haustible supply of hubbub enthusiasm and could be very easily channelled toward higher school spirit.

Could it be that adjustments are in order on all sides, including parents, faculty, and maybe students to correct negative attitudes.

In the past few years S-E has had more parent interest and participation than any school in the country. Surely, if a lack of interest is currently being shown, it is done so through unawareness.

Indications were made that the fault seemingly was with parents in the home. They seemed uninterested and therefore the students followed suit.

Questions And Answers Concerning Opportunity Plan

What Is The Springlake-Earth Division Of The Opportunity Plan?

This fund is established as a division of the Opportunity Plan, Incorporated at West Texas State University at Canyon. It is established as a revolving fund for lending purposes only. Each student granted aid under this plan is expected to repay all money loaned to him according to a repayment schedule.

Where Will The Money Come From For This Fund?

Citizens and organizations of the Springlake-Earth area who desire may contribute money to the fund. All money so contributed is deposited in Earth. Money in this account will be used to give financial aid to those students selected by the committee of the Springlake-Earth Committee. If all the money in this account is not utilized by local students, it will be loaned to a needy student in some other area, subject to the above stipulations and will be repaid. By the same token, surplus money from other areas under this plan can be used by a local student if our funds are not sufficient. In this manner all money in all areas is being utilized.

Who Composes The Springlake-Earth Committee?

They are chairman, Norman Hinchliffe; vice chairman, Dave Cavitt; secretary, JoEddy Riley, Route 2, Hart 79043. Also Bob Belew, Roger Haberger, Perry Martin, DeWayne Jones and W. B. Braden.

If I Wish To Contribute To This Fund, Whom Do I Contact?

You may send or give your money to any committee member above or you may deposit it in the Earth Bank in the Springlake-Earth Division of the Opportunity Plan.

What Type Schools Can The Student Attend?

An applicant can get funds to a four year college, a junior college, a two year college, trade school or a technical school. Funds will be awarded without regard to race, color or creed.

Can This Loan Be Used Even If The Student Is Receiving Other Financial Aid?

Yes. This is really the main function of this organization. In fact, since the funds available from the Springlake-Earth division will be limited, at least in its early stages, every student seeking aid will be obligated first to use his utmost initiative in securing aid through the existing programs. The committee will satisfy itself that this obligation has been discharged before approving aid from funds of this division.

National 4-H Week Set October 4-10

"We Care." That's what more than 3 million boys and girls across the nation will be saying during National 4-H Week, October 4-10.

Who are they? About 300 live right here in Lamb County and approximately 90,000 are Texans, reports Assistant County Agent Bobby Brunson.

The 9 to 19 year-old youths do more than just talk about caring. They show their interest and concern by working on community and county projects of many kinds. They take advantage of the opportunities which membership in 4-H provides for them and then do their best in carrying out assigned responsibilities.

4-H Club members have long been engaged in programs aimed at making their homes and communities better places in which to live. The assistant county agent said the projects help them learn-by-doing, including combatting poverty, malnutrition and the pollution of our environment.

The assistant county agent noted that 4-H'ers are enrolled in educational programs, the youth phase of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, which aim to give members basic training not only in their projects but in leadership and citizenship responsibilities as well.

Membership in 4-H is not limited to rural boys and girls. In fact, noted Brunson, a sizeable percentage of the Nation's total enrollment is made up of boys and girls who live in urban areas, many from the heart of our major cities. New project programs are being constantly added in order to interest youth who do not have the space nor facilities to carry out farm related projects. Brunson said, Electronics, automotive, wood working, science, dog care and training, bicycling, money management, clothing, health and nutrition are among the many projects open to urban boys and girls.

Full details on what 4-H is all about and its training program are available from the county Extension office, Brunson said. In fact, he added, any of the local agents would be happy to discuss 4-H programs with interested youth and their parents.

Goodwill Centre Has Cleaner Appearance

Members of the Young Homemakers operated the Goodwill Centre in Earth Saturday and had the lowest sales record since its opening. Only $1 was taken in during the day.

Much of the merchandise was not on display and still remained in boxes. This created a hindrance to both customers and sales personnel.

Tuesday of this week many ladies of the Earth-Springlake communities met and cleaned the Centre. They also sorted clothing for displaying openly and for filling items in boxes more easily accessible to sales personnel.

Among those aiding in the clean-up were Mrs. Allen Gover, Mrs. Ralph Radd, Mrs. R. C. Hyde, Mrs. Fred Clayton, Mrs. Bob Boone, Mrs. R. W. Fanning, Mrs. Jimmy Smith, Mrs. Robert Biles, Mrs. Larry Hausmann and Mrs. Robert Higgins.

Are You Guilty?

by The Farmer's Mate

Not long ago someone said to me, "I'm not as good as people think I ought to be. I have my times of deep distress. Why don't they understand? I need a rest. From being someone I really am not! Please, dear God, let me fill my spot. In this world by being just me-- Not someone that I ought to be."

Are you guilty? Have you made the mistake of putting him in the spotlight and having him make a farce of his life not being able to remove the mark of self-righteousness? What does it prove? We all must learn to love and adore our brother. And not make him live for us as another.

Ambrosia is a word from the Greek language meaning immortality. It was the food of the Roman and Greek gods.

Cotton Consumption In USA Down

Disappearance of cotton in the United States declined in 1969-70 for the third consecutive year, but USDA projections indicate slightly improved prospects for 1970-71.

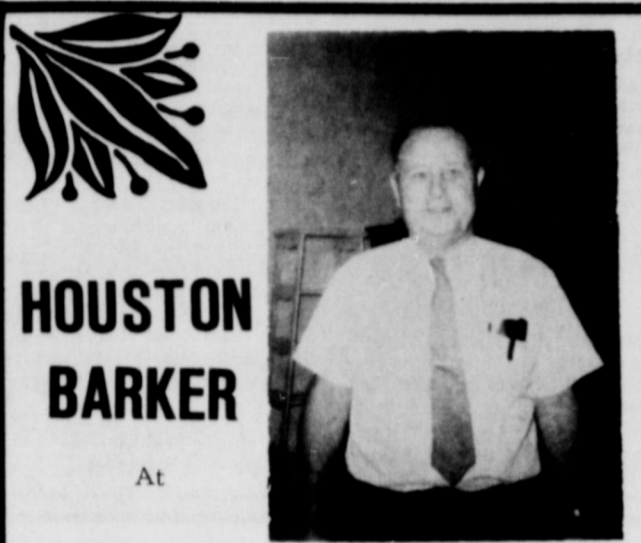

Although exports for the cotton marketing year just passed, at 2,768,000 bales, were slightly above the 1968-69 total of 2,731,000, domestic consumption fell to a 21-year low of 8.0 million bales to bring total consumption down to less than 10.8 million. Domestic and export consumption for 1968-69 came to just over 11 million bales.

According to USDA's latest figures, U. S. cotton disappearance for 1970-71 could reach 11 to 11.5 million bales. The U. S. export outlook appears brighter in view of a little larger supply of cotton available for export from this country, larger prospective worldwide cotton use, and smaller supplies of cotton available for export from foreign free world countries.

still is expected to exceed only slightly the 8.0 million bales of 1968-70.

Use of cotton in the foreign free world in 1970-71 may exceed production by a wider margin than last season. Beginning stocks are smaller and production is now expected to trail last year's 25.3 million bales, while consumption may increase slightly to a little over 27 million. This should favor some increase in U. S. cotton exports, hopefully to between 3 and 3.5 million bales.

Several factors reduced U. S. mill demand for cotton last season. Smaller military needs, down the equivalent of about 75,000 bales of raw cotton, and a continuing high level of textile imports were partly responsible. A slowdown in general economic activity also meant reduced demand for many textile fiber products. And it almost goes without saying that competition from man-made fibers remained at a high level. Consumption of non-cellulosic staple fibers more than cancelled any gain cotton might have made from a lower use trend in rayon and acetate fibers.

MRS. LARRY COWAN (nee Carol Jackson)

Jackson-Cowan Vows Exchanged

The marriage of Miss Carol Jackson and Larry Cowan, both of Fort Worth, was solemnized in the Forest Park Baptist Church at Fort Worth at 7:30 p. m. September 18.

Rev. Randy Ruddell officiated for the double ring wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jackson, former residents of Earth currently of Fort Worth, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cowan, also of Fort Worth.

The altar was decorated with a lovely white archway flanked with shocking pink carnations entwined in greenery and enhanced with pink satin ribbons. The archway was flanked by large baskets of pink carnations and white candelabras holding long pink lighted tapers. The center aisle of the church was enhanced by a lovely white carnation nestled in a white satin bow placed on each pew.

Music selections included "The Bride's Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Lynda Robbins of Earth was maid of honor.

Craig Cowan, brother of the groom, of Fort Worth, served as best man.

Ushers were the bride's cousins, Brian Hulcy of Earth and Gary Jackson of Fort Worth.

Given in marriage by her brother, Michael Jackson, the bride was lovely in a long white satin bridal gown with a floor length train and fitted sleeves of peau de sole. Wide panels of white lace accented the front and back of the lovely gown. Her fingertip veil of silk filusion descended from a headpiece of a leaf design with white sequins and beads. She carried a bouquet of pink and white rosebuds.

The maid of honor wore a floor length dress in shocking pink trimmed with rolls of pink satin ribbon and carried a bouquet of pale pink rosebuds.

The bride's mother wore a peach colored dacton two-piece dress with a white tie around the neck. She wore a peach and white corsage of carnations. The groom's mother was adorned in a blue dacton dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the dining hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a pink lace cloth and centered with an arrangement designed with ten pink tapers encircling lovely pink carnations. The three tiered white wedding cake was decorated with small pink rosettes and was served with a silver serving set by Debbie Jackson, sister-in-law of the bride, of Fort Worth. Nancy Darrow of Fort Worth served punch from a crystal service set.

A registry table with a white lace cloth and pink carnations held by a crystal vase was placed at the entrance to the dining hall where guests were registered by Mary Lou Jackson, sister of the bride.

For traveling, the bride chose a beige dacton dress with a pale pink stripe fashioned with a rolled collar.

After a short trip to Lake Whitney, the couple will reside at 2569 Rogers Street in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Cowan is a 1970 graduate of Pascal High School in Fort Worth. She is employed at TCU as a cashier in the dining hall. She is a former student of Springlake-Earth Junior High.

MAKING MONEY
Do you know what it takes to make a dollar bill?
As most people know, the paper is the best available and of exclusive composition. It is made up of half cotton and half linen. While the paper is being made, small segments of red and blue fibers are embedded into it.
The Treasury Bureau produces all the inks that are used in plate and surface printing. Dry colors, oil and other ingredients are blended to make inks which exactly match the inks used in previous printings.
The engraving of the bill is a very complex and exacting task. Each engraver is a specialist and carves only one feature of the bill into the steel plate. One slip or miscalculation by any of the engravers destroys weeks of work.

"God Is Dead"

(Editor's Note: This true story was recorded by a young man who spent the first 15 years of his life in his native Yugoslavia. The incident occurred when he was in the fifth grade. Cpl. Eck Spahic, whose home is now in Dumas, is a former reporter for the Amarillo Daily News and is en route to Vietnam now as a combat reporter. The story reveals the concentrated elimination of religious ideals necessary for the survival of communism.)

By ECK SPAHIC

An 11-year-old youth looked out of the classroom window with anger and disappointment. He didn't know what to say or which way to turn.

The whole class was silent; only the teacher was speaking. She was trying to convince the students that there is no God. It was not an easy task.

The boy felt lonely, afraid, and disillusioned. He wanted to argue with his fifth grade biology teacher, but his attention was recalled to her repeated question: "Is there still anyone in the class who believes in God?"

His lips were about to say: "I do!" But he thought not to say anything. He was concerned with the consequences. He turned around, looking at his classmates, only to catch them looking at each other over their shoulders.

No one answered her question. The class remained silent.

He felt frustrated. The biology teachers, he felt, opposed all his ideals, inherited cultural values, and traditions. He didn't know much about the Bible. In fact, he had never possessed one. He had never been in church either; although his grandmother had taught him about God. The teacher was, he realized, trying to destroy his beliefs.

This wasn't the first time his biology teacher had discussed the subject. Several times she had lectured on the "new ideology," the one the "progressive forces" advocate.

Unchallenged, the teacher proceeded with the lecture. He felt cheated. He could no longer concentrate on the lecture even though it was an important lesson on human life. She was giving an account of ancient man and his activities during the time he learned to communicate. His mind was blank. He wondered about the teacher's question. He thought he really believed in God. But why didn't he tell her so? That bothered him. He even knew several of his classmates did, too.

He thought these were critical days for religion in his hometown, Tuzla, not only there but throughout his native Croatia.

There was a time, as his parents had told him, during which there were religious schools, festivals, and a religious press. But the Communist regime had closed most of these, prohibited catechism and abolished the Christian heritage and family rights.

He began thinking of the future. He asked himself questions regarding the future of religion.

He realized the great danger facing the religion in his native Croatia from a clear spiritual view--that is, the terrific growth of religious paganism. But he felt it was a logical outcome because of indoctrination of students, to believe, as his teacher said, "There is no God."

To his mind came a land far across the sea: America. He had heard of it on radio.

He thought of the things he had heard on Voice of America broadcasts; he thought of the inspirational Christmas music, of churches on Sundays attended by young and old alike. Hymns, praying, worshipping God.

Those people couldn't be wrong. For they could have never succeeded in building the greatest nation on earth, from a land of wilderness and prairie. It took more than just hard work, sweat, and tears. It took a philosophy blessed from above, to release the energies and creative impulses of American people to build America, a giant in industry, education and commerce.

The boy left the classroom thinking of America and its fortunate people. "They can be proud," he thought, "for they are the blessed people--blessed with freedom and justice, which are the best phenomena for freedom loving men everywhere."

He was walking down the sidewalk of Tuzla. His pride was coming back to him. He felt he was not alone.

EDDIE ALAIR-No. 22 played an outstanding game Friday night moving the ball an average of five yards per carry and caught two passes for 34 yards.

Wolverines came back and it was their turn to show the Bobcats just how to really play ball.

Brian Sanderson, playing defense, picked off a pass in the second play in the new quarter and returned it 20 yards.

The Wolverine offense then went into action and marched down field for three first downs on nine plays to set up their first touchdown on the Bobcat six-yard line. From that point, Hoyt Glasscock lunged over for the six points, following with a kick for the extra point.

After the kickoff, the Bobcats tried desperately to move the ball but after a few plays Wohlgenuth fumbled the ball and Jerry Barden pounced on it like a pro to recover for the Wolverines.

The Wolverines failed to make the first down and the Bobcats took over, but again the ball was fumbled on a handoff to Frierson, who picked up the ball and was chased 39 yards toward their own goal line. After two more plays the Bobcats fumbled again and the Wolverines covered it.

In a field goal try from the 35 yard line by Glasscock, the kick was blocked. The Bobcats were caught roughing the kicker, drawing a 15 yard penalty, moving the ball to the 20 yard line. The try was blocked again, and again the Bobcats drew another penalty, moving the ball to the 5 yard line. With eight seconds left, the Wolverines tried for another touchdown.

The effort was stopped by the Bobcats and time ran out on the clock, with the score tied 7-7 at the end of the half.

The Wolverine defense was great in the second quarter, holding the Bobcats to minus 16 yards rushing and 16 yards passing.

The second half opened with the Bobcats kicking off to the Wolverines.

The Wolverines moved the ball only 13 yards and had to turn the ball over to the Bobcats with a punt.

After four plays, Frierson fumbled again and the Wolverines recovered. After failing to move the ball the Wolverines lost the ball on downs. It had been a rough quarter for both teams.

The Wolverines opened the fourth quarter with a fumble, losing the ball to the Bobcats. Failing to move the ball, they punted to Springlake who lost the ball on downs again.

Electing to pass, the Bobcats lost the ball by an interception by Sanderson on the 15 yard line.

In four plays, Glasscock carried the ball over for the final TD of the night. Glasscock

Plant X Is Most Efficient

You always know the top twenty in college football the Tuesday after the last Saturday that the teams have gone to battle. The statistics don't come out quite that fast in the electric utility business, however, and a Federal Power Commission report which was just recently released shows that two of Southwestern Public Service Company's giant electric generating units were in the top 20 for efficiency in 1968, the latest year for which figures were available.

The Federal Power Commission report on operating expenses and efficiencies rated Unit #2 at Cunningham Station, near Hobbs, New Mexico, as the 19th most efficient gas-fired generating unit in the nation, insofar as heat rate is concerned, and Unit #4 at Plant X, near Earth, was selected as the 12th most efficient.

Each of the generating units has a capability of 210,000 kilowatts. The recognition of their efficiency is measured in the amount of gas required to produce a kilowatt-hour of electric energy.

Where this all gets important to the customers is when you get it down to dollars and cents.

Southwestern's cost for gas has increased by 30% in the last ten years, but the unit fuel cost for each kilowatt-hour generated has increased only 22%. The more efficient units, such as those cited in the FPC report, make this performance possible.

Warm, Fresh Air

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat - you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

Meat Inspection Should Not Be Cause Of Plant Closing

COLLEGE STATION--As the enactment date of the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967 nears, many small livestock slaughter plants are going out of business. Woodrow W. Bailey, Extension livestock and meat specialist, reports. "In December, 1967, Congress passed the Wholesome Meat Act, an amendment to the Meat Inspection Act of 1906," Bailey said. "It provided that within two years from passage, each State must furnish inspection equal to the Federal program in intrastate plants, but the enactment date was extended until Dec. 15, 1970."

more pride in his plant and products and will welcome visitors. Bailey said, adding that an inspected plant also attracts better type employees. "Better products will come out of inspected plants causing more meat and meat products to be consumed; thereby, benefiting the whole livestock and meat industry," Bailey said. "It also gives a good operator a better chance by eliminating shoddy practices of his competition."

Bailey also noted that if there are several small packing plants in a relatively small area, the plant owners might consider the idea of all joining together in a cooperative venture to build one large plant. "This would enable them to buy and use modern equipment which would not be economically feasible in the smaller plants," he said. New small packing house plants, which meet State requirements, will soon be available for packing house owners who might wish to use them as a guide in modifying their present plants, or as a guide for a commercial architect in developing plans for new slaughter facilities, Bailey said. These plans may be obtained by writing to Bailey at Room 717, Animal Industries Building, Texas A & M University, College Station 77843. All plans, he reminded, must be approved by the Meat Inspection Division of the Texas Public Health Department in Austin.

Some counties in Texas are having slaughter plants closed by owners that have been serving a substantial number of people as their only source of animal slaughter and processing, Bailey said. Some plant owners, when contacted by the local inspectors, have just decided to go out of business when they were told about the provisions of the new Texas Meat Inspection Law, he added, noting, however, that in most cases, plant owners should find that the regulations can be followed without hardships.

Bailey urged plant owners, thinking of closing plants, to thoroughly investigate the new law before making a final decision. He also added that there are definite advantages in having meat inspection. "The public will have more confidence in the packing plants products, and criticism and complaints will be reduced," he said. "Products will have a longer shelf and storage life, and by observing label requirements, there will be a tendency toward a more uniform product."

"It also furnishes a lever to keep employees following a set procedure, in other words, a supervisor of sorts." The plant owner will have

Lamb Of The Future Show In San Angelo

The 1971 "Lamb With a Future Show" held for the past two years in San Angelo, will be held there again, June 11-13, 1971.

"This show is designed basically for lamb producers and has as its purpose to assist sheepmen to produce a more acceptable lamb for the market," Dr. F. A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A & M University, said. "The lamb is one which must have an acceptable dressed yield of salable retail meat with acceptable eating quality and must have the ability to reach market weight with a minimum amount of feed. It also must be capable of doing all these things economically and return a profit to the producer."

According to Dr. Orts, The Lamb Committee of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, in a recent meeting, adopted several changes for the 1971 Show. They are as follows:

1. Lambs will be fed as a group in a commercial feedlot beginning May 1, 1971 for a period of up to 45 days and lambs must weigh 60-80 pounds at the beginning of the feeding period. Rate of gain will be reported on each lamb.

2. A sire group will consist of five lambs rather than three as in the past. All of these lambs must be out of the same sire.

3. Lambs will be slaughtered on two dates in 1971. One group will be those lambs ready for slaughter 30 days after the beginning of the feeding period. The remainder of the lambs will be slaughtered at the end of 45 days.

4. The method of evaluating and placing the lamb carcasses will be changed from the present leg-10th index to the use of the USDA yield grade equation for lamb carcasses plus visual appraisal.

5. All lambs will be eligible for overall placing no matter when slaughtered.

6. The official carcass show will be held at the end of the 45 day feeding period.

"Lamb producers should plan their breeding to coincide with the above dates and are encouraged to enter lambs in the show," Dr. Orts said. "It is only through a thorough carcass evaluation such as this that one can determine what is being produced by a certain ram."

For further information concerning the "Lamb With a Future Show", interested breeders contact The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, Box 1486, San Angelo, Texas or local county agricultural agents.

Immediate Stalk Destruction Should Follow Harvest

Mechanical stripping and spindle picking makes for a faster cotton harvest than when it was done with hand labor. One advantage of this faster harvest is that, however, unless a complete stalk destruction program immediately follows the completion of harvest, advises County Agent Buddy Logsdon.

Shredding and plowing under all refuse left after harvest, he notes, will deprive insects of a source of food and hibernation quarters. Too, soil moisture storage will be more efficient. An important piece of equipment in a good stalk destruction program is the type of shredder used.

Tests conducted for a number of years at Texas A & M University show that the conventional vertical shaft shredders do a good job; however, if you are in the market for a shredder, the county agent suggests investigating the ball type machines. It has a horizontal shaft and free-swinging flails which do a much better job of destroying green unopened bolls which are favorite overwintering quarters for insects.

If you use a vertical shaft shredder with knives, be sure it is in top operating condition. This includes sharp knives in good condition and a tractor with sufficient power to pull the machine and maintain the proper rpm on the shredding mechanism.

And finally, says the county agent, if the stalk destruction program is not carried out immediately after harvest, then more demand is placed on seedbed preparation and cultivation operations and most important, insect control problems can be multiplied next spring.

Carol Cole of Lubbock visited in the home of his parents the R. S. Coles Saturday and Sunday.

Ralph Martin of Amarillo is visiting with his mother Mrs. Alice Martin.

Scouts Discuss First Aid

Boy Scout Troop #14 met at the Boy Scout Den Tuesday at 6:00 p.m. with counselors Harold Fields and Bill Morgan.

The boys were encouraged to take a refresher course on first aid classes taken last year. Scouts who failed to pass the first aid course last year were asked to review the course in order that they might pass the test this year and receive their first aid badges.

The scouts were given information on the plaque to be awarded to Travis Jaquess. They were also given his address so they might send get well cards to him.

There was a small attendance due to lack of understanding on meeting time. All future meetings are set for Tuesdays at 6:00 p.m. and will be completed most of the time at 7:00 p.m.
