FARMERS' CONGRESS A SUCCESS

John Gorham of Waco is Re-elected President of Final Day's Session of Congress

College Station, July 29.—John Gorham of Waco, was re-elected president of the nineteenth annual Farmers' congress at the closing session of that body tonight at the Agricultural and Mechanical second term. This is President Gorham's second term. Fritz Englehard of Egale Lake was elected vice-president and M. Falkner of Waco was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding C. O. Moser of Dallas.

The closing session of the congress was marked by an especially strong address by Dean H. J. Webber of the graduate school of agriculture at the University of California. "Influence of Improved Seeds in Yield of Farm Crops" was the subject of the address. Perhaps the brightest feature of today's programme was the crowning of the Annie of the House of Wolfe, of Beoville, Bee county, as queen of the Farmers' Congress Canning club girls. The crowning was attended with elaborate ceremony and songs composed especially for coronation. Queen Annie has been chosen as the recipient of the Eleanor Brackneridge scholarship at the College of Industrial Arts for excellence in all-round work for the year. The award is based on her exhibit of canned product at the Dallas Fair, sowing and history of the growing of her crops. She grew 2,000 pounds of tomatoes and made a net profit of $76 off of her one-tenth of an acre. The scholarship carries with it $1,500 and will cover five years work at the college.

At the coronation ceremonies Miss Nani Mercer of Mount Pleasant was awarded a gold medal in the canning contest, which has been running at college for the past three days.

The Horticultural society had another busy session today. The absolute necessity for thorough knowledge of varieties before beginning improvement work in plant breeding was emphasized by Dean Wedder. John S. Kerr of Sherman, speaking on the subject of a botanical garden and arboretum for Texas, told of the campaign being made for the establishment of such a garden. W. B. Lanham of the extension service of the college, spoke on the place of the home garden in the diversification scheme.

All of the sectional meetings closed today and most of the Farmers' congress delegates left for their homes. The short course students, 400 in number, will remain here until this afternoon, pursuing their work in their respective divisions.

Whereas: We believe there is a crying need for an institution in the western part of the State leaving that Texas is big enough to have enough to supply to the and Girls of this part of the school that will be in keeping with our natural resources and enable them to go hundreds of miles from their homes in the climates where they are especially unsuited to live in this high altitude.

Resolved that Hall County Convention assembled, endorse the administration of Governor James E. Ferguson, and elect him for the courageous man which he has met the needs of the State, and for the excellent record during his administration we commend the conduct of the administration for the harmonious in which it worked out the State to the people at the last State Convention held at El Paso.

Resolved that we are in a movement on foot in the N. W. portions of Texas to the securing of an A. & M. College where west of the 99th and north of the 30th. parallel.

JOHN A. WHITE IS DEAD Man Who Built the Court House in This and Other Panhandle Counties.

J. A. White of Vernon, died Thursday of last week, the funeral being held on Friday, the burial being at Vernon. Twenty years ago there was not a better known man in the Panhandle than John White. He built the Childress county jail in 1887-8, later the court house at Wellington, also the court house at Matador. He was the builder of many public buildings in west and Northwest Texas, the most noted being the court house at Decatur. For the past few years he has devoted his personal attention to his farm near Vernon, and was particularly noted as a grower of alfalfa seed. Peace to his ashes.—Childress Index.

Business Changes Mr. Clark has bought the interest of his partner, C. G. Wilson, in the new brick plant. We understand that Mr. Clark will push the construction of the plant to completion as quickly as possible.

Make the visiting fire-fighters welcome—they are good friends who protect our lives and property.

WHITE SOX HAVE HARD LUCK, LOSE ONE OF SEVEN

TAKE TWO GAMES AND LOSE ONE AT SHAMROCK. WIN VERY EASY FROM BOYS AT AMARILLO.

SOX ARE PANHANDLE CHAMPIONS

Get Three in Row From Burkburnett. Will Play Electra Next Three Days.

The Memphis White Sox returned Monday after a week-end series of three games with Shamrock, followed by a Sunday game at Amarillo. They had unusually hard luck, for them, losing one out of the seven games played.

A feature of the Shamrock series was the "no hit" first pitched by Lee. The Shamrock scores were as follows: Thursday's game, 2 to 0, in favor of Memphis; Friday's game, 5 to 6, Shamrock winning; Saturday's game, 3 to 1, won by Memphis.

The game at Amarillo Sunday afternoon was taken by the Sox without effort; the score being 13 to 3. The White Sox have now met, and vanquished, about all the crack teams of this section, so we suppose they may rightfully proclaim themselves champions of the Panhandle diamond.

Monday the Burkburnett team came up and the first of three games was played that afternoon. The visitors are among the best players to visit us and the scores were close throughout.

A feature of the second game was the pitching of Hale, who has heretofore distinguished himself in almost every other position, he relieved Eussell in the latter part of the game and fanned nine batters in succession. The respective scores for the series were as follows: 2 to 1, 4 to 2, 4 to 2; Memphis winning each.

This morning the Electra team came in and games will be played this afternoon, tomorrow and Saturday. The Electrians are a husky lot and are said to be first-class players, so some good games are expected.

HUDGINS KILLED AT VERNON

Principal of Dallas School Struck by Train at Railroad Crossing Near Vernon.

Vernon, Texas, July 31.—Prof. B. W. Hudgins, principal of the John Henry Brown Public School of Dallas, was instantly killed about 8:30 a. m. this morning when the automobile in which he was riding was hit by the northbound freight train No. 19 on the Fort Worth & Denver Railway at a crossing two miles northwest of Vernon.

Mr. Hudgins was en route to Clarendon, Amarillo and Snyder with his wife and four children. Mrs. Hudgins and children escaped injury.

As Mr. Hudgins approached the crossing he saw the train coming and endeavored to stop his automobile, but he was on the track before he could do so. All of the family succeeded in getting out and to the safe to roll it off the track. It was while thinking one of the children was still in the car, went back and attempted to roll it off the track. It was while pushing the car that he was killed and killed.

The body was shipped to Snyder today for burial.

Prof. Hudgins was a cousin to the Hudgins boys and the Dunbar Brothers here. The family had expected to spend Monday night here with relatives.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains on my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. STATE FAIR OF TEXAS HAS LARGE INCREASE IN PREMIUMS

ALL AGRICULTURAL AND LIVE STOCK CLASSES ARE GREATLY BENEFITED
NEW PREMIUM LIST IS NOW READY FOR PERUSAL.

R. E. L. Knight, President.

R. E. L. Knight, president of the State Fair of Texas, announces that the most extensive and complete arrangements have been made with a view of making the 1916 State Fair at Dallas, which opens October 14, and continues to and through October 29, the largest, most interesting and most valuable agricultural and educational exposition ever held.

During the year just passed, the Fair management has conducted vast improvement enterprises at Fair Park—practically every department has felt the influence of the earnest desire to bring all details connected with the Fair right up to the minute; and, as a consequence, when the 1916 Fair opens next fall, every necessary equipment and facility for an epoch-making exposition will have been provided.

Premiums Largely Increased. The State Fair of Texas is, essentially, an agricultural exposition; its purpose is to gather together and display annually a representative showing of the wonderful resources and possibilities of the great Southwest, and this in order that the peoples of other sections may have an increased appreciation of the marvelous fertility of Southwestern soils, and the incomparable advantages of our matchless Southwestern climate. It is obvious that this purpose can be best achieved by inducing and influencing a large majority of farmers of the section to bring displays of their products to Dallas, and with this end in view, the directors of the Fair have, this year, voted large increases in premiums for practically all classes of agricultural and live stock exhibits. The premiums offered by the Fair this year are undoubtedly the most valuable ever appropriated by any Fair Association; and, likewise, the total number of premiums will be much greater than in the past.

Many New Classifications Added. In almost every division, and particularly in the sections devoted to agriculture and live stock, there will be found this year a number of interesting new classifications. In the poultry section, a classification for all kinds of pigeons has been devised, and a special building is now being constructed to house the large number of pigeon exhibits expected. The raising of pigeons for the market is becoming an important industry in the Southwest—of sufficient importance, in fact, to justify a good representation at the State Fair of Texas.

Premium List for 1916 Now Ready.

W. H. Stratton, secretary of the Fair Association, announces that the premium list for 1916 has just been issued and is now ready for general distribution. This is a book of 142 pages, handsomely printed on good paper, and is fittingly illustrated with photographic reproductions of portraits of the officers and directors of the Fair, and with scenes in Fair Park.

While the title of this work is simply "Premium List," the publication is, in fact, much more—as it contains a great deal of interesting and valuable information relative to the rules and regulations governing the different classes and, in fact, all necessary data relative to the aims and purposes of the Fair.

A feature of this book which will interest practically all Texans will be found in the front of the publication in the nature of a large folder, 40 inches long by 8 inches wide, upon which is illustrated a splendid panoramic view of a portion of the Fair Grounds. This is a late photograph and shows the grounds just as they are today. The reverse side of this folder presents a fine panoramic view of the present skyline of the city of Dallas. This is likewise a very recent photograph and glowingly depicts the wonderful growth which Dallas has attained in recent years.

In the back of the 1916 Premium List will be found a similar large folder presenting many of the amusements which are to be at the Fair this fall. The amusement program, as outlined by Secretary Stratton, is by far the largest and most expensive ever offered by the Fair management, and while both sides of this large folder have been utilized for the purpose, it has been found to be entirely impossible to present a large portion of the acts which have already been secured.

Mr. Stratton states that a sufficient number of Premium Lists have been published to take care of all demands, and that a copy will be mailed to any address upon receipt of request. There is no charge for this publication. Those who wish only the various folders can, for the asking, secure copies beautifully bound especially for free distribution to the people of Texas and the Southwest.

From the nature and extent of the preparatory work already concluded, it is easy to deduce that the 1916 State Fair of Texas, to be held in Dallas October 14 to 29, will be the largest in the history of Texas.

ENCAMPMENT AT STATE FAIR VALUABLE INSTRUCTION PROJECT

THREE HUNDRED TEXAS FARM BOYS AND GIRLS ARE TO PARTICIPATE IN UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE IS INTERESTED

W. H. Stratton, Secretary.

The monster Educational Encampment for Texas Farm Boys and Girls, to be held in connection with the 1916 State Fair of Texas, October 14 to 29, will undoubtedly prove to be one of the most interesting features of this year's State Fair. At the same time, the educational influence that will be conferred upon three hundred boys and girls of the State.

All necessary plans and arrangements have been concluded by the Fair management in co-operation with the State Agricultural & Mechanical College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and it is stated that detail will be lacking to insure complete success of this movement.

W. H. Stratton, secretary of the State Fair of Texas, announced recently that three hundred scholarships in his encampment would be available—two hundred for boys and one hundred for girls, and that these scholarships would be awarded on a competitive basis, to the boys of the Boys' Agricultural Clubs, and girls of the Girls' Canning Clubs, who make the best records in their work during 1916. Secretary Stratton also stated that these scholarships would give the successful contestants an entire week at the Fair with all expenses paid, and that he would be glad to send a descriptive booklet concerning the Encampment to any boy or girl who would like to enter the competition.

THE SMART HOTELS

Many Odd, Unusual Costumes Worn
by Out-of-Town Visitors

Blue Serge with Scarlet Shoes and Hat

The luncheon hour at the smart hotels, even in these mid-summer days is unusually gay with pretty frocks. The dainty cotton frock, varied by taffetas and a few gabardines and serges, predominates, and as many of the pretty costumes are worn by out-of-town visitors, one glimpses, now and then, something delightfully new and original. At the Ritz-Carlton the other day for instance, a young miss wore a dark blue serge frock with a plain stripe of scarlet and yellow, arranged about an inch apart. Her hat and shoes, which had high French heels, were bright scarlet. The effect was striking but not unbecoming to one of her age.

Russian Blouse Costume.

An elderly woman with a quantity of soft white hair, sitting near by, wore a soft gray faille gown, with a large sailor-shaped hat of black hat-ters' plush. Hatters' plush, it is predicted, will be one of the popular materials for fall and winter hats. Net, in black and white, composed many of the dresses and there were also a goodly number of delicately colored organdies.

Sports suits, too, are often worn at the luncheon hour; that is, the soft, glove-silk coats in the favored bright colors, combined with skirts of pongee in the natural shade, or with white or the popular stripes, in vivid combinations. The daintiest of blouses are worn under these coats, of a pastel colored Georgette, bastiste or a handkerchief linen.

Popularity of Georgette Frocks

The white Russian frock of Georgette, with perhaps a touch of contrasting color on cuffs or collar, is one of the favored designs for afternoon and evening wear in the city. Georgette is delightfully cool and graceful and lends itself particularly well to the season's styles, both for daytime and for evening wear. It is one of the sheer materials which really washes and wears very well, making it practical for the modish transparent sleeve, the costume blouse and the dance dress.

For dance dresses, the printed Georgettes are youthful and pretty; some of these have printed borders, and plain white or colored grounds, and then again the softly tinted rose or conventionalized design is scattered over the material, on a ground of white, or stripes. It is most effective and satisfactory for many purposes.

One-Piece Frocks

Although many cling to the tailored suit with its contrasting blouse even in the warmest weather, the one-piece dress is becoming more and more of a favorite. One of the most attractive of simple serges noticed recently, was made of two straight widths, belted in loosely with a belt of the material embroidered in a dark red soutache. The armholes were cut out deeply and bound. With this frock was worn a white Georgette underblouse with loose flowing sleeves color; the wide collar was also bound with the rose. It was a charming little model because of its simplicity, and very youthful in its straight lines.

The heavy linens, too, are effective—French blue, the soft pale grays, and tivo for street wear. Ivory white, cool looking greens are among the favored shades in these linens. Many of them are cut along the straight lines of the serges, being pleated often on to a shoulder yoke, and belted in loosely with a belt or sash of the same material as the frock. An especially pretty white linen on this order, was made with a touch of black on the collar and sash.

The sash is quite smart just now on all types of dresses, from the simple serge to the afternoon taffeta or pongee. It is usually narrow, and made of the material of the dress, or of satin, when the frock is serge; generally a motif is embroidered on the ends, in colored beads or wool.

Many of these sashes cross in front

A New Collar as a Feature and are knotted in the back, loosely and gracefully.

Serge and Silk Combinations

Many of the favored silk frocks, noticed in the hotels, on the roofs, and in the shops, are combined effectively with a wool material, serge, gabardine or cloth. This is an idea which appeals to many and which is being used considerably in the ready-made garments. The lower portion of the skirt, the sleeveless jumper, wide cuffs and collar are generally made of the serge, and the body of the frock of the silk, taffeta, satin, or one of the Japanese silks, as the case may be.

Simple Millinery For Small Maids.

As usual, misses', juniors' and tiny tots' frocks and outer garments follow the same general lines of grown-up designs. The shop windows are gay with flowered muslins, voiles and dainty party frocks of flouncings and embroidered batistes, and even nets and taffetas, for Fashion now decrees that taffeta and the flowered summer silks are not too grown-up for small people. One especially pretty little frock of taffeta and net shown in a shop devoted almost entirely to children's things is trimmed with daisies, a band of them forming the girdle.

Misses' Jumper Dress

a cluster here and there on the skirt, and one on either shoulder. Another Frenchy little party frock of taffeta and crepe in made sleeveless, with a smartly flaring ruffled skirt; this design, however, will hardly appeal to American mothers although it is charming as a picture. An effective simple dress for summer is of plain white voile, trimmed with bands of old-time fagoting arranged to form a round yoke and banding the cuffs.

Children's and Junior's Millinery
Most Charming

For the very small person there are charming little fitted caps of lace and net, and fetching little close-fitting bonnets of pale pink and blue Georgette trimmed with a cluster of tiny flowers or a rosette of ribbon. For the older girls the wide brimmed Bangkok and Wen-Chows are appropriate, trimmed with a touch of bright color in wool or ribbon, or a simple band of velvet or elastic silk banding the crown. These sports bands with the stripes running around or up and down, are very becoming to the young girl and harmonize well with a plain wash frock or a dark serge or linen suit.

Amarillo Boy Drowned.

Burrell Thomas Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Collins, was drowned Sunday afternoon at Amarillo while on a picnic in celebration of his fifteenth birthday. Burrell was a fair swimmer, but for some unknown reason he lost control of himself and sank. His friends hardly realized what was taking place until he was lost beneath the water.

Extend the glad hand to the fire-boys, they are our welcome guests.

against senatorial candidates for failure to comply with the provisions of the senatorial primary law. Hickey is a Socialist and a spellbinder. Since he whipped a Dallas policeman twelve years ago he hasn't been afraid to tackle anything. He asks for the enforcement of the law, the criminal section of it, and recommends rock pile punishment for Culberson, Colquitt, Brooks, Campbell, Riddle and Davis. The greedy political vampire.

Lakeview to the river at Oxbow than live in Estelline and south of the river excluding Turkey. That there are more wagons loaded with hogs taken to Memphis at night from this section than there are autos loaded with joy-riders of Estelline who cross the Estelline bridge to attend the picture show at Memphis, to say nothing of the daylight traffic from this section. The petty opposition of the Democrat-News combination will do little to keep down progression.—Lakeview Promoter.

A careful reading of the above discloses only one statement that is not erroneous — "ridiculous criticism," seems to be correct. As to the article credited to the Estelline News, it was neither written, dictated nor even suggested, by "father." We are not opposed to the election proposed by the petition; on the contrary we have always contended for that method of providing for public improvements as the following editorial written by us and published in the Estelline News will show:

We favor building a bridge across Red River! If a substantial structure can be built between here and Newlin at the price named ($19,000) we believe Hall county can well afford to pay for same, and that convenience to the traveling public would fully justify the expenditure. But we do not want the bridge enough to give our assent to the proposal that the commissioners shall bind the county for the amount of indebtedness without the consent of a majority of the voters who must pay for same in increased taxes. No consideration of possible gain to this town and community can, as we see it, justify methods so opposed to every principle of democratic government. The basic principle of freedom rests upon the right of the people to freely express the will of the majority, which can only be done by secret ballot. The preservation of this right is the sacred duty of every citizen who believes in the right of the majority to rule; and no selfish interest however great should be allowed to blind him to his duty. We are well aware our position in this matter is opposed to local sentiment and that we will probably be accused of working against the interests of our home town, and that we may lose in a business way in consequence; but we are absolutely sure of the correctness of our position. We do not believe that the real interests of this town, or any other town or community, can ever be served by upholding a wrong principle, whatever the immediate results might be. The proposition to build a bridge across Red River has been three times submitted to the voters of this county and defeated each time. If in the face of this fact the commissioners should now contract for a bridge without first obtaining their consent it would be an act of bossism and arrogance so flagrant as to merit the condemnation of every fair-minded citizen.—Estelline News, September 11, 1915.

THE PROMOTER'S PAROXYSM.

The Promoter editor has always favored a bridge across Oxbow even when he was editor of the Memphis Democrat and had no material interests in this section. Now that he is living closer to the needy he fully realizes the dire necessity of the bridge. He made a trip to Turkey last Saturday via Oxbow in an auto a distance of thirty-five miles. The road leading to the river on either side was in fine shape and good time was made. But in crossing the river much time was spent. The sand was so deep and quicky that the car wheels sunk several inches into it and a big team of mules had to pull the car across. In returning the Estelline route was chosen—a distance of over 51 miles to Memphis and 64 miles to Lakeview over some of the worst roads in Hall county. Do you see the benefit of the bridge at Estelline to the people of Turkey and territory in reaching the county seat—Memphis? Then why was the bridge located as it is? To merely accommodate the auto traffic to the coast from the north. Who did it disadvantage? Practically 75 per cent of the people living south of the river from Memphis compelling many to go thirty miles out of the way in order to cross the river on a bridge to avoid the hard pull at Oxbow. The Promoter editor has and is still in favor of "letting the people rule" instead of a few who have selfish motives.—Lakeview Promoter.

The people of this part of Hall county spent in order to get the Estelline bridge about four or five thousand dollars. The approaches to the bridge required this expense to make them passable. If those who will be benefited by the Oxbow bridge will spend enough even to show they are interested then we might favor aiding them but until they "show" something we do not believe they are entitled to any bridge.

As to the Estelline bridge's usefulness to Hall county people this is a question of fact and word of the "Promoter" is not sufficient evidence to any sensible man however we venture the assertion that there are more Hall county people in Memphis every week after having crossed the Estelline bridge than pass through Lakeview in six months.—Estelline News.

The above comment to the Promoter article credited to the Estelline News is a "blind bridal" article. It was set-up on the machine in the office of the Memphis Democrat, written by the "father" editor of the Democrat and sent down to Estelline and printed in the News, consequently "innocent son" gets the ridiculous criticism from the public. There's a reason. First: The voters of Memphis (the Democrat field) or a larger per cent of same have signed a petition asking the commissioners court to grant an election to determine whether or not bonds sufficient shall be issued to construct a bridge across Red River at Oxbow. Second, before the bridge at Estelline was built several sites were placed before a meeting for discussion and the people of Estelline fought all except the present site. Although they promised that if the bridge was built at the Estelline crossing they would assist us in getting a bridge at Oxbow. Third, naturally the proper place for the comment to be printed was in the Estelline News. The last paragraph of the comment certainly sounds silly and shows ignorance on the part of the writer and is the only part of the comment that would lead one to believe it was written by "innocent son" however, it stands for ridiculous criticism. We take issue by stating that there are more people living west of Estelline than there are living east of Estelline. When Adam's Eve began to do the house keeping for Adam, she had no cares such as pursue the modern Adam's madam. She did not know what was the rage, because there was no Woman's Page. She did not get a daily hint from Paris full of passion to start her on a daily sprint to keep up with the fashion. She did not haunt the beauty stores in order to keep open pores. When Adam capered home at night (he was no wearied plodder) he did not shiver lest he might be served with curious fodder. There were no papers so you see there was no Household Recipe. Old Adam was a happy bloke and lived a life most cheery. He did not know that he would choke some day with his bacteria. Adam and Eve had never read Health Articles to scare them dead.

The First Paper.

When Adam's Eve began to do the house keeping for Adam, she had no cares such as pursue the modern Adam's madam. She did not know what was the rage, because there was no Woman's Page. She did not get a daily hint from Paris full of passion to start her on a daily sprint to keep up with the fashion. She did not haunt the beauty stores in order to keep open pores. When Adam capered home at night (he was no wearied plodder) he did not shiver lest he might be served with curious fodder. There were no papers so you see there was no Household Recipe. Old Adam was a happy bloke and lived a life most cheery. He did not know that he would choke some day with his bacteria. Adam and Eve had never read Health Articles to scare them dead.

Old Adam was a happy bloke and lived a life most cheery. He did not know that he would choke some day with his bacteria. Adam and Eve had never read Health Articles to scare them dead.

Eve never went through Adam's breaks when he was sweetly dreaming, because there were no Bargain Weeks to tempt her to such scheming. The serpent thought she was a goose. She was too good for any use.

The serpent was a clever brute. Though he'd not been through college, his sanctum made him mighty cute. It was the Tree of Knowledge. "Aha!" he said, "I'll publish free the Daily Eden Apple Tree!"

The first edition raised a row whose scandal shocked creation. Since that first edition Adam's brow is wet with perspiration. 'Told the scandal rich and rare, that Eve had not a thing to wear!—From The Mergenthaler Lines O' Type News.

Same Driver, Better Machine

The appended clipping, taken from the Hall County Herald, was published in 1912. It not only shows a similarity between the automobile and the political machines; but also proves the old adage that "history repeats itself."

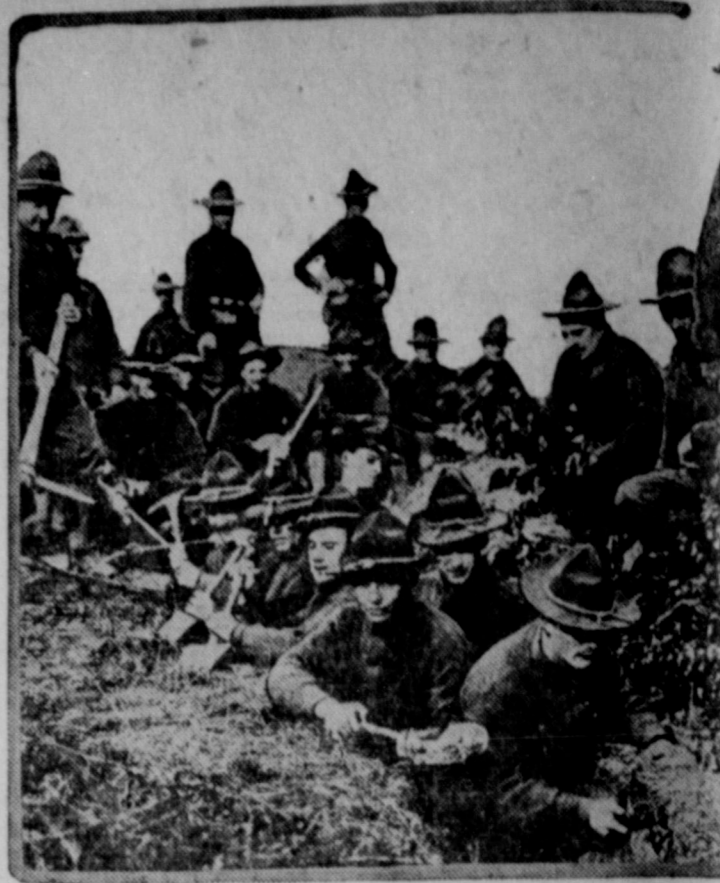

Reference to the proceedings of the county convention held here Saturday and a comparison with the same event in 1912 will show that, perhaps because of the improved machine and the added experience of the chauffeur, the late performance was accomplished with less noise and vibration; but it will also show that the 1912 model was quite effective.

"The steam roller that has been used in the democratic and republican county conventions this week should be put into operation on the streets of the city and the county roads for it sure is a leveler and works like a charm. The machine was first tried out in the democratic convention and came up fully with the guarantee of the manufacturers of this particular roller, Clark, Harmon, Underwood & Co. It was then generously loaned to the republicans who used it with wonderful success, considering the fact that it was a democratic machine. It also demonstrated its ability to withstand a hard jolt and general rough usage when it flattened out Dr. Mickle and his small but heroic band of Taft cohorts, leaving no sign of its passing except a slight depression. By all means lets put it to work on the road with Cagle at the throttle."

The Mail Order Citizens.

The man who buys his goods of a mail order house and expects his neighbors at home to buy goods of him, or to buy labor of him, or to buy professional service of him, is economically a leach. He is sucking industrial blood out of the town and gives none back. He sends his profits out of town, like a chinaman, and has no more right to standing in the community than a foreigner. We are all neighbors industrially in our home town, and the man who sends away for his goods is not one of us. He is of another industrial system, and deserves no local man's support. The fact that this is economically wrong is recognized by the mail order houses themselves. They protect their customers as thieves by offering to keep people from knowing where the mail order goods come from. The mail order houses have no "tags" on their goods. They say in their catalogues that none of their goods are marked and that no one knows where they were brought. If it is proper to hide the place of purchase of an article, it is wrong to buy the article at that place. Only the man who steals is ashamed to say where he got anything he has. There is such a thing as "tainted" goods, "tainted" furniture. All of such that are not bought at home, of men who befriended you, of men to whom you owe a living, are "tainted" because they come unfairly.—William Allen White.

School Children Should Fight

The schools must help in a campaign against flies. Each of our grades should take a part of the work, says a writer in International Harvester competition. Let one grade canvass and enlist the groceries, meat restaurants and householders to provide for proper disposal of garbage and for sanitary conditions. Another grade might make and sell them to the various and butchers for use at their business and to the city authorities in public places. That was successfully in Holland, Michigan.

Still another grade may be given the information which can be used on the subject of flies. All may write compositions on "The Fly's Travels," "Confessions of a Fly," "Dangers of a House" and similar subjects. Prizes may be offered for the best essay from each grade.

Chocolates
A FIRST AID TO CUPID
is a box of chocolates. There is nothing which appeals to a girl, or to a woman for that matter, like a big box of lucious chocolate creams. Many a man has won his way into the affections of a girl through the medium of the candy box. The next time you go to see her take a box of our candies with you, and if you are already married, take home a box to your wife and recall the happy days of courtship. It will pay you well in either case.

WANTED—A JOB. WILL WORK 24 HOURS A DAY AT LOW WAGES

Without exception, I am the best servant that a human being ever had. Work is my delight. I would like to work for you. I do not ask high wages. In fact, I will work for very little, and will expect pay only for the time I am actually working. As to my character, I can refer you to anyone for whom I have ever worked.

I am very strong, and no task is too great or too tiresome for me. At the same time, I am very gentle, and I will obey the orders of a child as readily as those of the head of the house. I am quick. The lightning flash alone can move as quickly as I do on my errands.

I never tire, no matter how many hours a day I work. In storm or sunshine, at any hour of the day or night, I am always ready to respond instantly to a call. I never sleep. All through the night I can guard a home. I will turn the darkness into light of day.

All the disagreeable tasks of keeping house I will do far better than they have ever been done before. I will do the cleaning without raising any dust. The washing is easy with me to help; the ironing a cool and pleasant task. Cooking and sewing are recreations with me at hand.

I am clean all through—no dirt, no dust, no odor, no smoke will annoy you when I do your work.

There is no limit to my usefulness, and yet, strange to say, there are many who do not ask me to help them often, and there are some that have never tried me out at all. Perhaps they do not know how willing and anxious I am to help them.

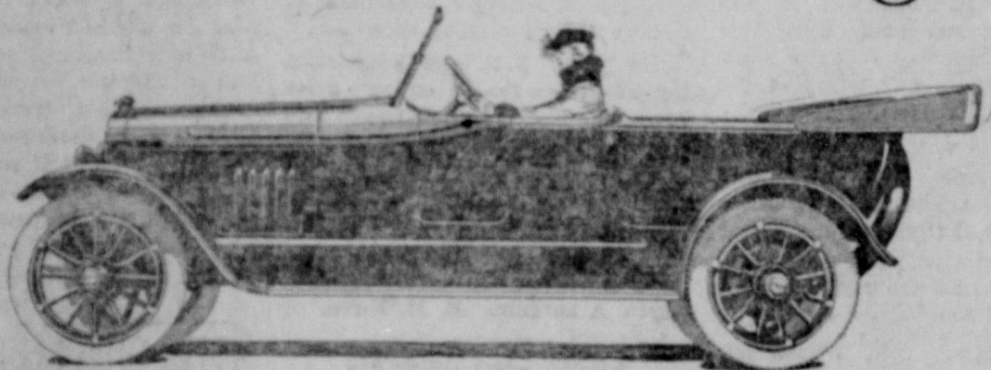

It does not matter whether you are rich or poor, I give to all the same loyal service. I leave behind me only pleasant memories of arduous tasks well done. Send for me. I will come at once. MY NAME IS

By JANE OSBORN.

"Walter," the young wife began, "I have something important to say to you. Being a consistent suffragist, of course, I believe in the economic independence of women. I am going to start the first day of our life together by being—being independent. I am going to get a job and have wages, and then I shall never have to ask you for money."

"Sounds as if you had cribbed that out of one of Mrs. Catt's best speeches," said Walter, trying to be facetious in spite of the surprise that his little wife had just sprung.

Artemisia's cheeks were red and her brown eyes flashed fire. "I am sure I shall never be a parasite. If I don't know how to support myself I shall learn. You know that what little money I had left me was almost used up in my education. What remained I spent on the suffrage campaign and my trousseau."

"What do I care?" demanded Walter. "Thank goodness, I'm no pauper, and I've got a job besides. But what about the little apartment? Don't you like that any more?"

"Certainly. We intended to keep a maid anyway. Well, she can keep house just as well when I am not there as when I am. We can both give her orders before we start out to work in the morning."

It was a month after their return to their apartment and thirty days of worry they had been. At last, after a reign of four perfectly worthless maids, they had managed to induce a fifth to accept the position. Artemisia had found that it was no easy matter for an untrained, inexperienced girl to get work in the busy city and Walter, for some reason, had given her no recommendations to his friends.

But now for three weeks she had hard work. To be sure, it offered only a minimum wage, and as "counter girl" in one of the large publishing houses she stood very small chance of advancement. Thanks to the eight-hour law, she worked only from nine to six, but even at that she returned home at night an hour after her husband, and through sheer weariness on her part and the impatience of the cook to have the dinner things out of the way she always dined in the clothes she had worked in. The pretty house dresses on which she had expended the last of her small inheritance hung unused in the wardrobe and there was small chance that she would ever use them.

Then, one day, things went wrong from the morning to night. Artemisia started out in the morning with her husband and together they boarded the surface car. To her surprise, he paid only his own car fare.

"You forgot me," she whispered as the conductor held his hand out to her.

"Oh, haven't you any cash with you?" he asked in surprise.

"Yes," answered Artemisia slowly, though she had barely enough to pay for her meager luncheon, and as she offered her own hard-earned nickel to the conductor she imagined that the entire company had noticed the incident. As a matter of fact, the conductor smiled pityingly and under his breath said, "Pretty rough, ain't it, lady?"

When Artemisia returned home that night she found Walter waiting for her at the apartment door.

"Now, don't get excited, little girl," he began, putting his arm around her, "but that fine cook of ours has left with all the silver. There was nobody home when I came, so I naturally looked around. Did you leave any jewelry?"

"Yes, my engagement ring in my jewel box. The rest is in the safe deposit. I don't like to wear diamonds at work."

"Well, there's nothing left in your jewel box now, but don't worry, dear, I have telephoned the police."

Together they prepared a little supper and with all the delightful companionship of the two young lovers that they were they sat down to the first meal that they had ever had alone together.

"I should think you would be cross," Artemisia said at length. "I should think you would tell me that if I had been at home where I should be it wouldn't have happened."

"Why should I?" asked Walter. "You are only living up to your convictions."

"Yes, but you were so very, very cross to me this morning. I felt miserable about it all day and I could hardly do any work. If you had slapped my face in the car I wouldn't have felt any more mortified."

"But I was only letting you live up to your convictions, too. The man who is economically independent pays his own car fare. The idea that men must pay women's way is only a survival of the middle ages, isn't it?"

"But, Walter, I'm tired of my convictions. Walter, don't laugh at me, but I've lost my job and I'm tired of being independent and I want to stay home and be old-fashioned. That Mrs. Catt's idea may be all right for some girls, but I'm not educated up to it."

And when the telephone rang to tell Walter that the detectives had captured the thief literally "with the goods on," Walter was too absorbed in embracing his new-found old-fashioned wife to hear until the bell had rung at least five times.

GERMANS LOSE APPAM.

Germany Loses Claim to Appam and Cargo by Decision of Federal Judge at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., July 29.—All claim to the Appam and her cargo as prizes of war was lost by Germany when Lieutenant Berg and his prize crew brought the vessel into the neutral waters of Hampton Roads, according to the decision of Federal Judge Waddill today.

The decision gives the vessel and its cargo to the English owners and holds that the German government forfeited all rights when the prize crew brought the Appam into a neutral port with the intention of "laying up" the vessel indefinitely.

The vessel may be restored to her former owners under bond pending an appeal, or held at Newport News in the custody of a United States marshal, as at present.

Attorneys were notified that the court would hear any motions they desired to make next Wednesday at noon. Consul Von Schilling, who was in court with Lieutenant Berg, said an appeal doubtless would be taken. "I never dreamed," he declared, "that any grounds could be found for taking the Appam from us."

FARM STOCK

DEMAND FOR WORKING MULES

Three-Year-Old Animals Wanted in Every Market in Country—Good Grade Mares May Be Used.

Somehow or other the demand for working mules of good build and weight stays as strong—and as keen in these last few years as ever. Three-year-old mules are wanted in every horse and mule market in the country, and in spite of the increasing number of motor trucks and other transportation methods, the market shows no inclination to forget the mule.

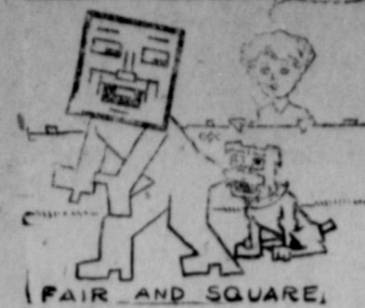

As a side line on the 40, 50 or 160-acre farm you can't beat mule raising. Of course the conditions have to be favorable. You have to have a pretty fair bunch of mares, not too small and of fairly good conformation. There should be a few good jacks in the neighborhood, and there usually are, at least in riding districts. Good grade mares and a pure bred jack make about the right combination to finally result in good money from the mules.

Where there are no good jacks in the district, four or five or six men can very easily club together and buy a good animal. If they really want to get into the mule raising business, to get all the profit coming to them they will be able to get enough money raised to get a good jack.

He should then be insured and given the proper handling. By the right kind of handling he can be made to be of service not only for the mares owned by his owners, but he may be stood for public service and made to earn his keep in that way.

A mature jack's first year of active service ought to enable him to serve something like sixty mares, and later on he ought to be able to serve from seventy-five to eighty without any difficulty. In a few seasons the jack of quality will be able to pay for himself and make his own keep as well as serving all the mares of his owners.

GOOD ROADS AND GOOD SCHOOLS

Statistics Show That Two Are Very Closely Related. Some Comparisons.

Experience shows that there is a very close relation between good roads and good schools, and between bad roads and illiteracy. The report of a few years ago of the United States Office of Public Roads, from which I have already quoted, gives this instructive comparison:

In the five States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Ohio and Indiana, in which 34.92 per cent. of the roads are improved, 77 of each 100 pupils enrolled regularly attend the public schools. In the five States of Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Georgia and South Dakota, having only 1.5 per cent. of improved roads, only 59 out of each 100 pupils enrolled regularly attend the public schools. Data obtained from the Twelfth Census of the United States and from the investigations of the Office of Public Roads show that in four States with a population of over seven million people and having conspicuously bad roads there were in 1900 about three hundred and seventy-five thousand white illiterates born of native parents; whereas in four States conspicuous for their good roads and having a population of more than six millions there were only twenty thousand illiterates.

With poor roads from farm to market there must inevitably be undeveloped farms, high cost of products, poor schools in rural districts, poverty, ignorance, migration from farm to city, and a long train of social economic evils. With the improvement of these local or market roads there follow just as surely greater production and hence cheaper farm products, good schools in the rural districts, more attractive homes and better social life, prosperity, greater intelligence and energy among the people, increasing population in the rural districts, and a movement from the congested populations of cities outward to the free, healthy surroundings of farm and country, thus lessening the heart-breaking competition for employment in the cities and improving the condition of the working men and women in the cities both in their earning capacity and in the additional supplies of food products made available. Moreover, the increased purchasing power in the hands of the farmers, resulting from their greater production, would call for an increased output from the factories in the towns and cities to supply the needs of the farmers, and his means, of course, a steadily increasing demand for labor maintaining and strengthening the rate of wages. In fact, this natural, spontaneous development of American production would spread general prosperity among all classes of the people, relieving discontent and distress, quickening every movement of moral and educational progress, and strengthening the Nation in every feature of its life.—American Leader.

Texas Goods Road Congress

San Antonio Preparing to Entertain Big Crowd of Good-Roads Enthusiasts.

San Antonio is making preparations to entertain not less than 2,000 Texas Good Road's enthusiasts at the meeting of the Good Road Congress, August 17, 18 and 19. According to secretary D. E. Colp, who is touring North Texas in interest of several good road projects unusual interest is evidenced in the meeting and its possibilities for the united efforts of all good roads forces in the State.

Many counties are going to make an effort to secure their prorata part of the $301,050 that is available the first year to Texas from the $85,000,000 Federal road bill. Among the requirements made of states participating is that they have a State Highway Department. Texas has no recognized Highway Department, and one of the objects of the Road Congress is to attempt to immediately secure the proper organization of such a department, thereby securing to Texas its share of the Federal Aid, if counties and sections appropriate an equal amount. Texas' share for the five years will be $4,515,750.00.

Aside from that feature of the meeting the programs will be so arranged that the attendant can have the benefit of a short-course in "the right kind of roads to build" and how to present a bond issue to the people so it will carry. Some counties have failed to carry bond issues, and the combined experiences of attendances from counties which have built systems of good roads will be of special benefit to citizens of those counties.

Mrs. W. M. Moore, of Paris, is here for a two weeks visit with her brother, Mr. G. J. Herd.

FARMERS' SHORT COURSE MONDAY

Everyone Interested in Better Farming Methods Urged to Attend. Ladies Invited.

The "Three Day Movable School," under the direction of District Agent Ganzer, of the U. S. Agricultural Department, the program of which was given in this paper last week, will open its first session at the courthouse at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning.

Everyone interested in farming, stock or poultry raising should attend this school, as there is no doubt of the value of the lessons to be taught if given practical application.

A number of experts in different lines will be present to give the benefit of their knowledge and experience.

Mrs. Marshall will be in charge of the home economics department and the ladies are urged to attend and hear her lectures.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND CABINET AS NOW CONSTITUTED

Three members of the present Wilson cabinet have never appeared before in a cabinet picture, as this one taken since long before former Secretary Bryan resigned. They are Secretaries Baker, Lansing and attorney general; Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy; David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture; T. W. Wilson, secretary of labor; William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce (at extreme right of picture); F. Lane, secretary of the interior; Albert S. Burleson, postmaster general; Newton D. Baker, secretary of state.

Consumption Germs Spread by Flies

The great white plague—tuberculosis—plain, deadly consumption of the lungs, causes more deaths than any other disease in the United States. Flies are a big factor in the spread of this frightful ailment. To go into details of the subject is very disgusting, but disgust will not kill anyone. Consumption will, and flies help.

Assuming that bedridden consumptives deposit their sputum only in closed vessels which flies cannot enter, consider the careless consumptive on the street. He has a coughing spell, raises germ-laden pus from his infected lungs and spits into the highway. Flies immediately swarm on this sputum, feed, cover their padded, hairy feet with the stuff and buzz into the nearest open window or door.

They alight on food spread on the dinner table—perhaps on the butter or in the milk. The germs deposited may not affect a vigorous person, but a member of the family a little under the weather, a little low in vitality, may become infected.

Will you help fight the flies?

BEST TREATMENT FOR COLIC

Improper Feeding is Most Common Cause of Trouble—Physic of Salts or Oil is Favored.

(By L. L. LEWIS, Oklahoma Experiment Station.)

Colic in horses and cattle is from various causes, but is more particularly due to sudden changes in feed or to eating more feed than can be easily digested by the animal at that time. The amount of feed that an animal may digest at one time under certain conditions may be entirely too much under other conditions. Since colic may be caused by so many different things, no one remedy will prove effective in all cases.

As a general rule, most of the colics that are seen in farm stock are due to improper feeding. In those cases the best general treatment that might be used would be to give as early as possible a physic of salts or oil. To relieve the pain seen particularly in spasmodic colic, the safest general treatment that can be used is to give from one to one and one-half ounce of chloral hydrate, dissolved in a pint of water, to which has been added one teaspoonful of ground ginger.

Do not give laudanum in such cases, as it only tends to produce constipation, and on this account is one of the poorest remedies that you can use.

This young woman is carrying a yellow parasol which was one of thousands of suffragists in the "less parade" in St. Louis. National American Women's association staged in an effort to induce the Democratic delegates to a suffrage plank in their platform.
