swelling, and tenderness, obtain immediate medical care.

Follow hygienic habits to prevent respiratory infection. Pneumonia caused by a resistant germ is the dread disease it always was.

Adhere to an immunization schedule advised by your physician.

Secure medical care early for infections, but do not insist that your doctor prescribe an antibiotic because promiscuous use of antibiotics favor development of germs to resist them.

Modern medical drugs may save your life someday, but why not postpone that day as long as you can by practicing good hygiene and proper first aid.

 Nearly every Texas stockman will agree that his Number 1 Animal Enemy today is the coyote.
 Unfortunately for Texas stockmen there has been a coyote population explosion—a steady increase in the number of coyotes—the past few years.
 Simultaneously another problem has arisen—an increase in the use of the Western range by humans. This was unfortunate in that it prevented the scattering of cyanide poisons to control the coyote population. Such a control method is unique in areas where hunters, fishermen, campers, hikers, photographers, rockhounds, or just plain visitors with newfound leisure hours abound.

 Cyanide cannot be safely used where children play. Nor can poisons selective to the canine family be employed where the tourists' pet dog will roam.
 The coyote doesn't mind the increase in people, for Don Coyote is very adaptable. But increased public use of the great outdoors has hampered the activities of the predator control men.
 With curtailed predator control, the sheepmen suffered great losses. The mohair goat raiser found it almost impossible to operate at a profit. Poultrymen suffered too. In Texas and Oklahoma, coyotes caused heavy losses among newborn calves.

 Something had to be done to stop the population explosion of coyotes without endangering the vacation seekers who invaded the scenic wonderlands of the West. So new tactics are being employed.
 Wildlife researchers in the U. S. Department of Interior (Fish and Wildlife Service) have come up with a plan of birth control—for coyotes.
 Planned parenthood for predators is fast becoming a reality. Don Balsler, a research scientist with the Bureau's control methods section, operates out of the Wildlife Research Center in Denver, Colorado. There he is testing the results of feeding stilbestrol to coyotes during the breeding season. Initial results have been good.
 The coyote that eats a bait treated with this reproduction-inhibiting chemical simply does not become pregnant.
 If embryo implantation has taken place when the stilbestrol is ingested, the embryos are resorbed by the female, and she does not give birth. The coyote doesn't know that any change has taken place, but when the annual crop of pups is prevented from being born, the population of coyotes in the treated area drops sharply.
 It seems that research has come up with a tool in coyote control which comes near to pleasing everyone. Groups of people who objected to other control methods in the belief that they were cruel or caused suffering to the animal can find no objection to the reproduction inhibitor which causes no pain, no suffering—no change at all—except no pups are born that spring.
 Those who feared coyote control programs because of alleged harmful effects on other species can now rest easier. The breeding season of coyotes coincides with the breeding season of very few other mammals. Hence, only the coyote is affected.
 Dog lovers who objected to poisons, traps, and cyanide getters because they feared for Old Rover's safety, can relax when the method of control is the reproduction inhibitor. If a dog takes one of the stilbestrol baits, the only result is that it cannot be bred that particular season.
 As coyotes come into season only once a year—and dogs more often—there can be no loss to the dog lover.
 Sheepmen who feared the coyote because it killed hapless newborn lambs in the spring of the year, when it had a den full of pups to feed, can breathe easier. Relieved of the necessity of foraging for a litter of hungry pups, the adult coyote does not need to kill as often and is more apt to content itself with natural foods—sparing the sheep.

 In 1963, a team of men operating under Mr. Balsler's direction, placed the reproduction-inhibiting baits on a 720-square mile area in southeastern New Mexico. Government trappers kept track of the number of denning females taken. They performed autopsies on all females taken in normal control operations. Results were very encouraging. So this year the testing area is being enlarged.
 At the present time, reproduction-inhibiting baits are being exposed on the Mt. Home desert in Idaho, and on 150 townships in southern New Mexico. These areas were selected either because they had a high coyote population or because they were areas that have been traditional trouble spots, with heavy losses to marauding coyotes.
 After the drug has had time to take effect, Mr. Balsler's men will take every coyote they can to examine reproductive tracts and to determine whether or not the Planned Parenthood Program has succeeded or failed.
 Research Scientist Balsler is careful to point out that this program still is in its research stage, but livestock interests all over the West are watching eagerly for the results of the larger tests of this spring. If initial results of 1963 are confirmed by the more extensive tests of 1964, then we can say that research has solved still another knotty problem of wildlife management.

 Maybe soon we can adjust the numbers of coyotes to suit the needs of the land—and the landowners—without endangering any other species of wildlife or domestic animals.
 Perhaps Planned Parenthood for Coyotes is the answer.

Giants Take League Title

The Earth Giants, members of the Freshman League of Texas Teen-age Baseball Association, captured the local championship for the season July 21, when the local Yankees downed the Mets in the first game of a double header, 15-8. This gave the Giants a deciding lead over all teams. The Giants have a 12-4 win-loss record.
 In the final game last week, which was played Thursday, the Giants slugged out a score of 13-7 over the Cardinals. Home runs were scored by Dale Wheatley and H. R. #10 for Bridge. Pitcher Terry Hanchin was relieved in the 3rd inning by his battery mate, Terry Bridge.
 The Giants will begin play in the District Tournament at Floydada, Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Accompanying the champs will be Danny Boone, pitcher and catcher of the Cardinals, Steve Sanderson, pitcher of the Mets and Gil Vining, pitcher and catcher of the Red Sox.
 Coaching the Giants are Jack Rylant and Robert Bridge, and assistants Arboth Rylant, Harlyn Talloway and Billy Don Carson. Bat boy for the Giants at the tournament will be Delbert Rudd.
 Teams competing will be Earth, Silvertown, Matador, Abernathy, and two teams from Floydada. Members of the local Giants are Terry Houchin, Terry Bridge, David Holt, Dennis Rylant, Kent Coker, Craig Barton, Donnie Templeton, Dale Wheatley, Steve Hay and Catrina Garza.
 Sponsoring the championship team is Earth Service and Supply and Watson Bros. Butane, Springlake.

School For Patrolmen To Begin

Opportunity for an advanced education with a regular monthly income while preparing for a career in outstanding public service as a patrolman is being offered by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Fifty young men who can qualify will be selected to attend school at the Department of Safety Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. Upon graduation they will fill vacancies in one of the Department's four uniformed services-- Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection, or Driver Licensing.

Examinations will be given on August 8, September 12, and October 10. Applications for these examinations must be received by 5 p. m. on the Mondays preceding those dates.

Only young men between the ages of 21 and 35 will be accepted as applicants. Full information can be obtained by contacting any patrolman or the nearest DPS station.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director, urged interested young men to submit applications early to insure enrollment and to allow time for processing. The four-month school will begin on November 19. Courses include 95 subjects which consume some 800 hours of classroom and other activities. Students will receive a broad education, ranging from law enforcement and investigation to table manners and from physical conditioning to the art of professional driving.

While in training, students earn $375 per month. Upon graduation they become commissioned officers and receive salaries ranging from $438 to $453 per month, depending on branch of service. In addition, they receive longevity pay of $10 per month extra for each five years of service up to a maximum of $50 per month. Promotions are given on the basis of annual competitive examinations.

Other benefits include two weeks paid vacation, 12 or more holidays each year as provided by the Legislature, 12 days per year sick leave which may accumulate to a maximum of 36 days, retirement system based on age and/or years of service, social security benefits, travel expenses when away from station as prescribed by law, group hospitalization and life insurance plan (optional), uniforms and the necessary equipment to perform duties.

"Each patrolman answers the call to serve with the opportunity to participate in a constantly developing effort to curb the dual menace of increasing crime and traffic accidents," Garrison said. "He becomes a part of the law enforcement team which is dedicated to the task of holding the line against these evils which sap the strength of our State and Nation."

To qualify as a student-patrolman, applicants must be not more than three pounds per inch of height; sound physical condition; 20-30 vision without corrective lenses; cannot be color blind; must have a high school education or the equivalent; and must be a United States citizen and a resident of Texas for at least one year immediately prior to the date of application.
