Bids To Be Called For On 3 Local Road Jobs

The State Highway Department is asking for bids on August 15th for three ranch-to-market road jobs in Schleicher. A formal notice for bids will appear in next week's issue of the Success.

The total mileage of all three jobs comes to a little over 9½ miles, and apparently they are all lumped together in one letting.

(1) One job is a three-mile extension of the Bailey Ranch road which now ends 10½ miles south-west of Eldorado.

(2) The next job is for a little over 6 miles to close the gap in the Reynolds community loop. It starts where the pavement now ends just west of H. A. Belk's, and will continue on west to the Northern Natural pumping station, and then south to the Reynolds school corner where it will connect with the present paved road. This will make an all-paved loop which will serve a large area.

(3) The third project included in this letting amounts to only about one-half mile. But it is inside the city limits of Eldorado and involves a lot of work. When finished the Mertzong highway will come in between the Gulf and Texaco stations instead of at Ed Meador's office where it now intersects No. 277.

J. W. Tigretts Lease Java Junction Cafe

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tigrett have leased the Java Junction on South Divide street from Mrs. Velma Donelson, who has owned it for the past five years and operated the establishment during that period.

Mr. and Mrs. Tigrett will assume operation of the cafe Monday morning. They are moving here from Eden where they operated a cafe.

The Tigretts have moved to the McDonald house in the south part of town. Their daughter, Mrs. Frances Williams and her two girls, have moved to a Riley house. The girls will enroll in the local schools this fall.

The Tigretts plan to add barbecue to the line of plate lunches and short orders which have been served at the Java Junction in the past.

Mrs. Donelson plans to move to Snyder.

sewer and water lines laid, and other city property acquired in order to provide right-of-way for this new route.

Call-Up Of Reservists Could Have Local Effect

President Kennedy's decision concerning immediate mobilization of Texas' 90th United States Army Reserve Div., is not only news to many people; but it is of direct interest to personnel of the Junction-Sonora-Eldorado Troop B of the 15th Cavalry, a component of the 90th, commanded by famed General Earl Rudder, president of Texas A&M College, since they are in effect marking time while awaiting the outcome.

Eldorado Reservists who are affected are as follows: Sp4 Kenneth Love, Pfc Jim Steward, Sp4 Gail Mittel, Sp4 Domingo Pina, Sp4 Jimmy Doyle, Pvt Ronnie Sauer, and Sp4 Jackie Heffernan, formerly of Eldorado and now of San Angelo.

Eldorado Reservists when queried about the possible mobilization didn't have much to say; but their platoon commander, 1st Lt. Arlan F. Fenner, San Angelo, seemed to catch the men's feelings with this comment: "If activation of the 90th Division is deemed necessary by American leaders, I am willing to participate immediately."

Lt. Fenner is a graduate of Texas A&M with a college major in personnel management and is employed by a San Angelo telephone company. He is married and has two children.

Lt. Fenner has been active in United States Army Reserve activities since 1956.

2nd Lt. James G. Kimrey who commands the 2nd Platoon of the Junction-Sonora-Eldorado Troop B was not available for comment at the time since he had been called to Joplin, Missouri, by the death of his grandmother.

Last comment of Sp4 Kenneth Love was that Eldorado-Sonora Reservists stage a multiple drill period Sunday, July 30, at the Sonora Armory.

Miss Mary Hoover, hostess supervisor for Braniff Airways in Dallas, spent Thursday through Sunday, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hoover.

Post Script

Robert McCulloch, resident highway engineer from Sonora, was in our office Monday and reiterated what he told us before: There now remains a gap of only 4.7 miles in the Eldorado-to-Iraan road.

Crockett county has provided the right-of-way and are now engaged in the job of fencing it. Bids will be called for in November on this last gap, and the new route should be open for traffic some time late next spring.

Construction of a bridge over the Pecos river at Iraan is now under way.

—ps—

People moving: Kenneth Rosford has moved here from Sonora to the Ebba Finley house. Mr. Rosford is with Northern Natural Gas.

Henry Jenkins has moved to the Meador Estate house. He has sold his house to Larry Rittenhouse, who plans to move to it this week end.

Douglas Jung, who has been hired as new assistant coach, is expected to move here from Rock-springs to the Riley house on North Main street as soon as Larry Rittenhouse vacates it.

Dr. Dyer has moved to the George Cales house.

—ps—

Lum Davis is clearing ground and running lines for a new residence which will be located a short distance north of his present home.

County Game Warden Bill Works reports that along with all the other bumper crops, the county is going to have a bumper crop of doves this year. Generous amounts of rain and abundant vegetation have provided the birds with all kinds of feed.

Quail have been stocked on many ranches in the county and they, too, are enjoying good living conditions.

He also says they are going to try to make a survey on the deer population, which will likely show a big increase in the county, since the Game Commission "planted" 110 head here about 20 months ago.

—ps—

On every hand come reports about the wonderful crop prospects for Schleicher county this fall.

Farmers who are usually inclined to be cautious and pessimistic are grudgingly admitting that the rains this year couldn't have been any better if they had had the power to turn them off and on. Dryland cotton and feed crops have never been better—pastures have so much grass that everyone is in the market for more stock to graze it.

This year there are about 10,000 acres planted to cotton as compared to about 7,000 last year, and it is optimistically predicted that the yield per acre will hit an all-time high all over the county. Sure, you're not supposed to count your chickens before they're hatched, but we hear it said that this may be the year when the county will gin 9,000 bales and break the old record of 1949, when there were over 7,000.

And another good omen as of now is that insect infestation is very low. No cotton dusting planes have yet been called in.

So—

IF the bugs don't suddenly get bad—

IF we don't have hail—

IF we don't get too much rain—

IF we don't get too little rain—

IF we don't get a lot of rain during harvest—

IF some other darn thing don't happen we hadn't thought of—

THEN we're due to have the biggest dog-gone cotton crop you ever saw!

"Yeah, but the bottom may drop out of the prices—have you ever thought of that? And if it doesn't, how you gonna pay the income tax?"

LEGION INSTALLATION SET

Bev. McCormick Post No. 257 will have installation of incoming officers Thursday, August 3, at 8:00 p.m. Meeting to be held at Memorial Building and all Legion members are requested to be present and bring their families. Homemade cake and ice cream will be served. Plan now for this meeting. More next week.

Week end visitors in the home of J. C. Johnson were his children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson Jr. and son of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Lynn of San Angelo.

Little League Series Won By The Tigers

Cougars Defeat Tigers In First Series Game

One of the best Little League games of the entire season took place last Thursday night when the Cougars met the Tigers in the first game of the championship series.

It was the Cougars' game all the way, but both teams played a tight defensive game. The Tigers who have been undefeated thru-out the season were held scoreless for five full innings. In fact, it was 3-up and 3-down most of the time. The Cougars squeezed in one run in the bottom of the first inning, and two more in the second, making it 3 to 0, and the score stood that way until the fifth. The Tiger pitcher was a little wild and he walked 3 Cougars in the bottom of the fifth. This together with a couple hits enabled the Cougars to run in 3 more scores making it 6 to 0.

In their last time at bat in the top of the 6th, it looked for a minute as though the Tigers were going to start a rally. With two men already out, they brought in one run, but the next one was a put-out.

Robert Alcalá pitched all the way for the Cougars. He had good control and allowed only one base on balls. J. Halbert pitched the first 3 innings for the Tigers and Steve Whitten, two. They gave the Cougars 7 bases on balls.

Second Game Won By Tigers

The second game of the Little League "series" was held Friday, and it turned into a madhouse in the last two innings. For four full innings the Christoval Cougars had the game in the bag, and then threw it away.

Starting the game in the top of the first inning, the Cougars got several hits and 3 bases on balls and wound up by bringing in 6 scores. They picked up another score in the second, making the score 7 to 0 in favor of the Cougars.

The Tigers brought in 2 scores in the bottom of the third, and the Cougars came back with three runs in the fourth. At this point it was 2 to 10 in favor of the Cougars, and it looked like they had it made.

Then came the last of the 5th inning with the Tigers at bat. By that time, Stanley Stafford, the Cougar pitcher, was tired out and he walked five Tiger batters. This along with some inspired hits put the Tigers into a rally and before they were through they had chalked up 9 runs, putting them in the lead 11 to 10.

The Cougars came back strong in the 6th and got 4 more runs, making it 14 to 11. But the Tigers came up and it was another merry-go-round. Soon they tied the score, and then with two out, the winning run came in when the Cougar catcher failed to tag the last runner.

The Tiger pitcher had trouble with control throughout the game and they used three different ones—Don Rogers, Monty Bryant, and Gary Derrick. Stanley Stafford did a good job of pitching for the Cougars until in the 5th inning, when he began to lose control and was replaced by Felix Alcalá.

Tigers Win Series On Saturday Night

Despite an inch of rain which fell in the area Saturday morning, the third game of the Little League series was played Saturday night between the Christoval Cougars and the Eldorado Tigers.

The Cougars made an encouraging start in the first inning, and were one run ahead at the end of that frame. But the Tigers went on a terrific scoring spree in the second and went so far ahead that it left the Cougars hopeless. The final score was 21 to 5 in favor of the Tigers, and left them an undisputed champions of the League for the year.

New Harkey Humble Station Off To Good Start

SHOWN HERE is Bennie Harkey's new Humble service station which is located at the intersection of the Sonora and Big Lake highways.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Harkey report a gratifying turn-out at the formal opening of their new Humble station last Saturday, despite the fact that the day saw about an inch of rainfall here.

Visitors registered throughout the day for three special prizes which were awarded as follows:

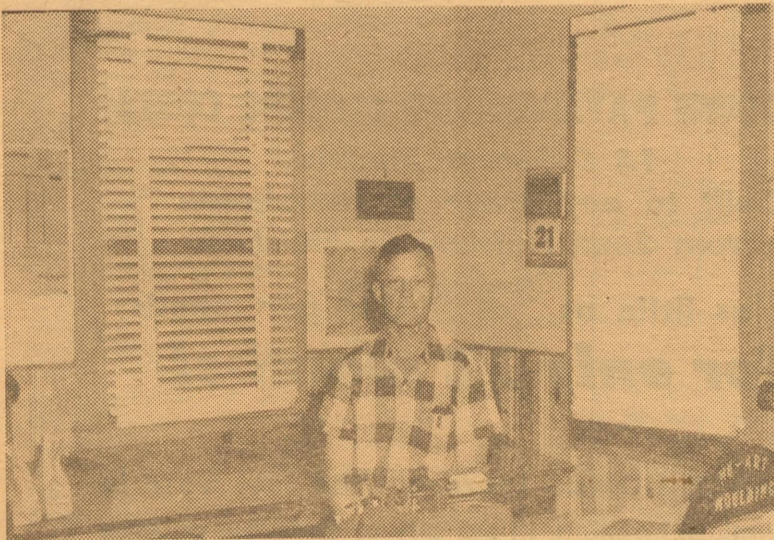

A redwood picnic table went to Mrs. H. L. Hazelwood; the barbecue grill was won by Mrs. Lige Chrestman; and the Scotch cooler went to Mrs. Thomas Baker.

The new station is located at the intersection of Hwy. 277 and the Big Lake highway. The location was chosen in anticipation of increased traffic at this point when the through west highway will be opened to Iraan next year.

Clayton Porter has been placed in charge of the new station and his assistant is Clyde Thackerson. Mr. Harkey will continue to operate his uptown station and the Humble wholesale department.

'Cimarron' To Be Shown Tonight And Tomorrow

"Cimarron," Edna Ferber's novel about the 40-year period in Oklahoma beginning with the Land Rush of 1889 and terminating with World War I, is showing tonight and tomorrow night at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre here in Eldorado.

The wide-screen movie by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is in Metrocolor. It joins the other two Ferber novels which were made into great motion pictures, "Giant," which is about Texas, and "Ice Palace," which concerns Alaska.

The RKO-Wesley Ruggles early talky version of "Cimarron," which was made back in 1931, was so epical in scale that it has not been re-made until now. The early version starred Richard Dix and Irene Dunn. The novel was published in 1929.

"Cimarron" turns on the land rush of 1889. They tell us it was a spectacular scene in life. To reproduce it is something to use up all the resources of a film studio.

Thousands of settlers were lined up at the boundary of the strip. There was a volley from an Army squad. Horsemen and drivers of wagons, stage coaches and poor folks on bicycles swarmed across the plains.

Carts overturned, axles snapped, riders were thrown. Some were trampled. Many, who played by the rules, found coveted sections of land already staked by the "toosooners" who had sneaked in. Toosooners was shortened soon to Sooners, a nickname still worn with pride in our adjacent state to the north.

In the new Cimarron, this spectacular sequence, involving 3,000 persons, 700 horses, 500 covered wagons all on location in Arizona, is seen early.

It was a fast and furious episode which is part of Edna Ferber's sentimental fiction guide to the United States. Texas and Alaska were to get the treatment later.

"Cimarron" settles down, though to a subtly psychological winning of the West, with Vienna-born Maria Schell, Glenn Ford, Anne Baxter, Arthur O'Connell (with mustache), Mercedes McCambridge (with mastery of an earthy manner), Henry Morgan, Lili Darvas, Edgar Buchanan, Mary Wickes, Russ Tamblyn, and Broadway's superb David Opatoshu.

Glenn Ford plays the squint-eyed hero, Yancey Cravat. He rode into the land-rush in a mood of high adventure. When tricked out of his valley by a hard-boiled ex-mistress (Anne Baxter), he merely shrugs his shoulders and establishes a newspaper.

A bustling metropolis of Osage grows up around him. The Osage Wigwam ("the truth shall keep you free") runs to fat special sections and soon grows out of its shack and prints daily and Sunday in a skyscraper.

Yancey Cravat has gypsy feet and an acute sense of ethics. Between the two he gets nowhere except in the center of trouble. Domestic memories are limited to an ecstatic honeymoon and one child. Thereafter, Yancey's gently-reared "foreign" wife, Sabra, sees little of him. He may be the nominal publisher of the Osage Wigwam but it was Sabra who puts it out and moves it into an 8-story building.

O'Connell has a splendid role, that of an impoverished farmer who becomes an oil tycoon and didn't get that way by being fair and square with the Indians.

The Newburgh Story

The recent announcement from Newburgh, N. Y., a city of 30,000, on the Hudson, that it is cracking down on deadbeats and chiselers who live on relief money from welfare agencies, is timely and should inspire other cities to follow suit.

Newburgh, which spends a third of its $3 million annual budget on relief for 1400 residents, or 5% of its population, decided it was time to provide some relief to the people who are working and paying the bills.

So, these rules were announced: 1. Welfare payments are to be denied to able-bodied recipients who refuse to work when offered a job.

2. Relief payments for any one family is not to exceed the pay of lowest paid city employees with a family of comparable size.

3. Except for the blind, aged or disabled, any such assistance shall be limited to 3 months out of the year.

4. Hereafter payments to mothers of illegitimate children shall be refused, if they have any more children.

5. No relief to recent residents unless they can prove they were offered a job in the city before they moved to Newburgh.

This is bad news for those who find it easier to collect relief checks than to work. And it is bad news for the unwed mothers who see in new-born children a chance to obtain a fatter relief check each month.

Such practices, which are reported to be quite general over the country, are demoralizing to the recipients and are becoming increasingly distasteful to the public. Only a crack-down can stop the tempo of the trend. Here in Washington, for example, the rate of illegitimacies among Negroes run 265 per 1,000 births. Among whites it is 59 for every 1,000 births. And here, as in Newburgh and most cities, every illegitimate birth adds to the relief check each month.

But Newburgh may be running into trouble. New York's State

Welfare Board warns that the rules may be too strict, and a hearing has been ordered. And the Federal government may crack down on Newburgh by denying a sizeable share of the relief cost because of the restricted rules.

One thing is certain: if state or federal laws interfere with this common sense reform at Newburgh, then it is high time the federal and state laws are changed.

"Why! Mr. Fence?"

If our fences could talk, they would tell us why on one side the taller, better grasses are present, while on the other, only short invading grasses are seen. They would tell us that the way a number of our pastures have been handled in past years, only undesirable plants have been able to make seed. And now that moisture conditions have improved these pastures are turning to needle grass and other undesirable plants. On one side of the fence the short grasses are producing 3,000 pounds of forage per acre while just across the fence the taller grasses are producing 10,000 pounds. This means pastures with taller grasses are furnishing more feed for livestock, plus adequate soil protection. By applying conservation practices such as deferred grazing and proper use, the tall grass will remain on the land. Remember, it's the number of pounds of beef sold that counts—not the number of animals sold.

Calf Weaning Weights

According to "Agricultural Research" information a drop in weaning weights of calves may indicate that rangeland is being overgrazed, even if the cows don't seem to be losing flesh.

This substantiates what we have been saying for quite sometime—you cannot look at the cows and sheep and tell what is happening to the pasture.

Research information has shown that a decline in calf weaning weights may show that a cattleman's range is being overgrazed, even though cow weights do not change enough to indicate a shortage of forage.

This is unusual as it is generally thought that cows reflect overgrazing better than their calves—a deteriorating range should lower a cow's weight before her suckling calf is affected.

But a recent study showed that calf weaning weights varied considerably, depending on the number of acres their dams were allowed to graze. One group was allowed 12 acres per cow. Another group grazed 17 acres per cow, and a third, 22 acres per cow. There were 8-year averages. Actual acres per cow varied, depending on pasture condition.

The condition and weight of the cows remained relatively constant, regardless of the stocking rate.

The study showed that it was easy to relate calf weight and range condition to stocking rates by June 1 each year—before grass could be injured from overgrazing.

Weaning weights averaged 404 pounds for calves from cows grazing on 12 acres each. Calves from the 17 acre cows weighed 481 pounds and those from cows grazing 22 acres each, 512 pounds.

Also calf crop percentages were higher for cows allowed more than 12 acres. Cows on 17 acres averaged 92% crop; those on 22 acres averaged 89%. On the 12 acres-pre-cow pasture, fewer calves were produced—an 81% crop.

Pastures grazed at 12 acres per cow were severely weakened from overgrazing. Forage production was 912 pounds per acre, while yield from pastures supporting a cow every 22 acres averaged 1,102 pounds.

Lendon R. Parker, senior at Texas A&M college, majoring in range management, in the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District, this week is receiving training in agronomic practices with the local Soil Conservation Service personnel.

Parker is originally from Kerrville and is a student trainee for this summer, at Junction. He plans to finish college this year and after graduation seek a career with the Soil Conservation Service.

Good Conservation Work

Some conservation practices being carried out by different landowners during the year are as follows:

Deferring Pastures. Otis Deal, Clay Atkins, Buck Atkins, Dick Bearce, Richard Vancourt, Bill Blaylock, Truett Stanford, Walter Pope, Duncan Wilson, Pete Parker and Lavelle Meckel.

Crop Residue Utilization. A. P. Thigpen, Clemens Sauer, Harold Ensminger, and Clyde Cheatham.

Terraces and Diversions Constructed. Ello Wilde, P. S. Dudley, and Kathleen Crosby St. Clair.

 Undenominational

CARL BRECHEEN

Many express confusion today over the various denominations. "Can I be a Christian without belonging to a denominational church?" they ask.

In the early days of Christianity there were no denominations as they now exist. The early followers of Jesus Christ were simply called Christians (Acts 11:26), and collectively "churches of Christ" (Rom. 16:16). Both mean "belonging to Christ." Religiously, the apostles Paul, Peter, and John were neither protestant, Catholic, nor Jew. They were only Christians.

These apostles, as well as all other saved, were undenominational Christians. This term should not be confused with ideas of interdenominational or all-denominational Christianity. They did not approve those of their day who tried to create division within the church which would have resulted in denominations. Instead they strongly condemned such action by saying "Let there be no divisions among you." (1 Cor. 1:10-13). Their allegiance was to Christ and to him only. They were just Christians—simply those who were followers of Christ.

Yes, you can be an undenominational Christian just as in the early days of the church by following only the teaching of the New Testament.

Highway Vandalism Is Criticized In Magazine

Austin.—Fortunately for those of us who respect clean highways, attractive parks and recreation areas, and the rights of others, the percentage of people who keep cleanup crews busy is small. What an ugly appearance our great state would have if all its citizens were as thoughtless and irresponsible as the few who dirty up our roads and recreation areas. These are the sentiments of Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission, in his editorial in the July issue of Texas Game and Fish.

"There are too many immature, irresponsible people who wilfully and maliciously set about to destroy," wrote Dodgen. "Some seem to do it for the mere thrill. Others perhaps think it smart. A few may do it for personal benefit. Whatever the motivation, there is no place for ruthless and needless vandalism anywhere."

Some typical examples of vandalism mentioned are shooting at mailboxes and signs; the destruction of trees, shrubs, and flowers; breaking out windows in public places, and vacant houses; or writing names on walls, carving them into utility poles, and shooting insulators of telephone and power lines.

Beaches are left littered with bottles, melon rinds and unused food scraps. There are actually drivers who will toss bottles and cans out their windows, as well as tissues and papers.

"Unfortunately," writes Dodgen, "the guilty ones probably won't be reading the editorial. But, you may be able to help by reporting the next act of vandalism you see. After all, it's your property they are destroying."

Turkeys On August Plentiful Foods List

College Station—Turkeys star in summer meals as well as in autumn meals because marketings are as large this August as around Thanksgiving in yesteryears.

This is pointed out by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in announcing that turkeys top the list of August plentiful foods prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

With turkey marketings running a fourth or more larger than last August, prices hover near a record low, making turkey a bargain meat.

Local supplies of peaches, cantaloupes and watermelons as well as many summer vegetables are generous enough to rate USDA's plentiful tag this month. Shipments of eating plums from California are running much larger than usual for this season. Other foods in better than normal August supply include eggs and shrimp—fresh, frozen and canned.

After checking local and national food stocks, USDA's agricultural marketing service compiles this monthly plentiful foods list to help farmers market more of their produce through normal trade channels, and to help consumers make better use of America's agricultural abundance.

Laying Flock Hints For Hot Weather

College Station.—Hens, like a lot of people, slow down when the temperature climbs. This slow down, says Bill Cawley, assistant extension poultry husbandman, results in a drop in egg production, lower income for the producer and fewer eggs for consumers.

Hens perform best when the temperature ranges between 55 and 75 degrees F. Egg production takes a noticeable dip when the thermometer hits 80 degrees and many hens will die when the 100 and above mark is reached.

But Cawley says flock owners can do something about the weather in this case. Here are his suggestions: give the hens plenty of cool, clean water and a continual flow waterer is recommended; all sides of the house should be open to permit cross ventilation; exhaust or circulating fans will aid in air movement; all vegetation within 50 feet of the poultry house should be kept mowed and grass around the houses will cut down on heat from reflection; a fine mist of water sprayed on the house roof will reduce temperature through evaporation; actually spraying the birds on extremely hot days with a garden hose will pay; if the roof on the house is a dark color, a coat of whitewash is a good investment.

Also avoid built-up litter during the hot months. Use only about two inches of floor litter. Use lights at night to encourage water and feed consumption and using pelleted feeds will increase consumption and help improve egg production.

Surprise Farewell Party

The centerpiece consisted of a doll in a miniature swing surrounded by lavender dahlias and purple sweet peas. The doll was dressed in lavender.

Joan is to move with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Doyle, to Iran in about three weeks.

The program was brought by a guest speaker, Martha Irene Nixon, who is a deaconess in charge of Centro Cristiano in Chihuahua, Mexico. She showed pictures and discussed her work in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sebesta and son, Michael, are vacationing in Corpus Christi, Caldwell, and Austin.

Health Letter

This time of year mothers begin to get slightly frantic with all the details of getting children ready for school. Especially frantic are mothers who have small children who will begin school for the first time.

There is more to be done than meets the eye. There are shots to be administered, clothes to buy, teeth to be checked health examinations, and birth certificate copies to be arranged for.

Most school districts require proof-of-age for children beginning school. The most convenient proof for most parents is a copy of the child's birth certificate.

Such copies are available from local registrars, county clerks, or from the Texas State Department of Health's Records and Statistics Section.

Certified birth certificate copies may be obtained by sending one dollar ($1.00) to the Texas State Department of Health at 410 East Fifth Street in Austin.

Along with the dollar, the child's name, place and date of birth, and the parents' names should be included to speed the records search.

Thousands of birth certificate requests are processed each week in the Austin facility. However, during the late summer months the load increases substantially because of the many extra requests from parents with children beginning school.

The work load has been extra-heavy this summer because of the pending raise in birth certificate copy rates from $1.00 to $1.50 effective September 1, 1961. Many Texans are trying to beat the deadline.

For this reason authorities recommend that parents make their requests early enough to insure delivery in time for school. Ordinarily, about a week is required including mailing time.

So mother should take a hint, and get those certificate requests mailed off early, in addition to the million-and-one other details she must attend to before school starts.

Nearly 300,000 children will be entering Texas schools for the first time this year. (A feature from Public Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health).

ATTEND BAKER FUNERAL

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral last week of Mrs. W. E. Baker, 92, were the following:

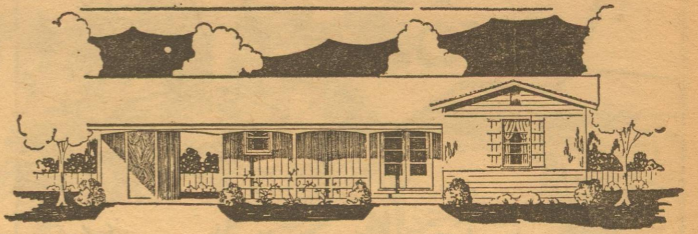

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ratliff, Mrs. Lila Wall, Mrs. R. D. Mayfield, Mrs. J. W. Hoover, Lesa and Jay Don; Mrs. Ike Verfurth; all of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie V. Baker, El Paso;

Mrs. Cecil T. Harmon, Sherman; Mrs. John Gorczyński and Marsha, Mrs. W. E. Hord and Sally, Mrs. Henry Leach, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chick, Ballinger; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Ratliff, Herrin Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Phillipis, San Angelo.

Mrs. Baker was preceded in death by six children. One son, Fred Baker, passed away December 31, 1940. The others died in childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Isaacs and children of Carlsbad, New Mexico, were recent overnight guests of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Isaacs, and of his brother, Kenneth Isaacs.

By Dayton Kelley
Mary Hardin-Baylor College
Belton, Texas

Quite a furor was stirred up among readers of this column by the story we did three weeks ago which referred to the Confederate flag as "The Southern Cross" and related the incident of Barbara Frietchie who defied General Stonewall Jackson's troops by displaying the Union flag.

Dozens of readers said they had never seen the Confederate flag pictured in the old drawing which illustrated the incident made famous by John Greenleaf Whittier's poem "Barbara Frietchie." Some asked if the incident really occurred and others found references to the Confederate emblem as "The Southern Cross" and sent them along to us.

A Dallas reader turned up one of the most intriguing clues regarding the name "The Southern Cross" and quotes from a book entitled Secret History of the Confederacy by Edward A. Pollard: "... and, as if by magic a new flag, the symbol of the Southern Confederacy, appeared on the Capitol, appeared on all the hills of Richmond, in the windows of houses, in the hands of passengers in the street. Cannons were fired around it, giddy crowds saluted it ... not quite four years later through the same thoroughfare reaching from hill to hill, following step by step, the route of the torchlight procession of 1861, passed the Federal Army, the line of conquering bayonets; and at the same convenient standpoint of the Exchange Hotel, where orators had inflamed the bearers of 'The Southern Cross' and pointed to flags that would float over Washington in thirty days ..."

The Confederate flag with the stars in the form of a cross may have been another version of the "Bonnie Blue Flag" but it is doubtful that it would have been used at the time of the Frietchie incident in September of 1862 because he famous "Stars and Bars" was used almost exclusively after First Manassas.

There is very strong, almost unimpeachable evidence that the incident described so vividly by Whittier in his poem never occurred. Henry Kyd Douglas who wrote the book I Rode With Stonewall flatly denies it. Douglas states:

"... and as for Barbara Frietchie, we did not pass her house. There was such an old woman in Frederick, in her ninety-sixth year and bedridden. She never saw Stonewall Jackson and he never saw her. I was with him every minute he was in the town, and nothing like the patriotic incident so graphically described by Mr. Whittier in his poem never occurred ..."

In addition, Valerius Ebert, a nephew of Barbara Frietchie, agrees with Douglas and stated that his aunt, almost ninety-six years old, was confined to her bed at the time.

Grady T. Turner of 8425 Creekwood Drive, Dallas, wrote of his visit to the Frietchie home in Frederick, Maryland, which is now a tourist spot, and said that he had a hazy recollection of checking into the authenticity of the story and recalled that efforts after the Civil War to establish the truth of the story indicated it was just a case of poetic license.

He remembered that there was some correspondence between someone and The Atlantic Monthly where Whittier's poem first appeared and between a third party and Whittier concerning the basis for the poem. Mr. Turner says that as he recalled it, Whittier's reply to the inquiry was one of those that when you have finished reading it you ask yourself, "Did he say yes or did he say no?"

Two other readers who found references to the Confederate flag by the name "The Southern Cross" were Mrs. John F. Suter of 1720 Hemphill Drive in Dallas and Dr. T. H. Peterson of Mineola.

What Is 4-H?

County Wide Meeting August 1, Memorial Building, 9:30 a.m.

Letters to 113 boys from ages 9-12, and their parents will be in the mail this week to boys of junior 4-H age who have never attended or joined the 4-H club. In addition some 40 junior members will attend this meeting and help orientate the new members.

Parents of all the Junior members are welcome to attend this meeting. The understanding of how to work as a 4-H member with parents, adult leaders and county extension workers is the key to success of a 4-H club program.

4-H club work is the youth phase of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. 4-H club work is voluntary and there are no dues. It is not a school subject. To become a 4-H club member, an individual must be between the ages of 9 and 21, must want to be a member, must know about 4-H club work and what is expected. 4-H members learn improved practices in Agriculture, home economics and related fields by carrying on a 4-H result demonstration which is chosen by the club member and his family with the advice of adult leaders and county Extension agents.

There are more than two million 4-H members in the United States and more than 100,000 in Texas. Organizations similar to 4-H also exist in 52 foreign countries.

The four-leaf clover is the accepted emblem. The letter "H" on each leaf stands for Head, Heart, Hands, and Health. This emblem is protected by the United States Department of Agriculture copyright.

The 4-H colors are green and white.

The 4-H prayer is "Help me, O Lord, to live so that the world may be a little better, because Thou didst make me. Amen."

4-H members live by their Motto and Pledge: In support of the 4-H Club Motto, "To Make the Best Better," I Pledge:

- My Head to clearer thinking
- My Heart to greater loyalty
- My Hands to larger service and
- My Health to better living for my club, my community, and my country.

4-H parents plus adult 4-H leaders plus county Extension agents, added to interested 4-H members equal useful citizens. This is the 4-H Club team. You are an important part of this team.

The fields of activities in which 4-H boys of Schleicher county have selected in the past are:

- Registered cattle
- Registered sheep
- Fat lambs
- Fat calves
- Wool and mohair
- Grass identification
- Soil and water conservation
- Livestock judging
- Citizenship training
- Electrical contests
- Leadership
- Health
- Entomology
- Field crops
- Safety

Recreation and other phases of work essential to development so necessary in relationships with other people.

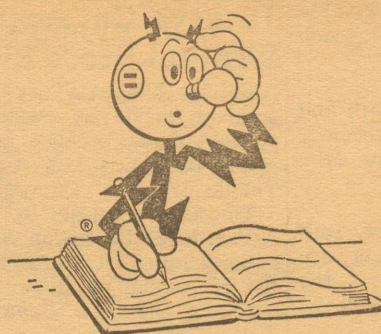

These activities are conducted on a county, district, area and state basis, and include tours, representation of the county 4-H club on a district and state basis.

All will be fully explained at the meeting Tuesday morning.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS
In homes served by WTU, the average cost of a KWH of service is 20% less than it was 10 years ago.

Beg pardon, lady, but aren't you enjoying the big reason why?

OVER there in the window. Isn't that air conditioner new this summer? Naturally, every time you get some new electric servant you use more electricity. Naturally, your bill will be a little higher. But remember these two facts about the electric service you now enjoy: First, you do use more electricity for the simple reason that it's about the most efficient and dependable servant you can get! Second, the more electricity you use, the less you pay for it per average kilowatt-hour. Can you think of a bigger bargain?

Austin.—House members burned midnight oil in an effort to get a tax bill to the Senate before the mid-point of the brief 30-day session.

In the long, long sessions and seemingly endless succession of approaches, amendments, substitutes and substitutes for the substitutes, it was often difficult to tell who was winning what. Show-down votes indicated that it is still easier for the members to agree on what they don't want than on what they do.

Rejected, at least for the time being, was a package bill recommended by the Revenue and Taxation Committee. Its main money-raiser was a sales tax, with exemptions, on items costing $5 or more. It also included more utilities taxes, natural gas taxes, a transfer of funds from the permanent school fund, a revised franchise tax and a bookkeeping transfer.

Also turned down were proposals for a 4% corporate income tax by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston and a 1% general sales tax by Rep. Tom Andrews of Aransas Pass.

Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger chairman of revenue and taxation, was pushing for a package bill that closely tracked Gov. Price Daniel's recommendations at the beginning of the session. It differed from the committee-written package chiefly in that it included a Pennsylvania-type sales tax, applying only to items listed in the bill.

Despite the House problems, an August 8 finish may still be possible. Senate, generally, is swifter and more nearly of one mind on money matters. It agreed on a tax bill in the regular session in approximately one-third the time spent by the House.

Hardest part is getting agreement on one plan from both House and Senate—and finally—from the governor.

Fund Bill Progresses

House has given second reading approval to a bill appropriating $2,527,000,000 for the next two years.

It is slightly higher than the bill passed earlier by the Senate, and eventually differences will have to be worked out by a conference committee of the two houses.

A group of conservatives in the House were foiled—at least temporarily—in an effort to cut the bill by $27,000,000 through economy measures. Among items they felt could be deleted or put off were recarpeting the House chamber and refinishing members' desks for $250,000, adding an office for the governor to the Governor's Mansion for $50,000, installation of a sprinkler system on the Capitol lawn for $20,000 and several other expenses of that nature.

Economy group also wanted to trim back some increases in the bill for salaries and travel expenses for state personnel and eliminate paying legislators a salary for the period between November, 1960, when the annual pay amendment was approved, and the start of the session in January.

School Bills Move

A bill to provide more liberal state aid for sparsely populated school districts has been approved by the House Education Committee.

Rep. Sam F. Collins of Newton is sponsor of the measure which would provide $378,000 to pay for 90 additional teachers in rural areas. Most of the extra teachers would be for Negro schools.

Objectors to the bill said it would perpetuate the problem of having school districts too small to provide a strong school program.

On the other side of the Capitol, the Senate Education Committee gave reluctant approval to a more economical teacher pay raise plan than the Hale-Aikin plan it already had approved. Sent to the floor was a bill by Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi which would give teachers a $600 a year raise this year, $200 more in 1963 and $200 more in 1965. Hale-Aikin provides for $810 a year immediately.

Lobby Bill Debated

A bill to provide additional lobby regulation attracted neither friends nor enemies to a hearing before the House State Affairs Committee.

Pro and con views were presented solely by members of the House before the measure was sent to subcommittee for study. Proposed bill would require lobbyists to file a report showing who received any amount above $50 spent to influence legislation. It would also prohibit a lobbyist's calling a member off the floor during session without advance permission.

Critics declared the legislators didn't need a law to enable them to stay put at their desks if they wanted to.

Best Tax Is No Tax

Citizens for Fair Taxation, an anti-sales tax committee, announced, as expected, that its poll showed a majority against a retail sales tax.

It also seemed to show that the people polled were not very much in favor of any kind of new tax. CFT announced that 78% of those opposed were against a retail sales tax on items of 25 cents or more, and 61 per cent were against selective excise or sales taxes if they hit any of the necessities. Eighty per cent were against a personal income tax.

A majority in the CFT poll favored the abandoned property bill, raising franchise taxes on interstate corporations and a corporation income tax.

Recreation Program Closed Last Week

The summer recreation program under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell came to a close on Monday, July 17 with the annual swimming meet. Stella and Shirley Hubble were presented with awards for perfect attendance for the second consecutive year.

This year's program had a total enrollment of 1294 for six weeks despite several days of bad weather. This is an average of some 48 students per day and 216 per week.

Some of the out-of-town visitors to the program were: Marilyn and Jeanette Mowrey, Cathy Rogge, Tommie Jean Richardson, Christy Henry, Charlie Henry, Brenda Royster, Sherry Wiedenmann, Christ St. Clair, Bryan Whitten, Gary Harper, Sherri Morgan, Johnny Davis, Annette Furr, Billy Low, Dennis Bryant and Monty Bryant.
