Nearing 4000 Feet Vinson Wildcat

The Moore No. 1 Vinson wildcat 1½ miles northeast of Eldorado was digging at 3570 feet at 6:00 p. m. Wednesday. The drillers were making about 200 feet every 24 hours.

A formation "break" is expected somewhere around the 4000-foot level, and the entire operation is being watched with much interest here.

More Rains In The Night Close Angelo Highway

Highway 277 north to San Angelo is closed this morning as result of more rains which started at about 11 o'clock last night, and reached torrential proportions by 5:00 a.m. in the Christoval neighborhood.

The downpours have come on the heels of others of recent weeks which have soaked the area and prevented planting of crops by many farmers.

Meckel Draw is running higher than before, and flood waters were in Lavelle Meckel's house to a depth of one and one-half feet at 2:00 o'clock this morning.

Earl Cathey reported 3.70 inches fell during the night, which brings his total for the recent rains to over 11 inches. He too reported draws running higher than before.

The Lawrence Steen ranch received over 8 inches.

Rains of six to seven inches upstream from Christoval have again caused a rise, and isolated a few families immediately to the north of the town, who were reported being removed by helicopters operating out of San Angelo.

The fact that the heaviest rains have been localized is indicated by report that Carrol White received 1.25 inches. He reported draws up, although the rains did not start until dawn.

Several miles to the south Josh Ewing received only .2 and R. B. Anderson had light showers.

Eldorado's own rain total was less than .2 at 7:00 a. m., but rains were continuing in increasing volume as this paper went to press at 8:30 this (Thurs) morning.

MRS. NETTIE DAVIS FUNERAL IS SET FOR 2:00 P.M. TODAY

Mrs. Nettie Davis, 69, aunt of Marion Dacy of this city, died at her home in Boerne at 5:00 Tuesday evening.

The body has been shipped to Eldorado for funeral services at 2:00 this afternoon, Thursday, at Eastside Baptist Church, and interment will be made in the Eldorado Cemetery in the family lot, beside her mother and a brother. Rev. Joe Dossett will officiate at the funeral.

Mrs. Davis, a widow, was a native of Texas. She lived in Eldorado for awhile over ten years ago, working in a local cafe, then moved to Denver, Colo., where she had employment until January 1957, when she retired and moved to Boerne.

She is survived by a brother Robert of Boerne and a sister Mrs. Fred Amato of Denver. She was the former Nettie Dacy, and was born Dec. 1, 1887 in Guadalupe County.

Nephews will be pall bearers.

Two stock men, Harold Gardner of Belle River, Ill., and Gilbert Stallings of Carmi, Ill., were here looking at quarter horses last week. They were house guests of the Fred Case family Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Dannheim of Ozona and Harvey Dannheim of San Angelo spent Sunday with relatives and friends in the county.

RIDING CLUB PLANS TOURNAMENT HERE IN EARLY JUNE

The Eldorado Riding club is planning on a big invitation tournament to be held in early June in San Angelo.

Invitations have been mailed out to a number of teams and before long a list of participants should be available.

Fans will remember that the first such tournament, held last year, was won by Eldorado, and that the boys received a trophy which must be won three years, after which it becomes the permanent possession of the winning team. More will be announced on this later.

Practice has been set at the local arena every Thursday night and on Sunday afternoon, weather permitting.

Tornado Warning Signal To Be Given On Fire Siren

A tornado alert signal has been devised for Eldorado which makes use of the present fire siren, as result of action taken at a joint meeting of the Eldorado Volunteer Fire department and the Ground Observer post, Tuesday night of this week.

Tornado warnings will be given by a one-minute continuous high-pitch blast on the siren, followed by a two-minute silence, and this followed by another one-minute high-pitch blast. This signal is distinctly different from a fire signal and should not be confused.

The fire signal remains the same. A number of blasts on the siren of rising and falling pitch will summon the firemen, and this signal will also summon firemen for any other emergency in which they are needed, such as a lost child.

It is emphasized by firemen and observers that the tornado signal will not be sounded every time the Weather Bureau issues information that tornadoes are indicated for the area, but only in event one of the various "spotters" throughout the county spots a tornado approaching and is reasonably certain that it will strike some community, or is headed toward Eldorado.

The all-clear following a tornado alert will be given by voice from the loudspeakers atop the Presbyterian church.

Cooperation of the general public in not calling 24242 at any time except to report a fire, was asked. The spotters are to be furnished all information necessary concerning number to call, etc., in event an approaching tornado is to be reported. All residents of the town and county were urged to learn the new signals, and not to bother the emergency phone or the city hall with needless calls in the future.

Residents are also reminded that everyone except firemen should clear the streets whenever the siren sounds for any reason.

Success readers should cut out and save the clipping on this page giving the emergency signals.

Most towns of the area have been looking into the matter of alerting procedures in recent weeks because of the high incidence of tornadoes and stormy conditions over the state.

Lions Elect Officers For New Club Year

A new slate of officers, headed by Charlie Trigg as president, was elected by the Eldorado Lions club at their regular meeting yesterday noon, to serve for the 1957-8 year. They will be installed next month.

Other officers elected were Ed Meador, first vice president; Joe Andrews, second vice; and Dick Preston, third vice. Also Charlie Hahn, sec-treas.; Roy Phelps, tail twister; George Cales, Lion tamer.

Roy Collins and Buster Hale were named new directors. Hold-over directors are Gus Love and John Stigler.

The Rev. A. M. McLain, who is conducting a revival at the Congregational Methodist church, showed a film on African missions. He was introduced by Earl Parker. Joe Logan was projectionist.

Next week's program will be given by Mrs. Teele's elementary choral group.

GOING OVERSEAS

Sam Ezell, here with Baroid, has gone overseas to do oil work in Arabia, where he will be joined by Mrs. Ezell later. The couple sold their furniture and vacated the Otto Mund house. Mrs. Ezell is visiting relatives this month in Louisiana. The company has not replaced Mr. Ezell here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown had as guests his parents of Brownwood who also visited Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Higgins.

The Board of Supervisors of the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation district in their regular monthly meeting Friday, May 3, approved new conservation plans, discussed coming 4-H and FFA grass and range judging contests, discussed plans for Soil Stewardship week which is to begin the last Sunday in May, and a planned trip to Brady to observe the flood control structures on Brady creek.

BITTERWEED is showing up in unexpected places these days, according to Bill Rountree, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation service, assisting the district. Apparently it has blown in or worked in from infested areas. Birds have been known to scatter the seed by carrying plants great distances to build nests. Bitterweed is blooming now and shows up like a sore thumb. If your range in the past has been free of this pest it will pay you to be on the lookout for bitterweed and not let it go to seed. If these plants go to seed you are practically in the business from now on. Bitterweed thrives on bare ground. Dry weather and the lack of good range management practices has caused lots of bare ground to appear on our rangeland. Let's be on the lookout and keep this poisonous plant from spreading and getting started.

John Miller, cooperating with the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation district, has 40 acres of spring planted madrid clover and oats up to a good stand and doing fine.

Lloyd B. Johnson has a good stand of huban clover on the Chamberlain place east of Eldorado.

Taking moisture penetration checks recently Soil Conservation Service personnel found that there was a penetration of about 10 inches on bare ground with a gentle slope. How was your range? Was it in a condition that permitted it to hold the bigger part of the rain that fell?

Blue Panic Planting

Do you plan on being in a hurry to get your blue panic planted when it gets dry enough to get into the field? If so it might not be to where you can manage for a district Plant Junior Box to plant the seed. In case you are not able to and want to go ahead and plant your blue panic grass seed they can be planted just as well by the following method:

Plant seeds to a depth of 1/4 to 1/2 inch on beds where no extra dirt can wash on the seed, and pack with packer wheel if possible. Maize plates in regular farm equipment planter boxes can be used by mixing with filler such as cracked maize (1 1/2 lbs Blue Panic to 4 lbs. cracked maize; depends on germination and purity of seed). If maize seed are not available fine sifted barnyard manure can be used. Remove all covering plows and if possible attach a press wheel.

Mr. A. F. Leesch, vice-chairman of the Texas State Soil Conservation Board, from Boerne, Texas, is to be the speaker Sunday night, May 26, in a joint service to start the observance of Soil Stewardship week in the district. Soil Stewardship week has been set nationwide to begin May 26 through June 2.

This district will join with the other 2550 soil conservation districts of the nation in observing Soil Stewardship week. It is hoped that the entire nation will join in this effort.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis are in Houston where Mr. Davis has been undergoing tests at a hospital. In their absence from the farm, their daughter Mrs. Jewel Schwobel has been driving the school bus for Mrs. Davis and working in the cafeteria during the noon hour.

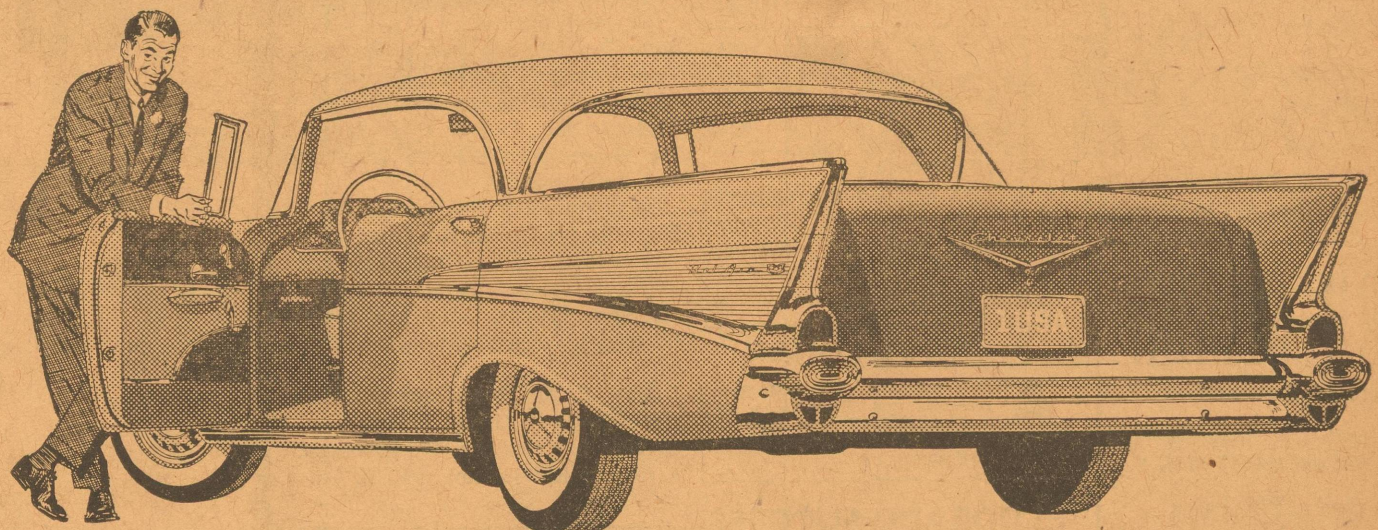

Seth Ramsey of Midland drove down from Midland and took his mother Mrs. J. D. Ramsey to San Angelo to visit her grand daughter Mrs. Genevieve Koshek. Mrs. Koshek was preparing to leave for a week's stay in California, in regard to her work for underprivileged children.

The Russell Turnbow family of Barnhart visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turnbow.

Guests of the Cecil Mackeys Saturday and Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hall and daughters of Snyder, former Eldoradoans.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held Saturday Night

The Seniors of Eldorado High school were honored last Saturday night by the Juniors with a formal banquet and dance in the Memorial Building. This year's theme was taken from the idea of the fiftieth anniversary of the local school. The occasion took place in the imaginary Anniversary Club complete with appropriate and unusual decorations and a floor show which picked the dances of the last 50 years as the topic of entertainment with various guests performing.

The master of ceremonies was Mike Moore. Joy Dodd welcomed the guests to the gala occasion and Ann Ballew expressed appreciation for the honor given her senior class in this much-anticipated affair. Jimmie Dell Williams gave the Senior will.

The music for the evening was furnished by Sammy Daulong and his orchestra of San Angelo.

The menu for the banquet was prepared by the cafeteria women and each of the guests enjoyed their efforts as they participated in the consuming of it. The Sophomores who served were Becky McAngus, Penny Childers, Sue Henry, Emma Lou Menees, Jeannie Mund, Robby Waldron, Laneron Stevens, Arnie Lee Westbrook, Eddie Taylor, and Jimmie Mackey. Arthur Fambrough was the doorman.

Among the guests were the trustees and their wives and the high school faculty and their spouses. Looking back on the banquet and dance, one can now see the efforts of some many months of raising money to finance such an occasion as being worth all that it required. Lasting memories of enjoyment are the results and appreciation of all it takes to make an annual occasion such a success.

Wildlife Practices Added To Conservation Reserve

College Station.—The value of wildlife in the overall conservation program has recently been recognized by the addition of practices to the Conservation Reserve. These practices, says Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, will enable landowners to provide needed habitats and food crops for wildlife. Under the Conservation Reserve program landowners sign agreements which run for a term of years. Rental payments are earned on an annual basis while special payments to help cover the cost of establishing conservation practices may also be earned, and three such practices have been approved by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation branch of USDA for use in Texas.

Cooper says the practices include the establishment and management of cover specifically beneficial to wildlife. This includes establishment of field borders or wildlife travel lanes such as planting multiflora rose hedges in east Texas or shrub windbreaks in west Texas. Other practices include the planting of such crop mixtures as wheat and rye or grain sorghum and German millet or common or kobe lespedeza and millet for dove and quail food. Provisions are also provided for establishing food areas for deer and waterfowl.

Another practice has to do with the development of shallow water areas to improve habitat for ducks, geese and waterfowl in general. Such impoundments must not exceed three feet in depth. The size of the impoundments will determine the cost-share basis.

The third practice has to do with constructing ponds or tanks for fish production. The fish pond should have a surface area of not less than one-fourth acre and a depth of not less than 12 feet over an area equal to a third of the surface area.

The specialist advises landowners who would like to give wildlife a helping hand to visit their county ASC office or local county agent for details on these cost-sharing practices. They can be of real value in aiding the cause of wildlife in Texas, believes Cooper, and he urges landowners to take advantage of assistance offered under the new practices.

Austin.—Texans will be a long time cleaning up from one of the greatest flood disasters in the state's history.

Nearly 10,000 persons were forced out of their homes and some 35,000 square miles were affected, according to official estimates.

State, national and private agencies are cooperating to help the flood victims. At the request of Gov. Price Daniel, Pres. Eisenhower designated the flooded counties as "major disaster areas." It brought an immediate flow of funds, equipment and supplies to aid State Disaster Relief headquarters. Governor Daniel also asked the Legislature for $20,000 to replenish the National Guard's fund for emergency work.

As waters receded in most areas, people began to take stock of the future. Though crop damage was estimated as high as $30,000,000, most farmers took a long range view.

Many missed the corn planting season and will have to switch to sorghum or some other crop. Others have put cattle back on dry feed after seeing the best pasturage in years ruined by floods. "But," they say, "at least it's wet."

Water conservationists point to the flood-ruined areas as "Exhibit A" in the case for more dams and lakes. Ramping rivers could be held in check, they say, saving topsoil and water for future use.

Thumbs Down—In the push to clear the Legislative calendars, a lot of bills are falling by the wayside. Measures which already have hit the dust include those to: Abolish the property tax on automobiles and substitute higher registration fees; provide for re-districting of county precincts; require county judges to be lawyers; allow cities on local option to elect officials for four years instead of two; raise the minimum age for senators from 26 to 30 and the minimum for representatives from 21 to 25; require persons over 60 years of age to obtain an annual exemption certificate to vote; prohibit cities from annexing property across county lines; and allow cities to issue bonds to build municipal parking lots.

Approved—Measures which apparently have made the grade: Allow use of tax money to advertise the state of Texas; levy penalties for tossing litter on public roads, parks and beaches; make it unlawful to carry a switch-blade knife; permit skipping of jury trials in lunacy cases; create a new Securities commission to handle regulation now divided between the Insurance commission and Secretary of State's office; create a system of full-time paid supervisors for paroled convicts; and define rights of REA co-ops to operate in areas annexed by cities.

High Waters Increase Cattle Sales
Ft. Worth.—Expansion of the cattle receipts was general over the country Monday, and at Fort Worth a part of the increase was credited to movement of cattle and calves out of low-lying pastures by the high water. In some cases the cattle were reported moved off pastures which are now at the bottom of some of the larger lakes.

Other shippers reported they were starting shipping a bit earlier than usual because of their reluctance to wait until the annual Summer break in cattle prices hits the grass fat variety of yearlings and older cattle. "The high prices on grass cattle can't be expected to hold once hot weather comes," was the way one East Texas cowman put it. "A sharp price break would more than offset any gains we could put on."

Slaughter cattle and calves opened in the face of sharply lower bids at Fort Worth Monday, but reliable stocker demand and some independent packer support, offset the worst of the low bids. Prices on slaughter cattle and calves ranged from steady to 25 to 50 cents lower. Stocker classes were firm.

Comparative prices: Good and choice fed yearlings and heifers $19-$23; few mature steers arrived. Common and medium yearlings and heifers $12 to $18. Fat cows $12.50 to $15, some heiferish kinds to $16. Cannors and cutters drew $8.50 to $12.50. Bulls were reported from $11 to $15.75.

Good and choice fat calves sold from $19 to $22.50, a few fancy kinds $23 and $23.50. Cull to medium slaughter calves $10 to $17. Stocker calves $23 down, and stocker steer yearlings 21.50 down.

Big Run of Sheep Sells Steady

Upwards of 12,000 sheep and lambs arrived at Fort Worth Monday, one of the largest runs of the spring. Trade was active from the start and prices were fully steady. Once again packers were taking virtually all of the offering, as slaughter prices were well above feeder limits on most kinds.

Good and choice spring lambs drew $22 to $23.50 and cull, common and medium spring lambs sold from $15 to $21. Good and choice shorn old crop lambs cashed at $18 to $21.50, with lambs with No. 1 pelt at $21.50. No. 2 pelts sold from $21 down, and No. 3 pelts sold from $20.50 down. Cull to medium shorn lambs cashed at $12 to $17.

Aged slaughter ewes cashed at $5 to $7, and old bucks sold from $5 to $5.50. Two-year-olds sold from $16 down. Aged wethers drew $12 down.

Management Is Measure For Pasture Production

College Station.—A cultivated pasture's production can be effectively measured by its management! Once a pasture is established, good management usually means good grazing, says Extension Pasture Specialist E. M. Trew. Continuous grazing can slash forage production in half! Reduce these losses by cutting pastures into small blocks with portable electric fences and rotating cattle—allow ample time for regrowth between grazings. Such a system of rotation grazing maintains vigorous plants while providing rest periods for building good root systems.

Use surplus forage as hay or silage, advises Trew. Instead of wasting large portions of lush spring growth, efficient producers will store it for winter use or possible summer drought. Adequate feed reserves supplement good pasture management, he adds.

Properly-timed moving means added production of vigorous more palatable pasture plants. Mowing controls undesirable weeds, conserving valuable plant food and moisture! Another benefit of mowing lies in the tendency of this practice to revert maturing plants to a growing, vegetative, more nutritious condition.

No pasture management program is complete without adequate fertilization, declares the specialist. A ton of grass hay contains about 30 pounds nitrogen, 10 pounds phosphoric acid and 30 pounds potash, he points out, and legume hay contains about 30% more. A soil test will determine the type and amount of fertilizer needed.

Cattle grazing on lush, fast-growing pasture need some dry hay. Meet these dry matter requirements by providing hay racks, Trew advises, or by leaving mowed strips in the pasture for cattle to use as needed.

Time for Someone To Make a Move: Will Lawmakers Act, Asks Writer

By...FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, Tex.—I'm not sure whose move it is in Duval County, but I get the feeling it's time for somebody to play his hole card.

I have just returned to deep south Texas after several months in New York and Hollywood in New York negotiating with Random House about a book on Duval County and in Hollywood writing a motion picture with my collaborator, Franz Rosenwald, on the same fascinating subject.

Now that I'm back, I'm wondering about three things. First, what the Texas Legislature will do with the opportunity it has to plug up the loopholes in the law that made this political jungle possible—this place where the strong have lived off the weak and shouted their defiance to the world "I'll come back to this."

Second, I'm wondering about the man Parr himself and a couple of his old friends, one of whom says he is Parr's enemy while the other says he hardly knows the man at all.

Parr is different nowadays. "Plumb crazy" according to several people in this sun-baked county that slithers in oil. A few months ago Parr paid a big fine for waving a carbine and threatening to kill Thomas Molina in the dim halls of the Duval court house. He was put under a $7,500 peace bond.

But a few weeks ago he again pulled a pistol out of the glove compartment of his car and stuck it under the nose of Eloy Ramirez. Another conviction for gun-throwing could cost him that $7500. The only reason anybody can figure out for his brashness is that Eloy refused to shake hands with him in Angelina's cafe.

The Duke has always been a gun-waver, but now they say he waves it with a more deadly vehemence.

Parr doesn't look good, either. He has gone bankrupt, and he is intermittently on trial in Houston on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The trial has started three times. The first ended with one man hanging the jury, and since then two juries have been spoiled by the discovery of an unqualified juror in the bunch.

Parr hates a lot of men, and his hatred seems to obsess him. It centers on District Attorney Sam Burris, now that John Ben Shepperd has left the Attorney General's Office and gone into business in West Texas.

Burris is the symbol of all Parr's troubles. He is the bulldog of the law that won't let go, even though the Duke has lost his fortune, his political power, his prestige, everything Burris still gets help from the state, but it was John Ben Shepperd who started tearing down the Duke's feudal empire, and it was Burris who helped him Duval residents say the Duke can't talk about anything but Sam Burris.

The Peripatetic Pals
But about those friends of Parr's. This is what really prompted me to add this article to the series of 11 which Franz Rosenwald and I wrote recently. They were distributed by the Texas Press Association, and published by some 250 dailies and weeklies in Texas with a readership covering more than half the state. Since so many people are listening, I want to add a little to what I said.

Recently Dan Tobin, an able and personable young man who was once a Parr stalwart but who turned against the big boss, has been running around the state palsy-walsy with a long-time Parr crony named Thomas Y. Pickett. The junkies to Dallas and other places, were to raise money from the oil companies to get Duval County out of its current financial jam. Judge Tobin, by the way, is under indictment because of his past association with the Parr machine.

drawn on the Duval County general fund, all made out in Parr's own handwriting, and all made out either to Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. or to Thomas Y. Pickett personally.

Most of the checks are in the amount of $1,000 and the endorsements on these are correct, each check stamped on the back Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. and each deposited in the company's account.

Two of the checks, however, stand real scrutiny. They're not piddling little $1,000 items. They are for big money. And they don't bear the Pickett company rubber stamp, indicating that they didn't go through the company account.

One of these checks, dated simply June, 1951, and not signed by the County Judge as required by Texas law, is for $5,500. This check is number 544.

The other check, number 17, is dated July, 1952. It is for a whopping $6,500. And this one wasn't signed by the County Judge as required by law.

The harder up the county gets financially, the more they dig around in the old records. And the more they dig around in the old records, the more odd-looking checks they turn up with funny endorsements.

As I said, Dan Tobin and Thomas Y. Pickett have been running around the state trying to tap the oil companies for a little financial assistance to the county. Tobin split with the Duke some time back, and Pickett says he hardly knows the man. Maybe they're both smart. A lot of the Duke's old friends have found themselves in trouble.

The Cause of Corruption in Texas
Which brings me to the third thing I've been wondering about. What is the Texas Legislature going to do about plugging the gaps in the law which John Ben Shepperd said make situations like Duval County possible?

I've read several articles in national magazines about the corruption in Texas on the state level. I've been in and out of Texas, studying Texas laws and lawbreakers and writing a book and a movie script, for about 10 months now. In my humble opinion the corruption in Texas starts right down at the grass roots, in the counties and the little towns. And it starts with the outmoded Texas Constitution and the lack of adequate statutes to enable people at the county level to keep things clean. Your primary trouble, Texan, is not in Austin.

Twice in as many legislative sessions the Texas Press Association has laid a stack of proposed bills in front of the lawmakers, incorporating a number inspired by Shepperd's findings in Duval County along with others that Shepperd and the TPA have urged "for good government in Texas." These others deal mostly with keeping government meetings open to the public eye, keeping public records public, and requiring the publication of information the people have a right to know.

As John Ben Shepperd put it, "Take any four or five of these proposed new laws and enforce them, and you just can't have a Duval County." There are 15 of them altogether.

I came back to Texas to do some final checking on a few things, including these bills. I have to admit that even with my natural newsman's cynicism, I was a little staggered to find that the Texas Legislature had been in session three months in 1957 and was active six months in 1955—and in all that time only a couple of the bills have struggled through to the Governor's desk for signing into law.

Some of the most important of them are staggering through the legislative halls, not expected to live. Others have had their death blow unless interested citizens raised a protest.

Among the staggering is SB 223, which would make it possible for men who steal public funds to be indicted and prosecuted outside the county of the offense. Such a law would prevent me as I write. All of these are Pickett is a political fixer of no little renown in Texas, a sporting man who, like Parr, loves fast horses. Also like Parr, he once did time for forgetting to pay his income tax.

Pickett is head of Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. of Dallas. His firm holds the tax evaluation contracts for Duval County and for the county's school districts. For tax purposes Duval property is valued at just over $41 million, of which some $36 million represents the valuation of oil and industrial properties, including utilities and railroads.

It's the tax evaluator's job, in this case Pickett, to get the value of county property, and report to the commissioners (including Judge Tobin) who, in turn, set the tax rate. Pickett has held the Duval contract steadily since 1934.

This writer talked to Mr. Pickett in his office in Dallas and later at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin. I promised to print a statement from him exactly as he gave it to me. Here it is, precisely as typed by his secretary: "During the period of 1926-27, and from 1934 to 1950, inclusive, Thomas Y. Pickett and Company were paid total fees from Duval County in the amount of $247,330.66, and not $900,000 as reported in Collier's magazine, which is now out of business. Since 1950 we have had a contract with Duval County and they have paid us $15,000.00 per year."

Note, please, that Mr. Pickett brings up the matter of Collier's magazine. I didn't bring it up. Note, too, that Mr. Pickett makes no mention of his contracts with the Duval school districts, including the notorious Benavides School District from which Parr and his pals are accused of plucking much of their plunder.

Back in June of 1951 Collier's ran an article entitled "Something Is Rotten in the State of Texas" and the writer, Gordon Schendel, brought Pickett into the picture as being buddy buddy with the Duke.

Time magazine in its issue of February 15, 1954, also suggested a close alliance between Parr and Pickett and the story caused quite a sensation in oil circles. "Why, I hardly know the man," Pickett told me. "Oh, I guess I've seen him a couple of times when I've been down in Duval on business."

Mr. Pickett went on to make this interesting observation: "I was the most surprised man in Texas when I read in the papers what had been going on down there."

Okay, let's look at the record. It's a lulu. At Pickett's federal trial for income tax evasion it came out that he had taken $150,000 from W. L. Pearson and Co. of Houston to swing a road bond vote in Hutchinson County.

At Parr's federal trial for income tax evasion it came out that he had taken a $25,000 kick-back from the same W. L. Pearson and Co. on a Duval County road contract. Parr was then County Judge.

The two men, Parr and Pickett, are as alike in some departments as two peas in a pod.

In the multitudinous court actions in the sticky Duval situation much has been made of bank checks, many of them made out to persons both existent and non-existent.

embrozzlers from getting off scot-free by controlling judges, prosecuting attorneys, or grand juries.

Shepperd says this is the most important bill, from the standpoint of criminal law, and he ought to know. To get the Duval County indictments he had to wait for a district judge, a district attorney and a grand jury to be thrown out. SB 223 is in a Senate subcommittee, and its survival looks doubtful.

Another bill buried in a Senate subcommittee where the death rate is high is SB 88. It would forbid holding government meetings in secret, except as provided by law.

SB 31, you might say, has been sent to Death Row. It was referred to the Attorney General for re-drafting, with the intention of killing it. Its purpose is to remove from office any public official who stands on the Fifth Amendment to avoid showing his public records or answering questions which his official actions.

A bill requiring county attorneys to sue for the recovery of unlawfully expended money, with or without the consent of the commissioners court, is also in a Senate subcommittee but has a little better chance of survival. It is SB 224.

A number of others haven't had any torpedoes thrown into them, but the lawmakers' enthusiasm for them is not conspicuous. In fact, the boys are taking their good old easy time, if not actually stalling. Companion bills to those listed above are kicking around in House committees, faring little better than in the Senate, apparently.

I might say right here that the views expressed herein are mine, not necessarily those of the TPA.

Among the 15 "Better Government" bills, I count only two that have passed both houses of the Legislature, and three others that have passed one House only.

Bills which have gone to the Governor for signature open political precinct conventions to representatives of the press, and require a special audit of county records in any county upon a petition of at least 30 per cent of the qualified voters. Both were designed to provide Texans with more adequate knowledge of what goes on in their counties and their state.

Three others have passed either the House or Senate, but not both of the Legislative bodies. Senators okayed SB 131 to require school districts and other political subdivisions to publish annual financial statements; likewise SB 55, a Mandatory Publications Act to assure that public officials will publish the information they are supposed to under present laws. I'm told this one can get through if a few citizens interested in good government will speak up for it to urge its passage through the House.

House members passed HB 199 providing for stopping payments to school districts which, like the notorious Benavides district, fail or to refuse to furnish an audit of accounts.

In fact, just about any of these bills, even the ones that are all but dead and buried in the subcommittees, might pass if a few interested citizens would speak up for them.

So as I head back for Hollywood, I'm going to stick my neck out and offer Texans a little word of advice. I've known Canone and Costello and some of the other big-time boys, and I've been in Europe where I looked on the faces of bigger, better dictators than Boss Parr. But I haven't seen one yet that couldn't be seen stopped by a few good laws, properly enforced.

Texans like their "local autonomy" that peculiar Constitutional system by which every Texas county is an island with a fence around it when it comes to enforcing the law and prosecuting by the TPA are especially designed to accomplish good law enforcement without disturbing that local autonomy. That's the appraisal of John Ben Shepperd, former Attorney General who busted Duval wide open from the inside, without violating anybody's local self-government.

The Eldorado chapter of Future Homemakers of America was represented Friday and Saturday in Dallas at the annual state convention by two members, Myrta Ann Topliffe, Arlene Harris and sponsor, Miss Dana Ray Owens.

The theme of this year's program "Youth Shows the Way Through FHA," was the topic of the two major speeches given by the Rev. John G. Marvin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Denton, and Patricia Koopp, state president of La Vernia. Three parts of Rev. Marvin's speech stressed the fact that it takes two to make a home, economics to run a home, and God to keep a home.
