A toll-free telephone number for contacting the Constitutional Convention in Austin is being publicized, with all who want to participate, express views or testify before a committee being invited to use it. Or, if you simply want some information about the Constitutional Convention, they say you may use the number. It is 1-800-292-9600.

Convention leaders say they want active citizen participation in the revision of the 98-year-old Texas Constitution.

This points up the contrast in communication facilities between the drafting of the U. S. Constitution and the present day. When the U. S. Constitution was accepted it was weeks before many citizens knew that such a document even existed, and nobody dreamed that the time would come when people in the remotest area could get in touch almost instantly with those who constructed it.

Even in this modern era, however, there is no perfection. The Dallas Morning News reported the other day that some who dialed the toll-free number at Austin were answered by a recording. We have not received information as to the hours the toll-free telephone is manned, but the assumption is that somebody is on hand to take messages and-or make appointments on a regular schedule.

Many Snyderites have seen a familiar face on network television newscasts this week. It belongs to Roy Baze, a Snyderite who now is a senior vice president of Exxon, Inc., and who has been testifying concerning the energy situation before Sen. Jackson's Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations.

In his testimony, Baze called attention to a factor concerning inventories of oil that has not received widespread attention: The minimum inventory level of about half a billion barrels of crude oil, gasoline and distillates which cannot be consumed because it is required to keep pipelines and storage tanks at minimum operating levels. If the nation's 220,000 miles of pipelines should be bled dry, or should storage tanks fall below operating levels, refineries would have to shut down until the levels could be restored.

Murphy Martin, the Dallas television newsman who served as master of ceremonies at the Billionth Barrel of Oil banquet here last October and at the All America City Award banquet here in 1969, has expressed interest in getting an interview with Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, our next banquet speaker. Martin advised local Chamber of Commerce officials that he would like to arrange for Sen. Inouye to appear on his Channel 8 program, Face to Face With Murphy Martin. It could be taped during a brief stopover in Dallas as the Senator is en route here.——WACIL McNAIR

They are in Snyder as participants in the Lions Club Exchange Program.

25 Boys Perish In School Fire

HEUSDEN, Belgium (AP) — A fire swept through a dormitory of a Roman Catholic boarding school in this small town during the night, killing 25 schoolboys, police said.

A priest raised the alarm, and other priests rushed to the dormitory but the heat and smoke made it impossible to enter.

"Anyone getting in would have never gotten out alive," one fire official said. He said a fireman wearing an oxygen mask and roped to other men had to retreat before the flames.

Police said 47 other boys escaped from the building, possibly through windows overlooking a terrace.

The blaze may have been caused by a youngster smoking in bed and falling asleep, police sources say. The electricity in the building was still working when the firemen arrived.

Most of the victims were asphyxiated in their beds and apparently did not wake up before the flames caught them. Police said rescuers found the charred bodies of the children in the ruins of the red brick building.

A window between the dormitory and an exit staircase was found closed. It could have served as an escape route, but apparently no one tried to open it.

The dormitory building was one of a group of brick, concrete and glass buildings at the School of the Sacred Heart, operated by the St. Francis Brothers.

One source said there were 225 other boarders in the school, but the fire did not spread to their dormitory buildings.

The dormitory that burned was built in 1926 and had three stories. The fire broke out on the top floor, where the boys slept in cubicles, separated from each other by wooden partitions.

The children sleeping on other floors fled by the building staircase.

Local authorities said it appeared the fire caught slowly at first, giving off thick fumes that asphyxiated the children, and then burst into roaring flames that fed quickly on the wooden panels between the beds.

Dirk Huysmans, a 15-year-old boy who attends the school but does not live in, gave this account in a telephone interview:

"It was about 10:45 p.m. I was in a cafe, with friends when we heard firemen from Hasselt, Heusden and Beringen rushing by.

"We decided to follow them immediately. When we arrived at the college, the whole third floor of the dormitory was in flame.

"Firemen rushed in. I think they saved about 100 boys.

"Some were so sound asleep, a fireman told me, that they had to shake them awake almost brutally.

"In a few minutes hundreds of panicky people had arrived, including families of children boarded at the school. Some were screaming and weeping while trying to break through a barrage of state police and firemen, trying to keep them away from the site. Some succeeded in breaking through, rushing toward the three-floor brick dormitory.

Area Is Covered By Heavy Snow

Heavy snow sifted down over wide areas of West and Southwest Texas late Wednesday and more snow, possibly mixed with rain, was in the forecast for today.

The Snyder area had from three to four inches of snow, but it melted rapidly. However, it built up to a depth of three inches or more as huge flakes fell rapidly for a time Thursday night.

Heaviest snow was reported to the Southwest, in the area from Midland to Wink where biggest snow in a quarter of a century fell. As much as seven inches covered the ground throughout that area.

The snowfall in Snyder put .16 inch of moisture in the official gauge at the city water plant.

Heavy clouds continued over the area today. Skies were reported clearing only in the Texas Panhandle, where a little warming was in prospect after another night of freezing weather. The temperatures in the Snyder area remained in the low thirties overnight.

The National Weather Service reported fog mixed with light snowfall dropped visibility below one mile from around Guadalupe Pass east of El Paso southward to Sierra Blanca and Van Horn and eastward past Midland.

Guadalupe Pass itself was closed to highway travel on the north-south route between El Paso and Carlsbad, N.M., and motorists were warned that roadways were icy throughout the mountain areas in Southwest Texas.

The snow belt extended from those areas as far east as the Sweetwater and San Angelo areas and southward past Marfa and Fort Stockton.

Official weather records showed the Midland accumulation was the heaviest since 7.7 inches were measured there for all of January in 1949 and the first measureable amount at Midland since last Feb. 22.

Except for the unaffected Panhandle sector, drizzle, light rain and occasionally heavy thunderstorms cast a damp chill over the rest of the state. Ice crystals were mixed with the rain in some areas from West Central Texas eastward, and the moisture enveloped the eastern half of the state.

Forecasts lled for light rain or scattered showers, with a possibility of snow mixed with it in western sections of the state, to linger through tonight and in some areas Friday.

Temperatures near dawn sagged to 20 degrees at Amarillo, 25 at Dalhart, 27 at Childress and Lubbock, and 31 at Wink.

He married Toni Meduna, Sept. 21, 1921 in La Grange. She survives.

Other survivors include three sons, G. E. (Bobo) Pavlas and Frank, both of Hermleigh and Stanley Lee Pavlas of Bele-Chasse, La.; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

TOO LATE FOR CHRISTMAS—The season's first snowfall made evergreen trees and shrubs look like Christmas trees as the moist, fluffy flakes clung to the branches. The snow melted rapidly as temperatures mostly remained near or just above the freezing mark.

Suspect Is Held Here In Armed Robbery Of Store

An armed robbery case here apparently was solved last night with the arrest of a 25-year-old Snyder man, city police and sheriff's authorities announced this morning.

Police arrested the suspect at 11:49 p.m. in the 3600 block of Avenue N. A complaint was due to be filed sometime today charging him with the armed robbery of the Safeway Store here Monday night.

"This was a smooth team effort between sheriff's authorities and the city police," declared Snyder Police Chief Bill Stone.

Officers recovered $650 believed to have been taken in the Safeway robbery as well as a weapon believed to be that used by the robber.

Stone said officers obtained a search warrant and discovered the weapon after searching a local residence. He said the suspect led them to another residence where they found some money and then led them to a field across the street from the second house where more money was dug up.

Stone said charges in connection with the robbery would be filed later today. He said that members of the police force and Scurry County Sheriff Keith Collier's staff worked closely in the investigation and in the search for money.

Stone said the investigation "is not complete," however, indicating the possibility that others might be implicated.

The robbery of the Safeway Store was reported at about 8:45 p.m. Monday, shortly after it had closed for the day. Two employees of the store, Steve Lewis, assistant manager, and Michael Archie, were in the store at the time, along with a truck driver from Dallas, O. D. Grindele, who was there unloading a shipment.

They reported that a masked man with a gun entered the store, ordered Lewis to take the money from the safe and then forced the trio at gunpoint to get down on the floor as he made his escape. Exact amount of money taken had not been determined.

COUNT MONEY—Police Detective Bill Marvin (left) and Deputy Sheriff Andy Anderson count money believed to be from an armed robbery of the Safeway Store here last Monday night. Some $650 was recovered after the arrest of a 25-year-old Snyder man, who was to be charged today in connection with the robbery. A weapon believed to have been used in the robbery appears at the bottom on the table.

Hearing Held On Tax Suit

District Judge Wayland G. Holt this morning took under advisement a list of exceptions concerning matters of law in the school tax suit filed by SACROC several weeks ago.

Attorneys for the plaintiff and for the Snyder Independent School District participated in a brief hearing in 132nd District Court. Representing the school district was Tom Gordon of the law firm of Brooks and Gordon of Abilene, and Elvin Tackett of Richardson. The oil companies were represented by Frank Harmon and Frank Caton of Baker and Botts of Houston.

The exceptions were raised by the school district after the suit was filed challenging tax values placed on SACROC property in the school district.

Eleven Die In Apartment Fire

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — Eleven persons died early today when fire raced through an apartment house in this southeastern New York community, state police said.

None of the bodies was identified, a trooper said.

He said it was feared other bodies may be discovered.

The fire was in a three-story structure known as the Vogel Building.

Firemen from six communities worked about four hours to extinguish the blaze, which broke out shortly after 5 a.m.

There was no immediate explanation for the fire.

Gyro Caving In

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Mission Control hopes to nurse an ailing gyroscope in the Skylab space station a little longer, but space officials doubt the stabilizing device will recover.

'It's slowly but surely caving in," Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said Wednesday. "It's been in continuous distress throughout the day. Personally, I don't think it will recover."

Even if it failed, Skylab 3 astronauts could remain aloft the final 15 days of the 84-day mission. But scientific experiments would be cut back because spacecraft maneuvers depend on the control device.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson have kept track of the problem but have not expressed concern about it.

The spacemen have had to shift their work schedules because the fluctuating gyroscope has forced cancellation of earth resources surveys the last two days. Such surveys require maneuvering the space station, which would put additional stress on the gyro.

The gyroscope is a 242-pound, computer-operated spinning wheel which holds the 85-ton station steady and aids in maneuvering. Another gyro failed early in the mission after exhibiting the same symptoms.

If the gyro fails, the station automatically would shift to one of two backup control systems which use gas jets to hold the craft on an even keel.

Officials estimate the two systems have enough gas to keep the vehicle aloft for about 24 days, well beyond the planned splashdown date of Feb. 8.

Congress Appears Ready To Act On Tax Request

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears ready to take up promptly President Nixon's request to reduce tax breaks available to U.S. oil companies on their overseas production.

In his energy message Wednesday, Nixon cited two such breaks but not a third.

He asked Congress to eliminate the 22 per cent depletion allowance on foreign production and to cut the foreign tax credit on such business. The credit is the amount of foreign tax they can subtract from their U.S. levies.

Some members of Congress say they also want to eliminate another tax benefit used by the oil firms.

This is the so-called intangibles — the right to deduct in one year all their drilling expenses on a successful well.

Nixon also asked the legislators to ease clean air rules and announced he would budget $1.8 billion for energy research in the next year.

He ordered a tenfold increase in offshore oil leasing for petroleum development and said there would be studies of additional oil and gas pipelines from northern Alaska.

The President repeated earlier requests for mandatory labeling of automobiles and major appliances, to show how efficiently they use energy. And he called for quick passage of an emergency energy bill to authorize gas rationing and other measures.

The tax issues already have arisen in congressional hearings this week.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee chairman, said after a hearing before his panel Tuesday that he would be willing to support eliminating the depletion allowance and intangibles on foreign production.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a committee member, said the foreign credit has helped the giant oil firms reduce their U.S. corporate income taxes almost to zero.

The issues are sure to be raised when the House Ways and Means Committee opens its hearings on excess profits legislation Feb. 4.

Long said failure to deal with these issues over past years have contributed heavily to the nation's energy plight.

The Nixon administration also placed export quotas on gasoline and other key fuel oil products. Several congressmen had criticized export of petroleum products during the energy crisis.

Meanwhile, the American Petroleum Institute reported crude oil imports last week were at their lowest level since early 1973.

Calm, Confident Henley Testifies

HOUSTON (AP)—Elmer Wayne Henley, accused in the Houston mass murders case, testified at a pretrial hearing today that police told him he would have a heart attack, a nervous breakdown and die unless he told them about the case.

For the first time in the hearings, Henley was dressed in a suit and tie. He appeared calm and confident on the witness stand, smoking casually, as he said: "He (police detective David Mulligan) wanted me to tell him about those bodies. He told me I had better tell him about it or I might have a nervous breakdown or a heart attack and die."

Henley, 17, is charged with six of the 27 murders of young boys, killed over a three-year period in what police say was a homosexual torture-murder rampage headed by Dean Allen Corll, 33.

The hearings are being conducted to determine the admissibility of oral and written statements Henley gave police after his arrest Aug. 8.

It was Corll's shooting death the night of Aug. 7 that broke open the bizarre case and led to the arrest of Henley and David Owen Brooks, 18. Brooks is charged with four of the mass slayings.

Henley testified he had been drinking at an orgy at Corll's home the night Corll was slain. He said he, Rhonda Williams, 15, and Timothy Kerley, 22, had been drinking moonshine whiskey and sniffing acrylic paint.

Henley said the after-effects of the paint fumes caused him to black out repeatedly through the night and into the next day.

Henley said he did not remember killing Corll, a death later ruled self defense, and does not remember being warned of his constitutional rights regarding any statements he might give police.

Miss Williams, a buxom brunette, and Kerley had been stripped naked and lashed to a plywood board preparatory to being sexually assaulted by Henley and Corll, officers have quoted Henley as saying.

He said he shot Corll to death just before the sexual assaults were to begin.

Henley testified today Mullican denied him legal counsel and a doctor's care while being questioned.

"I was dependent on Mullican. I needed something to latch onto," Henley said, adding he believed Mullican would not betray him.

His lawyer, Will Gray, said Henley may be the last witness to testify in the hearings.

Fuel, Gas Available At A Price

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — For the right price, more than 12 million gallons of diesel fuel and gasoline are available, but the price may be high, the Arizona Daily Star said in a copyrighted story today.

The newspaper said a reporter who did not identify himself as a newsman had received nine offers of fuel since Tuesday.

The biggest cache is 10 million gallons of regular and premium gasoline stored in river barges in Chicago, according to the Star, which was quoted prices of 40 cents a gallon for regular and 42 cents for premium.

The reporter said he was offered one million gallons of diesel fuel at 48 cents a gallon, f.o.b. New Orleans, on a two-year contract.

Other fuel supplies, according to the Star, are available in Potwin, Kan., Good Hope, La., and Dallas, Tex.

The newspaper reported Wednesday that two Los Angeles firms offered 250,000 gallons of diesel fuel to a reporter.

At one of the firms, Scientific Research Ltd., Dale Born denied any wrongdoing and said he agreed to look for the fuel but did not agree to sell it to the reporter because he didn't know whether the fuel could be located.

Ken Sutton, an Internal Revenue Service information officer in Los Angeles, told the Star the fuel offers would provide a starting point for an IRS investigation.

He said the probe would be turned over to the Federal Energy Office or the U.S. attorney's office if the IRS found evidence of violations of price controls or allocations.

'Old' Cake Sold For 70 Pounds

LONDON (AP) — A 133-year-old piece of Queen Victoria's wedding cake was sold Wednesday at Christie's auction house for 70 pounds — about $150.

The crumbling fragments are still in the original box with the printed label "Queen's Bridal Cake, Buckingham Palace, Feb. 10, 1840."

DA Speaks To Kiwanis

District Attorney Pete Greene gave a talk on the new penal code at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Snyder Noon Kiwanis Club, held Wednesday at the American Restaurant.

He was introduced by Bobby Beard. Greene said that under the new code thefts involving property valued from $50 to $200 will be tried as a misdemeanor now. He said misdemeanors have been divided into three classes. Class A offenses can bring fines of up to $1,000 and or a year in jail. Class B offenses can bring jail terms up to six months and or fines up to $500. Class C offenses bring fines up to $200 and are tried in Justice of the Peace Court.

Greene said the biggest problem he has had is identification of writers of hot checks.

Guests included Bruce Leslie of Austin and Tommy Graves, David Wilson and Ken Galbreath of Snyder.

The meeting was presided over by E. T. (Pat) Patterson, club president.

WHEN WATERGATE HEARINGS RESUME

Rebozo To Be Quizzed On Hughes' Contribution

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $100,000 campaign gift from billionaire Howard R. Hughes and a subsequent reversal of position by the Justice Department to let Hughes buy a Las Vegas hotel are expected to take center stage as the Senate Watergate committee reopens hearings next week.

Sources said the donation, which was held and later returned to Hughes by President Nixon's friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, came as Hughes was seeking approval to purchase the Dunes hotel and casino.

The Justice Department's antitrust division had blocked the purchase, but sources said then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell overruled the division after a meeting with Hughes aide Richard G. Danner.

But the sources added that the Senate investigators have been unable to prove Mitchell knew about the $100,000 gift and they pointed out that the hotel purchase plan later fell through for other reasons.

Deputy Counsel Rufus Edmisten said Rebozo will be among the witnesses called in next week's hearings.

The sources said there is also a good chance that Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer and campaign fund raiser, would be recalled to discuss receipt of a donation from the dairy industry in 1969.

The decision to reopen the committee hearings after two months came Wednesday on a 4-3 party line vote.

The committee, noting that Nixon had never responded to its various requests for a meeting with him, also renewed its request for a face-to-face meeting.

All three Republican members of the committee urged shutting down the probe. Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said he wanted the investigative files turned over to the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the possible impeachment of the President.

The committee also voted to:

—Seek a limited extension of its authority beyond the Feb. 28 cutoff date set by the Senate to pursue its court suits to obtain White House documents.

—Present a report on Feb. 28 but to leave open the option of filing a final report later, depending on developments.

—File written questions with the President and make these questions public, if Nixon does not agree to meet with the committee.

Sources told The Associated Press that previously unpublished material expected to be brought out during the hearings includes evidence that Mitchell, against the advice of antitrust chief Richard McLaren, gave Danner the go-ahead for the Dunes acquisition at a meeting March 20, 1970.

McLaren, the sources said, was not aware that he had been overruled until he received a memorandum from then-FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover expressing concern that Danner, Hughes aide Robert Maheu and attorney Edward P. Morgan — all formerly connected with the bureau — were participating in the proposed Nevada venture.

Hoover reportedly believed it would reflect badly on the FBI if former agents became involved in a major gambling operation.

Preamble, Rights Bill Unchanged

AUSTIN (AP)—Constitution writers relied today on time-tested language in voting to recommend for the new constitution the preamble and bill of rights in the current constitution.

Not a single word was changed in the preamble or the bill of rights—Article I of the Constitution—which sets out basic rights, such as, "Equality under the law shall not be abridged because of sex, race, color, creed, or national origin."

Most of the provisions were written in 1875.

The provisions were approved by a vote of 15-0 by the committee on rights and suffrage. Six members were absent for the historic vote, the first by any committee on any proposal.

The full Constitutional Convention is expected to consider the preamble and bill of rights next Thursday.

The preamble states that, "Humbly invoking the blessings of Almighty God, the people of the State of Texas, do ordain and establish this Constitution."

Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, said, "I think the people of Texas are quite proud of their religious heritage... It's one of the things that has made Texas great."

The Texas Civil Liberties Union has declared its opposition to inclusion of the reference to God in the preamble.

The education committee was told by Jane Wells, State Board of Education member from Austin, that the board should be entirely elected. The Constitutional Revision Commission has proposed that the 24-member board should be increased by four members appointed by the governor.

"How would you feel as representatives and senators if you had 20 members of your body appointed by the governor?" she asked. Some would "wonder whether they would be reappointed" if they took positions opposite to the governor's, she said.

In Wednesday's testimony, a Houston lawyer representing industrial clients said it was needless to authorize citizen suits against polluters in the State Constitution.

"Legally, I don't think it's necessary," Hugh Patterson told the General Provisions Committee.

Red Author Branded Traitor

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda started printing letters today branding Alexander Solzhenitsyn a traitor and kept alive the wave of denunciation of his book "Gulag Archipelago."

The leading letter was from Konstantin Simonov, the best known writer to join the chorus condemning Solzhenitsyn. Although he was awarded six prizes for his plays, novels and poetry, Simonov later criticized the "personality cult" of the late dictator, Joseph Stalin.

Simonov's letter was mild compared to the rest of those published. He said the Jan.14 Pravda article that marked the real opening of the campaign gave "a correct political estimation of the path covered by Solzhenitsyn in these years."

Alexei Maresyev, a Soviet war hero, said "only a maniac who has gone mad from hatred, a man without kinship and breeding can in such a mocking tone speak of the heroic deeds of our people during the great patriotic war," and that Solzhenitsyn has "fully unmasked himself as a traitor of the motherland."

Laymen's Astronomy Class Set

What is astronomy?

Are astronomy and astrology the same?

These are two of the many questions to be answered in a new Community Service course starting tonight in the planetarium at Western Texas College.

The course is titled "Astronomy for the Layman" and it will serve as an introduction to astronomy for those who have limited knowledge of astronomy.

The class will meet at 7 o'clock each Thursday night for 10 weeks with Mickey Schmidt, planetarium director, as instructor. Persons wishing to enroll for the course are to call the Community Service office at extension 237 or meet the class tonight in the planetarium.

Topics slated for discussion during the course include the shape, size, age and origin of the earth and the sun, the relationship between the earth and the moon, how scientists study the sun and determine its temperature, conditions currently believed to exist on the planets, the nature of stars and the reasons for variations in their brightness, why stars occur singly, in pairs or groups, the great clouds of gasses believed to form stars and galaxies which are the greatest assemblage of matter known, cosmology (or theories concerning the evolution of the entire university), seasonal constellations and where to look for them, the nature of light and how it is produced, and the kinds and uses of telescopes.

Rome's eight-week, open-air opera season at the Baths of Caracalla attracted 100,000 spectators last summer, 80 per cent of them foreign tourists.

Mrs. Ray Summers, Speaker At AAUW

The American Association of University Women met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Glen Holloday, with Edna McConnell and Bernice Felton hosting the assemblage. Jane Block gave the invocation which was the club's beautiful collect written for publication by a long time member.

Mrs. Ray Summers presented the program in the form of a travelogue of a recent tour of the forty-ninth state, Alaska. She and her husband spent seven weeks of sightseeing in the area. The speaker enhanced the presentation by showing colorful slides with detailed comments. She stopped occasionally to answer pertinent questions asked by members concerning the tour.

The speaker not only gave an insight into the life style of the people but also the grandeur of the countryside. In speaking of the awe inspiring glaciers she stated that they were a deep blue and gave off radiant sparkles when the sun penetrated through the low spreading clouds. The beautiful streams with their schools of fish and rumbling waterfalls came in for quite a discussion as well as the local flowers and wild animals of the forest. Mrs. Summers also gave a resume of the largest city, Anchorage. It was the concensus of the members and guest that the program had been interesting and informative.

Mrs. Holloday, president, presided for the business session. She presented Pam Smith, a student at Western Texas College, the organization's scholarship. She expressed her thanks and gave her aspirations. Membership in the Retarded Children's Association was completed. Also the Scurry County Work Center was minutely discussed. Members were asked to save their newspaper for the workshop and to contribute trading stamps toward the purchase of the long needed van. It was noted that the half-way mark for the purchase of the van had been reached through the benevolence of many civic, educational and divine organizations and various interested citizens throughout the country. Funds must be raised to pay in full when the van is delivered, if at all possible. Some members have been working diligently on the project.

The next meeting will be in the home of Elizabeth Jenkins, 507 Thirty-third street and the program will be given by Wacil McNair, with the topic "Freedom of the Press," a most timely subject and one often discussed in today's world.

Girl Scouts To Begin Sale

The dates for the 1974 Cookie sale are January 25 through February 9. All West Texas Council Girl Scouts will begin selling cookies Friday January 25th, at 4 p.m. The girls will be selling the Family Size box in four flavors: Chocolate Mint, Assorted Sandwich; Peanut Butter and Butter Shorties.

The cookies are $1.00 per box of which 59c is profit for the local council. Money earned is used to finance the Girl Scout camping program, to support council properties, to help girls finance their troop activities and special events, such as camp attendance and national and international opportunities.

A new patch has been designed for the Scout who sells 42 boxes——It is a Western style cookie design stating, "YAHOO! I SOLD MY 42." The girls may wear this patch on their camp shorts, jacket, hats, back of the Junior badge sash, or on the Cadette vest.

Troop treasuries will earn $1.00 for each carton of 10 boxes that the troop sells. Individual girls can also earn camperships to Camp Boothe Oaks for the 1974 session. Girls selling 80 to 139 boxes will earn ¼ of their camp fee; 140 to 224 boxes will earn ½ of their camp fee; 225 to 299 boxes ¾ of their camp fee; or 300 boxes will earn a full camp fee.

Brownies selling 80 boxes or more will have their way paid to a special camping event to be held for Brownies earning this award.

The council goal is 70,000 boxes. Girls will be selling door to door and in booths in shopping centers and supermarkets for your convience.

Skiers Shoud Excerise Care

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Skiers planning to take camera equipment to the slopes should load film while in the lodge and, once on the slopes, wear the camera inside a parka next to the body to keep it warm.

These practices are a must because "low temperatures can make camera shutters sluggish, slowing down shutter speeds," said Robert Spangler, consumer affairs director for Honeywell Photographic Products.

Spangler said spare rolls of film should also be carried inside the skier's parka because film tends to dry out in cold weather and may break when the camera's shutter is advanced.

"Start out with a fully charged fresh battery, since camera batteries also lose efficiency in low temperatures," Spangler added. "Be sure to clean off battery contacts with a pencil eraser as a precautionary measure, just in case there is any corrosion."

When taking a series of photographs that require fast and slow shutter speeds, Spangler recommends shooting the shorter exposures first, before the shutter speeds slow down as the camera becomes colder.

Snow reflects quite a bit of ultraviolet light, he said, causing a great deal of lens flare. It is impossible to cut out all of it, but Spangler recommends a lens hood to cut flare and minimize condensation on the lens.

Oil Probe Panel Named

NEW YORK (AP) — In its first effort to make a unified inquiry, the National District Attorneys Association has established an Energy Crisis Committee to study whether crimes have been committed by oil companies in connection with recent fuel shortages.

Robert F. Leonard of Flint, Mich., and Joseph Busch of Los Angeles were named co-chairmen of the committee, set up at a meeting earlier this week at the office of Dist. Atty. Eugene Gold of Brooklyn.

In addition to those three prosecutors, Dale Tooley of Norman, Okla., and Patrick Leahy of Burlington, Vt., will participate in the inquiry's initial stages.

Jay O'Hara of Covington, Ky., association president, also was named to the committee.

Leonard said that if enough evidence is turned up, the entire membership could become involved. The association has 5,000 members in the 50 states.

Leonard said the committee was formed because Americans feel the federal government "might not have been doing as much as it could do."

About 400 marshals will be on duty at Winged Foot during the U.S. Open golf championship at Mamaroneck, N.Y., next June 10-16.

Economy Car Buyer To Pay Conversion Costs

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The big three auto makers are spending millions of dollars to meet American demands for small, easy-on-the-gas cars, and that money could come out of the consumer's pocketbook.

The economy car buyer could be faced with a bigger price tag.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are converting a total of five plants from big car to small car production and increasing the capacity of many small car assembly lines.

"We're moving as fast as we humanly can," says Ford President Lee Iacocca. "We'll make 350,000 more smaller cars this year than last, and we're converting our plants at enormous cost .... We're facing one hell of a crisis."

Iacocca says it's costing Ford $75 million to convert each of two plants, in Wayne, Mich., and Chicago to smaller car assembly.

General Motors and Chrysler declined comment on their conversion costs, but GM Chairman Richard Gerstenberg has said conversion is a big piece of GM's $1.3 billion capital expenditure program for 1974.

Iacocca said Ford would be ready to turn out two million small cars in its 1975 model run — about 80 per cent of its total production. Ford's Mustang II was the only small car introduced in the 1974 model year.

Chrysler, which converted its Newark, Del., assembly plant to compact production this month, says small cars now make up 56 per cent of its capacity.

General Motors, traditional leader in the big car field and hardest hit by layoffs due to slumping big car sales, is converting one plant to intermediate models and another to compacts this month.

In 1973, GM had 23 per cent of its production in small car lines. Spokesmen would make no estimate on 1974 figures.

Auto prices have already been boosted twice during the 1974 model year.

The first came during the late summer startup of 1974 model production when, with Cost of Living Council approval, GM boosted prices an average of $97, Ford $136, Chrysler $87 and American Motors $54.

The auto makers said that increase was to cover the cost of government-ordered safety features and optional equipment made standard.

The second boost came Dec. 10 when the auto industry was freed of price controls in return for an average $150 wholesale price increase.

Chrysler, Ford and General Motors upped the price on compacts by $150 and posted smaller increases for suddenly hard to sell big cars. While Chrysler declined such a promise, GM and Ford pledged not to raise prices again "unless forced by unforseen major economic events."

The costs involved in converting production to meet the demand for smaller cars would seem to fit that criteria.

TPA Meet Opens

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 27th annual Mid-Winter Meeting of the Texas Press Association opened today with the theme of "Save Your Energy."

Opening speaker for the afternoon session was Joe Christie, chairman of the State Baord of Insurance.

Speakers Friday include Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Mrs. Anne Armstrong, special advisor to President Nixon.

BUILT ON GAS TAX

Delegates Urged To Retain Highway Fund

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Americans love cars and, despite the fuel shortage, they won't give them up without a fight, says the chairman of the Texas Good Roads Association.

Russell Perry of Dallas, an insurance executive, joined state highway officials Wednesday in urging legislator-delegates to the Constitutional Convention to retain the special highway fund in the new constitution.

Perry told the Finance Committee an estimated 20 per cent shortage of gasoline will reduce state gasoline tax revenue by the same amount, but "this will not reduce the demands on the highway system."

There will be more cars, and trucks will be carrying heavier loads, he said.

Even if the nation runs out of gasoline, Perry predicted, "we would find another energy source—we have such a romance with cars that I can't believe we'll give them up without a fight."

"Texas has been able to 'get the farmer out of the mud'," Perry said, and the challenge of the next 20 years will be to maintain excellent country roads and "to get the city dwellers out of their traffic jams."

The chairman of the state highway commission, Reagan Houston of San Antonio, said Texas' highway system is the "backbone of the economy" of the state, serving all areas, including 21 counties which have no other mode of transportation.

The highway fund is built on the 5-cent a gallon state gasoline tax. Three-fourths of the money goes to highways and one-fourth to public school education.

Several legislators have questioned whether the money should be earmarked in this manner or if the new constitution should allow more flexibility in dealing with modern problems.

Perry said the fund "already has been invaded by inflation—we're using 50-cent dollars."

He suggested raising the tax from 5 to 7 cents if more money was needed, for example, for public education. He said $8 ultimately is returned to the economy for ever $1 invested in highways.

"In recommending the retention of a constitutional provision for road support, we honestly believe there is no other way to keep the economy of this state rolling," Perry said.

Texas' highway system has grown from 8,000 miles in 1948—after the fund was established in the constitution—to over 71,000 miles.

Allotment On Rice Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department may consider expanding the 1974 rice allotment to encourage slightly larger production, according to informed sources.

Marketing quota restrictions were removed for the 1974 crop but acreage allotments still are in effect. Although not bound by them, a producer still must keep within his allotment to qualify for government price supports.

The department, announcing the 1974 price program last October, put this year's allotment at about 1.6 million acres, some 600,000 less than in effect for 1973.

Officials at that time said the removal of 1974 quotas was expected to result in planting of 2.8 million acres, which could mean "serious surplus situation" later on.

But on Tuesday the department issued a report showing farmer planting intentions for 1974. Rice farmers said, as of Jan. 1 surveys, they would plant only 2.13 million acres, down 2 per cent from 1973.

One USDA official said privately following the report that "there is a question whether that acreage will be enough" to produce all the rice needed in 1974-75.

Rice is grown in six states surveyed by USDA. According to the report, growers in Arkansas, California, Mississippi and Missouri intend planting more than they did in 1973.

But two big rice states showed sharp declines. Farmers in Louisiana said they will plant 8 per cent less than in 1973, and growers in Texas showed a 17 per cent decline.

The source said no decision on possible changes in the 1974 rice program is imminent and that it may be deferred until after another plantings survey is made March 1.

Money In Boxes Put In Vault

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Armed state troopers have placed in the state treasury vault all those checks the Texas Cosmetology Commission had laying around in shoe boxes and grocery cartons.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe gave instructions to safeguard the money after Rep. Joe Salem, D-Corpus Christi, and an Associated Press story brought the problem to his attention.

The commission's executive director, Ronald Resech, said he had "no idea" how much money was involved, but a member of his staff said Tuesday it was between $30,000 and $80,000.

Contract Inked On Valve Test

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Research Institute has announced the signing of an $83,000 contract with American Petroleum Institute to construct a testing facility for subsurface oil well safety valves.

According to the announcement, the high-pressure flow facility will be available to manufacturers and users for performance testing requiring by a new American Petroleum Institute licensing programs.

The facility, to be located at Southwest Research, will also be available for developmental tests and will supplement the hydrodynamic and fluid dynamic facilities at the institute.

SAYS NEW PRESIDENT

Homebuilders To Meet Need

HOUSTON (AP) — The new president of the National Association of Home Builders says millions of American families lack adequate housing.

"How we meet this need could be the housing story of the next 20 years," said Lewis Cenker, a builder from Atlanta, Ga.

"I believe our industry will meet this need if the nation really wants to go all out to do so," Cenker said in a prepared statement following his election Wednesday as president of the 75,000-member association.

"If the American people want it to happen, the Administration and Congress will take the necessary action."

Cenker succeeds George C. Martin of Louisville, Ky.

Elected first vice president by the NAHB's 1,000-member board of directors was J.C. Norman of Houston. John C. Hart of Indianapolis, Ind., was elected vice president and treasurer and Robert Arguilla of Chicago was named vice president and secretary.

The directors met during the association's annual convention and exposition that ended today.

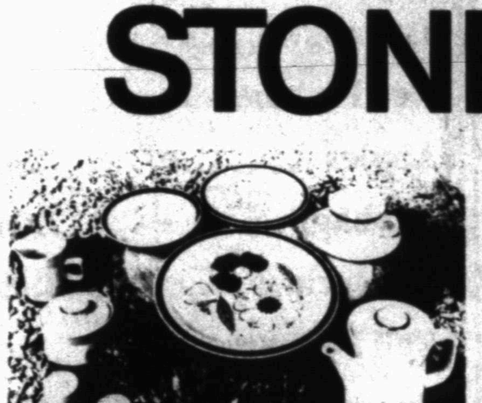

More than 50,000 members and gusts attended the convention which moves to Dallas next year after six years here. Dallas will be the site for the next three years.

Cenker said Housing Secretary James T. Lynn is expected to help win a current fight by the builders for action on housing programs now stalled in the Office of Management and Congress.

Housing programs favored by the NAHB were explained in a policy statement released Wednesday. They ranged from a big decrease in interest rates on home loans to ending the current freeze on subsidized housing and releasing impounded housing and utility funds.

Martin called the housing industry "a basket case" and urged strong and speedy action by the President and Congress.

Martin expressed disappointment in government action on the housing situation thus far and said a recession is threatened by a sharp decline in production and the sale of homes.

SAVING GAS AND HUMAN LIVES

Checks Indicate Most Texans Reducing Speed

By ELOY AGUILAR
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Most Texans really are abiding by the new law reducing their maximum speed too 55 miles an hour—under the sympathetic eye of highway troopers who realize it is hard to rein in all that horsepower.

For one thing, it takes a lot of concentration, a test drive to check on observance shows.

But more than gasoline is being saved. As Department of Public Safety (DPS) Capt. J.A. Dumas put it, "We are killing fewer people."

Two checks by an Associated Press staffer on Interstate 35 north of Dallas Wednesday and reports from DPS offices throughout the state indicated that most people are complying with the new law and easing the weight on the gas pedal.

During the first test at a time when traffic was fairly heavy, the AP staffer stayed at 55 m.p.h. for 15 minutes and was passed by 10 cars while passing only two.

One hour later on the same highway and also during a 15-minute period, seven cars went by while three were passed.

But those going over the 55-mile limit appeared to be conscious of either the gasoline crisis or the new law or both. They went at a maximum of 60 m.p.h.

"It is early to tell," Capt. Dumas said. "But I would say that the same people are now driving at the legal speed that were doing it under the old law. The ones violating the law now are those who were going 75 and 80 miles when the maximum was 70."

Dumas said DPS troopers are enforcing the law but they are using judgment about who should get a ticket.

"We encourage our troopers to file only substantial violations. We are not going to ticket the man going one or two or three miles over the limit. I think the response of the public has been very good so far. There is a sort of patriotic feeling about the crisis. Everyone is aware of the problem."

When caught speeding, most motorists refer to an unknown "they" as those responsible for the crisis.

"Motorists say 'they'—presumably the oil companies or the government—are to blame for it all," Dumas said.

"It is a bit hard to reduce your speed to 55 when you are used to 70 miles," he added. "It takes a lot more concentration. Your cars are built for higher speeds."

One side benefit has been a reduction in traffic deaths and accidents.

Last weekend, when the new law went into effect, five Texans died in traffic accidents on rural highways, one of the lowest totals in years.

The average death toll in previous years was six deaths a day.

Mitch Anderson of Northwestern led the Big Ten last season in passing for touchdowns with 10.

Don't Buy Ads Indicate Crazy State Of Affairs

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The crazy, mixed up state of economic affairs today is probably best illustrated by those advertisements that say in effect, "Please don't buy our product."

If such a complete reversal of rules were to be forced upon golf, for example, you might see Jack Nicklaus missing a one-foot putt and Arnold Palmer doing his level best to exceed 100.

Utilities that just a few years ago might have told the owner of a new skyscraper to leave his lights on all night for advertising purposes, now tell him to lower the lights during the day.

Gasoline stations that less than two years ago were engaged in price wars and which offered trading stamps and other premiums now give you only half a tank if you're lucky to be there at the right time.

Auto makers who had almost convinced Americans they were deprived if they still owned only one car now advise them, in the words of Volkswagen, "Walk. Shoe leather saves gas."

And the distributors of "throwaway" items, such as metal coathangers, now ask if you would please return them.

The stock market is reacting to these new game rules by regressing into a catatonic stupor. Some of those popular stock market indexes, such as the Dow Jones industrial average, are back where they were eight years ago.

Investors, who clearly wouldn't be in the market if they weren't seeking profits, have even developed a tendency to beware of some of the big profitable corporations, such as the oil companies.

Those companies are making money now, the trepid investor reasons, and that means the government is going to jump on them. Profit is bad, it seems, especially if you make your profits in oil.

Some of the big oil producers never were able to report higher profits than they're turning in now. And the price of their product is rising faster than their expenses. Obviously a good investment? No. Beware.

With food prices being what they are and what they are about to be, it would seem logical that the big food chains that sell the food would be skimming off a bigger portion for themselves.

But, as you would expect, they aren't. When food prices were lower, the profits of most chains were higher, as a percentage of sales, than they are now.

Crazy.

Town Gets Gas Today

FINLAND, Minn. (AP) — This town of 200 people was getting a supply of regular gasoline today after a 12-day drought.

An emergency truckload of 8,000 gallons was to be delivered to Finland Cooperative Co., which did not qualify for a January allotment from Midland Cooperative Co. The cooperative bases allocations on its 1973 deliveries, and the Finland outlet didn't need any in January last year.

The station had premium gasoline, and manager Harry Backman said the 1,000 gallons or so on hand Monday hadn't been consumed by Wednesday. Some bought it out of desperation, although their cars usually take regular, and Backman limits sales to $4.

Backman runs a general store in Finland. Those who depend on the Finland outlet include loggers who operate chainsaws and "jammers" which load trucks with logs.

The town used to have three other stations, but they have closed in the last few months.

Backman said regular sells at 48.2 cents per gallon and premium for 51.2 cents.

Junior Editors' Quiz on BARRACUDA

QUESTION: What is a barracuda?

* * *

ANSWER: Barracuda is a fish found in ocean waters in tropical and subtropical areas. Some 20 species inhabit the warm seas. It is a slender, elongated fish with a long snout, large sharp teeth and projecting lower jaw. It resembles the fresh water pickerel or pike. Barracuda are very ferocious and strike at anything that gleams. They are considered excellent game fish, are swift and greedy and kill other fish.

The largest of the group, the Great Barracuda, averages 5 feet in length, but sometimes may reach 10 feet. It is found off the coasts of the Carolinas, West Indies and Florida. It is a very active, fierce fish and is dangerous to swimmers, particularly if they are wearing shiny objects. It inflicts serious wounds which are often blamed on sharks. The meat of the Silver Barracuda, a species found off the coast of Southern California, is considered a food with good flavor. Some of the smaller species, such as the Northern Barracuda, are not dangerous to humans.

Lip-Sync Used On TV Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Show No. 2 of NBC's new "Music Country U.S.A." series is on tonight. But if it's like last week's premiere show, the series should be retitled "Music Country Lip-Sync U.S.A."

The lip-sync, if you've never heard of it, is an ancient television dodge by which singers don't actually sing. They just silently mouth the words of songs — usually their latest hit — they've recorded earlier in a studio.

It's occasionally justified, though I'd say only when both new material and technical considerations make it necessary.

But doing a hit record lip-sync on what is billed as a different kind of television musical is akin to getting people to buy pumpkin farms, then canceling Halloween. It's a flimflam.

Only Jerry Reed, the host of the first show, and singer-guitarist Johnny Russell seemed to have the honesty to pass up the safety of the lip-sync and take their chances as the videotape rolled.

True, Reed was singing to previously recorded background arrangements, but at least he wasn't relying on the smoother performances you get when you do the whole thing in a studio.

The show's thesis is that the Nashville sound now is national.

Nobody'd doubt that, but you don't need Ray Stevens all bundled up, playing piano with gloves on and doing his thing in the middle of Wall Street during a December snowstorm to prove the point.

In his effort to emphasize the wide appeal of country music, executive producer Greg Garrison taped parts of the show in such un-Southern locales as Indiana, Washington, D.C., the Staten Island ferry, Hidden Valley and Big Sur, Calif., and the High Sierra.

All visually well and good, but I think he's losing a lot of the relaxed atmosphere of country music by not staying below the Mason-Dixon line, where all but one of the 15 artists on last week's show customarily record.

The exception was Wayne Newton. And he ain't country.

Even with its faults, though, the show has one king-size plus going for it: It at least airs some good, tastefully arranged songs many of us might miss if we live in areas where screamers and the Big Beat rule the airwaves.

Keep matches and lighters away from children. Be especially watchful of those long fireplace matches on the mantel or at the hearth, advises Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Message To Deal With 'State Of Presidency'

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State of the Union in 1974 will have a good deal to do with the state of the presidency. Spoken or unspoken, that will be a major concern when President Nixon addresses a joint session of Congress next Wednesday night.

The traditional ceremony of a State of the Union address cannot obscure the fact that the same Congress may be voting within a few months on impeachment proceedings against the President.

Meanwhile, the Senate Watergate committee plans six more days of hearings on the financing of Nixon's re-election campaign.

And the case of the erasure in a key White House tape recording is before a federal grand jury.

Against the background of those problems and more, the style and substance of Nixon's address may be crucial as he seeks to repair the ravages of Watergate.

The White House says Nixon now will concentrate on looking ahead. But the past will not go away.

A backward look, to the situation one year ago, illustrates what has happened. Then the President was the dominant figure, even though Democrats controlled Congress. Now, the crucial verdict, on the future of Nixon's presidency, is up to Congress.

Fresh from his landslide reelection, Nixon was on the offensive. He cast the presidency as paramount: "... There is only one place in this government where somebody has got to speak not for the special interests which the Congress represents, but for the general interest."

Now, after a year of scandal, Nixon's spokesmen are insisting that he means to serve the balance of his term and will not resign.

Then, he addressed the State of the Union in a series of written statements sent to Congress by messenger.

Nixon outlined his goals, said he believed his second term could be "the best four years in American history."

Now, after a troubled year, it is time for another assessment.

President May Amend Returns

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon seems disposed to pay California income taxes for recent years, and might be expected to amend his federal returns for the same years, a White House source says.

Such a move could give Nixon an opportunity to deal at one time with all his tax problems — something the White House says he plans to do.

The White House source said that if Nixon files state returns for any of the years since the 1969 purchase of his San Clemente estate, he might be expected to file the amended federal returns for the same period.

Although the informant made no such prediction, submission of amended federal returns to claim deductions for state income tax payments also could be a vehicle for changing other controversial sections of the U.S. returns.

Under an amended filing, for example, Nixon could voluntarily drop $576,000 in deductions for the gift of his vice presidential papers to the government. Or he could add to his income a capital gain his auditor says he realized when he sold part of the San Clemente property to an investment company headed by friend Robert H. Abplanalp.

The Internal Revenue Service and the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation are investigating the capital gains question and the deduction for the gift of papers.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., vice chairman of the joint congressional committee, said Wednesday: "It looks as though we'll be asking the President to pay more taxes." Long said this would be the result of an "honest difference of opinion."

In disclosing his tax affairs last month, Nixon said that on the advice of private attorneys he paid no California income taxes athough he claims San Clemente as his residence.

In Sacramento, Calif., the executive officer of the state's income tax board said Tuesday he expects an early decision on Nixon's state tax status.

A Nixon attorney has estimated the President could owe up to $300,000 extra in federal taxes should the deduction for his papers be disallowed and he be found liable for a capital gains tax on the San Clemente transaction.

Meanwhile, Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., said she and others are suing Nixon to make him pay back to the Treasury the cost of government-financed improvements at his homes in San Clemente and Key Biscayne, Fla.

Rep. Abzug said she, Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, and others were to file the federal suit today in Washington.

"We are bringing this action because the evidence so far indicates that the President authorized spending very large sums of money, perhaps more than $3 million, for improvements at his two private homes that were illegal and unconstitutional and substantially added to the value of his private worth," she said.

Rep. Abzug said she supports "the legitimate expenditure of money needed for security and communication purposes."

Heath Appeals To Miners

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath appealed to Britain's 280,000 coal miners today to call off their crippling slowdown and open new pay talks.

His appeal came as mine leaders met to recommend that their men stop all production with a strike for higher pay. Such a strike could bring British industry to a halt this spring.

In a letter to Joe Gormley, president of the miner's union, Heath urged the miners' executive to "consider very carefully" the pay package offered by the state-owned National Coal Board. The miners have rejected that offer.

"As prime minister I urge most strongly that at your meeting your executive should consider the position as it affects the rest of the country. The country now faces severe economic problems — as severe as any we have faced since 1945."

The general secretary of the miners' union, Lawrence Daly, told newsmen he and the union's president and vice president would recommend a strike vote at a meeting today of the executive board of the National Union of Mineworkers.

The 27-man executive was expected to approve the recommendation and order the continuation, meanwhile, of the 11-week-old slowdown in the mines that has cut production 40 per cent.

It will take about two weeks to organize a strike vote. Union President Joe Gormley estimates that more than 70 per cent of the men favor a walkout, 15 per cent more than are needed.

The demands for a strike came after Prime Minister Edward Heath told Parliament on Tuesday he would not raise his anti-inflation ceiling on wage increases to meet the miners' demands. He rejected an offer by the Trades Union Congress to check the wage demands of other unions if the miners were given what they are asking.

Meanwhile, leading members of Heath's Conservative party were talking less and less about the possibility that their leader would take his case to the voters by calling a general election next month.

A poll in today's Times of London by the Opinion Research Center showed 43 per cent of those questioned last weekend would vote Labor to 40 per cent Conservativ and 15 per cent Liberal. The week before the Conservatives led the Laborites 41 per cent to 37.

Students Believe In Free Love

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Most of the 300 students surveyed at Cornell University believed living with someone of the opposite sex without being married was an acceptable practice, a researcher says.

About one-third of those surveyed admitted sharing a bedroom with a student of the opposite sex, said Prof. Eleanor Macklin of Cornell's State College of Human Ecology.

Cohabitation was defined as "sharing a bedroom (and-or a bed) with someone of the opposite sex four or more nights a week for three or more consecutive months".

Only 7 per cent of the students who responded to a 32-page questionnaire said they would not live with someone of the opposite sex given the proper partner.

"Contrary to much older generation opinion, spending the night together, even in the same bed, need not imply a full sexual relationship," she said.

Civic Group To Punish Litterbugs

MILLBORO SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Litterbugs beware.

A civic group here has proposed Virginia return to a Colonial-style punishment for litterbugs — put the culprits in leg and head stocks.

Millboro Ruritan Club, having just completed a community cleanup project on Bath County roads in western Virginia, are up in arms about the amount of trash they found.

The club members proposed Wednesday night that litterbugs be confined to the stocks on the front lawn of the county courthouse where they would be subjected "to the righteous scorn, indignation and spittle of the local citizenry."

They have sent their petition to Gov. Mills Godwin.

Nixon To Fight Charges

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will fight impeachment "right down to the wire," according to a group of congressmen who met with him on Wednesday.

Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., quoted the President as saying: "It's unthinkable that I will resign; I'll fight it right down to the wire."

"I got the impression that he is on the offensive and that he wants to get his message across," said Rep. Peter H.B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., who was a member of a group of congressmen who met with Nixon Tuesday.

Montgomery, commenting on the Wednesday meeting with 18 congressmen from southern and south-central states, said he "got the impression he (Nixon) is going to bore in more and more on doing his job."

Frelinghuysen quoted Nixon as saying that "under no circumstances could I consider resignation though it might not be a bad life to live" on a pension.

"In this country we could not allow the government to be overturned by a mass assault on the President," he quoted Nixon as saying.

He said Nixon told the congressmen that he has determined that "now is a time to fight and to fight like hell."

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., said Nixon "said flatly he won't resign, but they could kick him out if they wanted to."

Montgomery said the congressmen at the meeting Wednesday generally have supported Nixon in the past and indicated continued support for him at the meeting.

Imports Eyed For Our Daily Bread

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record wheat exports and a barebones reserve are forcing the Nixon administration to consider importing grain from Canada so Americans can have their daily bread.

The Agriculture Department says that by July 1 the nation's wheat cupboard will be holding 182 million bushels, down from the 300-million-bushel reserve that had been forecast only last September.

The latest prediction would put the nation's wheat reserves on July 1 at the lowest since 83.8 million bushels were on hand in 1947. It would be less than half the 430 million bushels held last summer.

But USDA officials say there is no danger of a bread shortage.

Agriculture officials also deny claims by bakers that the price of bread could rise to $1 per loaf by next spring because of a short wheat supply.

On Wednesday, after a new report on the wheat situation, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carroll G. Brunthaver conceded that the supply is being crimped more severely than expected.

The drain from exports, now estimated at 1.2 billion bushels for the year ending June 30, will put further pressure on wheat supplies, he said.

Brunthaver added that the smaller reserve "increases the possibility of importing wheat or flour" from Canada. He said President Nixon is likely to suspend quotas so that flour millers and bakers will have more grain if they choose to buy it.

USDA officials lowered their wheat-reserve forecast because they said foreign buyers had insisted upon larger orders than believed probable. Exports of 1.2 billion bushels now expected for 1973-74 will exceed last year's record of 1.184 billion.

Nixon has the authority to suspend wheat import quotas, pegged at 800,000 bushels a year, but has requested a report on the situation from the U.S. Tariff Commission.

However, Brunthaver indicated Nixon may not wait for the final commission report, due Feb. 15, and soon may order a suspension in the quota.

Cattlemen Seek Changes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The 100,000-member American National Cattlemen's Association called Wednesday for higher truck load limits and legalization of some chemicals in cattle feed additives.

The group wound up its annual convention with resolutions urging:

—Increased load limits and multi-trailer truck configurations to offset lower speed limits.

—Permission to use in beef production any feed additive, antibiotic of agricultural chemical which can be adequately proved harmless to humans and animals.

—Permission to raise beef on lands controlled by the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

—A speedup of the congressional investigation into the impeachment of President Nixon.

Gordon K. Van Vleck of Plymouth, Calif., was elected national president and Wray Finney of Fort Cobb, Okla., first vice president.

Regional vice presidents are L.E. Lee of DeRidder, La.; Jim Hughes of Phoenix, Ariz., and R.M. Carter of Plainview, Tex.

Nixon To Ask Bill Modified

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to ask Congress for a softened version of last year's tough proposals to deal with suspected narcotics pushers, administration sources say.

The 1973 administration bill was widely opposed in Congress and never moved out of committee. Consequently, the White House has chosen to back away from the toughest features though the skeleton of the bill remains intact, a White House source said Wednesday.

Nixon is preparing to offer the revised version in a message to Congress next month and may allude to it in his State of the Union address on Wednesday night.

The White House source and other officials said the modification of last year's plan will be the only legislation Nixon requests in the heroin trafficking message, though he may describe other administrative efforts dealing with drug pushing.

The administration proposal will retain these key features from the 1973 bill:

—Federal judges would be given authority to deny bail to those arrested and awaiting trial on narcotics trafficking charges.

—Federal judges would be required to jail convicted pushers for certain minimum sentences.

The White House source said the modified proposal reduces the minimum sentences and backs away to some degree from the stringent preventive detention feature offered last year.

Unlike the 1973 plan, it also would apply to dealers in all major hard drugs instead of heroin pushers alone. Neither proposal would apply to addicts dealing in drugs for their own use.

This source, who has worked with Drug Enforcement Administration officials in drafting the bill, said the White House chose "to soften up a tad and apply it to other drugs" in a bid for congressional support.

He conceded the preventive detention feature drew opposition from "a lot of Republicans" as well as Democrats in Congress.

Most of the opposition is based on constitutional questions. The opponents, including Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., contend that jailing an individual before he is convicted violates his right to a presumption of innocence until proven guilty.

Dean Is Listed As Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III is listed as a major government witness in the special Watergate prosecutor's case against former presidential aide Dwight L. Chapin.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski filed a memorandum in U.S. District Court on Wednesday that revealed his plan to use Dean's testimony.

Meanwhile, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott insisted to newsmen he has seen evidence he considers grounds for charging Dean with lying to the Senate Watergate committee.

The Pennsylvania Republican disputed a report saying Dean's testimony is not contradicted by White House tape recordings. Scott had said he had read transcripts that disputed Dean's testimony that President Nixon was aware of the Watergate cover-up before last March 21, the date Nixon said he first learned of it.

Chapin was indicted last Nov. 29, on four counts of lying to a grand jury about the activities of Donald H. Segretti, who was an underground political agent for President Nixon's re-election committee.

Chapin pleaded innocent to the charges and his trial is scheduled to begin in March. His lawyers indicated they plan to try to bar Dean's testimony on the ground he and Chapin had an attorney-client relationship when Dean was White House counsel.

Seeds In 3rd Round

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. (AP) — The pre-tournament seedings have held true in the $50,000 women's tennis tour stop here, with only one unrated player making it into the quarter-finals.

The top two seeds, Chris Evert and Billie Jean King, both won their second round matches easily Wednesday to lead the eight players into the next round.

Barabara Downs of Alamo, Calif. is the lone unseeded player to advance.

She moved up with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over The Netherlands' Elly Appel, who earlier posted the lone upset of the tournament when she eliminated eighth-seeded Marita Redondo of San Diego.

Miss Evert, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., dumped host pro Val Ziegenfuss of Mission Viejo 6-2, 6-0 while Ms. King, of Berkeley, Calif., got past Glynis Coles of Great Britain 6-1, 6-4.

Third-seeded Kerry Melville of Australia defeated Laura Dupont of Los Angeles 6-1, 6-3; fourth-seeded Nancy Gunter of Lake Livingston, Tex. whipped Leslie Hunt of Australia 6-1, 62; Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, seeded fifth, downed Helen Gourlay of Australia 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 and sixth-seeded Francoise Durr of France fought by Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles 6-0, 4-6, 6-2.

Kristine Kemmer of San Diego, seeded seventh, won by default over flu-stricken Karen Krantzke of Australia.

Miss Kemmer and Ms. King will meet with Miss Evert going against Miss Downs in the only quarterfinals matches today.

In the other two quarterfinal matchups, Miss Melville and Miss Durr and Mrs. Gunter and Ms. Casals play Friday.

Rod Laver Adjusts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rod Laver of Australia says he's becoming more used to the playing surface at the Spectrum, which may be bad news to his opponents in the $100,000 U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships.

Laver, the no. 11 seed, defeated South Africa's Cliff Drysdale, 6-4, 6-4, to move into the fourth round and remain in contention for the $15,000 first prize.

Arthur Ashe of Miami, seeded eighth, kept pace with Laver by downing Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-4, 6-4.

Ashe and Laver were among the few seeded players still remaining, with injuries and upsets taking a heavy toll.

Laver was not used to the slow Spectrum surface early in the week and had to make adjustments in his game.

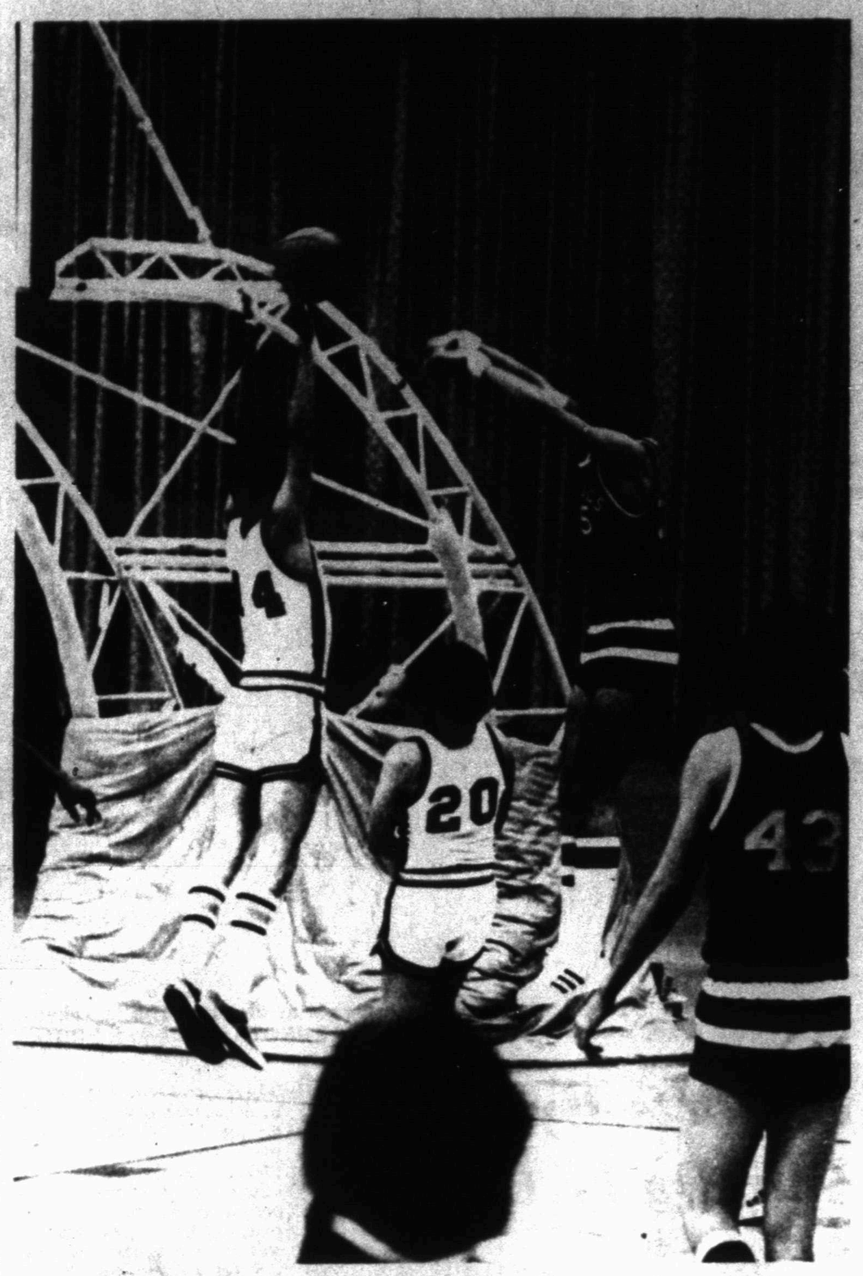

Two more seeded players fell in Wednesday's third round. Tony Roche of Australia defeated Bjorn Borg of Sweden, the No. 15 seed, 7-6, 7-6, and Russia's Alex Metreveli knocked out 16th-seeded Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 7-6, 6-4.

Supersonics Sink Celtics 98 To 97

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As player and coach of the Celtics, Bill Russell won plenty of big games in Boston. Wednesday night he beat them, but the thrill was gone.

"It was just another game," Coach Russell said following Seattle's 98-97 triumph, the SuperSonics' first National Basketball Association victory over the Celtics in Boston or anywhere else in two years. "We need a couple more wins."

With Milwaukee, Chicago and Detroit all playing excellent ball in the Midwest Division, Seattle's only apparent hope of making the playoffs is to win the Pacific Division title. The third-place Sonics trail Los Angeles by 6½ games.

In other NBA action, the Milwaukee Bucks ripped Buffalo 114-88, the Detroit Pistons whipped Portland 121-95, the Houston Rockets downed Atlanta 114-104 and the Phoenix Suns tripped the Cleveland Cavaliers 110-103.

Kennedy McIntosh's 20-foot jump shot with 20 seconds left and two free throws by Spencer Haywood with three seconds to go enabled Seattle to upset Boston. The basket nullified a fourth-period Boston rally led by Art Williams and Dave Cowens that overcame a 15-point Seattle lead.

Fred Brown had 26 points for the Sonics, Haywood had 23 and Dick Snyder 19. Cowens led all scorers with 32 points and John Havlicek added 23 for the Celts.

Bucks 114, Braves 88

The crippled Bucks opened a 20-point lead late in the third quarter and rolled over Buffalo behind Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's 38 points. Ron Williams added 14 for the Bucks, who have never lost to Buffalo and who won their sixth consecutive game despite the absence of injured regulars Bob Dandridge and Lucius Allen. Oscar Robertson played sparingly because of a back injury.

Pistons 121, Trail Blazers 95

Detroit, with Don Adams scoring 11 quick points, surged to a 36-14 first-period lead and cruised past Portland.

Rowe led the Pistons with 20 while Bob Verga had 22 and Sidney Wicks 20 for the Trail Blazers.

Rockets 114, Hawks 104

Houston took the lead for good with 7:04 remaining in the third period on two free throws by E.C. Coleman. It was the Rockets' third victory in four games. The loss was the Hawks' seventh in the last nine.

Houston was led by Rudy Tomjanovich with 29 points, Mike Newlin with 26 and Calvin Murphy with 16. Lou Hudson was high scorer for Atlanta with 30 and Pete Maravich had 18.

Suns 110, Cavaliers 103

Forward Keith Erickson made two free throws and a three-point play in the last two minutes to spark Phoenix, which had to rally after being outscored 31-18 in the first period.

Charlie Scott had 25 points while Bobby Smith was high scorer for Cleveland with 20 points.

Providence Nips Boston College

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

Even the bad shots were good for Kevin Stacom Wednesday night.

With two seconds remaining in overtime, the 6-foot-5 senior took an inbounds pass from Mark McAndrews and put up a shot which didn't feel right but which accomplished its objective, giving eighth-ranked Providence a 79-77 college basketball victory over Boston College.

"I didn't even think it was a real good shot," said Stacom of his 20-footer game-winner. "I might have forced it a little, but when I saw it in the air, I knew it was good."

Stacom finished with 24 points including two free throws earlier in the overtime which tied the game 77-77.

In other games involving Top 20 teams, ninth-ranked Alabama beat Georgia Tech 102-83 and Louisville took a 90-72 victory over Dayton

Providence's Marvin Barnes fouled out with 2:23 remaining in regulation time after scoring 29 points and 13 rebounds, but Boston College, with Jere Nolan and Bob Carrington each scoring 20, had the lead until Providence's Rick Santos tied the game 73-73 with 2:01 remaining.

Alabama placed six men in double figures against Georgia Tech, while topping the 100-point mark for the first time this season.

Guard Ray Odums led the Crimson Tide, now 12-2, with 18 points, hitting six of eight field goal attempts and all six attempts from the free throw line.

Louisville had an easy time with Dayton, building up a 15-point first-half lead on the way to its ninth straight victory.

Louisville was led by Allen Murphy with 20 points and guard Junior Bridgeman's 18.

In other top games, Larry Lewis scored a career-high 17 points to lead Pennsylvania over Villanova 83-61 and Mel Utley's 22 points helped St. John's N.Y. to a 64-49 victory over Temple in the other part of a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra.

Larry Horowitz and Mike Sorrentino each scored 13 points as Davidson edged Virginia 64-63; Wake Forest downed Duke 90-71; Butler upset Evansville 68-64; Alcorn A&M, ranked second in The Associated Press Small College Poll, beat Tougaloo College 95-75 and Oklahoma City downed Texas-Arlington 85-71.

Youths Can Bet In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If you're 18 years old, you now have the right to bet at Ohio horse race tracks this year.

The Ohio Racing Commission amended a rule Wednesday to lower the legal wagering age from 21 to 18 years, effective March 1, six days ahead of the Thistledown opening.

The commissioners ruled 18-year-olds also will be permitted to bet at all county and independent fair race meetings as well as regular commercial tracks.

Michigan State's 10-7 football victory over Purdue in 1973 made it four in a row for the Spartans over the Boilermakers.

Westerners Host Odessa Tonight

The Western Texas College Westerners and the Odessa Junior College Bronchos will be battling for undisputed possession of third place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference race tonight. Tipoff is on tap for 7:30 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Coach Mike Mitchell of the Westerners has great respect for Odessa.

"They beat the Howard Hawks in the finals of the Odessa Tournament this season," declared Mitchell. "They have the best shooting team we've played this year," he added.

The Bronchos edge in shooting ability will be offset by the Westerners' edge in height. Desire could be the determining factor in the game. Coach Mitchell listed probable starters, as follows: Ken Fowler, 6-2 freshman from Austin, and Danny McDaniel, 6-2 sophomore from Little Rock, Ark., at guard; Norman Barnes, 6-8 freshman from Richmond, Va., at center; and, Eugene Harris, 6-7 freshman from Hattiesburg, Miss., and Harold Ward, 6-6 sophomore from Passaic, N. J., at forward.

The Bronchos will counter with Johnny Brooks, 5-10, and Ernest Jenkins, 6-1, both from Albuquerque, N. M. and Chuck Downing, 6-4, from El Paso. Darrell Mitchell, 6-7, from Odessa, will be post man.

The Westerners are 13-5 for the season and 4-3 in conference play. Odessa is 11-5 for the season and 4-2 in conference play.

Coach Mitchell has several other lads he can call on, including Eric Grant, Kevin Jones, Luis Blanco, Gary Brooks, Greg Hill, Kent Horsley, Brian Minor and Jerry Brooks.

Famous Matador Fined $4,000

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Manolo Martinez, Mexico's best known matador, was fined $4,000 for killing a bull in the ring.

A bullfighter has 12 minutes to fight and kill the bull, but Martinez, at the insistence of the crowd, went over the limit Sunday and killed the bull just as bullocks were being sent into the ring to lead the bull away.

Martinez hid behind the dead bull and avoided the roaming bullocks but not the rules of the game. The judge said Monday that there was nothing personal in making Martinez, who earns $6,000 per fight, pay the fine.

Tiger Tilt Set Friday

Snyder's Tigers annd Lubbock Coronado will be battling to stay alive in the District 4-AAAA basketball race tomorrow night. Tipoff is on tap for 7:30 p.m. at Coronado. The program will begin at 4 p.m. with the sophomore clash, followed by the junior varsity tilt at 5:45 p.m.

Both teams are 1-1 in district play. Snyder beat Lubbock High 70-55, but fell to Plainview, 51-49, in double overtime. Coronado was beaten, 61-53, by Plainview in overtime, then beat Monterey 58-57. The Tigers are 8-13 for the season.

Coach Bob Moore probably will start the same lads he used in the thriller against Plainview. That means Snyder again will be in a triple post attack with Roy Lee Carter, Welton Cobb and Larry Johns at post with Tim Jones and Chester Cobb at guard.

Snyder has several other lads ready for action, including Willie Tippens, Greg Gary, Sid Perry, Greg Gafford, Randy Gressett, Robert Alderete, Danny Brumley and Eric Schrader.

OUR MAN ON BROADWAY

Dick Maurice

No matter what MARTHA MITCHELL says publicly about PRESIDENT NIXON, she still has the handsome vase he brought her from China occupying a prominent spot in the antique what-not cabinet in her Fifth Avenue apartment music room. I hope it isn't bugged.

The honeymoons are over for DEAN MARTIN and CATHY HAWN and STEVE McQUEEN and ALI MACGRAW. Seems Cathy's spending Dean's money like there's no tomorrow and Dean would like something left for the day he retires, and Ali's shocked to see what a quick temper Steve has. He never acted like that before they were married.

Handsome French actor LOUIS JOURDAN, partying at Reidy's, gave away his secret for staying young: "I sleep; I love to sleep. And when Ifeel my belt getting a little bit tight, I diet."

EUNICE KENNEDY SHRIVER reveals that she always cries at sad movies...I'll bet she laughs at PETER LAWFORD's movies.

DORIS DAY inked a deal with General Foods for TV commercials which will net her one million dollars over a five year period. Not bad for a girl who used to sing with Les Brown's band at Roseland.

GINA LOLOwhatsername, aged 46, on how she keeps her youth. She walks every morning at 6 a.m., wears no makeup three days a week to give her skin a chance to breathe and my advice to Gina is, "The best way to make sure you keep your youth is to make sure you don't introduce him to anybody"...

Just asking: Can you guess which very prominent, very social, very widowed lady is going just a bit bananas from friends whisper, one unsuccessful face lift too many? No, it's not GEORGE HAMILTON's mother, ANNE SPAULDING, who sued her doctor and lost for what she said was a bad job.

MICHAEL CAINE refuses to go naked nude on screen on account of "My body isn't for showing off and I couldn't stand to have an audience laugh at me"...

LIZ TAYLOR's marching down the aisle again! But this time it's for her mother's wedding to a South African businessman. Oh well, you can't marry them all.

DAVID HARTMAN isn't saying yes or no regarding marriage to pretty MAUREEN DOWNEY, who works for a Los Angeles TV station. What he does admit is: "We've known each other almost two years and like the same things: good music, movies and tennis. But I only plan to marry once—so I've got to be very sure." Meantime David is the actor they call upon to emcee or appear at charity events. When it comes to helping others, David can't say "no."

OMAR SHARIF recently gave his list of requirements in a prospective wife. Among them were: "She must know when to keep her mouth shut and be a good cook. To me, a woman who can't cook isn't feminine. I'll never stop looking for the right woman. There's great excitement in waking up every day and saying 'This might be the day.'"

Remember those nude photos of JACKIE ONASSIS taking the sun last year? The same magazine, Playmen, which published those, just published nudies of ARI! Sniffed one Jackie "pal": "Well, you can see it wasn't his body she was after."

Actress SHEILA SCOTT obviously was after more than she got out of that paternity suit against CHAD EVERETT. After he was declared not the father, and "an unnamed interested outside party" guaranteed $5,000 plus $275 a month until her child becomes 18, she took the baby to the MGM parking lot (Chad's studio), handed him to an attendant with instructions to give him to Chad and took off. Now police have her for child abandonment. Sad.

JAMES COCO arrived at a movie on a bicycle, explaining, "It has nothing to do with energy crisis, but everything to do with the waistline crisis"...

If SPIRO AGNEW has any time on his hands, he can make a fortune. Robin Moore, author of "The French Connection" and "The Green Berets" and who (unfortunately) collaborated with XAVIERIA HOLLANDER on "The Happy Hooker," is quite serious about offering the former V. P. a fortune to film his life story. Also, a lecture circuit is willing to guarantee a million dollars in one year if Spiro says yes to a tour of the country.

No one seems to know exactly where JOHN W. DEAN III and his wife, Maureen, have disappeared to, and even their lawyers are worried. They have just plain dropped out of sight. One thing you can count on is that John is not writing a book about the Watergate Caper. He's scared stiff to put anything in writing until he is assured of some compensation in the form of immunity. Not all the soap operas are on television...

Study Set On Heart Attacks

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — Six years from this week, after millions of cigarettes, calories and blood pressure readings, Americans may have an answer to the questions:

Can you prevent heart attacks by stopping smoking, cutting down on food, lowering blood pressure? Will it make a difference?

Many physicians already are convinced that Americans must do something like this to interrupt an epidemic of heart disease, the nation's No. 1 killer.

But there is no conclusive proof, they say. So starting in six cities this week, and eventually in 19, half a million American men will be screened to find 12,000 who are high-risk candidates for a heart attack.

These 12,000 will be men who smoke too much, who weigh too much, whose blood pressure is too high, who have too much cholesterol in their blood.

They will then be told these facts of life at "10-visit intervention clinics" and will be followed for six years to see what happens to those who try to eliminate the risk factors and those who do not.

The massive study, the second major step in the country's first attempt to combat heart disease, is being run by the National Heart and Lung Institute.

It was discussed Wednesday by Dr. Henry W. Blackburn of the University of Minnesota School of Medicine in Minneapolis during an American Heart Association meeting at this southwest Florida Coast resort.

The first step in the fight against heart disease was a 20-year study of the population of Framingham, Mass., a study which produced the concept of risk factors.

It showed that people who develop heart disease are generally those who smoke too much, are too heavy and have too much cholesterol.

While this association is generally accepted, it has yet to be demonstrated scientifically that changing these habits will make any difference.

The new study, the largest of its kind since the test of polio vaccine in the 1950s, begins in Boston, New York, Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis and Davis, Calif.

Hawaiians Line Up For Gas

HONOLULU (AP) — It's easy to spot a station selling gasoline in Honolulu: Just follow the line of cars and eventually, possibly blocks later, you'll find it.

In most cases, the motorists in front of you got up before dawn and joined the line hours before the station opened for a one-to two-hour stint of dispensing fuel.

Panic buying infected the islands several weeks ago when stations started restricting their daily volume to stay within monthly allocations.

"We have always been proud of our aloha spirit and what I am asking each of you, including the gas station owners, is to be a little more patient and considerate," said Honolulu Police Chief Francis Keala in a public appeal Wednesday.

Government officials and optimistic motorists look for next month to bring some relief when a state gas rationing plan goes into effect.

On Feb. 4, motorists will be able to buy gasoline every other day, depending on the last digit of their license plate, and gas sales will be limited to motorists with less than half a tank of fuel.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

★★★

Q. My 20 year old son attended college full-time for two months last winter, dropped out to go to work, and returned to school full-time in September. He earned about $3,000 during the year. Can I still claim him as a dependent?

A. Yes, if he meets all the dependency tests, including your having provided over one-half of his total support. If your son is a full-time student during some part of each of five months of the year, there is no limit on how much he can earn and still remain your dependent. These five months do not have to occur consecutively.

Q. I know that political contribution to a candidate or his campaign committee may be eligible for a deduction or credit. What about contributions to a political party?

A. Contributions to a national, state or local committee of a national political party may also qualify for the deduction or credit.

You may deduct up to $50 ($100 on a joint return) or take half of your contribution as a direct credit against your tax up to $12.50 ($25 on a joint return).

Q. I've transferred $2,000 worth of investment securities registered in my name to my child. I am custodian for the account. Do I have to pay gift tax on this transfer?

A. A transfer for the benefit of a person under 21 generally qualifies for the $3,000 annual exclusion from gift tax, provided the minor has use of the property and income from it before he turns 21 and any property or income not disposed of by that time passes to him.

The $3,000 annual gift tax exclusion will still be allowed even though state law requires the property to be distributed to the minor at age 18.

Q. I'm a school teacher. I paid a person to substitute for me for a day. Can I deduct the amount I paid for the substitute?

A. Yes. Amounts you pay for a substitute teacher to take your place are deductible. However, you are not entitled to this deduction to the extent that it is allocable to amounts excluded as sick pay.

He underwent a series of tests Wednesday after being stricken during a performance of "How the Other Half Loves" at a suburban dinner theater.

Conried, 57, suffered the attack between acts and apologized to the audience for being unable to continue before being taken to the hospital.

Taxi Seized On Small Tax Bill

SEATTLE (AP) — Ellen Waters' Good Samaritan taxi service is rolling again after being temporarily sidetracked by the Internal Revenue Service.

The federal agency had confiscated her car to collect a $12.08 tax bill.

Since 1969 Miss Waters has refused to pay the federal excise tax on her telephone bill, saying the money would help finance war.

In past years the IRS attached her bank account to pay the tax. But Miss Waters, a retired health instructor who lives on a pension, said this year IRS agent William Pittman told "me he was going to teach me a lesson."

Her car was seized to cover the $12.08 bill for partial 1973 taxes.

And that's when the First Avenue Service Center lost its only chauffeur for persons who couldn't make it up the city's steep hills to Harborview Hospital or the Donable Food Store.

Willie Caldwell, center manager, said Miss Waters was the center's only driver. Federal funding for paid drivers had ended more than a year ago.

Miss Walters said the voluntary driving is her way of making up for not paying the tax.

"I decided that instead of that tax I could devote my time and money to work like this," she said.

Jim Conner, acting chief of the IRS collection division here, said the car was seized because the IRS didn't have enough information on the woman's bank account to attach it again.

Agents finally got her account information and were able to attach it. By that time the bill had risen to $106.01, the tax plus towing and seizure costs.

Miss Waters said Pittman, who has refused all comment, came to her home and asked if she wanted her car back.

Conner says some of the money will be returned because "we determined that the amount was too much."

Miss Waters was allowed to retrieve her car and now she's driving her friends up and down the hills again.

But she says she still won't pay for the Vietnam War.

James Disputing IRS Tax Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Band leader Harry James is disputing an Internal Revenue Service claim for an additional $29,000 in taxes from his donations to the University of Wyoming in 1968-69.

James claimed total value of about $75,000 for music scores and manuscripts which he said he donated to the university.

His 'last hope' is a sex change operation

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a "hermaphrodite." I have breasts like a woman, and the mind and emotions of a woman, yet the lower part of my anatomy is like a man.

I am 24, and my life has been pure hell. I feel like a freak, and have very few friends. I have wanted a sex change operation for a long time, but my parents are against it. They say I would be tampering with God's and nature's plan.

I have been away from home and financially independent for two years. I don't think I am wrong for wanting to be the sex I think I was meant to be, but I can't get anyone to agree with me.

I have talked to several ministers, and none of them has ever heard of this condition. They think I am "queer." I found one doctor who said he had heard and read about this freakish sexual development but he wasn't able to offer any help.

Abby, you are my last hope. Can you help me!

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Yes. Write to the Erickson Foundation, 4047 Hundred Oaks Avenue, Baton Rouge, La. 70808. And tell them Abby told you to write. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: In response to your statement that humans are the only animals that blush: You are wrong. Laboratory rats have been trained to blush. Furthermore, I have seen them blush in only one ear! R. E. I.: HOUSTON

DEAR R. E. I.: Something they heard, I presume!

DEAR ABBY: Some stupid wife signed "Day Ruined" didn't want her husband home for lunch because it upset her routine.

I made the same mistake. When my husband started coming home for lunch I asked him to please eat downtown because it upset my routine. He ate his lunches downtown. Pretty soon he started eating his breakfasts downtown, too. And then he started staying downtown for dinner.

He finally asked me for a divorce so he could marry the pretty little waitress who had been serving him his meals!

Fortunately before the divorce went thru I was able to win him back, but I never realized how close I came to having a RUINED life instead of a RUINED DAY.

WISER NOW

DEAR WISER: Wives, take note!

DEAR ABBY: What a dum dum—that wife who asked her husband to eat his lunches downtown because when he came home it "ruined" her day!

Tell him he can come to my house for lunch. It would make my day!

FARABEE FILES—Wichita Falls businessman and attorney Ray Farabee, left, confers with Secretary of State Mark White, center, and A. F. 'Prof' Edwards, long time Democratic Party leader, on recent changes in campaign regulations. Farabee filed for state senate in Austin. He is seeking the seat being vacated by Sen. Jack Hightower.

Ray Farabee Files For Senate Race

AUSTIN—Democratic candidate for state senate Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls has formally filed with State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin to have his name included on the May 4 primary ballot.

Farabee also visited the office of Secretary of State Mark White while in Austin. He discussed compliance with new state laws governing campaign reporting and financial disclosure. As required by the new law Farabee has filed the name of Jerry K. Estes, President of North Texas Federal Savings and Loan in Wichita Falls, as his campaign manager.

Farabee is a businessman and attorney who has not sought public office before. He is seeking the senatorial post that will be vacated by Jack Hightower who has filed as a candidate for U. S. Congress from the 13th district.

"It is unfortunate that the legislature did not make the new campaign ethics laws more clear," Farabee said. "I have talked with the Secretary of States office before embarking on my active campaign in order to gain a better understanding of both the spirit and the letter of the law."

Farabee launched his campaign with a meeting in Vernon followed by the Vernon Chamber of Commerce Banquet last Thursday. On Friday he was in Albany and at the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce dinner and on Saturday he was in Big Spring.

His schedule took him to the Quanah Chamber of Commerce dinner on Monday, to Childress on Tuesday, to Memphis and Silverton on Wednesday and to Plainview Thursday. Farabee had a Friday meeting scheduled in Iowa Park and a Chamber of Commerce dinner in Burkburnett on Friday night.

"This is going to be an active campaign," Farabee explained. "As a citizen who is willing to get involved, I am anxious to get others involved so this district will be as strong as possible. I do not believe you can represent people well unless you know them and keep in touch with their needs and interests."

Farabee concluded by saying that he plans to meet with the people in every part of the widespread 30th district frequently during the next three months.

Death Sentence Is Assessed

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Jurors assessed a death sentence for the first time under the new Texas capital punishment law Wednesday after finding John Devries guilty of murder while committing a burglary.

Defense attorney Joe Goodwin said the sentence would be appealed on grounds that it is unconstitutional. Formal sentencing was delayed pending the appeal.

Devries, 53, was found guilty in the death of Mrs. James Yardley who with her husband was shot and killed at their home last October in nearby Port Neches.

Jurors considered punishment about an hour before settling on the death sentence.

The first capitol of Texas, on the corner of Main and Texas Avenue in Houston, was built of wood. The state paid $5,000 per year rent.

Conference To Evaluate Vocational Education

Residents of the Scurry County area are invited to participate in a Community Conference scheduled in Snyder Feb. 19 by meeting with study groups now beginning to assemble data for the conference, Gene Robertson, Conference coordinator, said.

The Community Conference here is one of 16 to be held throughout the state this year by the Texas Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education. Participants in the community conferences will study the technical and vocational education offered in their own communities and prepare evaluations of these programs. The information gathered from the conferences will be used by the state council and state legislature in planning future technical-vocational programs for the state.

A steering committee has been named to work on the conference and its members are available for assistance and information. Bill Vestal is chairman of the committee. Members are George Patterson, Buford Browning, Horrace Bostick, Billy Everett, Enid Turner, Ricardo Corrales, Janet Wesson, Robertson, and Dr. Robert C.linton.

Group chairmen who are helping begin the local study program include John Short, high school vocational programs; Billy Roach, agriculture; Enid Turner, NAACP; Broadway Browning, construction (skills and crafts); Dr. Clinton, professional educators; Winnie Poyner, health; Mel Gilbert, industrial development; John Thomas, business; Janet Wesson, students; Rev. Henry Hartman, ministerial; Sefton Pickens of Colorado City, Chamber of Commerce; Laylan Bratcher of Colorado City, area vocational; George Stewart, petroleum; Rev. Tony Moran, LULAC; Evelyn Boone, RSVP, and J. M. Kayser, adult and continuing education.

The group chairmen are to name persons involved in their fields to help assemble data from those fields. Persons not contacted who would like to work with a study group are invited to get in touch with a group chairman or Robertson so they may be assigned to a group. Persons who would like to present information outside a group are also invited to contact Robertson to discuss ideas on vocational-technical programs.

Reports from the study groups will be presented orally to the Advisory Council at the Community Conference and a brief written report will be filed with the conference coordinator.

The groups will meet at a time or times determined by the chairman and group members. The staff at Western Texas College and Snyder public schools will be available to help groups who request their assistance, Robertson said.

General questions which the study groups are to consider in compiling data are these:

1. Do the local educational programs (public schools and college) offer a balance in preparing students for "living" and "making a living?"
2. Are there equal education opportunities for all groups of citizens in our community?
3. Are vocational, technical, and manpower education programs sufficiently comprehensive and available to provide all citizens to be adequately prepared for jobs in the community of employment area?
4. What are the major un-met needs for education in the community?

Foundation Is Ousted At SMU

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University President Paul Hardin has cited lack of space and scheduling problems in asking the Southwestern Legal Foundation to leave the campus.

Foundation workers and the SMU Legal Center shared facilities at the campus, but growth by the two organizations caused strains on facility use, Hardin said Wednesday.

He added problems developed over inevitable duplication of programs. The two groups, though separate, are professionally similar in educational activities.

"We have the greatest respect for the officers and trustees of the Southwestern Legal Foundation, persons of good will and integrity, and hope to maintain their friendship," Hardin said.

Foundation trustees function separately from the SMU board.

Hudnut Divorced

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Rep. William H. Hudnut, R-Ind., was divorced from his wife of 13 years, Anne Goodrich Hudnut, in Marion Superior Court.

Hudnut, a Republican, was elected to Congress in 1972. He was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Indianapolis before being elected to the House.

Pipeline Permit Inked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-delayed federal right-of-way permit for the trans-Alaska pipeline has been issued, but more hurdles remain before oil can begin flowing from Alaska's North Slope.

"We have closed only the first chapter of the book," Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton said in signing the document Wednesday. "Much work still lies ahead of us."

In Anchorage, Alaska, E. L. Patton, president of Alyeska Pipeline Service Corp., said: "Today's significant action does not represent a crossing of the final hurdle on the way to our goal."

Morton said construction of the 789-mile pipeline probably would would begin in late spring.

"With a little cooperation from the weatherman, I am optimistic that the oil of the North Slope will reach markets in the lower 48 states by 1977," he said.

The permit was signed on the same day that President Nixon said competing applications are expected soon on a natural gas pipeline from the North Slope, either through Alaska or through Canada.

The President ordered Morton to study and process the applications quickly and to study the need for additional oil and gas lines.

Before the first pipeline can be built, a right-of-way permit from the state of Alaska and other permits from the state and federal governments still must be obtained, Patton said.

Alyeska must also purchase land from the state for construction of a tanker terminal at the southern terminus of the $5-billion project at Valdez.

Morton said the pipeline project, long blocked by environmentalists who feared damaging oil spills, would be monitored more carefully than any such project in history.

The Prudhoe Bay oil fields on the North Slope, believed to contain at least 10 billion barrels of oil, were discovered in 1968.

Environmentalists obtained an injunction blocking issuance of the permit on grounds the proposed right of way exceeded the limits laid down in federal law.

Congress last year raised the limits.

Sen. Klothmann Is Withdrawing

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The race for the congressional seat being vacated by retiring U.S. Rep. O.C. Fisher, D-Tex., will be without State Sen. Glenn Klothmann.

Klothmann indicated late last year he would be a candidate for Fisher's seat but he said Wednesday, he has a "strong obligation to the people who elected me to serve their interests full time in the Texas Senate."

The Bexar County legislator said he was withdrawing "in spite of a recent survey which shows I am a strong contender."

Man Surrenders

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A man who surrendered to the FBI to face bank robbery charges because he was ill was being guarded at a local hospital today.

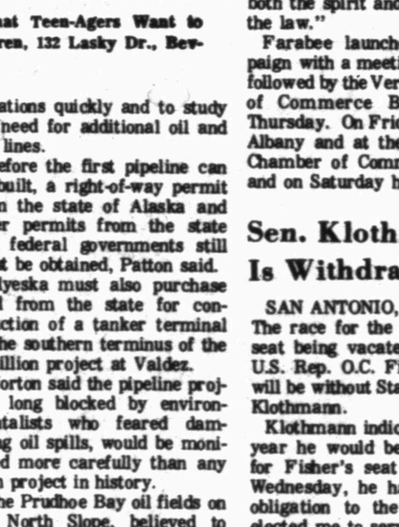

Ronald Stanley Hoyt, 31, came to the federal building here late Tuesday night and told a security guard he wanted to surrender to the FBI.

An FBI spokesman said Wednesday Hoyt was wanted in connection with the Sept. 25, 1973, robbery of the Valley National Bank at Phoenix, Ariz., in which a man obtained $4,892.10 after handing a teller a note.

Hoyt was taken to Brownsville Medical Center where he was listed in serious condition and being treated for a possible blood clot on his lungs.

The FBI said Hoyt, a native of Wood Lake, Calif., was indicted last October by a federal grand jury at Phoenix on a charge of bank robbery.
