ELECTION DAY — Allan Rollins was out early this morning casting a ballot in today's general election. Voting continues through 7 o'clock tonight. (SDN Staff Photo)

Voters have until 7 p.m. to make candidate choice

While many voters have already cast their ballots by voting early and after the polls opened at 7 a.m. today, candidates will be beating the bushes for votes until polls close at 7 this evening.

Across the state, Gov. George Bush is a heavy favorite over challenger Garry Mauro, while other state races are expected to be much closer.

Locally, there are two races for the Scurry County Commissioners Court.

Republican incumbent Roy Idom is facing a challenge from Democrat Linda Sellers for commissioner of Precinct 2.

There will be a new Precinct 4 commissioner as present commissioner Jerry Gannaway chose not to run.

Democrat Chloanne Lindsey and Republican Milton Adams are seeking his position.

Contested races for the U.S. House of Representatives and the Texas House of Representives has also whetted voter interest in Scurry County.

Rep. Charles Stenholm is being challenged by Rudy Izzard for the 17th Congressional District.

Stenholm (D-Stamford) defeated Izzard (R-Abilene) two years ago in a close race and this year's contest promises to be just as close.

In the Texas House race, David Counts is facing Scott McLaughlin.

Counts defeated McLaughlin in 1996 — 17,776 to 17,004.

There is also a contested race for Scurry County Justice of the Peace Precinct 2 as Democratic incumbent John Williamson is being challenged by independent candidate Pamela Bryant.

In the Texas Senate race for District 30, incumbent Tom Haywood (R-Wichita Falls) is being challanged by Greg Underwood (D-Bowie).

Running unopposed in Scurry County are Ricky Fritz for county judge, Trina Rodgers for district clerk, Joan Bunch for county clerk, Charlie Bell for county treasurer and Charlie Reynolds for Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace.

All are Republicans, with the exception of Bell, a Democrat.

A total of 1,721 voters had cast early ballots by Friday's deadline.

Of these, 1,622 voted in person and 99 sent in mail ballots.

THE SDN COLUMN
By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Things come to those who work while they wait."

Ranchers in our area are somewhat frustrated that their concerns over a proposed bombing site are not being heard by those in a position to make a difference.

An organization has been formed to opposed the plan, which includes Scurry and Fisher County as sites over which low-level training would be conducted.

Fisher County rancher Buster Welch is an articulate spokesman and leader for the organization which is concerned about the proposed flight's effects on livestock and the tranquil rural life.

E. Lou and J.R. Meadows of Scurry County have also expressed concern about the Air Force proposal and brought us an article from the Livestock Weekly.

The article revealed that the same day an F-16C went down over eastern New Mexico, ranchers there sued the Air Force to halt plans to expand low-level training flights.

Landowners had already objected to decision last summer to go forward with a bombing range on Otero mesa southeast of Alamogordo.

Like West Texas ranchers, those in New Mexico are calling the plan an "economic disaster."

Said one, "We're all very strong supporters of the military and always have been. But in this case, we feel the Air Force has not listened to our recommendations. These low level flights are going to cause a lot of damage.

The lawsuit alleges the Air Force failed to do an adequate environmental impact study on the training route expansion and failed to consider a reasonable range of alternatives.

Once the environmental impact study is completed in our area, don't be surprise if this scenario is repeated.

The Air Force will move forward with its expanded flight training area, and area landowners will respond with a lawsuit.

And on a lighter note, a civic club publication told about a frugal man who bought two lottery tickets.

When the numbers were drawn, the man became an instant millionaire. Instead of celebrating, the winner became dispondent.

A friend was puzzled and asked, "You just became wealthy, what's the problem."

"I know," the man groaned. "I can't believe I wasted money on that second ticket."

Taco Bell to join list of construction projects

By Wade Warren
Managing Editor

Approval on second reading of an ordinance subdividing a lot next to Wal-Mart signals the start of construction of a Taco Bell facility.

David E. Ohre Properties of Abilene had requested the action by the Snyder City Council in order to construct a 2,960 square-foot building on a lot north of Wal-Mart.

Construction is expected to take four months with the facility opening in early March.

Ohre is the owner of the Taco Bell franchises in this area.

Taco Bell will join the list of four other construction projects currently underway in Snyder, and a sixth is anticipated.

United Supermarkets, Snyder National Bank, Texas Department of Criminal Justice and Snyder Senior Housing all have projects underway.

United is building a 40,000 square-foot supermarket in the 3500 block of College Avenue, while Snyder National Bank is adding nine drive-in windows in the half block bounded by College Avenue and Avenue R and 24th Street.

TDCJ is adding 60,000 square-feet to its distribution facility on the U.S. Highway 84 bypass and a 30 unit-senior housing facility is being constructed in the 1900 block of Martha Ann Blvd., near Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The sixth commercial project is a new Town and Country Convenience Store to be located at the intersection of Coliseum Drive and East 37th Street. A private club is being torn down to make way for the Town and Country store. Construction will begin Nov. 23 and target date for completion is April 1.

The city of Snyder will also join in the construction parade as the council approved the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper to oversee a three-year water line replacement project.

The city has budgeted $425,000 for water line improvements for 1999 alone.

Mayor David Holt said water line replacement is a top priority for the city.

"Besides delivering our residents the best possible water, this will also save the city money by not having as many repairs," Holt said.

City Engineer Beverly Coots added that the city had a high number of water line breaks during the summer due to the extremely dry conditions.

"When this soil is dry, it shifts and causes the old cast iron pipes to break," said Coots.

Water line replacement plans for 1999 are expected to be completed by the end of February with construction bids to be awarded in May.

Complete plans for the 2000/2001 projects are expected to be approved in August.

The council also approved two annual items — line-item budget transfers and an ordinance approving the changes in the city's 1997-98 budget.

Two changes in the budget related to overtime payments.

The police department paid $27,665 in overtime last year, while the fire department paid $25,665.

The police department also purchased a non-budgeted vehicle in the amount of $15,710.

On the plus side of the budget, the city received $18,750 more in hotel/motel tax funds than the budgeted $70,260.

In other matters, the city's finance department was recognized for its financial reporting, and Garland Williams, Mike Post and Ed Blocker were re-appointed to the city's board of electrical examiners.

Tim Burk will join the board as TU Electric's representative. He is taking the place of John Miller who has been transferred.

The council met briefly in closed session for the annual evaluation of City Manager John Gayle.

After reconvening in open session, Mayor Holt said the evaluation process was postponed until next month due to the absence Monday night of council member Dayton Robertson.

Holt said the evaluation process should be completed at the council's next meeting.

Holt presided at the meeting and council members present were Vernest Tippens, Jerry Webb, Terry Martin and I.E. Martin.

Four misses win football contest

Francisco Martinez of 100 E. 37th St. took the second place $25, and Burt Runnels of 2602 26th garnered the third place $15.

Winners will be mailed their checks. Another contest appears in today's edition.

He was also charged with sexual assault on the same person in May and August of this year. Hill remains in jail on a $20,000 bond.

Adam Vizcaino was indicted for two counts of burglary of a building, both state jail felonies.

Vizcaino, 17, of 412 30th is charged with burglarizing two buildings on Sept. 13.

He is in jail on $5,000 bonds on each indictment.

Elidia Mary Guerrero, 44, of 406 31st St. was indicted for possession of a controlled substance, a state jail felony.

She is charged with possessing less than one gram of cocaine on Oct. 2.

Four other people were indicted, but have not been arrested.

Study: Obese adults may start out as underweight newborns

CHICAGO (AP) — Obesity may actually start when babies are undernourished in the womb and then overfed to catch up, according to research that could lead to new ways to prevent obesity and its problems.

A study in the November issue of Pediatrics found that underweight newborns began life with less muscle than other babies but soon had more fat, relative to their size.

The discovery may help in finding ways to stave off obesity and chronic illnesses it is linked to later in life, including diabetes and heart disease, said the study's lead author, Mary Hediger, a research scientist with the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

Birth weight is the most important predictor of survival in newborns, and scientists have been studying the factors that contribute to robust birth weights in hopes of learning how to lower U.S. infant mortality.

Scientists also have been looking at birth weights to learn about possible contributors to rapidly rising rates of obesity.

The study involved 4,400 U.S. children nationwide, ages 2 months to 47 months, who were measured in 1988 through 1994. About 9 percent of the children were small for their gestational age, or time spent in the womb.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Co-ed rooms on the road are nixed by businessman's wife

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a dispute between my husband and me. On a recent business trip he took with five male co-workers and one female co-worker, my husband spent the night in the same room (two double beds in one room) as the woman. When I found out, I hit the ceiling. I don't think it is proper for a married man to share a room with a single woman with whom he works, no matter how innocent or harmless he claims the situation was. I think it also shows a lack of respect for the spouse sitting at home.

The company did not book enough rooms so the woman could have a room of her own, nor did they check to see if a rollaway bed was available so my husband could room with two other men.

My husband doesn't think there was anything wrong with this arrangement and neither did anyone else on the trip. If I hadn't let him know how upset I was, he would have spent all three nights in the same room with her. Now he is upset with me because he had to pay to move to a different hotel. I'm thinking he may have to change jobs if this is the way this company runs its business trips. Please give me your opinion.

UPSET IN EUGENE, ORE.

DEAR UPSET: It was inappropriate for your husband's company to have booked him in a room with a woman, regardless of either's marital status. Your husband took proper action by moving to another hotel, and the company should reimburse him for his expenses.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 27 years. My in-laws live in another time zone, one hour ahead. When they come here to visit, they stay on their normal schedule. They expect to eat, go to bed, get up, etc., just as they do when they are at home. They literally take over, and my family is expected to do everything on their time.

Abby, I was taught that when you're a houseguest, you're supposed to fit into the lifestyle of your host.

My father-in-law takes us out to eat when he comes here. Does that give him the right to take over our house, boss us, and force us to adapt to his schedule? Please let me know what to do. I'm at my wit's end about this. Should I keep my mouth shut or demand that when they visit they be more considerate?

Please don't reveal my name or location. My husband sides with his parents in this and has threatened to divorce me if I say anything to them about the way I feel. I think it's very rude behavior on the part of the in-laws. They should know better, as they're in their late 60s and early 70s.

FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS: After 27 years, I think it's far too late to change the rules. Your husband's parents are too old to change at this point. As people grow older, their schedules become more difficult to alter. Continue being the accommodating hostess you have always been, and keep the visits — and the conflict — to a minimum.

Kids who watch TV, videos more likely to start drinking

CHICAGO (AP) — High school students who watch lots of television and music videos are more likely to start drinking alcohol than other youngsters while those who rent movies are at less risk, according to a new study.

The Stanford University survey of 1,533 ninth-graders also showed that playing video and computer games had no effect. Watching TV and videos made no difference in the drinking habits of those who already drank.

The findings are not surprising given research that shows alcohol is the most common beverage shown on television, the study's lead author, Dr. Thomas Robinson, said Monday.

"The great majority of drinking on television is by the most attractive and most influential people, and it is often associated with sexually suggestive content," said Robinson, who works at the school's Center for Research and Disease Prevention.

The study found that each increase of one hour per day of watching music videos brought a 31 percent greater risk of starting to drink over the next 18 months. Each hour increase of watching other kinds of TV corresponded to a 9 percent greater risk.

Each hour spent watching movies in a VCR corresponded to an 11 percent decreased risk. Computer and video games had no effect either way.

More on the fourth suit

By Phillip Alder

Let's look further at fourth-suit forcing. Opener bids one suit, responder a second suit, opener a third suit, and responder closes the square, bidding the fourth suit. What will the opener expect his partner to hold?

Usually, the responder will have one of three hand-types. As we saw yesterday, he could have a balanced hand and wants to get into three no-trump, but he doesn't have a stopper in the fourth suit. Alternatively, the responder may wish to make a forcing raise of one of partner's suits. Thirdly, the responder may be uncertain where to head, but thinks that after hearing a third bid from his partner, he will know — as in this deal.

On the second round, North might have plunged into three no-trump, but there was no need to rush. Instead, he used fourth-suit forcing. When he learned that his partner had at least 5-5 in the majors, North raised to four hearts, the known eight-card fit.

In the play, South used the reliable guideline that if you have a two-suiter and must get the second suit established, play on it immediately. So, declarer won the first trick with dummy's diamond king and pulled a spade to his king. When that won, South played a heart to dummy's ace, then called for the remaining spade.

Understandably, East went in with the ace and returned a diamond to South's ace. (It doesn't help him to duck again.) Declarer cashed the heart king, getting the bad news there, but it didn't matter. He calmly continued with a low spade. However West defended, declarer would lose only one spade and two hearts.

Sorority meets at high school

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home economics classroom at Snyder High School for a business meeting and refreshments furnished by Carolyn Limmer, home economics teacher and BSP member.

Following the meeting, Beth Bowen presented a program "Surfing the Net — Technology at School," where she had each member sit at a computer while she directed them through various functions in designing a page.

"While past generations of students may have had an assignment from a class that required an art poster, the new generation will now use graphics from a computer," she said.

Lola Pohl, Mrs. Limmer's mother, was a special guest.

CHARACTER OR CHAOS?

Are you practicing RELATIONSHIP or RELIGION with God? Please note this scenario:

Marriage hasn't gone so well so the man falls in love with another woman. Of course this other woman is "everything the wife never was and this is true love!" Before long the man is found out and he leaves his family and plans to marry Ms. Perfect. Unbelievable pain is thus cast upon all his friends, family, present wife and especially his children.

Guilt begins to creep into the man and he struggles with whether to marry the "woman of his dreams - the one God meant for him in the first place" or return to his family which he has probably damaged beyond repair.

To add to his turmoil, his new love's church says that "It's wrong for them to be together but God will forgive" while his church says "No, God will not forgive. You'll surely go to Hell forever." Maybe this would be a good time to change churches. "After all my church has always been a little stiff."

A "Religionist" tries to please himself and keep the rules. It boils down to whether God will forgive or not.

A person "Related" to God knows this isn't a matter of love or forgiveness or which church is right. IT IS A MATTER OF CHARACTER! "Do I want to be like Jesus or not? Am I in this for God or for myself. Have I really made Him Lord of my life or not?"

Folks, if you're following rules and religion, you will find yourself helpless in situations like this. Unless Jesus builds CHARACTER, your life will be CHAOS. It's the difference in RELIGION and RELATIONSHIP - in loving people or hurting them. Only Relationship brings the peace that everyone longs for because only Relationship with God will enable you to do the right thing.

In tonight's season opener...

WTC looks for up-tempo contest

Valery Jackson

Valery Jackson, like most head basketball coaches, would like to get a look at all of her players in action in the season opener.

But it's not the top priority — winning is.

Amid high expectations and playoff aspirations, Western Texas College opens its hoop season tonight against Cisco JC at 6 o'clock in the Scurry County Coliseum.

"We need to win this game," Jackson said. "I would like to get everybody some playing time, but most importantly I want to get the victory to get our confidence going."

Ten players will be suiting up for the first time as Lady Dusters, to go along with four returnees from last year's squad.

Four of the new WTC hoopsters draw starting assignments tonight, with returning all-conference honorable mention selection Pamela Odhuong'o manning the post.

Starting guards for the Lady Dusters will be Rosalind Lawrence, a 5-8 freshman from Cleburne, and Danielle Brown, a 5-9 graduate of Leander High School.

Kathy Tran, a 5-10 wing/forward from San Diego, Calif., and April Walker, a 5-10 forward from Spur, round out the starting line-up for the Lady Dusters.

Look for WTC to push the tempo early and often, getting fast break opportunities when available.

"We're going to have by far the quicker team on the floor," said Jackson. "We'll start out with full-court pressure and try to get them to play our style of game."

A key for Cisco is the play of its guards. The Lady Wranglers like to loosen up opponents with their long-range shooters, then dump the ball inside to their post players.

"Our focus defensively is to put a lot of pressure on the ball," Jackson stated. "We don't want them to get off their shot from the perimeter or be able to get the easy entry pass to the post. If they're going to score, we want them to have to beat us off the drive."

Once again this season, there will be no admission charged for WTC home games.

Following tonight's action, the Lady Dusters return to the coliseum to host Lubbock Christian University JV at 6 p.m. Monday, before traveling to Wichita Falls for the Texas JUCO Round-up on Nov. 12.

With Aikman at helm, Dallas destroys hapless Eagles, 34-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With a few graceful plays, the Dallas Cowboys looked as dominant as ever. Now they need to work on the rest.

Troy Aikman to Michael Irvin was back with a 10-yard TD pass. Emmitt Smith did a little pirouette and cut back into the end zone, as only a precious few who've worn shoulder pads can.

Prime Time was Prime Time. What else would Deion Sanders be?

The Cowboys took a step toward reasserting themselves as an NFC power Monday night, routing the hapless Eagles 34-0. While it's hard to tell if the 'Boys from Dallas are all the way back, Aikman appears to be.

And that's a pretty good start.

"The only person I'm more comfortable with is my wife, and she doesn't throw the ball," said Irvin, who scored his first touchdown of the season to get the blowout rolling.

In his first start since missing five games with a broken collarbone, Aikman was 14-for-26 for 171 yards and two touchdowns. He shook off a crushing hit by Hollis Thomas on the first play of the game and let everyone know that the Cowboys (5-3) are a different team when he's healthy.

"It was good to be back," said Aikman, injured in the second game of the season against Denver. "It was tough to watch the last couple of weeks from the sideline. I was trying to be smart and didn't want to take any unnecessary hits."

Smith ran for 101 yards and a touchdown, cutting back and fooling the entire Philadelphia defense on a 15-yard TD run that was vintage Emmitt.

"They overplayed it," Smith said. "They just shot too much to one side and I bounced back to the opening."

And Sanders had a 69-yard punt return for a touchdown, the fifth of his career and second this season — both under the lights on Monday night. In those two games against the New York Giants and Eagles, they won by a combined score of 65-7.

"I think I was born on Monday night," said Sanders, who returned a punt and an interception for TDs in the game against the Giants on Sept. 21. "I'll have to ask my mother about that."

For the Eagles, this Monday Night Massacre was even worse than they had feared. They are 1-7 for the first time since 1975, with no end in sight for their terrible season.

"We were inept in just about every phase of the game," Eagles coach Ray Rhodes said. "It was very embarrassing."

Dallas has a one-game lead over Arizona in the weak NFC East and rebounded from a 13-12 loss at Chicago two weeks ago. They are 4-0 against division opponents, with games the next two weeks against New York and Arizona.

They still have problems, committing 10 penalties for 130 yards as the teams combined for 240 yards in penalties in a wretched, flag-filled game. But on the whole, it was a good sign for the folks from Valley Ranch.

"I would be disappointed if we weren't thinking about the playoffs right now," Cowboys coach Chan Gailey said. "I'm not trying to be cocky. If we don't think about what we're doing and post-season position, we would be wrong."

Tiebreaker eliminates SHS in opening round

WICHITA FALLS — Snyder High School's tennis squad found out that sometimes the margin of victory is just as important as winning the match.

Snyder battled Dumas to a 9-9 dead heat in the opening round of the Region I tennis tourney, but it was the Demons advancing to the second round by virtue of sets won, 23-19.

In boys action, Snyder captured eight of nine matches.

Adrian Gonzales and Justin Guy swept two-set victories from their counterparts in singles play. Gonzales downed Matt Coggins, 6-3, 6-1; while Guy toppled Justin Boardman by the same margin.

The doubles duo of Allen Smith and Ryan Gibson knocked off Shelby Melban and Aaron Kozak, 6-1, 6-0, to notch two more sets for SHS.

On the girls side of the draw, Natalie Alexander was the only Lady Tiger to post a victory, taking care of Lily Cordero 6-1, 7-6.

Snyder advanced to the regional tournament after capturing the District 5-4A title. It was the third consecutive league crown for the SHS squad.

Ohio State maneuvers into top spot; Texas A&M improves position in poll

By The Associated Press

UCLA's close call was Tennessee's big gain in the Bowl Championship Series standings.

Ohio State and Tennessee were 1-2 in the latest BCS standings released Monday, while UCLA dropped from first to third place after a 28-24 win over Stanford.

The standings are calculated by using The Associated Press' media poll and the coaches' poll, three computer rankings, strength-of-schedule and number of losses. They will determine who plays in the Fiesta Bowl with the national title on the line.

The final BCS standings will be released on Dec. 6, and the top two teams will play in Tempe, Ariz., on Jan. 4.

The Buckeyes (8-0), ranked No. 1 in the AP poll and coaches' poll, moved from second to first place with 3.71 total points — 1 point for poll average; 1.75 points for computer rank average; 0.96 for strength-of-schedule and zero for losses.

Tennessee (7-0), moved from third to second with 5.70 points — 2.5 for poll average; 2.92 for computer average; 0.28 for strength-of-schedule and zero for losses. The Vols have the seventh-toughest schedule, while the Buckeyes' schedule is rated 24th toughest.

The Bruins (7-0), who were first last week with 3.05 points in the initial standings, had 6.62 points. Their poll average fell from 2 to 3.5 points and their computer average slipped from 1 to 3 points. Strength-of-schedule went from toughest to third toughest.

Six officers fired for botched drug raid shooting in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The six police officers were in trouble even before they raided Pedro Oregon Navarro's apartment, looking for drugs.

According to their chief, they had no warrant and had violated department policy by using an ''unregistered''' informant to get information about Oregon — an informant they had pulled over for public intoxication.

And then, once inside, they shot Oregon to death. He was shot 12 times, nine times in the back. Thirty-three rounds were fired.

Police Chief Clarence Bradford dismissed all six officers Monday.

''I have not seen, in my opinion, a case as egregious as this case,'' Bradford said. ''My heart goes out to the family. My plea to the family is to keep your faith. Most officers in Houston do a good job.''

The officers said they began shooting because they thought Oregon, who had a gun, had fired at them. In truth, he never got off a shot: What the police heard was one officer shooting another wearing a bullet-proof vest.

The six also told investigators they planned to seek consent for a search, but internal affairs officials determined the officers intended all along to burst in. There were no drugs found inside.

The July 12 shooting provoked an outcry in the nation's fourth-largest city as well as from the Mexican government. Oregon, a father of two, was a native of Mexico who had lived in the United States for about eight years.

Bradford fired the officers after an internal disciplinary committee and a civilian review panel both recommended the firings. The officers declined to meet with Bradford prior to his decision.

After a grand jury last month refused to indict the officers on murder charges, federal prosecutors and the FBI began their own investigation to see if Oregon's civil rights were violated.

Oregon's family has threatened to sue the city, the police department and the officers.

''I have said, since the beginning the grand jury's decision was just one step to be taken in this case,'' Mayor Lee P. Brown said. ''The internal affairs investigation is yet another step and I support its findings.''

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Peggy Lee, the smoky-voiced singer-composer famous for such songs as ''Is That All There Is?'' and ''Fever,'' has been hospitalized after suffering a stroke.

Beta carotene-packed tomatoes grown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Watch out, carrots. Beta carotene-packed tomatoes are coming your way.

Agriculture Department scientists have released three new lines of tomatoes that contain 10 to 25 times more beta carotene than average tomatoes.

The new tomatoes can be processed into paste, juices and sauces. High beta carotene cherry and beefsteak type market tomatoes also will be released as specialty tomatoes for the fresh market.

''Soon consumers may be able to get abundant beta carotene not only from carrots but also from tomatoes,'' said John R. Stommel, a plant geneticist with the Agricultural Research Service's Vegetable Laboratory in Beltsville, Md. Stommel developed the new tomato lines.

Beta carotene provides the body with vitamin A, an essential nutrient that aids in clear vision, bone growth, tooth development and reproduction.

A major food producer already has begun using the breeding lines to develop nutritionally enhanced products, Stommel said.

Two of the three lines are best adapted to growing conditions in California, the East and the Midwest. The fruits are firm and crack-resistant. Tomatoes that split before harvesting are susceptible to fruit rot, which can cause large crop losses.

The third breeding line does not do as well under California growing conditions.

Florida and California top the list of tomato-producing states. The United States ranks No. 2 worldwide in fresh and processed tomato production worldwide.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Corn and soybean harvesting is wrapping up quickly in northern Wisconsin, putting crop progress there ahead of many central and southern areas, agricultural officials said Monday.

Soybeans in north-central counties are 99 percent harvested, while corn harvested for grain is 97 percent complete, the state Agricultural Statistics Service said in its weekly crop report.

Counties in southwestern Wisconsin report that the soybean harvest is 87 percent complete and corn is 72 percent finished.

Crops yields have been plentiful this year, which could slow some harvesting, said Bob Cropp, University of Wisconsin-Extension agent for Pepin County, where soybeans are 89 percent harvested and corn is 88 percent harvested.

U.S., Britain DMs consider Iraq issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary William Cohen met with his British counterpart in London today to discuss Iraq's defiance of U.N. arms inspections. They agreed "it is crucial that Saddam Hussein reverse" his decision to end all cooperation with the inspectors, White House officials said.

After meeting with British Defense Minister George Robertson, Cohen headed to the Persian Gulf to consult with U.S. allies in the region. P.J. Crowley, a spokesman for the White House National Security Council, said President Clinton intended to call world leaders to discuss the situation.

Iraq declared Saturday that it would end all cooperation with U.N. inspectors, although some work, including maintenance on surveillance cameras at known weapons sites, has been permitted to continue, officials said.

Joe Lockhart, the White House press secretary, told reporters that Cohen and Robertson "agreed that it was crucial that Saddam Hussein reverse his actions, both this past weekend and his lack of cooperation" with the U.N. Special Commission that is charged with ensuring Iraq's disarmament.

Also today, China publicly urged Iraq to end its latest standoff with U.N. weapons inspectors.

"We express our concern and disquiet over this decision by Iraq and appeal to it to resume its comprehensive cooperation" with U.N. inspectors, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhu Bangzao said.

Clinton administration officials were tightlipped on the specifics of Cohen's mission, except to say he departed Monday night. They would not say exactly what he would discuss or which countries he would visit.

The Gulf allies have been reluctant to support U.S. military action against Iraq. The Saudis earlier this year refused to sanction U.S. airstrikes against Iraq from Saudi soil.

Cohen had rushed back to Washington over the weekend, abruptly aborting a trip to Asia in order to attend national security meetings at the White House.

After spending an hour with Cohen, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright and other national security officials Monday, Clinton said Iraq's announced decision to stop cooperating with U.N. arms inspectors will backfire. He said "no options are off the table" for a possible response.

To combat terror...

Albright tries to settle differences over plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Madeleine Albright intervened today in a dispute between Israel and the Palestinian Authority over counter-terrorism measures on the West Bank.

Albright spoke a second day to Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu after following up a call Monday to Netanyahu with a call to Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat.

The State Department spokesman, James P. Rubin, said "the Palestinians have met their responsibilities" by submitting a plan to combat terrorism, but "there are other problems we are working on."

Rubin declined to provide any details, but in Jerusalem, Israel's defense minister, Yitzhak Mordechai, said Israel was holding out for a list of 30 Palestinians the Authority had promised to arrest as part of the land-for-security agreement concluded last month.

Mordechai said Israel was also seeking a timetable for the arrests.

Netanyahu postponed a Cabinet meeting that was to have considered ratifying the accord. Netanyahu said he had ordered the delay because the Palestinians had not submitted a complete blueprint for fighting terrorism. He declined to say what was omitted.

"We are aware of the problem," Rubin said after Albright talked to Netanyahu.

The U.S. spokesman reiterated the administration's position that the agreement, in which Israel is to swap West Bank land for tighter security, had gone into force on Monday.

Rubin also said U.S. mediator Dennis Ross and other State Department officials would go to the region shortly.

Their assignment is to try to set the stage for further Israeli-Palestinian negotiations and to see whether Israel and Syria can open peace talks.

Nap gear adds sleep time for John Glenn

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — John Glenn slept no more than 6½ hours in each of his first three nights aboard the shuttle Discovery. But when he swapped his pajamas for a more awkward sleep suit — one wired with 23 sensors — he improved that time by a half-hour.

The 77-year-old was back in his sleep gear overnight for the second of four wired-up sessions that are designed to help researchers compare his orbital slumber with that of younger astronauts. As soon as he got up this morning, he shed the sleep-monitoring equipment, popped an amino acid pill and had his veins pricked again for blood draws.

Discovery, meanwhile, closed in on a 3,000-pound satellite released by the crew earlier in the flight to study the sun. Retrieval was set for midafternoon.

"It's a good day to go and get a satellite," said Stephen Robinson, the astronaut in charge of the satellite capture. This morning's wake-up call — a rock 'n' roll tune by Stevie Ray Vaughan — was radioed up as a tribute to Robinson; his nickname, because he plays in an astronaut band, is Stevie Ray.

The Spartan satellite was to have captured 1,200 solar images during two days of free flight.

"PRESS ON"
Paul wrote, "I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 3:14). Nothing could stop him. He lived Christ. He preached Christ. No wonder people loved him. No wonder he influenced them so greatly. How could Paul keep pressing on joyously and triumphantly under so many adversities? "If from human motives I fought with wild beasts at Ephesus, what does it profit me? If the dead are not raised, let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die" (1 Corinthians 15:32). There is the answer. Paul looked beyond this life to the resurrection from the dead. May we also keep pressing on and look forward to being with Christ forevermore!

$250..... For Perfect Score (All 20 Games Correct)
$50..... 1st Place
$25..... 2nd Place
$15..... 3rd Place

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, Snyder, TX 79550, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for the $250 cash prize. To win the $1,000 cash prize, all twenty games must be picked correctly, plus the exact score must be predicted on the tie-breaker.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
