Queen's Race Is Launched As Part of Homecoming

The Homecoming Queen's race, sponsored by the Junior Woman's club with Mrs. Billy McCravey as chairman, has been under way this week as business houses undertook the sponsoring of candidates. This part of the race will continue until Tuesday night, when the top five candidates will be announced. These will stay in the race until the day of Homecoming, July 14, which is a week from this Saturday, at which time the Queen will be announced. Only exes will participate in this race.

Other plans for the day include registration at 9:30 in the school auditorium, serving of barbecue by the Legion post at $1 a plate at noon, a parade in the afternoon, and a sing-song and gab-fest that night. There will be no dance this year.

The Class of 1930 is sponsoring the event this year.

Donated for a prize this year was the quilt made in 1935 by the late Mrs. Bud Douglas, which shows Schleicher county brands. The quilt is on display in the window of Shaw's drug, in addition to a large number of pictures of early day class groups, and other subjects of interest.

A chairman from each class was designated some time back to have charge of notifying classmen of homecoming events.

Mias Amigas will hold their annual meeting Thursday and Friday, July 12 and 13, which are the two days preceding Homecoming day.

Mrs. Murchison Dies During Night

Mrs. Sallie Murchison, age nearly 81, pioneer resident of Schleicher County, was found dead in her bed at 6:05 this morning, Thursday, July 5, 1956. She was active up to the time of her death, which is thought to have occurred 20 minutes earlier.

The funeral will be held at the First Baptist Church of which she was a member, the time to be set when the local relatives hear from the two out-of-town sons.

Sallie Bates was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bates, Sr., August 21, 1875, in Lee County, Mississippi. The dates of her birth and marriage are recorded in an old family Bible in which dates as far back as 1824 are on record.

In 1876 she came with the family from Mississippi to San Antonio. From there they moved to Uvalde and a short time afterward to Schleicher County. Her mother died in 1905 and her father in 1931 at the age of 99½.

On March 11, 1896, she was married to Hood Murchison. He was justice of the peace before Schleicher County was organized. He died in 1900.

The Murchisons at first boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie West, until they built their present home, which was the first house built of new lumber in Eldorado. Mrs. Murchison reared her children here, her son Herman making his home with her until the time of her death.

One of the many scenes from early days which she recalled was her description of the antelope which came to the lake bed east of her house for food and water, there being no houses to obstruct her view.

She was active in community work in the growing young town and was a faithful church member as long as her health permitted.

Surviving are three sons, Bob of Chicago, Will of Hollywood, Cal., and Herman, at home; a brother, Fency Bates, a hospital patient in San Angelo; and two sisters, Mrs. Will Hayes of Del Rio and Mrs. Kurt Mayes of Los Angeles. Two sisters preceded her in death, and her only grandson was killed in World War II.

Ellen Wheeler of San Angelo is spending the week with her grandmother, Mrs. L. Wheeler, and friends in the city.

Post Script

Out at McKavett Humble Station, W. V. Painter of Station A is looking after the place while the W. P. McConnells are on two weeks' vacation. We understand that the McConnells are at Rudosa. Humble employees are lowering their line where it crosses the new highway between Sutton County line and Fort McKavett, and Mr. Painter is also looking in on that job.

Eldoradoans watched rain clouds in all directions from town Monday, but little came out of the clouds—at least the precipitation didn't reach many people. Jim O'Harrow got 1.30—the draw in the south pasture ran, closing the road for half an hour. The ranch at the south was bone dry.

Earl Cathey got .4. Walter Pope got .80 at the house, but little in his pastures.

New Sinclair men here include P. H. Alcorn, who comes from Menard and who has rented the Graves house; the Galbraith family, who come from Ozona, in Alexander rent house.

Of interest to motorists during the past week is the new sign which has been put up over the door of the Congregational Methodist Church. The sign carries the name of the church in large letters.

On Tuesday evening, when the D. C. O. Wilsons were returning in their pick-up from San Antonio, they drove through what was reported to be 3½ inches of rain at Menard, then through dry country until they reached Fort McKavett, where they found water everywhere. When they reached home they found that from two to 3½ inches had fallen on their ranch! Mrs. Camilla Raggio at Fort McKavett reports a good two inches at their place. There was heavy wind with the rain and the downpour lasted about an hour, according to estimates.

After the excavating job which was completed two weeks ago, there has been no activity around the county swimming pool location. We don't know what the hold-up is, but someone ventured the guess that the contractors were awaiting the arrival of special forms for their concrete work.

A City crew, in the meantime, is laying some new water lines in the Carson West vicinity in order to provide an ample water supply for the pool, when they are ready for it.

The fire siren sounded last night in connection with a tornado warning. While Eldoradoans were apprehensive about the high winds and lightning and thunder, nothing came of the warning and skies today are clear.

Several have suggested that the fire department could adopt a different signal to serve as a tornado warning.

M. H. Crabb, who recently brought in a good water well on his place, is preparing his land for irrigation, and has turned the water into the furrows. He expects to plant feed this year.

Operators are working on the Nick Jurecek irrigation well, and may acidize it. The Moore well has not yet been tested. These two are the two newest irrigation water well tests in the county.

Dale West and Jimmie Dell Williams accompanied Mrs. Pinkney Craig to Seminole recently for a visit. Mrs. Palmer West and Mrs. C. W. Taylor of Sonora stopped there, and all went on to Hobbs, New Mexico, to visit the women's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Goodwin.

J. A. Cox and his family of San Angelo spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Cox.

Mrs. H. F. Webb has returned from a visit with relatives in Menard and Harper. She reports that her son O. C. of Ozona had a fall recently and was hospitalized several days.

NEW CREW OF SIX ARRIVES FRIDAY FOR PHONE WORK

A telephone crew of about six men has moved to Eldorado for six weeks' work on the telephone lines. Several of the men are living with their families in trailer houses and others have furnished apartments.

The work consists of cutting over to the larger new lines, and putting in of new drop wires to the residences of the city. It will require a number of weeks to complete the project.

Several local telephone customers have already availed themselves of the opportunity of being on a single line. There have been some areas of the city in which most of the phones have been on three and four party lines—all can now have private phone facilities.

Gaining more of the nation's attention is a problem that is becoming more acute with each passing year. The problem of floods in the face of an acute shortage of water supply is one of the great problems facing industry, agriculture, and the city dweller today.

This situation is not confined to the drought areas of the plains country or southwest. It is quite common to hear of floods in the west, the east and midwest and to later-read they are facing a shortage of water.

Many cities meet the problem by drilling more wells and deepening others. This in the face of constant lowering of their water table. Others build large reservoirs to hold more of the increasing runoff. Much of this increased runoff is heavily silt laden from the land lying in the watershed. Formerly a large portion of this water was caught and held by native vegetation until it could soak into the ground.

As the cover of grass and other vegetation is gradually lost from the soil the runoff has increased. Formerly part of this runoff soaked into the ground to recharge the water table. It also provided the grass with a more adequate supply of water. A good cover of grass with their roots running deep into the ground provided an enormous reservoir from which the plants use for long periods.

With this loss of runoff of water is the greater loss of productive soil. Sheet erosion is a sneak thief. It doesn't take a really noticeable amount of soil with each rain, but over a good many years time it takes enough of the soil to fill the reservoirs with silt.

Public Law 566 authorizes the Department of Agriculture to cooperate with the different states and local agencies in carrying out works of improvement for watershed protection and flood prevention. This public law recognizing the damage caused by floods to be a menace to the health and welfare provide a means of cooperation and assistance in carrying out jointly planned soil conservation and flood control programs.

The guiding principle of this act is that the local people and agencies are to do all they can to help themselves and to ask the Secretary of Agriculture to supplement their resources with only that part which they cannot provide to make the project possible from resources available in the watershed and state. Federal help under this act is available only to assist local organizations to plan and install needed water management, soil conservation and flood prevention measures within small watersheds. Included in this assistance is technical help in working out and applying a watershed work plan and funds for the equitable federal share of the costs of installation. The maximum size of watershed that can be treated is 250,000 acres.

The Soil Conservation Service and the local Soil Conservation districts do not claim that their watershed program will entirely eliminate floods. It is their position that more and better use of our rainfall can be made by proper use of our land. Most of us know it to be an established fact that you hold more of a rainfall on the land by constructing terraces, farming on the contour, leaving a large amount of stubble, growing legumes and maintaining, through proper use and deferred grazing, a good cover of grass on the land.

This is, combined with small detention dams, what we call flood prevention. It won't hold back all of the water but it will take the peak off of floods. It is designed to keep as much rainfall as possible where it falls. This is where it will grow a good crop of feed, grass or cotton—where it will make the most money for you. It's rapid runoff that creates floods.

Good conservation treatment of your watershed means a more stable and uniform flow of water into downstream reservoirs. The upstream detention dams and land treatment provides control of silt. Cities using from downstream reservoirs are provided with a cleaner source of water. Rainfall that goes into the ground means a more stable watershed and underground water table.

Small flood control detention dams in the upper reaches of a watershed means a longer and more effective life for downstream reservoirs. Proper land use within these watersheds holds the soil down and retards siltation of water supply reservoirs.

Part of the Eldorado - Divide Soil Conservation district lies within the Upper San Saba River watershed. Considerable interest is being shown in the watershed protection program being carried out in the Concho Soil Conservation District at Eden and the Brady-San Saba district at Brady. Here the conservation treatment of small watersheds combined with flood control detention dams is reducing the threat of damage to farmland and cities alike.

Automobile Accidents

Now that millions of people are taking their summer vacations and driving about the country, automobile accidents are occurring with increasing frequency. When involved in an accident, it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do.

It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.
2. Render aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.
3. Protect the scene from further damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.
4. Call an officer. Policemen, highway patrolmen, sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.
5. Gather information. Write it down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess—be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver—and he must do the same.
6. Be careful what you say. Even if you feel you are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.
7. See your doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.
8. Consult your lawyer immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjustors for the other side.
9. Inform your insurance company promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.
10. Report the accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.

An official accident report form may be procured from the police, sheriff's dept., highway patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety. (This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

HUMBLE RESEARCH

presents to the motorists of Texas the world's finest automotive gasoline . . .

Golden Esso Extra

This new gasoline is designed for the growing number of automobile engines with very high compression ratios, and for cars that tend to knock on "premium" gasolines. In many cars, it is the only gasoline that will give you knock-free performance.

It has the highest octane rating of any automotive gasoline in town—the highest by far.

But octane rating is only one performance quality. Other improvements match Golden Esso Extra's increase in octane rating: this new gasoline also sets new quality standards for quick starting and fast warm-up, for protection against vapor-lock, for minimizing engine deposits, for maximum acceleration, for protection against gum formation, for long mileage and maximum power.

It is the finest gasoline Humble has ever made—its performance rates it "premium over premium."

If yours is a car with a very high compression ratio—if your high compression engine tends to knock on "premium" gasoline—fill up with Golden Esso Extra at the golden pump under the Humble sign. You'll save the extra cost through performance, operating economy, and added gasoline mileage.

Golden Esso Extra is One of Three Great Humble Gasolines

Golden Esso Extra is for cars with very high compression ratios. But there are hundreds of thousands of automobiles in Texas that give perfect performance on Humble's famous Esso Extra gasoline, and there are others that perform well on regular grade Humble Motor Fuel.

Humble provides all three grades: Golden Esso Extra—premium over premium; Famous Esso Extra—premium; Humble Motor Fuel—regular.

Thus: you pay only for the quality your car requires.

But for many, Famous Esso Extra is the best gasoline they can use, No. 1 in Texas, first in sales among the "Premiums" because it's first in quality. This great gasoline will continue to be the leader in its field.

For others, Humble Motor Fuel sets the pace for performance and mileage among the "Regulars." It is the only regular gasoline in Texas that contains a patented solvent oil to keep your engine clean.

Use and pay only for the gasoline your car requires . . .
You'll find it under the Humble sign.

That road bill, recommended more than a year ago by President Eisenhower, was signed by him last week after final approval by the House three days earlier. It's a 13-year, $33 billion highway building program, the biggest of its kind in the Nation's history.

The financing will come from a 1-cent raise in gasoline tax plus new levies on other fuels, tires, tread rubber, trucks, buses and trailers.

It is claimed the average motorist, aside from truckers, buses, etc., will pay an average of less than $10 per year for this self-financing deal.

The master plan is to build a 41,000-mile interstate system of super-highways linking the Atlantic and Pacific, the Canadian border and the Gulf and Mexican border. Most of these will be four lanes or more.

Uncle Sam will foot about 90% of the bill for the interstate system. Also, there is a three-year program for federal aid highways outside the interstate part, for which the states and federal government will share the cost 50-50.

When you stop to think about it, this nation is really on wheels and rolling these days. Today there is better than one auto for every three persons in the country. There are more than 48 million automobiles.

There is hope that this new nationwide road building will reduce the accident rate. And, since highway travel is tied in with our business life, the new program may be expected to perk up our economy, and at the same time help keep the U. S. ahead of Soviet Russia industrially.

Austin.—Politicians are waving their banners. Party leaders seek to rally their cohorts. But right now Texans are far more concerned about water.

Farm and city dwellers alike are hard hit. Years of drouth have added up. Sizzling summer temperatures, unabated since the last of May, have finished off crop prospects for 1956 in many areas. Few expect relief before the end of summer. Most despaired some time ago of rains that would "really break" the drouth.

In Austin and elsewhere attention focused on the aften-bitter scrambles for dwindling streamflows. Prolonged and frequently heated testimony has been heard by the State Board of Water Engineers on water rights from the proposed Canyon Dam in South Central Texas. San Antonio sought permission to take 100,000 acre feet of water annually from the dam. It is the only way, said San Antonio officials, that the city can meet its future water needs.

Guadalupe Blanco River Authority strenuously opposed the request. Joined by citizens of some 20 small towns in the area GBRA contended that the city allocation would not leave enough for downstream users, nor enough to operate a hydro-electric plant. Testimony is expected to continue for several weeks. Ultimate decision probably will set a precedent for future controversies.

Farther south, the Rio Grande reached its lowest point since it stopped flowing completely in 1953. Falcon Dam was shut down, and a watermaster was appointed to ration the dwindling supply among Valley cities.

Legislators making up the state water resources committee came out with an idea for the future. They proposed a $100,000,000 Texas Water Development Fund. Controversy over whether to finance water conservation by an ad-valorem or water-use tax defeated the program last session.

This new approach of financing through bonds would pass the difficulty, said proponents. But it would take a long time. First, legislative action; then a constitutional amendment by the people. Meanwhile farmers are leaving their parched fields and looking for work in town to support their families.

New Highway Policy: An important new step in state policy has been announced by the Texas Highway Commission, for administering the new Federal highway aid program. If and when the state provides it more money, the commission will begin to assume part of the heavy cost of right-of-way—now borne wholly by cities and counties. This for highways of the primary state system not included in the new federal interstate system.

Local Option Election Voided: A local option liquor election is not legal if held in an area less than an entire justice precinct. By this ruling the Third Court of Civil Appeals made "wet" a large section of Austin which had been "dry" for 21 years. It cast doubt on similarly held elections over the state. The decision is subject to review by the Supreme Court.

Retail Sales Up: By early June Texas retail trade had bounced back from its spring slump. But it failed to match the 1955 average. Sales rose 11 per cent from April to May. Durable goods were up 13 per cent. But for the year as a whole, they are still substantially behind. Reason given by analysts is overproducing and overselling by many automobile and appliance makers last year.

Mrs. Paul Nixon is taking a two-weeks' course of treatments in Christoval.

Mr. and Mrs. Derl Griffin and daughter moved their household goods Wednesday to San Angelo, where they are making their home.

Picnicking and fishing at Fort McKavett on the Fourth were Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Newport and Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. James Williams and children Keith and June, also Carol Higgins.

DANIEL CAMPAIGN IS FAMILY AFFAIR

Austin.—When U. S. Senator Price Daniel campaigns for governor, it's a family affair. Daniel's wife, four children, sister and brother are all playing an active role in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mrs. Daniel, the former Jean Baldwin of Houston, is the great-great-granddaughter of General Sam Houston, so her Texas political heritage runs a long way back. She has been helping her husband campaign since they were married on June 28, 1940, when he was in the midst of a race for re-election to the Texas House of Representatives.

This summer she has been with the Senator on many of his campaign tours, and on some occasions has had their four children along to meet the people and help pass out literature. The oldest son, Price Jr., 15, has an eye on a political future himself. The other Daniel children are Jean, 13, Houston Lee, 10, and John Baldwin, 8.

Methodist News

A large air conditioning unit has been purchased by the Methodist congregation for the purpose of cooling the sanctuary. Workmen are installing the unit this week and it is hoped to have it in operation by Sunday—though this is not certain.

The unit has 15,000 cu ft per minute capacity. It is being installed at the front of the church, with three ducts leading from it to the auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Paris Burnham have re-decorated the pastor's study, which has been moved from the old location to a room at the rear. Shelving has been installed, cafe style curtains have been put up, and new lighting fixtures installed. Addition of a new typewriter table and an air conditioning unit completes the renovation project.

Mrs. Mary Edmiston Kempsey has donated a large refrigerator for use in the new kitchen.

Rev. and Mrs. Russell Heaner will spend next week at Mount Wesley in Kerrville, where both are to serve on conference committees. Mrs. Heaner is a member of the youth committee of the conference board of education, representing the conference board of missions; Rev. Heaner is on the committee on adult work. Both are members of the board of education. The pastor and his wife will attend the week of evangelism services also.

Friends of Rev. Ray Johnson are invited to the revival which he is conducting from the 8th to the 20th at the new Lake Side Methodist Church in San Angelo.

Mrs. Palmer West, superintendent of membership cultivation, announces a meeting of the group Sunday morning during the Sunday School hour.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Wool producers will get an incentive payment of 44.9% of the net proceeds of wool marketed in the 1955 marketing year.

Checks totaling $192,607.39 will be mailed Schleicher County producers in the very near future. This will be the net amount after 1 cent a pound has been taken out for the promotion of wool and 5 cents a head for lambs and yearlings marketed in the wool for promotion of lamb. These provisions carried in a nationwide vote by sheep producers in 1955.

The national average price to producers for shorn wool marketed during the 1955 marketing year (April 1, 1955 through March 31, 1956) has been reported by the Agricultural Marketing Service as 42.8 cents per pound, grease basis. This national price to producers is 19.2 cents a pound below the announced incentive level for the 1955 marketing year of 62 cents a pound.

To determine the amount of the incentive payment due any producer on the wool he marketed during the 1955 marketing year, the incentive payment rate (44.9%) will be applied to the net proceeds received by the producer for his wool. For example, if the producer sold 1,000 pounds of wool which netted him 55 cents per pound, he had net proceeds of $550. $550 x 44.9% (the incentive rate) equals $246.95 which is the incentive payment he will receive.

The rates of payment on lambs and yearlings sold for slaughter, in the wool, during the 1955 marketing year will be 77 cents per hundredweight of live animals. This payment rate was determined by multiplying the average weight of wool per hundredweight of animals (5 pounds) by 80% of 19.2 cents, which is the difference between the incentive level of 62 cents a pound and the national average price of 42.8 cents per pound.

Since the national average return to producers of 82.2 cents a pound for mohair sold during the 1955 marketing year was 12.2 cents a pound above the announced support level of 70 cents a pound, no payment will be made to producers on the basis of mohair marketed during the 1955 marketing year.

This incentive payment is paid for from the duties levied on wool from foreign countries, the import duty being about 28 cents a pound for all wool coming into the U. S. The United States is only producing 30% of the wool needed for its domestic needs of 300,000 lbs.

The word incentive, according to Webster, means that which incites, or determines an action or motive. That is true of the wool incentive payment as it is set up. An incentive determines action in sheep selection and wool preparation.

Schleicher County ranchmen have come a long way making good headway the past few years in sheep selection and wool preparation.

The first step is in the fall before breeding season. Ewes should be selected for length of staple, size, open face, fineness of wool, density—the characteristics that are desirable in wool and lamb production. These ewes are the select class of the flock or the blue ewes. The second class are ewes that do not meet all the above characteristics to the fullest and are branded red. The bottom class or green, are those ewes that are coarse in fleece, small, defective in udder or wool, blind, or other defects.

Now the rams are selected the same way and are bred accordingly. Top rams with top ewes, red rams with red ewes and the green rams with green branded ewes. If any cross breeding is to be done—these bottom ewes should be used. All different classes should be grazed in separate pastures.

All replacements should be made out of the top group and 15-20% of the best of the red class. The green ewes should be replaced first and as many of the red class as possible.

Two powerful factors have been put to work and are working in an orderly and systematic system of selection—the law of genetics and the law of averages. Only in selective breeding can these factors work for the producer to the fullest.

A good sheep selection program and wool preparation program is the incentive for top prices in wool and mutton production.

HOSPITAL HAS OPENINGS FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

The hospital for handicapped children at Ottine, Texas, which is operated by the Elks lodge, has openings for handicapped children. Son Allison of Sonora reported this week. The hospital is now caring for about half the number that the staff and facilities allow, and physically handicapped children who can be helped can apply for admittance.

Treatment at the Elks hospital costs the parents nothing, Allison pointed out. Mexican or white children up to the age of 14 are admitted, and the minimum age for cerebral palsy victims is six years. There is no minimum age for other applicants provided a physician certifies they can be helped by the hospitalization and treatments.

Anyone desiring further information can get in touch with Mr. Allison by phoning him in Sonora at 24451 or 91491, or writing him at Box 5782, Sonora.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tisdale of Menard County were here Sunday to attend the funeral of their nephew Jess Walston, and visit in the home of Mrs. Virge Tisdale.

... and the happy farmer who invested in U. S. Savings Bonds

ONCE THERE WAS a farmer who drove to town one Saturday to stock up on fresh food and feed and news. While there, he also bought three $50 U. S. Savings Bonds—one for each of his sons, to help finance their college educations.

As he returned home, the farmer noticed that one section of his pasture fence was down and his prize Jerseys were about to get out. So he parked his car, took off his coat, hung it on a post, and started fixing the fence.

And the cows stood by, watching curiously. It had been a particularly dry season and when one bovine beauty spotted the nice green Savings Bonds sticking out of the farmer's coat pocket, she immediately sauntered over to investigate. The rest of the story you've probably guessed. While the farmer fixed, old bossy feasted. And the delectable Bonds were partly devoured and digested.

Our farmer friend, discovering his loss, feared for the worst. But the next Saturday he stopped at the bank to ask some questions. Yes, the Treasury would and did replace the chewed up Bonds free of charge.

So all of them — the farmer, his family, and even the cow — were in clover.

You may not be a farmer or own a cow, but there are lots of other ways you can lose your Savings Bonds or have them mutilated. Every major flood, tornado, explosion or fire brings a wave of Bond replacements.

So just remember this. No matter what happens to your Savings Bonds, the Treasury Department will replace them free of charge and date them to coincide with the original Bonds.

Savings Bonds are not only safer than cash, but one of the best investments you can make. You can be sure of the principal, sure of the returns (an average 3% interest when held to maturity)—and sure of the future when you invest regularly in Savings Bonds.

So start investing in Savings Bonds today. That's the safe and sure way to save. If you want your interest as current income, ask your banker about 3% Series H Bonds that pay interest semiannually by United States Treasury check.

FOR THE BIG THINGS IN YOUR LIFE -- BE READY WITH U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

Hill-Gray Wedding Solemnized Saturday At Baptist Parsonage

In a quiet wedding at the First Baptist parsonage at 7:30 Saturday evening, June 30, Miss Joyce Elizabeth Gray of San Angelo became the bride of James E. Hill of this city. The pastor of the church, the Rev. J. C. Hancock, officiated with the double ring ceremony.

For the wedding and the reception the bride wore a beige dress with lace jacket, and her going-away dress was black with white accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Gray of San Angelo and the groom is the son of Mrs. L. M. Hill and the late Mr. Hill. The groom's brother, Monty Hill, and Miss Barbara Spencer were the couple's only attendants. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Only members of the family were present at the wedding and at the reception which followed in the home of the groom's mother. The serving table, laid with white linen, was centered with an arrangement of summer roses in pastel shades, flanked with four lighted white tapers.

The wedding cake was white, with white icing flecked with silver and topped with white rosebuds and pale green petals. The bride's sister from Odessa served the cake, and Miss Spencer served punch. Summer flowers decorated the reception rooms.

The bride is a graduate of San Angelo High School with the Class of 1956. The groom was graduated from Eldorado High School in 1952, attended the State University at Austin a year, was in service 16 months, and at present is employed with Delta Gulf Drilling Co. By Mary Blake
Home Service Director, Carnation Company

Here's the latest "cool-off" special and the newest thing in whipped desserts. Try making it in many of these flavor variations for your family.

FRUITY CROCKERS
Fruity Fruit Pie

Make 9-inch pie shell, using STIR 'N' ROLL Pie Shell recipe inside each package of Gold Medal Flour. Bring to a boil... 1½ cups crushed pineapple, orange juice or grape juice 1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin dessert

Stir in until dissolved... ¾ to 1 cup sugar (Depending on sweetness of fruit)

Mix in... Cool until almost stiff

Whip until stiff... 1 CUP CHILLED UNDILUTED CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK

with... 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Pour on top of gelatin mixture. Beat in slowly with rotary beater or electric mixer. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill at least 1 hour. Remove from refrigerator 20 minutes before serving to take chill from crust.

TO WHIP CARNATION, chill in refrigerator tray 15-20 minutes, or until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray. Whip 1 minute, add lemon juice and whip 2 minutes longer, or until very stiff.
