25-Year Service Pin Awarded Lum Davis

Lum Davis, a Firestone tire dealer in Eldorado for the past 25 years, this week received from the company a 25-year service pin, along with a check for $100.

Lum became identified with the filling station business in Eldorado about 32 years ago when he was employed by John Davis in his old station on Main street. After being employed there for about 7 years, Mr. Davis went into business for himself in the old Texaco station and it was there that he became a Firestone dealer.

His business was interrupted by the War when he spent 1942-45 in military service. Following his return he went into business in the Cosden station on South Main and remained there until the highway was re-located on Divide street. Lum now has his own new Cosden station on the new route, where he enjoys a thriving business and still continues to handle Firestone.

The Davises and daughter Jan recently moved into their new brick house, which is located about a block from his station on land he already owned.

The Firestone check, undoubtedly, will come in handy for Christmas.

Scout Drives To Close On November 30th

The combined fund drives for the Concho Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and the Girl Scouts, are to close a week from now, on November 30th, it was announced this week by J. H. Mace, general chairman.

Mr. Mace urged all captains and other workers to turn in their contributions during the coming week, and no later than next Thursday. The drive has been going on in recent weeks.

Tom Ratliff is handling the audit of the combined Boy and Girl Scout drives.

S. S. Retirement Possible At Age 62

The new social security law has lowered the retirement age for men from 65 to 62 effective with August 1961, according to Floyd B. Ellington, manager of the San Angelo Social Security office.

The law also provides for monthly benefits to the eligible dependents of these retired workers. These dependents include children under 18 and children over 18 who have been totally disabled since before that age. Adopted children and stepchildren can also qualify under certain conditions. The worker's wife can also qualify for monthly insurance benefits if she is age 62 or older, or if she has children in her care who are entitled to receive benefits, Ellington said.

Although the male worker who applies for payments before age 65 receives a reduced amount, his dependents get the same monthly insurance benefits that they would receive if he were 65.

Full information and help is available on request at any office of the Social Security Administration. The San Angelo office at the Continental Fidelity Building, rm 204, is open daily except Saturday and Sunday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Post Script

Most business houses are closed today for Thanksgiving, and will reopen tomorrow.

Today and tomorrow are school holidays, which with the week end will give students a four-day vacation. There will be the usual round of Thanksgiving dinners and visiting, with some taking trips and going deer hunting.

And Thanksgiving means that Christmas shopping is now going into high gear.

Stores already have Christmas merchandise on hand and decorations are going up. As always, Schleicher county people are invited to try local stores first in their Christmas buying.

The Success crew are already at work on the annual Christmas greeting paper, which will be published this year on Thursday, December 21, and which will be the final issue of the year.

Nearly all local merchants will carry a Christmas greeting message for their customers and friends. Some individuals are also expecting to place small ads to greet local friends instead of sending out Christmas cards. We have a number of ad layouts from which to choose for this purpose.

The greeting edition will combine the Success issues of December 21 and 28 in order for us to take a week's vacation following Christmas.

To comply with requests from their many friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lum Davis will hold open house Sunday afternoon in their new home in south Eldorado. Calling hours will be from 3:00 to 5:00 and the Davises will be assisted by several of their friends in receiving guests.

Visitors will be shown through the new home. The public is invited.

Before her recent death, Mrs. Frank Webb was a familiar figure on the streets of Eldorado in her 1932 Chevrolet coupe, which was a well preserved and taken care of automobile and which always attracted considerable attention when she drove it.

Mrs. Webb's son, Oran C. Webb of Ozona, was in the Success office this week. Asked about the disposition of the antique car, he stated that the family had stored it and were considering any and all offers from prospective buyers.

In recent years, the restoration and driving of old cars has mushroomed into quite a popular hobby, especially around larger cities where devotees of the horseless carriage era have ferreted out most of the long-stored Stutz Bearcats, Mercer Raceabouts, Pierce-Arrows, Stanley Steamers, etc. — in addition to the more common Fords and Chevrolets which were manufactured in the early days—and have restored them to running order.

Antique auto clubs have been formed over the country and several magazines are published relating to the hobby. These journals provide advertising which serves as a clearing house for hard-to-find parts which are needed whenever an antique car is restored.

Not too many years ago, when an old car was found by someone who wanted it to restore, it could often be had just for the hauling away, or else for a very small payment. But as the antique car hobby has grown the supply of old cars has diminished so that they are now in short supply. Only rarely, now, can a hobbyist find Grandpa's old car in someone's barn or outbuilding.

While it may be true that a 1932 Chevrolet is not as much an antique as older and rarer cars, Mrs. Webb's well preserved one will probably bring more dollars now than it cost new back during the Great Depression.

Any of our readers who might be interested in the car may write to Oran C. Webb at Ozona.

Mr. Webb stated that the vehicle was never in a wreck any time during the nearly 30 years since it was made.

The sheriff's office reports that 86% of county and state tax collections were made during the month of October, when the full 3per cent discount was allowed.

Nyquist President Of Ministerial Alliance

Elected new president of the Ministerial Alliance Sunday night was the Rev. C. M. Nyquist, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Alliance members had a meeting following the Community Thanksgiving service at which time Mr. Nyquist was elected president to succeed D. C. DuBose.

Johnny Griffith, pastor of the Assembly of God church, was elected vice president; and Dan Sebesta of the First Presbyterian church was named secretary and treasurer of the Alliance.

The new slate of officers will serve for one year.

It was reported that the fund drive that church young people conducted over town on Halloween night for C.R.O.P., had resulted in $153.07 being sent in to the state office of the Christian Rural Overseas Program.

The Ministerial Alliance sponsors the Community Thanksgiving service each year, and some years has sponsored a religious film or other event during the Easter season.

Private Dining Room For West Texas Cafe

Work is under way converting spare space in the Eldo hotel building into a private dining room for the West Texas Cafe, which was re-opened recently by Mrs. Lester Henderson.

The rooms formerly housed E. K. Bauer's jewelry store and Howard Faull has been working in his spare time on the remodeling project. The job involved the cutting of a new door into the present dining room and repainting. The work is to be completed later this month.

Mrs. Henderson states that the new dining room will provide a place for clubs and other organizations to hold luncheon meetings.

The West Texas Cafe is open today for serving of Thanksgiving dinner.

As of yesterday County Judge W. R. Bearee was the mightiest hunter of them all. He brought in a 9-point buck with a horn spread of 20½ inches.

Ira Day brought in an 8-pointer with a 19-inch spread.

About a dozen head have gone through the Eldorado Ice House.

Deferments For College Are Discussed

San Angelo.—"No changes in college and university student military service deferment program, in the occupational deferment program or in the present order or call for induction are anticipated," according to information recently received by Dr. R. M. Cavness, president of San Angelo College.

Information was prepared by Dr. Logan Wilson, president of American Council on Education, Washington, D. C., representatives of American Association of Junior Colleges, and other educators, through the services of the office of Assistant Secretary of Defense.

It is being filed in Dr. Cavness' office and is available for anyone enrolled in or anticipating enrollment in college wishing to know his prospects of remaining in college.

The information sheet states that under the present prospective draft calls:

"College students may be deferred so long as their studies are considered necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest. Specific criteria relating to class standing and test scores on the Selective Service regulation for guidance purposes. Local boards are not required to defer solely on the basis of those criteria, however.

"Local boards may defer registrants occupationally if their activity in industry, research, medical, scientific or other endeavors is found necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest . . . university and college faculty members may be considered for occupational deferments. Occupational deferments are presently at, or close to, a peacetime high.

"It is expected that calls for induction will continue to be filled by non-fathers between the ages of 19-26, with the oldest going first. With the very modest increase in draft calls, it is estimated that the average age of involuntary induction, which has been about 23, might fall by several months.

"Decisions on individual students or occupational deferment cases will continue to be made by local Selective Service boards, subject to appeal. Detailed information on student and occupational deferment regulations is available at local boards."

TO SAN ANTONIO

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Page moved this week to San Antonio, and will make their home at 330 Springwood. They declared, however, that they would be coming back to Eldorado from time to time.

Oil News

El Paso Natural Gas Co., during the last month, has placed on production some eight gas wells in the Fort McKavett area. These wells have been capped for a long time while El Paso tried to get Federal Power Commission permission to run a line to them. They are now being produced through Sinclair's line, the gas going through the Sinclair gas products plant at Huddale, and from there into Northern Natural Gas Co's line.

This kind of a deal among gas companies is referred to as a "trade-out."

The Ray Griffey No. 1 S. E. Jones wildcat, about 15 miles southeast of Eldorado, was completed as a producer about 10 days ago, for a potential of 139 barrels of oil per day.

It is located on the NE quarter of the SE quarter of Sec. 14, block L, GH&SA.

Producer Assured

Second producer and a ½-mile southeast extension was indicated in the Velrex (Canyon sand) gas field of Schleicher county with the flowing of gas and distillate thru perforations between 6,456-484 feet at TXL Oil Corp. No. 1-A R. L. Henderson, in 1214-TT-TCRR 24 miles north of Eldorado.

Flowed two hours through 16/64-inch and 22/64-inch choke, it made fluid, 50 per cent distillate, at the hourly rate of six to eight barrels, plus gas at the daily rate of 610-000 cubic feet. Tubing pressure was 1,200 pounds; casing pressure, 1,200 pounds, testing continued.

The section had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and fractured with 10,000 gallons and 15,000 pounds.

Testing continues and the opinion is that this second Henderson well will be better than the discovery.

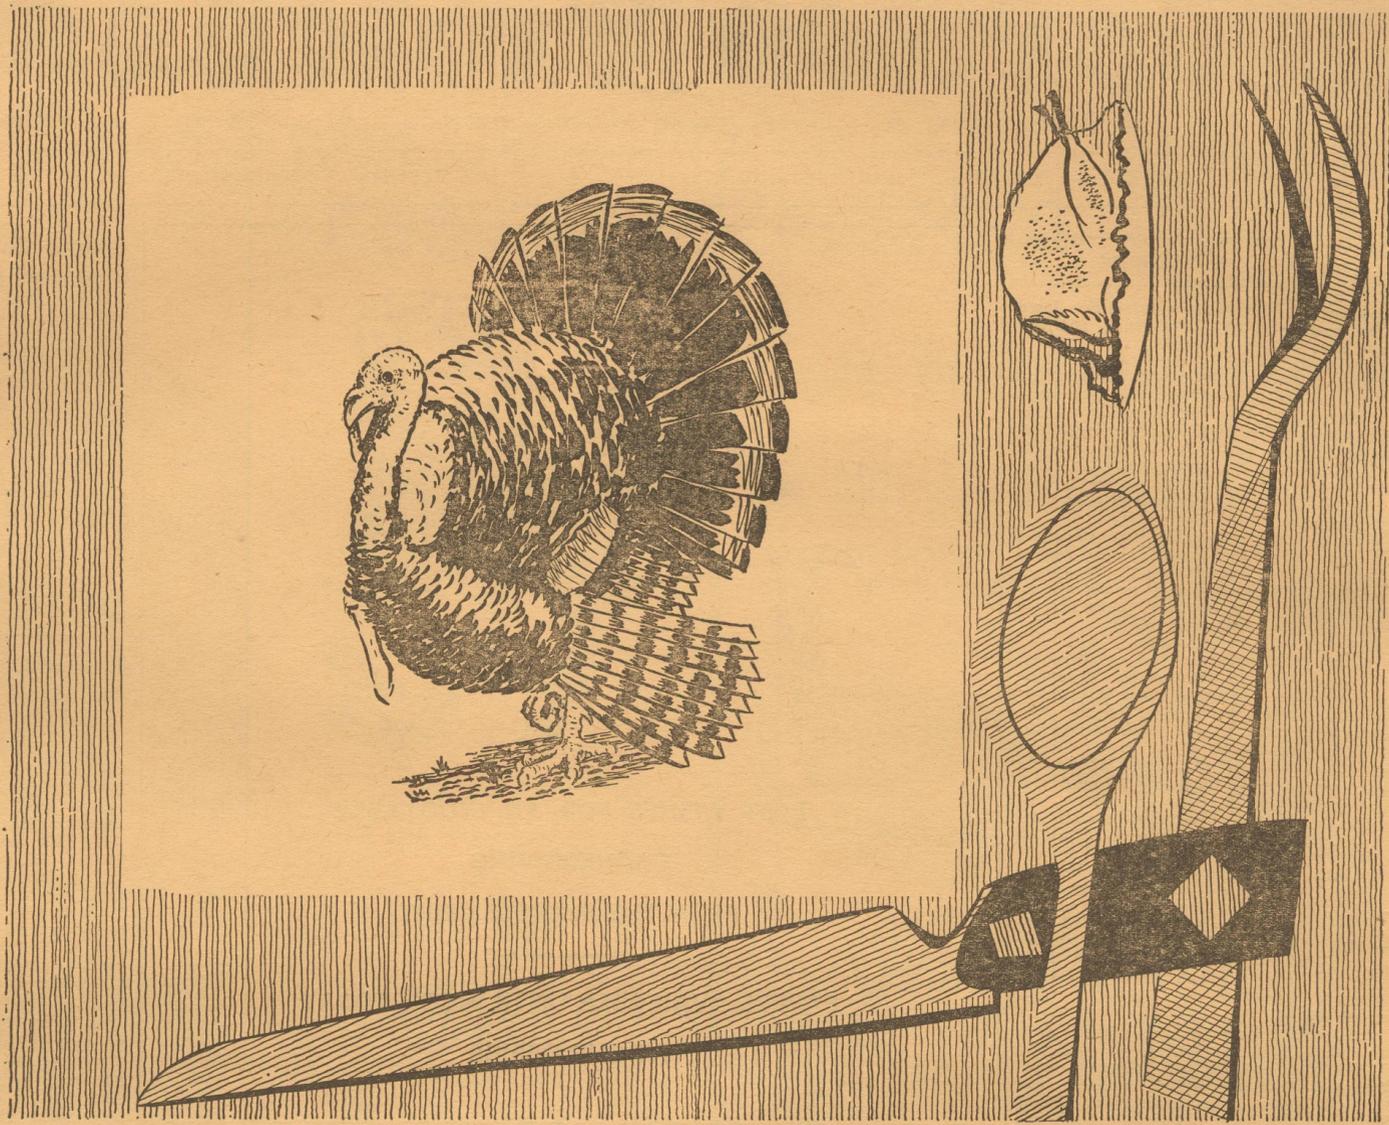

The discovery was finalized July 30 for a calculated, absolute open flowing potential of 53 million cubic feet of gas through perforations between 6,512-32 feet.

Third Coming Up

The TXL Corp., is moving the rotary for a third test which will be located about three-quarters of a mile northeast from the discovery. It will be 660 feet from the north line and 1,980 feet from the east line of 1210 TT-TCRR. Contract depth is 7,000 feet.

Roach Testing

In the meantime testing continues on the Roach well which is in the same general area. While no official reports are available, the understanding among local oil operators is that the Roach is looking good and will also make another producer.

On The Screen . . . 'The Naked Edge' Was Cooper's Last Picture

Showing signs of his ravaging last illness, and looking neither too young nor too healthy, Gary Cooper gives a likable performance in "The Naked Edge," a mystery melodrama showing Sunday and Monday nights at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre. It was his final role before his death earlier this year.

Cooper is identified as an expatriate American in England, an employee of a London storage and transfer company which is robbed one night of $168,000 as the boss (Martin Boddey) is killed.

At the same time Cooper comes up with a young fortune himself, buys into another transfer firm and is soon the transportation tycoon of England. Cooper explains his sudden affluence by a killing at gambling.

Everybody is satisfied, apparently, except Cooper's wife, played by Deborah Kerr.

It is all too pat for her, Cooper's testimony had sent up one of the clerks for life, wrecking the lives of a wife and child.

Miss Kerr frets herself into a panic. When Cooper takes her to sample the view from the high, white cliffs of Dover she expects momentarily to be pushed over them. Mr. Cooper treats her gently, though, complaining only of her suspicions. "The Naked Edge" sustains the interest for an hour and 40 minutes. The story is based on the novel "First Train to Babylon," by Max Ehrlich.

Cooper kept his popularity from 1926 ("The Winning of Barbara Worth") to 1961 ("The Naked Edge"), from the last years of silent pictures through the talkies. Twice, he won the Academy acting award, in 1941 for a hillbilly role, "Sergeant York," and once for a cowboy, the frightened sheriff of "High Noon," in 1952.

As one producer explained it: "Cooper may not break box-office records but he consistently draws large grosses. He may not be the best man to cast in a role artistically, but he sure as shooting is the best man to cast in any role if you're trying to raise money for a production."

"The masculine public likes him, the women love him, and the bankers believe in him."

LEGIONNAIRES WILL GIVE PARTY FOR CHILDREN DEC. 21

December 21, a Thursday, is the date set for the annual children's party put on by the Bev McCormick Post of The American Legion. Lloyd Johnson is post commander this year and he announces that arrangements for the event are already being made.

This party, for children of the community 12 and younger, is always a highlight of the Christmas season here in Eldorado, and attracts a large crowd of children and their parents each year.

Plans call for Mrs. Oliver Teele's choral groups from school to render Christmas carols, and Eldorado's famous Santa Claus will put in his appearance to be assisted by Legionnaires in distributing candy and fruit to the children.

Other Legionnaires will distribute the gifts in the Latin and colored communities.

Jack Hext has already made arrangements for the candy and fruit.

Committees for the Christmas party will be named at the next meeting of the Legion, on December 7th.

Further details on the party will be announced in the Success later.

Health Letter

Our forefathers proclaimed Thanksgiving Day for the purpose of expressing thanks, not only for the bountiful harvest but for the sturdy health and endurance that had permitted them to survive the hardships an exposure, that first rigorous year in America.

Texas, this Thanksgiving Day, have much to be thankful for in the way of personal health and health of our communities. Increased standards of living and improved hospital facilities have given our infants a better chance of survival, our children and adolescents a healthier, happier life and our grownups longer life and usefulness.

Figures revealed by State Health Department show what strides have been made toward keeping our population alive and healthy. A few developments for which we should be particularly thankful are:

Nearly one-half million normal healthy babies were born to Texas parents during the two-year period between September 1, 1958 and August 31, 1960. This adds up to an average of 682 babies born each day.

Only 151,000 Texans died during the same period: a ratio of more than three births to every death.

The excess of births over deaths during the two year period added some 347,000 to the state's population. That increase combined with newcomers now making their home in Texas swelled the population to 9.5 million.

During the last 25 years, deaths during the first year of life have dropped from 71 per thousand to less than 29 per thousand. And maternal deaths have dropped from 6.9 per thousand to a ratio of 0.3 per thousand.

In addition to pointing out that our infants and their mothers have a better chance of surviving than ever before, these figures bring to light one other important development: Man's longevity has been greatly increased. We now live longer and have the opportunity to see more life giving and life saving developments in the health and medical fields. And for this we should also be thankful.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

The animal health situation in Schleicher county and Texas is getting major attention. The screwworm, a pest causing an estimated annual loss of one hundred million dollars, is a primary target.

In a recent meeting, attended by a group of livestock producers and others concerned with animal health, it was decided to organize and support a state-wide effort.

Gerald Hratgraves, chairman of the livestock committee will assume additional responsibilities and Leslie Baker, cashier of the First National Bank, will serve as secretary-treasurer.

The group will support the recently formed Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation in its drive to do something about the animal health situation. Its purposes are to receive and disburse funds, and sponsor research and educational programs on animal health including diseases, insects and parasites, to the end that these hazards of livestock production may eventually be controlled.

"Animal health," Chairman Hartgraves said, "is not only a concern of the producer but the economic loss also affects business and consumers. We all have a lot at stake in this program."

The Foundation's first major effort will be a program aimed at controlling the screwworm. The proposed program is patterned after the successful drive in Florida and the Southeast. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, livestock producers, and the State of Florida teamed up to just about remove the pest from the scene. The method used was based on the release of sterile male screwworm flies over the state which resulted in the production of infertile eggs and almost complete elimination of the fly population.

Such a program in Texas will encounter problems not found in Florida. It is bordered by great land areas where the flies overwinter but cooperative efforts could overcome some of the problems, the chairman said.

"Through county organizations such as ours, every livestock producer and other interested person will have an opportunity to support the Foundation and its programs. Producers are being asked to contribute on the basis of 50 cents per head for adult cows, horses, and steers and 10 cents per head for sheep, goats, swine, and deer," Hartgraves said.

Contributions may be made to any member of the committee. All monies collected will be passed on to the Foundation for support of existing research facilities and conduct of large scale field tests.

Chairman Hartgraves said, "We know this first program will cost several million dollars, but if we can remove the screwworms from the scene, the annual savings will amount to several times the cost of the control effort."

Thanksgiving: the worship most acceptable to God is a thankful heart—in noble hearts the feeling of thankfulness has all the ardor of a passion.

The listing of things for which we are thankful greatly overcome any and all petty grievances and places upon a high plane from which we can take stock and continue good relations with peoples of all walks of life.

Hunting leases are becoming more and more important to hunters, farmers and ranchers. Hunters are interested in obtaining exclusive hunting rights in return for their payments to the landowner. Ranchers and farmers are interested in regulating the use of their land by other people and in supplementing their income.

Hunting lease forms are available at the county agent's office. Also day or week end permits and courtesy hunting permit forms are available.

Frost can mean a lot of trouble for livestock producers. Johnsongrass and sorghum sometimes develop a high prussic acid content after frost, and if grazed can cause a lot of trouble.

Chemical changes occur in the frost-wilted plants, and are responsible for the development of prussic acid. The poison acts quickly and can kill an animal within a very short time after the damaged plant is eaten.

Frosted Johnsongrass or sorghum should not be grazed until completely dry. It is safe to bale if cut one day after frost and completely cured before baling.

The modern home is run by switches. There is a switch for everything but the children.

Should the county produce 6,000 bales of cotton, 2,025 tons of burs should go back on the land at the rate of 4 tons per acre. This is enough to insure increased yields on 505 acres of cotton acreage. A producer can expect 36 pounds of lint cotton for every ton of burs applied plus many other benefits.

Burs from a 6,000 bale crop is worth approximately $21,870 in increased production to producers of the county.

There is no danger of spreading pink bollworms, boll weevils or other insects after going through the gins.

Too many people are inclined to judge right from wrong on the basis of which pays better.

L.O.A. Class Has Supper

The L.O.A. class of the First Baptist church met on the evening of Nov. 17 in the home of Mrs. T. P. Robinson for a covered dish Thanksgiving supper.

A devotional was given by the Rev. D. C. DuBose.

Guests at the supper were the husbands of the members of the class.

Yesterday afternoon the Fire Department responded to a fire call from the Mikeska Gin, but the blaze was out by the time the equipment arrived.

News Of The Sick

R. B., the 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander, underwent surgery at a San Angelo hospital on Wednesday of last week. He was brought home the following day and is doing well.

Miss Dana Owens returned from the Clinic-Hospital yesterday following surgery several weeks ago. She is still restricting her activities and is resting at home.

BROKEN BOTTLES: "TRIPLE THREAT" ON OUR HIGHWAYS
A triple threat on the football field is fine, but a triple threat on the highway spells trouble. Broken bottles are the "triple threat" of our highways. They are accident hazards to traffic; they injure people who step on them; they start costly and dangerous roadside grass fires. The dangers of the triple threat increase during the football season. The Texas Highway Department asks Texas travelers to dispose of bottles in proper containers. Help keep the "triple threat" on the gridiron—not on the highway.

THE MESSY TENNANT

Joe Dogwood and his wife rented their home to Joe's cousin, John Messmaker. The Dogwoods were planning to be out of town for several months, and since Mr. Messmaker was temporarily out of work and in need of a place to house his family, Joe rented their home at a very reasonable figure. The Messmakers were very grateful and promised someday to pay back Joe and his wife.

When the Messmakers finally moved out, they left the house in a shambles. There were holes in the walls, the furniture was torn and broken, windows were broken, doors were off of their hinges, and the house looked as if it had never been cleaned.

The Dogwoods asked the Messmakers to clean and repair the house and furniture, but they refused. They said that they were only tenants, and such repairs were the responsibility of the property owners.

Can the Messmakers be made to pay for the damage they caused?

The courts have generally held that he tenants can be made to pay for damages in such a case. A tenant, even though bound by no express agreement as to the condition in which he is to leave the premises at the end of his tenancy, is nevertheless under a certain implied obligation. He is impliedly obligated to so use the rented premises that it will be returned to the landlord in the same general condition in which it was rented, subject to such general deterioration as is caused by a reasonable amount of use and lapse of time.

If, by the negligence of a tenant, the rented property is materially injured, he is liable to the landlord for the resulting damages. An implied contract binds the tenant to make good any loss that results from the want of reasonable care. However, he is not liable for de-use of the property.

Most of the other states in the Old Confederacy have planned elaborate programs to mark the Centennial of the Civil War but Texas will restrict observances to the dedication of large monuments and buildings. One of those dedications was carried out earlier when a monument was dedicated at Vicksburg, Mississippi.

Next on the agenda is the dedication of the Confederate Memorial Foyer of the State Supreme Court Building and the new State Library and Archives Building.

Local communities and organizations will, however, plan their own observances and the Civil War theme will be carried out in many regular programs. Some of the most interesting of these should be the ones planned by the Texas Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Daughters will meet next year at El Paso and will join similar groups from New Mexico for a pilgrimage to Val Verde where Texas Confederates repulsed Union troops in 1862 and set up the Confederate Territory of Arizona and New Mexico.

In 1963, the observance will be held in Galveston and a program will note the victory of Confederate Forces under Dick Dowling over Federal gunboats at Sabine Pass. The 1964 observance will be at Tyler where a visit will be paid to the old Confederate stockade.

In 1965, the last battle of the War at Palmito Hill near Brownsville will be commemorated by a special program sponsored by the members of U. D. C.

Recommended Reading This Week: For Confederates—Few soldiers of the South wrote letters complete enough and revealing enough to provide as penetrating a look at the War as did Sgt. Edwin H. Fay of Minden, La. His letters kept by his family, have now been edited with the able assistance of Bell I. Wiley and have been published by the University of Texas Press under the title This Infernal War. Readers will appreciate most of all Sgt. Fay's concern not for himself or for the war, but for his wife and children.

The first full-length portrait of General D. H. Hill, one of the Confederacy's most brilliant commanders, has just been released by McGraw-Hill under the title Lee's Maverick General. Written by Hal Bridges, this new volume is welcomed because of the inclusion of information taken from recently discovered and unpublished papers of General Hill which shed new light on the controversial officer.

For Yankees—Few Southern-born officers remained in the Union Army at the outbreak of the War. One who did was George H. Thomas. Education In Violence by Francis F. McKinney, published by Wayne State University Press, is the first exhaustive biography of the "Rock of Chickamauga," who served for a number of years in Texas before the War. Texas readers will appreciate the devotion of Thomas who derved ostracism by his family and his native state to remain in the Union Army after his career in Texas and fight for his convictions.

Admirers of Gen. Phillip H. Sheridan will find Sheridan In The Shenandoah by Edward J. Stackpole an account of activities in the Eastern theater to stir their admiration even more. Published by the Stackpole Company of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Sheridan In The Shenandoah is a valuable addition to the Stackpole library of classics on the Civil War and a valuable addition to already published material on General Sheridan whose classic comparison of Texas with another well-known hot place still angers Texans.

Austin. — Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio says that leaders in the banking business are blocking attempts by the special House Committee appointed to investigate enforcement of the Texas escheat laws.
Spears claims that officers of the Texas Bankers Association have advised members to ignore a questionnaire the committee sent to every banking institution in the state. But he says hundreds of banks and savings and loan companies are cooperating in spite of the advice. He points out that while banks and savings and loan companies are exempt from reporting procedures set out by the 57th Legislature, they are included in the escheat laws.

The House committee's questionnaire asked for non-confidential statistical information to try to determine the number of abandoned accounts. Representative Spears says the study will be very valuable, if enough banking institutions cooperate.

Meanwhile Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed the first suit under the new escheat act. The suits seeks to recover $1,094,150 in stock and dividends held for the unknown owner of a missing railroad land trust certificate. The missing certificate was first issued in 1888, but Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Braswell says no one has been able to establish ownership since.

The suit was filed in the 101st District Court in Dallas against Mercantile National Bank of Dallas trustees of the Texas Pacific Land Trust, and various claimants to the missing certificate. Wilson's suit alleges that the property should go to the State of Texas under provisions of House Bill 5, covering abandoned property since its owner has been unknown for seven years or more.

Race Is On

Kellis Dibrell of San Antonio told Young Republicans in Austin that the Democratic primary no longer will be tantamount to election, now that the Republicans are gaining prominence in the State.

Dibrell has announced for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket. He predicted that Texas voters will have a problem on May 5 when they're forced to choose between voting in the Republican or Democratic primary.

A Democrat, former Secretary of State Tom Reavley, was first man to announce for the Attorney General's office. Reavley, an Austin attorney, says he considers that office the largest, most varied and most important "law practice" in Texas.

Up to The Courts

The University of Texas Board of Regents has agreed unanimously to let the court decide whether they should integrate dormitories. Judge Thornton Hardie of El Paso chairman of the regents, says a test case filed by Austin attorney Clinton in behalf of three Negro students has been turned over to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. In a letter to Hardie, Clinton asked the regents to integrate the facilities and escape the suit. Hardie has accused Clinton of filing the suit for the purpose of publicity and propaganda.

The regents originally planned to study further integration. Hardie refused to say whether the suit has changed their plans. Students and faculty have asked the regents for dormitory integration through campus polls. Integration in athletics also has been at issue. The regents chairman says they do not want to do anything that would disturb the excellent relations U. T. has had with other members of the Southwest Athletic Conference.

Textbooks Adopted

Three "Texans for America," J. Everts Haley of Canyon, Dr. Don I. Riddle of Paris and Mr. John Slay of Fort Worth, appeared before the State Board of Education this week to protest acceptance of several textbooks.

The organization had previously notified the Board of objections to 25 books on the committee's recommended list. They spoke out strongly against two history texts, linking the authors to subversive organizations and charging the publisher of one with cooperating with a "known subversive" in the publication of a World War II booklet, "The Land of the Soviets"

After a three-hour discussion between the Texans for America and board members, and statements from publishers denying the charges, the Board of Education voted to adopt all books on the committee's list, except four geography books which Commissioner J. W. Edgar asked them to delete. The Board of Education also

Water Talks

Leaders in water conservation work have been in conferences with the State Board of Water Engineers on the ambitious report of the U. S. Study Commission. The Commission, created by Congress, contains representatives of all the Federal water and soil conservation agencies, plus a representative from each of the eight river basins covered by the study. George H. Brown of Houston is chairman of the Commission.

Comments of the 17 state agencies will be relayed to Gov. Price Daniel, who will add his own comments to the report. The commission will then meet again to prepare a final report and forward to President John F. Kennedy for transmittal to Congress. In all, the report suggests that nearly $4 billion worth of dams and canals will be needed by the year 2010. Most of the work is for water supplies, which are not federally-financed.

Chief Engineer John Vandertulp of the State Board of Water Engineers has estimated that in the next 20 years, cities and industries will have to spend $1 billion for their share of water facilities.

The harvest was plentiful — that first Thanksgiving. And the future looked bright. But muskets carried to and from church services, and the gun and horn guarding the festive table served as a reminder of the dangers still present.

This Thanksgiving finds our harvest bountiful beyond imagination, but dangers still exist. On this day, let us rededicate ourselves to the American ideals which were established when our country was founded.
