Nixon Submits Postal Reform Would Take From Cabinet

By WILLIAM C. BARTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today for legislation to convert the Post Office Department into a government-owned, self-sustaining service removed from Cabinet status.

"Traditions die hard and traditional institutions are difficult to abandon," Nixon declared. "But tradition is no substitute for performance, and if our postal system is to meet the expanding needs of the 1970s, we must act now."

The President's proposal was largely based on recommendations submitted by Frederick R. Kappel, head of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's Commission on Postal Organization.

Nixon said his reform, besides removing the post office from the Cabinet, calls for several sweeping changes including:

—Creation of an independent postal service wholly owned by the federal government and administered by a nine-member board of directors.

—New and extensive collective bargaining rights for postal employes.

—Bond financing for major capital improvements, similar to the funding arrangement now held by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

—Establishment of a commission of experts to propose changes in mail classification and postage rates, subject to review by the seven presidentially appointed members of the nine-man board.

Much of what the President recommended was leaked by congressional sources last week.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount held a White House briefing today on the plans.

President Nixon and Blount appeared together before reporters at the briefing and both made comments on the Nixon message to Congress.

Nixon said all nine directors would be chosen "without regard to political affiliation."

Seven members including the chairman, would be appointed by the President, and would require Senate confirmation. These seven would then select "a full time chief executive officer who will join with the seven others to select a full time executive who will also serve on the board," Nixon said.

The President said the reform proposal has been under consideration for the past several weeks, and he described it as "the most significant reform bill" that will be sent Congress under his administration."

He said such a reorganization is "an urgent national requirement" and the only way to forestall either massive postal deficits or huge rate increases.

Noting that the department has had deficits for 114 of the last 131 years, Nixon said, "the money to meet these huge postal deficits comes directly out of the taxpayers' pocket regardless of how much he uses the mails.

It is bad business, bad government, and bad politics to pour this kind of money into an inefficient postal service," Nixon said.

The President emphasized that the reforms could be put into effect without a reduction in the postal system's 750,000 employes.

But without a modernized system, he said, more than 250,000 new workers will be needed to "move the growing mountain of mail" over the next decade.

The proposed steps include a provision to give employes the right to negotiate with management over wages and working conditions, and Blount said he had discussed this feature with the various postal unions.

"While they haven't formally endorsed it (the reform bill)," Blount said, "we did have very fruitful discussions."

The provision, he added, calls for "a fair and impartial mechanism," to resolve negotiating stalemates and disputes arising under labor agreements. He said it also retains a prohibition on strikes, but has a provision for binding arbitration by an impartial three-man board of experts.

Blount noted that he already has discussed the reform proposal with both Democrat and Republican congressmen and said he received a "very good reception" to the plan.

What's in a name?

Those who believe in omens and also hope for a change in trend on the U.S. Supreme Court should be able to read some sort of sign into the first name of Judge Burger, President Nixon's nominee for Chief Justice. His full name is Warren Earl Burger, and you can see at a glance that Warren Earl in a manner of speaking is the opposite of Earl Warren.

This is the season to give advice and counsel to graduating classes of schools and colleges.

Most advice comes unsolicited and usually goes unheeded, but I would hope that high school seniors this year would be prepared to do one thing: Think. Especially think if you are going to college and are confronted with some of the turmoil that is associated with many campuses today. Although nobody should give up his right to protest anything he believes to be wrong or unjust, be certain that you know the why, and above all the what before you join any group bent on protesting anything.

The turmoil that has caused most of the problems on college campuses appears to be anchored in pleasant platitudes. But the "why" is important in any protest. Ostensibly, most of those today deal with social problems and efforts to solve them. But, if you will stop and think, you will find in most cases that this country has made more progress toward solving the problems at issue than any other country in recorded history.

Perhaps the pace is too slow for the times, but that's where the "what" comes in. Think about the alternatives. If you give it proper unbiased thought, you 1969 graduates have the equipment to come up with some answers.

But first, go down the line and think about them whenever issues are raised, or demands are made by protesters. You will find that no other country has come up with as many solutions as the USA. — WACIL McNAIR.

SAYS EDUCATION COMMISSIONER

Punitive Legislation Not Answer To Campus Riots

By GARVEN HUDGINS
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new commissioner of education, Dr. James E. Allen, says punitive legislation can never solve the problems of campus disruption and violence.

Instead, Allen said in an interview, legislators and educators should seek to achieve changes in curricula and cope with "legitimate student protests and legitimate requests from students for change."

Excerpts from the question-and-answer session:

Q. Do you think the rash of proposals in state legislatures and in Congress for legislation against campus dissidents will be effective in curbing disruption?

A. I can appreciate and understand the concern that Congress and the legislatures have over the disruption and violence which has been taking place on campus. But I simply do not believe that punitive, negative legislation can solve the problem.

Generally, I think there are enough laws already available to us for handling those few students who have violated the laws of the universities and of society.

I am particularly opposed to legislation which would withdraw funds from institutions. Any student found guilty of a crime or of illegal disruption and expelled from an institution would automatically forfeit the right to any federal financial help to pay for his college education.

I think we ought to begin to think in terms of how we can help colleges and universities achieve changes in curricula; how they can handle legitimate student protests and legitimate requests from students for change. We should also seek to bring about those changes which are so long overdue in our institutions.

Q. If new federal money becomes available for education during the Nixon Administration, where would you favor spending it?

A. The basic priority in U.S. education is to raise the level of those children who now are caught below minimum levels of

Senate OK's 4 State Colleges

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators gave quick approval today to four new state colleges, cutting off possible filibusters with a parliamentary manuever and overriding a strong protest by Sen. Henry Grover, Houston Republican.

Bills setting up branches of the University of Texas at San Antonio and in the Permian Basin were passed to the governor to be signed into law.

Measures creating new schools at Texarkana and Corpus Christi were sent to the House for another vote.

Several senators opposed the proposals and had stalled a vote on them earlier, so the "previous question" was quickly passed to prevent any debate on the measures. The motion was made while the bill sponsors were talking, which meant when they sat down, the bill had to be voted on, without prolonged discussion.

"Is this tyranny of the majority going to continue on your part," Grover asked Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

"The chair is not advised," Barnes replied.

"Well the people should be advised—this is a disgraceful action," Grover said.

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin would supplement Odessa College by offering only junior, senior and graduate work.

The University of Texas at San Antonio would be a four-year college.

The proposed University of South Texas, at Corpus Christi, and Texarkana State University would be upper-level schools such as in the Permian Basin.

The Permian Basin school was approved 23-5; the Corpus Christi school 19-9, and the San Antonio and Texarkana schools on voice vote.

"This will be partial solution to some of the problems we face in education today," said Sen. W.E. Snelson of Midland, sponsor of the Permian Basin school.

Earlier, Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan and other economy-minded senators had filibustered against creation of several new colleges, including the one between Midland and Odessa.

The House passed the Permian bill on voice vote April 24, under sponsorhip of Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa.

Creation of the Permian Basin school was recommended by the state College Coordinating Board in its master plan for state senior schools.

Some opposition came from the Midland-Odessa area to creation of a separate school, and members of a "committee to elevate Odessa College" testified at a hearing in favor of making Odessa College a four-year institution.

Chamber Drive Is Set Tomorrow

All members of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce have been urged to participate in a one-day membership drive Wednesday.

Chamber President Shelby Coker said members of the organization have been invited to come to the community room of Snyder National Bank between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. tomorrow for a coffee session. At that time, each will be asked to contact a few prospective members for the Chamber of Commerce.

Officials of the Chamber hope to increase the membership by approximately 100 during the brief drive. The organization needs more financial support and more manpower to serve on the various committees and participate in activities, it was pointed out.

This will be the first membership drive to be conducted for some time by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. Bud England is chairman of the drive.

Graduation Rites Tonight In Coliseum

Snyder High School's graduating class of 1969 will have its commencement program this evening in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. and will climax with the awarding of diplomas.

Bill Minick, minister of East Side Church of Christ, will give the invocation, and the Rev. Jack Riley, pastor of Avenue D Baptist Church, the benediction.

COORDINATES COMMUNITY FORCES

Chamber Task Continuous, Varied

EDITOR'S NOTE — On the eve of a membership drive by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber's manager, Karl Mawhorter, has prepared a brief report on the functions of that organization and the services that it performs for the community. This report deals mostly with the "routine" work that is performed, day in and day out, and does not include special projects and assistance provided other civic and service organizations in the area.

"What does the Chamber do?" Or, maybe, "What does the Chamber do for me?"

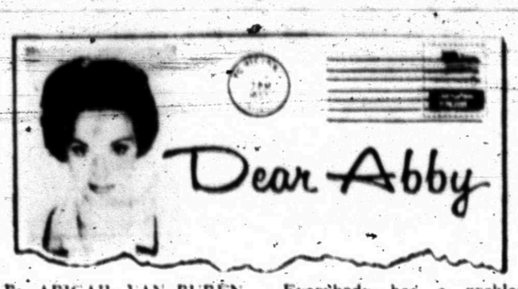

These are the most common questions that are asked of us. Most especially do we hear these questions when we are seeking new members.

"So, let's talk about what the Chamber of Commerce does. Perhaps the main concern of any Chamber is the economic life of the city and county it serves. This means that we must be interested in each and every commercial and industrial facility located within our service area. We are here to see that each makes a profit by stimulating the sales and services of these businesses. We do not want to see a single business venture fail, or a single empty building, if we can help it.

The first step in trying to accomplish this end is to make our city more attractive to the buying public — not just prettier, but a more pleasant place to live and work and a congenial place to shop.

Industrially we are the home of the industrial foundation and the industrial team. We constantly seek new industrial prospects for our area. Therefore, we are a central filing system for all the data and information an industrialist might ask for. We are expected to have the answers on available buildings, construction costs, climate, labor, population, util-

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is engaged to be married in November. Today's last week, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, while looking for bobby pins in her dresser drawer, I came across some little pink pills in a queer-looking pill box. When I asked her what they were, she said, "Birth control pills. You know I'm supposed to take them 3 months before the wedding." (I know she had taken one that day because there was one less than the day before.)

My question is this: "Why is she taking them now when the marriage isn't until November?

I would throw her fiance right out on his ear but I'm afraid she'd go with him, and it would break my heart as I love my daughter very much. Every time I look at her fiance now I get a terrible feeling of hatred. How in the world can I help plan a wedding in November feeling the way I do about him?

DISAPPOINTED MOM

DEAR MOM: You had better get over your feeling of "hatred." It takes two to tango, and while I do not condone this type dance step before the wedding march, it beats the "Rockabye Baby" waltz.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what you think of a father who doesn't think he's needed at the hospital when his 3-year-old son had his third operation (Plastic surgery for burns).

Daddy wasn't there for the first two, either. Mommy went alone and sat in the waiting room for a couple of hours.

My husband says, "What good will it do the boy? I'll come in the evening to see him when he knows I'm there."

Am I right or wrong to feel that my husband should be there?

"MOMMY'S HERE"

DEAR MOMMY: I can't imagine a father who would stay away. But aside from this idiosyncrasy, he may be an adequate husband and parent. Don't push it.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the articles about loose dentures. My wife had that problem; then we started world traveling in connection with my work. She went to a dentist in Denmark, and he said he'd never seen such a sloppy fit! Then he added, "I'll bet it was done in the States." He was right. She said if he could do a better job to go to it. He did, and what a beautiful job that dentist turned out! Without denture powders, glue or anything to hold them in, those dentures fit as snug and comfortable as her own teeth.

I think Ralph Nader could do a good job exposing the dental profession here. I had a bridge made in Calcutta and another made in New Zealand, and all the American dentists marvel at the fine craftsmanship. By the way, the dental work my wife and I had cost about 30 per cent of what they charge here.

Do me a favor and don't use my name. No one knows my wife wears dentures, and I don't want her embarrassed.

FAITHFUL READER

DEAR READER: Come on now. There are plenty of poor dentists in Calcutta and Denmark, and many conscientious dentists in The States. There is an international dental society which invites dentists from all over the world to meet and share their knowledge of improved dental techniques. And I'm sure they do.

ities and many, many more.

The daily routine of the Chamber office can be very diversified. We receive approximately one letter a day from a Texas child needing information on the community for his study of Texas history. Recently about one letter a day came from a commercial establishment concerning business opportunities in Snyder. We trace lost persons upon request. We maintain a rather complete library of city directories and telephone books for the public's convenience, along with various state road maps and flight schedules.

We maintain a scrapbook of many interesting achievements in the city's progress which affords a history of activities. Applications for various types of employment also are kept on file in the Chamber office.

All types of tourist information are handled through the Chamber of Commerce office, along with arrangements for many visiting groups.

Several annual affairs, such as the July 4th celebration, agriculture tours, and a Christmas activity are organized and coordinated through committees of the Chamber of Commerce.

Other than the staff, our help on all projects comes from the active members who give their time to the organization for the betterment of the community. The birth of many community improvement projects already completed in Snyder may be traced to these hard-working, thought-provoking committee members and their ideas.

Certainly we haven't covered all of the activities that came up from time to time, nor all of the duties we perform. But, as a businessman, or a thinking person, you can see that we perform many of the community tasks that you knew were done, but perhaps did not quite realize who did them.

Our financial support comes from our membership and these people believe that the office is necessary to the business and cultural life of the community. Through their help, we shoulder much of the organization, the correspondence and the information-gathering which must be done in any active community.

If we haven't answered the question of what we do for you, and you want more specific examples concerning your own business, come in and talk with us.

If you have an idea, or want to be on a certain committee, join the Chamber of Commerce and we will help you help us.

Your Chamber of Commerce is a good investment, and the interest on this investment is a better Snyder.

competence. This is a critical area. This is why urban education, for example, is so important.

In higher education, I think that any additional funds which become available in the immediate future should be used to extend further the student aid program.

Although this has been extended recently, I still think that what is being done is relatively minor in terms of the number of students being reached.

Q. Do you believe that community control and decentralization offer solutions to sub-par education in inner city areas, particularly where integration is impossible due to a preponderantly minority enrollment?

A. It is true that in some parts of the country you are not going to be able to desegregate schools in the foreseeable future. In the meantime, we must see that every child gets the best education he can have.

Because a child is in a segregated school is no reason he should not have the best.

In some large school systems you have parents who see their children coming home unable to read at the level expected of them. This is among the problems that centralized school authorities are trying to solve. But parents don't see them getting solved, so they say they should have a control in how the schools are run and in what is taught in them.

These are very legitimate and proper requests on the part of parents. I think every large city should seek to work with parents in devising ways in which there can be meaningful community control.

If this can be worked out and parents given the right to participate in their schools, they will become more responsible. Only when they feel they have no say do they begin to act irresponsibly.

I would favor every large school system seeking ways to decentralize so that we can have good, healthy school systems.

I want to stress, however, that I believe a child's education is better in an integrated setting. But I don't believe the goal of integration and the goal of community control are in conflict. Many people flee the cities because they don't believe the schools are adequate. If the schools could be improved and the quality of inner city education raised, I think integration would be furthered.

Sudan Leftist Gives Recognition To Reds

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Sudan's three-day-old leftist regime announced today that it has accorded full diplomatic recognition to Communist-run East Germany.

Sudan's Omdurman radio said the recognition was accorded by the 10-man National Revolutionary Council which seized power in a bloodless coup Sunday.

Sudan and other Arab governments broke relations with West Germany in 1965 after Bonn established relations with Israel.

The move came as Sudan's new regime denounced reports that it is Communist or Communist-inspired as "absurd lies spread by supporters of the ousted reactionary leaders."

Krist Convicted In Kidnapping

By DON McKEE
Associated Press Writer

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — A praying jury has convicted Gary Steven Krist of the $500,000 ransom kidnaping of coed Barbara Jane Mackle, but spared his life because of elaborate steps taken to keep the victim alive in a buried box.

Krist, 24, who had predicted the death penalty which the state asked, was given a life sentence Monday night on the jury's recommendation for mercy. Normally a life term may be reviewed for parole in seven years in Georgia.

Jury foreman H. I. Rainwater said deliberations began with a prayer. He disclosed in an interview that the 12 men were divided on whether to impose the death penalty, but finally voted for mercy because "of the effort and precaution he took to see that she (the victim) wasn't killed."

"He did go to an awful lot of trouble to see that she would be all right," Rainwater said.

Miss Mackle, a 20-year-old Emory University junior, was buried in an 8-by-2-by-2-foot box for 83 hours after her abduction from a Decatur motel last Dec. 17. The box contained food and tranquilizer-loaded drinking water. It also had a battery-run ventilation system, water pump and small light that burned out after a short time, leaving the girl in total darkness.

After the victim's father, land developer Robert F. Mackle of Coral Gables, Fla., paid the ransom, the kidnaper telephoned the FBI with directions to the remote burial spot northeast of Decatur.

Dist. Atty. Richard Bell had presented a massive—and unrefuted-array of evidence, eyewitnesses and fingerprints linking Krist to the crime.

"I'm disappointed," Bell said of the verdict.

Krist's two court-appointed lawyers, Mobley Childs and James R. Venable, offered no defense testimony, choosing instead to plead for mercy in final arguments. By foregoing testimony, they were entitled to open and close the final arguments.

Judge H. O. Hubert Jr. asked if the defendant wanted to say anything before sentence was passed. Krist whispered to Venable.

"The defendant wants to thank the jury, but that would be improper," Venable said, smiling.

The verdict came at 9:52 p.m. after three hours and 46 minutes of deliberation on the trial's seventh day.

Ruth Eisenmann Schier, 26, former University of Miami biology student also charged with the kidnaping, is to be tried in June.

Krist, a native of Washington state, escaped in 1966 from a California penal institute where he was serving a sentence for car theft. At the time of the kidnaping, he was employed as a technician at the University of Miami's Institute of Marine Sciences.

Defense Spending Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military is pouring untold billions of dollars into defense contractors' pockets for weapons that often don't work, a bipartisan group of senators and representatives said today.

"The federal government has not been adequately controlling military spending," a joint economic subcommittee concluded. "As a result, substantial unnecessary funds have been spent for the acquisition of weapons systems and other military hardware."

The subcommittee's report followed hearings last November and January into the defense procurement program that totaled $44 billion in fiscal 1968—25 per cent of the federal budget.

"The wasteful, inefficient practices uncovered in the course of the hearings raise basic questions concerning the Defense Department's management of its own affairs," the report said. "It also makes us skeptical concerning the effectiveness and care with which the defense budget is scrutinized by pertinent agencies outside of the Pentagon."

"In the past literally billions of dollars have been wasted on weapons systems that have had to be canceled because they did not work," the subcommittee said. "Other systems have performed far below contract specifications."

"The result of the absence of effective cost controls, coupled with a number of policies and practices discussed in this report, has resulted in a vast subsidy for the defense industry, particularly the larger contractors," the report said.

Rockefeller On Visit To Columbia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York left today on the second leg of a fact-finding tour o Latin America for President Nixon.

Before leaving, Rockefeller met with Nixon at the White House and afterward he expressed regret that political problems forced cancellation of his scheduled visit to Peru this week.

"These problems are the result of a breakdown in communications just when communications are most needed," Rockefeller told a news conference at the White House.

Peru, reacting angrily to a suspension of military sales by the United States, said a Rockefeller visit would not be welcome.

Rockefeller, who visited Mexico and Central America in the first of his series of trips earlier this month, flew to Colombia today, the first stop of a five-country swing. Also on his schedule are Ecuador, Bolivia, Trinidad-Tobago and Venezuela.

At the White House news briefing, Rockefeller said he talked with the President about the growing interdependence among Western Hemisphere nations in such areas as trade, economics, technology and social development.

"The President feels it is terribly important we come to know and understand one another so we can take maximum advantage of our interdependence," Rockefeller said.

Nine Injured In Denton Shooting

By JIM BARLOW

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Nine persons, most of them college students, suffered gunshot wounds Monday night following a minor automobile collision in front of a Texas Woman's University dormitory.

Glenda Hopkins, 18, a Negro student, was hit in the chest when a policeman's pistol accidentaly discharged. She suffered a critical wound. A male student was struck by the same bullet.

The crowd which collected was sprayed by a shotgun blast from a pickup truck which drove away.

Officers charged the man they identified as the driver of the car in the accident with carrying a prohibited weapon, a club, and aggravated assault on an officer. He is George Allen Miles, an airman and a Negro from Carswell Air Force Base at nearby Fort Worth.

In all, 13 youths were arrested.

Police Chief Wayne Autrey gave this account of what happened:

Patrolmen answering an auto accident call found that a car had rammed into a parked vehicle on the university campus.

One of the officers, Wayne Brown, was attacked with a club by the driver, a Negro airman, and knocked down.

Rookie patrolman Rick Wiley, 25, pulled his gun. It went off accidentally, hitting Miss Hopkins in the chest. The bullet then lodged in the groin of Ralph Stolow, 18, a student of neighboring North Texas State University.

Miss Hopins and Stolow were taken to a hospital. The Negro airman and a woman companion were taken to jail.

A crowd attracted by the shooting was still in front of the dormitory when two shotgun blasts were fired from a passing truck, injuring seven persons, six of them students.

Later patrolling police arrested five Negro youths with equipment the officers said was for making fire bombs. Four more were picked up when police said a search of their car revealed a revolver.

The campuses of both schools have been racially integrated for years.

Chocolate Wafers

½ cup unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 large eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate Peppermint Filling.

Turn flour, cornstarch and salt into a sifter; set aside. In a medium mixing bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form; add egg yolks and beat gently just until blended, add sugar and vanilla and beat just until blended. Gradually sift and fold in flour mixture. Drop by level teaspoonfuls, 2 inches apart, onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven until golden - brown in center with a slightly darker edge — 6 to 8 minutes. (Makes about 4 dozen.) With a wide spatula remove to wire rack to cool. Store in tightly covered tin box until ready to fill; then spread half the cookies (2 dozen) with the Chocolate Peppermint Filling; sandwich together with the remaining cookies. Makes 2 dozen cookie sandwiches. After filling cookies do not store tightly covered or they will soften.

Chocolate Peppermint Filling— In the top of a double boiler over hot (not boiling) water, melt ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, ½ cup mint-flavored semi-sweet chocolate pieces and 2 tablespoons butter; remove from heat and water. Alternately beat in with a spoon 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, ¼ cup water and ½ teaspoon vanilla, until of smooth spreading consistency.

Investment Managers Use Prudent Man As Guide

By PHILIP WECHSLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Investment managers of the nation's pension plans are confronted with a continuing question: What is a prudent man?

It is no idle speculation, but a pragmatic question on how to invest these huge pension funds, estimated in excess of $100 billion, for the maximum return with the minimum risk.

The prudent man theory, or how would a reasonable man act, is the guiding rule for pension investments—since these funds represent economic security for millions of Americans in their older age.

Ten years ago when inflation was not the problem it is today most pension funds were invested in conservative fixed income securities, usually government obligations.

"That was prudent a decade ago," says a New York banker. "But is it prudent today? Obviously not, with this inflationary trend."

Inflation, increased benefits and widespread demand for performance have forced pension plans to seek a greater return on their investments, thus the swing to common stocks and convertible bonds. Today pension plans are the largest group of stockholders with a combined holdings of $50 billion.

Government figures show that pension plans are buying more, trading more and apparently enjoying it more, as their assets have increased by 20 per cent during the last three years.

With all this activity are pension plans taking unnecessary risks?

"Not at all," says Paul Howell, a national pension consultant. "Pensions are uniquely suited for common stock investment because they are true long-term holders of equities, they can ride out the storms and stresses of the market and they receive preferred tax treatment."

"You have to take prudent risks to do right by your people," says Frank Cummings, a top aide to Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who recently introduced a bill to regulate pensions, mainly as they relate to meeting payments to individual workers.

"We don't see any need for investment regulation, yet," Cummings added.

Recently eyebrows were raised in financial circles when pension funds were channeled into volatile, glamor companies that operate gambling casinos.

"I wouldn't touch them, they're not my cup of tea," says the investment manager of a $100-million, growth oriented pension plan. "But a slot machine is a great source of income—if you own it," he added.

Some pension plans are taking what they consider prudent risks by investing in growth oriented issues rather than the blue chips. Bankers Trust of New York set up a special fund for pensions seeking price appreciation.

"What is a risk. It's all a matter of degree. Fifteen years ago Xerox was considered a risk and look at it today," says a Bankers spokesman.

A Junior Editors Quiz About BIRDS

ANSWER: Birds are very active and need plenty of rest at night. Few of us see them sleeping, because it would be dangerous for them to sleep in exposed places. They have many enemies. Birds are expert at hiding. Some sleep in thickets, or in holes in trees; some burrow in leaves. Many sleep high up on branches of tall trees, concealed in the foliage, with their heads tucked under their wings. The soft shoulder feathers make fine pillows. Birds don't fall off the branches because of an ingenious arrangement of their legs and feet. Each of the toes connects with a kind of cord going up inside the leg and around the joints. When the bird squats down to sleep (upper left) this cord pulls the toes together, so the bird is securely locked to the branch. But when the morning light wakes him, he stands up (upper right). This loosens the cord; now the bird can fly off the branch. It is time to rustle up some breakfast (lower left).

Life Today Needs More Stability

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life today seems to lack stability.

Americans once feared winding up in a rut; now many would give almost anything if they could but find something resembling a rut in which to hide from the ever-pressing onrush of the world.

Experience teaches us that some things in life simply aren't worth pressing the panic button about. So, amid all the storm and strife around us, we have decided to remain calm and keep our cool on such matters as—

The possibility that medicine will create a wonder drug that will make anybody over 40 feel better before noon.

Whether England will get to enter the Common Market.

Will any man ever be able to leap 35 feet or run a 3½-minute mile

What on earth that lady out in California will finally do with her collection of woodpecker holes.

Why people won't quit stealing restaurant ashtrays and hotel towels.

The high price of lamb. Anybody who'll eat lamb deserves to pay through the nose.

The future political plans of Charles de Gaulle.

Any statement in prose or poetry made by Cassius Clay.

Would our national prestige or survival be threatened if Soviet Russia lands a monkey or a man or a chicken or a dog on the planet Mars before we do?

Any change in women's hairdos or skirt lengths. It would be simpler if they just wore Venetian blinds and raised or lowered them at will.

What will mod art come up with next?

Who is Andy Warhol anyway and what does he want?

Why the saints come marching in in New Orleans but keep marching out of the Vatican.

Will Frank Sinatra become a hermit or marry just one more time

What was Jack Paar—who? —really like?

Whether the progeny of that fly you swung at and missed last April will cover the entire globe by the end of September.

How can the crime rate ever be lowered when the authorities still keep in their unsolved file the mystery of who killed Cock Robin

The main thing to remember—if you seek to keep your head when all those round you are losing theirs—is not to clutter it with worries old or new about problems you can't do anything about anyway.

Ex-Convicts Working On Job Training

One of the five is a woman, 23 years old. All are black, and four still are on parole themselves.

"They're good. They can break through the walls of silence that others can't," said Bill Wienke, their supervisor.

ABC Plans Pro Grid TV

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For a "realistic price" the world of professional football entered prime time television with the announcement that the American Broadcasting Co. had agreed to view 13 regular season games for three years beginning in 1970.

The joint announcement was made Monday night by pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle and Roone Arledge, president of ABC sports at the commissioner's plush Park Avenue office.

The weekly series, set for Monday nights, will begin on the first Monday of the regular season in 1970. The broadcasts, in color, will be the first contract with a pro sports league for a regular series during prime television time. The telecasts will originate at 8:30 or 9 p.m. Eastern time.

Although the amount of money for the package was not discussed, Arledge did say that "the price was realistic. It was priced accordingly.

"Pro football is a great attraction and this association with pro football is in keeping with ABC's pioneering efforts in television sports coverage."

It was speculated that Rozelle would announce the complete television-money package after he meets with NBC and CBS officials to negotiate the remaining Sunday package. Current contracts with the two networks expire after the 1969 season.

CBS now covers the National Football League and NBC telecasts the American League games.

Further speculation is that each NFL club now receives $1.2 million and each AFL team gets between $800,000-900,000 per year under the present pact with the two networks.

"We're hopeful that in 1970 all 26 clubs will get more than $1.2 million apiece," Rozelle said.

Rozelle emphasized that the contract covers only 13 regular season games annually. Contracts covering the remaining games of the 26 clubs in the newly realigned pro football league will be negotiated later.

Income from all television will be shared equally by the 26 teams, Rozelle added.

Rozelle said that CBS and NBC each were given an opportunity for the Monday package first but both networks declined.

Veteran Rookies Prepare For 500

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mark Donohue, America's premier road racing driver, tops the field of rookies in cars for Friday's Indianapolis 500.

The rookie tag, here, of course, refers only to the lack of previous 500 experience. Grand Prix veteran Graham Hill of Britain was a rookie when he won the 1966 race.

The average age of this year's five rookies is 31. All but Bruce Walkup, 24, are veterans in other racing circles.

Do they feel like rookies here?

"You bet I'm a rookie," says George Follmer, 35, of Arcadia, Calif., who is driving his own car. "I don't imagine you can hear that big crowd race day, but I'm sure you feel extra pressure."

Follmer's background includes success in sports car racing and a victory in the first U.S. Auto Club championship race of this season, a 150-mile event in his native Phoenix, Ariz.

Donohue, who received the Martini and Rossi Driver of the Year award last year, said he was happy about the rain that washed out the scheduled first weekend of 500 qulifying May 17-18.

"I woke up that first morning and looked out the motel window. The stands were full and it was only 8 o'clock. It kind of shook me up."

A week later, more relaxed, he put his Lola, with a turbo-charged Offenhauser engine, in the fourth starting spot.

It's the best starting position for a rookie since Mario Andretti won the same spot in 1965.

Donohue, a Brown University graduate, left an engineering job in New Jersey two years ago to begin driving full time. He lives in Media, Pa.

He'll be seeing his first Indy race and its crowd of 300,000 from the cockpit of car No. 66.

Peter Revson of New York City gives the Ivy League another representative in this year's rookie class.

Revson, 30, attended Cornell for two years. He's driving a car for Jack Brabham of Australia and starting last in the field of 33.

Walkup, from Downey, Calif., and Sonny Ates, 34, Sellersburg, Ind., complete the rookie field.

Walkup came here looking for a ride, after qualifying last year but getting bumped from the starting field.

He hooked up with car owner Don Gerhardt of Fresno, Calif., and put a turbo Offy in the 28th spot.

Ates, a veteran of the midget car ranks, is driving a car owned by Mel Kenyon of Lebanon, Ind., and grabbed the No. 14 starting slot compared to his boss' No. 25 spot.

Powerful Yanks Scalp Tribe 10-1

Good hitting and pitching were the keys to an easy, 10-1, Yankee victory over the Indians in the first of two Little League clashes in Towle Park last night. Clay Bishop headed the Yankee roster with 3 runs for 3 times at bat. George Watts and David James each crossed home plate twice for the Yankees while Joe Hardin, Earnest Brandon, and Mark Harless scored one run each.

For the Indians, short stop Greg Gafford scored the only run after knocking a one-base hit his first time at bat. For the Yankees, Clay Bishop was the winning pitcher giving up only 1 run and 2 hits. The Yankees were able to get 10 runs and 11 nits off the losing pitcher, Harvey Waller.

In the second Little League clash the Giants slipped by the Cubs 4-2. The Giants were able to get 5 hits off Cub pitcher Ricky Howell. Center fielder Herman McAnnelly scored 2 runs with 2 hits, while Kelly Ragland and E. Rollins got 1 run and 1 hit each. Barry Blalock also got a hit for the Giants. Pitcher Charlie McCartney for the Giants gave up only 3 hits. Lee Allen Jarrell got two hits and Win Bunch knocked one. The Cubs scored both their runs in the third inning when Jarrell and Raymond Smith crossed home plate. The Giants scored twice in the fourth and twice in the fifth to win the game 4-2.

Indians, Giants Win

Powered by the hitting of Ernie Simmons, Jeral Loper, and David Bennett, the Farm League Giants smashed the Cubs 6-2 in the opening game Monday night at Towle Park. The Giants scored three runs in the first inning as Simmons, Loper, and Bennett each crossed home plate. Tracy Knipe scored both Cub runs, one in the first and one in the third. The fourth inning was without a score but the Giants came back in the fifth with three more runs by Simmons, Loper and Bennett. Scott Clark was the winning pitcher for the Giants, throwing a one-hitter. For the Cubs, Ronald Hines was the loosing pitcher giving up two hits.

In the second Farm League clash the American League Indians clobbered the Yankees 22-6 in a game that went only four innings. For the Indians virtually every player scored with Dana Hanna leading the list with four runs. Rodney Mueller rapped three hits while Frank Lopez, Jimmy Romero, Mark Mueller, Jackie Womack, and Eddie Essary crossed home plate two times each. Nino Fractures Hand, Loses To Dick Tiger

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger's upset victory over middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti turned slightly sour when it was learned the Italian had suffered a broken right hand. But there were lucrative fights ahead for both winner and loser today.

"I broke the hand in the first round when I hit him high on the head. The pain was terrible," said Benvenuti after dropping a unanimous decision in a 10-round nontile bout with the 39-year-old Biafran at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

"I was a one-handed fighter after that," said Benventi, grimacing in pain. Asked why he didn't quit, Nino replied quickly and firmly, "Never. I am a professional fighter."

Dr. Edwin Campbell of the New York Athletic Commission said handsome Nino had suffered a complete break of the second metacarpal bone (behind the index finger) of the right hand.

"He won't be able to train until a minimum of eight weeks," said Dr. Campbell.

That means a delay in Benvenuti's next defense of his middleweight (160 pound) title. He whipped Don Fullmer in a title defense on Dec. 14 and his six months period of grace expires on June 14.

The World Boxing Association's championship committee insists that the 31-year-old champion must defend next against Luis Rodriguez, the WBA's No. 1 contender from Miami.

Rodriguez, a one-time welterweight king, and his manager, Angelo Dundee, saw Tiger, who will be 40 on Aug. 14, completely dominate Benvenuti, who had used his injured right only sparingly.

"We'll wait for him," said Dundee. "We've been waiting a long time. I'm posting a $2,000 forfeit check with the New York Commission.

"Right now we've got offers for Benvenuti of $100,000 in Puerto Rico, $150,000 in Miami Beach, and $200,000 in San Diego which is celebrating its 200th year. My guy will take a lot less, we want the title shot.

"I'm sick over it," said Mushky Salow, manager of light heavyweight champion Bob Foster, before the word got out of Nino's broken hand. He had hoped for a lucrative match between the two champions.

A year and two days before, Foster won the light heavy crown by knocking out Tiger in the fourth round.

Would Foster fight Tiger again?

"Sure, we'll be very happy to do that if the money is right," said Salow.

"He wants a $100,000," said Tiger. "I haven't got that kind of money."

The stocky, stolid Tiger, a 12-6 underdog, weighed 166 to Benvenuti's 164.

The officials had Tiger the winner by the following round scores: referee Tony Perez, 7-2-1; judge Joe Armstrong 6-4-1, and judge Al Berl 6-3-1. The Associated Press had Tiger in front, 7-3.

A crowd of 14,305 paid $147,431 for the television fight. Benvenuti earned $50,000 and Tiger $35,000. They may get more with television reruns. And there's the possibility of a very lucrative return match.

Senators Nix Ethics Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Only one senator voted against a conflict of interest law Monday, but another agreed with him that he did not think it would slow down complaints about the legislature.

"Do you think you can pass a law that would keep 33 1-3 per cent of the people from criticizing the legislature?" asked Sen. W.T. Moore of Bryan, who opposed the bill.

"You can't conform to a code of ethics because the press won't let you," said Sen. A.R. Schwartz, Galveston. "You couldn't pass a code of ethics that the press would let us live with if we swore to God every morning."

The bill, by Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin, was passed to the House on voice vote after Moore said "The whole thing is humiliating and smells of demogoguery."

Moore, who sought and received a compliment from Wilson for allowing the bill out of Moore's committee, said he "resented" having to comply with some of the provisions.

Mainly, indicated Moore, he objected to disclosure provisions.

"I resent having to go before the secretary of the state and telling him that I haven't done anything wrong during the previous year," said Moore.

Wilson's bill would require a legislator to file with the secretary of state before Jan. 30 a statement including the names, relationships, and salary of any relatives who are employed by the state government, and "the nature of any business transactions" between the legislator and any state agency.

An amendment by Moore to delete the section on relatives failed, 5-25. Moore said a cousin of his had worked with the department of corrections for five years before he knew about it. "I may have 300 or 400 cousins, many of whom I've never seen..." Moore said.

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena tacked on an amendment providing a $1,000 fine and-or one year in jail for anyone falsely accusing a state official of violating the proposed act.

Another amendment exempted legislators who appear before the Industrial Accident Board from registering because the board already has disclosure requirements, and the fee is set by law, Wilson said.

Wilson's bill sets standards of conduct for any officer or employe of a state agency, legislator or legislative employe.

Among other things, it specifies that they shall not accept any "gift, favor or service that might reasonably tend to influence him in the discharge of his official duties."

It requires them to disclose any "substantial interest" in any business which is under the jurisdiction of a state regulatory agency and prohibits a legislator from voting on any measure in which he has "a personal or private interest."

It also prohibits any officer or employes of a state agency from investing in a business which would create a "substantial conflict between his interest and the public interest.' The bill specifies that a substantial conflict of interest exists when the investment is in a business "over which the state agency with which he is associated exercises substantial regulation" and "is in excess of the value of $25,000," unless the investment is in a corporation in which the person owns less than 10 per cent of the voting interest.

A legislator appearing before a state agency on behalf of a client for pay would have to file with the state agency his name, the name of his client and the fact that he is being paid.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Where should I write about a missing refund? I filed my return months ago and so far have heard nothing from IRS about it.

A — If it has been more than 10 weeks since you filed your return and you have not received any information about it, write to the Internal Revenue Service Center where your return was filed. Give your name, address and social security number and the approximate date you sent in your return.

Q — What records should I keep on last year's taxes?

A — Keep the records and other information used to prepare the return. If your return is audited, your records will enable you to substantiate items listed on the return.

Q — I'm going to work this summer and will need a social security card. How do I get one?

A — Application for a social security number should be made on Form SS-5. This form is available at local Social Security and IRS offices. Return the completed application to your Social Security office and they will assign you a number.

Q — I am planning to sell my house this summer. Is there anything besides the broker's fee tha I can deduct as a selling expense in figuring the gain?

A — Advertising and legal fees paid in connection with the sale can be deducted from the selling price in addition to the broker's fee and similar commissions.

Further information on this subject is contained in Publication 523, Tax Information on Selling Your Home. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Q — Where can I get more copies of the tax forms I need to deposit taxes withheld from employee wages? I can't find the forms I got this quarter.

A — Additional forms can be obtained by contacting your regional IRS Service Center. When you request the forms, give your name, address, employer identification number, type of tax, the tax period to which the deposits relate, and the number of forms you need. Ask for FTD Form 501.

If these forms do not arrive before your next tax deposit is due, send your deposit direct to the IRS office where you file your return. Make your deposit payable to the Internal Revenue Service and be sure to give your name, address, and employer identification number, type of tax paid and period covered.

Sharp Decline In Teenage Smoking In Last Decade

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A survey of teen-agers exposed to antismoking messages—including the blunt "smoke, choke, croak"—shows a sharp decline of youngsters taking up cigarettes in the last 10 years.

The drop means the total number of smokers in the United States remains about 49 million despite increases in the population, according to Roy L. Davis, a spokesman for the survey group.

Among 17-year-olds questioned during 1967-68, 25.6 per cent of the boys said they smoked cigarettes and 15.7 per cent of the girls said they are smokers.

A 1957 survey of the same age group reported 34.7 per cent of the boys and 25.5 per cent of the girls said they smoked.

The new survey by the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health was prepared for the U.S. Public Health Service.

Ninety-one per cent of those queried answered yes when asked: "Would you say smoking is harmful to health?"

The survey offered no reasons for the drop in youth smoking but, in an interview, Davis cited education programs about health factors in cigarettes.

"Kids probably have the greatest impact on kids," said Davis, citing for example the program at a Bakersfield, Calif., high school where students campaigned against cigarette smoking with the help of billboards, radio, television and newspapers.

Davis said youngsters there distributed the "smoke, choke, croak" bumper stickers. He said he saw one on a car in San Francisco, about 250 miles north of Bakersfield.

"There probably are hundreds and hundreds of school districts and groups of kids doing things like this," Davis said. "You should hear the kids in these projects—they're death on smoking."

Davis said education programs on the dangers of smoking must also be directed toward parents.

One study found the smoking rate highest among students in households where father and mother smoke, he said. However, if neither parent is a current smoker, the rate of student smoking is almost as low as it is when neither parent has ever been a smoker, the survey found.

Davis said the survey also showed young people who have slipped behind their age-mates in school and those who do not expect to go to college are more likely to smoke.

Ray Returns To Security Prison Cell

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray was returned to his maximum-security prison cell after losing a bid for a new trial in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"This hearing was only the beginning," said Richard J. Ryan of Memphis, one of Ray's three new lawyers. Ryan said he will take the case to the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals.

Judge Arthur C. Faquin Jr. of Criminal Court in Memphis held Monday that Ray waived any right of appeal when he entered a guilty plea March 10 in the shooting of King.

"It is the opinion of this court that the guilty plea entered was properly . . . knowingly, intelligently and voluntarily entered," Faquin said in a written order. "Judge Battle had ample evidence in finding that the defendant was fully advised and has waived, intelligently and understandingly, his rights to a motion for a new trial."

Judge W. Preston Battle died three weeks after accepting Ray's plea of guilty in exchange for a 99-year prison sentence.

Ray, 41, sought a new trial on grounds he was coerced by his former lawyers into pleading guilty. He charged that his old lawyers were more interested in writing and selling stories about the death of King than in seeing he received a fair trial.

Apollo 10 Wives Share Happiness

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "Those are three extemely happy men," said Barbara Young—and it was clear the Apollo 10 wives shared the elation in full measure.

"I couldn't believe we were seeing the spaceship before the chutes opened," Mrs. Young said after watching Apollo 10's flawless Pacific splashdown on television Monday. "Chills ran up and down my spine."

Mrs. Stafford, most apprehensive of the three wives, called the moon-orbiting mission "wonderful." But she said she hopes the flight is the final one for her husband, Thomas, the Apollo 10 commander, who was making his third thrust into space.

Although he didn't actually land on the moon, Mrs. Stafford said, "he got close enough for me."

Wouldn't she like to see her husband fly to the lunar surface? "As of today, no," she replied. "I think it's time for him to go to the back of the line."

The wives of John Young and Eugene Cernan took a dauntless view.

"He could go next week as far as I'm concerned," said red haired Mrs. Young.

"I hope he flies very soon," said Mrs. Cernan, a former airline stewardess.

Mrs. Young said neither she nor the astronauts fretted over the dangers of the mission. "Frankly, they've been as happy as three little clowns up there," she commented.

"I was never worried, not the slightest. This was the shortest, happiest, most wonderful week of my life. And I would certainly hope it was the most wonderful week of John's life."

Social Security Payments Rise

A record $153,000 in monthly social security benefits was being paid to 2,128 residents of Scurry County at the end of December, 1968, an increase of 3.3 percent above the amount payable at the end of February, 1968, according to Erven Fisher, district manager for social security.

Throughout the country, monthly benefits payable at the end of 1968 amounted to nearly $2.1 billion, some $350 million Fisher continued. "Approximately three-quarters of the increased monthly amount resulted from higher benefit rates authorized by the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Act. The remainder of the increase was simply due to a greater number of beneficiaries."

By the end of this month, social security will be paying monthly benefits to more than 25 million people — 1 out of every 8 Americans. Although retired workers comprise the largest group of beneficiaries, almost one-fourth of all people receiving benefits are under 60. There are currently more than 3.8 million children and .5 million young widowed mothers receiving payments. Yet the public continues to think of social security as a program for old people, Fisher said.

In Scurry County, 527 people under 60 are receiving benefits. That figure breaks down into 311 under 18, and 47 18-21, and 169 22-59.

Many students would have been unable to continue their educations were it not for the 1965 Amendments to the Social Security Act which extended survivors and dependents insurance benefits to students until their 22nd birthdays. In 1968, that provision resulted in continuing benefits for 470,000 students.

Monthly payments to the family of a worker who dies leaving a widow and two or more children range from $82.50 to $434.40 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings under social security. Payments to the young family of a worker who dies at an early age could total as much as $85,000 to $100,000.

Fisher also pointed out that by the end of 1968, approximately 90 per cent of Americans 65 and over were either receiving cash benefits or would have been eligible for such benefits if they or their spouses had not been working.

In terms of Medicare, almost 20 people in the country 65 or over are eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Likewise, 95 per cent of all older persons in the country have elected coverage under the voluntary supplementary medical insurance plan which pays physicians' fees.

Hijacker Is Boss In The Air

MIAMI (AP) — Northeast Airlines Capt. Ted Connors says he's the boss in the air and his stewardess-wife runs things on the ground—but there was no question who was in command Monday when a Latin hijacker held a pistol to Mrs. Connors' temple.

"I was very agreeable," said Kathleen Connors, a tall platinum blonde. "As I was passing his seat he jumped up and grabbed me by the arm, put the gun in my side and said, 'Cuba! Cuba!'"

"There was no question in our mind," said Connors, a hefty, square-jawed veteran flier, "We just did a 180 degree turn and headed for Cuba."

The gunman in the cockpit, a short, chubby man wearing a tiny felt hat with turned up brim, and two companions in the passenger compartment diverted the Miami-to-New York flight at about 10:50 a.m.

Committee Ends Tax Study

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has finished a preliminary study on ways to tighten the federal tax laws applying to the very wealthy, foundations and corporations.

The progress report, due for release today, comes after five weeks of study by the committee, which is engaged in drafting an over-all reform of the nation's tax code.

The progress report, was expected to propose taxation and strict policing of foundations; limits on charitable deductions; a ceiling on the claiming of farm losses; reduction of tax incentives for corporate mergers and restrictions on the device of reducing corporate taxes by use of subsidiaries.

No final decisions have been made on these issues and they will be considered at another round of closed-door deliberations.

But it is the practice not to order legislative drafts until there has been a substantial, even if informal, meeting of minds on the tax-writing committee.

President Nixon proposed some tax crackdowns April 21 in urging extension of the 10 per cent income surtax after June 30. He said administration proposals for a more complete overhaul wouldn't come until later in the year.

The committee had been waiting impatiently for Nixon's tax message so it could get started on reforms.

"There is a momentum for change," declared Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills after Nixon's message. He said the committee gladly accepted Nixon's suggestions, but would push on immediately toward a complete overhaul.

It was reported the committee tentatively agreed behind closed doors to a preliminary agreement to phase out an unlimited charitable deduction privilege now being used by about 100 millionaires to avoid the income tax.

The committee also has been working on proposals to limit tax advantages obtainable by some plans of financing mergers.

Other proposals reportedly agreed on previously were:

—A 5 per cent tax on the income foundations receive from their investments, but not on gifts made to them.

—A requirement that donations of appreciated property made to private foundations be deducted only to the extent of the cost to the donor. This would not affect donations to public foundations or charities.

—Stiffer reporting requirements for foundations and a special audit office in the Internal Revenue Service to oversee them.

Two Charged In SBA Loan Application Fraud

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Albert J. Fuentes Jr., former Small Business Administration assistant, and Edward J. (Eddie) Montez, indicted by a federal grand jury, were arraigned Monday afternoon before U. S. Comm. John Giles for conspiracy and fraud in connection with an SBA loan application.

Each was released under $2,500 bonds. No plea was entered by either man.

Following the arraignment, they were fingerprinted and photographed in the U. S. marshal's office, and released.

The grand jury returned indictments against Fuentes and Montez Monday morning. They were charged with conspiracy to commit a violation against the U. S. and with the commission of a conspiracy and fraud against the U. S.

The pair is accused of seeking to gain 49 per cent of a San Antonio businessman's firm in exchange for obtaining a $100,000 SBA loan, Fuentes was an SBA assistant when the alleged act occurred.

Count one alleged the two men "combined, conspired, confederated and agreed to commit an offense against the U. S."

The other count stated that Montez and Fuentes, the latter acting in behalf of the SBA, did "directly and indirectly, corruptly ask, demand exact, solicit, seek and agree to receive...something of value, to wit, 49 per cent" of the business of Emanuel Salaiz.

A conviction on the conspiracy charge carries a fine of not more than $20,000, or three times the "monetary equivalent of the thing of value, whichever is greater"—or imprisonment of not more than 15 years, or both.

The grand jury reported its findings to federal Dist. Judge Adrian Spears.

The charges resulted from testimony heard by the grand jury from 10 witnesses Friday and Saturday. Among those testifying before the 20-member jury was Montez, who had been a member of the jury panel which indicted him. Montez, however, was disqualified when he was subpoenaed Wednesday to testify in the case.
