

The Secretary of Agriculture is expected to announce, within the next ten days, the acreage-control situation as applied to cotton in 1951.

In fact, the talk in recent days down in the Department has favored an additional five million acres next year more than the 21,000,000 acres that had been scheduled.

It has been determined that the Congress will be in recess until November 27, at which time we will reconvene for the purpose of dealing with the subject of taxes on excess wartime profits.

As a member of the Armed Services Committee, I, along with Rep. Clemente of New York and Rep. Hardy of Virginia, have been designated by Chairman Carl Vinson to go to Europe during the recess period on official business pertaining to the Committee's work.

We will spend a little time in Frankfurt, Berlin, Munich, and will probably go into the Ruhr Valley while we are there. In addition, if conditions permit, we plan to go to Vienna, where we have military installations at present, and to France, the Scandinavian countries, Yugoslavia, Italy, Greece, and Turkey.

With the world situation as it now is, we are called upon to spend billions to bolster the military preparedness of the friendly countries who compose the Atlantic Pact group. It is, of course, important that we keep ourselves as well informed as possible on what the situation is and just how successful the program is working out.

In my absence, my office in Washington will be kept open and my office staff will give prompt attention to all mail that is received. While I am overseas, I plan to send weekly reports back concerning conditions as we find them.

New Busses Placed On Eldorado Bus Run

The first run of a new Silverliner air conditioned bus was made through Eldorado Tuesday. It is understood that this is the first time the city has had service with air-conditioned busses.

The busses are conditioned for summer or winter. For the comfort of passengers, the vehicles are equipped with foam rubber seats, which are the newest in interior furnishings.

The new schedule of busses for Eldorado appears elsewhere in this paper. The Kerrville Bus Co. operates the line serving this city.

Big Parades Open Texas State Fair

The blare of trumpets, the roll of drums, prancing horses, beautiful girls, flags unfurled to the breeze, spectacular floats, pageantry unparalleled will make visitors to the 1950 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-22, declare with emphasis, "I love a parade."

The colorful Parade of the Decades will be something new at the 1950 State Fair. Nightly, as the last rays of the setting sun encrimson the magnificent facade of the million-dollar Hall of State, the mammoth parade will burst upon the main concourse on the first lap of its two-mile march around the 187-acre, $35,000,000 fairgrounds.

The Parade of the Decades will be completely different every day of the Fair, including everything from giant farm machines to Armed Forces equipment. Following closely the Mid-Century theme of the 1950 State Fair, glamorous floats will depict the Gay Nineties, discovery of oil in Texas, old and new means of transportation, the Roaring Twenties, the Depression, the Texas Centennial, the Southwest Conference and its gridiron glories, World War II, the United Nations and taking a whimsical peek into the future—flying saucers.

Champion horses from State Fair shows will appear at their best with gaily caparisoned riders carrying the six flags which have flown over Texas.

On Oct. 10 and Oct. 17, massive farm machines will take their place in the line of march for an impressive Parade of the Machines. On Oct. 21, the parade will take on a martial flavor, as thousands of marching men, cannon and other war equipment reflect the growing military might of the nation.

On Music Festival Day, Oct. 18, more than 20 high school bands will march and play in the Parade of the Decades. For each and every parade, music will be provided by dozens of visiting college and high school bands, led nightly by the famous Plymouth Corporation Kiltie Band, one of the few authentic bagpipe bands in the country. On Texas A&M Day, Oct. 8, bands and marching units of the A&M College System, including the 200-piece Aggie band, will take part.

On opening day of the State Fair, Oct. 7, there'll be three State Fair parades—the always colorful parade through the streets of downtown Dallas, and two Parades of the Decades, one at night and one in the afternoon for the benefit of the 100,000 farm boys and girls who will be on hand for Rural Youth Day.

Schools To Receive Big Lunchroom Aid

Texas schools will receive $3,706,887 during the 1950-51 school year to operate the school lunch program, the Agriculture Department reported Thursday.

This is the second largest amount being made available to any state, the report said. Only Pennsylvania has been apportioned a larger share of this year's school lunch fund.

To finance the 2-fold program of improving the diets of the nation's school children and providing an outlet for surplus farm products, the Congress apportioned $83,500,000 this year for distribution to the states.

For each dollar apportioned to a state, the law requires sources within the state to spend $1.50.

"Actually," the officials said, "this matching requirement has been exceeded considerably."

How much a state gets for school lunches depends on the number of children between five and seventeen years of age and the per capita income of the state.

SQUARE DANCE NOTICE

The Squarer Dance Club will hold the first meeting of the fall season Monday night, October 2, in the Memorial Building. A covered dish supper will be served.

Hot Lunches Monday

Because of continued delay in delivery of the lunchroom equipment, a temporary arrangement concerning serving of school lunches has been worked out.

Through this week, light lunches, including sandwiches, and similar lunch items, have been served. It is now planned to take the old lunchroom equipment out of storage, and set it up temporarily for use until the new equipment arrives. This will make it possible for the school to start serving regular hot lunches, beginning with next Monday. The price will be 25 cents through the first six grades and 30 cents for others.

Deal Calls For Erection of New Filling Station

Another deal that will make a change in the Eldorado business district, was completed recently on a three-way basis.

Keno Ogden sold a lot 60 x 65 ft. in size out of his corner property to Edwin Jackson, Schleicher County rancher. Mr. Jackson has leased the lot for a period of 10 years to the Gulf Oil Co. Gulf will erect a new, modern station on the corner, which will be another nice addition to the Eldorado business district.

Mr. Ogden in the meantime has a crew going ahead with work on his tourist courts, and has started foundation for another building to serve as an office and residence.

Eagles Chalk Up Second Victory; Mason Here Friday

Last Saturday night the Eldorado Eagles fought hard and fierce to beat the rugged San Angelo Kittens by a score of 20 to 13.

The Eagles started their scoring early when Hicks went off center for a touchdown. On the first play from scrimmage, the play was called back, both sides off-side. Then the Kittens took over on downs and they scored on a play through center that carried for about 58 yards and touchdown. Score 6-0.

The Eagles came right back with a pass from Hicks to Sofge, who went 60 yards for the first Eagle score. Nixon kicked the extra point. Score 7-6—1st quarter.

In the second quarter Pinkney Craig plunged across from the 3 yard line for the second Eldorado T. D. after Hicks had made a beautiful 25 yard run to the five yard line. Nixon again added the extra point. Score 14-6.

Then early in the 4th quarter Farrington made a long gain on an off tackle play that was good for about 30 yards, and carried to the 2 yard line, from where Bill Bearce bull-dogged his way across the double stripe for the Eagles' final tally. 20-6.

The Kittens wouldn't quit and since they couldn't move through the hard charging Eagle line, they took to the air and scored their last touch-down on a long pass that ate up about 62 yards and carried to the 2 yard line, where the receiver was finally downed by Hicks. Then the Kittens went over on three powerful line thrusts. Score 20-13.

Eagle linemen who were particularly outstanding were Center Truman Biggs, Tackles John Phillips and Joe Ed Spencer, Ends Roger Sofge and Bill Cheek.

Other linemen that showed up well for the Eagles were David Powell, D. Rutland, W. Fry and James Logan.

MASON HERE FRIDAY

Our third home game, and first conference game will be played here tomorrow night when the Eagles meet the team from Mason.

CUB SCOUTING RE-ORGANIZED IN ELDORADO

Re-organizing of Cub scouting in Eldorado will take place Saturday afternoon, when Cub officials, parents and boys, ages 8, 9, and 10, will meet in the Memorial building basement at 4:30.

In general charge of reorganization will be Cub Scoutmaster Grover Lee Johnson. It is expected that a list of the boys will be obtained, and den mothers assigned to their dens at that time.

Plans are being made for a leadership school here next Monday for all who will take part in carrying out of Cubbing this year. The den mothers will meet in the afternoon, and the men at night. Present to take charge of the school will be J. B. Morris, organizer from San Angelo. All interested men and women are urged to attend.

On October 5 there will be a district meeting mainly for Den Mothers, in San Angelo.

News From Our Neighbors

Witnesses First Game

The Sterling City Eagles had as one of their supporters last Friday night one individual who had never seen a Sterling football team play before. Mrs. D. C. That is real support and real interest.—Sterling City News Record.

Menard Contract Let

A six-mile stretch of Menard County road improvement, involving $59,748, was included in a number of highway contracts let Tuesday at Austin and which aggregated $14,453,404, according to Associated Press dispatches.

The Menard bid, submitted by M. E. Ruby, San Marcos, and W. L. Barnes, Austin, was for construction of the following road sections:

Farm Highway 864, 5.9 miles; from State Highway 151, 16 miles west of Menard, west 5.9 miles to Fort McKavett; grading, structures flexible base and two-course surface treatment.—Menard News.

Rain at Eden

Eden was near the center of a limited area which was visited on Friday evening by a swirling torrential downpour of near cloudburst proportions. Within a little more than an hour, three inches or more of rain had fallen here in town. To the east a few miles, between Eden and the McCullough county line, the fall was even greater, amounting to around five inches, as most reliably measured. Strong, variable winds made accurate gauging difficult, but the water literally fell faster than it could run off, flooding some business houses and completely covering streets and roadways.—Eden Echo.

Opening Delayed

Classes were going at full speed in the Bronte schools this week after much delay in getting started due to repairs which were being made on the buildings. Three hundred and thirty-nine students enrolled at the beginning of this school term. Of this number, 74 were in high school and 225 were enrolled in the grade school.

Supt. J. L. Carroll said Wednesday that about one more week would be required to complete the repairs on the buildings, but that the work would not keep school from going ahead.—Bronte Enterprise.

Key Rate To Be Cut

By reason of development of a modern water distribution system and an organized fire department with modern equipment, Ozona property owners will realize substantial savings in their fire insurance premiums in the future.

A drastic reduction in the city's fire insurance key rate from the former high level of 95 cents to 46 cents, a cut of 49 cents on the $100 of insurance, has been announced by the State Fire Insurance Commission at Austin in a new rating for the city made effective as of July 25, 1950.—Ozona Stockman.

Linotype Trouble

Nuts! There was lots to say this week, but the electric control on the melting pot on the No. 1 Linotype went flooey on us Thursday, of all days, and you'll be lucky to get your paper. We can set this kind of type on one machine, but have to wait on a "fix" to finish heads and ads. Thanks for your patience.—Alpine Avalanche.

"The Home Place"

Fred Gipson's second novel, "The Home Place" which promises to be as popular as his first, is reaching the bookstands this week, and copies are now available at the Eagle office.

Gipson, a native of Mason County, now residing within half a mile of the place where he was born, has sold movie rights to the new novel to 20th Century Fox at a price reported to be about $30,000.

The setting of the new story is in the Hill Country and deals with a man who returned to the old home place from the city with his three sons after the tragic death of his wife.—Junction Eagle.

Rain For Coke County

With more than an inch of rain falling early this week, the September total is now 3.2 inches, according to a record gauged by the Coke County Soil Conservation office in Robert Lee.

Early fall rains will be of great benefit to pastures and late crops. Seeding of small grain will be completed without further delay. Most parts of Coke county have had good moisture this month.—Robert Lee Observer.

Chevies at Drug Store!!

Errors probably do more to shorten the lives of newspaper folk than hard work. . . The one that plagued the entire force last week was the mixup of signatures whereby the name slug of Stockton Pharmacy got into space intended for Carpenter Motor Company under a nice Chevrolet ad. Fortunately everybody thought it was funny, except the Pioneer's make-up and press crew. Other druggists in town were a bit unhappy with the Pioneer for giving a competitor such a publicity play and faces were red all around the newspaper.—Ft. Stockton Pioneer.

Looking for honest-to-goodness COMFORT?

Better Buy Buick!

YOU'VE probably heard a lot of talk about comfort in 1950 cars.

But we'd like to offer one suggestion, which is—let a Buick speak for itself.

We'd like to have you settle yourself (your family too, if you have one) on a Buick's soft, deep, comfort-angled cushions, and see how restful they are.

More than this, we'd like you to sample that comfort in motion. Slip your fingers around that slender steering wheel, touch toe to treadle and take off in the smooth, unbroken surge of power that Dynaflo Drive* delivers.

We'd like to have you hunt out some of the less-smooth streets or back roads that never seem to get fixed—and put Buick's soft coil springing and solid underpinning to tough and practical test.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

All the while, be thinking about what such riding and driving ease can mean on long, all-day trips, and compare it with what you've been used to.

This whole experience is bound to make you want a Buick—and when you ask "how much" you'll get a second pleasant surprise in the low delivered prices your dealer is quoting—prices that start at a level that is actually lower than you'd pay for some sixes.

Your Buick dealer is the man to see and this is the best of all times to see him. Drop in, won't you, to see about getting an order signed?

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT
This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

The fantastic new double ferris wheel thrill ride—the 90-foot-high Sky Wheels—was due to arrive some time during the week. It will be set up at the main entrance to the Midway amusement area.

Carnival attractions and side-shows—led by Sally Rand, famous fan and bubble dancer—will arrive next week.

Concessionaires are busy laying in supplies to feed hungry fairgoers—who are expected to consume 140 boxes of fried chicken, 200,000 candied apples, two carloads of potatoes, 50,000 cones of cotton candy, 2,225,000 hamburgers and hot dogs, 1,500,000 sacks of popcorn, 2,000,000 snow cones, 10,000,000 bottled drinks and 50,000 gallons of ice cream.

Entries in the Mid-Century Livestock Exposition already total 3,851 with stacks of them still to be tabulated. This figure is 689 over the total for the 1949 State Fair.

A breakdown shows 530 head of cattle entered in the 1950 beef show, more than 400 head in the All-American Jersey Show alone, 197 entries in the Holstein-Friesian, Guernsey and Milkink Shorthorn shows, 364 head in the sheep and Angora goat shows, 668 in the swine shows, 1,667 head in the Junior Livestock Show. Horse show entries have not yet been counted.

In the Museum of Fine Arts, Health Museum, Museum of Natural History, Aquarium and Hall of State, special exhibits are being set up. One of the world's largest and most famous paintings, "Washington Crossing the Delaware," has arrived at the Museum of Fine Arts and is being carefully uncrated for display at the Mid-Century Exposition.

Texas Retail Sales Up 22 Per Cent

Texas retail sales for August 1950 climbed 22 per cent from a year earlier, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Preliminary tabulations placed August sales at an estimated $576 million, or 4 per cent below the all-time peak reached in July 1950.

August sales of durable goods stores fell 10 per cent from the previous month, while nondurable goods stores registered a 5-per-cent gain. From the same month a year ago, durable sales were up 32 per cent to outdistance the 11-per-cent increase for nondurable goods stores.

Household and appliance stores presented a 23-per-cent reduction in August sales from the previous month. Sales of motor vehicle dealers were off 16 per cent; farm implement dealers, 12 per cent; and hardware stores, 7 per cent.

Counter to the over-all monthly decline for durable goods stores, jewelry sales jumped 21 per cent from July. Lumber and building material dealers and furniture stores turned in smaller increases of 6 and 3 per cent, respectively.

Without exception all durable goods stores recorded higher sales in August 1950 than in the same month a year ago. Sales of lumber and building material dealers jumped 63 per cent; jewelry stores, 35 per cent; farm implement dealers, 32 per cent; furniture and household and appliance stores, 29 per cent; and motor vehicle dealers, 25 per cent.

Women's specialty shops, with a 19-per-cent gain, tallied the biggest July-to-August advance among nondurable goods stores. Florists and office, store, and school supply dealers showed increases of 18 per cent, and shoe stores reported a 15-per-cent upturn in their August sales. Smaller gains ranged from 2 to 12 per cent.

On the other hand, August sales of filling stations decreased 12 per cent from July's; men's and boys' clothing stores, 7 per cent; country general stores, 3 per cent; grocery stores without meats, 1 per cent; and combination grocery stores reported a fractional decline.

Increases over August 1949 sales for nondurable goods stores varied from a 3-per-cent gain for women's specialty shops to a 20-per-cent climb for shoe stores.

New Use For Old Windmills

I drove past Larson's farm last week and saw him perched on top of his 75-year-old windmill. "Still planning on tearing it down?" I shouted up to him.

"Not on your life," says Curly as he climbs down. "I'm getting myself a television set from Buzz Ellis' and he says this windmill is going to come in mighty handy."

"You see," Curly went on, "I'm going to put my TV antenna right on top of it. Since the windmill is higher than the house, I'll get the best reception around here—but if it wasn't for Buzz and his advice, I'd have scrapped it."

From where I sit, Curly's success as a farmer and his popularity in town is due, in a large part, to his open-mindedness and his willingness to listen to people and their opinions. He'll listen to Buzz Ellis over a malted milk or he and I can talk politics—each with a glass of temperate beer. Yes, Curly's as modern as television itself!

News In Religion

Because of the greatly increased military forces now stationed in Alaska, the Armed Services Department of the Young Men's Christian Association is raising some $300,000 by voluntary subscriptions for the construction of a new YM-CA center in the city of Anchorage. The Department emphasizes the need for recreational and morale-building in this remote area of American defense.

Begun in 1884 when the first American resident missionaries arrived at Inchon, the port of Seoul, the Korean community prior to World War II included nearly 400,000 Protestants and 200,000 Roman Catholics. Missionary work, prior to the invasion, was carried on predominantly by American churches, with British, Canadian, and Australian churches also represented in the field.

While the fighting is still in progress in Korea, American missionary leaders are planning an advance program for the beleaguered country to be instituted when the North Koreans are pushed back to the 38th parallel. According to Dr. Rowland M. Cross of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, the program includes a strengthened National Council to breach some of the postwar divisions among Christians which have been "scandalous and a disgrace to the church." To meet the challenge of communism, according to Dr. Cross, "a social type of Christianity" must be developed: "a comprehensive rural reconstruction program . . . and community centers adapted to the needs of the city and industrial people." He also notes that prior to the North Korean invasion, the Christian community had completed plans for a $120,000 radio station at Seoul to broadcast the Christian message to both North and South Korea.

The Synagogue Council of America, the National Catholic Welfare Council, and the (Protestant) Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, have united in a statement of "The Objectives of a Genuine Peace Program" and urge all "men of good-will" to support them. They said: Genuine peace requires practical recognition of the fact that not only individuals but nations, states and international society are subject to the sovereignty of God and to the moral law which comes from God. Genuine peace requires of every people: renunciation of the use of war or threats of force as an instrument of national policy; loyal adherence to the solemn obligations of the United Nations Charter; respect for and observance of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all; participation in positive programs of the U. N. for the common welfare and better standards of life; acceptance of international agreements for the effective reduction and regulation of armaments, including atomic weapons, by all nations, through a trustworthy system of international inspection and control."

Bulbs Are Chosen For All-Year Bloom

Bulbs flowering in the garden or house every month of the year can be had if the flower garden is planned twelve months ahead, says Sadie Hatfield, specialist in home-stead improvement for the Texas A&M College Extension Service.

September is the time to plan for year-round flowering bulbs. Preparation of the soil is the first job, and Miss Hatfield says as a general rule, any soil that will grow vegetables well is suitable for growing bulbs.

If bulbs and bulb-like roots were planted last year, blooms can be expected in September from carnations, crinum, rain lilies, zephyr lilies, Guernsey lilies, and dahlias. In the northern part of Texas, narcissus bulbs and Madonna lilies may be planted in September, but October is better for planting these bulbs in the southern part of the state, except for a few to bloom indoors after frost.

In October, fall-blooming iris and day lilies will bloom, as well as gladioli if they were planted in midsummer. And house bulbs will begin to flower in the colder part of the state.

Miss Hatfield says that October is really the biggest bulb planting month. Plant hyacinths, lilies, narcissus, iris, daffodils, and montbretia during October and any other bulbs that were forgotten in September.

November is a good month for planting tulips. Tulips do better in the colder part of the state, and so-called lady tulips and wild tulips are used in the southern part of the state. If daffodils and narcissus were neglected in October, they may be planted in November.

Plant Dutch iris in November or December. Miss Hatfield says that many people prefer to plant tulips in December.

In the southern part of the state, iris begin to bloom in December and January. The narcissus is often in full bloom during these months. Miss Hatfield suggests planting gladioli every two or three weeks beginning in January or February. She points out that January and February are good months to fertilize bulbs.

In the warmer part of the state, daffodils and iris may be expected to continue to bloom during February, and hyacinths, narcissus, and some of the lilies may also begin to flower.

Quite a display of flowering from bulbs and bulb-like roots such as tulips, lilies, iris, freesias, and daffodils can be expected during March. And they will continue to bloom through April and May.

Miss Hatfield recommends planting dahlia tubers and separating canna roots in March. She says that March and April are good months to separate day lily roots and fertilize them. Many people plant Japanese anemone in April. Put out the late-flowering bulbs such as tube roses, montbretia, and amarillis during April also. Cannas may be put out if they were forgotten in March.

During June, lilies really come into their own. They continue to flower in July and August. Bulb care in June consists of fertilizing, mulching and watering. Start planting bulbs in July and August for flowering in the fall.

NEW BOOK PUBLISHED AT STATE UNIVERSITY

A new book to guide community action in solving family and community problems has just been published by the University of Texas Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene.

Titled "Family, Community, and Mental Health," it is a usable 64-page handbook of experiences for community leaders. The two "recorders" of the publication, Dr. Bernice M. Moore, consultant for the Homemaking Education Service of the Texas Education Agency, and Dr. Robert L. Sutherland, Hogg Foundation director, do not claim the title of authors.

They say the material was written by community workers throughout Texas who cooperated in the two-year community study project sponsored jointly by the University of Texas Hogg Foundation and the Woman's Foundation of New York City.

Betty Cobb, Dallas artist, illustrated the book that will receive national distribution. Copies may be obtained from the Hogg Foundation, University of Texas, Austin, Texas, at 50 cents each.

Home Sewing Contest Again Launched By Wool Raiser Group

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association in cooperation with the National Wool Growers and the Wool Bureau, Inc., announces the opening of the fourth jointly sponsored Annual Home Sewing contest designed to interest young girls in sewing with virgin wool and mohair fabrics, and to promote skill in styling and making garments from these fabrics.

The "Make It Yourself With Wool or Mohair" contest is open to girls between the ages of 14 through 22 years of age. The contest is divided into three classes:

Junior Class for contestants 14 through 17 years of age.

Senior Class for contestants 18 through 22 years of age.

Original Design Class for contestants from 14 through 22 years of age.

The Junior and Senior Classes are for home sewers whose garments are made from commercial patterns and the Original Design Class for those who have created their own fashion design.

The age of the contestant on December 1, 1950, determines the class in which she belongs.

Any garment entered must fall into one of the following three categories as defined:

SUIT: A two piece garment consisting of skirt and a lined jacket or a three piece garment consisting of skirt, a lined jacket and a lined top coat, all of which are to be worn as one apparel unit.

DRESS: A one piece garment, or a two piece ensemble consisting of a dress worn with a self jacket, a bolero, or redingote, or a skirt with an unlined bolero or jacket.

COAT: Any length coat lined and made to be worn as a separate outer garment over suits and dresses.

The entry garment must be made SPECIFICALLY for this contest and may not be worn until after the state contest is held.

All garments entered must be made of 100% virgin wool or 50% virgin wool and 50% mohair. Coat and suit linings and inner facings may be of non-wool material. Coat interlinings must be of wool.

A contestant may enter as many as four different classifications in the AREA contest—coat, dress, suit—in her age class and the original design class. Only ONE of these garments, however, may be entered in the State and then the National contests.

Each garment entered must be accompanied by a tag or label disclosing the fiber content of the fabric as required by the Wool Products Labeling Act. Each garment must also be accompanied by a typewritten letter of not more than 200 words setting forth:

a. Type of fabric selected, the reason for its choice, and its advantage for the use intended.

b. The total itemized cost of the garment, including fabrics and all other component parts.

Each contestant must fill out and mail to the State and National entry blanks to be found in the Wool Bureau brochure and the Area entry blank to be obtained from the Area Chairman.

Deadline for entries is October 15, 1950. Area chairman for this community is Mrs. Wm. B. Wilson, 1510 West Avenue J, San Angelo, Texas. Write to the above chairman for all information about the contest and for area, State, and National entry blanks.

Government Book Is Best Seller

The Federal Government is carrying on a thriving book-selling business, the Government Printing Office announced this week, as it found another best seller on its hands—the second within a month. Orders started pouring in to the Superintendent of Documents in Washington for the National Security Resources Board's newest publication entitled "United States Civil Defense," which sells for 25 cents. Over 5,000 were sold the first day of an initial printing of 50,000 copies of the book, which is described as the most comprehensive publication issued to date by the Federal Government on civilian defense.

The Government's other best seller called "The Effects of Atomic Weapons" was released last month and is now in its fourth printing. Over 40,000 copies have been sold at $1.25 each of this book issued by the Atomic Energy Commission which describes what may be expected when an atomic bomb explodes.

First PTA Meeting Is Held Tuesday

The work of the local Parent-Teacher Association got off to a good start Tuesday night, Sept. 26, when a large crowd attended the first meeting of the current year in the beautiful auditorium of the new school system. This first session was a "get-acquainted" meeting in order that the many new faces among the faculty might become more familiar to the patrons of the school, and vice versa.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. John Williams who reviewed briefly the objectives of the P. T. A., and also referred to the Grand piano on the stage which was bought by the organization with the help of the school board. The room count was called for, thus determining the number of parents and grandparents present representing each grade from the first through high school. The room count promotes much friendly competitive interest in attendance of the P. T. A. meetings and the organization reciprocates with an award to the winning grades.

The program for the evening was under the direction of Mrs. Dee Love who asked Supt. Reynolds to introduce the faculty to the audience. Mrs. Wilson Page, accompanied by Mrs. Price on the piano, sang a solo. This was followed by several piano solos by young Bob Ratliff, who is an accomplished pianist. Miss Farmer, music teacher in the school, assisted by Carolyn Ratliff at the piano, led the group in a sing-song, which ended with the singing of our own school song "Hail Eldorado."

A social hour in the music room, sponsored by the hospitality committee, brought the evening to a close.

The second meeting of the P. T. A. is scheduled for October 17th.

LYDIA CIRCLE

The Lydia Circle of the Methodist W.C.S.C. met at the home of Mrs. Claude Meador Monday. The mission study was led by Mrs. Keno Ogden, and devotionals by Mrs. Carson West. Mrs. Lawrence Steen read the Scripture. Reports from the bake sale were heard, and it was decided to send a package to the circle's adopted family, an Australian minister and his wife and children. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. S. D. Harper.

Predatory Animals Problem In Texas

Predatory animal control is a big problem in Texas and its size is indicated by the annual report on the predatory animal control operations of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The report reveals that 30,395 predatory animals were taken during the control year 1949-50 by their hunters.

During the past year, predatory animal control work was carried on in 106 counties in the State by an average force of 130 hunters. In addition to this work, a few ranchers employed their own hunters, and game associations and county governments paid bounties for trapping the animals.

Of the 30,395 animals taken last year, 27,176 were coyotes. An important part of this catch included a total of 1,105 coyote pups which were taken from dens, mostly in the Lubbock area. A new record was set in taking a total of 2,829 bobcats in Texas last year. Since very few bobcats are caught accidentally while trapping coyotes, the number taken was primarily the result of a special effort toward bobcat control with steel traps.

Widespread control action in wolf country resulted in a total of 356 red wolves being taken last year, an increase of 50 per cent over the number taken in 1948-49. Although no specific full-time projects are directed toward mountain lion control, 18 of these animals were caught by the hunters in addition to their other predator control activities.

R. E. Callender, wildlife conservation specialist of the Texas A&M College Extension Service, reports that county agricultural agents estimate the damage from loss of livestock and poultry by predators to be more than $1,000,000 annually.

Examples of the damage caused by predators are given in reports from federal field assistants and government hunters. Field assistant Darwin Ivy of Marfa reports that from June 10 to June 22, a female coyote is known to have killed 12 sheep on the Frank Newman Ranch, located 15 miles southeast of Marfa in Presidio county.

In May, Hunter Jim Shely was sent to the Briscoe Ranch in the northern part of Uvalde county, to catch a coyote which was killing lambs and kids. About 70 lambs and kids were reported killed by this one coyote on the Briscoe and Joe Roberts ranches. Shely took the coyote in a few days.

An incident is reported by Hunter Teodoro Perez in which a coyote had been destroying watermelons. In one night, this coyote bit into six watermelons which were just pinking. Since these melons averaged 30 pounds each and were worth five cents a pound, this was a loss of $9 in a single night.

According to J. E. Poore, assistant leader for the Texas Predatory Animal Control district, Texas A&M college, predatory animal control work is conducted on a cooperative basis. He suggests that stockmen who need this service write to C. R. Landon, Box 1941, San Antonio, Texas.

New Grasses Started In Texas Pastures

Buffel grass, South African bluestem, Coastal Bermuda, and the perennial crab grasses are some new grasses which may be of economic importance in Texas in the future, says Dr. R. C. Potts, associate professor of agronomy in charge of forage crop investigations for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Coastal Bermuda is the most promising of the new grasses, and it is rapidly gaining in importance in Texas. This grass is similar to common Bermuda, but the joints of the stems and rhizomes are longer, and its leaves have a light green color and are longer than the leaves of common Potts points out that, although this grass produces seed heads, the heads do not produce viable seed; therefore, it must be spread through sprigs or rhizomes. Buffel grass grows wild throughout the whole continent of Africa, in Sicily, and eastward to north-west India. Since it was first introduced at the Angleton Station in 1917, it has been planted at several other Texas Experiment Stations. Several introductions have been received, but Potts says that none of them look alike.

The type of Buffel grass which looks best to the forage specialists grows about three feet high, is light green in color, and the stems are a little smaller than a lead pencil. According to Potts, reports from Australia and Africa indicate that Buffel grass is relinquished by livestock and that it is resistant to drought. He says that this species will probably find a place in Texas agriculture, but it needs further testing.

South African bluestem, also known as Thatch grass or Dek-grass, is a native of Africa and South America. It was introduced into the United States in 1905 from Pretoria, South Africa. However, testing of this species did not start in Texas until 1941. African bluestem grows to a height of about five feet, the stems and leaves are blue in color, and the plant is leafy at the base. When the plant matures, it is stemmy and not desirable for grazing. African bluestem is adapted to Central Texas and south. It will grow on a wide variety of soils and is quite drought resistant.

Several kinds of the perennial crab grasses from Africa show promise for use in Texas. Florida farmers and ranchers have found one of these grasses known as Pangola grass to be extremely well adapted to their conditions. The Houston Chamber of Commerce and the Farm and Ranch Club of that city recently sponsored a trip to Florida to get first-hand information on Pangola grass and those making the trip are very much enthused about it. Pangola will be tested throughout East Texas and the Gulf Coast Prairie.

In addition to the introduced species, Potts points out that many of the native grasses which are already well adapted to Texas conditions are being demonstrated and tested for forage yield. Texas winter grass, or spear grass appears to be one of the most promising native grasses. It gives excellent growth when fertilized and cultivated. Other native grasses that are in the process of being domesticated are little bluestem, big bluestem, switch grass, side-oat grama, blue grama, buffalo grass and Indian grass.
