As Long As He Lives—A Prophecy

Bill Hanger Told Fitzgerald the Impeachment of Jim Ferguson was a Crucifixion and Not a Trial.

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

JAMES E. FERGUSON, the stormy petrel of Texas politics was an unknown when he jumped into the political arena in the year 1914. He had been everything from a plowboy to a banker before he became the successor of Oscar B. Colquitt. In a commonwealth where the pro-democrats were in the majority he wrested the nomination from Thomas H. Ball a life long pro and champion of equal suffrage.

He had a plank that appealed to the tenant farmer, he promised if elected, to obtain state appropriation for the aid of rural schools, he promised to veto any liquor bill introduced by either faction and sent to him for approval. He was elected over the protests of the pro democrats and many of the machine leaders of the antis. All who read and think know what transpired during the first term of Ferguson as governor.

He had his land tenancy bill passed; he secured an appropriation of two million dollars annually for the aid of rural schools; his reign was neither peaceful nor stormy; he jointed forces with Joseph Weldon Bailey in 1916, kept the forty immortals at home, defeated Thomas B. Love for national committeeman and sent forty new immortals to the St. Louis convention where Woodrow Wilson was given a second nomination. He was refused a second term by his political enemies and forced to fight for a renomination.

* * *

CHARLES H. MORRIS, a country banker from east Texas, was his rival. This was another fight within the party, bitter as gall and as deadly as political animosity between man and man could make it. All who read and think in Texas know what happened after Ferguson had vanquished Morris and was given a second term.

He was impeached and ousted from office by the legislature and William P. Hobby became his successor. William A. Hanger was the leading legal advisor of Ferguson.

When the verdict was announced Hanger said to the writer: "This is a crucifixion and not a trial. Mark my prediction—as long as the man lives Fergusonism will be the paramount political issue in Texas."

Those who are opposed to the former governor do not hesitate to say it was not a crucifixion, but all the democratic voters of Texas, friends and foe alike of the former governor must agree that Hanger was something of a prophet when he predicted that so long as Ferguson lived he would be the stormy petrel of Texas politics and ever an issue in political campaigns.

* * *

HOBBY served the unexpired term of Ferguson and announced for reelection. Ferguson although disfranchised from holding state office, made the race against him. Hobby won by a large majority and women cast primary ballots for the first time. In 1920 Ferguson declared himself out of the democratic party and the candidate of the American party for president. Thousands of his followers went with him. He came back in 1922 as a democratic candidate for United States senator and the state committee, which was anti-Ferguson, ordered his name printed on the official ballot. He ran second in the run-off, in a large field, with Earle B. Mayfield winning first place. He backed George Peddy against Mayfield at the general election.

In 1924 it is not necessary to elaborate on what happened. The democratic state committee, with the same chairman and a slightly changed personnel denied Ferguson a place on the primary ballot but ruled that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson had all the qualifications necessary for a candidate for the high office of governor insofar as the Terrell election law is concerned.

There was a smashing drive with a large field of candidates. Felix D. Robertson ran first and Mrs. Ferguson second. Then came the runoff, the most exciting in the political history of Texas or any other American commonwealth with the largest runoff vote ever cast in the history of the state with a majority of 100,000 for the woman contender.

In the political annals of the republic it will be written that Texas was the first of the forty-eight states to nominate a woman for governor and that the democratic was the first of political parties responsible for the nomination.

* * *

THEN followed the injunction proceedings in the courts, this sweeping decree as well as victory handed by the supreme court for Mrs. Ferguson and all other women now or in the future who may aspire to office holding as to their eligibility before the law. All this scarcely two weeks prior to the holding of the general election in the coming month of November.

Just a week before the supreme court handed down its decision Judge T. W. Stephens who appeared for the plaintiff in the case, remarked to the writer: "I fear representative democracy is dead, that the direct primary and the ku klux klan are responsible for the coming of what some people call mob democracy in Texas."

This elderly judge, although he voted for Mrs. Ferguson, has contended all along that women is inhibited from holding public office in Texas or elsewhere.

This sum, he added, later was repaid to him by Joseph G. Ryan, vice president of the International Longshoremen's union. Bascom Slemp, but under sharp cross examination stated that he had taken it up with one White House attache.

Stotesbury, Philadelphia partner of J. P. Morgan. He told of collecting approximately $250,000 in Philadelphia for the Grundy committee of which he is a member.

Both Stotesbury and Grundy told the committee that they had no knowledge of the collection of funds for the republican campaign by any Pennsylvania organizations except the ways and means committee, the Union league, an old republican organ-

Brains To Aid Brawn Needed On Farm, Claim

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22.—Trained leadership is needed in rural communities, on farms and in church, to point the way to greater progress by the use of more brain and spiritual power and less absolute brawn power, according to Professor J. H. Kolb, college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, before the Catholic rural life conference here.

"He who makes this his chosen profession is making a contribution to rural life without precedent and to national welfare as well, for as goes the rural town and the country community, so goes the nation," Professor Kolb declared.

Agriculture, according to the speaker, is in need of the church "with its central human emphasis." An agricultural community without commanding ideals and compelling motives is handicapped, he added.

"Forces for justice, righteousness and usefulness need to be injected into the life of rural communities today as at few other periods in the history of agriculture," the speaker asserted.

JACKSBORO TO ANTELOPE ROAD PLAN DENIED

State Highway Commission Refuses Wichita Recommendation

TO ARCHER CITY

Decision Means No State Aid for Holliday Street Road

Recommendations of Wichita county that state highway No. 25 be routed from Jacksboro through Antelope, Windthorst and into Wichita Falls instead of coming from Jacksboro through any of several other proposed routings were denied yesterday by the state highway commission. The road, according to its present status, will be routed from Jacksboro through Archer city and into Wichita Falls over the present lake road paving.

The decision, county officials explained, may mean that no state aid will be available for a proposed pavement of what is known as the Holliday street road running south from this city to the Archer county line. It was indicated, however, that the matter was not yet closed so far as Wichita Falls was concerned.

Months of Controversy.

The controversy over the routing is one of several month's standing and hinges on efforts of several north Texas counties and cities to secure a paved highway to the southwest, giving access to Mineral Wells and points in that vicinity. The route, it seems, is definitely settled from Jacksboro on south, but its meandering between Jacksboro and Wichita Falls are not only undetermined, but have been the basis of legal and civic dispute of long duration.

As originally proposed, the route was to run from Jacksboro through the southeast corner of Archer county and thence into Wichita Falls. It would meet the present lake road, which is paved out as far as the spillway at Lake Wichita. In view of this and with the expectation of securing state aid, Archer county has voted a bond issue and has planned the paving of the route.

Opposition Developed.

Opposition to this developed, however, one complaint coming from Henrietta and Clay county which held that the most feasible routing would be from Jacksboro straight up the center of Clay county to Henrietta where it would connect with the proposed pavement of the Fort Worth road from Henrietta to Wichita county paving at the county line. Two or three other routes were proposed and Archer county's paving was effectually blocked by injunction proceedings.

In view of the controversy, a special survey was made by the state highway department several months ago. Officials here said last night

BUTTE, HECKLED, CRACKS BACK AT FARMERSVILLE

Tells Man In Audience No Bootleggers Support Him

4,00' HEAR HIM

He Calls Ferguson The Proxy Grandpa of Texas Politics

By TOM S. PETTEY,
Record News Staff.

McKINNEY, Texas, Oct. 22.—In his first encounter with hecklers in the brief Farmersville address this afternoon Butte demonstrated his quick wit. At no time was he at a loss for reply nor did he seem annoyed by his disturbers.

"Hurrah for Ma," shouted a leather lunged heckler as Dr. Butte started speaking. Butte smiled and the crowd of 300 laughed.

As Butte swung into the part of his speech referring to Ferguson's record as a democrat in 1920, another heckler cried "what about Ferguson in 1924."

Cheers Drown Heckler.

"I'll tell you," retorted Butte as the crowd roared its approval. "I haven't any bootleggers nor broken down politicians supporting me, and I don't want them on my side." The heckler's reply was drowned by cheers but a moment later another voice spouted: "You haven't gotten over the hill." "I'm over and on the other side," said Butte, "and there is a revolution sweeping over the country for or whether it's known in the forks of the creek or not."

"That's where Ma will get her votes," replied the heckler, scoring the first and only point.

"Three hundred present and only two against me," laughed Butte after the Farmersville speech. "That's a fair percentage and it's that way all over the state."

Democrats Preside.

R. C. Dial of Greenville, democrat for 42 years, introduced Butte and Charles Tatum presided. Democrats on the speaker's stand were: T. S. Letson, J. C. Jones, W. B. Shelton, Rev. V. L. Chopman, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. W. A. Kida, pastor of the Methodist church.

The penetrating wail of a fire siren at McKinney and the leather lunged voices of two hecklers at Farmersville only spurred Butte on to new efforts today and tonight. More than 4,000 were present at McKinney.

The McKinney fire was a finale and "George" proved his mastery of repartee in quieting the Farmersville disturbers.

Butte was introduced by Dr. C. A Gray, candidate for congress from Fannin county.

Taking his place before the loud speaker on the court house lawn, Dr Butte wearing his overcoat, raked Ferguson over the coals.

"Why, just the other night at Sherman Ferguson's chief spokesman, Joseph Bailey, was asked: 'Have you not said if Mrs. Ferguson is elected wouldn't Jim Ferguson really be the governor.' Bailey's reply, Butte said, was: 'Yes, I said it and he will. Do you want me to tell a lie.'"

Calls Him Grandpa.

"Oh, yes, Ferguson is the proxy grandpa to Texas politics," continued the speaker.

Dr. Butte told of a poll taken by the Baylor University Daily Lariat in which he received 334 votes and Ferguson 41. "College men and women know the right side of moral issues," he declared.

White In War, Red In Peace, Charged Pinks

Scorching Denunciation Of La Follette and Wheeler Heard Before American Defense Society.

"REDS COORDINATED"

New York Speaker Traces Combination of Radical Elements Ending In Third Party Movement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Martin W Littleton, prominent New York lawyer, in an address tonight which he said was non-partisan, told the American Defense society at the Hotel Commodore that the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. LaFollette was "manufactured in June 1921 by the combination of the revolutionary forces which are pledged to the overthrow of this government, one way or another."

After declaring that Senators LaFollette and Wheeler "enjoy the distinction of being the only two men who ever offered themselves for the first office of the country who honored the white flag in time of war and the red flag in time of peace," Mr. Littleton attempted to show how the "revolutionary forces" brought about the candidacy of LaFollette.

Began in 1921.

"The beginning of the co-ordinated effort of these forces," he said, "was on June 27, 1921 at the socialist convention held in Detroit. There a resolution was offered by Morris Hillquit and adopted and this was the first step in a coalition of the radical revolutionary forces."

"The next actual record which shows the gradual coalescing of the forces is found in the meeting held on February 20, 1922 at Chicago. This meeting called by William H. Johnston, president of the international association of mechanists.

Johnston, Mr. Littleton said, was a member of the executive committee of the civil liberties union. "They declare," Mr. Littleton said, "that advocacy of murder, insurrection or by any act, is within the legitimate scope of free speech.

"All of them (the members) believe in the right of persons to advocate the overthrow of government by force and violence.

"We want to also look like patriots in everything we do. We want to get a lot of good flags, talk a good deal about the constitution and what our forefathers wanted to make of this country and to show that we are the fellows that really stand for the spirit of our institutions."

Charges Townley Aided

About the time of the Chicago meeting, Mr. Littleton continued, "Benjamin Marsh" working with Townley who represented the non-partisan league, sent out a call for the known radical farmer movement to meet in Chicago February 18. x x x x x On February 20, the Townley delegates, representing the farmer group, moved over in a body to the radical conference called by Johnston.

This conference, Mr. Littleton said did not content itself "with the program of depriving the supreme court of the ultimate power to determine the constitutional acts of congress but they included also the acts of the legislatures of the various states."

"It is striking significant," said Mr. Littleton, "that within four months after this declaration Senator LaFollette declared his intention to introduce a constitutional amendment which would enable congress by the re-passage of an act held unconstitutional to make that act the supreme law of the land. It is even more significant x x x x that the day after that x x x x the American Federation of Labor at Cincinnati endorsed the LaFollette proposal."

Factions Consolidated

Mr. Littleton then traced the gradual consolidation of radical organizations and mentioned by name some of the prominent leaders including G. E. Ruthenberg, of the workers' party, Morris Hill-Quit, D. C. Dorman, Jay C. Brown of Chicago and others. "Meantime," said Mr. Littleton, "another organization which has been referred to as working in close association with the conference of progressive political action, known as the people's legislative service had been active."

Its organization dates from the year 1920. Its president is Robert M. LaFollette, its secretary and treasurer is none other than Mr. William H. Johnston the perpetual chief of the national committe, the director of the civil liberties union, the members of the council of the league for industrial democracy and defeated socialists candidate for governor of Rhode Island."

Wheeler Attacks Preacher's Views On G.O.P. Morals

Pink Candidate Says They Are "Either Ignorant Or Misled"

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Says Ministers Use Church's Cloak to Defend Conditions

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22—Speeches made here today by Senator Wheeler of Montana in furtherance of his independent vice-presidential candidacy all dealt at considerable length with criticisms of prohibition law enforcement under the republican administrations. He found a western conference of Methodist laymen in session in the city, and took issue with Dr. Clarence True Wilson, one of the national representatives of that church and a speaker before the conference.

Dr. Wilson, he declared, was "either ignorant or misled" praising President Coolidge before the gathering for the condition of law enforcement, and in criticizing Senator LaFollette.

"I am tired of ministers using the cloak of the church in political efforts to defend conditions which ought to arouse them," Senator Wheeler asserted at a noon meeting which Dr. Wilson attended.

At a night gathering where Bishop Edgar Blake of the Methodist church, who visited Russia in company with Senator Wheeler a year ago, sat on the stage, the speaker sought to use sections of testimony taken by the senate Daugherty investigating committee to support his allegation that prohibition enforcement had been a source of corruption in government. He also cited Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, a speaker before the Methodist conference, as having declared former Attorney General Daugherty to be "clean as an hound's tooth" prior to the senate inquiry.

Lutherans Face Issue Of Christianity Vs. War

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. — The United Lutheran church of America at the close of the first day of its convention here today faced the issue of whether a Christian may ever justify war. On the one hand was citation of the Augsburg confession, 394 years old, the first and still the recognized confession of the church; and the other a demand from various Lutherans for a new pronouncement. This is the anniversary of the signing of the Augsburg confession, said to be the first pronouncement of a protestant body on the war question.

The report of the committee, held in part, "to declare unequivocally that 'war is sin' is to declare that the powers that declare war are not ordained of God and have acted against conscience in their declaration. To assert that the pulpit, having espoused the cause of the nation during time of war is hypocritical if in subsequent times of peace it lends its voice to the destruction of war and the perpetuation of peace, is an unwarranted indictment of the consciences of Christian ministers. We believe that article 16 of the Augsburg confessions: 'Christians may engage in a just war and act as soldiers' is a correct interpretation of the teachings of Jesus."

Ex-Commander Of Legion Shot By Irate Husband

Stenographer Hired Two Weeks by Emery Causes Trouble

VICTIM INNOCENT

Declares He Knows No Reason for Being Gun Target

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—With the words "you broke up my home," on his lips Chedell Simpson, 44 fired a bullet today into the left shoulder of Colonel John G. Emery, veteran of Cantigny, the Argonne and St. Mihiel, and former national commander of the American Legion. The shooting was in Emery's real estate office, where Simpson's 26 year old wife is employed as a stenographer.

Colonel Emery was at a local hospital tonight recuperating from his wound, and Simpson, against whom Mrs. Simpson recently filed suit for divorce was in a cell charged with assault with intent to kill.

No Reason For Act.

Colonel Emery, who is 43 years old and married, could give no reason tonight why Simpson singled him out as the cause of his domestic troubles. The man's wife, according to Emery, has been employed in the real estate office only a fortnight and he had never seen either Simpson or Mrs. Simpson before that time.

"Mrs. Simpson had told me she had filed suit for divorce," Colonel Emery said today. "This morning she came to me and said her husband had come to the office again in a very intoxicated condition and that she was afraid of him.

"I walked into the outer office where Simpson stood and asked him what he wanted. When I refused to permit him to enter my private office, where Mrs. Simpson had remained, he pulled a gun, leveled it at me and shouted, 'you're a dirty dog and everybody knows it. You're trying to break up my home'."

Fired Two Shots.

Simpson according to Emery's story fired two shots, the first hitting Emery in the left arm and ploughing through the flesh to the shoulder where it stopped. The second shot went wild. Other persons in the office seized Simpson then as he aimed at Emery's heart.

Cruelty and non-support are charged against Simpson by his wife in her divorce bill. He was addicted to liquor and cruel when intoxicated, she charged. An injunction was granted Mrs. Simpson last week restraining her husband from visiting her pending the outcome of the divorce suit.

Colonel Emery served as Legion commander less than a year, assuming the office shortly after Colonel Galbraith was killed in an automobile accident. He has been active for several years in local welfare and civic affairs, and upon terminating his services as Legion commander he ran for the republican United States senatorial nomination, but was defeated.

WOULD MUTILATE HIM

Wounded Man Found in Divorcees Apartment Tells Tale

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Francis Foster Cunningham, divorcee and member of the Illinois Women's Athletic club, was taken into custody late last night after an attempt had been made to mutilate Ralph Regalo, 28, in her apartment.

Police found Regalo, who gave his occupation as a clerk, with an artery in his leg severed, lying on the kitchen floor.

Taken to Hospital

He was rushed to the Illinois Masonic hospital and later because police believed he tried to shield Mrs. Cunningham and "the other woman," he was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

Neighbors who heard the screams of Regalo called police.

According to Mrs. Cunningham, Regalo had been staying at her home for some time.

"He is a cousin of mine," she said. Regalo told the police he had been friendly with Miss Edith Jones, 25. Police after investigation failed to disclose any such person and believed he was lying.

Murder Threatened

"She threatened me and warned me to stay away from Mrs. Cunningham," he said. "She said she would kill me.

"I went into the Cunningham apartment to go to my room and she leaped upon me in the kitchen. She had a knife.

She attempted to mutilate me. She did not succeed, but she did slash the knife across an artery of my leg."

Police are seeking to pierce the identity of the "Jones" girl while Mrs. Cunningham is being held.

LAST SWINDLER LOSES

Lone Remnant of Norfleet's Gang In Dooley an Appeal.

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—The last of the group of alleged professional swindlers who were trailed over the country by J. P. Norfleet after he charged they had duped him out of $45,000, lost his appeal today before the court of criminal appeals. An eight-year sentence, four years on two counts, was affirmed against W. B. Spencer, who was tried at Fort Worth.

It was charged that Spencer and his associates accepted thousands of dollars from Norfleet on a fake stock gambling proposition. Norfleet then started out to bring the alleged fakers to justice. He traveled over a large part of the United States tracking them down and finally landed practically all of them in the penitentiary.

Spencer was brought from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., to stand trial. He was serving a sentence there on a similar charge.

LAUNDRY GIRL CONFESSES SHE WAS BLACKMAIL LURE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Helen Penrose, 24 years of age, who was arrested in a Jersey City, N. J., laundry where she was employed as a worker, has confessed that she was the lure by which a Boston black mail ring of lawyers extorted $50,000 from Albert Victor Rourke, millionaire artist, according to detectives who questioned her during the night. She also confessed that she was the lure in other cases that netted blackmailers more than $100,000, the police declared. She is being held for extradition to Boston where she is wanted on four indictments charging conspiracy and other offenses.

TEXAN, SEPARATED FROM HUSBAND, IS A SUICIDE

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Clementine Gilbert, 35, separated from her husband, Oliver C. Gilbert of Texas, committed suicide last night by asphyxiation, leaving a $10 bill pinned to a note to a friend asking that her dog, a gift from her husband, meet death in the same manner.

Friends said she married Gilbert 15 years ago when he graduated from the University of Minnesota. Since he went to Texas four months ago they said she had not heard from him. She has been despondent for some time, they said.

WANT TAX FOR CHARITY

Chinese Say France's Objection Prevents Plan of Famine Relief

PEKING, Oct. 22.—Plan of the central Chinese government to impose a special customs sur tax for relief of flood and famine sufferers cannot be made effective because France will not consent, it was declared today on the highest authority.

The Chinese government appealed several weeks ago to the powers signatory of the protocol of 1901, asking permission to place the sur tax. All the powers acquiesced except France, it was said today, that country making agreement contingent upon settlement in her favor of the gold franc controversy growing out of the remission of the Boxer indemnity during the war.

Unanimous consent of the protocol powers for imposition of the sur tax was necessary and as a result the measure cannot be consummated.

Yes This Is Loeb and Leopold

Prison life has already marked the millionaire murderers, Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., as these photos show. Contrast the photo (in the center), made at the time of their arrest, with those just made in the Illinois prison at Joliet and sent to the "rogues' galleries" in the police bureaus in various cities. Edwing Gould Admits he Handled His Affairs to Advantage

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Edwing Gould, continuing his testimony today in the $82,000,000 accounting suit of the estate of his father, Jay Gould, admitted that although he was one of the executors and trustees under the will, he permitted the estate's holdings in the St. Louis and Southwestern railroad to lie idle while he realized substantial profits on his personal stock.

Mr. Gould said that for 26 years following his father's death in 1892 the estate held 35,317 shares of common stock entered in its books at $6.70 a share and 20,560 share of preferred stock credited at $14.73 a share. He admitted that he sold his own common stock at $30 to $38, and 90,000 shares of preferred at $80 to $82.

When pressed by counsel as to whether the estate could have realized of the higher prices, Mr. Gould admitted that he thought the estate was "receiving great enhancement to its principal."

OIL WELL OR GAS WELL?

Railroad Commission Insists Upon Conservation of Gas.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. —The question of whether a well is a gas or oil producer was placed before the railroad commission today in the appeal of the Westland Oil syndicate of Eastland. Chief Supervisor H. E. Bell classified the well as a gas well and held that the gas must not be wasted in getting out oil, while the syndicate insists that it is an oil well and that the wastage of gas is incidental to production of oil.

COTTON WEATHER WAS GOOD

Weather Report Says Conditions Warm, Rainless, Sunshiny

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Crop and weather conditions during the week ending yesterday summarized today by the department of agriculture shows the week was warm, rainless and sunshiny throughtout the cotton producing states. Except in the extreme northwestern portion of the belt there was no rain reported from any point with substantially 100 per cent of sunshine in practically all sections. This made ideal weather for picking and ginning and also for maturing the late crop in the more northern districts.

The top crop made very good progress in central and northern Texas and Oklahoma. There was still some cotton in northern Louisana.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Coolidge Reform On Tax Questions Hit By LaFollette

"Saves at the Spigot And Wastes at the Bunghole," He Says

ATTACKS OIL LEASE

Declares Oil Still Being Pumped Out of Reserves Despite Corruption

PEORIA, Ills., Oct. 22.—Centering an attack on President Coolidge in an address here tonight, Senator Robert M. LaFollette independent presidential candidate declared that the chief executive "saves at the spigot and wastes at the bunghole."

"Coolidge is keen," continued the Wisconsin senator, "to use the economy plea to prevent the nation from discharging its just obligations to its world war veterans and old soldiers of the civil and Spanish wars and to its postal employes, but when it comes to the big wastes and grafts that are draining the public treasury, he suddenly goes blind."

Mr. LaFollette declared that Mr. Coolidge has "repeatedly declared that economy and tax reduction are the watch words of his administration."

Speeches "Platitudes"

"These are appealing words," continued the senator. "Every citizen wants to see his government conducted with due regard to economy and every citizen naturally wants his taxes reduced. Just what does Calvin Coolidge mean when he says he is for economy and in favor of tax reduction?

"You cannot tell from his speeches. They are made up of platitudes and copy book maxims. They are devoid of concrete proposals, either for economy or for tax reduction.

"It is only when we come to examine his acts that we can tell what kind of economy he is talking about and whose taxes he proposes to reduce.

Three Vetoes Recalled

"The economy record of Calvin Coolidge as president, consists primarily of his three veto messages—his veto of the soldier's bonus, his veto of the increase in pensions for civil and Spanish war veterans and his veto of increase in salary of postal employes.

"In contrast to these vetoes, the records show that Coolidge has consistently supported an increase in the military and naval establishments and has taken no action to stop the vast sums of waste, extravagance and graft in either the veterans bureau or the shipping board. His public record as president shows no interest in the prosecution and recovery of the billions stolen from the government by the war profiteers. He has shown no concern about the hundreds of millions of tax refunds that are being secretly made under the administration of Secretary Mellon to corporations in which Mellon is interested or to other corporations.

On Railroad Claims

"He has shown no interest whatever in the settlement of the claims of the railroads by the director general which are grossly extravagant, to say the least.

"It has been nearly a year since the senate took action to force protection of the naval oil reserves. But Coolidge and the two attorneys whom he has personally appointed have failed to stop the pumping of the navy's oil out of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills reserves. This oil is today being pumped out just as it was before the corrupt character of the naval oil leases was exposed and confessed."

PROTEST "LENINGRAD"

Soviet Name for City Will Be Taken From Boston Music Programs.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Complaints made to the trustees of the Boston Symphony orchestra over the use of the name Leningrad instead of St. Petersburg or Petrograd in programs of the orchestra will result in having the soviet name for the Russian capital of imperial days eliminated from orchestra printing, it is stated.

Serge Koussevitzky, Russian director of the orchestra, today disclaimed responsibility for use of the name.

"I would be the last to wish to honor Lenine and Trotsky," he said. "I have left my country because of them. I had a fortune of more than a million dollasr in your money and it is gone. They took it from me. I could not understand why the capital city of my country should be called Leningrad in the programs of our orchestra."

Among those protesting against the use of the name was Courtenya Guild, president of the Handel and Haydn society and brother of the late Curtis Guild, who was ambassador to Russia.

STILLMAN REUNION DENIED.

Mistaken Significance Attached To Divorce Developments.

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Anne Stillman's denial, through friends, that peace was imminent between herself and James A. Stillman was backed today by the declaration of Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, that he had not been informed Stillman intended to drop his effort to procure divorce.

Mills said the report of a possible reconciliation between the Stillmans probably was an exaggeration of the fact that Stillman recently withdrew his appeal from Justice Morschauser's decision allowing Mrs. Stillman $15,000 counsel fee to fight Stillman's appeal in the court of appeals.

Stillman's attorneys have appealed to the court of appeals from the decision of the appellate division upholding the supreme court's refusal to grant Stillman a divorce.

Consul Beat To Death On Operating Table Is Latest On Imbrie Case

Joseph F. Kornfeld, Minister To Persia, Brings Home Strange Story of Fanaticism In Far Off Teheran.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. — How Robert Imbrie, American consul at Teheran, was stoned to death by natives as he lay unconscious upon an operating table was related today by Joseph F. Kornfeld, United States minister to Persia, just resigned, who returned on the Leviathian with a report of the tragedy which he will submit to the state department at Washington.

"In Teheran as in most Persian cities," Mr. Kornfeld related, "there are numerous drinking fountains where are stationed self-constituted attendants who, in the name of a Mohammaden Saint Abbas, solicit alms. At the time of the Imbrie affair, there had gained wide circulation of the story of a miracle that was reputed to have occurred at one of these fountains only a few weeks before.

Believed in Miracle.

"The story was that a native approached this fountain to fill a gourd with water. 'In the name of Abbas?' asked the alms solicitor. 'No in the name of Bahai,' replied the gourd-bearer. Straightway he was stricken blind for the blasphemy; then, when he dropped to his knees and recanted with a prayer of apology directed to the saint, Abbas, his sight was restored.

"The fountain became the gathering place of thronged thousands, who tied themselves to it and lapped up the trickling water, or fought their way toward it and prayed.

Sought a Snapshot

"Imbrie heard of this. One day he strapped on a camera and, with his aide named Seymour, drove in a barouche to the miracle spot. Imbrie forced his way through the crowd to take a photograph. The natives surged around him, clamoring, and he fled to the barouche and drove away.

"Behind the carriage the infuriated natives ran shouting, 'stop him. The infadel has killed four of the faithful and poisoned the waters of the fountain'."

Although he was not wholly informed of events that immediately followed," said Mr. Kornfeld, "the list of conflicting reports was that the natives believed Imbrie's camera to be a weapon which silently dispatched death.

Overtake His Companion.

"They overhauled Seymour in an alley way where he had taken refuge and mauled him," he continued. they clubbed and stoned him until they clubbed and stonned him until the police rescued him and carried him to a hospital.

"Even then the outraged natives were not satisfied. They clamored for Imbrie's life in atonement to their Mohammaden Saint Abbas. They stormed the hospital, battered down the doors and, finding Imbrie unconscious upon an operating table, tore the tile from the floor and crushed out his life with them."

The state department already was in possession of evidence supporting the story he related, said Mr. Kornfeld. As for reports that Imbrie's death was the result of a long drawn conflict between oil interests of several nations, he declared it was "fanaticism not oil" that lay at the bottom of the tragedy.

After reporting at Washington, Mr. Kornfeld will go to Toledo, Ohio, to assume charge of a synagogue.

STAND FALLS; MANY INJURED

And Park Manager Keeps Ambulance Outside Two Hours

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—More than a hundred persons were injured, some of them severely, when a grandstand seating a thousand and filled to capacity, collapsed at the Roseland Panthers' football park.

While the injured, including several women with babies in their arms, were being dragged from the wreckage, the management locked the gates and refused to permit the police to enter.

It was two hours after the accident before ambulances and police and firemen gained entrance to the ground.

Navy Chief Who Opposed Fall Was Removed, Charge

Testimony In Government's Suit to Cancel Oil Lease Is Taken

DETAILS ARE TOLD

Interior Secretary Acted Against Advice of Naval Commanders

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Testimony was started in the United States district court here today in the government suit to cancel the lease and contracts of naval oil reserve properties to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, which E. L. Doheny, controlling shareholder, values at $100,000,000, and in the alleged conspiracy for granting of which the government charges Doheny paid $100,000 to Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior at that time.

Call Naval Officer.

Commander A. H. Stuart, United States navy, former officer in charge of the naval fuel oil reserves at Washington, was the first witness called by Owen J. Roberts, government prosecutor. Roberts said that Commander Stuart was placed on the witness stand to prove that a disagreement existed in the navy department concerning these leases; that the navy officer had not been in accord with the policy and was subsequently removed from office.

The taking of testimony was preceded by offering of documentary evidence, including the withdrawal order of President Taft by which the Elks Hill oil lands were withdrawn from public entry; the executive order by President Harding in 1921 directing that administration of the naval oil reserves be transferred to the department of the interior from the navy department and other documents bearing on the case.

Disagreement Resulted.

"In bringing out testimony to prove there was a disagreement among naval officials in the granting of the proposed leases, Roberts asked Stuart to relate his dealings with Fall prior to the granting of the leases to the Pan-American interests.

"After it was decided to make the lease, Admiral Griffin and I went to Secretary Fall and told him we had heard the United Midway was to be given the lease on part of number one," Stuart's testimony began.

"We objected to this and said it was not necessary to drill wells. Fall said he had already taken it up with the president, and had met wtih his approval. Fall said he would get proof of the approval, but did not until later. We left and went to the navy building and were then summoned back and shown the approval of the president. Shortly after the leases were divided."

STUDENTS FIGHT FOR VOTE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A legal battle to establish the right of students to vote and register was forecast in a statement last night by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university. Dr. Butler denied the charge that six hundred Columbia students had been colonized for illegal voting, and added the university will obtain counsel to protect the rights of all persons connected with the institution.

Mandamus proceedings will be undertaken, it was said, in the case of about twenty-five students and members of the faculty who were prevented from registering after being challenged on the ground that students have no legal residence.

Davis Says G. O. P. Cause of Third Party Movement

Demo Candidate Completes Final Tour of Indiana State

ON SPECIAL PRIVILEGE

"Equal Rights to All Men" Greeted by Storm Of Applause

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 22. — Completing his third and final campaign tour of Indiana with address tonight at Evansville and in the later afternoon at historic Vincennes, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, charged that the last three and one-half years of republican administration had produced the "third party" and offered with the help of a democratic congress to remedy "the disease which had brought it about."

Mr. Davis also pledged in the name of democracy to give relief to the farmers of the country; to bring about a thorough house cleaning of the Wahsington government; to put an end to bureau-cracies and install a government based on a sane, forward looking and progressive liberalism. In addition, Mr. Davis said he would cause the tax and tariff laws to be rewritten along the lines that knew no class or section, privilege or favor.

Result of Conditions.

Referring to conditions which he declared were responsible for the creation of the independent party, Mr. Davis said:

"Three and one-half years of power by the Harding-Coolidge administration has produced this radical third party which our republican friends complain split the republican party. They aroused the American people and have given the opportunity for men to offer new and strange doctrines and urge them on the people as the cure for all their ills. Will you seek to cure the patient by giving him an injection of the same virus that produced his disease?

"Suppose you renew the commissions of the men that have abused official power; that have surrendered themselves and their country to privilege; that have exhibited before the American people and the world their own impotence to take any forward step in the public interest. Do you think you will quiet radicalism by that? Do you think you will still the discontent in the United States by that? Will you allay the vast unrest which unquestionably pervades today the American people by giving them, over again, the same condition that aroused them? Why, to ask the question is to answer it. What will you do as patriots and as Americans? Is there no relief? I stand here to offer one.

Offers Progressive Liberalism

"In the name of the democracy I offer you a sane, forward-looking and progressive liberalism that knows no class or section, no petted favorite that believes it not the business of those in office either to give favors to their friends or to official power to punish their personal enemies; but to so administer the affairs of this government that every man, whether he be laborer or farmer, or business man or what not, may feel that he is an equal citizen resting under equal laws and with the equal care and consideration of his government addressed towards his needs.

"You ask me what the democracy would do if you trusted it with power? Well, I will tell you where it would begin. It would begin just where I believe the American people wants its process to begin; with a thorough house cleaning in Washington.

"Equal rights to all men and special privilege to none."

A storm of applause greeted this utterance by the nominee.

"It would re-write the taxing and the tariff laws of this country that no legitimate industry could be injured; so that no working man could be deprived of the opportunity for honest toil, but on the other hand so that no consumer in the United States would be unduly burdened to pile up profits for those who have written the law in their own interest."

NOT A LIVE ISSUE.

Henry Ford says Muscle Shoals is not a live issue with the Fords any longer and Collier's Weekly says the flivver billionaire has withdrawn his bid for the plant.

All the billionaires and near billionaires are flocking together in this campaign. They are backing Coolidge and Dawes. In the list will be found all the noted international bankers.

There is a reason for this. They believe in the Mellon plan of taxation. This is their American privilege. They believe in an income tax as high on an earned income as unearned income.

That is, that the producers of wealth of the country, which includes the farmers and the wage earners, should pay as high a tax as the sons of the idle rich who are neither producers nor wealth makers.

In addition to this they are opposed to a tax on wealth. They favor a tax of tangible property and brain and muscle. Birds of a feather are said to flock together. It is no doubt a legitimate flocking as the pocket book of a man is said to come first.

Henry was a wage earner twenty-five years ago. Now he is the second richest man in America. Twenty-five years ago he would have fought the Mellon plan of taxation. Now that he is a billionaire he favors the Mellon plan of taxation.

The proposition is as plain as the nose on your face. This is Henry's latest: "We are not in politics and we are in business. We do not intend to be drawn into politics."

Bosh. Henry was in politics when as the friend of Wilson he was ambitious to be a United States senator. He was in politics, big politics, when he endorsed the Mellon plan a year ago. He was in politics, big politics, when he declared for Coolidge for president for he knows that if Coolidge wins the owner of the Aluminum Trust will be the big man of the republican administration until 1928.

Why should a billionaire quibble? Why should a billionaire assume a false position?

CHEAP GAS.

New England is enjoying cheap gas as gasoline is now selling at the lowest recorded in ten years. Standard started the cut with a drop of one cent. The Gulf made a cut of four cents and then all the independents had to slash their prices. After the harvest is over the... will be fewer independents doing business in New England.

There are tricks in all trades and the straw vote is one of the tricks of political publishers who wish to make medicine or propaganda for favorite candidates to measure without openingly showing their hands.

John L. Andrews of Denison wanted to be governor. A hard hearted secretary of state pushed him off the official ballot. Crushed ambition may rise again.

What Today Means to You

SCORPIO.

Today's planetary aspects are not very good during the early morning, but in the afternoon become at once excellent with stimulating vibrations. A quiescent attitude should be maintained during the forenoon, but thereafter concentration and energy will carry all before it. This is especially true in any line of commercial or professional endeavor, provided, always, that your efforts are along conservative lines, as the signs do not counsel radicalism or untrodden paths. The vibrations will insure happiness and contentment in the family or social circles.

A child born today is destined to enjoy normal health, with a character founded on optimism, a disposition reflecting affection, and a mentality quite up to the general average. This child, with its cheerful outlook on life, will, at no time, be daunted by difficulties that would scare another; it will always look on the bright side and radiate hope and encourage out wherever it may be. The girls born on this day will prove cheerful helpmates and wonderful mothers. The boys will prove successes in almost any vocation that they may choose.

If today is your birthday, you, although possessing many admirable characteristics, do not enjoy a fixity or determination of purpose, and are too prone to be swayed by daily conditions that arise, rather than resolute enough to control conditions. You are "micawberesque," and willing to wait for something to turn up rather than turn up something for yourself. You are swayed by surrounding conditions, and are too disposed to despair and give up, rather than buckle on your armour and go out and fight to get what you know you want.

The mountain would not come to Mahommed, so Mahommed went to the mountain. You, however, would have lacked the initiative to do this, and would be still waiting for the unattainable. If anything is worth having in this world—either fame, success or happiness—it behooves the seeker to go after it and, by dint of labor and perseverance, attain it; nothing comes to one who is just willing to wait and hope.

It is often said that "every... comes to those who wait." Should not this, in the light of your experience, be paraphrased to read "everything comes to him who hustles whilst he waits?"

Opportunity is ever at hand and the only ones that make good are those who, when it comes, seize it with avidity, nurse it, and cultivate it to the degree.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

INCURABLES

Who are the people who eagerly stand
Outside of the bucket-shop door,
(A saving bankbook tightly clenched in each hand)
Till it opens for business once more?
Can these be the folks who lost all that they had
To the rascally bucket-shop man,
When the joint he conducted went all to the bad?
They can, little children, they can!

What will they do with the small store of cash
They have saved since the bucket shop failed?
(You know they demanded, right after the crash
That the rascally scoundrel be jailed?)
Will it go, as it went just a short time ago,
A hole in the bucket to fill,
And a new pile of wealth on a knave to bestow?
It will, little children, it will!

Can't folks ever learn that a hundred per cent
Can't be earned in a year, on the square?
Nor remember how what they had saved for the rent
Disappeared, like a smoke puff in air?
Can't they see that the shop where they're gathered today
Is the flimsiest kind of a plant,
And that again they are throwing their money away?
They can't, little children, they can't!

Will people like these gathered here ever learn
As the columns of crime news they scan,
Not to bank with a crooked financial concern
Or to deal with a bucket shop man?
Will they learn that promoters of schemes to get rich
Are mostly a mighty bad lot,
Even worse than garroters and gunglars and sich?
Little children, I fear they will not!

THE PRINCE

There were recently two significant arrivals in the United States.

One of these was a smiling, pleasant Dutch boy who was greeted by the society people of Long Island and made much of because he was heir to the British throne.

The other was six young men who had just completed a trip around the world in an airplane.

This illustrates the American and the old world point of view. The old world is inclined to honor a man because of his ancestors. The new world would rather honor man because of something they have done.

These young men had just completed a trip around the world by airplane. It was a significant and record breaking achievement, as significant in its way as the voyage of Magellan some 400 years ago. It illustrates the triumph of the internal combustion engine which is destined to work wonders in our future civilization. This engine was managed by men of courage and skill so that the circumnavigation of the globe is destined, in the future, to be a commonplace event.

Their triumph, in its way, is parallel to Fulton's steamboat on the Hudson, Morse's trans-Atlantic cable, the steam engine, and other events that marked the 19th century.

Their feat is another point in the history of nations, it is another breaking down of barriers, and tends towards the realization of the world's dream, which is of unity.

There is no doubt that civilization rests upon transportation. Not only has such a railroad as the Louisville and Nashville done more than all politics to reunite the north and south, but trans-Atlantic liners have done more than politics in uniting the world. This trip of the airmen is significant of great strides to come.

The visit of the prince has no significance except in the social world, which is very small. Of course all American parvenus are worshipers of royalty and do their best to get at least a glimpse of His Royal Highness. But it is an outbreak of curosity seekers and in nowise touches the real development of the country.

This is no disparagement of the prince, who seems to be a decent kind of boy and inclined to behave himself. But he is a nonentity, keeping himself well out of the road while British statesmen of another order manage his politics for him. He is a kindly, genial gentleman and all Americans wish him well but his visit to this country, in comparison to the coming of the airmen, was insignificant. He has done nothing, and can do nothing. He merely prolongs the institution of monarchy by being an ineffensive gentleman.

The world is a looking-glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it in turn will look sourly at you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion.—W. K. Thackery. ? ? ? ? ? W. K. Thackery.

Old Reliable

A BUSINESS GIRL

By MARK ALLERTON

"Now will you go, or will you wait for a policeman?"

He laughed in her face.

"A policeman? You to send for a policeman?" he cried. "A pretty story I could tell a policeman about you. You, who sold our secret figures to Kennedy, who sold them to Dicey's. You could deny that till you're black in the face. Who would believe you? I'll pay you out for this trick! By heaven, I will! I'll wait for your policeman. Tell him to hurry up. We'll see who's most likely to be taken in charge!"

Barbara gazed at him in horror. The violence of the man clouded her powers of reasoning. He looked, in his vindictive anger, like some loathsome animal. The voice of the operator was heard:

"You're connected with the police station."

Then another voice:

"Police station speaking. Who are you? What do you want?"

She forced herself to reply. She found it almost impossible to frame the words.

"I—I've made a mistake. I didn't want you."

She replaced the receiver. She remained with her back to Rutland. What was she to do now?"

Rutland seized his hat and left the room.

CHAPTER XIV
Office Gossip

It was a week later.

Five days had elapsed since prominent headlines in the financial press and inconspicuous paragraphs in the general press had announced that the board of trade had ordered an official inquiry into the affairs of the Great South railroad.

It was an announcement that stirred the city to the depths and rendered the shares of the railroad quite unmarketable, but to the general public, it meant less than the result of a match between two fashionable boxers for a substantial purse. To Alan Kennedy it was to mean everything.

Along with a famous chartered accountant and one of the few contractors who enjoyed the confidence of all investors, he had been appointed to make an investigation of the papers of the company.

It was a highly honorable, as well as lucrative, appointment. It stamped him as one of the leading and most reliable men in his profession.

He was already exchanging his dingy office for a sumptuous suite on Broadway, and there skilled subordinates were to be kept hard at work at the business, which seemed to descend upon him from the clouds. Everybody in his line had heard of Alan Kennedy and of his sensational leap into prominence: had heard of him and envied him. The only man who did not envy him was Alan Kennedy himself.

The fire of Alan's enthusiasm had turned to ashes. He did his work grimly, conscientiously, with meticulous care, putting all his brains into it. But his heart was not in it. That was in the keeping of a young and beautiful girl for whom, in the old days—a thousand years ago?—he had waited until she might be released from her office.

All the joy had gone out of his life when he might wait for her no more. His ignorance of what she was doing, of what had happened to her, or was happening to her, was a perpetual torment to him.

In books he read of lovers who clung to their regrets because of the happiness that had once been theirs. He knew that was a lie. He wanted to forget Barbara. He wished that he had never gazed upon her sweet face, never been enthralled by the magic of her voice.

He was at work in the New York office of the Great South Railroad company.

At the other side of the long, mahogany board table sat one of his colleagues. A mass of papers was before each of them.

They made notes from documents from time to time. Sometimes they summoned a clerk and sent him for more papers. They received immediate obedience. To the company's servants they were known as the "government men."

They had the powers of plenipotentiaries, it seemed. On their finding the company might be wound up, and a great many people would get the sack. They were therefore men to be appeased, men at whose bidding head clerks, departmental managers, office boys, commissionaries, came and went with exemplary promptitude.

The experience was new to Alan Kennedy, but it gave him no elation.

It was a "job," a part of the year's routine, the beginning of a new line, maybe, but one differing only in importance and magnitude from the one which had brought him enough money to stand Barbara cheap dinners in Greenwich Village.

He sat at his work examining dull documents coldly, dispassionately, now and again throwing one across to his colleague with a "You'd better look at this," accepting those which were flung towards him.

The clerks of the company had tried to guess his age.

"He's a young chap for a big job like this," one said.

"He's not so young as he looks," said another. "He's a hard nut, I should say. A devilish hard nut. I shouldn't like to be up against him."

"I know a fellow in his office," said a third, with romantic thoughts. "He tells me that Kennedy was engaged to a girl and that it's broken off. She was a stenographer."

"Kennedy's got on since those days," put in a materialistic youth. "No stenographers for him now. They say he's making a fortune. Lives on Riverside Drive, he does."

"Get out! He lives in a boarding house. No better than mine. I've been up there with papers for him. Much you know about it."

It was almost lunch time. Kennedy's colleague glanced at his watch.

HOW IT STARTED

THE CALENDAR.

Our calendar is the result of evolution, largely natural and assisted by the scientific efforts of the minds of many ages.

The necessity for some division and measurement of time must have been felt very early in the history of man. The first, because it was the most obvious, method of reckoning time, was by the changes of the moon; hence the division into months of twenty-nine or thirty days, the period of the moon's revolution around the earth.

Subsequently came the division of the month into weeks of seven days each, based probably on the moon's phases which are approximately seven days apart, each quarter of the lunar month, extending only three-eighths of a day beyond the seven-day week. This was known to have been the basis of the Chinese and ancient Peruvian week. The Babylonian week of seven days, however, is said by some authorities to have been derived from the sun and the moon with the five planets, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus and Mercury.

After a time it was observed that for many purposes the changes of the seasons were serviceable as marks of division, and thus came the division into years, determined by the motions of the sun. It was soon discovered, however, that the year of large division, did not contain an exact number of twenty-nine or thirty-day months and that modifications were necessary. Various expedients were employed, which constituted the first calendars in the modern sense.

Th ancient Egyptians calculated only by the seasons, disregarding the change of the moon, and produced a year of 365 days divided into twelve months of thirty days each with five days left at the end of the year.

The Jewish year consisted originally of twelve lunar months, a thirteenth being introduced to accommodate it to the sun and seasons.

The Greeks in their earliest period reckoned according to the real lunar months, twelve making a year and about 594 B. C. Solon introduced in Athens the mode of reckoning alternately thirty and twenty-nine days to the months ,with an occasional adjustment for the extra days.

The Romans are said to have had originally a year of ten months which was subsequently changed by the priests, who had charge of this matter, to twelve, but with so much confusion that Julius Caesar took the matter in hand and produced in 46 B. C. the Julian Calendar which is practically identical with that in use today. The difference is that the length of the year instead of 365 1-4 days as he assumed it to be, is in reality eleven minutes and fourteen seconds less!

So perfect was the Julian style of reckoning that it was generally adopted in Europe and with a slight change has prevailed ever since to make up for the difference of eleven minutes.

Dorothy Dix

Shall She Park Baby and Go Out With Her Husband or Devote Her Evenings to Her Child? Shall She Marry Her Mother's Choice or Her Own? The Girl Who Doesn't Qualify for Matrimony.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband seems to need entertainment and amusement constantly. We are good pals and enjoy the same things, therefore he always wants me with him, and gets peeved if I refuse to go. I appreciate having a man who enjoys taking me out, but the trouble is that when we go we always have to park the baby somewhere.

What I want to know is: Should I refuse to go and let him go alone if he wishes and stay with the baby, or should I leave the baby, who is always in good hands, to accompany him? I am between two fires—my desire to be a buddy to my husband, and to do justice to our three-year-old and the people who are so wonderful about taking care of her.

MODERN PAL AND MOTHER.

Answer:

Go with your husband every time. You can hire some safe and reliable woman to take care of the baby, but there is no safe and reliable woman you can get to look after your husband.

A man who is of a gay and pleasure-loving disposition is just bound to have some woman to play around with, and if you refuse to be his playmate you may be certain that he will find some other woman who will. If you refuse to go with him for a few evenings, while you sit at home and watch the baby sleep, he will find out that he can do quite nicely without you and you will be left undisturbed in the nursery.

Many a wife loses out because she refuses to put with her husband. She doesn't want to do the things he does, and she either won't go along with him or, when she does go, she is a spoil-sport who interrupts the most hilarious joke at a vaudeville show to wonder if the nurse has forgotten to warm the baby's milk or who ruins the flavor of a supper at a restaurant by complaining about the price of everything.

These women forget that the people that we love most, the people who are bound closest to us, are not those to whom we do a duty, not those with whom we work, but they are those with whom we play, those who enjoy the same things we do and with whom we have a thousand joyous memories in common.

I grant that it may not always be convenient for a woman to step out with her husband. His tastes may not always be her tastes. There may be a thousand times when she would rather sit at home and darn socks or read a novel than to grab her hat and go with him. But the point is that if she wants to keep her husband she has to keep up with him. It is a condition and not a theory that confronts us. And it is much safer to park out the baby than it is to park out a husband.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—If I marry George I feel I am doing wrong toward my mother, as it would be against her wishes, although she knows nothing against this young man. But she has set her mind upon my marrying Frank, who is 20 years my senior, but who has a little money, which seems very appealing to mother. Mother is a widow and, in a way, depends on me. Therefore I may be in duty bound to sacrifice love and my own happiness for my mother's happiness.

Answer:

Never. No mother in the world has a right to sell her daughter in marriage to gain ease and comfort for herself, or to force her daughter into an uncongenial marriage to gratify her own preference as to a son-in-law. And no girl is called upon to make a living sacrifice of herself to her mother. It is selfish and wicked of the mother to ask it, and it is foolish and weak of the girl to do it. And no good ever comes of it.

If a mother absolutely knows that the man her daughter is thinking of marrying is dissolute and immoral, or drunken, or lazy and worthless, she is right to move heaven and earth to keep the girl from wrecking her life by marrying him. But, absolutely, that is as far as parental interference should go in a match.

The mere fact that mother doesn't care for the color of the man's eyes or hair, or the business he follows, or the church he belongs to, or the family he comes from, and that she does prefer some other youth whose mother she knew, or who has an automobile, or who goes to her church, gives her no authority to coerce the girl into breaking off with the one and marrying the other.

It is the girl who has to live with the man she marries, and not mother. Therefore the girl has a right to pick the man out and select him according to her own tastes and instincts, for marriage is the most personal thing on earth, and nobody else can decide for us the things that we find congenial or distasteful in a husband or wife.

Nor is mother's judgment infallible in husbands. I have seen mothers make their daughters marry men because the men were rich, and in ten years I have seen the money gone and the man reduced to poverty, and his wife without either love or money. And I have seen mothers refuse to let their daughters marry boys who were not in their social caste, and I have seen these boys rise to power, and place, and wealth.

So don't let mother pick out your husband. Do that for yourself, and then, whatever comes, you will have love for a consolation prize.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of nineteen, with a good position in an office, and earn good wages. I am engaged to a man eleven years my senior, but if I marry him I will have to live with his mother, and I am not sure whether she and I will get along together or not.

I do not like to sew or keep house, and I do not care for children, but my fiance does. In his early life he went around as much as he liked, but now he is ready to settle down and make a home, while I am young and feel that I should be enjoying myself. But I do love him and hate to think of giving him up. X.

Answer:

My dear X, you cannot have your cake and eat it, too. You cannot have all the privileges of a married woman and duck the responsibilities.

Certainly no girl has a right to get married until she cares enough for one man to be willing to give up all other men for him, and to find more pleasure in his society than she does in jazz parlors. Furthermore, it is a dishonest thing for a woman to marry a man if she is not willing to make him a good and comfortable home, for that is her part of the matrimonial partnership. And, above all, it is a crime for a woman to marry who is not willing to have children.

As you do not qualify on any of these points, and especially as you would have to live with your mother-in-law, I think you had better stick to your good job until you are in a different frame of mind.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE
Bridges of Words

Donal McMillan, frozen in his little schooner in the Arctic, thousands of miles from civilization, sat down every night and listened to the day's news—to lectures by eminent men, and to the voices of people from many sections of the world.

In return he kept them informed of what he had learned on his important voyage of discovery and observation. Had he, during his sojourn, met with disaster, a rescue expedition would have been organized and on its way to help him within a few days of the accident.

The radio has bridged all the seas and continents with a bridge of speech. Never again will man, wherever he may roam, be shut wholly off from his friends, as were Columbus, Magellen and even Peary.

Whether or not the radio will soon bring about a common language, which at least some of the peoples in every country of the world can speak, has become a source of fascinating speculation.

And a common language will do more to hasten a mutual understanding between people which will lead to universal peace than any other thinkable agency.

Man has become the most powerful of created beings because he possesses the power of thought transference, of which the lower animals are capable only to an extremely limited degree.

Many of the differences between people which have led to war have resulted from misunderstandings, due to their inability really to know what was going on in each other's minds.

Had the discoverers of America been able, on their arrival on a strange shore, to speak the language of the natives, they could easily have disposed of the hostility with which they were received.

Had the nations of the world all the same language and the same literature, even differences in religion could not have divided them so widely as they are divided today.

Enmities result from different mental training, and from national aspirations which are its fruit.

If the peoples of all the world were taught the same speech, educated in the same way, inspired with the same ambitions, there would be far less substance to the shadow of war which still lies menacing and gloomy over the face of all the world.

In time, the radio will go far towards promoting a common speech, and a common speech will go far toward bringing about a mutual understanding.

In the meantime, it has taught the people of the remote sections of the world that there is not so much difference between men—that life may be as interesting in China as it is in London, and that the habits of a nation do not necessarily make its people the enemies of all other nations.

The greatest problem that this earth has to solve is the war problem.

It is quite possible that we now have found in the radio one of the most important factors in its solution.

Have You Been Told?

That Nebraska would abolish all political parties under a constitutional amendment which is to be voted on at the November election.

That non-partisan leaguers are responsible for the amendment and that both democratic and republican leaders and newspapers are up in arms against the proposition, fearing the amendment will be adopted.

That the farmers and wage workers of the state are for the adoption of the amendment and there is every indication that it is going to pass and its passage will eliminate all ballot designations.

That State Auditor W. H. Shanks of Kentucky said to be the ablest politician in that state predicts that Kentucky will go democratic by an overwhelming majority in November, that Senator Stanley will be reelected and the democrats will capture a district now represented by republicans.

That President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor says that no man with an ounce of brains believes that the federation leaders can deliver the vote of any one and the only vote that he can deliver is his own and that goes to La Follette and Wheeler if he lives to cast it.

That Samuel Gompers says that no attempt to set aside a law of parliament would dare to be made by any court in Great Britain as when the parliament passes a law it is the law and the courts must interpret it in accordance with the purposes as expressed by parliament.

That there are many Americans who would be perfectly willing to see Samuel Gompers return to the land of his birth if he prefers British institutions, including the courts, to American courts and institutions.

That Judge John R. Wallingford of the Canal Zone district court, after a savage attack upon the La Follette platform, dropped dead from heart failure.

That no platform center of the political brand has dropped dead in the states since the beginning of the campaign and that the scorpion of all the political orators, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, promises to make one hundred speeches before the coming of November election day.

That Frank P. Walsh, former chairman of the war labor board and a democrat until the La Follette cause was launched, in a recent speech branded William Jennings Bryan as "the greatest hypocrite in America."

That Frank P. Walsh, who has ever been a radical of radicals, says the only solution to the problem of higher railroad rates is the La Follette demand for public ownership of American railroads.

Times Change In 43 Years W.C.T.U. Delegates Find

Smoking and Bathing Revues Joined With Alcohol Now

AGAINST CHILD LABOR

Urged Change In School Texts to Teach Dangers of Booze

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 22.—Forty three years ago a band of women organized the Texas Women's Christian Temperance union. In that day skirts swept the floor—and the streets; bustles as a matter of feminine style were considered "tasty" as the expression then went; women's waists were laced until they seemed to vie with their necks in size, and bathing suits which now have apparently reached the irreducible minimum, had skirts attached, and moreover custom demanded bloomers.

Taking cognizance, it appears, of the march of events in the matter of bathing suits, the W.C.T.U. of Texas in annual convention here placed a ban on what is now known as the bathing revue.

"We believe them," the resolutions adopted at the convention just closed recite, "to be a violation of the laws of purity and decency, and we reaffirm our protest against them."

Many other subjects were touched upon in the resolutions. Beginning with a pledge to "renew service until we shall see a world freed from the domination of alcohol," the declare "unalterably against any modification of the Volstead code, which would admit wine or beer or otherwise weaken the enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment," and take a pledge to vote for no candidate for congress who will not stand by the constitution.

Want Texas Changed

Physiologies used in the Texas public schools, they believe do not emphasize as required by the scientific temperance instruction law the effect of alcohol and narcotics upon the human body. They also believe, according to the resolutions, that the teachers of the state would be glad to obey the law if proper books were furnished. Therefore, the convention urged the members of the new state text book commission to select only such physiologies for use in the state schools as "contain lessons emphasizing the effects of alcohol and tobacco upon the human body."

Cigarettes are an evil, the convention asserted. It advocated a vigorous campaign in homes, schools, colleges and churches "against this harmful narcotic" and urged that copies of the state cigarette law be posted in such places as sell them. In this connection the convention asked school boards to employ only teachers who do not use tobacco, especially as "it is known that numbers of teachers indulge in cigarette smoking in the presence of students."

Against Child Labor

The resolutions place the organization on record as protesting against the Texas legislature turning down ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution and approves cooperation of the W.C.T.U. with the Texas committee on prisons and prison labor for better conditions in state penal institutions.

Returning again to the subject of alcohol, the resolutions urge that the legislature pass a bill prohibiting the issuing of liquor permits to druggists and physicians.

Finally, taking note of the flurry which occurred on the day of the convention when a number of delegates temporarily withdrew because Mrs. Claude de Van Watts of Austin, was renominated for president, the resolutions declare that "we as a body go on record as most heartily endorsing the attitude of our state president in not committing the W.C.T.U. to any party or candidate, but standing for principles only."

Fed Child Blood From Her Arm To Keep Life Aflame

Heroism of Woman for Another's Son Found In Tragedy

HUSBAND IS KILLED

Auto Plunges Off Precipice Of San Bernardino Mountains

FED CHILD 11 ....

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 22. T. C. Kelty, missing since Saturday, was found dead at the foot of a precipice off the state highway in the San Bernardino mountains today. His wife was alive but injured and Meredith Waterbury, five years old, also was alive, kept from death by thirst and starvation by blood from Mrs. Kelty's arm, which she had gashed to save the child.

The missing automobile for which posses have been searching was found crushed at the foot of a 900-foot drop off the highway. Kelty, who was driving, apparently had been crushed to death in the fall.

Mrs. Kelty and the child, a daughter of Mrs. Meredith Waterbury of Hollywood, were found about 200 feet further down in the chasm where they had been thrown when the automobile plunged from the roadway.

The woman and child were injured, but it was announced by physicians they probably would live.

Mrs. Kelty, partly delirious, told how she had opened a vein in her arm and had fed the blood to the girl to keep her alive throughout the chill mountain nights.

Kelty's son was attracted to the spot where he found his father's body by the bark of a dog that had been a companion of the elder Kelty.

MONEY IN EVERY CREVICE.

Bonded Caretaker Is Placed Over Estate of Deceased Woman.

WINCHESTER, Va., Oct. 22.—A bonded caretaker has been placed on guard at the residence here of Miss Martha Shumate, wealthy spinster, who died last week leaving a hoarded fortune stuffed and crammed in nearly every nook and cranny of the house.

The guard was established when crowds lured by the reports of hidden treasure threatened to overrun the premises. Bank officials said the woman had drawn several thousand dollars from her account recently to distribute in modest bequests among her friends. It also became known that hardly a receptacle in the house has failed to give up money. Clocks, picture frames, covered plates and cracks and crevices poured out old gold and bank notes. Much of the gold coin is said to be of old mintage; many pieces from the California mint coined while the gold rush was at its height.

Miss Shumate was the last of a prominent Frederick county family that had conservative riches through a century.

LADY ASTOR GOES STRONG.

Former Nancy Langhorne of Virginia Hoped to Win Vote.

PLYMOUTH, England, Oct. 22.—The prospects of Lady Astor, who is standing for re-election to parliament in the Sutton division of Plymouth, are regarded as particularly bright.

The former Nancy Langhorne of Virginia, shows no weariness and keeps her audiences intoxicated with flashes of wit and repartee.

Expressing her aim in a recent speech she said: "I will fight socialism to the last ditch and leave the socialists in it."

She also believes the Anglo-Saxons should stand together, declaring that if Great Britain and the United States worked with each other they could establish peace in the world.

BAT CAVE IS VALUABLE.

Government Retains It as Preserve On Account of Deposits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Discovery of mineral deposits in Bat Cave, in Arizona, has prompted the interior department to retain for the government the site, embracing about 500 square feet which was sought by the Santa Fe railroad.

Mineral in the form of guano, it was explained today, is reported to be present in large deposits and the original rock debris in the cave appears to be saturated with nitrates and phosphates. The mineralization is ascribed to the fact that the cave for many years has been the breeding place for millions of bats.

RACE HORSE FOR A NICKEL.

Cheapest Price Since Gomez Went for a Clay Pipe.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 22.—The story of a thoroughbred that was sold for a nickel at Empire City track during the present racing meet was told today.

Reprisal came out of one of the races so lame that his owner, Frank Kelley, a veteran turf man, was in a quandary as to how to dispose of the animal.

"Why don't you sell him?" asked Tommy Marx.

"I would if I could find somebody that would part with five cents," said Kelley.

"You're sold a horse," answered Marx and he gave Kelley a shiny buffalo nickel and led the animal away.

Reprisal will go into the records as the cheapest horse that has been sold since Billy Lakeland sold Maximo Gomez to Bill Clancy for a clay pipe.

Extreme Youth No Murder Defense; Lad Gets 16 Yrs.

Boy Who Waylaid And Killed Jones County Attorney Loses

CRIMINAL APPEALS

Three Murder Cases, One With Life Sentence, Are Affirmed

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Three murder cases, one carrying the death penalty, were affirmed by the court of criminal appeals today.

Joe Brown, negro, of Houston, must pay with his life for the murder of Frank Armstead, another negro, on the night of June 2, 1923. It was charged Brown shot through a window in a house where Armstead was stopping. The weapon used was a shotgun and the deceased was struck in the back.

Jose Hernandes of Dallas county must serve a sentence of 99 years for the killing of Geronimo Trevino, who was struck with an automobile jump on November 21, 1923. His sentence was affirmed.

Extreme youth failed to save Theodore Smith from a 16-year sentence for the killing of J. C. Randel, an attorney of Jones county. Randel represented Smith's father in a liquor trial. The chief witness against the elder Smith was C. T. Clark. Young Smith waylaid Randel and Clark as they were riding in an automobile on a country road returning from the trial. He intended to shoot Clark, the testimony said, but the bullet struck Randel by mistake.

Smith entered a plea that at the time of the shooting he was under 17 and therefore should be prosecuted as a juvenile delinquent. By the time the trial came up he had become 17 and the court held it was proper to try him on the murder charge.

The life sentence of J. H. Graham of Fort Worth on a charge of killing D. L. Hainey was reversed without opinion.

The following proceedings were had in the court of criminal appeals:

Affirmed: E. G. Anderson from Tarrant; Ed Coleman from Shelby; W. S. Spencer from Tarrant; W. B. Spencer from Tarrant; Frank Hill from Dallas; Buel Lamar from Dallas; Noel Jasper from Dallas; Oscar Wallace from Grayson; Tony Banks from Cooke; Ben Williams from Wichita; M. D. Payne from Jones; Buel Lamar from Dallas; Joe Brown from Harris; Pedro Castillo from Milam; Jose Hernandes from Dallas; Theodore Smith from Taylor; W. T. Wilson from Shelby; Ed Wright from Hale.

Reversed and remanded: J. H. Graham from Tarrant; W. M. (Bud) McMullen from Navarro; Bud Davis from Cass.

Judgment reserved; relator granted bail in sum of $7,500: Exparte Bass Mullins.

Appellant's motion for rehearing overruled: Roy Thorne from Wichita; Hill Casey from Williamson; Aaron Lindsey from Williamson; Lunsford Woody from Callahan; John Knots from Tarrant.

Appellant's motion for rehearing overruled without written opinion: John Knott from Tarrant.

PIMPLES QUICKLY CLEARED UP

So-called skin diseases are caused by poisons from the perspiration becoming congested in the tiny pores and glands of the skin because they can't get out. Unhealthy skin holds them back and you know what must happen when you continue to let this condition exist. For this reason "skin lotions," etc., can't possibly help you any. You need what is known as Black and White Ointment, which heals the sores, builds up the tissue of the skin, makes it active, so it naturally expels all the acid poisons which the system must throw off through the pores. Then, pimples, blotches, "breaking out," eczema, etc., quickly disappear.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced in generous packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have Black and White Soap, too, so you can keep your face, neck, hands and arms lovely and clear.—Adv.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE IS a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

WATER.

The Color of Water in Relation to Its Purity.

By A. M. McPHERSON.

Some people have remarked how much better the water looks in Lake Wichita since Lake Kemp water has been turned in and have thought that on this account the water may be much purer than before when it had such a muddy look.

Pure water is of course clear water. That is, water that contains no impurities of any kind must be clear, but the opposite does not necessarily hold true. Clear water is not always pure water.

Settling the mud or clay out of water generally removes a great many of the injurious bacteria which may be in it. But, settling mud does not remove mineral impurities that may be dissolved in it. Sea water is generally clear but it contains much salt. The reason for this is that mud is suspended while salt and other similar impurities are dissolved. There is a considerable difference between the two.

Silt or mud in irrigation water does not generally detract from its value. In fact it may improve it as the mud may add considerably to the fertility of the soil. The mud and silt in the waters of the Nile have been keeping up the fertility of Egypt for untold centuries. Clear water on the other hand may contain alkali which will injure the soil or it may carry lime such as the water in ake Kemp which is a benefit to the soil.

Water may be clear, taste good, and be free from all mineral impurities and still be very dangerous to drink on account of bacteria which live in it.

It is probable that the introduction of Lake Kemp water into Lake Wichita has improved the quality of the water in certain respects and for some uses. No doubt settling the mud has removed many of the bacteria. It has certainly improved the appearance of the lake. Nevertheless the water should be treated as it now is before being introduced into the city mains.

TRANSCENDENTALISM DISCUSSED AT CLUB.

"A transcendentalist regarded thought a spirit and not matter as a true reality," Mrs. Albert Lane said in her address to the Junior Travel club Wednesday afternoon at the library when she spoke on "Ralph Waldo Emerson and Transcendentalism." Mrs. Lane gave a brief biography of Emerson and then traced the effect of transcendentalism in the educational and religious life of the time and showed its effect on Emerson's writings.

Mrs. Lane Is Leader.

Mrs. Lane, leader for the lesson on Emerson, called on Mrs. Sam Holliday, who read a paper on Emerson as a poet. In reference to nature expressed in his poetry, Mrs. Holliday showed his ability to describe in every day life the scenes about him, giving for example his reference to the growing of moss on the tree trunks and how the northerly direction might be found from that.

"Throughout nature he believed there was rhythm and unity expressing God," she stated. "He felt that 'beauty was its own excuse for being.'" He believed in a philosophy whose rules made human life happier.

Emerson an Essayist.

Mrs. G. H. Watson discussed Emerson as an essayist, taking up his style and his place in literature, explaining "there is no literary genius without freedom of opinion. Emerson as a preacher, believed in the love of Christ as Christ, he believed in Christ as a philosopher, but it is strange that he never mentioned the crucifixion of Christ."

In the round thle discussion following the reading of the papers, talks were made concerning essays by Emerson, "Friendship" was the essay most frequently quoted. The essay on "Compensation" was another frequently referred to.

Mrs. Wayne Somerville, president, presided. She called on Mrs. O. T. Alles to read the program for the next meeting. She showed the relation between the lessons the club had studied since the opening of the season. The writers, Thoreau, Hawthorne and Emerson, nature writers were contemporaries.

Postpone Election.

Election of a delegate to the state federation at Amarillo was postponed until a later date.

Quotations from Emerson were answered at a roll call by Mesdames O. T. Alles, F. T. Datson, E. C. DeMontel, E. T. Duff, J. J. Fennessy, G. C. Johnson, W. E. Hunter, Albert Lane, Thelbert Martin, B. Now We Know Coolidge Laughs; Wichita Falls Woman Saw Him Do It

Mrs. M. Pois Back from The East, Gives Her Impression of the World Series, Walter Johnson And "Blubber" Jonnard's Brother.

President Coolidge does smile!

He even laughs!

There is positive proof of it in Wichita Falls for Mrs. M. Pois, who returned yesterday from a trip to the east, swears to the fact that she saw him laugh. She sat near him at the world series game at Washington.

"Mr. Coolidge enjoyed the games as much as we did, for he cheered his team and seemed to appreciate the plays," she declared.

"Walter Johnson, the pitcher, is in real life the big, brawny fellow the newspapers represent him to be. Our interests were turned, however, to Jonnard, who pitched one inning for the Giants, for Mr. Pois and I knew his twin brother, Blubber Jonnard, who played with the Spudders this year. His family showed great interest in the games and were enthusiastic over his playing.

It was while Mr. and Mrs. Pois were in New York that the dirigible ZR-3 landed. Mrs. Pois told of seeing the German crew and the interest people showed in them.

"Last Saturday we saw the football game between Notre Dame and the Army at the Polo Grounds in New York City. The crowd was the biggest I ever saw, more than 60,000 were there.

"At Madison Garden we saw a prize boxing match, a match between the champion boxer of Cuba—I forgot his name—and some American. The Cuban was knocked out in the third round.

"We saw many of the good shows in New York. Among the actors we saw William Rogers at the Ziegfeld Follies. On the whole, the trip was most enjoyable."

Mrs. W. S. Curlee accompanied by her daughters, Monette and Becky, has gone to Mexia to be with her mother, Mrs. L. F. James, who was injured in an auto accident Friday. Mrs. James was in a car with relatives, riding between Waco and Mart, when the car overturned. Her injuries were not thought serious. Mrs. Curlee and family were not notified until Tuesday, when X-rays showed no bones broken, but the back severely wrenched.

Miss Glenore Fisk has gone to Vernon to speak to mothers and their daughters on the Camp Fire movement. Friday she will be a guest of the Lions club at their weekly luncheon and will address them on the same subject.

Mrs. Roy A. Jones, 2110 Eighth street, who was injured in a fall at her home Tuesday morning, is reported improving. In the fall, she struck the back of a chair which fractured two ribs.

Misses Sadie Adickes, Jo Tucker and Anderson Kemp have returned from Fort Worth and Dallas, where they spent the week-end.

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth McMann, who has been quite ill, is improving slowly, according to report, and is distinctly better the last few days.

Judge J. W. Akin, who is suffering from a prolonged attack of sciatic rheumatism, is reported not much improved.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Proctor, John, Jr., and Miss Margaret have returned from a visit to the Dallas fair. With them was their house guest, Mrs. C. T. Burns of Lubbock.

Mrs. W. E. Bishop has returned from Dallas, where she attended the fair and visited in the home of Mrs. Frank W. Lynn in Oak Cliff.

Mrs. R. J. Nolte of Shreveport, La., has accepted a position in this city with the Texas Pipeline company in their general office. R. J. Mathews, who formerly held the position, is now with the Texhoma Oil company.

Mrs. Fannie Nichols has gone to Texarkana and Prescott, Ark., to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Pois of 906 Broad returned yesterday from an extended tour through the east. They report a pleasant trip and especially did they enjoy the world's series at Washington and New York.

SCANDAL IN GRAND CANYON.

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 22.—Another scandal is biding in the Grand Canyon of Colorado, Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, told a democratic mass meeting here last night.

LETTING IT GROW BACK.

Deauville Witnesses Interesting Antics to Kill Bobs.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The attack on bobbed hair, opened at Deauville, now is being fully developed at the start of the Paris autumn season. The main support of bobbed hair, its opponents declare, is the difficulty of presenting an attractive appearance during the intermediary period while the hair is growing again. To overcome this the hair dressers are making a special show of devices for camouflaging scanty locks.

MARTIAL LAW IS LIFTED.

Soldiers Ordered to Outskirts of City in Canton.

CANTON, Oct. 22.—Martial law here has been lifted and soldiers ordered to the outskirts of the city. The city gates have been demolished.

Further fighting is feared, owing to the dissension over control of the city. Thousands are leaving daily.

Auction sales of loot are being held. Soldiers are accepting ridiculously low prices for valuable articles. British Sikh troops have arrived from Hong Kong to protect foreign concessions and citizens.

YOUNG ARRESTED AGAIN.

Two Officers at Herrin Charged With Assault With Intent to Kill.

MARION, Ill., Oct. 22.—S. Glenn Young, formerly a paid dry raider of the ku klux klan in Williamson county, John Compton and Leonard Barrass, the latter two of Herrin, were brought here tonight by Ora Thomas, deputy sheriff, accompanied by two squads of national guardsmen, after they had been arrested in Herrin on a charge of assault to commit murder.

A large crowd gathered around the court house here while they were making bond, but the soldiers held the spectators back with fixed bayonets.

The arrest of the three grew out of an encounter this afternoon between John Garavaglia and Barras as they were leaving the court, in which Garavaglia had represented two girls who had been arrested on charges of having made remarks about Mrs. Barrass.

BARRYMORE OUT OF PLAY

Actor Won't Appear in Drama by Wife, Which Caused Suit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Arthur Hopkins, manager of John Barrymore, today issued a statement in behalf of the actor in which he set forth the latter's version of the suit brought by Miss Sophie Treadwell, alleging similarities between her play "Poe" and a play by Barrymore's wife, Michael Strange, called "The Dark Crown."

"In the last year Mrs. John Barrymore wrote a Poe play," Mr. Hopkins said. "Mr. Barrymore wanted to appear in it, but both he and Mrs. Barrymore agreed that the play should not be produced if Miss Treadwell felt it was in any way an infringement upon her play.

"Mr. Barrymore arranged a meeting with Miss Treadwell, explained the situation to her, and read Mrs. Barrymore's play to her. Miss Treadwell said she felt the play infringed upon her work. Thereupon Mr. Barrymore, although disagreeing with her, abandoned all idea of permitting Mrs. Barrymore's play to be produced."

Mr. Barrymore is in Florida on a fishing trip.

DIVIDENDS NOT TAXES?

They're Drilling For Oil on County Farm of Cowley County, Kansas

WINFIELD, Kan., Oct. 22.—The first visible steps in plans which may make Cowley county a taxless county is the building of a rig by Al Dye for a deep test oil on the county farm, two miles southeast of this city. The rig is nearing completion and drillers expect to spud in within a week.

Situated in the southeast corner of section 34-32-4, the well is only two miles southwest of the big 1,100 barrel gusher just completed by the Emerald Oil company and, oil men believe, in the right trend for production. With a few wells like this producing crude worth $1,500 a day, one-eighth of which would go to the county, many citizens soon may demand dividends rather than pay taxes.

MOVIE LUR EHIS UNDOING

Railroad Attorneys the Cameramen When Plaintiff Did Tricks.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 22.—A desire to become a slapstick comedy artist in the movies today had cost Francis J. Powers $75,000.

Two years ago Powers suffered a broken neck in a street car accident. He sued the Milwaukee Electric Railroad and Lighting company for $75,000 for the injuries. Before the case was heard he was picked out by two "movie producers" as the type they were looking for for comedy work. He was taken to a roller coaster, where for an hour, he did neck twisting and comedy acrobatics while a movie camera clicked.

At the trial the "movie" was introduced as evidence of his physical fitness. The "movie producers" proved to be railroad company attorneys.

MORRISTOWN, N. W., Oct. 22.—Charged with bathing a baby in boiling hot water and causing its death, Ethel Burke, an 18-year-old crippled Troy Hills girl, was locked up in the Morris county jail here. Also facing a charge of manslaughter, the girl's mother, Mrs. Della Burke, who conducted a baby farm at Troy Hills, was locked up with Ethel.

Their arrest followed the finding of the coroner following the death of the 20-months-old son of George Estelle of Newark.

Eight other infants which had been at the Burke home were taken to the homes of neighbors.

HORSEWHIPS WOMAN; FREED.

Assailant of Wife of U. S. Minister to Switzerland Released

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Considerable indignation has been aroused in Paris diplomatic circles by the action the Swiss authorities in virtually acquitting the peasant who horsewhipped Mrs. Hugh Gibson, wife of the American minister to Switzerland.

The peasant has given two days' imprisonment, and then promptly released, although the diplomat's wife was ill for several days.

The incident arose when Mrs. Gibson sounded the horn of her motor car at the peasant, who was blocking the road with his cart. Instead of moving aside, the peasant got out of the cart and lashed Mrs. Gibson several times across the face with a horsewhip.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22.—Leopold-Loeb tactics having failed in the trial and the supreme court having upheld their sentence, five men will die on the scaffold Friday for the murder of a bank car driver.

These men, whose deaths will establish a hanging record for Canada, are Guiseppi, Serafini, Michelo Valentino, Terry Frank, Frank Bambino and Louis Morelone, a Montreal detective of international reputation.

It never has been established who fired the first shot that killed the driver, but the supreme court upheld the British law, which considers all equally guilty.

French Wives of Ex-Soldiers in Chicago Hold First Meeting.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—What is believed to be the first association of its kind in America has been formed by a group of Chicago French women who were married to American soldiers in and after the war. It has been named the Sororite Franco-American society and held its first meeting in the clubroom of the Alliance Francaise.

The object, according to its founders, is to bind together the French women who came to the United States as "war brides" and to preserve the language and traditions of their native country. They hope to expand it into a national organization.

NEW GUARD OVER SLAYERS

Jacob Franks to Create Fund to Keep Loeb and Leopold In.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. — Another guard—silent, deathless and powerful—was placed today at the narrow cell doors behind which Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb must spend "life and ninety-nine years" for the murder of little Bobby Franks.

It was the millions of Jacob Franks, bowed and broken father of the victim. Franks has aged rapidly since his son's death. He foresees the day when, after his death, a lenient governor, a shrewd lawyer and a public indifferent through the lapse of time might combine to restore freedom to the slayers. During his life he feels he can prevent this, and today he sought a method by which the eternal vigilance over the slayers might be prolonged when he was done.

To this end he announced plans for the creation of a trust fund to be set aside legally by his will and held in reserve for use only to combat any and all legal efforts to release the two slayers.

ROBBERY WHILE CROWD BUYS

Chicago Drug Store Customers Unaware of Held-Up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—"I have a pistol here," whispered a quiet looking man to Miss May Murphy, the girl cashier of a south side drug store here, last night. "Act naturally or I'll blow your head off." The girl handed over $120 in a manner so natural that no one in the crowded store appeared to pay any attention to the occurrence. The robber then stepped behind the counter, and, after appearing to consult upon a business matter with the manager, C. J. Rush, was allowed by Mr. Rush to remove $510 from the safe, which the manager opened for the bandit. The robber joined an associate at the door after this, and oth drove away. Two men, believed to be the same ones, robbed a cigar store of $200 earlier.

He usually is operating in the dark, but yesterday it became known he had bought a majority of the shares of the Mittel Deutsche Credit bank, which would be the seventh important bank controlled by him.

Chemical plants, countless metallurgical enterprises, insurance companies and hotels have been assimilated by the new financial wizard through slever bourse speculations, although most of his money was made in real estate.

U. S. Discovers That Monopoly Controls the World's Supply.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. — The tightest foreign monopoly ever inflicted upon the United States has been discovered.

Today the department of commerce announced that the Netherlands had cornered the world's production of quinine and that 90 per cent of the crop harvested on Dutch estates was under the monopoly. A quinine pill is one of the essentials of American civilization, used as a panacea for a lot of troubles, ranging from the well known "bad cold" to swamp fever. Compared to it the foreign monopolistic control of sisal and rubber is a mere nothing.

Chicago Court Makes Effort to Stop Family Arguments.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week Mrs. Rose Kopoun will do all the talking in the Kopoun household and there will be no "back talk" from her husband, George Kopoun. Superior Judge Harry Lewis so ruled today after hearing evidence in Mrs. Kopoun's suit for separate maintenance.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays the husband can talk and Sundays the couple must not argue, Judge Lewis ordered. He told them to try the schedule and see if they could not patch up their differences after both said "arguing" was the cause of their troubles.

Why Humble Oils

Are Service Insurance for Your Car

The amount of pleasure and service you get from your investment in a car depends, in a great measure, on how well you keep all bearing surfaces in the car greased.

A thin little film of oil between bearing surfaces is all that protects your car from quick and serious depreciation and permits you to drive it over the road at your will.

Due to neglect and the use of poor-quality lubricants, many motorists find that their cars are "all used up" after three years. Friction has taken its toll, and Mr. Motorist has either to spend a lot of money for a complete overhauling of the old car or to buy a new one.

If the average car is kept properly lubricated, it will serve for many years more than three, without excessive costs for repairs and replacements. There is no secret to it—just use the right quantity and grade of Humble Motor Oil and Humble Greases.

Humble Motor Oils and Greases are carefully manufactured from low-cold-test crudes. Each product is the very best for the purposes recommended, and is specially made to withstand the severe conditions under which it is called on to serve and protect. Their correct use is real insurance that your car will serve you long and faithfully.

Humble Motor Oils and Greases are sold by conveniently-located dealers. Look for the Humble Signs.

Humble Oil & Refining Company

Texas produces about 115,000,000 barrels of oil a year, and consumes less than 25% of it. The oil industry employs thousands of people and adds much to the taxable wealth of the State.

REAL CLASSICS BILLED SATURDAY IN CONFERENCE SHOATSKIN WAR

Probably Southwestern Champs Will Be Decided in Skirmish Between Aggies and Mustangs

Moleskin warfare that would do justice to late November hostilities are carded over Texas and the southwest this week-end. Southwest conference grid mentors are busily pointing their machines for an unusually attractive billing Saturday which involves a pair of conference tilts and two intersectional squabbles.

Two more conference contenders, barring the possibility of tie games, are destined to tread the path of elimination Texas university's Longhorns traversed the past week-end at the behest of Morrison's rollicking Mustangs. Attention is centered on Fort Worth and Dallas, where a quartet of the five undefeated conference elevens will lock.

There are strong grounds on which to reason that out of the red war at the Dallas stadium Saturday between S. M. U. and Dana's fighting Aggies will emerge the conference championship of 1924.

The victor of the T. C. U.-Rice struggle in the Frogs' new stadium, also Saturday, true, will carry a potential threat to championship aspirants. But the play of these teams to date although fairly impressive, fails to give them the powerful rating of either the Mustangs or Farmers.

WEEK-END GAMES.

Friday.

At Commerce: East Texas normal vs. Abilene Christian college.

At Brownwood: St. Edwards college vs. Daniel Baker.

At Waxahachie: Southwestern vs. Trinity.

Saturday.

At San Marcos: Sam Houston vs. Southwest Texas.

At Brownwood: Centenary vs. Howard Payne.

At Dallas: S. M. U. vs. Texas Aggies.

At Canyon: West Texas vs. Simmons college.

At Fort Worth: T. C. U. vs. Rice.

At Little Rock: Arkansas vs. Mississippi.

At Stillwater: Oklahoma A. & M. vs. Phillips.

At Waco: Baylor vs. Austin college.

The game little fighting squad of T. C. U. Horned Frogs are given a slight edge before the game with Heisman's Owls, but the Frogs can't see it that way. Matty Bell and his athletes are worried to a frazzle—not so much over Heisman's eleven but over the vaunted Rice mentor himself. The 12 to 0 defeat of the Owls last week by Louisiana State was more or less a fluke. The Christians realize this. Poor breaks by the Ricemen accounted greatly for the two L. S. U. touchdowns.

But in fighting ability and offensive attack unless radical changes have been made this week in the Owl machine Bell's Frogs are the better aggregation by a narrow margin. Rice has shown little of an offensive ability, but has produced sudden and erratic spurts of stubborn resistance. The Frogs have found themselves powerful enough to carry through four games undefeated, although each contest was won by narrow squeaks. Then, too, the Christians are severely handicapped with injuries. This phase and this alone should there be a T. C. U. defeat Saturday probably will be the only reason for the loss.

Bears Point for Aggies.

Some of the dopesters over the Baylor Bears will find the going tough in the contest with Austin college. But Bridges is not worrying about the Kangaroos. He's pointing for the A&M battle next week. Baylor probably will take it easy in the Austin game, winning by no very large score.

Arkansas should beat Mississippi. Defeat by Baylor last week does not argue the Razorbacks are not still a powerful eleven. This game, being of the intersectional variety, will not affect the conference race.

Oklahoma A&M likewise should have little trouble in defeating Phillips, already conquered by the Longhorns.

Stewart and Texas university apparently have given up all hope of stopping the Florida Alligators in the other intersectional clash slated for Austin. The badly mangled Longhorn, not as strong even at its best as many varsity machines of other days, will enter the affray determined to keep the score down as low as possible, but doubtless with no idea of conquering its highly touted opponent.

But back to the feature bout of the card—Just at the present moment the Texas Aggies present the most solid front in the conference. With a fine line flanked by two capable wings, a versatile backfield and the best kicker in the conference, they have had no trouble this year, have amassed more points than any other conference squad and maintain the only unscored upon line, and these in face of the toughest of opposition.

Standings Not at Peak.

The Mustangs, observing closely the creed of Morrison and Presland, have not yet reached the peak, and despite the perfect season recorded thus far are the low-scoring team in the entire conference, and their record is flecked with an opposition score of 12 points, representing two field goals and a touchdown. This, however, must be discounted. Some few might have been felt a week ago because of the record, but they proved conclusively in their Saturday engagement that the attack is flexible and they can score almost when they need it.

The remaining games of both the Mustangs and Farmers are conference affairs, and it must be obvious that a slip can not be made. Real football must be played from Saturday on by both teams, even the slightest mistake will be fatal. S. M. U., by right successive, engages the Farmers, T. C. U., Arkansas, Baylor and the Oklahoma Aggies, while A. & M. must meet the Mustangs, Baylor, T. C. U., Rice and Texas university. At no point along this lane is there anticipation of a set-up, every opponent being capable of victory.

Both teams undoubtedly will come to the point Saturday and the winner will be favored to assume the current honors should this point be maintained. Bible shot his team out early, evidently desiring to see just what it could do, but S. M. U. has gone about the matter methodically and, it might be said, strategically. But one point is assured: two teams meet Saturday at top speed and the impact of the clash should be heard for several hundred meters:

A. & M.'s record this year is amazing. It has scored 174 points in 5 games and 40 of these were against a team touted and lauded to the heavens as a fast-moving unit which brooked no delay, the Arkansas Aggies. A. & M. simply crushed the Aggies, establishing a fine claim to recognition with that feat alone. But consider the record of S. M. U., a total of 38 points scored in four games, and the difference in coaching style must be obvious. Morrison seemingly has been content to win and let it go at that.

Scores Mean Little.

A. & M. supporters must not be misled by the difference in scoring ability of the Farmers and Mustangs. The Methodists have not compiled a formidable record; indeed, the figures would not strike terror even to a scholastic team, but the fact that the Mustangs are undefeated must count for something. A. & M. does not possess the versatility or flexibility of attack of the Mustangs, regardless of the enormous five-game score.

The individual records of the eight conference teams are:

OWLS OUTPLAY L. S. U.

Rice Invades T. C. U. Stadium to Give Cowtown Grid Treat

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 21.—While the Rice Institute varsity is opening its conference session with a game in Fort Worth against Texas Christian university next Saturday, the Rice freshmen will entertain the home fans by matching skill with the Terrell school eleven from Dallas.

The Rice Owls have won two games and lost one so far but the one lost was against L. S. U. and they outplayed L. S. U. consistently. The defeat was due to bad breaks rather than bad football. Fort Worth will see some big league stuff when the Owls open up against the Horned Frogs.

Johnson Repays Coffeyville, His Old Home Town

Veteran Washington Hurler Fans 11 and Starts Winning Run

YOUNGSTERS GO WILD

Celebration for Walter Is Greatest Given Him In Kansas

COFFEYVILLE, Kans., Oct. 22.—Walter Johnson presented Coffeyville a ball game in return for a day of heroworship and thanks.

With his good right arm he mowed down eleven of the enemy by way of the "smoke ball" route. Then in the ninth he cracked out a sacrifice hit that paved the way for a sudden and glorious victory. It was a game of tense moments and tie-up scores, cheered by a crowd of ten thousand persons.

For a town like Coffeyville, ten thousand is a great crowd. Altogether it was Coffeyville's biggest Walter Johnson day, its biggest ball game, its biggest crowd. And one of the biggest days in his life of big days, the veteran Washington hurler said.

All Caney There.

Caney, which furnished the baseball opposition—and mighty stiff it proved to be—was out to a man, it appeared. Visitors from Parsons, Chanute, Thayer, Sedan, Chautauqua, Independence and other neighboring towns were here. Some came from as far as Tulsa and Kansas City.

The parade signals came about an hour and a half after the schools closed at noon. Whistles shrieked, sirens screamed, the lanes of motor cars parked up and down Walnut street and the intersecting streets honked. Everybody thronged the curbings and peered south of the plaza at Walnut and Ninth streets.

In the lead came Walter's flashy new sedan, given him by ardent Washington fans. Walter sat in the front seat beside his wife, who drove. He wore a gray Washington uniform, almost the color of his eyes. His curly brown hair shone in the sunlight. Down the street came the car a band playing behind.

Great "Walt."

"Howdy, Walt! Hey, Barney!" came from the streets.

"Hello, John! What say, Harry!" was the answer.

Many home town folks call the pitcher "Barney."

All along the line it was that way. Walter nodding his head, waving his arms, saying "hello." He was greeting everyone in real Kansas style—unaffected as an old shoe, as the boys town knows Walter to be.

Fine for the grown-ups and Walter's winter cronies to fete him this way. But what was that behind the line of civic clubs' cars and baseball teams? Children! Hundreds and hundreds of enthusiastic boys and girls trudging along behind their hero.

Then The Real Thrill.

It was at Forest Park, east of town, and not far from Walter Johnson's home, that the youth of Coffeyville got its real thrill. The grandstand was jammed in half an hour after the parade broke up. Now the word was passed around that Walter was going to give the playground league winners their pennant. Everybody on their toes!

Braun Bentley stepped forward on the diamond in front of the thousands and called for the playground team. The nine boys, their heads up, chests swelling, stepped proudly out. Their ages ranged between 10 to 14.

Bentley handed a vivid yellow pennant, black-trimmed, to Walter. The great pitcher smilingly presented it to the captain of the boys' team with a short bow. How that boy's eyes did beam, and they were matched by the beam from the eyes of every other youngster on the place.

"Fine work!" commented Walter, shaking the young captain's hand.

Then he went down the line and shook hands with every player.

"Keep it up, boys," he said.

"Maybe," observed an older man with a kind look in his eye, "maybe those boys would remember that handshake of Walter's, eh?"

Then he added: "If there's any player in baseball today who can shake a boy's hand and tell him it pays to play the game square, it's Walter Johnson. He has eighteen years of unspotted record to speak for him."

Keynote of Celebration.

Those words expressed the real keynote behind Coffeyville's honor day for Walter.

The baseball game was far from being a makeshift contest merely to show off Walter. Caney had come, team and town, to take home the cherished honor of a ball game won against Walter Johnson.

Caney had a team of cloisters, who more than once connected with Walter's easier swings. But when Walter bore down—! At first base was his brother, Earl Johnson. He was just as tall, and even lankier than his famous brother.

Behind the bat for Walter crouched an old friend, "Gabby" Street, and a smooth working battery they made. "Gabby" caught Walter five years, 1907-12, when he was a member of the Washington club. He is manager of the Muskogee, Okla., baseball team now.

ANOTHER "THREE WISE MEN"

Garbisch, Wilson, and Hewitt Veterans of Army Grid Machine

An eastern football writer refers affectionately to Captain Garbisch, Harry Wilson and "Tiny" Hewitt, as "the three wise men" of the Army eleven. Garbisch is said to be playing in his eighth year as a "varsity" player, having starred four years on the grid at Washington and Jefferson before entering West Point, where he is playing his fourth season.

Harry Wilson was a star at the Penn State eleven during his years at that institution. Hewitt starred at the University of Pittsburg until the athletic rules in force there ended his days.

All three must indeed be considered veterans of the game

Anything Can Happen in Golf!

"Anything can happen in golf." When two players can drive 227 yards and then walk up to the little pills and find them lying there on the fairway side by side—touching, why, anything can happen! This actually happened at Gullane in November, 1905.

Animals often interfere with golf balls. Once on a low lying course in England a player holed his chip shot from about thirty feet. That is, he thought that he'd holed it, for the ball rolled across the green and fell into the cup, but it was no sooner in than out again, followed by a large frog. Did the gentleman hole his shot or not? And shouldn't a rule be passed forbidding frogs from sleeping in the bottoms of the cups?

Mr. Arnold W. Duclos, K. C., of Canada, had an experience with an animal golfer, too. He was playing the thirteenth hole on the Rivermead links at Ottawa when his ball hit a branch of a tree and stopped on the edge of the fairway. A squirrel immediately ran down the tree, picked up the ball, and ran away with it to its nest.

Aubrey Boomer, former French champion, once unintentionally pulled a "Joe Kirkwood," when at St. Anne's on May 2, 1923, he hit the ball high in the air and then couldn't find it. Boomer and those with him searched high and low, but the ball was gone—in fact, nobody had seen it going—it had mysteriously disappeared. Then, Boomer found the ball in the pocket of his coat! He had put too much cut on it, and sent it straight up into the air. Aubrey penalized himself a stroke for touching the ball, and promised not to do it again!

Trammel And Brown Clash Here Tonight

Mickey Savage Billed With Jimmy Guest In 10-Rounder

DUKE REARING TO GO

Negro Battle Royal to Be One of Program's Features

Hamp Brown, Oklahoma mauler, tonight will receive his chance to get back at Duke Trammel, so to speak, for that skirmish last winter in which Hamp toted off the lesser portion of a judges' decision. The pair are billed by the American legion to hook up in a 12-rounder in the new legion amphitheater, 1505 Lamar.

Both boys are on hand, and each seems in fit condition for the gruelling test ahead. It will again be the old case of a slugger pitted against a boxer. Hamp the boxer may find the reception rather unpleasant, for Duke the slugger has declared himself feeling fine, and rearing to step Brown once and for all times.

Both Jimmy Guest and Mickey Savage are on hand and ready for their 10-rounder. Savage has been fighting out west and bowling the boys over. He recently won a 10-round decision over Eddie Sorey of El Paso in Rotan. And he stopped Joe Kelly of St. Louis and Johnny Reynolds of Lubbock each in five rounds.

Guest comes heralded as the Houston sensation, whatever that means. He's comparatively unknown here, but carries a scrapbook of formidable size. Promoter Wofford believes this bout will be a whizzer.

There are to be one or two preliminaries, but names of the principals were not announced yesterday.

The card is to be topped off with a good old-fashioned negro battle royal. Wofford intends to shoo a bunch of the bigger fellows of the Wichita Falls darktown section into the arena so this portion of the program is expected to be a knockout both literally and figuratively speaking.

Junior College And Coyotes In Light Workouts

Indians Ready for Devol, But High In Poor Condition

ELECTRA DUE TO WIN

Crimson and Black Unable To Practice Hard For Game

The Junior College Indians and high school squad breezed through a light workout Wednesday with forward pass scrimmage drawing most of the attention.

Coach Mosley has declared his squad prepared for the tilt with the Devol All-Stars in Spudder park Friday, hence another light drill this afternoon with no risks of realizing any casualties.

Coach McCallum is hit from the opposite direction with his Coyotes. But 15 of the athletes turned out for work yesterday because of wholesale injuries received prior to and in the Vernon game Saturday. Prospects for a Coyote victory Saturday in Electra seem just about as slim as a toothpick.

McCallum can produce but four men for his backfield and one of these, Lawson, is hurt. The other three are Woodson, Powell and Curtain. He has but two substitute backs, McGregor and Rugeley.

At the wing position Mac is again sorely beset. Shaw probably will be out for the next ten days. Howle, at the other end, will participate in the game, but he's suffering from injuries. But six out of last Saturday's starting lineup have been in uniform this week.

The Coyotes are forced to work easily for fear of adding to their woes by developing more casualties. With exception of the terminals the rest of the line is in fair shape. However, Pierce, tackle, is hurt, and Duke, guard, is out of it. Ray, substitute center, is on the hospital list, too.

Junior Prospect Assumes Stormy And Drab Hue

Strawn Believed Stronger Than Many Class A Teams

TILT WITH OLNEY OFF

Sectional Championship To Be Decided By Nov. 8

Montgomery's band of Junior high school pigskin packers are on the verge of tripping up and flattening out like a silver dollar in their next sally onto the grid in the Texas class B championship scramble, wiseacres would have you believe. And if this be true gone are Wichita Falls' last hopes for a moleskin title the current season. Coach Bud McCallum's senior high squadders passed by the way in hectic combat with Baggett's Vernon Lions last week-end and with the fallen Coyotes went glimmering all prospects for class A honors. The more optimistic of local fandom then turned to Montgomery's Coyote Pups, for in these youths, conquerers of all who dared faced them in the race to date, there loomed a machine of possible class B championship caliber.

"If we can't produce the best high school eleven in Texas this year, we'll take the next best thing, a flag-winner in the junior circuit," yapped the optimistists.

Outlook Changes

And the Pups seemed destined to step out and grab many class B scalps before being stopped if stopped at all. But the aspect is changed. The hitherto rosy future has become an outlook of dark and stormy hue.

On the brink of snaring a district title at least via next [illegible] conquest of Olney high, Montgomery's proteges have been lined up and aimed in another direction by interscholastic league officials. Wichita Falls will romp out Saturday after next to engage the victor of the Strawn-Graham embroglio billed this week-end.

It takes no sage in the wisdom of football to opine that the Strawn eleven will be tough pickin's for the Junior Coyotes or anybody else, for that matter. Strawn is given a decided edge over Graham, and unless all the gods of fortune go on a rampage and ally themselves with Graham, Strawn will win with hands down.

McCallum's brilliant Coyote team of 1923 found the Strawn team no tea party. Strawn, then a class A eleven, lost by a margin of seven points. League authorities gave Strawn a class B rating for the 1924 grid airing, and the team of this season is just about identically the machine of 1923, it is said. And that's that.

Develop Running Attack.

So it begins to appear that another championship desire is about to be given the gate in Wichita Falls. But are Montgomery's youths bothered about the sudden turn of events? Nary a bit of it. The lads raced through a rollicking practice session Wednesday afternoon, then went home early seeking lots of sleep, for the worthy mentor is going to "pour it on 'em" in this afternoon's workout.

Passing, field goal practice, end runs, and football calesthenic constituted the menu for the juniors yesterday. They went through a light but heavy workout, if you know what that means, which you probably don't.

The youngsters are developing an aerial attack which may carry them over the hill when all other routes to the scoring sector are blocked. And if this style of battle fails Montgomery hopes to fall back on the possibility of making a field goal prove the turning point of a hard-fought game.

Allred, fullback injured early in the season, is back in moleskins and ready to go. He scrimmaged a bit yesterday. Skeen, lineman the biggest and probably the best on the club, is completely out of it with an infected hip.

The games this week in section 4 will find Seymour playing Burkburnett, Graham versus Strawn, Quanah versus Iowa Park, and Wichita Falls junior high idle. The sectional championship is to be decided not later than November 8.

TUBERCULOSIS IN DUST

Vienna Oil Streets to Reduce Granite Menace.

VIENNA, Oct. 22.—Much interest has been shown by scientists in the assertion made recently that dust from granite, with which most of Vienna's streets are paved, has been responsible for an increase in the number of cases of tuberculosis. After investigations the municipality deemed it advisable to tar and oil the streets, and thus has greatly reduced the amount of granite dust in the air.

BLONDY

The long discussed business men's athletic club to be organized in this city by various sundry clubs, associations, and individuals who have chirped the possibilities for such ever since the days of the oil boom doesn't seem far in the offing right now.

The American Legion, so we are informed, has gone on record as prepared to aid and indorse Harry Warner, past army instructor, in the realization of such a club here. Warner, it seems, is experienced in work of this nature, and pictures bright prospects for a Wichita Falls organization.

It is planned to use the Legion hall, fit it up with apparatus for gym work, calesthenics, indoor sports, and various other accessories with which the plump business man can reduce his avoirdupois, and in which the so-called tired man of affairs can go to build, manufacture, and store up that much desired pep of his youthful days.

According to Warner, he expects the club to be organized, the building in order, and enough apparatus on hand to open up by Nov. 1.

But it will take real coin of the realm to put over such a proect. Business men here and there in the city have declared to the writer willingness to investigate their exchequers for sufficient medium of exchange with which to give the worthy idea a healthy starting basis. But before the present no leader has stepped out and pulled very hard for the fixing up of a gym. Nobody has endeavored very earnestly to line up members for an organization of this nature. Warner tells us that as cost per individual will not be heavy, and with but a fair bit of co-operation the club can be put through. So it's up to you, business gentlemen.

Welter Champ Chooses Light Heavy Leader

Walker Dares McTigue To Make 160 Pounds And Meet Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Mickey Walker is in again.

This time he declares himself a candidate for the world's light heavyweight championship, which he proposes to take from another Irishman Mike McTigue.

Mickey is welterweight champion. He thinks he can bridge the—and knock Mike loose from a title that is a milestone around the middleweight division—though he is angling for a go at Harry Greb Michael's neck.

McTigue claims he can do the middleweight limit—160 pounds—for Greb. Mike once made Harry a proposition to box at the middleweight limit for both titles. Walker says that if McTigue will do 160 pounds for him they can go twelve rounds in Newark.

Of course no official decisions are handed out in New Jersey, and to put himself in line for another title Walker would have to knock Michael out.

This bout probably would not be sanctioned in New York even if Walker and McTigue were in good standing here or willing to fight to a decision. The New York boxing commission under certain conditions will approve a clash between champions in adjoining classes, but would hardly permit one class and another to go up one class to meet him.

Several knotty questions would be involved to such a match, even if staged in no decision territory.

Should McTigue be knocked out he could claim his title was not at stake because of the stipulation that he came in fifteen pounds under the class limit. At the same time Walker could argue that both fighters were under the light heavyweight limit and therefore, the title could change hands on a knockout.

"A cold shower is alright in its place. But most of us have opinions about where and when we shall take our daily duckings."

BILLY WHISKERS

By Frances Trego Montgomery

Billy, Toodles, Stubby and Button had gotten away from the picture studio and were hoping to make their escape. Polly was the only one to see them go and she was afraid no one would pay any attention to her.

Polly was right. In the morning there was a great commotion, but no one paid any attention to her squeals and squawks.

The four runaways ran as fast as they could, turning this way and that in a zigzag fashion, to throw whoever might be following them off their trail. Stubby and Button went ahead, as they were the fastest runners, to look out for policemen or anyone who might know them and drive them back to the studio. But the traveling seemed very slow to Billy, Stubby and Button as Toodles took such little steps with her short legs that she got over very little ground. Then, too, her legs trembled so with fright that she could scarcely stand up, much less run. It made Stubby and Button so nervous that they would run ahead and then come back, bounding and jumping over the ground to work off their nervousness.

At last Button grew provoked and mewed, "For mercy's sakes, Toodles, brace up and stop being afraid! There is nothing going to hurt you. We three have traveled all over the world this way, not knowing where we would get our next meal or where we would lay our heads the next night. And we always found something to eat and a place to sleep and had lots of adventure and fun. You can't say but what we all look healthy enough, can you?"

"I know you all look perfectly well and that you enjoy this kind of thing, but I am afraid I am not going to, and I want to go back."

"Oh, don't be a quitter, Toodles!" exclaimed Stubby.

"Yes, I am going back," said Toodles. "My legs ache so I can scarcely stand on them now, and you say you will travel until daylight. I'll never live through it." And she began to whine and cry.

"Oh, brace up, Toodles! You will feel all right soon, and the stiffness will get out of your legs and you will be able to keep up with us better. I'll stay back with you to cheer you up and protect you should any dog jump out at you unawares."

At the very mention of a dog jumping out at her, Toodles, shivered and cried harder than ever, "I want to go back!"

"Very well, then. I will take you back," said Billy. "But you better think twice for this may be the only chance you will ever have in your whole life to be free."

"I don't care," she declared. "I don' want to be free. I want to be taken care of."

"Look here, Stubby and Button," said Billy. "You fellows wait around here and I will take Toodles back to the studio gate. Then I will return and we can continue our journey."

(They all get a surprise in tomorrow's story.)

Color Cut-Outs

"Joan," asked Betty Cut-out, "won't you try on my witch dress for me? You're just the same size I am, so I can be sure it fits right if I fix it up on you."

"Of course you can," answered Joan, putting aside the sewing she was doing on her own costume to wear to Betty's Hallowe'en party.

Betty slipped the dress on over Joan's head and then tied on the cape that went with it. "There!" she declared. "That's just the way a real witch used to dress when they rode on broomsticks, I guess. Now slip it off and I'll help you make the dress you're going to wear to my party."

Color the witch's dress all over with your black crayon, leaving the blouse under the cape white and the moon yellow. Color lightly around the hat which is painted on her skirt.

Mothers AND THEIR CHILDREN

Learning from the Children.

One mother says: Everything the children talk about I try to be interested in, and when my older children are discussing something unfamiliar to me I find out all about the subject. I am one mother who is determined not to be "laid on the shelf," but to grow with the children.

"MADE 'EM LIKE IT"

Two Hesitate to Prosecute Bandits Who Were "Fair and Square"

CHICAGO, Oct. —Because the robbers had been "so gentlemanly about it" two men, who were victims of five youths they identified as the bandits, were loath to sign complaints against them.

"They robbed us, but they were so fair and square we hate to object," they said.

Some twenty other victims, not so moved, signed the charges.

ADOPT HEIRS TO BEAT TAX

French Find Way to Escape Tax Levies on Estates

PARIS, Oct. —A law was passed in France recently making the legal adoption of children relatively easy of accomplishment, and the new measure is resulting in loss of revenue to the government.

Inheritance taxes in France are heavy. On a fortune of 1 million francs a nephew who inherits must pay 400,000 francs to the state, a grandnephew 441,000 francs, an unrelated inheritor 482,000 francs, but a child pays only 122,000 francs.

Adopted children rank as real children, so it has become the habit for testators to adopt distant relatives and friends to whom they desire to leave money.

Bridwell-Heydrick Drill Deeper And Improve Dill Well

Three Feet More Sand Taken and Well Starts Flowing

SAND 2,012-23 FT.

No. 1, Stephens, Just To South, Expected to Get Sand Today

Bridwell and Heydrick drilled three feet deeper in their No. 1 Dill, southwest corner of section 84, south Vernon, Wilbarger county, yesterday afternoon and started a flow that had not stopped late last night. There was no question at that time but what the well had been considerably improved, but just how much could not be told.

The well has been producing about 350 barrels of oil a day from sand at 2,012-20 feet. The bottom of the hole is now at 2,023, and it was indicated last night that still more hole would be made today.

The well is the second producer in the northwest end of the South Vernon field, being started and completed after the initial semi-completion of Wells-Guiberson No. 1 Wharton, and having produced from the upper sand for several weeks.

The Bridwell-Heydrick No. 1 Dill, northwest corner of section 83, was drilling at a last reported depth of 1,919 feet and expects to pick up the sand sometime this afternoon or tonight.

MONKEY SAVES CAT.

Rescued by Owner, Animal Return To Burning Building for Playmate.

HOXIE, Ark., Oct. 22.—The manager of a safe destroyed by fire here a few night ago owns a monkey and a cat, which he kept in the cafe. The cat and monkey became great riffends. While the building was burning, the manager rushed inside and rescued the monkey. After they had reached the exterior of the building the monkey freed himself and dashed back inside. Presently he jumped from a window with the cat in his arms.

News of the Fields

Bridwell-Heydrick

Bridwell-Heydrick and the Texas and Pacific Coal and Gas company have made a location for a test 660 feet north and 150 feet east of the southwest corner of section 104, H& TCRR block 14, about two miles west of production in the South Vernon field, Wilbarger county, and expect to move on immediately. The well will be drilled with cable tools and will be 2,500 feet contract depth.

Carey, Pollei

E. S. Carey had about 60 feet of oil in the hole in his No. 1 Pollei, southwest corner of block 7, Thomas McCoy survey, north offset to the Texhoma (Carey) Hausler well, yesterday from two feet of sand at 1,116-18 feet. The well was to be drilled a little deeper in the sand.

Maer-Staniforth, Pollei

Maer and Staniforth are drilling deeper in their No. 1 Pollei, north of the Carey-Texhoma group, after bailing dry in a sand encountered at 1,155 feet. This well is located in block 7, Thomas McCoy survey, on a farm recently purchased by Ray and Massie.

Gray County Wells

W. H. Holmes is underreaming to lower ten-inch casing in his No. 2, Morse, section 67, H&GNRR survey, eastern Gray county, just south of the north fork of Red River, total depth of the hole now 1,500 feet in the red cave that comes above the lime. This formation having been reached it is expected to reach the big lime at about 990 feet above the sea level, or at a depth of about 1,710 feet, the well being located with a surface elevation of 2,703 feet.

This test is an attempt to locate another "saddle" in the so-called Amarillo fold, the old Holmes well across the river to the north having indicated the presence of such a structure at this point. It is on such "saddles" in the big lime as these that the Canon county production is Pampa is located, this being still another, and supposedly the third to the south from the gas field on the top of the fold in Potter county.

South of Pampa and the Wilcox well (about four miles south and west of the Wilcox well) Bock and Anderson are underreaming to lower 15-inch casing to a sent at about 340 feet. This test will do much to further determine the exact nature of the Gray county subsurface at this point.

Humble Pipeline

The Humble Pipeline company has started running oil through their new pipeline from Stephens county to Wichita county, about 800 barrels a day off of the Mutual Oil company's lease in the Holliday district going through the line south to the Farnbough station, west of Breckenridge. Gathering stations are not as yet completed for the Swastika and Wilmot districts, but work on them is proceeding rapidly, and actual completion of the entire system is now a matter of a few days.

Texhoma Pipeline

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has completed and is running oil through their pipeline from the Swastika field to their Carey-Hausler and Jeske wells, north of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines pool, south Archer county. The line includes 18,500 feet of four-inch line and 7,000 feet of three-inch line, and connects with the main line of the company to Wichita Falls from Swastika.

O. I. Co., Brown

The Oil Investment company has plugged and abandoned their No. 1, Brown, W. Sellers survey, abstract 384, Archer county between the Pease district and the Sunshine State pool at a total depth given as 1,808 feet.

Strong, Kirkland

A. T. Strong et al are drilling below a last reported depth of 1,100 feet in their No. 1, Kirkland, John Richards survey, block 125, just east of the Pease district wells, central Archer county.

Texhoma, Jeske

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has placed their No. 1, Jeske, offsetting the Carey-Texhoma Hausler producer to the west on the pump and received 51 1-2 barrels of oil for the first 24 hours pumping, sand at 1,157-63.4.

Texhoma, Wilson

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has made location for No. C-3, Wilson, 510 feet north and 510 feet east of the southwest corner of lot 2, section 31, ATNCL, Archer county.

Texhoma, Burnett

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has made location for No. 11-B, Burnett, on their "B" lease, Burnett pasture, S. A. & M. G. survey, south of Fowlkes Station, Wichita county. The well will be located 300 feet north of the No. 9.

Texhoma, Montague

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company is drilling at a depth past 1,254 feet on No. 1, Ocie Cato, Finis Robertson survey, north of Nocona, Montague county.

Superior, Cowan

The Superior Oil Producing company is plugging and will abandon their test on the Cowan land, northwest corner of block 39, Jefferson county school lands, abstract 240, south Archer county, total depth given as 1,150 feet. A sand encountered at 1,112 feet showed a good deal of oil, but was drilled through into water sand, a shale break and another broken sand showing water. This well is located just south of the Major-Clark holdings.

Wells-Guiberson

Wells and Guiberson have blocked up a part of sections 52 and 64, H& TCRR block 14, south Vernon, Wilbarger county, and will drill a cable tools test in the near future. This tract is on the J. W. McCrary estate and about two miles from the proven South Vernon field, east of the Heinzerling and two Texas company tests.

Mutual Deal

The Mutual Oil company has purchased the east 80 acres of the west 120 of TE&LCO block 2401, south half, from H. Harmel, fee owner, for a consideration of $80,000, half oil and half cash. This tract adjoins on the east a similar 40 acres recently sold to Murchison-Fain-Golding and the Marland Oil company of Texas for a like consideration.

Kentucky, Parrish

The Kentucky Oil corporation has spudded and is drilling at about 500 feet on their No. 6, Parrish, second location east from the southwest corner of the northeast forty acres of the northwest quarter of section 26, H&TCRR survey, abstract 1197, Parrish-White district, north Archer county.

New Oil Town For Wilbarger County

A new oil town for the Wichita Falls district is prospective as the result of the recent activity in the South Vernon field, Wilbarger county. A cluster of derricks has sprung up there over night and the inevitable boom atmosphere has taken hold of the surrounding country, tents, houses and other hastily erected buildings marking the outskirts of the drilling sections.

The Waggoner estate has granted one individual a lease on land just north of the field for a townsite and every plan is being put forward to get Texas' newest boom town started and going. The lease has been laid out on the west side of the road with streets, business sections and residence lots, and running water and electric lights will be furnished residents and business places on the tract. The new town will be known as South Vernon.

Several business lots are known to have already been sold, and buildings are being erected to accommodate the workers in the field both for meals and places to sleep.

A great deal of attention was attracted on the streets yesterday afternoon in Wichita Falls by a large car adorned with cowbells and large banners advertising the new townsite.

OIL SCOUT RETURNS

E. E. Tomlinson, independent oil scout of the Mid-Continent fields, has returned from an extensive trip to Oklahoma and Kansas oil fields.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Cotton goods showed a firmer tone in the gray goods division today with buying still consisting of a moderate character. Yarns were bought in small lots.

Local burlap markets were firmer on reports of advances in Calcutta, while wool goods were firmer, advancing, jobbers say the volume of business they are doing to light. New silk prints are being shown and are attracting attention among buyers. Crepes continued to show strength for spring.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—An opening advance was not fully maintained in the cotton market today, but the undertone was generally steady and the close was steady at net advances of 10 to 17 points. After selling early at 23.15, December reacted to 22.90 and closed at 22.98.

The market opened firm at an advance of 20 to 31 points on relatively firm Liverpool cables and reports of lower temperatures in the south. Trading was quite active for the first half hour, but orders seemed to be pretty well divided at the higher prices and after selling at 24.08 for October and 23.18 for January the market sagged off from the best under realizing.

A private crop report estimating the condition at 55.9 and the indicated yield at 12,400,000 bales, with an allowance of four per cent for abandonment of acreage, or at 13,000,000 on the acreage picked, had little effect on the market. Another private report gave no condition figures but estimated the yield at 12,400,000 bales. If anything, there was a tendency to scale down ideas as to the probable showing of the government report Saturday. This helped the tone of the market in connection with the low temperatures reported in the eastern belt sections, but the weekly report of the weather bureau made a favorable showing and the outlook was said to be for warmer weather in the south tomorrow. Traders found the day's news more or less conflicting and after the first half hour business was comparatively quiet. A little hedge selling and liquidation by earlier buyers was noted on the reaction which carried October off to 22.82 and January to 23.00, but offerings were light and the close was 8 or 9 points up from the lowest.

Private cables reported a good undertone in Liverpool owing to encouraging trade prospects, reduced crop estimates and spinners calling.

Exports today 10,233, making 1,563,859 so far this month. Port receipts 60,848. U. S. port stocks 1,013,432.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—The cotton market today was a narrow affair and prices fluctuated frequently, but within a moderate range, the spread being barely above 20 points. While October, which is nearing final liquidation, closed sixteen points net higher, the other active months made net gains for the day of only 10 points.

At the start, as Liverpool cables were better than due and the weather map showed light frost over the whole northern half of the belt, the market opened higher with gains of 15 to 20 points above the previous close. As the weekly weather report had been highly favorable and a Memphis authority gave out an estimate of total ginnings to October 18, of 7,513,000 bales, prices eased off, the decline being accelerated by good hedge selling. The market rallied slightly in the late trading on reports of good rains in Texas and fears of a cold spell. The close was at net gains of 3 to 16 points.

Although the frost shown by the map while covering a wide area was light, the market was seriously impressed by official predictions of a killing frost for all the states except Florida and Texas. The weekly weather and crop summary was by far the most favorable issued this season. But little was lost through fears of probable cold weather.

Exports for the day totaled 10,233 bales of which Houston shipped 8,684 bales.

New Orleans Survey.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—Trading in cotton was rather light but the market was strong and averaged ten to fifteen points higher than the previous finals. The news was of a character to have brought about a much larger advance if trading had broadened. As it was most of the advance really came from recent sellers covering. The public seems to stay out of the market on account of uncertainty over the next bureau estimate and no great activity is likely until that is out of the way.

The weekly review was one of the most favorable ever issued by the weather bureau and raised hopes that the top crop may really amount to something.

Reports of light frost in North Carolina and Tennessee and predictions of general frost over the northern half of the belt from Oklahoma to the Carolinas soon upset sellers and induced the covering that caused the advance.

There was some selling in the late afternoon on predictions of ginners of 7¼ millions. Some construed even these figures as bullish while others considered them bearish. We think it doubtful if they confirm government estimate as ginnings probably exceed 60 per cent of the crop.

The market shows a disposition to halt pending further development, but may advance further if frost materializes as seems likely.—Fenner and Beane (By Shannon).

New York Survey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Cotton narrows down daily waiting for the government figures Saturday. Prices averaged around 23 cents for December most of the day. The market is not as responsive to yesterday's being due to short covering because of the strong cables. Some trade demand and the Giley crop indication of 12.4 contracts were supplied by sales against the actual profit taking and local offerings. There was a dearth of news. The market is marking time awaiting the bureau.—Clevenberg to Fenner and Beane.

Liverpool Cotton.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 22. — Cotton spot quiet, prices steady. Strictly good middling 14.40; good middling 14.05; strictly middling 13.85; middling 13.65; strictly low middling 13.45; low middling 12.95; strictly good ordinary 12.55; good ordinary 11.80. Sales 5000 bales including 2000 American; receipts 44,000 bales, including 42,300 American.

Spot Cotton.

New York steady middling 24.20; New Orleans 22.90; Houston 23.10, sales 54, to arrive 9688; fob 600; Galveston 23.05, sales 1900; Dallas 22.25; Ft. Worth 22.25; Little Rock 22.62, sales 4253; Savannah 23.20.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 22.—Basis unchanged, 65 to 75 off December. Demand last night seemed little better and prices were steady. Good firm buying but cotton last night at fixed prices, but very little business done. Summary from various Texas points: Honey Grove, no cotton offered past few days bid 75 off; Greenville, average receipts 45 to 50 off, farmers holding; Longview, 85 to 100 off, fair demand; San Antonio, demand good at about 75 off, apparently from shorts. No gen'l business; Houston, basis 25 on shipside; Paris, middling 29.6, 50 off; Austin, basis trifle stiffer, considerable holding; Lubbock, 75 off; good demand, everybody a market last night.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Influenced by activity of export demand together with increasing complaints of drought in Argentine the wheat market here trended upward in price most of the day. Closing quotations for wheat, although unsettled, showed half cent to ¾c gain. December 81.47¾ to 81.47½, and May $1.51¼ to 1.51⅝. Corn finished at ¼c to ⅝c lower, oats ⅛c to ⅜c off and provisions varying from 32c set back to a rise of 22c.

Excessive marketing of livestock was largely responsible for the weakness of corn and oats values.

In line with the hog market, provisions averaged lower.

Chicago Grain Survey.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. — Wheat: Started higher on firmer cables, but there was lack of important support and outside trade was small. Dilgre brought out increased offerings, but a little demand from abroad served to steady prices. Duluth confirmed sales of 1,200,000 bushels spring and 800,000 durums to the seaboard, not previously reported, and seaboard reported sales of 1,500,000 bushels for export with more under way, and all foreigners apparently looking for supplies.

Corn: Was under local pressure most of the day due to continued good weather and reports that the demand from the east was disappointing. Cash interests were good buyers on all weak spots, giving the market occasional rallies. Late advices claimed some additional business for export but details lacking. Charters were for 370,000 bushels to Buffalo.

Oats: Inclined to drag with considerable business in the way of changing between December and May. There was less hedging pressure and some support headed by a prominent local on report that several foreign countries were asking for offers.—Jackson Brothers to Fenner and Beane.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Stock prices made further recovery in today's active market despite the renewed weakness of Bethlehem steel and the sugar shares. Rails continued to lead the advance although marked strength was also shown by a number of industrials and public utilities. Total sales crossed the million share mark for the first time since last Tuesday.

Bethlehem steel opened at 40¾, broke to a new year's low at 37⅝, and then rallied to 38⅝, off 1⅞ on the day. Renewed liquidation of this issue has been based on forecasts of a poor quarterly report due tomorrow. Republic steel duplicated its low of 45. Steel continued to show resistance to selling pressure, closing ⅝ higher at 107⅝.

Buying of the rails was influenced by the increase in net earnings shown in the first few September statements to be published, and by the merger and dividend possibilities of some of the low priced carriers. New 1924 peak prices in this group were established by Frisco common, Colorado and Southern, Chesapeake Great Western preferred and Rutland preferred and Pittsburgh and West Virginia preferred.

Urgent short covering in American can sent that issue up to 133⅞, but it reacted later to 131¾, where it was up 1¾ on the day. Other conspicuous strong spots were Fisk rubber first preferred, Nash Motors, American Express and Fisher body.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Trafficking in negotiable instruments is a very risky form of investment for the average man to have anything to do with.

Trafficking in negotiable instruments is dangerous, because:

(a) His probable unacquaintance with the parties on the instrument.

(b) His limited or lack or knowledge of the financial and moral responsibility of the parties to the instrument.

(c) His ignorance of the genuineness of the signatures of the parties whose names appear upon the paper.

NOTE:

Of course the uniform negotiable instrument law now in force in every state and territory of the United States, with possibly one or two exceptions, provides in effect that the payee and all subsequent indorsers guarantee the genuineness of the signatures, and the legal capacity to make and indorse the instrument, but if the signatures are forgeries, or those of infants, the ultimate holder of the note will have acquired mere form, devoid of all real substance.

Waite Phillips To Purchase Sterling

WICHITA, Kansas, Oct. 22. — Negotiations for the purchase by Waite Phillips Co., of the refinery, tank cars and pipe line of the Sterling Oil and Refining Co., of Wichita, valued at $1,250,000, were understood to be nearer consummation today following the issuance of a court order in Kansas City yesterday by Judge C. Pollock, providing for the taking of the Sterling Co., from under a receivership.

O. L. Cordell and J. D. Hill, both of Tulsa, vice-presidents of the Waite Phillips Co., came to Wichita today with a view to closing the transaction and taking formal possession of the sterling refinery.

JACKSBORO

that this resulted in a report that a route different from either the Henrietta or Archer City proposals was the most feasible, and in view of this they expressed surprise that the commission had changed again to the Archer City line. It was this new line, coming by way of Antelope and Windthorst, that the chamber of commerce directors here recommended a week or so ago and which was accepted by the county commissioners court. County Judge B. D. Sartin was in Austin Monday and Tuesday of this week, urging on the state highway commission adoption of this route.

Ruling Came Late.

No decision had been reached when he left, he reported on his return yesterday, but word was received later of the ruling yesterday afternoon.

A report of the decision received here gave as a cause of the commission's ruling, belief that the Archer City route would best serve those counties through which the road ran. The Wichita Falls chamber of commerce and the county commissioners, after investigating the merits of the various roads, concluded that the Antelope-Windthorst route was the most direct and would serve the greatest number of tax payers.

Officials declined last night to amplify on statements that the matter might not be settled even now and that further pressure would be brought to bear on the highway commission.

SLUSH FUND

nination and the Manufacturers' club. They disclaimed any knowledge of special and independent efforts to raise funds among the bankers and business men.

Would Recess Congress.

Asserting that he himself had made no effort to raise campaign funds, but had loaned his name to the Grundy committee for what it might be worth, Samuel L. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works testified that he had contributed $6,100 of his personal funds. He told also of donating $1,000 of his company's funds to the American economic league through Julius Kruttschnitt, president of the Southern Pacific railroad and in that connection insisted that big business interests had a right to employ people to influence sentiment as affecting legislation.

Mr. Vauclain told the committee he would not approve of the use of any of the $10,000 to fight Senator LaFollette, and added that he was not afraid of LaFollette; that no "true working man" would vote for the Wisconsin senator, and that "it will not take more than one hay wagon to carry the LaFollette vote."

He also suggested a four years' recess of congress saying that President Coolidge, whom he described as a "good president," could run the country meantime.

"Then you do not believe in representative government," he was asked.

"Yes, when we are represented," he retorted.

Nathan T. Folwell, treasurer of the Philadelphia Manufacturers' club, testified that organization had raised $10,000 and he presented a list of contributors. The money he said, was turned over to the national committee. He also said he probably was charged by the Grundy committee with 'l oking after contributions from the weavers of his state, but that only about 15 per cent of those appealed to had responded favorably.

From Chester W. Hill, secretary of the Grundy committee, the investigators received a list of large contributors. They included Joseph E. Widener, Philadelphia, $25,000; J. H. Bromley, Philadelphia, $10,000; Bioren and Co., Philadelphia, $10,000 and Joseph R. Grundy, $10,000.

Inquiry Is Versatile.

While the committee was inquiring specifically into charges of Senator Robert M. Lafollette, independent presidential candidate that a "slush fund" of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 is being raised for the support of the Coolidge-Daw

Order Jurors To Be Used in U. S. Court on Nov. 17

24 Grand and 36 Petit To Be Called by Lantz For Service

HAVE HEAVY DOCKET

Preparations are Being Made for Federal Hearings Here

Orders for the drawing of grand and petit juries for the November term of federal court here were received yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Lantz from Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas. Both juries are to report at 9 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 17, when federal court for the Wichita Falls division of the northern district of Texas convenes.

Twenty-six grand jurors and 36 petit jurors were ordered called.

Heavy Docket.

A fairly heavy docket, both on the criminal and civil side is scheduled for the coming term, Mr. Lantz stated yesterday. Most of the criminal actions alleged violations of the federal prohibition laws, although a few narcotic cases are also to be called.

The only civil suit of importance docketed is one of further hearing on the one in which former stockholders of the American National bank of this city seek a settlement among themselves as a result of the taking over of the American's business by the First National bank. Approximately $200,000 is involved here. The case has been in federal court for over two years but no judgment has ever been reached.

DAMAGE SUIT TRIED.

Holland vs. Stuckey Case Up In 78th District Court.

Evidence will be continued today in the case of T. Holland vs. W. A. Stuckey, et al, on trial before Judge Guy Rogers of the 78th district court and in which the plaintiff seeks damages of $3,500 as a result of injuries alleged to have been sustained while in the employ of the defendant.

It is contended that while working on a pipe line in the Electra field some time ago the plaintiff sustained injuries which resulted in serious and permanent impairment of his health. The defendant in opposing the suit alleges that the plaintiff was injured through his own negligence and also that he is not liable because of carrying workmen's compensation insurance which, it is contended, should care for the plaintiff's claims.

PARK REMAINS OPEN.

Tourists to be Accommodated All Winter In Southend.

Although the tourist season officially closes Nov. 1 in this city, the municipal tourist camp in Southend park will be open and available for use all winter.

Park department officials have decided that in view of the continued demand made by tourists for accommodations there, it would be advisable to operate it throughout the year. An attendant who lives in the park will be on the grounds at all time.

A number of transient cars are still making use of the park at night despite the approach of colder weather.

CHICKENS LOOSE; FINED $10.

Wichitan Draws Penalty for Letting Birds In Neighbor's Garden.

Because he failed to heed warnings to keep his chickens out of his neighbors' gardens, a Wichita Falls man was fined $10 in city police court Wednesday on charges of violating the law prohibiting stock from running at large. He paid off without comment when Judge Whiteley assessed the penalty.

Police remarked after court that they hoped every chicken raiser in the city would hear of it and conduct their own hen roosts accordingly. If there is one thing that causes cops to tear their hair it is insistent appeals to "come chase those chickens out of my back yard."

BROTHERS ARRESTED.

McCormick and Belcher Jail a Pair Wanted In Arkansas.

Two men, brothers, for whom warrants of arrest were held here were taken in custody yesterday by State Rangers McCormick and Belcher and are now being held in the county jail awaiting the arrival of officers from Eldorado, Ark.

Felony charges and further complaints of jumping bond are filed against the two in the Arkansas city, the arresting officers declared in their report of the case. They have been sought here for some time but were not located until yesterday.

COUNTY CASES SET.

Two Libel Put Down by McFarland For Trial In November.

Two settings of cases in the county court at law were made yesterday by Judge C. M. McFarland and hearings will be held within the next few weeks. One set involves jury civil cases, scheduled for trial the week of Nov. 3, and the other includes a number of non-jury cases to be heard by the court the week of Nov. 17.

WATER MAIN FINISHED.

New 20-Inch Supply Line for City Is Completed.

The new 20-inch water main constructed down Bond street from the water plant to Seventh street has practically been completed. A large force of workmen have been busy for the past month on the project and have now laid all the pipe. Streets cut up by the new trench, however, remain to be patched.

Police Dog Now At Services Of City's Officers

"Ceres," Full Blooded German Police, Is Given Commission

OWNED BY CARRIGAN

She Has Authority To Subdue and Jail Any Criminal

A full blooded and well trained German police dog joined the Wichita Falls police department yesterday when Ceres von der Ehenfres, plain Ceres for short, was given a commission by Chief of Police George Hodgins.

Legally and technically, now, the handsome and spirited pup, recently arrived in the United States, can run down and arrest a criminal with all the authority vested in any member of the police department. Thoroughly schooled and with six months actual service in Germany to her credit, the dog is capable of trailing, subduing and returning any one ordered arrested by her master. Her services have been placed at the call of the police by Joe Carrigan, who has purchased her and to whom she was shipped, through a commission man at Galveston, from the Herman F. W. Stein kennels at Magdeburg, Germany.

2 1-2 Years Old.

The dog is two and one-half years old, is not a champion as was reported yesterday but is line bred from one of the most famous strains of German police dogs in the world. These latter include Turkenpark, Starkstrong, Derkemeyer, Bull and Riedenkamp, names that mean little to the layman but which are well known and appreciated by dog fanciers the world over. She was sired by Alf von Duetschenhook and her dame was Betty von Ehlenfa, whose sire in turn was Nanra von der Kriminalpolizei. The latter is probably one of the greatest, if not the greatest police dogs in the world.

Phone Rings Back

In connection with his services here, Mr. Carrigan and the police ask that any time a criminal is to be tracked, the former be notified at once. It is stressed as highly important, however, that the scene of a criminal's operations be left entirely alone and kept free from visits until the dog has arrived. Trails crossing and recrossing about a safe that has been opened or a body that has been found will mislead her and prevent the tracks of the man wanted from being singled out.

Former Texan And Girl Companion Killed By Slide

Couple Crushed to Death Near Roswell Under Cave-In

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 23—Miss Alice Miller, 19, and Carroll Brown, 26, both of Roswell, N. M., were crushed to death last night when several tons of rock caved in on the couple while they were exploring a cave in Lost River, 12 miles southeast of Roswell.

Brown was city salesman for the Leach-Coulter Grocery company, at Roswell and formerly of Waco, and Miss Miller was the daughter of John B. Miller of Roswell.

The bodies were recovered from the cave by members of Battery "A" New Mexico artillery and taken to Roswell early this morning. Funeral for Miss Miller will be held tomorrow morning. The funeral for Brown has not yet been decided upon.

The victims of the tragedy, in company with another young couple formed a motor party for the purpose of exploring the cave. The other couple were unhurt. Rescue parties worked all night Tuesday night without avail.

Williams' Case Is Affirmed By Appeals Court

Wichitan Convicted Of Embezzlement Must Service Sentence

2 YEARS IN PEN

He Reported Robbery Of $3,000 Payroll For Katy Shopmen

Ben Williams, convicted here of embezzlement and sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary must serve his time, the court of criminal appeals ruled yesterday in affirming the findings of the trial court in this county. The opinion, handed down at Austin, ends the case which has been on the dockets here for nearly two years.

Companion Sentenced

Williams and a companion who was also sentenced to two years penal service and who is now at Huntsville, were arrested after a lengthy investigation into a highway robbery in which, they reported, they had been the victims. It developed that, following a custom of long standing, they had collected a number of pay checks from employes of the Katy shops in north Wichita and had cashed them at a local bank. They had about $3,000.

Reported Robbery

On their return to the shops to distribute the money they declared they had been held up and robbed by two masked bandits.

An investigation, however, revealed discrepancies in their stories and after repeated grilling they admitted the hold up story was a fake and that they had hidden the cash in a field just off the Throckmorty road. The money was subsequently recovered, they were indicted, tried and convicted.

EILEEN TEACHES TRICKS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Eileen, 1-year-old baby without a last name, has doctors, nurses and other attaches of a local hospital at their wits' ends.

"Imagine a ward full of babies standing on their heads," said one of the physicians.

Eileen first was discovered doing the trick about four months ago. New hospital attaches see, she has every baby in the ward doing the same thing.

"Eileen is perfectly normal and healthy," Dr. P. V. Dudley said. "She possesses perfect equilibrium and stands on her head merely because she thinks it's something of a trick."

Local Fair Had Cream of County Farm Exhibits

Prize Winners Here Are Victors In State Fair At Dallas

HALE, DALLAM LEAD

Officials Here Say Results Show Up Well For City

The Texas-Oklahoma fair had the cream of the county agricultural exhibits, it has been revealed through announcement of the awarding of prizes at the state exposition were shown in Wichita Falls, and the first eleven prize winners at Dallas, all were from counties in west Texas.

Hale Wins First.

Hale county, which took second place here, won first at Dallas out of an entry list 46; Dallam, the first place winner at the T-O exposition was awarded fourth at Dallas; Floyd third place in Wichita Falls took second at Dallas and Wilbarger, sixth here was given the same rating at the state fair. Randall county which won third at Dallas and Dawson county which won fifth were the only ones in the first six that did not exhibit in Wichita Falls.

Officials Pleased.

Fair and county agricultural officials of this city regard the showing made at Dallas as a decided compliment to the Texas-Oklahoma fair. It is indicative, they say, that the agricultural display arranged for fair visitors here is second to none in the state.

VOTING STARTS SATURDAY

Absentee Ballots For No. 4 Election May be Left With Clerk.

Ballots to be cast under the absentee voting law for the general elections No. 4 will be accepted at the county clerk's office on Saturday of this week and thereafter until Nov. 1. Several applications for official ballots have already been made, it was reported yesterday, and numerous inquiries indicate that Wichitans who will be absent from the city on election day are nevertheless anxious to have their votes included.

Approximately 200 ballots were cast in each of the two primaries just July and August. It is not expected that this many will be handled for the general election since the summer vacation season was at its height in the two months named and hundreds of local residents were out-of town. Qualified voters here who expect to be absent on Nov. 4 are reminded that their votes, cast with the county clerk under provision of the absentee voting law, will be counted no matter where they may be on election day.

Offers $1000 For Proofs of Privilege

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22.—In a letter to Senator Robert M. LaFollette the Kansas City Journal tonight demanded that the independent presidential candidate define the term "special privilege" as used in his party platform and offered to pay $1,000 to any charity he may name if he will "mention a single special privilege, as distinguished from a special influence, now enjoyed by any man, or any group, excepting agriculture and labor."

"The people are tired of all this loose and nebulous talk about special privilege," the letter said. Name one special privilege that it is your purpose, if elected, to destroy. Please be specific and confine yourself to those that can be cured by statute, by administrative act or by court decision."
