SENIORS PRESENT PLAY; OTHER EVENTS CROWD CLOSING WEEKS

Playing to a most appreciative audience, the cast presented the annual Senior play, "Professor, How Could You?" Friday night in the school auditorium.

The three-act comedy was presented smoothly, the cast convincingly unfolding the story of a college professor whose friends and relatives tried to marry him off when he had a chance at a job for which only a married man would be selected.

The college professor, one of the leading characters, was ably played by Joe Ed Spencer. A trio of candidates provided many of the laughs of the show—Laura Clarke, the sweet southern belle, Iretta Fae Mace, the attractive secretary, and Fern Cheatham, as Tootsie Bean whose only talent was cooking. But grandpa packed Vickie, a fiery college girl who was secretly in love with the professor, but who wouldn't admit it—and who finally won out, much to her own and the professor's surprise.

Maurice Christian, as John Appleby, a young man with lots of personality, played his part well, as did George Ochsner, the butler, and Bubba Sammons, the "tough guy" brother of one of the candidates.

Unusually good character work was done by Rita Ann Elder as grandma, and Jack Mund as grandpa. In general characterization, in make-up and stage presence, both young people portrayed their difficult parts with smoothness and finish.

Reports since the production indicate that the audience considered this one of the best plays produced here in some time.

Twenty-One Grads

During the evening at the Senior play, Mrs. Charles Gary, who coached the production, introduced the following 21 Seniors, who comprise the Class of 1951:

Myrta Bob Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harper.

Arturo Espinosa, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Espinosa.

James Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Alexander.

Peggy McAngus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross McAngus.

Rita Ann Elder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elder.

Bubba Sammons, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Jones.

Nila Barclay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barclay.

Gordon Hamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamm.

George Ochsner, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Ochsner.

Fern Cheatham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cheatham.

Joe Ed Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Spencer.

Durward Rutland, son of Mrs. Irene Rutland.

Iretta Fae Mace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mace.

Laura Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clarke.

Jack Mund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Mund.

Maurice Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Christian.

Mary Sproul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sproul.

Grete Mund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mund.

Quite a few of this class are planning to attend college. Their choice of colleges will be announced at a later date.

The class of 1951 holds the distinction of being the first graduating class in the new high school building. For the first time in many years there will be adequate stage facilities and adequate seating space—(750 seats and more standing room if needed.)

Reception Follows

Following the play Friday night, Mrs. S. D. Harper, Mrs. E. W. Mund and Mrs. Edgar Spencer entertained with a party in the school cafeteria. Refreshments were served to Seniors, parents and faculty members.

The Methodist Church will entertain the Seniors with a ranch party on the 15th.

Seniors Trip

The Seniors have changed their minds about their Senior trip—they will go to Galveston instead of Eureka Springs. They will leave here Friday morning, May 25, spend four nights in Galveston and one in San Antonio, returning home May 31.

Baptists Entertain

The WMU of the First Baptist Church entertained Monday night with a banquet for the Senior Class. A chicken supper, with a variety of salads and dessert, was served buffet style on the church lawn.

The banquet was served at long tables, centered with bowls of red roses. The honored guests were guided to their places by place cards which were miniature diplomas, each Senior reading aloud the fortune which his scroll told. The class colors were used in the ribbons with which these diplomas were tied.

Rev. Clifford Nelson delivered the invocation, and Carroll Ratliff was master of ceremonies. Sponsors present were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gary.

Entertainment was showing of a film, with John Thomas Alexander operating the machine. The film, "Beyond Our Own," told the story of young people completing college, and the place religion occupied in their lives.

Workmen started Tuesday on remodeling of the kitchen in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Montgomery.

A new Jones house has been completed, and has been rented to A. L. Hayner, geologist with Standard of Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Hayner and baby are moving here from Snyder.

The Dentons, who had been renting the garage apartment at Mrs. Mae Mercer's, have returned to Shreveport, and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Pyatt have moved out of their trailer into the Mercer apartment which they vacated.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Ross have moved this week to the new Fred Riley house. Mr. Ross is with Ohio, and the couple are newlyweds.

Workmen expect to complete the C. C. Henderson house in a short time, and the Hendersons will move there from the Jess Thompson house.

The Lester Hendersons recently bought the house vacated by the E. W. Craigs, and on Tuesday the new renters, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bohannon, moved their household goods here from Brownfield. Mr. Bohannon, with Mud Control Laboratories, expects to keep the garage apartment on the place for extra room when company comes.

From Sonora comes the news item that the Experiment Station is holding annual Field Day there Saturday, May 12, and invites everyone interested to attend.

Last week we reported about the big wind storm and casually remarked that the lights were off for about two hours—and thereby caused the W. T. Utilities crew to feel bad. It seems that by the electric clocks all over town the lights were off just 35 minutes. Guess it just seemed like two hours.

Of course there is no place to go after you get there—but the paved road west to the county line has been completed for some time. It makes a nice Sunday afternoon drive . . . the country looks pretty out that way. When you get to the end of the road you simply turn around and come back.

Cars and trucks are now using the new short-cut road to the Huldale oil field and saving about 10 miles on the trip from Eldorado to the wells. But the road is not completed by any means—calicheing, grading and leveling is still going on, so you want to take it easy if you drive the new road.

Five of Eldorado's filling station operators got together this week and worked out a plan whereby only two of the five would be open each Sunday. Note their announcement elsewhere in this paper in our advertising columns.

The West road past the county line is due for immediate attention, judging by the fact that several men with trailers and others renting apartments are coming into Eldorado this week. It will be remembered that this work is due to start at any time, contract having been awarded a number of weeks ago for this job in Crockett county.

With the publication of Mrs. Edwin Jackson's Wes-Tex and delivery tomorrow of the May issue of Eagle Scratches, EHS bi-weekly newspaper, the Eldorado Success completes the year's work on these two papers, which have been coming off the press here during the school year.

Eagle Scratches is put out by the high school, with Mrs. Carroll Howard in charge; the Wes-Tex carries district news and announcements for Mrs. Edwin Jackson, district PTA president.

The school will probably resume publication of their paper after school opens next fall. Mrs. Jackson will have an August issue of Wes-Tex, to carry announcements concerning opening-of-school PTA work in the district.

These two papers have been most ably edited, and this editor has enjoyed serving these efficient folks as their humble printer.

Marshall Davis will teach the Bible class at the Memorial building Sunday morning.

Week-end visitors in the J. W. Davis home were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cowan and three children of Austin and J. W. Davis, Jr.

Young Couple Wed, Live In Eldorado

New residents of Eldorado this week are Mr. and Mrs. Jess Ross, newlyweds, who have moved into one of the new Fred Riley houses in the south part of town.

Jess Ross and Beverly Kinnebrew were married May 5 at 8:00 p. m. in the Methodist Church at Homer, Louisiana, the pastor, Rev. Luman Douglas officiating. The formal wedding was attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride was reared in Homer, received her degree at LSU, and completed a year of graduate work in social welfare at the University, where she pledged Kappa Delta.

In June, 1950, she went to Midland to begin work, and in October began employment with Stanold, leaving Midland in March, 1951, to prepare for her marriage at Homer.

The groom, whose home town is Vernon, was graduated from A & M in petroleum engineering, working in Midland two years, then about two months ago moving to Eldorado as petroleum engineer with Ohio.

The young couple drove through by car, stopping in Austin and other places en route, and arrived here early this week.

MEETING WELL ATTENDED

A good crowd was present when the Council of Church Women held their meeting Friday in the Methodist Church. The meeting was the first for the group since its organization several months ago.

During the business session, over which the president, Mrs. Luke Thompson presided, it was voted to send a duffel bag of clothing overseas, and the next meeting time was set for November when a World Day of Prayer program will be presented. Punch and cookies was served.

You've Got To Hand It To Sandy

Sandy Johnson's wife "Tiny" suddenly asks him at breakfast the other morning "Why don't you build me some bluebird houses?"

"What for?" asks Sandy. "Why for bluebirds, of course" says Tiny. "We always had 'em at home when I was a girl. May sound silly—but I sorta miss 'em."

Well, I know how busy Sandy's been lately and the thought of taking time out to build birdhouses could have made a lot of men blow their top. But not Sandy. He says, "No, Tiny. It doesn't sound silly. I think it's a wonderful idea—we're going to have bluebirds—and I'm starting on some birdhouses tonight."

From where I sit, we could do with more understanding people like Sandy—and Tiny, too. He respects her likings, and she respects his. He likes a temperate glass of beer now and then—and although Tiny sticks to coffee, whatever Sandy likes is O.K. with her. They live and let live—and that's why they live so happily.

How's Business?

By Roger W. Babson

What is this thing called Communism? What does it offer an American citizen that would make him betray his own country? It has always been an enigma to me what Communism has to offer men of high rank and intellectual attainments that will induce them to give secret military information to Russia. This is especially true when it may mean the death of thousands of Americans and threaten the very destruction of our freedoms and economic way of life. However, I don't know enough about Communism to discuss it. I, however, can discuss Russian Imperialism.

Russia is destroying human rights. She makes everyone a slave of the state. There appears to be no freedom of occupation nor any choice as to where one may work. If one does not like Stalin, he is shot or he is sent to Siberia to work as a slave under conditions unbelievable in an enlightened world. Yet, there are those who are enjoying the freedom of our institutions—and even American citizens—who are willing to betray us to this monster and deprive us of all our freedoms. Why will they do it? What is the incentive and what are they offered in return for betraying their own country? What do they gain?

There are no competitive elections under the Russian system; the people have no say as to who may govern them, and the Dictator is the only one for whom they can vote. If anyone is caught thinking other than the prescribed ideology of the Dictator or Politburo, he politely disappears. At times, there is even a purge of the higher-ups, when nobody's life is safe. It certainly now looks as if Russia has for its goal the conquest of the world. In opposing the spread of Russian Imperialism, we not only fight for our own preservation, but for that of the free and peace-loving peoples of the world. Knowing Russia as it operates—which is diametrically opposed to our Democratic way of life—I cannot help wondering what in the world people are offered that will make them become traitors. Spies within and faint-hearted Americans are our worst enemies.

Some of the McGinnesses who have been out sight-seeing have some pretty picnic spots to recommend. Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinness, accompanied by their son Elton and his family, were met by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lowe, Mrs. McGinness' parents, and Mr. and Mrs. David Sides, her brother-in-law and sister, of Menard, at Garner State Park Sunday. They spent the day there, then returned home by Horse Collar Bend, a deep canyon complete with river and lodge, which they describe as unusually pretty. A picnic basket provided the food for the outing and the families report a fine day.

PEOPLE AND THEIR AIRPLANES!

Jim Dan Hill, one of the home boys who has made good in a big way, came in by plane Sunday morning for a visit of an hour or two with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hill. Jim Dan, who is president of a teachers' college in Wisconsin, had an opportunity to thumb a ride with a flier who was headed this way—so he visited briefly in Abilene with his wife's people and here with home folks before returning home Sunday—by plane of course.

A couple of fishermen are back from a plane trip to Old Mexico, bringing with them 175 pounds of catfish, bass and drum.

Nick Jurecek and Ray Bruton went by private plane to Dunmartin (spelling?) Old Mexico, leaving Thursday morning and returning late Saturday evening. They report a most enjoyable trip.

A woman who has stayed put all of her life has been doing some traveling, and she likes it.

Mrs. Rex McCormick is back in Eldorado after spending nearly seven months in Palm Beach, Florida, with a sister, Mrs. W. E. West, whom Eldoradoans will remember as the former Ida Anderson.

Though Mrs. West has lived at Palm Beach for 30 years, this is Mrs. McCormick's first trip to Florida to visit her.

While she enjoyed the entire time she was there, she says she was especially impressed with the view along the coast—the beautiful vegetation and the gorgeous flowers blossoming everywhere—with the elaborate show places maintained there as winter homes by wealthy northerners and movie people—and with the wonderful climate. She reports two enjoyable side trips to Miami.

Mrs. McCormick has rented out her place here to the L. W. Christmans and during her stay in Eldorado she is visiting with her son Hollis McCormick and his family.

Everyone likes to look at new houses and to see their friends move into them.

Women of the West Side Church of Christ were hostesses at a house warming Thursday night for Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sudduth, Bailey Ranch farm-ranch couple, who had recently completed interior work on the new five-room pre-built which they occupy.

About 50 attended, bringing a miscellaneous collection of gifts for the new house.

The hostesses served cake, coffee and hot chocolate at the close of the games of "42" and canasta.

The Sudduths located their new house near the old residence, which they may dismantle to provide material for garage and other needs on the place. The house was moved in in March, and the interior work has been done by the family and is now completed.

The Sudduths ranch and farm in the Bailey Ranch Community. Mrs. Sudduth is a daughter of Mrs. Lizzie McAngus, and the couple have one son, who with his wife lives in Ozona.

If you are one of those who get all weepy over things with a history—as we sometimes do—you'll enjoy looking at two little pieces of wood, now on display in Hoover Drug window. These are historical items, square nailhole and all—so be sure to see them. Here is the explanation, as DAR member, Mrs. L. M. Hoover, submits it:

"The pieces of wood on display in Hoover Drug Store window are from the White House and were secured by the El Dorado Chapter of DAR through Congressman O. C. Fisher during the remodeling of the White House in 1949-51.

"George Washington selected the site for the building and laid the cornerstone in 1792; he lived to see the building completed but never occupied it himself. His successor, John Adams, and his wife Abigail, had that honor by moving into it before it was completely finished in 1800. British troops burned it in 1814, during Madison's administration, which included the War of 1812—but it was soon re-built and except for dazzling coats of white paint, was little changed until 1902-03, and again in 1909, when additions were built on each side. The early painting seems to have given it its name of White House.

"It has been the home of presidents since then until recently, when Truman and his family had to move to Blair House because of the extensive renovation being done to the White House.

"In spite of the age of these pieces of timber, they are well preserved; the chapter intends to have a gavel made of them, keep it with their records, and use it on special occasions."

The Corral

The progress at "The Corral" is still humming along with new wonders taking place every day. Since the last report to you, a new divan has been given to the room. Also a new wing back chair, a wagon wheel has appeared, and a mirror has been donated.

You should see the murals that are being painted on the walls! Cowboys, cowgirls, lariats, calves, steers, jack rabbits, and cactus are everywhere. A new artist has offered to help draw the sketches and paint the motifs. S. E. Jones Jr., who does quite a bit of Western painting, is going to lend a helping hand to complete the paintings on three walls of the room. Some of the "teen-agers" are painting Western sketches on the black enameled captain's chairs and a record cabinet too.

It is hoped that by the week end the room will be cleaned, some of the booths will be placed in the room, the furniture that has been completed and ready for use will be placed, the record player will be set up, as well as all games which the boys and girls have now, and will be ready to use. By doing all this, the club room can be used while still in the process of completion.

If you have any games, tables, chairs, lamps, records, kitchen and serving utensils, or anything you think this group might use, please tell one of the boys or girls. Mrs. Carl Stevens, Mrs. Arch Mittel, and Mrs. Ed Meador are the committee from the Woman's Club. Do not hesitate to make the offer for you would be surprised what can be done for the room with things you might think worthless.

The boys and girls have given the committee a list of names of people they would like to have as chaperons for their parties. If the young people have chosen to ask you to serve, you will be notified and it is hoped that you will do your part to assist the young people in making a success of their club. Plans are being made for the selected group to form a club also and arrange to have the chaperons meet with the teen-agers when it is convenient for them.

Plans are still under way for the scavenger hunt as well as the branding party, so please show your interest by keeping up with these young people and lending a helping hand whenever you are called upon.

Some thoughtless person broke one of the windows, entered the club room, and damaged some paints, brushes, and a painter's palette. We want to impress on everyone that this room is for every boy and girl in Schleicher County and whenever something there is destroyed it is hurting you and your friends. Many are working hard to make this room a place of pride for our community and to be used by all. It is not necessary to break in—it is yours, but use it justly and guard it well.

THE ECONOMY BLOC in the House whacked nearly a billion dollars in non-essential spending from an appropriation bill last week, including cuts below the President's budget made by the Appropriation Committee. The major floor cut was for Government-owned public housing, the House voting 181 to 131 to reduce construction of non-military public housing units to be begun during the next year from 50,000 down to only 5,000. This has nothing to do with FHA housing projects.

The Interior appropriation bill, also passed last week, was also cut by several million dollars as a result of an economy drive by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

FOR MORE than a year I have been protesting the shipment of scrap iron from this country across the Rio Grande into Mexico unless it is made certain that the movement is not unduly depleting our own needs and unless it could be made certain that some of it does not eventually get into the hands of Communist countries.

Recently Secretary of Commerce Sawyer wrote me a letter further explaining the situation. He said that all such exports out of Mexico are subject to export control by the Mexican Ministry of National Economy, which he says has "operated effectively to prohibit exportation of significant quantities of these products to any destination." This, he says, has been confirmed to him by the Mexican Embassy.

"I might mention," the Secretary continued, "that requests for scrap licenses are handled in this Department and are carefully screened as to consignee and end use. In addition, it should be noted that we are familiar with the capacity of Mexican facilities for utilizing scrap and that the quantities shipped from this country are not excessive in relation to this factor. Further, our Embassy in Mexico City and the Consulates throughout the country are constantly on the alert and would report any transshipments promptly."

"Finally, I might add," the Secretary's letter said, "the Mexican authorities are keenly aware of the importance of U. S. scrap to Mexico's iron and steel industry and realize fully that permitting the re-exportation of significant quantities would adversely affect the country's position with reference to obtaining further supplies from the United States."

The major portion of scrap received from this country is used in Mexico to produce ingots from which various iron and steel products are produced, Mr. Sawyer pointed out. The remainder, he said, consisting of a moderate amount of baled and compressed scrap, is used by the lead smelters as a fluxing agent in the refining process. "Any reduction in scrap supplies for this purpose would, of course, affect U. S. receipts of lead from Mexico," the Secretary added.

In a prior exchange of letters with the Secretary of Commerce, I was informed that average annual exports of such scrap from the United States to Mexico runs a little above 100,000 tons. Practically all of this is consigned to steel mills in Northern Mexico. According to this source, Mexico is traditionally an importer of American ferrous scrap, upon which it is largely dependent to make up its chronic deficiency between consumption and domestic supply. The Secretary insists that the current movement is normal, and that exports that are permitted from this country are only sufficient in quantity to meet actual domestic needs in Mexico.

To further confirm this explanation, I have asked the Secretary of Commerce to obtain a statement from Mexico listing the amounts of any exports of scrap iron and steel, and their products, from that country to other Nations.

ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

The difference goes more than Skin-Deep

Nobody wonders what you're driving when you roll by in this one.

In the 1951 line-up, its brand-new front-end styling stands out with a beauty all its own.

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

But you—at the wheel—enjoy a long list of differences that go far deeper than looks.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need.

Capping it all, there's the silken versatility of Dynaflo Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurably from here to there.

So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

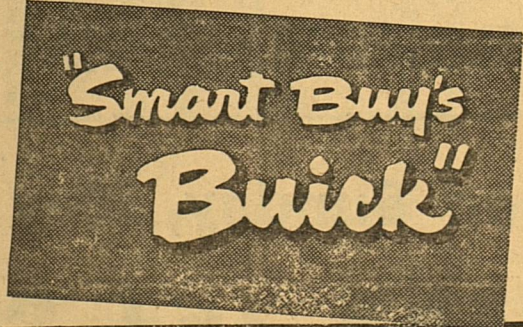

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

No other car provides all this:

- DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL POWER
- 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DUAL VENTILATION
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
- WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING
- BODY BY FISHER
