PICTURE TO BE SHOWN AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

On Friday evening at 8:00 there will be a picture shown at the Presbyterian church on the work of Stillman Institute, Tuscaloosa, Ala. The birthday offering from the Presbyterian churches has been earmarked for Stillman, and this offering will be taken Friday. The first $75,000 from this general offering will be used to establish a Bible chair at Stillman.

The college is for the training of colored students in nursing, medicine, teaching, vocational lines, and other occupations.

A new family in Eldorado who moved here to the Walter Taylor rent house last weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Don Bolon and two daughters, here with Shell, because of the work on the Rancho line. They are from Colorado City.

The Hobsons are new renters at the residence of Mrs. Ben L. Isaacs.

MY GRACE IS SUFFICIENT

"My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness." —II Cor. 12:9.

This is a most wonderful promise of God to a man. This promise is at once a statement also and it reveals the attitude of God to one of His people, who has been saved by grace.

There are several things to be noticed here.

1. It is first of all "Grace" and notice that it is God's grace and not the man Paul. For even the mighty apostle Paul was utterly dependent upon the wonderful grace of God. Notice also that God is reminding this to Paul.

Now in this day or generation in which we live some will say that a man is saved by grace, but that he must keep himself saved by keeping the ten commandments. Now God doesn't say this to Paul.

2. The Lord says that my grace isn't partly sufficient. He says it is SUFFICIENT and that is exactly what it means. It means if something else is needed besides grace, grace isn't sufficient. It also means that if grace isn't sufficient then the word of God is untrue. So friend my advice and counsel is that you can trust God's grace. Eph. 2:8-9.

3. Notice that it is to man living on this same earth that we live on. Then if it is to one man it is then to all men. This man was educated, talented, before the law blameless. As far as the worldly people were concerned he was equipped for a long life in this day. There was one thing Paul needed most of all and that was God's grace. Sinner friend that is what you need. Rich man, poor man, beggar, thief, or king, you must have God's grace, for it is sufficient. Do you have it? Come to our revival and learn to trust in God's grace. Come and see. Come while there is time. —F. H. Pryor, —Fundamental Baptist church.

The month of May is history for our records of attendance. We averaged 187 in Sunday school in May and 57 in training union. The bouquet of orchids went to the general officers of the Sunday school who averaged 100 for May. The Beginner retained the efficiency banner with an average grade of 71 for May. The orchids last Sunday went to the Primary department with a grade of 67. The young people, Nursery and Primary departments reached or exceeded their goals for May. There were six additions to the church in May and our offering to the budget through our Sunday school was $779.82.

Friday evening at 8:00, Saturday evening at 8:00, and at both of the regular worship services on Sunday. You cannot afford to miss any of these services. On Saturday evening the young people of Concho Valley Baptist Association will meet with our church and we will serve refreshments to the young people following the evening message by Brother Miller. We urge all of our youth to be present Saturday evening.

You need the church and the church needs you. If you have not as yet found your place in our church we issue a warm invitation for you to do so. The friendly church with a spiritual program. The church where visitors are always welcome and members are always expected.

There will be a regular deacons' meeting this Sunday at 3:00 p.m. at the church. These meetings are of vital importance and every deacon will be expected and every man of the church who is interested in the advancement of the church has an urgent invitation to be present at these regular deacons' meetings. They meet the first Sunday of every month at 3:00 p.m. We trust that every deacon will appoint himself as a committee of one to invite and urge 100 per cent attendance of the deacons and all other men of the church who will come.

The membership of the church extend their deepest sympathy and prayers to the Allen Kuykendall family in the loss of her mother. From the hearts of many who have walked the same trail there comes the deepest sympathy. May the family know that they have the love and prayers of their many friends in the church family here. May God bless and keep you in this hour of deepest sorrow.

Balancing Forage With Livestock, Pays

COLLEGE STATION — Ranch operators by conducting demonstrations on their own ranches are finding that balancing range forage production and livestock numbers is a paying proposition. A. H. Walker, range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the results of 4,746 demonstrations conducted by adults and 4-H members are an indication of what can be done to improve the forage production of Texas rangelands.

Last year 737 stocking rate demonstrations were conducted in 111 counties. Many of these demonstrators, says Walker, are finding if they run only about three-fourths as many breeding stock as they think their range will carry, then fill the gap with steers or heifers in the good years, they make more money in the long run. The lower stocking rate means less investment in breeding stock, little or no winter feeding and makes possible the use of practices that will increase range forage production.

He cites as an example a McMillen county demonstration. In 1949, Clifton Wheeler, Jr., of Tilden cut off 1,250 acres of rangeland that was stocked with 190 mother cows. That year 60 calves were produced and at selling time they averaged 300 pounds each—18,000 pounds of beef. In 1950 the stocking rate was dropped to 65 cows. This raised the number of acres for each cow from 12.5 to 20. The calf crop rose from 60 to 95.2 per cent or 62 calves from the 65 cows. These calves averaged 425 pounds each at selling time and 26,350 pounds of beef were sold. In 1951, because of the drought, 74 cows were pastured and the calf crop dropped to 87.8 per cent. Their average weight, several months before the end of the demonstration period, was 340 pounds.

Ranchman Wheeler reports that over-stocking results in smaller calf crops, less beef from the same acreage, lower prices for the calves because of condition at marketing time, a ruined turf and poor conditioned breeding cattle most of the year. This pasture, despite the severe drought, remained in fair condition during the year.

Proper stocking demonstrations are but one phase of the coordinated range management program. A final tabulation of reports from county agricultural agents show that 968,825 acres of rangeland were involved in deferred or rotation grazing demonstrations; 445,467 acres were involved in brush and poisonous plant control demonstrations; a lot of which was chemically treated; range reseeding demonstrations on abandoned crop land, barren rangeland and following brush eradication or control totaled 191,917 acres.

4-H club boys in 111 counties received training in plant or grass identification; 39 range demonstration teams were trained and 177 boys completed range management demonstrations.

Walker says county agents used many different teaching methods in conducting range improvement programs in the counties. Meetings held on the demonstration ranches were well attended as were the field days and tours. Personnel from other agencies and organizations cooperated to make the county and state programs more effective.

The Range and Forestry Department of Texas A&M College conducted for the fifth straight year a field course in range management. County agents and teachers of vocational agriculture were enrolled. Training received in these "schools on wheels" has been used by the agents in conducting the range improvement demonstrations in the counties.

ORDINARY TUBE
 When a blowout occurs, all the air rushes out! Tragic accidents often result.

How the LIFE GUARD works
 Blowout-safe... Has two air chambers. In case of a blowout the inner chamber retains enough air to keep your car under control.

Puncture-safe... Good-year's special (layer of gum rubber) flows into the hole, permanently sealing it and preventing loss of air.
