Davidians get strong sentences

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. District Judge Walter Smith followed prosecutors recommendations and sentenced nearly all of the Branch Davidians on trial in connection with the shooting deaths of four federal agents to the most stringent penalties.

The Davidians were charged for their roles in the Feb. 28, 1993, shootout near Waco between Koresh's sect and agents of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, who raided Koresh's religious compound to search for illegal weapons and to arrest Koresh.

The gun battle left four agents and six Davidians dead. A 51-day armed standoff ensued, ending April 19 in a hellish fire in which Koresh and 78 of his disciples perished.

Brad Branch, Jaime Castillo and Kevin Whitecliff were each sentenced to the maximum 30-year sentence for using or carrying a firearm during commission of a crime and the 10-year maximum sentence for voluntary manslaughter. The sentences will run consecutively. Each man was also fined $2,000.

Renos Avraam and Livingstone Fagan also were sentenced to 30 years for using or carrying a firearm during commission of a crime and the 10 year maximum sentence for voluntary manslaughter. The sentences will run consecutively. Their fines were heavier. Avraam was fined $10,000 and Fagan was fined $5,000.

Graeme Craddock was sentenced to the 10-years maximum for illegally possessing a grenade and 10 years for using or carrying a firearm during a crime. He was fined $2,000.

BCD, DCOS won't have formal pact, boards determine

There will be be no formal contract for the release of funds from the Board of County Development to the Development Corporation of Snyder, it was determined Thursday.

Board of County Development (BCD) members took no action on consideration of the contract because of concerns voiced by county commissioners.

Through a Unified Economic Development Proposal last September, an agreement was reached for the BCD to give $45,000 in funds to the DCOS for economic development and for the city to give 95 percent of the hotel/motel funds to the chamber of commerce to promote tourism.

Thursday, BCD Chairman Max von Roeder told development board members that county commissioners have tabled a proposed contract which would call for $45,000 to be turned over directly to the DCOS. However, the funds will still be made available for economic development.

"They're not happy with a lump-sum contract. They want to be able to track where the money goes. It's an accountability thing with them," said von Roeder.

DCOS executive director Doug Hutchinson said he had "no problem" with the commissioners' request and told BCD members that a formal agreement is not necessary for the relationship to work.

"From a staff point of view, a contract is not necessary. Logistically, it doesn't matter if the BCD gives the DCOS a lump sum or if the DCOS bills the BCD for various projects. The spirit of the agreement is the same. What's important is we're working with the same staff, and they (commissioners) are still making the funds available. We're still all pointed in the same direction."

As a result, the Board of County Development will readjust its budget of $55,475. Some $48,500 will be budgeted toward economic development projects; $5,000 to promotion, advertising and travel; $1,375 to office supplies; $500 to postage; and $100 to subscriptions. Formal approval of the budget is expected at the board's next meeting.

In other business Thursday, the board approved application for a Texas Economic Excellence Program grant through Southwestern Bell for $3,250. The funds, if approved, will be used for a feasibility study to expand on previous grant-funded research using cotton trash as fuel pellets. The proposed grant would expand research to include municipal waste, landfill waste, trash paper and other raw materials.

The research is being conducted with the hopes of eventually locating a plant in Scurry County to manufacture the pellets and other products.

The board also approved the financial statement, bills payable and previous minutes.

Hutchinson told the board that the Ecomomic Development Office is studying 12 on-going projects which are all in various stages. He said he is optimistic that some will result in significant economic growth for the county.

Ira ISD oks computer bids, eliminates several positions

Ira public school trustees accepted principal Jane Matlock's resignation and eliminated some other positions during a meeting held Thursday evening.

The board also accepted bids on playground equipment but rejected those for a concession stand and restroom facility.

Trustees accepted, with regret, Matlock's resignation. Matlock, principal for the past three years, has said she intends to seek an elementary principal's position.

Superintendent Rick Howard said the district will begin advertising for a principal this weekend. Applications will be taken through July 1. He said the board hopes to name a new principal in its July 14 meeting.

In other personnel action, the board decided not to fund a stipend for a golf coach next year and to eliminate one instructional aide position and one part-time custodial position. Trustees also approved a $1,000 stipend for a senior class sponsor. Present staff will be reassigned to cover the positions and no one will be terminated as a result of the changes, Howard said.

Trustees rejected bids on a proposed concession stand and restroom facility that would have replaced the older facility near the football field. The bids, the lowest of which was in the $75,000 range, far exceeded estimates, Howard said.

Miracle Playground Co. was awarded a bid of $20,889 for playground equipment. A bid of $11,000 from Grimmett Brothers was accepted for site preparation.

Trustees also accepted a bid from Computer Solutions in the amount of $32,256.55 for 18 computers as well as printers and software.

The board postponed consideration of an agreement with Borden County ISD for the education of two transfer students until August, when more information can be obtained from the state. Both Ira and Borden County are considered "wealthy" districts under Senate Bill 7, the school funding law. As such, each school must reduce its wealth. One way is by "educating" students in other districts. The two students in question reside in Ira's district but attend school in Gail. Under SB 7, either of the schools can count the students for enrollment purposes; however, both schools cannot.

In the only other action Thursday, the board approved bills. All trustees were present.

'Ritz' celebration planned Saturday

Refreshment and activity booths, vintage cars, motorcycles and live music and entertainment will highlight the third "Lighting Up the Ritz" celebration Saturday at the courthouse square.

The Ritz Community Theatre will be selling T-shirts, caps and drinks to raise money for the renovation fund.

Tickets for the next theatre season will also be on sale. They are $30 for six performances, $60 for 12 and $100 for 24.

Booths will open at 5 p.m. with entertainment to begin at 7. People are encouraged to bring folding chairs and blankets for sitting on the courthouse lawn. A fire truck and ambulance will also be on display.

The lights on the Ritz marquee will be turned on about 9:30 p.m.

Archery tournament slated over weekend

Snyder Bowhunters Association is staging its third 3-D Invitation Archery Tournament here this weekend, with 150 to 200 shooters expected from throughout Texas and New Mexico.

Spectators are welcome.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at the association's range at Shepherd's Crossing.

Shooting will be a California start on Saturday, held from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. On Sunday, all archers will begin shooting with a shotgun start at 10 a.m.

Plaques will be awarded to the three best shooters of the 16 IBO divisions following Sunday's competition.

Drawings will be held for prizes which include a PSE compound bow, a PSE recurve bow, a Kenco digital deer feeder and more, donated by Snyder merchants and out-of-town archery companies.

Entry fees are $15 for adults, $10 for youth and cubs and $5 for mini-cubs, with a $30 family maximum.

Anyone interested in the activities of the Snyder Bowhunters Association is invited to contact Dale Byrd at 573-8088, Dr. Jerry Early at 573-1717 or Darryl Boone at 573-2851.

The shocked chief heard an address given, but no names were mentioned. The chief ordered surveillance set up.

The homeowner captured a 14-year-old just as he entered the house. The juvenile confessed to all previous burglaries and implicated another kid.

DCOS oks health plan

Development Corporation of Snyder board members on Thursday approved a health insurance carrier, application for a credit card and membership to a credit reporting service.

No action was taken on a proposed contract between the DCOS and the Board of County Development.

Upon recommendation of the DCOS staff, board members approved Stewart Insurance Agency as its health insurance carrier. The two staff members, executive director Doug Hutchinson and secretary Laurie Graves, are expected to be placed on a policy with Employer's Health. It is an 80/20 plan with $500 deductible and includes a prescription card. The board will approve cost of the plan at a later board meeting; a breakdown of employee cost versus DCOS cost was unavailable at Thursday's meeting.

DCOS board members also approved application for a Mastercard/VISA card with a credit limit of $5,000.

In other business, the board tabled consideration of membership to Dun & Bradstreet until more information can be obtained, but agreed to a membership with Retail Merchants, a credit reporting service.

The board also approved payment of bills and the purchase of literature racks.

Board members present were Bill Seale, John Fagin and Miller Robinson. Roy Baze and Dan Cotton were absent. Also present were Hutchinson and Graves.

Oil patch seeking White House help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans alike are expressing hope that President Clinton will embrace proposals to boost the sagging fortunes of the domestic oil and natural gas industry.

A bipartisan delegation of some 80 lawmakers met Thursday with Clinton to press their case for tax incentives and regulatory relief for an industry that has lost some 500,000 jobs in the last decade.

Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen, White House chief of staff Mack McLarty and other high-ranking administration officials also were on hand for the hour-long meeting.

The lawmakers, who requested the sitdown last March, came armed with a series of proposals to rescue an industry battered by low oil prices. Crude oil prices hit a five-year low in March but have since recovered almost $5 a barrel, to around $20 a barrel.

Among the proposals are royalty relief to encourage new drilling; tax incentives to preserve marginal production if oil prices fall below $20 a barrel; permitting the export of Alaskan crude oil; regulatory relief; and allowing producers to deduct some geological and geophysical costs.

Backers estimated the total cost below $500 million over five years.

Interviewed after the closed-press session, lawmakers said Clinton seemed most focused on ways to shore up the fortunes of marginal producers and lift the ban on the export of Alaskan crude.

But, with stumbling blocks facing both proposals, no promises were made.

"The president, I think, was impressed by the hearing," said Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. "The mood was a good one, but the answer is not yet definitive."

Added Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., who helped organize the meeting: "I don't think we're going to have to push the administration to get back to us. I think it's going to be soon."

The biggest problem facing marginal production tax breaks is that budget rules require lawmakers to find ways to offset costs unless the Congressional Budget Office agrees that the proposal is revenue-neutral.

Lawmakers said Clinton suggested that the tax incentives shouldn't be considered increased costs, because without the tax relief thousands of "stripper" wells will be shut down and the taxes they generate lost.

"The president wanted us to all work together to come up with some plan on marginal wells that could be scored (by CBO) as not being a net loser of revenue," said Deputy Energy Secretary Bill White.

About 15 percent of the nation's oil comes from some 450,000 stripper wells that produce less than 10 barrels a day. Those wells have been struggling to make a profit under depressed market conditions.

"It was a very constructive session," said Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo. "This is an economic issue and a question of national security. It transcends party lines and ideology. I trust we can work together on this one."

North Korea offer called promising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Clinton administration is taking a wait-and-see approach to a North Korean offer communicated through former President Carter to resume high-level talks with the United States on resolving their nuclear dispute.

Carter said Thursday that during his private talks with President Kim Il Sung in Pyongyang, the communist leader gave assurances he would not expel U.N. nuclear inspectors so long as there were "good-faith efforts" to end the dispute.

President Clinton and U.S. military officials said they needed to hear more details after Carter holds a second day of talks today before judging the Kim proposal.

"It depends on what the Koreans meant by what they actually said today," Clinton told reporters Thursday. "If North Korea means by this also that it is willing to freeze its nuclear program while talks take place, this could be a promising development."

High-level U.S.-North Korean talks broke off last July.

It was not clear from Carter's description on CNN of his North Korea talks whether Kim's formula included a promise to freeze his country's nuclear development. He has repeatedly insisted the nuclear program is strictly peaceful, but the United Nations' nuclear watchdog agency says there is evidence it is meant to produce weapons.

The main U.S. objective is to get North Korea to accept full and regular inspections of its nuclear facilities by the International Atomic Energy Agency to ensure that nuclear material is not diverted to build weapons. North Korea's stated goal is to engage Washington in talks leading to full U.S. diplomatic recognition and help in modernizing its nuclear plants for power generation.

Clinton said that until the details of the latest Kim proposal become clear, the United States would continue pursuing U.N. economic sanctions against North Korea.

The president spoke after meeting with senior foreign policy and military leaders. He said the United States would do whatever is necessary to protect American forces in South Korea and fulfill security obligations to the government in Seoul.

"There's nothing to be concerned about," Clinton said.

Later, Defense Secretary William Perry met with Gen. John Shalikashvili, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the four service chiefs in the "tank," their secure conference room at the Pentagon.

A senior defense official said the White House meeting on Korea included a "review of the status of our forces." The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said no orders have been given to deploy additional forces or aircraft to South Korea.

About 37,000 American troops are stationed in the South.

Carter relayed the results of his meeting with Kim on Thursday to the White House in a telephone call to Robert L. Gallucci, the administration's chief coordinator on the nuclear dispute. Carter did not speak to Clinton, but the president said he intended to meet with Carter when he returns to the United States.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, the Senate urged Clinton to prepare for a possible North Korean attack on U.S. and South Korean troops.

In a 93-3 vote, the Senate approved a non-binding resolution saying the United States "should immediately take all necessary and prudent actions to enhance the preparedness and safety of United States and Republic of Korea forces to deter and, if necessary, repel an attack from North Korea."

"Some might argue that sending equipment to defend against possible aggression is provocative or warmongering," said Republican leader Bob Dole, a co-sponsor of the resolution.

Funds are critical for poison centers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four-year-old Rachael Dosh drank a bottle of allergy medicine because, as she told her exasperated mother, "I was thirsty."

But when Cheryl Dosh called the Rocky Mountain Poison Center for help, she was told she would have to call her own doctor or phone 911.

"As a parent I was stunned by the total lack of concern," she said. "As a taxpayer I was furious."

Dosh subsequently learned that the day she needed help was the first day poison-control service to Arapahoe County, Colo., had been cut. The center had fallen victim to county cost-cutting, she learned.

"I couldn't believe that the ability to possibly save people's lives at such a low cost would be included in a budget cut," she said.

Rachael recovered hours later, but small children often are at risk of accidental poisoning.

The nation's privately run poison control centers, which rely on financial support from a number of sources, are besieged by a money crisis that is forcing many to close and reduce services. Consumer watchdogs say the situation will only worsen unless the federal government steps in.

"It is a public health hazard," said Rose Ann Soloway, administrator of the American Association of Poison Control Centers. These centers depend heavily on government support. Soloway said the problem has been aggravated by lean local budgets and the lack of any permanent source of financing.

"There have been multiple funding sources and multiple sources of funds drying up," she said. "The result has been that poison center services have been eroded in many areas of the country."

A House human resources panel explored the issue during a March hearing and, as a result, officials of four federal agencies are to meet Tuesday to begin discussing solutions.

Nearly 2 million people — including doctors — use poison control centers every year for quick guidance on how to treat people who may have swallowed harmful substances, been bitten by an animal or inhaled toxic fumes.

But a survey of 38 regional poison control centers this year by the Consumer Federation of America found that the emergency services have been eliminated or reduced in some parts of the country.

Twenty-four of the centers said their budgets had been cut within the past few years, and 12 were anticipating spending reductions.

The survey focused on regional centers because they meet standards set by the national association, operate 24 hours a day and are run by professional toxicologists instead of volunteers.

Mother-in-Law Talks Her Way Out of Woman's Good Graces

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother is a lovely woman who has one problem: She is sometimes completely overbearing.

When she visits us, she stays in our small apartment where we live with our 2-year-old son. Throughout her visit, there is no peace, no time when she is not pouting if we do not spend every waking moment with her. She is always cleaning or rearranging our furniture, but, worst of all, she talks incessantly.

My own mother would never behave this way.

The three "R's" I advise for all mothers and mothers-in-law are as follows:

(1) Respect the privacy of your child, his or her spouse and their family.

(2) Recognize that you are a guest in their home.

(3) Relax — and if at all possible, check into a hotel or motel. You will be more comfortable, and so will they.

WORN OUT IN WISCONSIN

DEAR WORN OUT: Generalizations are dangerous — especially this one. I have heard from numerous women (and men, too) who adore their mothers-in-law.

Oddly enough, more husbands than wives adore their mothers-in-law.

P.S. I happen to be one of the lucky ones. I have loved my mother-in-law for 54 years; take a bow, Rosie (Mrs. Jay) Phillips in Minneapolis.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband is getting married again. Although he is thousands of dollars in arrears on child support, he has come up with money to rent tuxedos for our two sons to wear to this formal event.

Although he refused to set foot in the church where I taught Sunday school for 10 years, he is getting married there after openly living with his girlfriend for three years.

It seems this is not unusual these days. It's fairly common for a man to dump one woman, then marry her replacement right in the ex's back yard.

I am considering attending the wedding to "give the groom away," but I suspect this would make my sons feel uncomfortable.

Any suggestions?

TRYING TO ADAPT

DEAR TRYING: Yes. Skip the wedding. Revenge is never as sweet as the revenger hopes it will be.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have enjoyed some of the letters you have printed about encounters with naked people. Some of your other readers may have some funny stories, too.

My favorite incident happened in a local meat market in Watkins Glen, N.Y. It was during the Summer Jam of 1973, which was the largest rock concert ever held. (That's right — most people are under the misconception that the largest was Woodstock, but those of us who live in Watkins Glen know better.) Anyway, Jim, the shopkeeper, looked up to see a bearded hippie standing in front of his counter with nothing on but one sneaker.

Not one to be easily nonplussed, Jim remarked, "I see you lost a sneaker." The response was, "Hey, man, I didn't lose a sneaker — I found one."

Thanks for letting me tell this story outside of Schuyler County.

A FRIEND OF JIM'S

DEAR FRIEND OF JIM'S: Thanks for sharing this story with me. My readers can always use an "upper."

For Levelland murder...

Teen faces up to 40 years

LUBBOCK (AP) — An alleged victim of sexual abuse is headed for juvenile lockup after being found responsible for killing his neighbor.

Jurors assessed the maximum punishment Thursday despite defense claims that sexual abuse three years ago caused the 15-year-old boy to became mentally ill.

The jury took three hours to find him guilty of delinquent conduct by shooting Jackie Condren in the back last September. The Texas Youth Commission will confine the boy until he turns 18, when a judge will decide whether he goes to prison for no more than 40 years.

Condren's estranged wife, Johnell Condren, awaits trial on charges she had sex with the teenager in 1991.

Prosecutors denounced the idea the boy was so traumatized he couldn't help being violent.

"He has been just plain mean, delinquent, incorrigible — a classic conduct disorder," said Hockley County District Attorney Gary Goff.

Goff called the murder "horrible, despicable, cowardly" and pointed out that the boy already has spent time in juvenile custody for sexually assaulting a 4-year-old girl. He asked the jury: "What message do you want to send these young, arrogant, out-of-control punks who want to carry a pistol?"

The trial featured graphic testimony about sex acts between the 15-year-old and Mrs. Condren, 40, who wasn't living with her husband at the time he was killed.

Defense attorney Ray Lopez insisted his client was a victim and needed treatment. Lopez pleaded for leniency.

"I'm not going to stand here and tell you he was a little angel," Lopez said in closing arguments. "Does that sound like the actions of a normal child? That is a child crying out for help."

Lopez said the alleged sexual abuse culminated in trauma that left the boy unable to think rationally.

The boy was 14 when he and a 13-year-old friend were charged with shooting Condren as he watched television in his home. In January, as the murder investigation progressed, Mrs. Condren was indicted.

She took the stand this week but declined to testify. Her trial hasn't been scheduled.

The boy and his parents appeared unemotional since the trial started Monday. The proceedings were moved from Levelland because of extensive news coverage in the city 35 miles west of Lubbock.

Scattered applause broke out when the verdict was announced.

"I hope he gets the help he needs and that he changes his life," said Debbie McAlister, a friend of Condren's. "But that won't bring Jackie back."

Autopsy shows baby found in trash bin born alive

ABILENE (AP) — Autopsy reports show a baby found in an Abilene garbage bin had taken a breath before it died, police said.

The coroner determined "it was a live birth, but they could not determine the cause of death," Detective Tommy Pope said Thursday.

The baby was found May 22 by a man salvaging aluminum cans. Police said the baby was wrapped in fabric and stuffed in a paper bag and that its placenta and umbilical cord were still attached.

Detectives said the teen mother, whose name has not been released, had said her baby was born dead.

"From what I saw, it was a combination of being young, naive, afraid and not knowing what to do," Pope said of the mother the day she was questioned.

The case has been turned over the Taylor County district attorney for investigation.

A grand jury is expected to hear the case the first or second week in July, Pope said.

Boy hanging from ferris wheel safe

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A 9-year-old boy was rescued after hanging upside down for about 15 minutes on a Ferris wheel at an amusement park, officials said.

The boy, Joshua Handy of Weatherford, hung from an overturned car at the top of the 35-foot tall Ferris wheel Thursday night until a police officer could climb up and hold him.

Firemen then put the boy into the bucket of a hook-and-ladder fire truck and lowered him to the ground.

Joshua told reporters he was scared, but was not hurt.

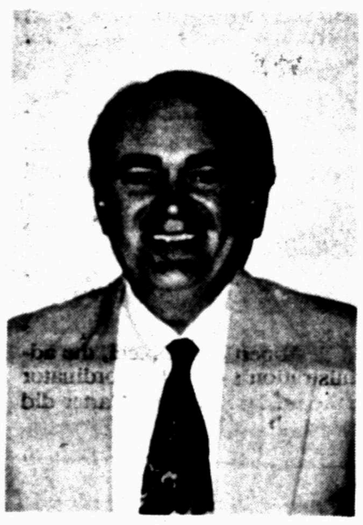

He was in Wichita Falls visiting his grandmother, Naoma Conner, 58, who was also riding on the Ferris wheel in another car.

Mrs. Conner said she was struck in the left shoulder by a metal pin that may have fallen from the seat on which her grandson was riding.

"We had just gotten on, and we rode around once," she said. "It seemed like the cable went loose, and we stopped. I looked up, and my grandson was hanging upside down way above me.

"I was in the car on the bottom and he was in the one on top, he wanted to ride by himself."

Police officer Chris Taylor, who was the first rescuer to reach the park, climbed up the side of the wheel without a safety line and held the boy so he would not fall, witnesses said.

TOP AGENT — Ronnie Shields, Snyder agent for Farmers Insurance for the past two years, has been named district agent of the month for May. Shields' office is located on the south side of the square.

Bringing the dead alive

By Phillip Alder

It is impossible to be exact when one uses the Roman alphabet to spell words that come from a language, like Russian, that employs a different alphabet. We do the best we can, based on the sounds of the letters. But how do we know the pronunciation of words from a dead language?

Today's deal was misplayed back in 1929. North opened with a weak no-trump, showing 12-14 points. South took a shot at four spades. So if you, like me, thought the weak no-trump was a modern invention, you were wrong. Yet transfer bids weren't devised until the 1950s.

West led the heart 10. After winning with dummy's ace, declarer played a trump. East won perforce with the ace and tried to cash two heart tricks. South ruffed the second of these high and drew trumps. How should he have continued?

Having lost two tricks, declarer could afford only one minor-suit loser. South cashed the club ace before finessing dummy's club jack. This lost to the queen and East led a diamond to his partner's ace: one down.

South had relied totally on the club finesse when he could have given himself two chances. At trick seven, he should have led a diamond to dummy's queen. If it loses to East's ace, South falls back on the club finesse. But if the queen wins, declarer plays a club to his ace and leads his second diamond. If West wins with the ace, declarer's club loser can be thrown on dummy's established diamond king.

How do we know the correct way to pronounce words from a dead language? One wag suggested we do it by asking ghost writers.

Dr. Gott

By Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 84-year-old wife has a chronic cough that nothing seems to help. One doctor indicated she has scars on her lungs. If this is true, what's the answer for a cure?

DEAR READER: Chronic cough may not always indicate a primary lung disorder, such as pneumonia or bronchitis. Post-nasal drip (sinus drainage from allergies), chronic sinus infection, heart failure and hiatal hernia are associated with a troublesome, dry cough.

Also, certain drugs (notably the ACE inhibitors used for heart disease and hypertension) will cause a chronic, racking cough in about 10 percent of users.

I do not believe that your wife's pulmonary scars are the cause of her cough. Rather, the scars indicate a previous infection or injury. Nonetheless, until the cause of her lung scarring is determined, I'd be concerned that she might be suffering from a long-standing, low-grade pulmonary infection, such as bronchiectasis, abscesses within the lung tissue.

In my opinion, your wife needs to address the issues I raised. For instance, sinus X-rays and special lung X-rays (broncography) would establish the presence of infection in those two areas; a cardiac ultrasound could demonstrate a weakened heart muscle; an upper intestinal X-ray study should document a hiatal hernia.

Before throwing up her hands in frustration, your wife should undergo the necessary testing, which would enable the doctor to prescribe the necessary treatment, such as antibiotics, antihistamines or antacids.

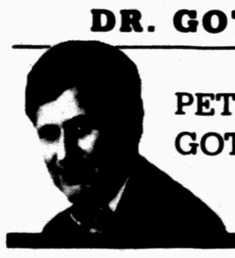

To give you more information, I am sending you free copies of my Health Reports "Living With Chronic Lung Disease" and "Heart Disease." Other readers who would like copies should send $2 for each report plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title(s).

DEAR DR. GOTT: In a recent column there was an inquiry on Coenzyme Q10 as a treatment for cardiomyopathy. You indicated that it is only available through major teaching hospitals, not in pharmacies or retail outlets. We have been able to get this product at most health food stores, pharmacies, and most mail-order catalogs carry it as well. Please advise your readers of its availability.

DEAR READER: I was wrong. Coenzyme Q10, a health supplement that has been reported to alleviate certain heart ailments, is, as you mentioned, available from a variety of outlets. However, I do caution readers who wish to use this product to check with their doctors first.

Watson, Nicklaus lead Open

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Just as he did back in the '70's and '80's, Tom Watson fed on Jack Nicklaus' success.

Just as it was at Augusta and Pebble Beach in 1977 and Turnberry in 1982, Nicklaus' heroics provoked Watson to superlative efforts of his own.

This time it came at Oakmont, arguably the most difficult course in the world of golf, with two — no, make that three — of the game's greatest players in the twilight of Hall of Fame careers.

Hale Irwin got into the act, too, making it an Old Folks Open despite the trying, stifling heat that sapped the strength and exhausted the patience of younger men.

First, there was Nicklaus, the Golden Bear himself, the best there ever was. At age 54 he recaptured some of the half-remembered magic that once was his alone, ran in a 40-foot birdie putt on the 18th and took the early lead alone Thursday in the first round of the 94th U.S. Open.

Then came Watson, 44, playing hours later in temperatues that reached into the mid-90's and slowed play to a crawl, more than 51/2 hours for the late finishers.

"I took a look at the leaderboard," Watson said, "and figured if Nicklaus can do it, Watson can do some of the same."

But his was a little better, a 3-under-par 68 against Nicklaus' 69 and a one-shot lead going into today's second round.

They were not alone, however. Irwin, 49, playing just behind Watson, just missed on a last-hole birdie that would have given him a share of the lead. Instead, it left him in a tie with Nicklaus.

South African Ernie Els, who birdied two of the last three holes, and Frank Nobilo of New Zealand, who holed a 176-yard 7-iron shot for eagle-2 on the 10th, also got in at 69, one off the pace.

The group at 70 included two-time U.S. Open winner Curtis Strange, who knocked himself out of a share of the lead with a last-hole double bogey.

Perry advances to WWTGA final

AMARILLO — Snyder golfer Penny Perry advanced into the championship match of the 60th Women's West Texas Golf Association Tournament with a Thursday 2 and 1 victory over Canyon's Ann Steward.

Perry was to battle the match-play tournament's other semifinal winner, Pat Bradley of Lubbock, in the First Flight title match today at Amarillo Country Club.

Schoen Memorial tourney slated

The annual Western Texas College Gary Schoen Memorial Golf Tournament is set for Saturday and Sunday on the WTC course.

Entry fee for the 3-person scramble is $120 per team with all proceeds going to the WTC golf program.

Cash prizes will be awarded and NFL Hall of Famer Sam Baugh will compete at the tournament.

Chadwick named SFA head coach

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — Royce Chadwick, who has coached every level of women's basketball and is 231-91 overall, has been hired as the sixth coach of the Stephen F. Austin Ladyjacks, athletic director Steve McCarty announced Thursday.

Chadwick, 36, comes to SFA from Howard College in Big Spring, where he was athletic director and head coach. The Lady Hawks were 148-21 in five seasons under Chadwick.

Chadwick replaces Joe Curl, who resigned for personal reasons in May after one season.

The Ladyjacks were 23-7 last season, winning their seventh-straight Southland Conference title and appearing for the seventh time in the NCAA Tournament.

Chadwick has two degrees from Southwestern Oklahoma State and began his career at Olton High School in 1983. He was named District 5-2A Coach of the Year for a 21-5 record and district championship for the Fillies.

In 1985, Chadwick advanced to the collegiate ranks, leading Panhandle State to a pair of NAIA national playoffs.

Before moving to Howard, Chadwick coached Sam Houston State, posting an 18-9 record in 1988-89 as the Lady Kats had their first winning season.

Schmidt claims fourth place with 73 in bareback riding

BOZEMAN, Mont. — Western Texas College bareback rider Cleve Schmidt scored a 73 to jump into fourth place in the event as the first go-round ended Thursday night at the College National Finals Rodeo.

Schmidt's tally is three points off the pace set by former WTC wrangler Eric Mouton, competing for Southwest Oklahoma State, and Vernon Regional JC rider Pete Hawkins, who share first place at 76.

Western Texas teammate Travis Whiteside is in sixth place in bareback riding with a 72 from Tuesday's performance.

The second go-round of the rodeo will last through Saturday. Sunday's finals, which will determine the national champions in all events, will feature the top 10 qualifiers in each event.

Also in Thursday's performance, Western Texas' Dusti Beaton flashed a 9.2 in goat tying for eighth in the go-round.

WTC calf roper Leddy Lewis was bumped to sixth after Thursday's competition. Lewis boasts a 23.5 on two head. The leader in the average of the event is defending national champion Shane Hatch of Vernon, who has a 19.2 combined time.

Mandy Harsh and Leslie Lewis are hanging on to top-five slots in breakaway roping. Harsh is currently second in the go-round with a 3.3 time from Wednesday. Lewis, fifth in the average with a 7.8 clocking on two calves, is tied for third in the go-round with her 3.4.

Southwest Oklahoma cowgirl Tori Woodard maintains a hold on the top spots in two events, leading the round in goat tying with a 7.4, and pacing the field in barrel racing with her 13.91. In addition, Woodard is tops in the barrel racing average, posting a 28.23 on two runs.

Lean Moellman of Southwest Missouri State is the breakaway leader in the average, carrying a 7.0 flat after two head.

Rosson's 3-run homer leads Giants to 9-2 win

MERKEL — Justin Rosson slammed a 3-run homer to cap a 4-run sixth inning Thursday and put the finishing touches on a 9-2 win over Anson by the Snyder Giants in the semifinal round of the annual Little League County Baseball Tournament here.

The Giants, now 16-4, will battle Sweetwater at 7:30 p.m. today for the tourney title. Sweetwater ripped host Merkel, 15-5, in the other semifinal game Thursday.

The winner of the Snyder-Sweetwater battle will take on the winner of the Baird-hosted county tournament here at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Giants broke a 0-0 tie in the fourth inning with three runs.

Brooks Nunley walked and scored and Matthew Grimmett and Andy Parker each singled and came home to lift Snyder to a 3-0 advantage.

Anson closed the gap to 3-1 in the bottom of the inning, but the Giants came back with two more in the fifth.

Nunley and Parker each singled and scored on the heels of walks issued to Rosson and Brian Coffman, to stretch the Snyder advantage to 5-1.

Leading 5-2 in the top of the sixth, Marcus Diaz singled and scored on a double by Grimmett, and Parker singled, setting up Rosson's heroics.

Grimmett, besides going 2-for-3 on the night at the plate, was the winning pitcher Thursday, fanning eight, walking just four and limiting Anson to just two runs in a complete-game effort.

U.S. set to face Switzerland

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — John Harkes can still remember that day, four years ago, when the U.S. soccer team pulled into Tirrenia, Italy, on a pair of buses.

"The last time, we were tourists," Harkes said Thursday. "We're not tourists any more."

On Saturday, when the United States plays Switzerland in the very first indoor World Cup game, the Americans have a reasonable chance to win. Even the Swiss say it could happen.

"People say we should beat the U.S.," Swiss defender Dominique Herr said, "but I don't think it will be so easy. We must do our best. But the U.S. will play hard. And the crowd will be with them, too."

In 1990, the United States qualified for the World Cup for the first time in 40 years. The Americans, essentially a college and postgraduate all-star team, went 0-3, were outscored 8-2 and finished 23rd in the 24-nation tournament.

"We were just happy to be there," Harkes said. "When I first stepped out on the field for the first game against Czechoslovakia, I didn't even know how to warm up. I was busy looking for my family in the stands. That's how naive I was."

Czechoslovakia dominated, outshooting the Americans 24-7 and beating them 5-1. Four years later, only six players from that team are back.

Harkes has spent four seasons in England, making six appearances at Wembley Stadium, the most revered soccer ground in the world. Tab Ramos, his midfield partner, has spent four seasons playing in Spain. Forward Eric Wynalda has spent two seasons in Germany.

They've added three "passport" teammates: forward Ernie Stewart of the Netherlands and midfielder Thomas Dooley of Germany, eligible for citizenship because their fathers were in the U.S. military, and forward Roy Wegerle, a South African who married an American.

"We were very naive to the world of international soccer," recalled goalkeeper Tony Meola, the U.S. captain. "We didn't do a whole lot of studying of the world's best players. Nobody in our organization had been through a World Cup, so we made a lot of mistakes. Now, we're ready to correct all the mistakes we made in 1990."

That is clear from the way Alexi Lalas has conducted himself.

This is home for Lalas. He grew up in nearby Birmingham, about 10 minutes from the Silverdome. He played both soccer and ice hockey at Cranbrook High School before earning a scholarship to Rutgers.

Lalas still wears a battered old Detroit Red Wings' cap almost everywhere he goes. Yet he makes it clear this is business, not a homecoming.

"It's a tremendous feeling to be back home, but that's where it ends," Lalas said. "Family and friends are great, but Switzerland doesn't care where I grew up or where I'm from. We have three games, and one happens to be here in Detroit. We have a job to do, and it doesn't matter if the game is in the Silverdome or on the moon."

The plastic roof of the Silverdome is supported by blown air, but the stadium isn't airconditioned. Temperatures inside the building are generally about 10 degrees cooler than outside, but the humidity is about the same.

The temperature outside is expected to be in the 90s when the game begins at 11:30 a.m.

Sierra boosts A's to 6-4 win

ARLINGTON (AP) — Former Ranger Ruben Sierra hit a two-out RBI single in the ninth and the A's added a run on a wild pitch to finish off a 6-4 American League West Division win over Texas on Thursday.

With two out, Stan Javier and Brent Gates beat out infield hits off rookie starter John Dettmer (0-1). Jay Howell relieved and gave up Sierra's grounder to right, scoring Javier. Gates scored from third on Howell's wild pitch.

Mark Acre (3-0) pitched one-plus innings for the win, and Dave Leiper got the final three outs for his first save since 1988 with San Diego.

Astros power past Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tony Eusebio's two two-run homers — his first since April 13 — and Ken Caminiti's 13th homer propelled Houston to a 6-3 victory over San Francisco on Thursday.

Darryl Kile (5-2) pitched six strong innings and John Hudek worked the ninth for his 10th save. Mark Portugal (5-6) was the loser.

Barry Bonds hit his 15th homer and added an RBI single for the Giants.

Simpson evidence mounts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police reportedly found a bloody ski mask in O.J. Simpson's mansion and the weapon believed used in the stabbing deaths of his ex-wife and a friend — a sharp, military-style digging tool.

Detectives also questioned witnesses who cast doubt on Simpson's alibi, and expanded their investigation halfway across the country, using metal detectors Thursday to search an overgrown, junk-strewn field near the Chicago hotel the former football star checked into hours after the bodies were found.

A homicide detective who spoke on condition of anonymity told The Associated Press that investigators had finished their reports and that Simpson's arrest was imminent. He would not elaborate.

The 46-year-old Simpson has denied any involvement in the slayings of Nicole Brown Simpson, 35, and Ronald Goldman, 25. Their bodies were found Sunday night outside Mrs. Simpson's condominium in the city's Brentwood section.

Police were analyzing the bloody military-style entrenching tool, which resembles a sharp-edged shovel, the Daily News of Los Angeles reported today, citing unidentified police sources. The newspaper did not say where the tool was found.

KCOP-TV, citing unidentified police sources, said that police found a bloody ski mask in Simpson's house. The station also said that police believe a military knife was used in the killings, but it did not elaborate.

The football Hall of Famer flew to Chicago from Los Angeles late Sunday for a business meeting, then returned a few hours later after he was told of his ex-wife's death.

Detective Bert Luper, one of two Los Angeles officers in Chicago investigating the slayings, said that someone who stopped at a gas station near the O'Hare Plaza Hotel in Chicago reported seeing a person who looked like Simpson in the field. Luper wouldn't say what searchers were looking for. A jogged by Mrs. Simpson's condo at about the time of the killings told a detective that a vehicle generally resembling Simpson's was parked across the street, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

"I saw a light-colored Ford Bronco or Blazer-type car," the woman, who requested anonymity, told the Times.

Monday wreck victim late in seeking help

ROBY — A 19-year-old Snyder man reportedly suffered broken vetebrae to his neck from a one-vehicle car accident early Sunday morning in Fisher County. Not until two days later, however, was the man's injury identified as such, authorities said.

"He said he was a little bit stiff (in the neck), but (said) he was all right...," said Kirk Williamson, the Fisher County Sheriff's deputy who found the victim at a ranchhouse near Hobbs on Tuesday morning.

The victim, Javier Alfaro, of 2711 Ave. F. in Snyder, did not receive medical treatment until later on Tuesday when the neck injury became apparent and his family took him to Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Alfaro was transferred by fixed-wing aircraft on Tuesday to University Medical Center in Lubbock, where he was listed in stable condition there today.

The accident occurred after Alfaro apparently lost control of his 1987 Pontiac Bonneville on U.S. Highway 180 about 12 miles west of Roby. The car, which ended up in Buffalo Creek, was demolished. Alfaro was the only occupant in the vehicle.

After the accident, Alfaro walked to a Hobbs-area ranchhouse owned by W.T. Martin of Sweetwater and fell asleep in a pickup truck parked inside a garage, authorities said.

An employee of the ranch, Richard Wright, reportedly discovered Alfaro at 6:53 a.m. Tuesday and requested a Fisher County Sheriff's deputy at the scene. Deputy Williamson provided Alfaro with a ride to Snyder.

Alfaro's parents had reported Alfaro missing on Monday through a phone call to Fisher County Sheriff's Office. Alfaro reportedly had been visiting his girlfriend in Roby. His parents had last spoken with him at 1 a.m. Sunday, according to the sheriff's office in Roby.

Peace officers work accidents, family disputes

Snyder area peace officers investigated a couple of major traffic accidents and responded to family disturbance calls Thursday.

A 19-year-old Lubbock woman received minor injuries in a one-vehicle rollover 11.7 miles southeast of Snyder on U.S. Highway 84 about 10 a.m.

Holly McGlaun Ward, driver of the 1993 Bravado, was taken by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Memorial Hospital, where she was treated for contusions and abrasions and released.

According to a DPS trooper, McGlaun was southbound on her way to Abilene when she apparently fell asleep. The vehicle went into the median, then back across both lanes of southbound traffic and hit the ditch, where it rolled before coming to a stop. Two passengers, also Lubbock residents, were not injured.

Two Scurry County residents also suffered minor injuries in a rollover along County Road 120 at about 3:30 p.m. Thursday. Thirty-six-year-old Mary Wright of 1946 CR 51 and 42-year-old Linda Dodson of 405 31st St. were transported by ambulance to Cogdell where they were treated for abrasions and contusions and released. Information on the accident was unavailable this morning.

Snyder police took a 24-year-old man into custody at Municipal Court at 10:04 a.m. and transported him to the jail to lay out fines for public intoxication.

A woman contacted police at 7:28 p.m. in reference to a female subject advising she had been involved in a disturbance with her 14-year-old son. Police made contact with the subject and filed a report for Class C assault/family violence.

Police were advised of several male juveniles involved in a fight at Towle Park at 9:10 p.m. Police units made contact with a 13-year-old victim and his mother and a report for Class C assault was submitted.

Police were called to the Kingswood Apartments at 2:11 a.m. today in reference to a family disturbance. A 33-year-old man was arrested for public intoxication.

Congress urged to pass crime bill

CHICAGO (AP) — Haunted by grim memories of children living in fear, President Clinton is urging Congress to deliver overdue crime legislation and "stick up for the right of people to be safe in their homes."

The president today was visiting the Robert Taylor Homes, the nation's largest housing project, to increase pressure on legislators to finish work on a crime bill he had once hoped to sign by Christmas.

Speaking at a Democratic fundraiser Thursday night, Clinton said his visit to the South Side towers was part of an effort "to try to bring safety and sanity to public housing in Chicago and throughout the United States."

The House and Senate have approved differing versions of crime legislation, and negotiators on Thursday began trying to craft a compromise that would put more police on the streets, build more prisons and create more crime-prevention programs.

Clinton has taken a particular interest in the massive Robert Taylor project since a federal judge ruled earlier this year that the Chicago Housing Authority had violated constitutional protections when it began searching apartments for guns without first obtaining search warrants.

Clinton supported the searches and said earlier this week he didn't mind making groups like the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Rifle Association mad "when we decided that we'd try to help sweep the housing projects in Chicago."

In March alone, 89 weapons, including 26 semi-automatic weapons, along with 1,700 rounds of ammunition were confiscated at the development, according to the White House. The 28 16-story buildings stretch out for miles and are home to 13,000 people. Residents complain of unremitting violence and gang activity.

The Clinton administration approved $2.8 million to help combat the problem and has worked with local authorities to put more police in the projects, ready vacant units for new residents, increase tenant patrols, renovate playgrounds and set up midnight basketball leagues for youth.

Clinton says he has never forgotten his 1991 visit to two other Chicago housing projects, Rockwell Gardens and ABLA, when he was Arkansas governor.

In a radio address earlier this year, he recalled the children he met there: "They talked of gunshots and drug dealers, of late-night knocks at their doors and hallways where they dared not stray.

Heat kills woman locked in garage

HOUSTON (AP) — An investigation has been launched into the death of a 29-year-old woman whose body temperatures rose to 107 degrees after attendants at a group home for the mentally retarded locked her in an unventilated garage.

Doctors said Caroline Perez died late Wednesday at Houston Northwest Medical Center of hyperthermia.

Lt. Bert Diaz of the Harris County Sheriff's Department said Ms. Perez was a resident of Trinity House, a state-funded intermediate-care home for the mentally retarded.

The woman "had a temper tantrum of some kind" Monday afternoon, and two attendants at the home locked her in an unventilated, detached garage behind the home, Diaz said. She was left unsupervised in the garage for four hours, he added.

When employees at the home checked on her later, they found she had vomited and was unresponsive. An ambulance was called, and Ms. Perez was taken to the hospital.

Doctors at the hospital initially were unaware of the garage incident. On Tuesday, they learned from another employee of the group home that Perez had been locked in the hot building. Doctors immediately called the Harris County Sheriff's Department.

Charges of injury to a disabled person, a third-degree felony, are being prepared against the attendants, Diaz said.

He said the sheriff's department and state agencies are looking into the backgrounds of the home and the two attendants for reports of similar incidents.

Regulations adopted by the Department of Human Services, which oversees group homes in Texas, prohibit locking a client in isolation unless "the client is under the direct constant visual supervision of designated staff."

The regulations also specify that when a person is being held inside a "time-out room," the door to that space should only be held shut by hand pressure of a staff member.

The regulations also warn that techniques for managing inappropriate client behavior "must never be used for disciplinary purposes or for the convenience of the staff."

Your Birthday

Saturday, June 18, 1994

Generally speaking, this could be a red-letter year for Geminis where material conditions are concerned. For example, you might do exceptionally well in joint ventures.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In order to advance your self-interests today, bolder measures than usual might be required. If you have the courage of your convictions, you should do OK. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Just when the end is in sight today, there is a possibility you might decide to alter your course for no particular valid reason. Don't try to fix things that aren't broken.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something in which you're presently involved has the potential to live up to your expectations. Don't lower your hopes just because others can't see the possibilities you can.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's your choice today. You can either spend your time working to earn money or waste your time blowing it. Whichever course you take, the results are apt to be impressive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The impression you make on others today will be much stronger than usual. What you do and say will be remembered, so be careful not to show anyone your bad side.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your biggest failing today could be your tendency to overreact, especially where smaller issues are concerned. Matters of significance are apt to be handled more adroitly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A partnership arrangement could work out reasonably well today if each person does what is expected of him or her. One weak link might create a problem you may be unable to mend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In order to succeed today, you must be tenacious and consistent. If you begin to deviate from your original plan of action, you may not have too much about which to brag at the end of the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your probabilities for success will be enhanced today if you are original and creative. Instead of mimicking someone else, use your own [illegible] and style.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Things you try to change today might backfire on you, while influences over which you have no control could make changes better for you than anything you could have designed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In an endeavor today that involves others, the person you thought would be a shoo-in to cooperate might not step forward. Fortunately, a surrogate might take his or her place.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Probabilities for generating favorable returns look good today, as long as you operate along traditional lines. If you try to make a profit from something fancy, you might fail.

Mauro linked to back taxes

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro had a financial interest in a half-dozen companies that owed franchise taxes to the state in 1992, when he filed for bankruptcy, according to state records.

Mauro, a Democrat being challenged by GOP nominee Marta Greytok, put his assets into a blind trust in 1985. He said investment decisions were made by his cousin, attorney Don Mauro.

The land commissioner filed under Chapter 7 of the bankruptcy code in 1992, leaving $3.4 million in debts. Much was related to real estate investments.

State records show franchise taxes were not paid on Mauro's companies, including Woodstone Athletic Attic Inc., Cellular of Texas-Austin Inc., American Blueline Inc., Wissman Inc., Wendler and Associates and Maroboe Inc., The Houston Post reported.

Mauro campaign spokesman Andres Gonzalez said, "When Garry went through bankruptcy, he asked a bankruptcy attorney to check into that and was told he had no tax liability at that point."

Mrs. Greytok, former chairwoman of the Public Utility Commission, last week paid $128.27 in franchise taxes for a small construction company that she ran that went out of business in the mid-1980s.

Also speaking at the convention were U.S. Senators from Texas, Phil Gramm and Kay Bailey Hutchison. Also, local delegates heard from Tom Haywood, candidate for District 30 state senate seat and Mac Thornberry, a Republican candidate for congress.

Clinton veto talk may get big test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton's grand goal of private health insurance for "every American" is in jeopardy in Congress, and he may soon have to decide whether he's willing to follow through on his threat to veto anything that falls short.

In both houses of Congress, key provisions of Clinton's bill designed to create universal coverage are under heavy attack as Democratic lawmakers work to protect small businesses and other interests in an election season.

Already, some Democratic lawmakers looking for compromise are working to redefine the words Clinton used when he issued his veto threat, while others urge him not to enforce it.

"I think we need to step back from that cliff," Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., says of the threat Clinton uttered in January. Boren, leaving Congress this year, says drafting a bill to achieve 91 percent coverage "is probably an acceptable level" and Congress could always make changes in the future.

"I'd find a way to not stress the veto threat," said Sen. Bob Kerrey, D-Neb. "I'd keep the pressure on because I think he's heading in the right direction, though."

Under one study that's often cited in the health care debate, 91 percent insurance coverage is roughly what could be achieved without forcing employers to finance the bulk of coverage for their workers. That provision in Clinton's bill is hotly controversial.

Sen. John Breaux, D-La., like Boren, a key swing vote on the Senate Finance Committee, also says something less than insurance for all could be considered universal coverage.

Labor economists view full employment at roughly 95 percent of the population, he says, and similar logic should apply to health care. He also cited a study estimating that if 91 percent of the public had health insurance, it would cover 97 percent of the costs. Since health reform is designed to control costs as well as expand coverage, Breaux suggests that, too, is a good definition of universal coverage.

"Universal coverage should be our goal and we should have a plan" for getting there, he says.

With a population estimated at 260 million, 95 percent coverage would leave 13 million Americans uninsured. Ninety-one percent would leave more than 23 million without coverage.

That would be a large improvement over the estimated 39 million who now go without insurance at some point during the year.

But it still would be a long way from Clinton's unambiguous wintertime rhetoric

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

SWIFT RETRIBUTION

ACTION WAS SWIFT WHEN A WRONG HAD BEEN COMMITTED AMONG THE ANCIENT INHABITANTS OF WHAT IS TERMED "THE BIBLE LANDS." THE IMMEDIACY, AND THE AVENGING BEHAVIOR WAS SOMETIMES RASH AND SOMETIMES A FAR CRY FROM JUSTICE. TAKE THE CASE OF DINAH, JACOB'S DAUGHTER BY HIS WIFE LEAH, WHOM SHECHEM, A PRINCE OF THE HIVITES, LOVED AND SEDUCED AND THEN OFFERED MARRIAGE. ANGRILY, JACOB REFUSED TO PERMIT THE MARRIAGE BECAUSE SHE HAD BEEN DEFILED. THE RESULTING CATASTROPHE (GENESIS CHAPTER 34) ENDED IN THE SLAYING OF SHECHEM, HIS FATHER HAMOR, AND ALL THE MALES OF THE CITY OF SHALEM. HARSH TREATMENT, INDEED! EQUALLY AS HARSH WOULD HAVE BEEN DAVID'S RESPONSE TO NABAL, THE WEALTHY SHEEP OWNER, WHEN HE REFUSED TO FEED DAVID AND HIS MEN AFTER THEY HAD PROTECTED HIS SHEEP FOR A LONG PERIOD OF TIME (I SAMUEL CHAPTER 25). DAVID, WITH A CONTINGENT OF HIS MEN, WAS RAPIDLY DESCENDING ON NABAL'S DOMICILE, WITH THE EXPRESS PURPOSE OF WIPING HIM OUT, WHEN ABIGAIL, WIFE OF NABAL, INTERCEDED BY DELIVERING THE FOODSTUFF TO THE INDIGNANT AND RUTHLESS MEN. HOWEVER, NABAL'S OWN FEARS DID WHAT DAVID'S MEN PROPOSED TO DO--HE DROPPED DEAD OF FRIGHT! OF COURSE NOT ALL RETRIBUTION WAS AS HASTY AND HARSH AS THIS...CONSIDER THE WISE AND JUST ACTIONS OF MEN LIKE SOLOMON AND JOSEPH!
