DENVER FREIGHT CARS WRECK, BURN

PILE UP IN 300 FOOT SPACE AT LELIA LAKE

Damages Estimated at Over $15,000; Memphis and Clarendon Fire Departments Battle Flame; No One Is Injured

By ADRIAN ODOM
(The Democrat Managing Editor)
LELIA LAKE, March 28.—Sixteen cars on the southbound Fort Worth and Denver freight train, No. 76, piled up in a space of 300 feet and burned here last night.

No one was injured. However, two boys, unidentified by railroad officials, claimed to have been riding the car immediately in front of the first one to leave the rails.

Damages were estimated at approximately $15,000 to equipment and contents. No estimate had been made this morning on track damages.

The cause of the wreck was blamed on the breaking of a column bolt on the eighth car from the engine. The truck dropped down, striking the switch on the storage track just north of the Lelia Lake station, breaking the arch bar at the bottom end.

Occurs at 10:45
One pair of wheels derailed and ran on the ties for 11 pole lengths, according to J. W. Mode, superintendent from Amarillo, who took charge of clearing the wreckage early this morning, and striking the turn-out rail of the north house track switch, turned the car over.

The next 15 cars were also derailed and turned over, stacking up into a mass of twisted, broken steel.

The wreck occurred at 10:45 o'clock last night. Two gasoline cars were included among those derailed, and their contents were thrown over the entire wreckage. Over two and one-half hours later, the fire broke out, believed to have been caused by a match or cigarette dropped by some spectator, although railroad men attempted to keep the crowd that gathered quickly out of the wreckage zone.

Call Fire Departments
Fire departments at Memphis and Clarendon were called into service early this morning and battled the flames for several hours. However, every car was either completely destroyed by fire or damaged beyond repair. Mr. Mode stated.

The damages included $9,260 to equipment and $5,980 to contents of the cars, according to the superintendent. The loss was covered by insurance. Nearly $4,000 of the damage to equipment was caused by the blaze.

The destroyed cars included nine loaded with gravel, which was dumped over the right-of-way, one of wheat, two of merchandise, one of coal, two of gasoline and one of beans. All of the contents were destroyed by fire with exception, of course, of the gravel and about 100 sacks of beans.

35 Miles an Hour
The train was in the charge of Engineer Hamilton and Conductor Standish, both of Amarillo, who estimated that they were traveling at a rate of 35 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Following the freight by a few minutes, the southbound passenger train, No. 8, due in Memphis at 11:40 p. m., assisted in pulling the cars remaining on the track away from the wreckage and out of danger. The passenger was delayed six hours and five minutes, the freight, seven hours. A side track was opened and trains passed at 5:40 o'clock this morning.

The Clarendon fire engine was called at about 1:40 a. m. and responded immediately. The Memphis department was called into service about an hour later and re-

Highway to Giles Nears Completion

Highway construction work in Donley County, progressing rapidly from the Hall County line, this week was extended beyond Giles.

Although not opened to general traffic, the new highway is passable all the way to Giles, following along the southwestern side of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad the entire route and missing Giles by several hundred yards.

With the exception of one bridge in the Browder Ranch area, the road is completed the entire route, so that traffic may be directed over that section of the new route soon.

Low and smooth, the highway cuts a beautiful path between the foothills of the Browder Ranch, Texas two points where it crosses deep ravines, the canyons have been filled in instead of bridged, and small drainage structures placed near the top of the road-bed.

The plan of the highway department is to beautify routes along with new construction. At these two points, the fill-in serves as dams, so that two lakes will be formed at the side of the highway. One will be small, but the other will be of considerable size, cutting its way back into the hills in narrow inlets, and perhaps, forming several small islands of broken ground.

From the other end, preliminary road work has extended to Hedley. Bridges and other structures have not been completed, however, and none of the stretch is opened to traffic.

'GREATEST SIN' IS REVIVAL SUBJECT

Huckabee To Localize Topic at Tonight's Meet

"The Greatest Sin ever committed in Memphis" is the subject for tonight's sermon at the First Methodist Church, according to an announcement made by Rev. R. N. Huckabee of Amarillo who is conducting a revival this week.

An urgent invitation is extended to all members of the Methodist Church, all Memphis people who have been members of the Methodist Church, and all people of the community, it was announced.

"We made some real progress in the revival yesterday," Rev. Huckabee said, "and we had a great service with the families which came last night. The church is the only institution that can save our family life. One family out of every six ends in the divorce court. Perhaps two more families out of every six fail in every essential in the production of Christian citizens. It is heart-breaking to see more parents taking an interest in their children and bringing them to the church. There they learn more of the way of Christ; and sing the songs of God together. The church may have many cripples, spiritually. It does make many mistakes. But the church is the hope of the world and deserves the unconditional support in its entire program of work, of all patriotic home-loving people."

"The attendance at the day services has been fine, better than in many revival services. The good people of Memphis have been very considerate of the work we are striving to do. We thank you all and pray that the good Father above may reward abundantly every unselfish effort put forth in the name of humanity and God."

"Tomorrow at ten is our last week day service. We expect it to be the largest and best. Let our business men all attend one of these day services and show you have some interest in the work of this great church. A little co-operation sometimes means a lot."

MUNICIPAL GAS PLANNED FOR WELLINGTON

Bids Called for Project; Bonds Were Voted in 1931

Special to The Democrat
WELLINGTON, March 27.—Mayor Deskins Wells and members of the city council were today continuing their work on preliminary plans for the installation of a municipal gas distribution system for this city.

"Notices to bidders for the construction of the plant and the furnishing of gas at the city limits will be one of our first important steps," Mr. Wells said. "Plans and specification for the construction of the plant have been drawn by Raft Toensfeldt, who has been employed as consulting engineer by the city."

If the city is successful in securing satisfactory bidders for the construction of the distributing system and the contract is finally let, the system will be paid for out of the bond issue voted for that purpose in 1931. Plans are still in a formative stage, Mayor Wells said, and city officials are unwilling, at this stage, to make any predictions as to the success or failure of the enterprise.

"However, the council has decided to make a determined effort to install the system, provided a satisfactory program can be completed. If the system is installed, the city intends to sell natural gas to domestic consumers at a rate of 45 cents per thousand cubic feet with commercial and industrial rates on a lower scale."

Would Limit Real Estate Tax Levy

AUSTIN, March 28.—Substantial and permanent tax reduction and relief is in sight for the over-taxed owners of homes, farms, ranches and other forms of real estate in Texas. Senator Roy Sanderford of Bell County has introduced a resolution in the Texas Senate calling for an election in November 1935, to write into the Constitution of Texas a provision that the total amount of State, county, municipal and district real estate taxes levied and collected for general purposes shall never exceed $1.25 per $100 valuation. The average rate now is $2.47.

The limitation proposal does not change or limit the property tax levied to take care of the interest and sinking funds on outstanding bonds but it provides that in the future a two-thirds, instead of a simple majority of the votes cast in a bond election, will be necessary before additional bonds may be issued by a county or any subdivision.

The Limitation Amendment, sponsored by those who want to see a material reduction in all property taxes, was weighted down with an amendment by Senator Ben G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls, providing for the classification of property for tax purposes. The O'Neal amendment, accepted by a close vote of the Senate Committee on Constitutional Amendments, is the same proposal defeated at the polls last November. Its purpose is to confer almost unlimited taxing powers upon the Legislature, Commissioners Courts and other taxing agencies. Sponsors of the resolution to limit all State and local property taxes to $1.25 per hundred dollars valuation will make a determined effort to separate the limitation and classification proposals when the measure comes to a vote in the Senate.

The importance of the tax limitation amendment and the saving in property taxes it will afford owners of real estate in the counties of this Senatorial district are indicated by figures on file in the office of the State Auditor and Efficiency Expert showing the rather high rates which prevail in this group of counties.

The following table shows the rate of taxation per $100 valuation in each of these counties and includes State, county, municipal, district and all other taxes levied at the ad valorem rate and the amount of all State and local taxes collected for general purposes. The figures are for 1932, the latest available here:

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Glorifying Many Spring Hats Are Far Ahead of Wearers Yourself

BY ALICIA HART

Extremely nervous girls generally lose a great deal of their youthful beauty by the time they are thirty. I mean, of course, the fidgety kind of women who can never sit still a moment and who frown, twist their mouths and seldom relax.

Naturally, there are cases where self-control does no good. These are problems much too serious to come under the heading of "beauty" and should be taken up with physicians. It is of girls who have developed nervous habits that can be corrected easily that I speak today.

First of all, learn how to relax completely, not only when you are lying in bed, but when you are reading, sewing or talking to someone. Don't fret over small things that no human being can help. Try to adopt a calm, reasonable outlook on life.

Some may argue that calm people have no verve, no enthusiasm. However, there's a great difference between vivacity and nervous energy that wears you out. And I see no reason why meaningless gestures and a state of excitement that makes everyone feel you need a good night's sleep should be confused with normal enthusiasm that is admirable. To be sure, every girl should be healthy enough to have a natural vigor that makes her interesting. But this doesn't mean she should flutter and fidget until she puts lines across her own brow and, in addition, makes everyone around her nervous.

Tense, unrelaxed muscles cause fluttery, annoying gestures and, very often, nervousness itself. Naturally, if your arms are rigid, you'll have a difficult time keeping your hands calm and poised. If your neck is tense and aching, you're apt to be irritable and extremely nervous. Meanwhile, your beauty will slowly, but surely, deteriorate.

It's useless to hope that lines never will appear around eyes and mouth, but you certainly can ward them off for years if you do exercises to relax muscles and calm tired nerves.

Since a good many nerve centers are there, begin with the neck. Here's an exercise that will limber it up and drive away the dull ache that annoys thousands of women, particularly those who have to sit over a desk to work. Sit on the floor with legs doubled up, Turk fashion, and place hands flat on the floor at your sides. Keeping the backbone perfectly straight, relax your neck and let it fall as far backward as it will go. Don't force it back. Simply let it swing loosely. Hold that position a few seconds and then begin slowly to rotate the head around to the left. Stop when it is directly above the left shoulder and try to relax it even more. Bring it around to the front, to the right and finally let it drop backward again. When you have mastered the technique of the exercise, rotate the head ten times without stopping. When you rise, try to maintain the relaxed feeling.

Zooming to the forefront of fashion is this visor brimmed hat of black felt created by Agnes. It also can be made up in stiff taffetas.

BY MARIAN YOUNG

NEW YORK, March 28.—No matter how smart you are, your Easter bonnet is likely to be several jumps ahead of you—literally. Not that you'll mind. Indeed, you'll feel so much more chic in a hat with a brim which juts far forward, visor-like that you won't care what happens.

Seriously, these new brims that look as though they had been tugged to the front by designers who wanted to amuse themselves, are extremely flattering. You'll like them in stiff taffetas and smooth straws for town and in felt and rough weaves for country. They are trimmed with large, flat bunches of flowers, placed strategically at the front to emphasize further the everything-forward movement. The crowns are fairly flat.

Crowns Much Lower

As a matter of fact, all crowns have a tendency to be much lower this season. Sailor types, particularly good this spring since suits are so fashionable have unusually low crowns and medium brims, worn straight across the brow. For afternoon, pin a narrow veil across the brim of your sailor.

The new berets are good with everything, including suits. They take on a more dignified air, often showing careful pleats and folds that are meant to be kept right in place. The huge, floppy ones are gone, thank goodness. If you have regular features and either a nice brow or bangs that are attractive, look at the new Regency bonnets. Call them poke bonnets, if you like, but they really are hand-downs from the famous Regency period, revived in dashing manner this year. To be really authentic, your Regency bonnet should have a nosegay of mixed flowers tucked up under the off-the-face brim.

If you hate flat crowns or if you need something to add a little height to your figure, there are bell-shaped hats with brims and without. One particularly handsome model, designed by Elizabeth Schoen, has the type of crown, accentuated by a loop of ribbon that sticks up over the peak. In addition, the hat features a modified visor brim. Made of blue-green belting silk and trimmed with a velvet bow, it is one of the most becoming things a girl can pull down over her curls.

Another bell-shaped bonnet, created by Agnes of Paris, is fashioned from red and green plaid taffeta, carefully folded and wrapped to look somewhat like a turban and has a wide scarf to match.

DIVORCEE'S CORRECT NAME

Although it is being done to some extent, it is not socially correct for a divorced woman to resume her maiden name. Especially if she expects to call herself "Miss." She may, however, with perfect propriety, combine her maiden surname with her former husband's surname. Thus Mrs. John Smith, who was Mary Jones, could be known after her divorce as Mrs. Jones Smith. She would, of course, sign her name as always, Mary Jones Smith.

Grove's Arm Holds Fate of Red Sox

Cronin Counting On Lefty's Whip

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles on the big league training camps, telling of the Boston Red Sox. By HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service) SARASOTA, Fla., March 27.—Winter quarters of the world's greatest circus is only a short distance from the camp of the Boston Red Sox here, but Al Schacht, the comedian-coach, will do all the Beantown boys' clowning this season.

You didn't have to be a detective to know that all the playing of several members of the club wasn't done in American League parks in the afternoon last year.

The result is that Bill Cissell, who once sold for $123,000, is back at Portland, Ore., where he first attracted attention; Dick Porter, who once brought $40,000, is back in the International League with Syracuse; Eddie Morgan is with Columbus (if he reports), and three or four others have been given stern lectures by Joseph Edward Cronin.

"I decided on a fresh deal," says Cronin. "If the Red Sox don't finish better than fourth, which is where they wound up in 1934, it will not be because they were not in condition."

Cronin's iron hand is being felt at Sarasota. A year ago, under Bucky Harris, only a handful of athletes lived at the hotel where the club puts up. The remainder were scattered about in bungalows.

The Red Sox are all under one roof this trip. They go to bed when the boss retires around 11 o'clock, and are called at 7:45 in the morning.

Cronin Goes It Alone

Yawkey and Edward Trowbridge Collins, his vice president, treasurer, and general manager, were on the ground last spring. Neither has put in an appearance to date. They are wise in permitting the capable Cronin to go it alone in his new assignment.

It is on the return to form of Grove and six other renowned cripples and hospital patients that Cronin is depending.

Grove declares his arm never felt better.

Wesley Ferrell grabbed 14 victories after joining the club in June, which wasn't so bad for a chap who the previous fall confessed that his arm was deadlier than the back-busting business.

George Pipgras is back after two operations on his elbow which kept the former Yankee luminary on the voluntary retired list in 1934.

Rube Walberg's season apparently was ruined last spring by a line drive that broke a finger on the former Athletic dependable's pitching hand.

Fritz Ostermueller copped 10 and lost 13 decisions after a delayed start caused by an appendectomy and adhesions.

Bishop to Play Second

Max Bishop, who worked only part time in 1934 because of a stomach ailment, reports him-

RED SOX RAMBLE UNDER BOSS CRONIN

The leading base stealer in the majors last year expects to pilfer a lot more sacks for the Boston Red Sox this season. He is Bill Werber, shown above sliding into a bag while Louis Leggett, rookie catcher, attempts to tag him. Left is Lefty Grove, whose arm, ailing in 1934, is expected to be a big help to Joe Cronin this season. Right is George Pipgras, former Yankee hurler, who again is in uniform after being out most of last season, due to injuries.

Smith, purchased from Toronto; and George Savino, who hit .323 for Reading, battling Gordon Hinkle for the second string berth.

Has Faith in Dahlgren

Cronin admits that he may miss two of the three housecleaning victims, First Baseman Morgan and Second Baseman Cissell. However, the boy manager has sublime faith in Ellsworth Dahlgren, the 24-year-old, 186-pound, 5-foot-11-inch right-hander who has replaced Morgan.

Dahlgren, a fellow townsman of Cronin in San Francisco, compiled an average of .301 with Gabby Street's Missions last semester.

self cured, and will start at second.

A broken wrist kept Julius Solters out for weeks last season.

In addition to his pitching invalids of 1934, Cronin has Johnny Welch, Gordon Rhodes, Joe Mulligan, and Henry Johnson, holdovers; Johnny Merena, a southpaw up from Syracuse; Byron Humphreys, who won 18 and lost 15 for Joplin, and Hilary Zummer from the same club; George Hockette, a left-hander who logged 16 and lost 15 for Kansas City; Jack Wilson, purchased from the Portland Coastlers, and Roger Hanlon, a thin youngster from the Reading subsidiary.

Cronin fancies the 6-foot-3-inch Welch, who accounted for 13 victories against 15 defeats last term. He has an idea that Merena, a 175-pound Russian from Bridgeport, will prove the first worthwhile product of the new Red Sox farm system.

Rick Ferrell once more is expected to do practically all the catching, with Louis Leggett; Bill in his introductory major league year, Solters should stand out in center field. Carl Reynolds is a remarkable spring hitter.

Cronin believes that Dusty Cooke throws well enough to play regularly.

The Boston strategist is of the opinion that a bit of careful handling will make Dusty Cooke the major leaguer the large Carolinian appeared to be when he hit .352 and .358 in successive years for St. Paul.

"All Cooke requires is a little attention," smiles Cronin.

That's one thing Red Sox players are getting plenty of—and will continue to get for the next five years.

WHOPPERS

Trout! To the average stream fisherman who whips his flies o'er turbulent water, these two fish are more like whales. But they're a pair of those famous Pyramid Lake trout of California, caught by smiling Tom Yerxa, who is displaying them. The one at left weighed 19 pounds, and the other 16.

LIKELY LINE-UP IS GIVEN FOR FIRST TILT

Trio of Hurlers Are Expected To Carry Heavy Load

The Memphis Owls, preparing to make their debut in a semi-pro baseball league for the first time—the Western Valley Division of the Red River Valley loop—start the ball rolling Sunday afternoon at Wellington, where they play their initial practice game of the season.

One week later, the Wellington nine comes here for another practice tilt, and still another week later, the clubs enter their regular playing schedule of 20 Sunday afternoon games.

Squad of 17

Manager Jack Boone probably will take a squad of 17 players—near the limit allowed by the league—to Wellington Sunday. These players have not been signed for regular competition simply because "players' agreements" have not been sent out by league officials. However, practically the same group that makes the trip to Wellington will be listed on the club roster when final plans are made.

Buck Whitefield, big right-hander who carried the Owls along for a time last summer before the club slid under, will start the mound duties in the initial game. He is expected to be able to go the route by that time, but it is unlikely that he will be called upon to do so. Clifford Stewart, another stalwart of the old Owl outfit, is expected to be on hand before the week is out, probably in good condition from the start. To this pair of right-handers, Boone probably will add one southpaw, with the tric fold to carry the burden of mound work throughout the season, if they prove capable of doing the job fairly well.

Starting Line-up

Simms will complete the battery for the opening game. Sam Moore probably will be found on first base and Morrison on second. Both are well known baseballers in this section. Two new faces are expected to be found at the hot corner and in the adjacent lot. An Okmulgee Indian, known only as "Chief" by his baseball associates here, has been assigned the third base post, and McIntosh, another newcomer, has the task of stopping 'em between the left side bags. This pair is employed on highway construction work in Donley County and has played some ball this season at Lelia Lake. Spectators who have watched them work on the diamond have returned the verdict "look good."

In the outfield will be Stewart—not the hurler mentioned above—Joe Marcum and brother, Louie. Not knowing about Stewart, it is impossible to say whether this trio will furnish the hitting power needed from the outer gardeners. Joe Marcum can uphold his end of the slugging in 'most anybody's league, but Louie is weak at the plate—according to observations made last season.

Put Park in Shape

Besides this group of probable starters, Boone expects about half a dozen others to be on hand for the opening scramble. The list, some names familiar, others foreign, includes Durrett, Glosson, Lumpkin, McCreary, Greenwood, Gearhart and Holland.

How this group will stack up against the other clubs of the western Division, this writer, at least, is unable to say. It is somewhat similar to the team of early last season, which could stay with any nine in this section of the state. That still does not solve the problem, however, but the first two games should cast much light on the matter.

While the team is preparing to open the season, plans are going forward to have the Fair Park Stadium field in first class condition. It will be ready for use whenever the club is ready to use it—and it gives the Owls the finest park facilities they have possessed.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 28.—Rounding the bases with major league clubs in training—

Bill Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was puzzled when Babe Herman's contract failed to arrive. Herman announced at his Glendale, Calif., home that he had signed the document, and handed it to the mailman. Casey Stengel, manager of the Dodgers, who also resides at Glendale, clears up the mystery. Babe mailed the parchment to Chicago, thinking that he still was with the Cubs. Herman explains his failure to his up to form to the Chicago winds, which he asserts caused lumbago. Stengel says that in Pittsburgh the Babe probably will explain that smoke gets in his eyes. A room was not available when Outfielder Len Koenecke checked in at the hotel where the Dodgers are staying. Koenecke donned his pajamas and slept in a chair on the lawn. Infielder Bolly Rhiel, who nearly was killed when hit by a pitched ball as a Dodger at Orlando a year ago, is there training with the Montreal Royals. Joe Tinker has left Orlando, due to a change in administration, and has a beer parlor in Miami. His son, Rollie, is the chief clerk at the hotel where the Dodgers are putting up, and another, Willie, works in the kitchen, intent on learning the hotel business from the ground up.

Some Inside Dope

Those closest to the situation declare that Hal Schumacher really did shove Bill Terry over a bench in the clubhouse row of last fall. They say it was brought on by Terry's remark, "Five thousand dollars doesn't mean anything to me." But all the Giants don't get $30,000 a year, and wanted that $500 winning world series share. Billy Myers, new Cincinnati shortstop, has been a member of the all-star team in every league in which he has played. Tut Stainback married the girl, which is why National Leaguers expect him to star this season. They say the young Cub outfielder was love-sick in 1934. Jimmy Collins of the Cardinals is underweight, due to an attack of scarlet fever. Dan Comerford, property man of the Dodgers, has held the position for 29 years. He has been in the National League longer than any other manager, or player. Mickey Cochrane says Connie Mack is making a mistake in making Jimmy Foxx a catcher.

BY DELBERT M... SALISBURY, March 28.—Salisbury, for the fifth year, holds the rural school ball championship of the state having won the tournament last Saturday night. For the past three years a local team has, after a narrow crown, lost to a Class A team in the play-off for county championship. This year's champion is composed of Virginia Janet McQueen, Ida Monnie Welch, Lena Genell McBride, Thelma Avolena McQueen and Miss Mary Foreman of the team.

 as the United States.

Age Already Heavy larger area of between and 90,000,000 acres

has already suffered severe damage and may go the same way. That is as big as a state nearly as large as Montana. Look at the map, and see what this means. An area almost as large as Connecticut is being abandoned today in eastern Colorado and western Kansas. The farmers who knew it and loved it as a region of fruitful farms are fleeing from it as the Belgians fled before the Germans in 1914.

Dozens of ranch houses stand desolate and forsaken. The drifting dust piles up about the doorsteps. The fence-corners, heaped with dust, will soon fall to decay. The region looks exactly like what it may soon be—a desert. The productive soil is gone, right down to hard-pan or gravel.

It takes nature from 400 to 1000 years to create an inch of virgin topsoil. And government experts in a test in Texas have measured the blowing away of nearly 16 inches of good earth within a few days.

Once Lost, Gone Forever
 Once blown away it is gone. It benefits no other section of the country. The granular matter which settles as the storm blows onward is a detriment to land on which it falls. The valuable fine material of the soil is almost always blown out to sea.

These plains farmers are hardy, independent people. They have seen drouth and hardship come and go. But at last they are beginning to fear for the future. One horny-handed west Kansas old-timer shook his head as he said "I've farmed this territory for more than 50 years, and I swear there was never anything struck this country as terrible as this last dust storm."

He had been over his fields after the worst of the dust cloud had passed. There he saw his winter wheat with roots exposed, certain to die with the return of the sun, and the best of his topsoil gone forever.

A Modern Pompeii
 There are thousands like him today. Many were even worse off, and saw the tender green shoots of the winter wheat blown right out of the ground, roots and all.

In great parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, men and women are "digging out" today almost as the people of Naples dug out after the eruption of Vesuvius which buried Pompeii.

They are burying the dead whose lungs, already weakened by pulmonary trouble, gave way under the added strain of fine dust particles. They are burying the victims of auto accidents caused by the fog-like haze of dust. They are washing off or shoveling out the dust mantle.

And as they dug their way out, new storms swept across Oklahoma and parts of Kansas, Wyoming, spared the brunt before, saw huge dust clouds roll across the state.

See Fields Blow Away
 But all this, terrible as it is, seems nothing to the plight of the areas where the real damage was done. It is not the territory where the dust goes that suffers most, it is the territory from which it comes.

There, in eastern Colorado, in parts of the Texas panhandle, north Texas, and southern Nebraska, the farmers saw a little swirl of dust rise in a field, saw then several other little swirls, and then fled to shelter as their fields seemed to leap upward in a vast rolling cloud. It is in these places of origin where the grave and permanent damage is done.

Only two things give hope. They are the possibility of widespread heavy rains, and the unconquerable spirit of the plains farmers.

Still Able to Joke
 In the midst of the dust cloud, with tragedy all about, they were able to laugh, grimly perhaps, and to invent a flood of dust stories like the ones which they used to make up about their old rattling model-T Fords. On the plate-glass window of a busted bank in a western Kansas plains town were found these words, etched by a finger in the dust:

"Ashes to ashes and dust to dust; The men folks raved and the wimmen folks cussed; Take and like it! In God we trust!"

In God for rain, and in the federal government for relief until rain comes, the million farmers of the plains wheat belt put their trust today.

Washington Will War On Capital Termites

By United Press
 WASHINGTON, March 28.—Termites which have thrived on timber supports of old Washington homes are slated for a finish battle with the Agriculture Department.

Termites are members of the roach family possessing a keen appetite for wood. It has been estimated that the bug has caused $40,000,000 worth of damage a year to buildings in Washington and the South.

Alarmed by the situation, the Department has issued instructions designed to repel the termite invasion. It also has assigned Raymond A. George, of the Bureau of Entomology, and Dr. T. E. Snyder, termite authority, to assume command of the government forces.

St. George said that seriousness of the termite menace lies in the fact that the bug does not disclose its presence until after its destructive work is accomplished. It lives underground and fears sunlight.

I believe that my fans have a perfect right to know about me.—Jean Harlow.

All-Star Cast Brings 'David Copperfield' to Life

"David Copperfield"—a name which spells magic to millions—comes to the screen of the Ritz Theatre starting Saturday midnight and running Sunday and Monday, bringing to life the lovable Charles Dickens characters who have cast a haze of enchantment over all who have read the famous novel. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has given this spectacular romance one of its most pretentious productions and a cast of 65 stars and featured players. Among the stars shown above are W. C. Fields as Micawber, Lionel Barrymore as Dan Peggotty, Maureen O'Sullivan as Dora, Edna May Oliver as Aunt Betsey, Lewis Stone as Mr. Wickfield, Freddie Bartholomew and Frank Lawton as the boy and adult David Copperfield, Elizabeth Allan as Mrs. Copperfield, Roland Young as Uriah Heep and Una O'Connor as Mrs. Gummidge.

Ritz Forced To Abandon Plan For Special Preview of Film

To the regret of everyone concerned—including Manager Lee Bell of the Ritz Theatre, The Democrat and school teachers throughout the Memphis Arena—it was found necessary that plans for a special preview showing of the picture, "David Copperfield", Saturday morning be abandoned. According to word received here, the film completes a showing at Weatherford Friday night and it is impossible to get it to Memphis in time for the Saturday morning showing. However, the film is scheduled to arrive Saturday afternoon, in time for its regular schedule Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday. School teachers who were to have been guests of the Ritz and Democrat at the special preview and who have secured tickets for this showing are invited and urged to attend a regular showing of the picture. The tickets obtained at The Democrat office will be honored at any regular performance, it was announced.

Manager Bell expressed extreme regret at the forced change in plans, but that matter was completely out of his control and he was in no way responsible for the delay. He plans to stage the regular showings as scheduled, with the teachers admitted on their tickets obtained in advance and with school children over 12 years of age admitted for 15 cents. The regular prices of admission are 10 and 25 cents.

Pile Up—
rained at the scene more than two hours. The Clarendon truck remained throughout the morning, still fighting the smouldering flames at noon.

Clearing Wreckage
A wrecker, bringing water cars to combat the flames, arrived at about 3:25 a. m. from Childress. Two dozen men went to work early in clearing the wreckage and reopening the right-of-way, a task that was expected to take the entire day.

At noon, twisted, broken cars had been strewn along the track the whole length of this little city as the wrecker made rapid progress in pulling them apart.

Superintendent Mode arrived from Amarillo at 1:26 a. m., three minutes after the fire broke out, and immediately took charge.

Telegraph wires were burned near the wreckage, cutting off railroad communication with Amarillo until later in the morning.

Europe Watches Uneasily as Hitler Writes Reality into Pages of 'My Battle'

MILTON BRONNER
Staff Correspondent

ON, March 28.—"In 10 heads, men and women alike, the common enemy of the common hate is done the common hate. A sea of flame out of the yellow glow will come and determination and want weapons once ter: a younger, less powerful Adolf Hitler, of Hedley, "Mein Kampf" (My Battle) during the dark days of the imprisonment in Landsberg after his Munich "beer hall" 1924.

the light of subsequent years, when under-cover rearmament was rising to the max of open defiance of the Versailles Treaty, "Mein Kampf" stands as a remarkably accurate book which has shown the way which Chancellor Hitler, in that program which these points:

POLICY CARRIED OUT
Within German borders he and the socialists, the Catholic Centre, the Free German Workers' Party, the German Jews. He said "White in the East, Black in the West" out the state lines of Bavaria, Baden, Prussia and wled them good Perk in the state. It would be Jack Larue.

belief in Europe that the German-Polish pact contains secret military clauses, providing especially that, if Russia goes to war with Japan, Germany and Poland jointly shall take and divide the Ukraine.

In the meantime, it is whispered, Germany has encouraged Poland to cultivate close relations with Japan. Marshal Pilsudski, boss of Poland, always has hated Russia, but been friendly to Germany.

CLOSER TIES WITH JAPAN ESTABLISHED
And in Tokyo there has been founded an association of "friends of Poland". In Warsaw there was founded an association of "friends of Japan".

The Polish government has given the high Polish order of "Polonia restituta" to the chief of the Japanese military mission at Harbin "for services rendered to Poland".

Because the very highly honored General Yamavaki, who directed the Japanese military mission to Poland in 1920 during the war between Poland and the Soviets, has been named military attaché at the Warsaw embassy, the conclusion has been drawn that he is charged with the high mission of preparing mutual military plans against Russia.

France and England, in preparing their recent air pact, united in saying they would invite Germany, Italy and Belgium to join it. They further expressed a wish that Germany and Poland join in an Eastern Locarno and that Germany return to the League of Nations. If Germany and Poland continue to refuse the Eastern Locarno, everybody will believe that Russia is marked down for the slaughter—just as Hitler wrote.

BIRTH OF BABY CHIMP STIRS OLD SCANDAL IN LONDON ZOO

LONDON, March 28.—Boo Boo and Koko, the London Zoo's chimpanzees, have a baby. Their offspring is Jubilee, a bouncing and, judging from chimpanzee standards, beautiful daughter.

She is the second chimpanzee ever born in the country, and she is creating almost as much excitement as the Dionne quintuplets.

Even her mother was frightened of her when Jubilee was born. Boo Boo couldn't understand at all. She jumped and barked and gibbered and raced around her cage.

Then the queen, hairy little tundle stirred and gave a tiny whimper. Boo Boo forgot her fear. Her maternal instincts were aroused. Claspng the baby to her breast, she raced away to the topmost shelf, where she sat nursing it all day long.

At present nobody is allowed to see either Boo Boo or Jubilee. Bulletins posted on their cage state: "Mother and child are doing well—no noise, please."

Meanwhile, telegrams and letters of congratulations have been pouring in on the Zoo. One revealed a slight scandal in connection with Jubilee's birth.

It was from Betty, Koko's other wife. She showed a forgiving spirit and wrote: "Congratulations. Love to Koko." Koko and Betty were the parents of Adam, the only other chimp born in Britain. Adam also sent a telegram. He got confused. It read: "Auntie Boo Boo, congratulations. Love to Daddy."

But Koko doesn't deserve Betty's forgiveness. He left her flat for Boo Boo. Boo Boo was a shameless chimp. When she saw Koko in the next cell, she made eyes. She vamped him all day. It must be said for Koko that he tried to resist Boo Boo's advances, but no man is proof against a woman's wiles. Koko fell. Now they are living happily as man and wife.

COUNT TO GIVE COUNTY MEET OUTCOME

Estelline and Turkey In Close Race for Class A Honors

A close battle between the Estelline and Turkey schools for the Class A championship of the county will be brought to a close Saturday when an official tabulation of points tallied during the recent county Interscholastic League meet will be made by Director General Lee Vardy, of Turkey.

An unofficial count made last week-end when several literary and athletic events were still to be held, gave Turkey a sizeable lead. Earlier counts gave Estelline a lead of only a few points, and the official count Saturday may turn the championship to either of the leading Class A schools.

In the Rural school division, unofficial counts indicate Pleasant Valley an easy winner. However, a number of events were outstanding at that time and it is possible, though not likely, for some other school in the rural division to step in and take off the winnings.

Announcement of county championship winners will be made Saturday following the meeting of League officials, according to Mr. Vardy.

County Teachers Judge Childress League Contests

Twelve Hall County school teachers will act as judges of the Childress County Interscholastic League meet at Childress this week-end. Childress County teachers judged the Hall County meet here two weeks ago under an arrangement made by Miss Vera Gilreath, county superintendent, and the Childress County superintendent.

Teachers selected by Miss Gilreath to judge the meet at Childress are Miss Gladys Leary, of Lakeview, Miss Eula Saye, of Newlin, Miss Mary Foreman, of Newlin, Wilford Cooper, of Parnell, Mrs. L. O. Phillips, of Pleasant Valley, Miss Esta McElrath, of Plaska, Mrs. Carl Gilmore and Mr. Duncan, of Turkey, Miss Edna Bryan, of Eli, Mrs. J. T. Duncan, of Estelline, and a representative from the faculties of the West Ward and Junior High schools of Memphis.

Finish of Street Cars Is Forecast

CLEVELAND, March 28.—The electric street car will be a thing of the past, believes Peter Witt, nationally known traction expert and adviser to the Van Sweringen brothers. Witt based his forecast on development of the Diesel engine. In five years, he believes, nobody will travel long distances except by plane.

"The Diesel engine, with its consumption of cheap oil and the wide cruising range it gives any vehicle it powers, is the engine and power producer of the future," Witt said.

Its present weight, now its major handicap, will be overcome by discovery of a new light, but tough metal that will bring it to a weight making possible its use exclusively in airplanes and automobiles, he said.

"We've moved so fast that at least one-third of the people in the United States are working at jobs now that were unknown 35 years ago. Just take the automobile, radio and airplane, with their allied groups, as instances."

WORLD'S BIGGEST GARBAGE INCINERATOR IN CLEVELAND
Cleveland, March 28.—Test fires have been lighted here in the world's largest garbage incinerator. Cleveland's $770,000 structure in the "flats" district has been completed after 12 years heated debate, battles over sites and disagreement over plans.

Scholastic Count To End Saturday

For every child of scholastic age that is missed by census enumerators in the final count of school children in the county this week-end, some school precinct will lose more than $16 in state aid next year, it has been pointed out by Miss Vera Tops Gilreath, county school superintendent.

Tomorrow and Saturday, school census enumerators in the 23 rural and four independent school districts will finish their official count for the 1935-36 school term. All parents who have not been contacted by enumerators are urged to report their children before final reports are filed with state education officials Monday, Miss Gilreath said.

Get Full Benefit
"When parents file reports with enumerators they are not obligating themselves or their children in any way. They are only making it possible for each school district to receive the full amount of state aid that is due the district where their children will attend school next year," Miss Gilreath pointed out.

Five of the rural school precincts have already reported final census counts. A loss of 44 scholastics, or an average of almost nine in each precinct, was shown in the report of the first five.

The greatest loss in scholastics to date was shown in the report from the Weatherly district, where only 100 scholastics were counted for the new term, as compared with 132 for the present term. Penn Creek, with a total count of 26, showed a loss of two, and Plaska, with 106 scholastics for the new term, showed a loss of six. Friendship reported a total of 55 for the new term, a loss of three, and the Gammage district reported 44 scholastics for the new term, a loss of only one child of scholastic age in that district.

170 CHILDREN VACCINATED TUESDAY

Diphtheria Inoculations Are Given by Health Officer

One hundred and seventy school children—nearly twice as many as were expected—were given free diphtheria vaccinations Tuesday by Dr. C. Z. Stidham, county and city health officer, during the first day of a county-wide inoculation campaign.

Free diphtheria inoculation for all children in the county will be given during the next few weeks by Dr. Stidham in an effort to curb the spread of the dreaded disease. The local campaign is in connection with a state-wide move to stamp out diphtheria, which last year claimed the lives of more than 500 children in Texas. Toxoids are being furnished free by the state health department and the vaccinations are being administered free by the county and city health officer.

The next period of vaccination will be this afternoon between 12:30 and 3 o'clock. All children in the county are being urged to receive the free "shots" at Dr. Stidham's office. Only one "shot" is necessary for a lifetime, Dr. Stidham said. Vaccinations are given each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

OUT OUR WAY

By "Cowboy" Williams

Norman Happ, his face the color of a boiled beet, wiped furiously at his mouth with a handkerchief. Millicent Graves, torn between a desire to cry and to laugh, slammed the door shut and very audibly turned the key in the lock. Then she walked to a large over-stuffed chair, dropped into it and started to laugh. The whole situation was too utterly absurd. Norman Happ, standing there with lipstick smeared on his mouth, explaining to his father the unwarranted nature of his intrusion and the cool reception which he had received.

Abruptly Millicent remembered the things she had learned from Norman Happ and the laughter died from her lips. There really was some reason back of everything Jarvis Happ had done. Jarvis Happ knew of the woman in the black ermine coat, the mysterious woman whom George Dringgold had described on the night of his death... and Jarvis Happ had instructed Harry Falding, the chauffeur, to shadow this mysterious woman in black. That would seem, then, that Jarvis Happ didn't know the identity of the woman. Or, if he knew her identity, didn't know where she lived. It also meant that he was interested in finding out more about this woman.

Millicent Graves determined that she was going to cultivate galley 2 Two thurs 28 story --S Harry Falding. If he discovered anything concerning this woman who wore a black ermine fur coat and who seemed to exert such a powerful influence upon the lives of those with whom she came in contact, Millicent Graves decided that she would be in a position to find out just what information he had uncovered.

door, wondered if someone had tried once more to enter her room without knocking. Whoever it was who had paused outside the door had now started down the corridor. She could hear the sound of retreating steps. Then a door banged somewhere at the end of the corridor. Millicent got to her feet, frowning. Who could have walked down the corridor to her door? And who would have paused to listen, or...

haustion had taken its toll. She slid the paper from beneath the door. It was a paper upon which appeared a typewritten, unsigned message. The message was brief and sinister: "THE WOMAN IN THE BLACK ERMINE COAT IS HERE." (To Be Continued)

The DARK BLOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY MILLICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRINGGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. In panic she rushes away and registers at a hotel under an assumed name. JARVIS HAPP, distinguished-looking stranger, recognizes Millicent and offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty parlor where she is transformed into a brunet. Happ takes her home, introduces her as his secretary. His son, NORMAN HAPP, warns Millicent against his stepbrother, ROBERT CAISE, and tells her a mysterious woman in black ermine has some power over his stepmother.

Suddenly there is a knock on the door of Millicent's room. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI Norman Happ jumped back and stared at Millicent Graves apprehensively. Millicent moved toward the door as though to open it. Norman caught her arm with his right hand, at the same time pressing the forefinger of his left hand against his lips to indicate the necessity for silence. He leaned closer to her and whispered, "Don't open that door while I'm here." She would have said something, but he darted away from her on swiftly silent feet. He opened the door of her closet, stepped inside and pulled the door shut after him. Knuckles sounded on the pan-ing you that if the men in this house don't quit invading my room I'm going to get a watchdog. All that I ask of you or your son is a reasonable amount of privacy. Your son came to this room uninvited. I think perhaps his intentions were friendly. However, the fact remains that he came here uninvited."

Norman Happ said, "That's right, Dad. You can't blame her for feeling peeved. I walked in on her."

"Why?" asked the older man.

"Because I wanted to warn her."

"About what, may I ask?"

"About Bob."

"What about Bob?"

"Bob has been trying things with her."

"What sort of things?"

"I don't know. She won't tell me. But I'm the one that came to her room. I came without knocking. She resented my intrusion. We were arguing when you knocked at the door. She was just asking me to leave—in fact, insisting that I leave."

For a moment the stern, searching eyes of Jarvis Happ softened somewhat. He glanced at his son, standing erect and dignified. Then he said slowly, "Well, if that's the case, Norman, you would present a much more dignified appearance if you wiped the lipstick from your mouth."

With that he turned and stalked gravely down the hall.

SIKORSKY SURE OF NON-STOP FLIGHTS

Designer Tinks Regular European Service Practical

(By United Press)
 MIAMI, Fla., March 28.—Construction of a seaplane capable of regular non-stop transatlantic flights with 30 passengers is a "practical possibility," Igor Sikorsky, aircraft designer, said here.

Results obtained from the Sikorsky-built clipper ships operated by Pan-American Airways have convinced the designer that transatlantic aircraft "could be built immediately."

Flying Range
 "This ship," he said, "would have a fuel capacity sufficient for a range of 4,500 miles, while the distance across the Atlantic is 3,600 miles. On short trips of 1000 miles, this ship could carry 100 people in every comfort."

"Such a ship would have a wingspread of 180 feet, six motors, streamlined into the leading edge of the wing as in the Brazilian Clipper, and a gross weight of 50 tons."

Structural Weight
 "The structural weight of the S-42 type clipper ships is one 50 per cent of its gross. In other words, ships flying in and out of Miami now lift almost their own weight in useful load."

Regarding flights at great altitudes in the stratosphere, Sikorsky said that while this has been much discussed, he believes the most efficient travel levels for commercial airliners will in the near future be between 12,000 and 20,000 feet. At this altitude, he points out, planes will be practically flying "above the weather."
