Saturday, November 4, will be Homecoming and Dedi-Better Street Lighting cation of the new Schleicher County Public School (date was changed recently from the Friday originally selected).

With a school plant worth about a half million dollars -more if salvaged grade building and quantities of materials from the old high school are counted in-Schleicher County residents are justly proud of their educational facilities, so proud that they want every person who has ever lived here to return to his old home and school and be present when the new school plant is formally dedicated.

The program as planned for Saturday, Novemper 4, will include homecoming for everyone who has ever attended the schools of Schleicher County, Open House luring the morning with program and barbecue for all at 12:15, noon; ball game between Eldorado Exes and Rocksprings Exes at night; probably a get-together after the games, and other events the various classes may plan.

The weekend's festivities will be unofficially opened he preceding evening, Friday night, November 3, when Eldorado will play Ozona, here. It is expected that many will come to Eldorado early enough to take in this game, in addition to Saturday events.

Of special interest will be tours of the new school plant on Saturday. Delegations of visitors will be taken through the new high school, the renovated grade school and the new grade school wings and office section, and will have plenty of time to make a leisurely trip through each classroom. In doing so, each person who ever attended the school will be given opportunity to see how much the educational facilities have improved since he attended the school

This may be the most interesting of the day's activities to many, as few out-of-towners and few Schleicherites have ever inspected the complete plant.

That this homecoming and Open House will be the biggest thing the county has ever had is the aim of Schleicherites. Entertainment will be on a grand scale, and a huge crowd is expected for the weekend.

To carry out the elaborate plans, committees on entertainment, invitation, and arrangements are already at work; these with school faculty and officials will comprise a huge planning and welcoming group-the like of which the county has never seen before. In addition, many families are sending out their own private letters to special friends and relatives who might be interested in taking in the celebration.

For the large herds, dipping or spraying is the most practical nozzle should be held within four inches of the animal's back. You should use approximately one galon of spray per animal.

Regardless of whether the dipoing or spraying method is used, Deer points out that three treatments should be used at three week egg laying heel flies next spring. The annual loss can be reduced and livestock producers will profit from marketing grub-free cattle.

HALLOWE'EN AT THE TABLE FEATURES SMALL 'PUMPKINS Weird witches and ghostly gob lins are not necessarily reserved for the children's Hallowe'en. Bring Hallowe'en to the family table. Home economist Reba Staggs suggests a dinner on October 31 full of fun and frivolity brought down to earth with plain good food.

Youngsters can help mother prepare "punkin" salads. These miniature "pumpkins" are cleverly constructed from hollowed oranges Sinmply use your carving ability to produce freakish and laughable expressions. Perhaps tuck a cherry in one for a big red nose. Fill the baby pumpkins with gay pineapple slices, seedless grapes and cherries. You can even clip a few tree leaves to place under the salads.

For the main course serve roasted-to-perfection pork loin. The result is obtained by placing the pork loin in an open roasting pan and cooking in a 350 degree F. oven for 35 to 40 minutes per pound. The roasting pan is left uncovered and no water is added. A surprising garnish will be sweet potato balls rolled in bran, lining either side of the roast. With the pork and sweet potatoes include julienne green peans and corn sticks.

Dessert, also, reveals shades of Hallowe'en-a rich chocolate layer cake completely covered with a bright orange tinted frosting. Bring the cake to the table with the center top displaying a chocolate designed pumpkin.
