Restricted Talks Proposed

The SDN Column

In case you have been wondering while enduring 104-degree heat, the second football game of the 1971 season is set for Friday, July 30. That is the date set for the college all-stars to meet the pro champion Baltimore colts.

The first game of the season took place June 26 at Lubbock when the Coaches All-American game was unreeled in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

In Texas, football will really begin on Aug. 1 when several thousand coaches sign in for the annual meeting of the Texas High School Coaches Association in Fort Worth. That event will have its own versions of all-star games in both football and basketball, and then there will be only a few days remaining before all high school teams except Class 4A, can begin their fall drills. The Class 4A teams start a week later than others because they are the only class allowed to have spring training by the University Interscholastic League.

There have been some changes in Texas hunting laws, but they apparently will have little effect on most hunters. You don't have to plug your shotgun to a three-shot limit anymore—unless you are hunting doves or waterfowl.

Also, hunting may be done legally from cars under certain conditions. However, nobody is allowed to shoot from a public road. Hunting in cars is legal only on private property.

It is now illegal to take wild turkeys from their roost. The Parks and Wildlife Dept. says that most hunters in the past have refrained from molesting birds' roosting sites, and landowners nearly always try to protect them. Now, it is mandatory.

"I believe the day is long past when Americans could shun an involvement with politics and government," U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen told Dallas Jaycees at their annual awards luncheon Wednesday. "There were times, I suppose, when the problems of government were extremely simple, when a citizen required no more than the protection of life and property.

"These days are gone. Now government at some level has its hands on all of us from the moment we are born until someone reads a benediction at the last rites. Under these circumstances, it is pure folly to reject politicial participation with a comment that 'politics is a dirty business and degrading to the individual."—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, July 8, the 189th day of 1971. There are 176 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1853, an American expedition headed by Commodore Matthew Perry arrived at Yokohama to try to establish U. S. relations with Japan.

On this date:

In 1835, the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia cracked as it was being rung during the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall.

In 1898, William Jennings Bryan pleaded for his silver money policy in his famous "Cross of Gold" speech in Chicago.

In 1940, in World War II, the government of Norway moved to London after 62 days of fighting to try to repel Nazi invaders.

In 1944, American forces were victorious in the Pacific war battle of Saipan.

In 1950, Gen. Douglas MacArthur was named United Nations commander in Korea.

Ten years ago: Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev announced his nation's defense spending was being increased by nearly one-third because of a military buildup in the West.

Five years ago: Mechanics struck against five major U. S. airlines, knocking out 60 per cent of the nation's air travel service.

One year ago: President Nixon said he would ask Congress to empower Indian organizations to take over government-financed programs for their benefit.

College Grant Is Approved

In a special meeting this morning, the Scurry County Junior College District Board of Trustees received a letter of approval from the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development and approved a grant agreement sent by HUD.

The board was informed by letter from HUD that the debt service grant to the Scurry County Junior College District had been approved in an annual amount not to exceed $30,952.

The grant agreement explained that the government would furnish the $30,952 annually for debt service, or an amount not to exceed 2.56 per cent of the $792,500 awarded to Area Builders, Inc., of Odessa to build the dormitory project.

HUD agreed to furnish the debt service grant up to 40 years, or as long as the debt is outstanding, whichever is the shorter length of time.

Acreage In Cotton Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced today that farmers planted 12,398,600 acres to cotton this year, 4 per cent more than in 1970 and the most since 1965.

The Texas acreage was estimated at 5,371,000, or 2 per cent up from last year.

There was no estimate of 1971 cotton production. That will be made by the department on Aug. 9.

The acreage estimate compares with 12.1 million acres indicated last March in a projection based on what farmers said they intended to plant for 1971 production.

The Crop Reporting Board said growers in the Southeast planted 1,525,000 acres, up 2 per cent from last year. Plantings were up in each of the Southeastern states except Alabama where the acreage is the same

Casualties In Vietnam Low

SAIGON (AP) — The allied command reported today that U.S. casualties in the Vietnam war were low again last week and South Vietnamese casualties fell off sharply, reflecting the lull in battlefield action.

The commands reported a 58 per cent increase to 2,280 in the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, probably resulting from an increase in B52 bombing raids and other air strikes.

The U.S. Command said 23 Americans were killed and 182 were wounded last week, compared with 21 killed and 172 wounded the week before.

Four Perish In Apartment Fire

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Four persons perished and at least eight others were injured early today when a fire swept through an apartment building in the downtown area.

Police Chief Edward F. Hackett said the fire was the work of an arsonist.

None of the victims was identified immediately.

The fire occurred one block from the scene of a fire which claimed the lives of six persons last March.

Arabs, Israelis In Two Clashes

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas and Israeli forces clashed on two fronts today while police and troops searched Arab villages for terrorists who fired rockets into a town nine miles west of Tel Aviv, killing two persons and wounding 20 others.

A military spokesman said guerrillas fired bazookas from Syria at an Israeli force in the occupied Golan Heights. An Arab was killed and an Israeli soldier was wounded in the ensuing battle, he said.

Another Israeli patrol came under bazooka and light-arms fire near Zarit, on the Lebanese border. The spokesman said the Israelis replied with artillery fire but no casualties were reported.

The rocket attack Wednesday night on Petah Tikvah, a community of 80,000, killed a 5-year-old girl and a woman. One rocket made a direct hit on a hospital for the chronically ill and three others ripped into a school and two houses.

All Arab villages within 50 miles of the city were put under curfew, and a number of suspects were picked up.

Reliable sources reported that the rocket launcher apparently used in the attack had been found and gave the location, but the military censor deleted the information from dispatches.

"The terrorists have found themselves incapable of attacking military targets and they don't seem to care where their shells fall," said Defense Mnister Moshe Dayan, who visited the scene.

Townspeople mobbed him, shouting for revenge.

Dayan told newsmen the 130mm rockets had an average range of 14 miles and could have been fired from any of hundreds of uninhabited areas.

"The terrorists most probably came from Jordan," he said, "and probably had support from Arabs on the West bank." The Jordanian territory west of the Jordan River which Israel seized in the 1967 war, starts five miles west of Petah Tikvah.

"As long as the state of war continues and terrorist activities persist," Dayan said, "it will be difficult to insure that things of this kind don't happen."

In case more rockets were fired fire-fighting units and ambulances sped to the scene.

Arms Limitation Talks Going Well

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer

HELSINKI (AP) — The fifth round of the strategic arms limitation talks—SALT—between the Soviet Union and the United States got off to a good start today, conference sources reported.

They said the opening session at the Soviet Embassy indicated "strong, positive agreement to get ahead" and that both sides "seemed anxious to make progress on the basis of the May 20 announcement by both governments."

The May 20 announcement said the two nuclear powers had reached an understanding to concentrate this year on limiting deployment of antiballistic missiles—ABM—and also to agree on measures to limit offensive strategic weapons.

The first full session lasted about an hour, and there was then an informal session of about 45 minutes. The next full meeting was set for Tuesday at the American Embassy and there was agreement that technical working groups would be set up.

The first meeting began with general statements by Gerard Smith, chief negotiator for the United States, and Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Semenov, head of the Soviet delegation. Both said Wednesday they were seeking concrete results in this round of talks.

THOUSANDS OF PERMITS

Feds Mum On Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, preparing to issue thousands of permits for industrial waste discharge, has quietly barred the public from seeing whether those permit holders will pollute the nation's water.

"The public has no way of keeping us honest," a key official of the permit program said in an interview. "That's a chance they have to take."

Government officials and the industries will know how the permits stack up against water quality standards. But the public is being forced out of the game on a double play:

Guidelines commissioned by the Environmental Protection Agency set discharge standards in terms of industry's input of raw materials or its output of products. And the White House Office of Management and Budget has ordered these crucial input-output data be kept secret if that's the way an industry wants it.

Bert Printz, acting permit program director for EPA, conceded in an interview that the combination allows the public no way to see whether the conditions EPA writes into permits match its new antipollution guidelines.

"They (the public) can't tell if the permit corresponds to the guidelines, or is more stringent or less stringent than the guidelines," Printz said, "because they don't have access to the relating information."

The planned guidelines are the missing link between 1965 federal-state standards governing the quality of water in rivers, streams and lakes, and the government's regulatory power over discharges into those waterways.

An 1899 law designed to protect navigation has been interpreted by the courts in recent years as banning direct industrial waste discharges into waterways without a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers.

That part of the act had not been enforced until President Nixon ordered the Corps last Dec. 23 to start requiring and issuing permits, and gave the Environmental Protection Agency veto power over permits for environmentally harmful discharges.

To qualify for a permit, an industry must comply with state water-quality standards, most of which call for secondary waste treatment or its equivalent." The forthcoming guidelines are meant to answer the question: "What is the industrial equivalent of municipal "secondary treatment"?

Hermleigh High Honor Girl Wins

HERMLEIGH — Dolores J. Schwarz of Hermleigh has been named as a member of the Society of Outstanding American High School Students.

George T. Vicary, principal Hermleigh High School, was notified of Miss Schwarz's selection this week.

Miss Schwarz was the valedictorian of the 1971 graduating class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schwarz.

"We are extremely proud of her record," said Vicary. "This is the first time we have ever had a graduate so honored."

With the assistance of high school principals and counselors across the nation, the Society of Outstanding American High School Students strives to further the pursuance of academic achievement and civic responsibility on the part of American youth. The society accepts for membership only young men and women who have distinguished themselves as their school's highest achievers.

The students are now competing for over $262,000 in renewable college scholarships offered by the society. The scholarships consist of unrestricted cash awards to colleges of the students' choice and renewable $1,000 annual scholarships to select colleges and universities.

Members of the society are recognized annually in a published volume titled "Outstanding American High School Students, which is distributed nationally to colleges, universities, corporations and libraries.

Mrs. Wells Dies Here

Mrs. Gillie Ethel Wells, 77, a Scurry County resident for 71 years, died at 1:55 p.m. Wednesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Wells was a native of Mills County.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Clara Buchanan of Snyder; four sons, Lewis Wells of Snyder, Orville and Charles Wells, both of Odessa, and Jesse Wayne Wells af Glendale, Calif.; 21 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Oscar Cogdill and the Rev. Ronnie Wells will officiate. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Grandsons will be pallbearers.

Dies Appointed To Court Post

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith named Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., today chief justice of the 9th Court of Civil Appeals at Beaumont, effective Sept. 1.

Dies will succeed the late Chief Justice James F. Parker Sr.

Dies, 49, former state senator from Lufkin for eight years, was appointed by Smith as secretary of state in January of 1969.

Dies did not seek re-election in 1966. Instead he made an unsuccessful race for Congress in 1966 losing to Rep. John Dowdy of Athens.

Peace Door Still Open

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States said today that the Viet Cong proposal for total American withdrawal by the end of the year in exchange for release of all prisoners of war is unacceptable in its present form. But it said the Viet Cong's seven-point peace plan has "some new elements" and Washington and Saigon want to explore the plan further with the Communists.

Ambassador David K. E. Bruce proposed to the 120th session of the Paris peace talks their session next Thursday be a "restricted" one, "free from the glare of publicity and without the need to make public statements except to the degree we mutually agree upon."

Both Bruce and South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam said a week-long analysis of the peace package did not show changes in the basic Communist demands. But Bruce said that if the proposals mean Hanoi and the Viet Cong are ready for serious negotiations, this is welcome.

Bruce said the demands for withdrawal of all U.S. and other non-Vietnamese forces by the end of the year "are so sweeping and categorical in nature that we cannot possibly accept your arbitrary determination that they must be agreed to by us without any discussion or negotiation upon them."

Bruce said the Communist "offer to agree on the modalities' of safe withdrawal and release of prisoners 'after a date for withdrawal has been named is unclear and may be merely a variation of your previous statement that the parties 'will engage at once in discussion' on these questions, not necessarily committing you to the course of action implied this point, as well as others you have presented, requires clarification.

"On the prisoners of war issue itself," Bruce continued, "we note that you do not deal with the release of those prisoners captured by your forces or forces under your control in Laos and Cambodia. We continue to hold you responsible for the release of these men and for the provision of whatever information you have on all of our men captured and missing in action throughout Indochina."

Lam countered the Viet Cong plan with a call for immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war, establishment of a general cease-fire "and a timetable for the withdrawal of all the external forces," meaning North Vietnamese in South Vietnam as well as the Americans and other foreign troops fighting on Saigon's side.

The South Vietnamese delegate told the Viet Cong's Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh her peace plan was "faulty because of its ambiguity on what you would be prepared to do." He posed a series of questions:

"Does the solution which you propose not aim at obtaining the total disengagement of the allied forces within a six-month period, while there is no mention of a parallel disengagement of North Vietnamese forces, either from South Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia."

"What relationship is there between the release of the prisoners of war and the assistance which South Vietnam receives for its defense?"

Referring to the Viet Cong proposal for withdrawal of U.S. and other foreign forces, the South Vietnamese ambassador continued: "Will the fighting not continue in conditions advantageous for you since the armed forces of the Republican of Vietnam, with only their own means, will have to face the aggression carried out by the North Vietnamese and their auxiliary forces which will remain in place, which will have at their disposal the entire military potential of North Vietnam, retaining the considerable and unlimited aid from the countries of the Communist bloc, particularly, Communist China and the U.S.S.R., and which will continue to use with impunity the Lao and Khmer (Cambodian) territories to this effect?"

Heat Wave Hikes Demand For Water

Early July's heat wave of 100 plus degrees is propelling the Colorado River Municipal Water District toward record production.

Tuesday, with people returning from the long Independence Day weekend, saw production jump to 69,200,000 gallons. This was a peak for the year and not far under the 73,117,000 gallons all-time record established one day last summer, according to Paschall Odom, assistant general manager.

Although 58,500,000 gallons of the [illegible] from the cities depending on the district, none gave any indication of having peaked.

Of the 10,700,000 gallons going to oil companies, 7,700,000 was in non-potable or salt water from the low flow diversion works on the Colorado River or from wells to supply repressuring water.

Tuesday's output was well ahead of the 65,000,000 gallons peak for 1969, which was before Midland became a customer.

Odom said that if both Lake E. V. Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas had big reserves, the district could satisfy another 12,500,000 gallons a day demand. This would push production to around the 82-million-gallons mark. He said oil companies could use easily another 6,500,000 per day if available, and San Angelo likely would utilize another six million.

Of the total production, 21,200,000 gallons Tuesday came from the new well field near Merkhams. Another 2,500,000 came from Lake E. V. Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas, the remainder from the district and the city well fields. Thanks to an unusual flexibility, the entire system is operating smoothly and in such a manner as to conserve supplies, such as relieving pressure on Lake Thomas, said O. H. Ivie, general manager.

Jail Uniform Not Suitable In Court

AUSTIN (AP) — It violates a defendant's rights to a fair trial to bring him before a jury in a jail uniform, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled Wednesday.

The court ordered a new trial for Loyd Ephraim who was convicted of robbery and sentenced to 15 years in prison by a Marshall jury.

Ephraim was brought into the courtroom wearing coveralls lettered on the back, "No. 6 Harrison County Jail."

This, the high court said, "infringed a fundamental right — the presumption of innocence."

In another Marshall case, the court ordered re-trial of a robbery by assault case because the defendant—Walter Love — was defended by a lawyer with a head injury who accepted only guilty plea cases.

Love was sentenced to 25 years in 1962.

Dist. Atty. Charles Allen later testified that Love's court-appointed lawyer did not maintain an office and had a practice consisting entirely of cases in which the defendants entered guilty pleas.

A court reporter testified the lawyer had been in an automobile accident that left him with "a caved-in place on one side of his forehead."

The high court said the attorney was incapable of adequately representing the.

The court upheld the death penalty conviction of Arthur Lee Broussard, who was accused of shooting Peter Lum to death while robbing his Houston-area store May 24, 1969.

Broussard said the gun went off accidentally during an argument over whether Broussard had given Lum a $20 or a $10 bill.

Broussard's lawyer sought reversal of the conviction on the ground that the death penalty is a "cruel and unusual punishment," prohibited by the U. S. Constitution.

But the court said this "is contrary to the holding" in previous Texas cases, although the issue is now before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

The 1963 Ford driven by Gary Wayne Jones, of 416 Thirty-second Street, was struck in the left side as he attempted to make a left turn off of Avenue M into a driveway, the police department reported.

Jones was struck by a 1968 Chevrolet at 1 p.m. yesterday. The Chevrolet was driven by Earnest E. Pinkerton, of 1005 Twenty-third Street, who was also going north.

Rapist Admits 48 Offenses

HOUSTON (AP) — A man who told police he had raped 48 women Wednesday was assessed six life sentences and nine 20-year terms in prison.

Larry Gray, 22, a former cemetery caretaker who claimed severe headaches drove him to the assaults, pleaded guilty to raping 15 women.

The father of two had been sought by police as the so-called "bad eye rapist," a nickname stemming from an early eye injury.

He received the life sentences for raping two sisters-in-law Aug. 7, 1970, in the cemetery where he worked, assaulting two sisters May 21, 1970, in a vacant house and raping two sisters April 24, 1970 in another vacant house.

Gray was arrested last Aug. 10 after police received a tip he was the man involved in the cemetery attacks.

Snyder Student In NTSU Play

DENTON — Donna Hendrix of Snyder pays "Molly Mallow" in the North Texas State University production, a 1928 drama "The Front Page," which closes a three-day run this evening. She also is assistant director for the show.

Miss Hendrix, a senior drama major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Hendrix, Route 3, Snyder.

Aerial Spraying For VEE

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force planes equipped for aerial spraying flew to the Lower Rio Grande Valley today where three persons were in hospitals with symptoms of a rare strain of "sleeping sickness."

The C123 "Providers" were expected at Brownsville by early afternoon from Langley Air Force Base, Va. A U.S. Agriculture Department spokesman said plans would be announced soon for a massive program to spray the area in an attempt to eradicate mosquitoes.

Mosquitoes are the main carriers of Venezuelan equince encephalomyelitis (VEE), a disease which has killed thousands of horses in two years.

Although no case of the disease has been confirmed in the United States, three persons were in Mercy Hospital at Brownsville with symptoms of the disease and 14 horses were sighted with "clinically observed" symptoms.

Officials of a task force of state and federal health officials were awaiting the results of blood tests made on the suspected victims.

Officials of the Texas Animal Health Commission quarantined the premises where each sick horse was found.

Foy Service At Ballinger

Funeral service has been set for 3 p.m. Friday at the First Christian Church in Ballinger for Marlin A. Foy who died Wednesday in a Houston hospital. He was the father of Ronald Foy, industrial arts teacher at Snyder High School for several years who moved to Austin recently.

Other survivors include his wife; another son, Mike Foy of Odessa; a brother, Leonard Foy of Dallas, and five grandchildren.

Snyderite On UT Honor Roll

AUSTIN — Molly Ann Walker of Snyder is one of 126 students to make the spring semester honor roll in the college of Fine Arts at the University of Texas.

Students qualifying for the honor roll must accumulate a total of 53 or more grade points for the semester. Grade points are calculated by multiplying the number of semester hours undertaken by the value of each grade, with A representing four grade points.

Miss Walker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Walker, 3003 Forty-second Street, Snyder.

Crane Beauty Is Swimsuit Winner

FORT WORTH (AP) — Beauties cfrom Crane and Waco claimed victories in first round judging Wednesday night in the Miss Texas pageant.

Sue Ann Evans, 20, Crane's candidate as Miss West Texas University, triumphed in swimsuit competition, and Sharon Gail Francis, 23, entered as Miss Waco, received an ovation as she sang an aria from Faust, "The Jewel Song," in the talent division.

Both actually are West Texans. Miss Francis, although a Baylor University student representing Waco, is from Odessa.

Miss Evans, a shapely 36-24-36, was pleasantly surprised at winning, even though she has engaged in such competition since 1955.

"I was so surprised I almost couldn't catch my breath," she said after hearing the judges' verdict." Referring to her 5-feet-8 height, she added, "I feel it is an advantage to be tall."

Miss Evans, brown-eyed and brown-haired, said she has been "dreaming of winning the Miss America pageant" since she won her first title at the age of 6.

"It was a Little Miss contest and we were judged in bathing suits and judges' interviews," she recalled.

Miss Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Francis of Odessa, told of entering local competition at the urging of the 1970 Miss Teenage America, Debbie Patton of Odessa.

Her measurements are 36-24-35 and she has entered several beauty contests before but never won.

Miss Francis received no formal voice training prior to becoming a student in Odessa College, she said, but "I was always in school and church choirs." In addition she sang with the "Up with People" group in 1967 and traveled around the world.

She has studied at Baylor since 1969 and expects to be graduated there in August of 1972.

There are two more nights of preliminary competition for the 63 contenders for the Miss Texas crown, and the winner will be chosen in Saturday night's regionally telecast finals.

A special guest is Miss America, Phyllis George of Denton. She claimed the Miss Texas title a year ago while representing Dallas.

Charge Filed In Sandwich Attack

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A Canton woman who says she was hit with a ham sandwich during an argument over neighborhood children has filed a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Oleta Fortney, 39, told police she was hit Wednesday night with a sandwich held by Mike Dolann 29.

Dolan's wife told newsmen the sandwich wasn't ham, but baloney with lettuce and mayonnaise. "I ought to know. I made the sandwich," she said.

The front gates of the Murray and Leonie Guggenheim Memorial Library at Monmouth College in New Jersey are known as "The Gates That Never lose."

Welfare Plugs For Reforms

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Welfare reform legislation in Congress would guard against cheating and punish deserting fathers, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told the California Legislature today.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said "attempts to patch up the present system or to close its loopholes simply will not work and would lead to nothing but disillusionment and recrimination."

His speech was prepared for a joint session of the legislature.

Too many families are on welfare because the father left home, Mills said, and the bill passed by the House and pending in the Senate would not permit this.

"First, every penny that was paid to the family of a deserting father would become a debt which he owes to the federal government ...

"Second, crossing a state line for the purpose of avoiding the responsibility to support a deserted family would be a federal crime."

He said eligibility would be controlled by suitable evidence requirements and income reporting procedures.

"Social Security and income tax records will be used to verify the accuracy of earnings reports and to avoid dupliate payments," he said. "A requirement for reapplication every two years emphasizes our intent that receipt of benefits should be a temporary status and not a way of life."

The new welfare plan, he said, would save California almost a quarter-billion dollars.

No Draft Law Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees say they'll try again Monday to reach a compromise over a bill to extend the draft another two years.

Despite failing Wednesday to break a deadlock over Sen. Mike Mansfield's amendment calling for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina, leaders of both chambers expressed optimism.

"I am quite hopeful we can settle this next week," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate conferees. Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House group, agreed.

The old draft law expired on June 30. Many points of difference, except for the Mansfield proposal, have been settled between the House and Senate for a two-year renewal.

The nonbinding amendment by Mansfield, Senate Democratic leader, asks that the United States withdraw fully from Indochina within nine months, provided American prisoners are released.

Diphtheria Count Rises

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — This city's diphtheria count has risen to 32 cases for 1971 as health officials continue an immunization drive to prevent a recurrence of last year's epidemic.

Two new cases, the first in 10 days, were reported Wednesday.

The contagious throat infection has claimed one child's life this year. Three children died from diphtheria last year and 197 persons contracted it.

Officials said more than 140,000 persons have lined up for diphtheria shots since a booster drive was launched June 5. Health officers warned that at least 250,000 persons needed boosters to ward off another epidemic.

One of the new patients Wednesday was a boy, 10, from a low income housing project.

The age of the other patient was not at once available.

Army Recruiters Say It's Easy To Sell Advantages Of The Army

NEW YORK (AP) — What's a girl like you doing in the Army?

"If you're a college graduate, you're making use of your ability, with no discrimination. You're an officer and you're doing the same jobs men do, except you can't bear combat arms," answers Capt. Doris Kessler, who looks more like a model than an Army recruiter.

"And if you aren't a college graduate, you're being trained for a particular job, and you're learning new skills," adds Capt. Beverly Baruth, a slow-talking, honey-voiced blonde who also is a recruiter.

The two women work in New York. Capt. Kessler herself joined the Army after going through a mixed bag of jobs that included teaching English, working for the poverty program, doing opinion research and holding a political office. She says she felt the Army would be the best place to use all her skills and to keep moving and learning.

For Capt. Baruth, the decision was more awkward. "I accidentally knocked down an Army recruiter on my university campus," she explained. "And when I took her for coffee to apologize, she recruited me."

Although a recruiter's job is to sell the Army, the captains explained that for women's recruiting, it works both ways. "We turn down lots of applicants," Capt. Kessler notes.

"We want a girl who's got a good head on her shoulders, who's poised and who isn't a reject. She should be reasonably attractive, and her weight must be in accordance with our height-weight chart."

She explained that the first step a woman who wants to join the Army should take is to talk to a Women's Army Corps counselor. A girl can file an application then, and if she does, she must submit five character references. Until recently, an applicant had to be single. Now a married applicant can get a waiver and still join.

"When I interview a girl, I want to find out why she's joining," Capt. Kessler says. "If she doesn't have any motives, and doesn't have any idea why she wants to be in the Army, I'll turn her down. And if she's afraid of change, I may discourage her, because in the Army you're constantly changing assignments."

She says it is not hard to sell the advantages of being in the Army, like having 30 days vacation a year, no limits on sick leave, and usually being able to take a three-day weekend once a month. And there are others, like continuing your education, with the Army paying for 75 per cent of the cost towards getting a graduate degree.

"Most Army jobs, which include such work as personnel management, administrative fields and air traffic controlling, are eight hours a day, Monday through Friday, just like the civilian world," Capt. Kessler noted. "And after work, a girl's time is of course, her own.

"Also, while a girl is in the Army, she is encouraged strongly to continue her education. She may even be able to go to school full-time. However, for every year she does this, she is committed to the Army for two more years."

Often the recruiters must answer awkward questions—like what about WAC's morals. "They always ask me that," Capt. Kessler notes. She says she tells the applicants that an Army woman whose actions were out of line would be reprimanded.

Capt. Baruth admits that when she joined the Army, the response from her friends was less than encouraging. "They all thought the job would be too demanding," she says. "And since I had sort of a reputation as the class clown, they really couldn't believe it.

"But when I saw them after I'd been in the Army, they changed their tune, and thought I was much more self-reliant."

Capt. Baruth is married to a Marine recruiting officer and she says it is no problem for a husband and wife in the service to receive assignments in the same location.

The recruiters say their hardest job is public education—letting girls know what options are available. And they say their best publicity comes from a satisfied enlistee.

"If a girl comes back happy, this is the best we can do," Capt. Kessler says. "And if she's not satisfied, it's the worst."

THE NEW ARMY likes women, and Capts. Doris Kessler, at left, and Beverly Baruth, at right, are telling a potential applicant about the benefits of joining the Women's Army Corps.

WHAT DO THEY HAVE IN COMMON? — The mouse has already been saved from leukemia. The American Cancer Society wants to save the child. "On July 1, the American Cancer Society awarded $13,446,767 in new cancer research grants and is expected to spend more than $24.1 million for the coming fiscal year;" Mrs. Travis Rhoades ACS Scurry County Unit president said. According to Mrs. Rhoades, 11 new research grants are in Texas institutions. The new Texas research grants for the July 1 granting period totaled $419,386. Mrs. Rhoades said, the Society supports work in clinical investigations, vinology and cell biology and chemical causation of cancer, man population studies and cancer diagnosis and treatment.

COPENHAGEN MUSTARD

This recipe, from a New York Danish restaurant, has been a top secret up till now!

1 box (2 ounces) dry mustard (about 2-3rds cup)
¼ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup salad (not olive) oil
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice

In a small mixing bowl with a wooden spoon or a whisk beat together all the ingredients until blended. Turn into a screwtop jar; cover tightly. Refrigerate for a couple of days before using to allow flavors to blend. This makes a sweet hot mustard —a little over ¾ cup.

Tozzi To Teach At Juilliard

NEW YORK (AP) — Giorgio Tozzi, bass-baritone, and Paul Doktor, viola, will join the faculty of the Juilliard School for the 1971-72 year.

Tozzi made his Metropolitan Opera debut in 1955. Doktor, born and educated in Vienna, was a leading violist in Europe before his American debut in a chamber music concert in the Library of Congress in 1948.

Sophisticated Comedy Blended With Terror

A GLIMPSE OF TIGER. By Herman Raucher. Putnam. $5.95.

There are two rather exotic characters in this novel, which is a hybrid ranging from the fey to the frightening.

Luther is a tall, attractive young man who never can be himself. He is always playing a prankster's role, acting out madcap impersonations, spouting ridiculous dialogue and conning everyone in sight with his japeriesm He is funny and clever, in a way, but always wears a mask.

Tiger is a young woman who at first is fascinated by Luther's madness and goes to live with him. She is a tag-along companion for his offbeat charades for a while, and plays games as he does.

But then things begin to get rough, especially when Luther lets two creepy characters come into their apartment to live, and this development is rather inexplicable. Tiger decides that she has reached the point where she doesn't know who she is or what she's doing, so she tries to escape. Luther pursues her and goes berserk in the process.

Raucher was the author of "Summer of '42," a popular novel nostalgically depicting the throes of male adolescence.

"A Glimpse of Tiger" is a far different story. It is a strange blend of flippant, sophisticated comedy and sheer terror.

'Open House' At Ira Post Office

IRA — Refreshments of cookies shaped and decorated to resemble the American flag and the Eagle on the new postal service emblem were served with coffee and iced tea to approximately 100 guests as "open house" was observed at the Ira Post Office.

The lobby of the post office was decorated with historic stamp posters, and several pictures of guests were taken.

Postal service personnel at Ira expressed appreciation to the 4-H Club members who helped with the open house and served refreshments. These included Danita and Donna Layne, Maxann Preston and Jimmy Byars.

Institutions Lose Immunity

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that charitable institutions such as churches may be sued for injuries caused by the negligence of their employes.

The court abolished the old common law doctrine of charitable immunity in an 8-1 decision.

The high court sent back to the trial court a case in which Johnny Howle was blinded in one eye four years ago at Camp Amon Carter, which is operated by the Young Men's Christian Association of Fort Worth.

Howle's eye was struck by a sinker or hook on a fishing line cast by another boy.

The lower court dismissed the injured boy's suit on the ground that the YMCA was a charitable institution.

The Supreme Court said the case must be tried to determine if improper supervision by YMCA employes led to the accident.

The high court had hinted in a 1966 case that it might overturn the doctrine in a later case. The 1966 case involved a woman who was injured when she slipped on a slick floor in a Baptist church. Five of the nine justices raised questions about the doctrine in that case. Two of those said it should have been overturned then.

Associate Justice Jack Pope dissented from Wednesday's ruling. He said abolishing the doctrine should be left up to the legislature.

In other cases, the Supreme Court:

—Enjoined Fort Worth and Waco prosecutors from filing further "harassing" suits against Sundance Inc., and other stores that sell and buy back their entire merchandise each weekend to circumvent the Texas "blue law" that forbids the sale of certain items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays. The court has not yet passed on the constitutionality of this circumvention device.

—Ordered Austin Dist. Judge Charles Betts not to issue any more orders in favor of Braniff International and Texas International to stop their new competitor, Southwest Airlines, from operating round-trip flights from Dallas-Fort Worth to Houston and San Antonio.

—Agreed to consider at a July 21 hearing whether oil production taxes are "income taxes." Under protest, Humble Oil & Refining Co. paid $92,788 in state taxes on oil taken from a lease on federal land on the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station. The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruled that a 1940 federal law permits this.

Drought Eases Its Grip In South Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state's weather expert says the drought has lessened in portions of South Texas but conditions elsewhere in the state show little or no change.

Three to nine inches of rain in the Winter Garden area of South Texas at the end of June caused the drought to weaken, Texas climatologist Robert Orton said Wednesday.

Using the Palmer drought severity index, the area has improved from a minus 4.4 on the Palmer scale measured two weeks ago to minus 2.7, Orton said.

This means a change from extreme drought to one of moderate intensity, he said, noting there may be variations from county to county and farm to farm because of rainfall patterns.

The National Weather Service has predicted a rainfall pattern for July "strikingly similar" to that in June which "would tend to perpetuate or increase the severity of the drought in all sections outside the areas of heavy rainfall."

The weather service said heavy rainfall is again predicted in Southwest Texas, along the middle and lower Rio Grande and extreme South Texas. Only moderate rainfall is expected elsewhere.

Orton said the current drought severity index shows slightly worse conditions in the Low Plains, North Central and East Texas, Trans-Pecos area, upper coast and Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Astros Humiliate Faltering Giants

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie? No, he won't.

So Willie Mays was lifted for a pinch-hitter for the first time in his illustrious career with the San Francisco Giants.

Rookie Ed Goodson struck out for Mays—but it didn't matter because the back-pedalling Giants were enroute to an 18-4 humiliation by the Houston Astros Wednesday.

"You can't expect one man to carry you for 162 games," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox after lifting Mays in the fifth inning with the Giants trailing 12-3.

Mays, the Giants' best clutch hitter since coming up in 1951, had never left a regular season game for a pinch-hitter, according to a team spokesman.

San Francisco's 40-year-old wonder player, the National League's starting centerfielder in next Tuesday's All-Star game, had a single in two at-bats before leaving the game. After a hot start this season, Mays has slipped to a .288 batting average and has just five hits and one run batted in during the last 13 games.

Despite the loss, the Giants gained ground on runnerup Los Angeles in the National League West as the Dodgers dropped a twi-night doubleheader, 6-5 and 4-3 to the Chicago Cubs. San Francisco, which has lost nine of its last 12 games, now leads Los Angeles by four games.

The Montreal Expos rocked the New York Mets 12-7; the Pittsburgh Pirates clouted the Cincinnati Reds 9-3; the Atlanta Braves stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and the San Diego Padres turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 in the National League's other games.

American League scores: Baltimore 4, Washington 0; New York 5, Detroit 3 in 11 innings; Chicago 2, Oakland 1; Milwaukee 8, Kansas City 2; California 3, Minnesota 1; Boston 4, Cleveland 0 in the first game and Cleveland 4, Boston 3 in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader.

While Mays made news by sitting out, the Astros made hay against the San Francisco pitching staff with a 10-run, four-inning explosion and a six-run sixth.

Cesar Cedeno singled and smacked a two-run double in the fourth and slugged a two-run double in the sixth as the Astros poked 17 hits. The run production established a club record and every Houston starter except pitcher Larry Dierker had at least one hit, one run scored and one run batted in.

Jim Hickman drove in four runs with a three-run homer and single and Phil Regan provided ninth-inning relief help as Chicago beat Los Angeles in the first game. Hickman's bat helped build a 6-1 lead, but the Dodgers came back with a four-run ninth before Regan cut the rally short.

Billy Williams socked a two-run homer and reliever Oray Newman cut down a late Los Angeles uprising to give the Cubs their second-game victory. Williams' shot in the fifth inning gave the Cubs a 4-0 lead and their eventual winning margin. Veteran Juan Pizarro, pitching in his first major league game this year, walked two men with two out in the eighth before Newman came on to preserve the southpaw's victory.

Pitcher Carl Morton drove in two runs with a single and a home run as Montreal handed tailspinning New York its eventh loss in eight games. The Mets, who dropped 6½ games behind front-running Pittsburgh in the Eastn contributed two errors, a wild pitch and a passed ball to Montreal's attack.

Gene Alley's two-run single highlighted a five-run first inning for Pittsburgh as the Pirates took their third straight game and saddled Cincinnati with its sixth consecutive loss.

Flames Have 4 Home Games Set

The Snyder Flames women's softball team has four tough games booked for the remainder of the week on the Winston Park diamond.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Flames will host the Hamby team, and on Friday night at 8, the Roscoe team will visit Winston Park.

A big doubleheader with Abilene is scheduled here for Saturday night. The first game of the twinbill will get underway around 7 p.m.

Reserve Clause Is Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Curt Flood, the controversial outfielder who sued baseball for $3.1 million, has asked the Supreme Court to invalidate the sport's reserve clause.

In a brief filed by his attorneys, Flood said organized baseball has violated the anti-trust laws with its reserve system, which binds a player to one club for life unless he is traded or sold.

"It needs no argument to demonstrate that organized baseball is now interstate commerce,' said Flood's lawyers in argument against baseball's exemption from antitrust laws. They said the Supreme Court had ruled against other professional sports in that area.

"No reason exists why baseball should be treated differently," they said.

Flood was represented by Arthur J. Goldberg, former Supreme Court Justice and Ambassador to the United Nations, and Jay H. Topkis of New York City.

The 33-year-old Flood, now believed to be living in Spain, played baseball for 12 years with the St. Louis Cardinals and was considered one of the best outfielders in the business.

Trevino Shares Southport Lead

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus headed into the second round of the British Open golf championship today smiling ruefully but still speaking with confidence about his chances of picking up the ancient crown for the third time.

"If you can take bogey sixes on the last two holes and still be only two shots behind the leaders, then it can't be all bad," said Nicklaus, who won the title last year in a playoff against Doug Sanders.

"Frankly I don't want to discuss the greens. We all know what they're like. It's the golf course we came to play, so let's play it."

The greens at Royal Birkdale drew criticism earlier this week for being too wet and soft. By midday, footprints of golfers who played the course in the early morning have dried, causing bumpy spots on the putting surface.

Nicklaus shot a 71 in Wednesday's first round over the 7,080-yard, par 35-38—73 layout and found himself two shots behind the man who beat him in the playoff for the U.S. Open at Merion in Ardmore, Pa.—Lee Trevino.

Nicklaus and Trevino were bracketed as 4-1 joint favorites for the title involving most of the top names in golf.

Trevino, Howie Johnson of Palm Desert, Calif., who is playing in his first British Open at the age of 46, Britain's Tony Jacklin, winner of the U.S. and British Opens two years ago, and Argentina's Vicente Fernandez shared the lead with four-under-par 69s.

Australia's Peter Thomson, bidding for his sixth victory in the British Open, shot a 70, as did former U. S. Open Champion Billy Casper and Kel Nagle, the veteran Aussie who won the title at St. Andrews in 1960.

Two men whose names don't often crop up in world golf also were at 70. They were John O'Leary of Ireland and Liang Huan Lu of Taiwan, who has won the Philippines and Thailand Opens.

Gary Player and Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina were two shots off the pace with 71s. Charles Coody, the U.S. Masters champion, slipped to a 74 along with Dave Stockton, winner of the U.S. PGA title in 1970.

Like Father, Like Son?

MARION, Va. (AP) — Two youths whose fathers' names are household words in professional baseball are trying to break into the sport in the Class D Appalachian League.

Gilbert Ray Hodges II, son of the New York Mets manager, is a budding first baseman for the Marion Mets. And Lawrence Alley Berra II, son of the equally famous Mets' coach, is as aspiring catcher.

Both Hodges and Berra are 21 and both are having their first fling at pro baseball after three years in college. Young Hodges attended Montclair, N.J., State and Berra has been a student at C. W. Post College on Long Island, N.Y.

Do they feel any pressure just because their dads' were famous ballplayers?

"It's not as bad as I thought it would be," says Berra, who is fighting a weight problem.

SPORTS

Tennis Truce Is Shaky Ground

STRESA, Italy (AP) — The four-year truce between professional and amateur tennis—never particularly solid—is on very shaky ground as a result of the International Lawn Tennis Federation's decision Wednesday to ban professionals from its 1972 tournaments.

"It was either them or us," one ILTF delegate said, referring to the World Championship Tennis professional group started by Texas millionaire Lamar Hunt Jr. "Tennis was becoming all professional," the delegate said, "with their promoters slowly taking over all aspects of the game."

Unless a reconciliation can be reached, pro stars like Arthur Ashe of the United States and Rod Laver, John Newcombe and Ken Rosewall of Australia will be forced to miss next year's major tournaments, including Wimbledon and Forest Hills.

The conflict between WCT and the ILTF flared up during last week's Wimbledon tournament. The ILTF claimed Hunt's group had demanded $24,000 from national organizations for each tournament, except Wimbledon, Forest Hills and the French Open. In addition, WCT was said to have demanded a say in television contracts and the choice of balls to be used in the tournaments.

Seventy delegates from 66 countries, meeting at the annual ILTF congress here, unanimously rejected all demands in a hand vote. They also voted to forbid ILTF players from participating in tournaments sponsored by WCT.

Meanwhile, the WCT directors—Hunt, Al Hill and Mike Davies—denied they had made any demands on the ILTF. The WCT claimed it had merely tabled suggestions for discussion, with the understanding that they were to be kept confidential, and that the ILTF "misrepresented" these suggestions as demands. "The ball is in Mr. Hunt's court," declared Herman David, chairman of the All-England Club, which runs Wimbledon. "His present conditions are not acceptable, and that is that. I hope something will happen to resolve the problem before the ban is implemented."

There Are Many Places For Your Money To Go

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Wonder where the money went? You shouldn't. While every family has a favorite way to spend, lose or waste its income, three disposal methods are common to all: inflation, rising living standards and taxes.

To some extent this is quite obvious. But it is also a gray area, maybe purposely so because of the pain involved with recognition. It isn't pleasant to look back, but it is instructive.

Face it, since 1955 more than 30 cents has been clipped from the dollar.

Inflation is not, however, a modern invention, even though it is now being perfected. Between 1909 and 1919 the value of the dollar actually was cut in half, which left it only twice as big as today's bill.

Many shoppers are acutely aware of price changes, to which any supermarket will attest. They know when prices are rising but, curiously, they attempt to buy the same goods on the same budget. When the budget snaps under the strain, the shock is terrible.

It is simply impossible to live in today's style on yesterday's income, because the gap between them widens from each direction. Not only does the dollar grow smaller but desires grow larger.

Before reaching one economic level the assault on the next one begins: one car, two cars, three cars, a boat, a bigger house, a vacation home. And at the dinner table: filet mignon instead of hamburger, lobster rather than mackerel.

It is the automobile, however, that is the symbol of rising aspirations. Barley able to meet other bills, Americans insist on a fine car.

There is growing evidence that many Americans are getting tired of stuffing their paychecks in their gas tanks. Consumers are demanding smaller cars. Imports of compacts are soaring, even though Detroit, belatedly, has produced its own models.

And consumer pollsters detect a tendency for some owners to delay purchases. Is a $4,500-car needed every three years? Or would a $3,400-car every four years do: The savings would be $10,000 in 15 years.

The auto companies point out, correctly, that this might result in higher repair costs, but budget advisers will tell you that maintenance often can be lowered by better driving and better care. Ironically, millions of Americans, after sacrificing to buy their cars, then abuse them.

But the car, it must be conceded, gives great peasure to millions of Americans. It also provides many of them with higher incomes. Can the same be said for taxes?

In the years between 1956 and 1970, says the Tax Foundation, the total of federal, state and local tax collections increased 181 per cent.

That's where the money goes. No mystery.

Ecuador Expels 3 More Soviets

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Expulsion of three Soviet diplomats by Ecuador Tuesday raised to eight the number of Russian embassy officials ousted by Latin American governments during the past four months.

Mexico expelled five officials of the Soviet embassy here in March, including charge d'affaires Dimitri A. Diakonov, for alleged involvement in a conspiracy by guerrillas to overthrow the Mexican government.

The expulsion followed the arrest of 20 guerrillas, members of the revolutionary Action Movement (MAR) who, with about 30 others, had studied at Patrice Lumumba University in Moscow and from there went to North Korea for guerrilla training.

Plans Defense For Ellsberg

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Describing Dr. Daniel Ellsberg as "a true patriot," a Los Angeles businessman has announced establishment of a legal defense fund for the former Rand Corp. scientist and any others accused in the leak of secret Pentagon papers on Vietnam.

Albert R. Appleby, chairman of the local chapter of the Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace, said Wednesday the organization will seek donations after a federal grand jury completes its investigation.

The Los Angeles panel has indicted Ellsberg on charges of unauthorized possession of the 47-volume Defense Department study and the Justice Department has said others may be prosecuted.

Appleby told a news conference that Ellsberg, 40, is a "true patriot in the highest sense of the word," adding that leak of the Pentagon papers to newspapers did not harm the national security.

How To Measure Status

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you on the escalator of success or the toboggan of failure?

Now and then it is wise to make a self-checkup.

But how can you tell for sure whether your life's star is brightening of fading? Well, some of the signs are pretty obvious.

For example, you can quit worrying about your status if—

You have "his" and "her" tennis courts on your estate.

The workmen digging a bigger and better swimming pool in your basement strike oil.

When it comes time to get a new yacht, you sink the old one at sea rather than let something you once valued fall into the hands of strangers.

During National Brotherhood Week you make it a policy always to invite the U.S. secretary of the Treasury to lunch and listen to his troubles.

If you stay home with a heavy cold for more than two days, the New York Stock Exchange falls five points—and you receive get-well cards from several hundred worried brokers.

You average an honorary degree from a different college every year, and the board of education in your old home town names a high school after you.

You hate to run out of $10 bills, because you don't want anybody to think you are a poor tipper.

On the other hand, your prestige had slipped a country mile if—

Everybody else shuts up if you start to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" with them.

When you shake hands with a man, the first thing he does when you let go is to wipe his hand with his handkerchief and then count his fingers to make sure he hasn't been short-changed.

When the bartender buys a drink on the house, he leaves your glass empty.

The only people who seem to know your name are bill collectors.

Both your teen-age children claim to be foundlings, because they don't want you to be recognized as their father.

Your credit is so bad that a hardware store won't sell you a piece of rope on tim, unless you agree to hang yourself with it as soon as you've paid the final instalment.

2 Men Held In Robbery

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI has arrested two New Jersey men in connection with the robbery of Italian actress Sophia Loren at gunpoint in her Manhattan apartment last Oct. 11.

Three gunmen entered the apartment and took $2,000 in cash, personal jewels which Miss Loren valued at $500,000 and jewelry she had borrowed from a New York dealer. A fourth man held four hotel employes at gunpoint while the robbery took place.

Miss Loren and her infant son, Carlo Ponti Jr., were not injured, but her secretary received a scalp wound when one of the robbers hit her with his weapon.

Part of the loot was found by two boys in West New York, N.J., several hours after the robbery and turned over to police.

The FBI identified the men arrested Wednesday as Vincent M. Morris, 36, of North Bergen and Joseph Fernandez, 41, of Jersey City. They were charged with interstate transportation of stolen jewelry and were held for arraignment.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAND

QUESTION: How does the sand on the beach get there?

* * *

ANSWER: Sand is usually a collection of tiny rocks. Solid rock is exposed to the action of wind, rain and frost. After millions of years, the rock breaks off and starts to crumble. Sand is found wherever rocks have been exposed to the weather. One of the chief sand-forming regions is the beach of a sea. The force of the tide upon the rocks, along with the wind and rain and the action of salt water in dissolving minerals in the rock, all combine to form sand. There are many volcanoes in action below the bottom of the sea which erupt at intervals, throwing particles of rock in the oceans. This rock is pulverized by the ocean currents and ends up on a beach. Some sand is created by the grinding up by waves of shells and coral. Sand is a complex substance. There may be a variety of minerals in it. On the shore, the sands are held together by water between the grains. Some sand is so firm that it can be used as a track for auto racing. This packed sand has just enough water between the grains to make it firm. Sand is very useful in the building industry since it is used to make concrete. It is also used in making glass, and was used in ancient times to measure time by the hourglass.

WANT ADS DO THE JOB FAST!

She tears up a check and loses a friend

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Why do people give money to reciprocate a kindness? It spoils everything.

Yesterday a friend gave me a check for $10 for a small kindness I showed her. [I picked up her mail and brought it to her at the hospital for three weeks.] Abby, I was terribly hurt and didn't want to accept money for something which I did out of the kindness of my heart, so I tore up the check in front of her.

She looked as tho I had struck her and tears came to her eyes. I wanted to die. Was I wrong? HURTING

DEAR HURTING: Yes. To destroy something publicly shows contempt for it. You should have either returned the check or destroyed it privately. People give money to reciprocate a kindness because either they are unable to shop for a gift or they don't know what to buy.

Your friend wanted to reward you for your kindness. You wanted no reward. Unfortunately, you misunderstood each other.

DEAR ABBY: I need help. My husband is 91, and for the last two years Arnold has had no desire for sex, and I am only 73 and I still need a man.

Arnold is a jealous person and he follows me everywhere so there is no chance of even meeting anyone else. Is there something the doctor can give him to pep him up a little? If that is hopeless, maybe the doctor can give me something to quiet me down. It is no good this way. YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: It might be easier to quiet your desire than to rekindle Arnold's. Ask your doctor.

DEAR ABBY: Please spell out the responsibilities of a daughter in law when she comes to visit with her two children who are both under 3 years old. The children are not accustomed to being in a playpen in their own home, but I have one here for them because I don't want them roaming thru the house. Young mothers have been fed the idea that a playpen thwarts a child's ego and learning experiences. The youngsters are left to roam, tear magazines apart, climb on the tables, drag out the flatiron and topple the telephone.

Please tell us grandmothers how to avoid antagonizing the young mothers and yet preserve a semblance of order in our own homes. WORKING GRANDMOTHER

DEAR GRANDMOTHER: Since your daughter in law is anti-playpen, make it plain that she will have to keep her eye on the children while she visits you. And if she doesn't do it, it's into the playpen for the roamers, like it or not!

DEAR ABBY: When a guy is asked to be best man at a wedding, and it is decided that all the men in the wedding party should wear identical rented dinner jackets, who pays for the rental on the jackets? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The men who wear them.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Lansky Denies Role In Crime

TEL AVIV (AP) — Meyer Lansky says allegations that he is a leader in organized crime in the United States are preposterous. He also says he will seek Israeli citizenship and fight a U.S. government bid to revoke his passport.

Lansky, who has been in Israel for more than a year on a tourist visa, is under indictment in Miami, Fla., on charges of skimming pretax profits from gambling casino operations and of refusing to appear before a grand jury.

Israeli law grants automatic citizenship to any Jew arriving in the Jewish state, with the stipulation that the courts may deny citizenship to those with a criminal history.

Lansky made his comments in a radio interview Wednesday.

Switches From Right To Left

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile's new Marxist president, Salvador Allende, says: "I played soccer for many years at right wing. But in politics I always played on the left."

Allende made the comment Wednesday in visiting with an Argentine soccer team.

White Says Strike Outdated

DALLAS (AP) — Walter C. White, who retired after more than 29 years as federal mediation commissioner here, believes the strike is "an antique method" whose day is past.
