Legion Program Unveiling Plaque Set For Tomorrow

THE SCHOOL BAND — PRIDE OF ELDORADO — TO PERFORM AT FUNCTIONS HERE TOMORROW — NOV. 11

THE ELDORADO HIGH SCHOOL BAND under the direction of John Brown, will be heard tomorrow on the program of the American Legion. They will also be heard in their traditional role tomorrow night when the Eldorado Eagles football team attempts to upset the Menard Yellow Jackets. The above picture was taken as the Band led the parade down Main Street in advance of the Halloween Carnival last week.

Crucial Game With Menard Set Here For Tomorrow Night

It is possible that the bulk of the people in three counties will be in Eldorado tomorrow night when the Eldorado Eagles meet the Menard Yellow Jackets in what will be the third district game for both teams. As it now stands, the two teams are tied for second place, each having won one and lost one.

The Ozona Lions, top dog in the district, are scheduled to play at Junction tomorrow night. The Lions are credited with only losing 1/2 game—the result of a tie score with Sonora earlier in the season. There are some interesting possibilities about the two contests tomorrow night— IF Ozona should be defeated at Junction tomorrow night, the winner of the game at Eldorado would move up to top spot—at least for the time being. Last week the district dope was pretty much upset when Menard defeated Sonora, and Eldorado defeated Junction.

The game here tomorrow night is scheduled to start at 7:30.

Out in the Fort McKavett neighborhood, at the ranch of Mrs. Camilla Raggio and her son H. Leslie Jones, a familiar sight is gathering of pecans. They report that it is well worth gathering the crop this year as they are getting 30 cents per pound for little natives and 40 cents for papershell Burketts.

There are quite a few pecans at that locality and the crop should bring in a little money.

Schleicherites were surprised to find snow on the ground Tuesday morning, measuring up to five or six inches in some parts of the county. We didn't find anyone who remembered a snowfall coming so early in any previous year. Tuesday was November 8th.

Money turned in during the Boy Scout fund drive totaled about $226 Tuesday morning. Ed Meador is general chairman and Patton Enochs is auditor for the drive, and a number of solicitors have yet to turn their money in, it was stated.

To help eliminate seepage from his big irrigation tank Clyde Keene is following advice of authorities and is working 5 or 6 tons of salt into the bottom of the tank after which he expects to add aquajell. This is expected to seal the bottom over and stop the seepage.

The second Henry Moore irrigation well had reached a depth of 200 feet by Wednesday morning, and was drilling ahead. The well is being drilled by Leonard Wilson.

A representative of the San Angelo Social Security District office will be in Eldorado in the District Courtroom, Friday, November 18, at 1:00 p.m. to give personal service to claimants and other inquirers.

The county jail is getting a new roof! The new asbestos roof will replace the old one which has been in use many years and which was leaking badly. In the process of renovating the top of the jail, the old cupola was removed and the structure now will have a more modern appearance.

A new modern electric score board has been ordered for the Eldorado football field by the school board. A frame-work has been set up for it and we understand that "the thing" has been shipped from the factory. It may be here in time for tomorrow night's game—but not likely.

The Jim Martins report that they had six inches of the wettest snow they had ever seen Tuesday.

Local Eagles Back In Business Following Victory At Junction

The Eldorado Eagles played heads-up football over at Junction last Friday night and came home with their first district victory by forcing over the winning score in the last half minute of play.

The Junction team scored first midway of the initial quarter when Charles Ray Dobbs bucked over from inches away from the double stripe. Dobbs added the extra point.

Shortly before the first quarter ended Eldorado tied it up, gaining possession of the ball on the Junction 10 following a bad pass from center on an attempted Junction punt. A line plunge carried to the seven from which point George Sofge plowed over. Stockton's kick was good.

The score then stood 7-7 all the rest of the game, until about the last minute of play.

The winning Eldorado touchdown was set up on the Junction 10 when Mickey Caveness, back to punt on his own 30, missed a high pass from center. He covered the ball but it went over to the Eldorado eleven on the Junction 10.

Stockton's 50-yard gallop in the last half-minute followed a hand-off through the middle and developed into a combination of power and speed which threw off three would-be Junction tacklers. The try for conversion failed, and the game ended 13 to 7.

Score By Quarters
Eldorado	7	0	0	6	13
Junction	7	0	0	0	7

Other Scores
Here are some of the recent scores in district games so far for this season:

Sonora 24	Junction 13

Ozona 6	Sonora 6

Joe Foy, attorney from San Angelo, will be the speaker tomorrow morning at a program at the Memorial Building at which the memorial plaque will be unveiled. The American Legion Post 257 has charge of the program and this past week issued the following invitation to the public to attend:

"The members of the American Legion extend this invitation to the public to be present at the unveiling of a Memorial Plaque honoring Schleicher County men who gave their lives while in the service of our country."

The bronze plaque lists the names of 19 men, representing three wars, and has been installed on the east porch of the Memorial Building.

Starting time for the program is 11:00 o'clock and the Legion this week was urging business houses to close tomorrow from 10:45 to 12:00 noon to enable everyone to attend. All businesses are urged to display flags.

Special invitations were sent by the Post recently to relatives of the men listed on the plaque. Other special guests will include a color guard, consisting of one man each from Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines, from San Angelo. The Eldorado school band will also be on hand to play, and Don McCormick will introduce the speaker.

Roll Call of the men listed will be read with the flag at half mast, and the bugler playing taps.

Formerly called Armistice Day in observance of cessation of hostilities of World War I, November 11 is now designated Veterans' Day to honor veterans of all wars. Except for federal employees and the bank, the day has not been generally observed here as a holiday.

Final plans for tomorrow's program were made at the Legion meeting last Thursday night, with Jack Hext in charge.

Birthday Calendar List Closes Saturday

Members of the Dorcas Circle, who are preparing copy for a birthday calendar to be placed in the hands of the printer soon, announce that Saturday is positively the last day to include birthdays in this calendar.

They ask that all who have not yet been listed call either 25032 or 25831 at once. They desire that every resident's birthday be included in this calendar for 1956. There is no charge for being listed.

IT MUST HAVE BEEN ANOTHER ELDORADO

The San Angelo Standard Times this morning tells a story of a "bogus Colonel" in the Air Force who was on trial in a federal court in Mobile, Ala. The report gave his name as Jack Kenneth Brown, 26, and said that he was a native of Eldorado, Texas.

Inquiry here this morning developed that no one we contacted knows such a person.

ROPEERS TO MEET

Tonight at 8:00 all members of the Eldorado Roping Club and the Polo team, and others interested, will meet in Horace Linthicum's office in the Page building.

Work To Be Underway Soon On Virge Tisdale Deep Test

The Virge Tisdale wildcat, about 3 1/2 miles due east of Eldorado, which has been "hanging fire" for several months appears to be ready to go, according to announcement last week. The test located in NE 1/4 of Survey 16 in Block A HE&WT Railway survey, had surface casing set about the first of July and has been waiting for rotary since that time. Men are now drilling the water well.

The report now is that Armour Properties of Wichita Falls will drill the Ellenburger prospect in a deal worked up by Fortune Drilling Corp., of San Angelo. One of Fortune's rigs will do the drilling and operations are to begin by Nov. 15. Contract depth is 7500. The prospector is 2 3/8 miles northeast of The Gray Wolfe No. 1 T. A. Thompson, wildcat failure abandoned Sept. 19, 1952, at 6,980 feet.

The project picked the following tops on Kelly drive bushing elevation of 2,417 feet; Strawn 6,500 feet; and Ellenburger, 6,970 feet. The Page field produces from the Strawn at an average depth of 5,725 feet.

Conservation farming paid good dividends in terms of increased production in the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation district this year. The Schleicher County part of the district had received very little effective rain up to June 28th. Most crops planted in the spring were already dead or most of the stand lost when the good rain of June 28th and 29th came.

In spite of the drouth and being so late in the year when the rain came, Jack Wade, district cooperater, who lives 10 miles west of Eldorado, made an exceptionally good crop of hegari on 40 acres of cropland benefited by level closed end terraces. Wade planted the hegari just before the rain of June 28th and 29th. He planted two rows and skipped one.

Wade states "there was no moisture in the soil before the rain the later part of June." The June rain brought Wade's hegari up to a good stand and he had plowed most of it before the good rains in July. "Practically all the 3.78 inches of rain from July 14 through 18th was held on my farmland by level closed end terraces," Wade stated. Yield checks made by Wade at the request of Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service showed that the hegari produced 460 bundles per acre on the areas immediately above the terraces. Wade figures from the amount of twine used that he cut approximately 14,000 bundles on the 40 acres field. He estimates the bundles to weigh about 10 pounds each.

Wade planted 50 acres of hegari but could not cut 10 acres because it was too short. The 10 acres that he did not cut were areas that were not benefitted by water backed up by the terraces.

The first terraces were constructed on Wade's place a short time after he became a cooperater with the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District in 1942. Since the construction of the first terraces he has received good benefits from them, with the exception of one year when he did not get enough rain to stand water above terraces.

Wade feels his terraces paid exceptionally well this year. Due to the fact that his soil was in a dry powdered condition, he feels that he would have lost practically all the water from the June and July rains, if he had not had terraces.

The case of the missing housewife

There's a roast cooking to perfection in the electric range. Ice cream is being made—in the refrigerator. Coffee is percolating. The children's play clothes are being washed clean as new.

But there's no one in the kitchen!

One clue solves the case—electricity. It works automatically—Mother doesn't have to stay in her kitchen. Right now, she's attending a P.T.A. meeting. And when she gets home, the dinner will be ready, the laundry done.

Another clue—electric servants work for low wages—costs only a few cents a day for the average family.

Isn't it by far the biggest bargain in your family budget? The men and women in your electric service company are constantly working to keep it that way.

Management Hints On Grazing Winter Pastures

College Station. The amount of winter grazing you get from small grains and annual clovers depends in a large measure upon the management practices used.

Give the young plants time to develop a hardy root system before turning in the livestock, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. The plants should be at least six inches tall before they are grazed. Their root systems will be developed to the point that grazing livestock will not materially reduce the stand by pulling up the plants. Grazing the young plants too early can result in depleted stands and a corresponding loss in production.

Trew says that rotation grazing gives the most efficient use of the forage produced by fast growing small grains and legumes. He recommends portable fencing for cutting the pasture into smaller plots because it is easy to move and inexpensive.

If weather conditions continue favorable and the grazing gets ahead of the livestock, mow the excess to prevent early booting. Too, if allowed to make too much growth, small grains are more susceptible to winter killing, says Trew.

Winter grazing usually is very succulent and a little dry hay should be provided to help balance the diets of livestock.

First year plantings of brome, orchard, fescue or perennial ryegrass should not be grazed unless irrigated or growing on very fertile soil. This delayed grazing gives the plants a chance to become well established, says Trew.

And finally, he adds, pastures are a cash crop and they should be managed as such.

The Pee Wees, who had scheduled an inter-squad game for Tuesday evening, postponed the game because of the wetness of the field, and there is possibility that there will be no more games this winter. Russell Beach is coach.

RANCH IS LEASED

The V. G. Tisdale Mesquite Ranch, established by the late V. G. Tisdale in 1898 and located some four miles east of Eldorado, was leased by Mrs. Tisdale this week to Gerald and Patsy Hartgraves. They also bought the well known herd of Angus cattle that Mr. Tisdale had bred for some 45 years. They are known to be one of the best herds of commercial cattle in West Texas. Many Angus herds in this and adjoining counties have gotten their foundation herd from these cattle.

Mrs. Tisdale also sold the sheep but she kept her small bunch of registered cattle. She says she wants to keep her "finger in the pie." She was reluctant to sell the stock and lease the ranch, but it will still be in the family as Patsy Hartgraves is her granddaughter.

The Hartgraves have two children, Arlene and Tom, who she hopes will enjoy living on the ranch. This ranch comprises 3840 acres.
