MEDITATIONS

By The Editor

According to responsible authorities, attempts have been made to hold up production of civilian goods in the belief that a policy of scarcity is an effective morale builder. If this is true, a trick is being played on consumers and the battle against inflation may be made immeasurably more difficult.

Most observers agree that the immense productive capacity of industry now stands as the best guarantee against uncontrolled inflation. Unless industry turns out things people need in sufficient quantity to offset the billions of new dollars which the war has put into the hands of the public, the natural laws of supply and demand will wreck price ceilings. Industry should be encouraged to produce the goods and retail distributors should be encouraged to make those goods available to consumers on as large a scale as possible without actually impairing war production.

Complicated regulations have been to blame for removing from retail shelves many critically needed consumer items. When merchants and manufacturers point to the effect of specific regulations on dwindling supplies, they are assured that everything possible is being done to correct the situation—but the regulations continue in force and supplies dwindle. Low priced clothing is a case in point. Certain lines of women's and children's apparel have literally been ruled off the market.

If these regulations that restrict production and distribution of consumer goods are part of a misguided attempt to bolster civilian morale, it is about time the country learned the truth. A nation whose people have sent ten million men to war, will not appreciate public servants playing with the home front like children play with a toy.

And now we see where club women in a neighboring state debated whether the dog or cow was man's best friend. Can't you just see a cow running out to meet you?

A geography teacher says that if you sail straight north from Hawaii, you will strike Alaska. We agree, that is, if you're sailing under the right kind of flag.

And in conclusion we'd like to add: If Tojo doesn't know what to do with the admiral and field marshal just relieved of their posts, we have a very good suggestion.

Dr. George Baker Addresses Youth Group At Banquet

Dr. George C. Baker, pastor of the First Methodist Church, San Angelo, was the principle speaker when the Methodist Youth Fellowship organization was honored with a banquet Friday night at the Methodist church in Eldorado. Hostesses were leaders of the M. Y. F., assisted by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

A patriotic motif was carried out in table decorations. Billy Sam Breedlove was master of ceremonies, and Rev. F. B. Faust gave the invocation. Leaders and councilors of the organization were introduced including Rev. and Mrs. Faust, Mrs. J. E. Tisdale, Mrs. W. Irl Breedlove and Dee Jolly, president.

Miss Virginia Ryan had charge of a short program which consisted of two vocal selections by Katherine Davis, Patsy Ballew, Betty Bryant and Frances Thompson who sang, "The Voice of God Is Calling," and "Follow a Dream." Miss Ryan gave two readings, "Home" and "The House by the Side of the Road," by Edgar A. Guest.

Rev. Faust introduced the speaker of the evening and Mrs. Baker. Dr. Baker spoke on "Youth in a Post War World," stressing the fact that on the youth of today depends the world of tomorrow, and that they must carry on as shining ideals in a darkened world.

The program closed with the friendship handclasp while the group sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," followed by the M. Y. F. benediction.

Some 35 were present for the occasion.

Letters To The Editor

Mr. W. Irl Breedlove, Dear Sir:

We have just finished reading the Success that we get every Sunday morning here at Tarleton and both of us enjoy it very much, as it has lots of the old home town news. Especially, do we enjoy it when we read about members of the Senior Class of '43. Punk, Tom B. Otis and all of them seem so far away now, until we hear of them in the Success.

Several boys receive their home town papers. One boy has a paper from Rockwall, Texas, called the Success, but we think we still have the best paper and town in Texas. Sincerely, W. O. Alexander, Jr. T. P. Robinson, Jr.

Three Firms Are Named In Anti Trust Suit Filed

Grover Sellers, Attorney General for the State of Texas, announced in Austin last Friday that he had filed an anti-trust suit in the 119th District Court at Ballinger, Texas, against Fairbanks-Morse and Company of Illinois, with offices in Dallas; and the Universal Electric Construction Company of Alabama, with offices in Houston; and the H. B. Gieb company, a Texas Corporation, headquartered in Dallas.

The Attorney General asks for penalties in the maximum amount of $5,700,000, and for a permanent injunction cancelling the permit of the defendants to do business in Texas. The penalties asked by the state are based on the statutory penalties of from $50.00 to $1,500.00 a day from September 1, 1940, to the present.

The Attorney General, in his petition, alleges that these three companies conspired "to furnish equipment and sell Fairbanks-Morse diesel engines and equipment to various municipalities in the State of Texas, to the exclusion of all other brands and makes of engines and equipment; and further, to control the municipal elections and to determine the plans and specifications and the bidding of such construction in the cities of Jasper, Angleton, Sonora, and the City of Winters. Each of the above municipalities and cities being located and situated in the State of Texas. Thereby eliminating all competition in the sale of equipment and in the construction of municipal power plants in the cities herein named."

The Attorney General's petition further points out that the defendant, Fairbanks-Morse Company, has engaged in the business of selling diesel engines and the construction of municipal power plants in the State of Texas for a period of 10 years or more; the defendant, the Universal Electric Construction Company, has been engaged in the construction of municipal electric and other utility construction for municipalities in Texas for the past four years; that the H. B. Gieb and Company is an engineering corporation which holds itself out as an independent consulting engineer, and has, for the last four years, been engaged in the preparation of plans and specifications for the construction of municipal utility plants. These defendants have occupied a dominant position in the business of constructing municipal utility plants in Texas since about the first of January, 1940.

TURNIPS ARE TURNIPS, BUT THIS ONE IS LARGE

Turnips are turnips, some are large and some are small, some are sweet and some are pesty, but when a turnip reaches the size of one grown by J. F. McKee, weighing 4 lbs. and 13 ozs. and 23 1/4 inches in circumference, then that's something else again.

The proof is in this office at present and shows once again what can be raised in good old Schleicher county soil. We believe it will also make a right tasty meal, if we can find about two pounds of good old salt back to season it with.

 "The Church With A Friendly Welcome"

May I remind all of our Training Union attendance that next week is the time appointed for our Training Union Study Course. I hope all who can, will avail themselves of this good opportunity; and help us to make this the best Training Union Study Course that we have had. There will be at least two courses offered. One for the adults and one for the juniors. The intermediates having had a special course lately it is not supposed that they will want another course next week, but if so, they may have a course too. We appreciate so much the splendid response that was given in regard to the Russian Kits. By the unusual co-operation our W. M. U. was able to pack 37 kits, each costing almost two dollars. These will be sent immediately to Russia.

Another reminder about our Spring meeting, which we hope will be a revival. Reverend Clarence Morton from First Baptist Church, Ballinger, will do the preaching and the time is April 23 to 30.

We are so happy for the splendid attendance at all of our services Sunday. We are still asking that all of our church family attend our services when possible. With our many obligations and responsibilities, may we not forget that our first duty is to our Savior and to His Church.

Our services Sunday:
 Sunday School and preaching, 10 and 11 a. m.

Training Union and preaching 7:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Mid-week service each Wednesday evening. Teachers and Officers meeting 7:30 and Prayer Service 8:00.

Red Cross Field Men Tackle Yanks' Problems Overseas

On Masera Island, up in the Persian Gulf, where there is not a single tree standing and the wind blows across the island ceaselessly, Red Cross field men brought fishing tackle, books and writing paper to service men. Most welcome gift from the Red Cross was clippers for hair cutting—the boys had been without a barber for months.

In Persia, a Red Cross Field Director was able to locate a soldier's mother whom he hadn't seen for 25 years.

In Africa, Red Cross field men flew in Army planes, hitch-hiked in supply trucks, bumped in jeeps over bombed convoy routes, through blinding sand storms and glaring sun to help men with personal problems and emergency communications, and to deliver magazines and books, cigarettes and chocolate to isolated posts and bases.

In Italy, Red Cross field men accompanied the troops in on the invasion barges.

In India, a sergeant was sentenced to the guard house for disorderly conduct. His officer couldn't understand the boy's behaviour. He was a nice kid—he'd never gone to pieces before.

The officer asked the Red Cross Field Director to see him. The Red Cross man discovered a very worried boy. His wife had not been receiving his allotments, she wasn't well and needed an operation. She thought the soldier must have cancelled his allotments and a misunderstanding had arisen between them so that she was no longer writing him.

The field man got in touch with the Red Cross chapter in the boy's home town immediately. It took care of her, financed her operation and saw that she had adequate funds to provide for herself until the allotment again came through.

When the Red Cross man explained what had happened to the soldier's Commanding Officer, the latter promptly released the boy from the guard house. From then on the boy was all right. His worries were over, and the Army had gained a good fighting man.

All over the world, in every theatre of war and active battle front go the American Red Cross field men—helping soldiers with major and minor personal problems, bringing them recreational items such as magazines, books, comfort articles, athletic equipment and re-establishing their contact with home. These men share the conditions and hazards under which the soldiers fight. They also share their lives. They are on call day and night whenever they are needed.

G.I.'s overseas have many problems. Often home seems very, very far away. With the Red Cross there at hand wherever he may be, the soldier knows he can always get in touch with home—that he need never feel alone with problems he doesn't know how to solve himself. More than 3,000,000 service men passed through Red Cross field men's offices last year.

On the mud clogged roads of Italy, through the far jungles of New Guinea, on lonely desert posts, Red Cross field men take your place beside your boy. In order to continue this service, the Red Cross urgently needs contributions from the American people to its $200,000,000 War Fund drive this month.

Growing Tomato Plants At Home

Growing plants in a box or hotbed at home will put tomatoes on the table much earlier than if the seed is planted in the open garden in March or April. This is especially important in hot, dry areas where temperature causes blossom to drop before the fruit is formed. This can be avoided by the earlier start which setting out plants affords.

For starting plants, fill a box 18 by 30 inches and four to six inches deep with equal parts of well mixed garden loam and rotted manure or compost. Firm the soil by pressing down with the hands. Mark off rows three to four inches apart and one-half inch deep, planting the seed four to the inch. Disinfect the seed before planting by immersing for 10 minutes in a half pint of water in which a half tablet of bichloride of mercury has been dissolved.

The box should have several small holes in the bottom to drain age. It can be placed in the sunlight on the back porch and brought into the kitchen at night so as to keep the temperature between 70 and 80 degrees.

About three weeks after seeding the plants may be transplanted into tin cans, paper cups or small pots, remaining three to four weeks. The soil in the containers may be the same as the mixture in the plant box, but the plants should be set from one-half to one inch deeper. The containers also should have small holes for drainage at the bottom.

The object of transplanting to cans or pots is to permit each plant to develop a vigorous root system and a top toughened to outside growing conditions. When seven to eight inches high and outside weather is favorable they are ready for field planting. But they should be set two inches deeper in the garden than in the containers. In setting them, mix about a half teaspoon of commercial fertilizer or about a shevelful of rotten manure or compost into the soil where each plant is to stand.

About five billion meteors strike our earth's atmosphere every day. Most of these are small and are burned to a gas by the friction of the air.

The slogan "America First" was popularized by President Woodrow Wilson.

The Postal Savings Bank was created during the administration of William Howard Taft.

Suggestions For Garden Planning

By Virginia Ryan
Co. Home Dem. Agt.

For normal good health Schleicher County needs an increase of 30 per cent more of the whole group of vegetables than was produced by our Victory gardens in 1943, 50 per cent increase of tomatoe and 50 per cent more green vegetable.

Questions will be asked as to how Victory gardeners can make all gardens yield more.

The following are suggestions that are worth considering:

1. Make better planning plans
2. Select better garden site.
3. Prepare the soil well. Plow or spade; drain or catch water.
4. Use more and better fertilizer.
5. Use adaptable varieties of vegetables.
6. Use good seed.
7. Treat seed better. Roll some, soak some, disinfect, inoculate; plant in good seed bed. "Tuck in tight."
8. Grow early more vigorous plants, and handle well
9. Cultivate to keep down weeds.

Overcome handicaps of heat, drought, wind, etc., with sub-irrigation tile, tub and frame gardens and surface irrigation.

Corn and potatoes should be left out of the small garden. Generous plantings of tomatoes, green and yellow vegetables should be made.

Save vegetables produced. Other suggestions urged to be considered include: Good conservation and service. Good conservation and storage and more local sharing of small surpluses.

Red Cross "Gray Ladies" Cheer Convalescents in Service Hospitals

DAUBING perspiration from her brow, a Red Cross Gray Lady at Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta, counted out change for a check she had cashed for a soldier. She had just finished a trip that would have reconditioned a truck man—a mile and a half to the bank for a check, back to the hospital for the endorsement, a mile to the PX for cash, and back to the soldier's bedside.

Grateful, he offered her some change, explaining:

"My buddy says you ladies don't get much pay for this work!"

The Gray Lady assured him she received no pay.

"Then heck if I wouldn't quit!" he exploded.

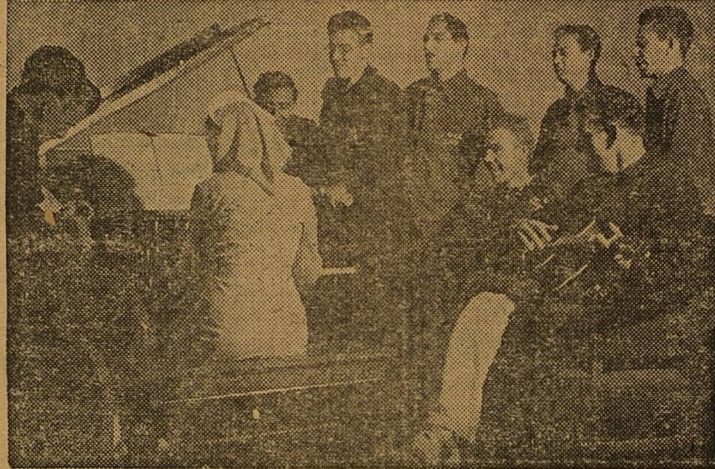

She laughed, explained that if a soldier could fight for his country, she wanted the privilege to give him some of her time and effort through Red Cross volunteer work.

The Gray Ladies of the Hospital and Recreation Corps—that versatile group whose talents run the gamut from teaching simple handicrafts to playing a piano—are deeply appreciated by patients in military and civilian hospitals alike as first-class cheer-uppers.

Keeping vigil with an expectant father in a civilian hospital recently, a Gray Lady reassured him that everything was all right. When the nurse announced the birth of his son, he threw his arms around the Gray Lady, overcome.

"I could never have had this baby without you!" he gasped.

These women of the Hospital and Recreation Corps got their nickname at Walter Reed Hospital during the last war. Doctors and nurses, too busy with more strictly professional duties caring for large numbers of veterans to take time for personal matters, welcomed the gray-garbed Red Cross volunteers. They wrote letters, sent messages to relatives and friends, obtained small items for the men's comfort, took shoes to the cobbler and clothing to the tailor and cleaner, shopped for tooth-paste and shaving cream at the PX, cashed money orders, and found time to talk with every man in the wards. The soldiers, always quick to transform official titles, called them "Gray Ladies" and the name has stuck ever since.

Most of all, the men appreciate talking with the Gray Lady who is also a good listener. As she pushes her cart laden with books, magazines, newspapers, puzzles, games and stationery to each bedside, she listens to the aspirations of the young Kansan who studies every spare moment for the examination for officers' training school; to the Washington boy who feels it unfair to ask his fiancée to share his uncertain future; to the lad from Indiana who describes his family and farm as he munches a home-made cookie that reminds him of his mother's cooking.

Cases vary. There was the patient at University Hospital, Minneapolis, who didn't respond to medical treatment and wouldn't converse with the nurses. One morning a Gray Lady leaned over his bed and said "hello" in his native Norwegian. He smiled, took a new outlook, seemed to live for those daily morning visits.

"I don't go in for reading," another retorted as the cart neared his bed in a southern hospital. But the Gray Lady stayed to chat anyhow. She learned he had been a jockey. Later, on a visit to her dentist, she found a copy of the Southern Maryland Horsebreeder magazine in the reception room and asked the dentist for it. He gave it to her as well as the unexpired subscription. The former jockey's joy was indescribable. He read the magazine through, slept with it under his pillow, and it was in shreds when the next issue came out.

It's puzzling to many a sick soldier why Gray Ladies are still so called, "because they're anything but," as one put it. "They're the bright spot in our lives while we're hospitalized."
