

Schleicher County Oil News

Special from James C. Watson Midland, Texas

May 22 report:—

The Ohio Oil Company No. 2 H. F. Thomson has been completed as the third producer in the Huldale, North-Lower Canyon field of Central-North Schleicher County.

It is the ninth well to be completed in the Pennsylvania area which includes the Huldale-Strawn field.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 207 barrels of oil based on an actual 16-hour flow of 138.18 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil.

Potential test was made on a one-quarter-inch choke and from casing perforations at 5,609-15 feet and at 5,620-26 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 593-1 and flowing pressures ranged from 200 to 500 pounds on casing and from 380 to 300 pounds on tubing.

Location is 1,385 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 80, block TT, TC survey. That makes it a southwest offset to Hiawatha No. 1 Runge, the opener of the field.

Wesley W. West of Houston is scheduled to drill a 7,000-foot wildcat in Central-North Schleicher County as No. 1 Christena Mittel and others.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 77, block TT, TC survey. Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin at once.

The drillsite is three miles west and slightly north of the Huldale, North-Lower Canyon field and three and one-quarter miles northwest of production in the Huldale-Strawn field. No. 1 Mittel is separated from the Huldale pool by two Ellenburger failures.

Standard Oil Company of Texas will drill its No. 2 Mrs. Mary Lee Fowler 1,980 feet from south and 461 feet from east lines of section 72, block TT, TC survey and one-quarter mile southeast of No. 4 Thomson.

Stanold Oil & Gas Company No. 1 R. J. Hill, wildcat in Southwest-Central Schleicher County, is drilling below 7,000 feet in shale. This project, which is contracted to 7,700 feet to test for production in the Ellenburger, has not shown for commercial production in the formations thus far drilled.

Stanold's No. 1 Williams, wildcat prospector in extreme Northwest Schleicher County, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 1204, TC survey and 16 miles northwest of Eldorado, is at total depth of 7,442 feet taking a drillstem test.

It is being made in a lime of unidentified age. A previous drillstem test from 7,403-7,412 feet in a lime recovered only five feet of drilling mud with no shows.

In the Huldale-Strawn field Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 2-1 Thomson Estate, is drilling below 5,020 feet in lime and shale.

This test is a northwest offset to the discovery well of the field. Its drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of the north half of the northeast quarter of section 71, block TT, TC survey.

In the same field, American Republics No. 2 Thomson is drilling below 5,019 feet in lime and shale.

Another Huldale-Strawn test, Ohio No. 5 Thomson, is digging below 4,175 feet in shale. The same operators No. 7 Thomson, is progressing below 1,175 feet in lime.

Ohio No. 10 Thomson is at total depth of 277 feet preparing to set surface pipe at that point.

Sinclair No. 1 Davis Estate, a drilling project in the Huldale, North-Lower Canyon field, is progressing below 5,000 feet in shale.

T. L. Williams and Wahlemaier No. 1 Geo. Long, 3 miles southwest of Eldorado, was abandoned as a dry hole early this week and equipment is being moved away.

The T. K. Jones wildcat north of Eldorado has also been abandoned, and rig is being torn down.

Light to Heavy Rains Hit County

Rains varying in amounts fell during the past day or two, providing welcome moisture for parched farms and ranches of Schleicher County. Missed by the rains which have fallen in much of West Texas during the week, Schleicher soil gratefully soaked up the moisture, and today farmers, ranchers, and businessmen are wearing smiles, and looking forward to better prospects for the spring season.

Hail accompanied the rain in parts of the county, but did little damage due to the fact that there are no growing crops to damage.

The city of Eldorado received a heavy rain during Wednesday afternoon, but this rain did not cover the county. Rains fell again last night, and seem more general.

About 50 phones, many of them in Eldorado, including the business district, went out Wednesday afternoon during the wind and heavy rain. A cable crew, tracing the trouble to wet cables, had most of the phones in working order by 10:00 p.m., though some were still out of order this morning. Amounts reported unofficially are:

Last of Eight Mund Children Completes Schooling In EHS

For Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mund there will be no more reserved seats in the family section when future classes graduate from EHS. Grete Mund is the last of the eight Mund children to graduate from the local high school.

Furthermore, the Mund children claim the distinction of having eight children all of whom have had all of their schooling, from first grade through to graduation, in the schools of Schleicher County.

For one year, the year Grete started to school, and Mildred finished college, all eight were in school at the same time!

The Mund children have worked hard at the job of educating their children, and are known among their friends as conscientious and enlightened parents. They have always worked as they could for school betterment, and Mrs. Mund has filled many offices, from highest on down, in the Parent-Teacher Association.

These are the children: Mildred, (Mrs. Bigby) now of Ballinger, Alice, Nora, (Mrs. James E. Jones) of San Diego, Calif., Ruth, (Mrs. William Bosse) of Illinois, Barbara, (Mrs. D'Eon Priest) of San Angelo, Arthur, Junior, who is serving Uncle Sam, Kumler, who is working on a ranch, and Grete, of the Class of 1951.

All of the children except the youngest went to college, and Mildred, Alice, and Ruth have degrees. Two others, Nora and Barbara went into the business world. Junior is in service, Kumler is working on the Bar S Ranch, and Grete expects to go to college next fall.

One big year the Mund children had four graduations to attend as parents—Mildred and Alice from college, Nora from high school and Barbara from grammar school.

Upon arrival of the family in Schleicher County Mildred enrolled in the primary department of the Bailey Ranch school. She, Alice, Nora, Ruth, and Barbara all attended the school serving the neighborhood in which the family lived. When the family moved, Arthur Junior started to school in Eldorado, and the others also had all of their schooling in town. There have been Mund children in Schleicher County since 1925!

Several other sets of parents, such as the Sauers, the Edmestons, and others, have sent large families to school here, but as far as we

Marshall Davis Gives Baccalaureate Speech

A six-fold way of achieving success in life was presented to the Senior class at Baccalaureate services Sunday night by Minister Marshall Davis of the Rock Church of Christ.

Speaking to the class and to a large crowd of relatives and friends Bro. Davis pointed out the values of Good Health, a Good Name, Making Friends, Being a Good Citizen, and Learning to Work. Finally, he charged the class to "Remember thy creator in the days of thy youth, when the evil days come not." Bro. Davis was introduced by Jack Black, principal.

Other ministers of the town who assisted on the program were Rev. Roy Shilling who gave the invocation, and Rev. Clifford Nelson, with the scripture and benediction.

The High School chorus rendered "Come Unto Me," and "O Morn of Beauty." Music for the professional and recessional was played by Carolyn Ratliff.

Field Day Concludes Tests Of Rams

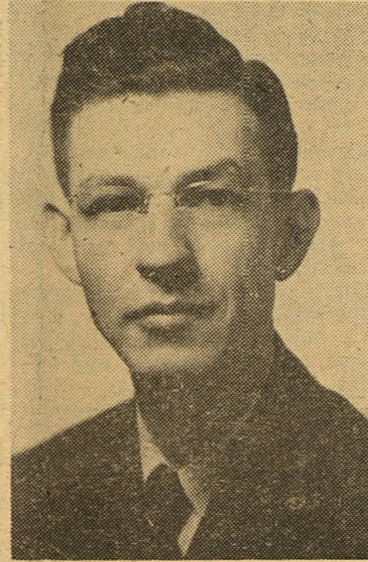

Results of the third annual ram progeny test were given at the field day, held recently at the Ranch Experiment Station in Sonora, 400 ranchers attending.

The study was made to show the tendency of rams to transmit desirable characteristics, testing of the offspring determining the dominating characteristics.

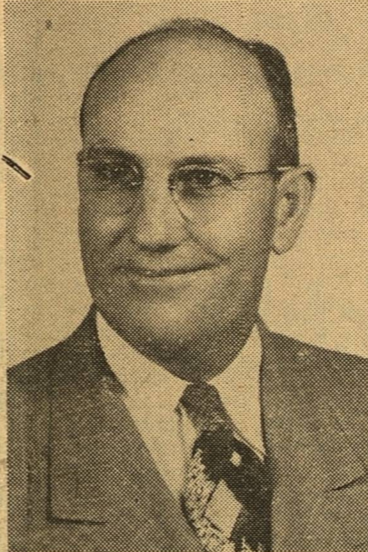

For the test 151 rams were fed 224 days. Consideration was given to gain in weight, weight of clean fleeces, body conformation, belly wool, face covering, and skin folds. Sixteen breeders were represented in the tests.

Quite a few ranchers from Schleicher county were present to follow results of the tests.

Changes Coming Up

C. A. Reynolds—To Leave

T. E. Holcomb—To Arrive

Two seasoned school men will go through the Commencement season with mixed emotions—T. E. Holcomb, incoming superintendent, because he is leaving Knox City to take over his new duties as superintendent of the Schleicher County school, and C. A. Reynolds, because he is leaving Eldorado to accept the superintendency of the Brady schools. Both have been in their present locations quite a few years. Mr. Reynolds tendered his resignation during the winter, and in February was elected superintendent of the Brady school system. A month later Mr. Holcomb accepted election by the board here. They have continued in their present jobs to complete their school year. They will also have records to work on and other routine school work which may require a few more weeks.

Election of new teachers will not receive the attention of the board until the new superintendent is here to help in their selection.

TRIGG EMPLOYEE IN SHANNON HOSPITAL

Antonio Monuz, employee at Charlie Trigg Motors, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon in an accident caused by a truck tire rim blowing off. Both Eldorado doctors being out of town at the time, Antonio was taken to Sonora for treatment and later to the Shannon hospital in San Angelo, where he was reported resting nicely this morning.

SENIORS GET DIPLOMAS IN SERVICES TONIGHT

IT'S ROUND-UP TIME FOR PRE-SCHOOLERS

Friday, May 25, is Round-up time for children who will start to school next fall, announces Mrs. Patton Enochs, who with her committee assistants, is in charge of the event.

Morning hours are from 10 to 12 and afternoon from 2 to 4. The tests will be given in the primary wing of the school, with Dr. M. G. Holcomb and Dr. Robert Maginot in charge. Parents are urged to bring their children, so that any defects or ailments which might be discovered may be corrected before the child enters first grade next fall. The Round-Up is under sponsorship of the Parent Teacher Association, who conduct it in schools throughout the United States.

A physical check-up will be given—also shots, the parents paying only the cost of the medicines. Everything connected with the examination is free, and none of it is compulsory.

For the good of the child who is to start his school life in a few months, parents are urged to give 100 per cent cooperation in the carrying out of this program.

New School Building Provides Rich Setting For Its First Commencement Exercises; Held Tonight

The $475,000 building program of the Eldorado Public Schools was completed last year and has been in use since September, but the Class of 1951 will be the first to graduate in the new auditorium. A capacity crowd is expected at Commencement exercises tonight when the 21 Seniors receive their diplomas.

Last Sunday night the black-robed classmen filed down the aisles to hear the Baccalaureate address by Minister Marshall Davis. The auditorium has been in constant use all year in connection with a number of activities and is recognized by speakers and audience alike for its fine acoustics. Homecoming and dedication services were among the first events held there. That was in November. Largest crowd in the auditorium so far is believed to have been at the Grade School spring program held recently.

Grading Wool At Shearing Pens

COLLEGE STATION — Sheep raisers who practice improved production and breeding methods are well paid for their efforts.

Sorting and breeding for flock improvement, grading wool at the shearing pens and selling on quality basis all contribute to higher profits for the ranchmen. A study made recently by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station shows that these three practices work together for wool improvement.

In general, sheep that produce higher quality wool also have heavier fleeces—more wool which brings a better price. From a study of nearly 20,000 sheep in Sutton County, it was found that Fine Staple fleeces averaged 8.2 pounds, Fine French Combing averaged 7.2 pounds and Fine Clothing averaged 6.3 pounds.

Of 75 sheepmen whose wool was graded at the shearing pens, 28 who had systematically practiced upgrading for staple length received an average price of 81.1 cents a pound for their wool. The 47 ranchmen who had done no systematic sorting and breeding received 75.3 cents a pound—5.8 cents a pound less.

Grading at the shearing pens is also educational in that the sheepman sees what kind of wool he is producing.

Progress Report 1363, which gives the details of this study, is available from the Publications Office, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

Jane Davis Weds Odessa Engineer In May Ceremony

Juanita Jane Davis, daughter of Mrs. Fred Riley of this city and Gillis Davis of San Angelo, was married on May 5 to Billy Graham of Odessa, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Graham of Oklahoma City.

The semi-formal wedding was held in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Odessa, the Rev. Coe Williams, pastor of the church, officiating. Otis L. Davis of Lubbock gave his sister away.

The ceremony took place before an altar decorated with foliage imported from Mexico, and flanked with candelabra holding cathedral tapers, and baskets of white glads and greenery. The traditional wedding music was played on the organ by Richard Halford, who also accompanied Mrs. Dan Downing for two songs, "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

For her wedding the bride wore white organza over satin. Tiny pearl buttons trimmed the fitted basque, and the full skirt was ballerina length. She wore white organza gauntlets, a head dress of white illusion lace, caught with rhinestone studded tiara, and her arm bouquet was of red rosebuds tied with white ribbons and showered with ivy.

Maid of honor was Cathryne Woods of Odessa, who carried pink carnations, and wore organza.

The groom's attendants were Jennings Morgan, best man, and Bill Masterson and Jack Sims, ushers, with Ed Stone lighting the candles. Betty Jones presided at the bride's book in the church vestibule. A dinner dance followed the wedding.

The bride was reared in Eldorado and graduated from EHS. She then attended San Angelo College, and received her RN degree from the School of Nursing at Shannon Hospital in 1947. She practiced her nursing profession in hospitals at Houston, and Midland, before going to Odessa to nurse at the Ector County Hospital.

The groom is a graduate of the high school at Shawnee, Okla., attended the University of Oklahoma at Norman, and received his degree in engineering from the University of California at Los Angeles. He is now employed with Drilling and Service, Inc., at Odessa. The couple have taken up their residence in Odessa after a wedding trip to Oklahoma and Colorado, and the bride will continue with her nursing duties.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 17.—Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, today announced receipt of a Selective Service order postponing induction of all students until they can furnish local boards with scholastic standings or results of college qualification tests.

The order, issued by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, will give students time to furnish necessary information local boards will need in considering student deferments.

In the order, the national director set forth that, in no case of postponement, will the induction be postponed beyond August 20, 1951. Upon receipt of necessary evidence of scholastic standing or score attained on the test, indicating satisfactory status as set forth in Selective Service regulations, local boards "shall reopen and consider anew the classification of any student" registrant, the order said.

"Such deferred college students are still liable for service," General Wakefield stressed. "This deferment plan is merely designed to let as many young men as possible, who would normally go to college, carry out their plans, and then put in their obligatory service."

The order also reiterated instructions issued earlier regarding the 30-day postponement granted all students beyond the end of their academic year to enlist in a service of their choice or to secure employment in essential industry.

The above policy was designed to implement the intent of Congress that students should be encouraged to continue in school until the end of their academic year and, at the same time, preserve the right to choose branch of service.

In his order, General Hershey requests local boards to consider for deferment all college graduates who secure employment in a critical occupation in essential industry which the employer has not otherwise been able to fill.

This same procedure was followed the past January when Selective Service granted a one-month postponement from induction for the 25,000 students then graduating from college.

At the end of that month about 10 per cent of those students were able to prove to their local boards their essentiality in civilian pursuits. The remainder were drafted.

After receiving their degrees, graduates will be given 30 days to obtain essential jobs. At the end of that period, they must reappear before their local boards and present evidence of their own and from their employer which will prove four facts:

1. The new employment is full time.
2. The job is in the national health, safety, or interest.
3. The registrant's skill is such that he cannot be replaced.
4. His withdrawal from job for military service would cause a material loss of effectiveness in his place of work.

Arthur Mund, Jr., of Camp Bullis, was here on a three-day pass last week end, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mund. This is his first visit at home since his induction into service. He had completed a unit of his training, but expects to be at Camp Bullis for some time.

POST - SCRIPT

Popularity of the new parking markings in the main business streets is proved by the number of people, especially businessmen, who have spoken about it to City officials, who furnished some of the labor, and to the Lions, who sponsored the project.

Markings have been drawn for angle parking on main business blocks and on blocks leading off from the main drag.

According to city officials, the public has been cooperating remarkably well—after all, they should, as the new system provides more parking space by giving each motorist his share and no more.

Trouble shooting department: A cow out at John Parker's failed to look where she was going Tuesday morning, and walked right into a tank. Men managed to keep her head above water while a wrecker with a crane made the trip from Eldorado and lifted her out onto dry land.

People moving, building, etc.: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Henderson moved Tuesday from the Jess Thompson house, which they have been renting to their new residence in Glendale.

With the moving away of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Neill, a house was vacated at the Shell Station. Mr. and Mrs. Tom McGill have moved from a Crosby house to the Shell house, and it is understood that a Postelle oil employee has rented the Crosby unit which he vacated.

C. L. Meador, Jr., has started work on an extensive remodeling and enlarging project on his residence in Glendale. The arrangement of rooms will be changed, an ell added, new roof put on, exterior painted, interior textured (probably), and repairs made.

On the west, an ell will provide new garage, living room, bedroom and additional bath. The dining room and living room will be one large room, some changes in windows and doors will be made, kitchen enlarged, and many renovations made. The entire project will require many weeks. Vernie Logan is in charge of the job.

The Earl Parkers have put the finishing touches on their new rent house, and this week are moving in the furniture. The four-room modern house will be rent property. New-old residents of Eldorado since yesterday are Mr. and Mrs. Jess Thompson, who had been living the past year on a ranch near McCamey. They arrived here Wednesday with their household goods and have moved back into their residence, vacated Tuesday by renters C. C. Henderson and family.

Among families who have moved recently are Adison L. Hayner, in John R. Jones new house, D. E. Kinsey, in Mrs. Ima Bearce Brown house, Dell Boothe, in Mrs. Will McAngus apartment.

Workers in the oil fields of Schleicher County continue to come and go. Latest to leave are employees of Western Drilling Co., who have been moving out yesterday and today, with Monahan's their destination. As the Amon Justice family are vacating his residence, Pop Taylor is moving back to his home place, after completing the little residence in which he has been making his home for several months.

S. L. Stanford reports that a wire has been received from Sen. Dorsey Hardeman, that Senate Bill No. 185 has been passed and signed by Gov. Shivers.

This bill provides that local cemeteries can be financed with county funds. The local cemetery association have been working on this legislation for some time in order to provide a more businesslike system for handling cemetery expenses.

Mr. Stanford points out that no changes in the local set-up can be expected until next year.

Personnel of the SCD and PMA still maintain separate offices, though the two offices are now combined under one set-up under the new federal plan.

The Soil Conservation District office continues to operate from the top floor of the courthouse, and the Production Marketing Association office in its old quarters in the Cloud building.

Some plan may be worked out whereby quarters large enough for personnel of the combined office can be provided; failing in this, they hope to get offices in the same building. Something new on this problem may be worked out this summer.

It seems that the combining of the offices will cut some government red tape and duplication of work—for example, SCD lays out, checks and passes on conservation practices; PMA, handling the money, also has to check on these practices, thus duplicating the other's record work.

It is not expected that the new plan will effect Eldorado office personnel—at least no one here knows of it, if it will.

Mrs. Burl Woodward and children spent Sunday and Monday at Tahoma with Mr. Woodward, who is employed there as a driller for Campbell Drilling Co.

The Palmer Wests will be vacationing soon. They, and their daughter Dale, will leave June 1 on a trip to the West Coast.

All except one of the 13 children of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Johnson of Rockwood were present with their families at a family reunion at the home place Sunday.

A number of Schleicher County young people have been making the news by graduating, receiving honors, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Sudduth, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sudduth, have returned from a weekend visit in Lubbock, where they attended baccalaureate and commencement for a class of about 945 at Texas Tech.

Duncan Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. O. Wilson, will receive his Master's Degree from the University next week. A geology major, he wrote his Master's thesis on undeveloped area around Marfa.

Dwight Wiedenmann, young Eldorado businessman, was one of this year's spring graduates at Texas Tech, though he completed his college courses at mid-term. There for the weekend to attend the services were Mrs. Wiedenmann and the couple's daughter Sherry Ann, also Mrs. Ralph McMillan. He received the degree of BBA.

Roy Shilling, Jr., received his degree from McMurry College, at Abilene Tuesday night. The Shilling family attended the graduation exercises and all went on to Methodist Conference at San Antonio.

Roy, Jr., a graduate of Mertzton High School, has made his college work in three years. A licensed Methodist preacher, he has served a circuit near Abilene while in college, and later will enroll in Perkins School of Theology, at S. M. U., Dallas.

The successes of our young people are always of interest to their Schleicher County friends. Folks here will be glad to know that George Stanley Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Finley, was recently initiated into the Barristers, a 15-member law fraternity at SMU's school of law. Membership is determined by vote of law students and OK of faculty. He has also been asked to write for the Southwest Law Journal, a publication put out by the law school.

Albert Stanford is one of several Texas Tech students who received a track award at a lettermen's banquet in the Lubbock Country Club Friday night, according to a news dispatch from the college. Stanford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Stanford of this city.

A large and appreciative crowd was in attendance when Miss May Ellington, teacher of piano in Eldorado for a number of years, presented her piano class in recital Friday night in the school auditorium. Pupils showed excellent preparation, and visitors noted the advancement which they had made since their last public appearance.

Relatives from out of town are here to visit home folks and to attend the graduation tonight of Bubba Sammons from EHS. First to arrive were Paddy Jones and her five-weeks-old son, James Leon Lucas, Jr., who, with Mr. Lucas, will spend the summer on the T. K. Jones ranch. They expect to return to Naples for the new school year. Mr. Lucas recently concluding his first year as coach in the High School there. Paddy and son accompanied her brother, Jack Jones and his family home from Ft. Worth. Others here for the graduation are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sammons Senior and Mr. and Mrs. James Sammons, Jr., all of near Van Horn.

Landscaping Stressed For Farm Homes

COLLEGE STATION — Beautifying the surroundings of homes, especially those in rural areas, with adapted shrubs and trees, lawns, walks and appropriate outdoor furniture is a progressive program throughout Texas. Demonstrations in this field are in the main conducted by home demonstration club women and members of girls' 4-H clubs with assistance in planning of the A&M College Extension Service personnel. Since success of a venture in landscaping depends chiefly upon favorable climatic conditions, those of 1950 were the least helpful in many years. Prolonged and widespread absence of natural moisture prevailed at critical periods. Notwithstanding, 19,403 homes in 200 counties made improvements in home grounds, reports Sadie Hatfield, Extension specialist in homestead improvement.

These reported improvements included planting of shrubs in 158 counties; 577 windbreak plantings in 68 counties, and setting out 32,361 shade trees which were still living at the end of the season. Windbreaks, according to the specialist, are popular in the northwestern part of the state while some are growing along the coast.

Among other work in exterior improvement recorded last year was the construction of 2,237 drives and 2,982 walks variously of concrete or gravel. In addition, 8,217 pieces of recreation equipment — chairs, tables and barbecue furnaces chiefly — were put into service. The specialist reports that creating and furnishing outdoor living rooms was a popular demonstration with 4-H Club members. One boy revived his club by serving a monthly barbecue supper from a furnace he built in a shrub-enclosed setting on his home lawn.

County Extension agents report assisting 11,454 women and 2,658 girls enrolled in planning home grounds, and 1,067 women's club leaders in 67 counties gave demonstrations to clubs and other groups. These leaders, trained by Extension Service personnel, also assisted in arranging home grounds.

Study and educational tours made by home beautification demonstrators included several for studying plants adapted to various areas of the state and 46 to Experiment Stations. Moreover, 91 tours were made to homes of garden club members and 83 in relations to improvement of home grounds.

The Extension specialist reports that 72 counties have enrolled for concentrated work on home grounds improvement in 1951.

1950 Per Acre Cotton Yield Is High

College Station. — Texas cotton growers in 1950 harvested an average of 205 pounds of lint an acre despite weather conditions which increased insect infestation and made control difficult. This yield was not only among the state's highest record of production but emphasized the trend toward increasing per acre yield as compared with the 1939-48 ten-year average of 170 pounds.

The educational portion of the Texas A & M College Extension Service's cotton program was for the fifth consecutive year within the framework of the national Seven-Step Cotton program. Its objectives were the fitting of cotton into diversified farming; soil conservation; planting best varieties; effective use of labor and machinery; insect and disease control; picking and ginning for high grades; and selling for grade staple and variety value. During the year outstanding progress was made in the organization and use of county Seven-Step Cotton Committees. Encouraged by the Extension Service cotton work specialist, county agricultural agents formed such committees made up of farmers, and representatives or agricultural agents formed such committees made up of farmers, and representatives of agricultural agencies and allied cotton interests in 138 counties.

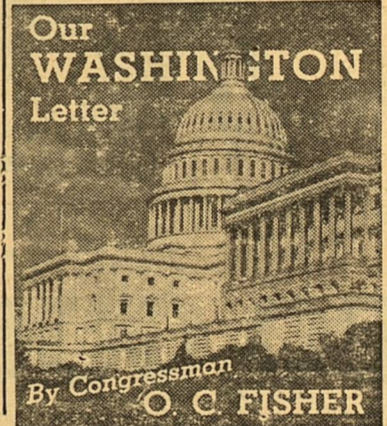

The extension cotton work specialist Fred C. Elliott set his educational program in motion in December, 1949, and pursued it systematically throughout the succeeding months. Training meetings at which visual aids were freely used, tours, practical demonstrations, and publicizing through radio and press comprised his major activities were chiefly with the Extension Service field personnel and devoted to adapting the Seven-Step program to local requirements. In pursuing his objectives the specialist visited 100 counties, held 123 training meetings, and trained 188 county agricultural agents and 1,093 voluntary leaders. In addition, he attended a cotton conference in Mississippi, the three-state regional conference at Texarkana, and participated in the Texas Certified Seed Breeders annual meeting of the Central Texas ginners. Meanwhile he was host to three representatives of the Turkish Department of Agriculture studying Texas cotton work.

Although Texas' 1950 cotton acreage was materially less than in the previous year the use of mechanical equipment for cultivating and harvesting the crop showed no decline except in the number of spindle pickers. These totaled 255 and were used in 63 counties compared with 355 in 69 counties in 1949. On the other hand, 7,134 stripped harvesters were used in 82 counties against 7,003 in 84 counties the preceding year, and 10,004 rotary hoe equipped tractors operated in 97 counties compared with 1949 totals of 6,966 in 81 counties. Machine hoeing reduced the cost of manual labor by about 65 percent.

Gross results of the Seven-Step program, according to year-end summaries by county agricultural agents, show that 42,181 farms in 162 counties were assisted in fitting cotton in balanced farming; 17,094 in 129 counties applied barnyard manure to cotton land; 34,549 in 152 counties planted cotton following legumes and phosphate, and 6,089 in 82 counties reported decrease in root rot. The quantity of insecticides used in 1950 suggests the extent of infestation by destructive insects on the 5,285,005 acres of cotton poisoned. This protective service absorbed 98,000,000 pounds of dust and 3,000,000 gallons of spray.

During the year the specialist worked with the Texas Prison System in modernizing a gin, and the $25,000 invested in new equipment was amortized in the 1950 crop. Plans have been made to modernize two other gins operated by the system in accordance with the specialist's recommendations in 1951.

ESTERBROOK Fountain Pens and renewable points available at the Success Office.

The House continued its economy drive last week when it passed the Agriculture appropriation bill for the ensuing year. The President had requested $820 million to run that sprawling department, but when the House got through with it, the total had been cut down to $717 million.

After approving funds for carrying on the Soil Conservation Service, the House disapproved an amendment to cut money for the various range practices and fertilizer program. The bill provided $225 million for that purpose and an amendment to trim that figure down to $150 million lost by a narrow margin. The committee had previously cut $60 million from the President's budget request for that item, and if the floor amendment had been adopted an additional $75 million would have been whacked.

In joining with the advocates of this cut (including the American Farm Bureau) I pointed out that the various range practices have been very desirable but that because of the financial condition of the country during this emergency I felt that we must reduce wherever possible. During the debate, I stated:

"It is often said that economy is a good thing if it is applied to the other fellow. Here is a chance to apply it across the board. The people down where I come from are genuinely alarmed about the magnitude of the public debt. They are disturbed about the solvency of this nation, and they want to make necessary sacrifices in order to put our house in order."

OF REAL CONCERN to our area was the action of the House Rules Committee in refusing last week to clear the Mexican Labor bill for House action. The Committee man change its mind later, but the future of the legislation is now uncertain.

The Senate passed a companion bill on the subject recently, but it included an objectionable amendment by Senator Douglas of Illinois which would make it a crime for an employer to hire a worker illegally in this country if he should even have "suspected" that the worker was a wet-back. The House bill contains no such provision and I feel confident the House would never consent to the Douglas amendment.

The purpose of the Mexican Labor bill is to provide some necessary funds and set up machinery to put the U. S.-Mexican labor agreement into effect. That agreement was made in Mexico earlier this year. It provides for processing, with processing stations to be located on our side of the Rio Grande. It would remove a lot of the red tape that employers have been faced with in obtaining immigrant workers in the past. But, as indicated by the action of the Rules Committee, right now we don't know if Congress will assist in putting the agreement into effect or not.

How's Business?

By Roger W. Babson

The question that confronts every investor today is what to do with his money. This problem is not limited to the individual investor, but also to large Insurance Companies, Investment Trusts, Pension Funds and Institutions — and many other large-fund companies. If it is a big problem to the individual investor, it is many times greater to the Institutions that have millions of dollars to invest daily. With a field so broad and complicated let us confine ourselves to the individual investor. Most investors want safety of principal, a reasonable yield and the possibility of appreciation.

The normal hazards of investment are now aggravated by the possibility of a bomb destroying some of our cities, together with the assets of some of our largest corporations. This is a real problem that must be met realistically with careful preparation therefor. Diversification is one of the normal ways of distributing your investment risks. This involves diversification as to kinds of securities, as to industries, as to quality and as to the relation between fixed-value assets and variable-value assets. But now the atomic bomb has presented the additional problem of geographic diversification as a prominent factor. Hence, securities of good companies that are not vulnerable to bombing have a strong preference. Your local bank will give you a list of such companies. The process of industrial decentralization is in operation. It is a slow, but sure process. The small inland towns, from which a great number of us came originally, are coming into their own. With large Insurance Companies, Investment Trusts, and large institutional funds seeking investment constantly, the supply of such securities is relatively limited. This is one of the factors helping to hold the market up in spite of existing uncertainties. To invest money today, diversify as to industry, quality and location; then deposit your securities in bomb-proof vaults and keep duplicate records of your holdings.

What Influences Business and Investments?

In my column I try to present the various factors and activities that influence business and investments. Often the influencing factors are far more important than the conditions. That is especially true under present chaotic national and international affairs. When discussing business conditions and what they may be in the future one has to realize that, in a large measure, such will be determined by one man by the name of Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin. This in turn depends right now upon his ideas as to World War III and how soon, if at all, he will start one. Only Stalin can answer this question. At present it looks as though the sea-saw war in Korea will continue for some time. If Russia is going to come in at all she will hardly do so until the crops are harvested and the rivers frozen over.

World War III or no World War III we are committed to a defense program that will make a strong demand for certain basic metals and other materials that will create shortages in peace time production industries. The domestic and military demand will hold business up, but from a profit standpoint increased taxes will tend to cut a deep swath into profits. Without profits industry cannot pay the proposed increased wages of union workers nor keep the efficiency of its plants up to par, as depreciation and obsolescence operate continuously, twenty-four hours a day. Without profits industry can pay no taxes, and yet the Government is dependent upon such taxes.

Under these conditions business is uncertain, depending on circumstances over which we have no control—besides the stock market is highly selective. Those industries that have war orders should prosper, but some other industries will have a hard time getting materials. Inflation is scaring money, and much of it is seeking safety in various ways. Strange as it may seem, a cease-fire peace program would probably be detrimental to the stock market temporarily. The thing to do under these circumstances is to keep a reasonable amount of good stocks, but have a fair portion of liquid cash for use in case of a collapse.

I'm only one of 80,000 EX-BREADWINNERS

You wouldn't know how it feels to be an EX, unless you are one.

Two million people are injured at work every year, but sooner or later most of them get back on the job, working and earning again. They don't know how lucky they are! Among those 2,000,000 there's an inner group of 80,000, of which I am one. We're the EX-breadwinners. We had accidents—bad ones.

Who can say what the result of any accident will be? Two people have almost identical falls—one gets his wind knocked out—the other is paralyzed for life. Call it fate or what you will, but when an accident starts happening nobody knows how it will end.

You don't have to tell me how personal safety is all wrapped up with the things that make life worthwhile—a good job—good pay—a happy family, well-cared-for and the promise of a bright future.

The least I can do now is pass the word along to you. Don't take safety for granted, an accident can happen to you! Know your job, be alert to its hazards. Think safely. Keep on being a breadwinner!

Range Notes

By W. G. GODWIN

The sheep tick is an important factor influencing the production of lamb, mutton and wool in Schleicher County. Actual figures on losses due to ticks are not available, but it is generally agreed that they are considerable, and that tick control should be a routine part of sheep management.

The sheep tick is not a tick but a degenerate wingless fly that lives on the bodies of sheep and goats. Its food is the blood of the host.

Reproduction

The sheep tick is one of the few insects that give birth to fully developed larvae instead of eggs. The larvae hatch from the eggs, and pass their immature stages in the body of the female.

They are deposited in the wool when full grown and pupate within a few hours.

Adults emerge from these pupae after a period of about three weeks. Injury caused by sheep tick:

At shearing time ticks migrate in numbers from ewes to lambs because the longer wool offers them a favorable environment. Infected lambs gain weight slowly and are more susceptible to disease, in some cases causing indirectly death losses and light weight lambs at market time.

The damage to wool varies with the degree of infestation. The sheep tick may cause a whole flock to shear light and the wool will be stained.

Control: Use benzene hexachloride, lindane, toxaphene, DDT, or rotenone according to directions.

Warfarin-Treated Rat and Mouse Bait

Warfarin bait contains as its active ingredient an anticoagulant chemical which when ingested reduces the ability of the blood to clot and internal hemorrhages result. With all other baits used to kill mice and rats, the rodent becomes suspicious of the bait and will avoid them—but not with warfarin. He continues to eat until death occurs.

To be effective keep the bait exposed five days—because one dose of warfarin will not kill. Leave the bait out until you have rid your premises 100% of rats and mice. If you cannot get warfarin elsewhere it may be secured at the courthouse.
