3-2 vote names third...

2 new members to hospital board

County commissioners voted among themselves Monday morning to fill three expiring positions on the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Board, naming at vote's end two new members to the appointed body which governs the facility's operation.

New members will be Jack Denman, the recently retired head of the Sun Gas plant here; and Ralph Price, one of four brothers who operate the partnership Price Brothers of Snyder Inc.

John Jarrell, executive vice president and manager for Ezell-Key, was re-appointed to the board by a split 3-2 vote. County Judge Preston Wilson was required to cast the deciding vote for Jarrell.

Of the three board members with expiring terms, only Jarrell had agreed to serve again, Wilson noted.

A.Z. Glover, board president the past several years, and Sam Cross, a longtime hospital board member, had both indicated they would prefer not to serve another term.

To fill the three positions, commissioners offered nominations during discussion Monday.

Ex-auditor charges politics

At Monday's morning session of the commissioners court, Gwen Sealy — who was replaced as county auditor here Dec. 31 by District Judge Gene Dulaney — aimed a verbal blast at the newly named judge and the man he appointed to fill her post.

At the time, the decision to replace Sealy was characterized as a surprise announcement by courthouse insiders.

Following the decision to name Bernhard Bartels as the new auditor, Sealy had agreed to serve as an assistant in the office she had headed since Aug. 1, 1982. She had been connected with the auditor's office for some 10 years here.

Monday, however, she tenured her resignation for that post, and used the occasion to direct strong criticism at both Dulaney and Bartels, who had shared the local Republican ticket during this past November General Election.

On that ballot, Dulaney won out over his Democratic opponent and Bartels was defeated in his bid for a second term as county commissioner for Pct. 3.

Sealy read her letter of resignation to the five-member court, then handed each commissioner and County Judge Preston Wilson a copy of her letter.

Copies of it were provided to both the SDN and KSNY radio also.

Following her reading of the letter, she left the commissioner's meeting. Bartels, who was present, commented "I thought we might possible work together."

He added, "since the position is appointed, her replacement shouldn't have been a 100 percent shock."

At the time of the appointment, Dulaney denied that his decision followed party lines. He noted that Bartels had contacted him about the job and that he had asked both he and Sealy to submit resumes to him.

He pointed to Bartels bookkeeping experience and his college degree as the determining factors in his selection.

In her letter, however, Sealy charged "politics" as the main factor in her replacement.

The following is a transcript of the letter:

"I, Gwen Sealy--Assistant County Auditor--hereby resign. I am resigning because of health reasons--I have been stabbed in the back and my throat cut. It is called Politics. I got it Dec. 31, 1984--just two years before I could retire!!

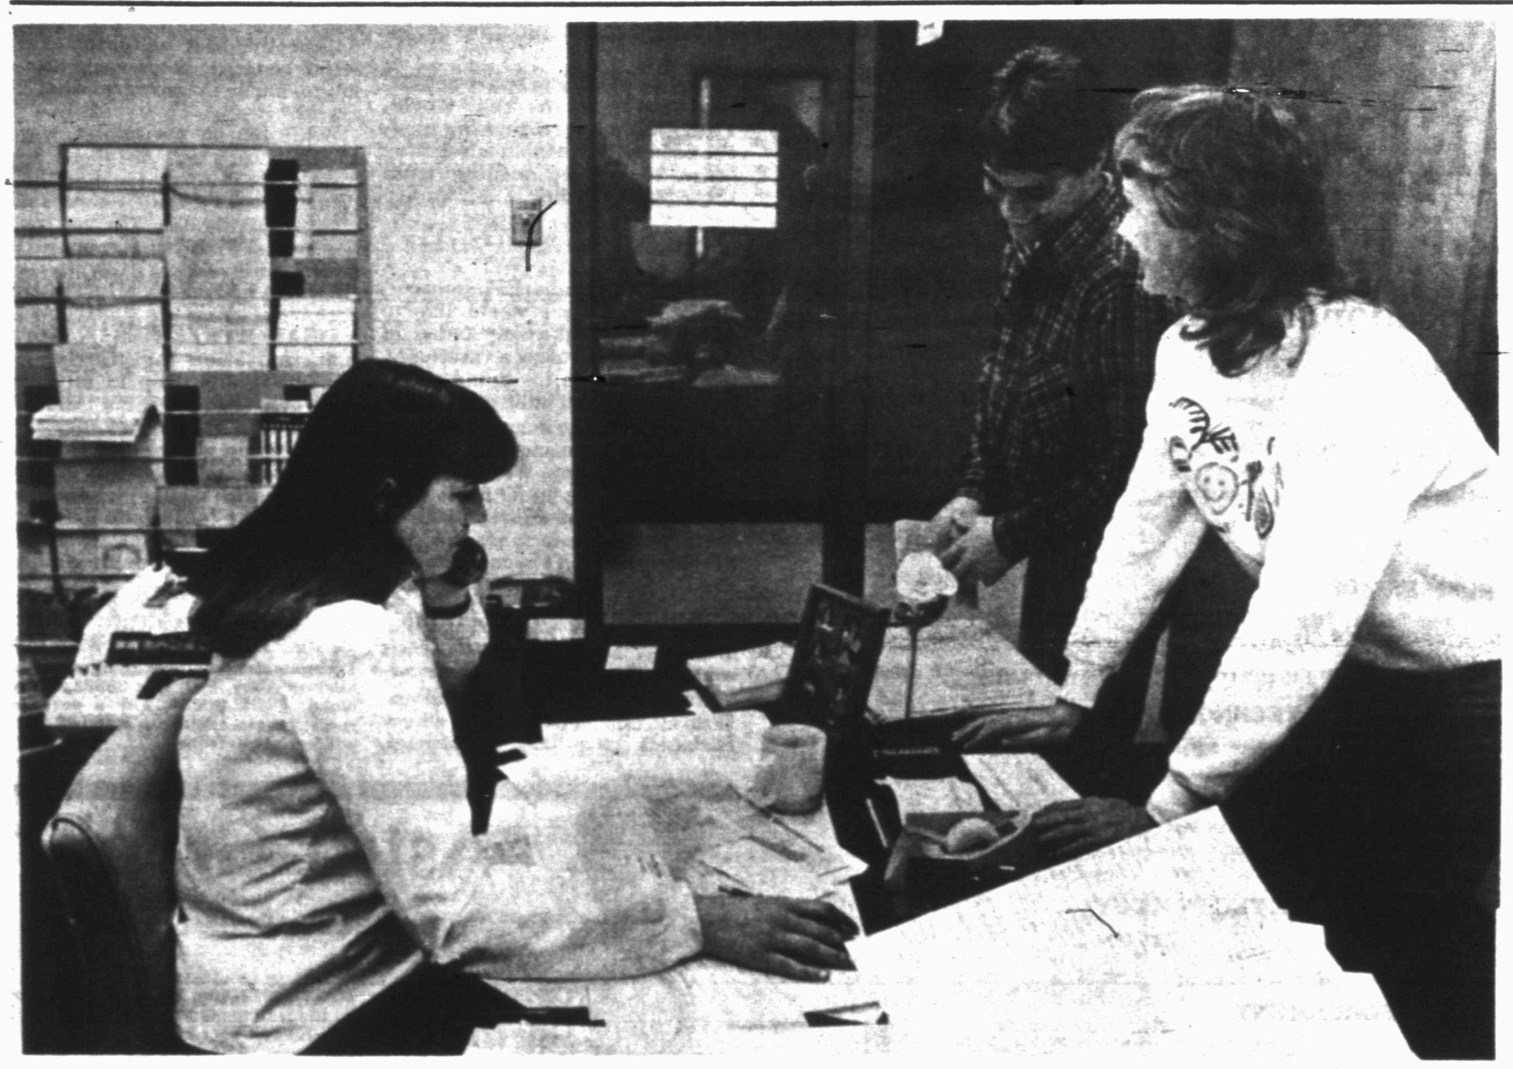

A few days after the November, 1984 election I talked to Gene Dulaney and asked him if I could continue as County Auditor for 1985-86. Without hesitation, he said yes. He said I was doing a good job and that he had no intention of making any

Freshman register tomorrow

Freshmen were to register Tuesday at Western Texas College from 9 a.m. until noon — a class signup which follows sophomore registration slated for Monday afternoon.

Evening students were to sign up Monday also, from 6:30 until 8 p.m.

The evening schedule for classes this term at WTC is included in this issue of the Snyder Daily News.

Dormitories at the college were to open Monday also.

Any student not registered by noon Tuesday may do so between 1 and 5 p.m. that day.

To register, students should first report to the Learning Resource Center to verify an admissions form on file or to fill out such a form.

They will then go to the Student Center to fill out class schedules.

As a change this year, any student with a grade report from the fall or mid-winter term may go directly to the Student Center. They should bring the grade report, however, as a verification of admission.

Classes for the spring semester at WTC begin Wednesday.

Reagan's budget 'dead on arrival'?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Democratic leader says President Reagan's new budget is "dead before arrival" on Capitol Hill and that Democrats will wait to take action on deficit reduction until Senate Republicans and the president can agree.

But Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., says the Democrats "can't take a walk on this."

Meanwhile, White House budget director David A. Stockman acknowledged Sunday that the budget Reagan submits to Congress on Feb. 4 will not meet the president's goal of slicing the deficit to less than $100 billion by 1988 — a level roughly equal to 2 percent of the gross national product.

Stockman, appearing on ABC's "This Week," said "I don't know that we're going to hit that target on the head."

Senate Republicans already have begun private meetings aimed at coming up with a plan that would meet the goal, but Stockman emphasized that the Senate action does not mean the president has given up on the issue.

Stockman said the budget Reagan submits to Congress will meet the short term goal of holding overall spending for next year at this year's level. That would be accomplished through freezing some programs and cutting or eliminating others, many of which are politically popular.

The budget director also said that without action, budget deficits will be $225 billion to $240 billion in each of the next three years.

Rep. Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo., chairman of the House Democratic Caucus, said Democrats have yet to see a consensus emerging between the president and the Senate Republicans on how they will proceed. And until a consensus is reached, Democrats will bide their time.

"We will not act until this president tells us what he wants and until the Senate has done something with that budget," Gephardt said on the ABC show. "They (the Republicans) have the burden of acting. They won the presidency."

Gephardt also said the action by Senate Republicans to write their own plan now shows there is no support for the budget plan Reagan has been preparing.

"Now we believe that the president's budget that he's working on is really going to be dead before arrival," said Gephardt.

Meanwhile, Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, guaranteed there would be significant deficit-reduction action in the Senate.

"We're hoping it will be something the president can support because we've taken his (budget) to begin with and built on it," said Domenici in a separate appearance on the ABC show.

In an interview with a group of reporters on Saturday, Dole conceded, "If anything's going to happen, it's going to happen first on our side, on the Senate side."

Gephardt said Democrats "don't put anything off the table. We're willing to look at any proposal. Everything is on the table including defense and Social Security and tax increases."

Snyder trustees slate calling April election

School trustees Monday are slated to officially call the spring election here which will decide two seats on the Snyder ISD board.

The action will be part of the January agenda with the regular meeting to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building.

It will be preceded at 6 p.m. by a special meeting called to complete the evaluation process for Superintendent Bob Hawes.

Consideration of the superintendent's contract is also included on the January agenda list.

Concerning the school vote, the board will appoint an election judge and absentee clerks as well as vote regarding the polling location.

Two positions will be expiring on the Snyder school board — Lillie Sullivan, place 1; and Leslie Butler, place 2.

Trustees serve three-year terms. Sullivan is completing her second three-year term and Butler his first term.

The first day to file for either position is Feb. 4 and the last day is March 6. Absentee voting will be conducted from March 18 through April 2 and the election is scheduled for April 6.

BCD switch is revealed

A charter member of the Scurry County Board of County Development — Guy Sullivan — has indicated his wish to step down from that position.

Monday morning, county commissioners appointed in his place David Thompson, owner of Thompson's Shoe Store here and an immediate past director with the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, Clyde Hall was reappointed to again serve on the board. Other members are Arel (Red) Faver, Dale Stuard and Morris Light.

College trustees to consider bids

Western Texas College trustees will meet at 4:30 p.m. Monday to consider several new business items as well as several information and discussion topics.

Under new business three bid items will be considered including chairs and tables for the cafeteria, computers, and electrical meters.

Trustees will also consider approval of a revision to policy 8251. In essence the revision concerns conflicts of interest among board members. For instance, a company that a trustee is associated with may submit bids as long as the trustee makes the association known and abstains from voting on that item.

Also on the agenda are two proposals submitted by Dr. Don Newbury concerning the Region V basketball tournament which will be held at the college. The first concerns a name change and the second concerns an honors program to be associated with it.

The president's report will include information on the mid-winter session and prospects for the spring semester.

Also on the agenda is consideration of a suggestion to change construction of a three-bedroom duplex to a two-bedroom duplex.

Dollar climbs

LONDON (AP) — The dollar marched to record levels against the British pound and a seven-year high against the Swiss franc today, prompting action by the Bank of England to stem sterling's fall. Gold rose in Hong Kong but was down in Europe.

The American currency hit its highest point against the Japanese yen since November 1982.

The British pound, which also is being weakened by falling oil prices that cut Britain's North Sea revenue, hit $1.10 early today in Hong Kong trading before recovering to $1.11.

But at midmorning in London, the Bank of England stepped in to announce reimposition of its minimum lending rate, suspended in August 1981.

Local

Absentee end

Ballots may be cast at Snyder City Hall from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Eleven ballots had been cast absentee as of 10 a.m. Monday.

Bullock rep

A representative from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office will be in Snyder Wednesday to answer questions related to state taxes.

Tax representative Vanessa Zientek will meet with local taxpayers at the courthouse jury room on the third floor from 1 until 3 p.m.

Questions regarding the state tax may also be asked using a toll-free telephone number in Austin. The number is (800) 252-5555.

Coincidence led ranger to rescue girl

DALLAS (AP) — A series of coincidences put Texas Ranger John Dendy into a position to become a hero to Alvarado banker Don McNeil early Sunday when Dendy raced through a hail of gunfire to rescue the banker's 13-year-old daughter from kidnappers who had demanded a $100,000 ransom.

Dendy, 54, who was a Texas Department of Public Safety trooper for 17 years before joining the elite force of Texas Rangers in 1973, is normally stationed at Stephenville, west of Fort Worth.

Dendy's wife, Vinita, said it was pure coincidence that her husband became involved in the investigation in the abduction at gunpoint Friday of Amy McNeil.

"We just so happened to be in Waco for a Rangers company meeting when they got word of it (the kidnapping). So he went to work on it with the other Rangers," Mrs. Dendy told the Dallas Times Herald Sunday.

Dendy and several other Rangers, FBI agents and Johnson County officers were among those chasing a car occupied by five kidnappers and the kidnap victim.

The chase started in Mount Pleasant when officers noticed a vehicle approach McNeil's car as he waited to pay the ransom.

A chase ensued and Dendy was in the second Rangers car involved in the pursuit that reached speeds of 100 mph and continued across three Northeast Texas counties.

Officers said that when the kidnappers started firing at the pursuing officers, the first car in the convoy was disabled after being struck in the windshield and radiator.

Dendy's car then moved to the front.

The chase ended outside a house near Saltillo when the car being driven by the kidnappers ran out of gas. Two men jumped out and started firing at the officers.

It was then that Dendy was able to race to the car, grab the girl and lead her to safety.

Dendy is a hero to McNeil.

"God bless him. He and everyone who worked on the case were just remarkable," McNeil said.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Doug Todd had a simple explanation for the heroism.

"A Ranger saw an opportunity. He was in the right place at the right time," Todd said. "That what they are trained to do."

Dendy was exhausted and relieved after the chase and shootout, Todd said.

Freeze causes outages, closures

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — An Arctic cold front that threatened vegetation in the Rio Grande Valley has begun to loosen its grip after forcing the closure of some roads and causing sporadic power outages.

But one farmer says that it's too early to predict if Saturday's overnight freeze severely damaged any of the major crops as one did in late 1983.

"It's still freezing or near freezing at least at the thawing stage," Glenn Fankhauser of Mission said Sunday. "It's hard to tell anything for several days."

Temperatures in the Valley dipped below freezing late Saturday and nasty weather forced the closure of U.S. Highway 83 from Brownsville to Weslaco and U.S. Highway 77 from Brownsville to Sebastien.

The frontage roads, however, were open, authorities said.

Sporadic power outages also were reported throughout the Valley late Saturday and all day Sunday. Water pressure in parts of Brownsville were low Sunday night and some residents were completely without water and electricity.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman, raising three children under 15, which is not easy, but that's another lot.

This is about a problem I've had since my divorce four years ago. My ex-husband, who lives on the West Coast, has promised our children many wonderful gifts for Christmas—none of which he has ever delivered.

He has called them in October promising to send plane tickets so they could spend Christmas with him! None came, of course. Every year he asks them what they want for their birthdays. They've told him, and received nothing.

I have never talked against him because I think it's important for children to respect their father, but it's growing more difficult to make excuses for him when he keeps disappointing them year after year. His broken promises are breaking their hearts. And mine, too.

If you print this, he may realize how we feel.

IN PIECES IN NEW YORK

DEAR IN PIECES: Why protect him with excuses? Your children will soon conclude (if they haven't already) that their father's word doesn't mean anything.

Facing reality prepares children to live in the real world. Though it's heartbreaking now, the pain will diminish when they learn to expect nothing from their phony father.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to congratulate that young father of two who decided to get a vasectomy. (He's so hard up his grandmother pays his rent and utilities.)

He is a real man in my book. I was advised by my doctor not to have any more children. We have three, and we're saving up for me to have an operation that will cost twice as much as a vasectomy for my husband. He won't even discuss it, and the doctor says not to push him. How about all the times I'm "pushed" to have sex when I'm afraid my birth control might not work?

I'm getting to resent him and sex. I envy my girlfriends whose husbands have had vasectomies. They are real men!

CONSTANTLY WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Quit worrying about birth control methods that might not work, and hot-foot it to your family planning clinic. And don't lay all the blame on your husband. Real women say no when they feel they're being "pushed" or not properly protected.

DEAR ABBY: When you get an invitation that reads, "Join us for some Christmas cheer from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.," what is that supposed to mean? Should you arrive at 6 p.m. and stay until 9? Or does it mean you can arrive anytime after 6 p.m., but you're not supposed to stay after 9 p.m.?

My husband says it means you can arrive anywhere between 6 and 9, but that doesn't make any sense because if you arrive at 8:55 p.m., you certainly wouldn't want to leave at 9.

Also, what is "Christmas cheer"? A cocktail party with hors d'oeuvres? Or should you expect enough in the way of refreshments to call it a meal? Don't say, "Call the hostess and/or the host and ask." That would be tacky. Yet it would help a lot to know in advance what to expect.

While I'm on the subject, when someone calls on the phone and invites you to a party, and you ask, "How should I dress?" I always get a vague answer like, "Oh, just wear anything." What is that supposed to mean?

HOLIDAY SEASON MYSTERIES

DEAR MYSTERIES: A 6-to-9 p.m. invitation for "Christmas cheer" means drop in anytime between 6 and 9 for a "drink" and snacks—no dinner.

And when you're told to wear "just anything," it means gentlemen should wear jackets and ties and the ladies should dress up a little, but it's not necessary to go to the vault for the family jewels.

Things are not what they seem

By James Jacoby

Great defense is like the tricks of a master magician. The defenders create an illusion for an audience of one — the declarer. He takes the illusion for reality and acts accordingly. Canadians Mittelman and Graves were the illusionists of today's deal.

Mittelman knew that his partner often made ragged overcalls at the one level. Since Graves had not overcalled one spade, he probably had fewer than five. But he could have five clubs and have been unable to butt in at the dangerous two level. And so the 10 of clubs hit the table. East won the ace and returned the club two. This was the first illusion. East appeared to have started with four clubs to the A-Q.

Declarer won the club jack and played the ace of diamonds, and the queen from West popped up like a rabbit out of a hat. If that was a singleton, it meant East had four diamonds to the 10, and it would be fatal for declarer to give up a diamond to East. Accordingly South started on spades. West held up the ace until the third round and then continued clubs. Our unfortunate declarer, still convinced that the queen of diamonds was singleton, hoped that clubs would be 4-4 and that a lucky heart guess would bring in his ninth trick. He threw diamonds from dummy on the club king and the fourth spade, and then led a heart. East's heart ace won and declarer was down two.

Perhaps South should not have fallen for the defenders' stratagems, but give the Canadians credit. They created an illusion, and it worked.

Winter bathing

Some people find that bubble bath powders cause a dry, itchy feeling instead of the smooth skin feel they're supposed to give.

Other women find that bath oils bother their skin instead of helping it. The cause may be the fragrances used in both bubble bath powders and bath oils.

Try plain kitchen washing soda, the kind you put in the refrigerator to absorb odors. Soda is a water softener, but having no fragrance, it may be neutral to the skin.

Insect-eating bats may eat 12 insects a minute, and as many as 3,000 insects a night. A large bat colony may consume billions of insects in one evening.

Passport

Passport derives from two French words, "passer," to pass, and "port," meaning a harbor. Originally granting permission to enter a nation's ports, the documents were issued to ships as well as people. The earliest passports were "letters of transit," written by rulers and other authorities to identify prominent individuals who carried them.

LAFF-A-DAY

"We want to keep you under wraps until Saturday's game so try to keep a low profile."

DENNIS THE MENACE

At 6 and 8 tonight...

WTC teams host Clarendon

Western Texas College's Westerners went into the holiday break after a loss to Odessa and opened 1985 by falling to Kilgore and Tyler. Coach Phil Spradling says it's time for a change.

"The fans are going to see a different Western Texas basketball team tonight," said Spradling, whose Westerners take on Clarendon College in the second half of a double-header at Scurry County Coliseum. "We're going to be playing hard. We're going to be changing defenses. We're going to be playing hard and with spirit everytime from now on," he predicted.

Tonight's Western JC Athletic Conference action tips off at 6 when Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters entertain Clarendon. The men take the court at 8.

Said Spradling of the losses to Kilgore and Tyler, "It was kind of a blessing in disguise because we know we have to play hard every night. We're surely not going to overlook Clarendon. All we've been practicing for is them. We want to make it to regionals. And we have to start tonight."

Westerners vs Clarendon

The Bulldogs are led by Adam Richards' 12.3 points and 6.7 rebounds. Not a prolific scoring team, the 6-10 'Dogs average just under 65 points a game. They have allowed an average of 68 and are shooting .474 from the field and .593 from the line.

Carl Curry is one of the conference's leading shot-blockers. He had 23 going into the holiday break.

The Westerners will counter with the league's hottest scoring team. WTC averages 94.5 points while shooting .565 from the field. The Westerners, 12-7, are giving up 79 points a game.

James Dawn, a 6-5 freshman, leads the balanced attack with 17.3 points and 6.8 rebounds. Three other players average in double figures for Western. Sophomores Floyd Singleton and Victor Spencer average 13.8 and 10.9 points while freshman Alvin Hicks averages 12.6.

Western is 2-2 in conference play. Clarendon is 0-4.

In addition to beefing up the intensity, the Westerners will also be sporting new uniforms for tonight's contest.

Dusters vs Clarendon

Western Texas' Dusters boast a 19-4 season record and are 2-1 in conference play.

The Dusters are averaging 73.3 points and allowing 63, while shooting .433 from the field and .590 from the line.

Clara Campbell, a 6-2 sophomore, leads the team with 16.8 points and 11.1 rebounds. Teammates Patti Hayes, Lyndy French and Renvy Evans average 12.2 points, 10.2 points and 10.0 points, respectively. All three are sophomores.

Pam Walker ignites the Lady Bulldogs with 21 points and 8.5 boards. Yolanda Terry is averaging 13.4 points. Tia Stewart is pulling down 7.7 rebounds.

Offensively, the 11-3 Bulldogs are averaging 72 points while hitting .464 from the field and .596 from the floor. They are allowing 62 points a game.

SHS plays 'Stangs in 2-4A Tuesday

Snyder and Sweetwater jump center court Tuesday in a pair of matchups that could have major influence in the final District 2-4A standings.

Both schools are currently tied for second place in their respective girls-boys divisions.

Coach Larry Scott's Tigers will throw out the welcome mat as they host the Mustangs at 8 o'clock in Scurry County Coliseum. Action is to start with a game between Snyder sophomores and the Jayton junior varsity at 4:30 and will be followed by Snyder and Sweetwater junior varsity teams at 6:15.

Snyder is 7-12 for the season while Sweetwater is 2-2. The Mustangs got a late start from an extended football season. Both teams are 2-1 in District 2-4A play.

Snyder girls will travel to Sweetwater for an 8 o'clock start. A junior varsity tilt is set for 6:30.

Snyder's Lady Tigers are 15-4 for the season and 4-1 in district play. Sweetwater, the state's No. 7 ranked team, is 17-2 and 4-1.

SHS Athletic Director Dennis Tomlin noted that last Saturday's games with Fort Stockton - postponed due to weather - have been rescheduled. They will be played this Saturday, Jan. 19. The girls will host Fort Stockton junior varsity and varsity at 1 and 2:30 in the high school gym while the boys will play in Fort Stockton at 6 - varsity only.

SMU nips Tar Heels; Tech bops Rice Owls

by The Associated Press

It's a good thing the Southern Methodist Mustangs don't have to play again until next Saturday.

It will take them that long to come down from their 84-82 victory over favored North Carolina in Greensboro, N.C., on Sunday with a national television audience (CBS) watching the Carl Wright and Jon Koncak show.

Wright scored 18 points and Koncak had 31 before they were whistled out of the game with five fouls.

"It was a tremendous victory for our basketball program," said John Underwood, the Mustangs' assistant under Dave Bliss.

Bliss agreed, saying, "We've finally learned the secret of winning games like that. We kept our poise."

The preseason favorite Mustangs are off to a 4-0 start in SWC play with road victories at Rice and Texas A&M and home triumphs over Baylor and Arkansas.

"I told the players after we lost to Chaminade in Hawaii that it was important we come back and concentrate hard on a quick start in conference games. I told them pretend it's a four game season until we got North Carolina and they did." said Bliss. "They did that and now we have a week to get ready for TCU."

The Mustangs don't have another game until the Texas Christian Horned Frogs come calling at noon next Saturday. The game will be televised regionally over the Raycom Network.

The Horned Frogs served notice they will be troublesome by ripping Baylor 84-68 on Saturday in Daniel Meyer Coliseum at Fort Worth.

Also on Sunday, Texas Tech kept in good position in the SWC race with a 78-54 rout of the Rice Owls in Lubbock.

Arkansas took over undisputed possession of second place with a 64-58 victory over the Texas Longhorns. The Razorbacks are 3-1.

The Houston Cougars, who are 2-1 in league play, fell to DePaul 69-58 on Saturday in a nationally televised game that would have helped polish the SWC's national image.

Houston Coach Guy Lewis said the Cougars were killed on the boards by the Blue Demons who outrebounded them 45-30.

"Our inside people didn't play very strong and tough and their's did," Lewis said.

For Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, it was his 250th victory as the boss of the Razorbacks.

"I might not be here for 250 more if we play like we did in the second half," Sutton said. "We played well in the first half then got into too much of a hurry in the second half. We shouldn't have let Texas get as close as it did."

The SWC race is quiet this week until Wednesday.

Arkansas must travel to Lubbock where the Texas Tech Red Raiders are always menacing and Houston plays cross-town rival Rice in Autry Gymnasium. Other games show Texas A&M at TCU and Texas at Baylor.

McEnroe races past Lendl

NEW YORK (AP) - John McEnroe cruised by Ivan Lendl 7-5, 6-0, 6-4 Sunday to capture his second consecutive $400,000 Volvo Masters tennis championship.

The victory was worth $100,000 to McEnroe, the world's No. 1 player. Lendl, of Czechoslovakia, who was seeded third in the 12-player field, earned $60,000.

It was the third straight year McEnroe and Lendl had met in the final of this season-ending tournament, and the fifth consecutive time the Czech right-hander had reached the final.

But McEnroe was in total command of his awesome and extensive arsenal, and easily disposed of Lendl who had ousted second-seeded Jimmy Connors in Saturday's semifinals.

Unsolved slayings on mind of church's congregation

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The fear that has gripped Fort Worth after the disappearances of at least nine women since September runs a bit deeper in the third-floor classroom that is home to Broadway Baptist Church's singles group each Sunday.

Kathryn Jackson, a 32-year-old schoolteacher, was a regular at the group — until her murder.

"When you sit there and there is an empty chair, it's very hard," Britton Wood, a church member who works with the singles group, said Sunday. "There is a general anxiety in the group right now. When someone who sat next to you isn't here, and there isn't any reason, you wonder why."

Of the nine unsolved murders or disappearances targeted in an intensive police probe, three were members of Broadway Baptist, one of the oldest and largest churches in Fort Worth, and a fourth had attended services with a friend.

While the faithful at Broadway Baptist steadfastly believe their church of 2,500 people has no connection to the deaths, police are checking the church's membership list, but say it's only a routine part of the investigation.

On Sunday, after local news reports of the case keyed to the church membership of three of the women, church officials and members stood ready to defend their congregation.

"The emotion has been more visible. There have been tears shed together," said Malcolm Edwards, the church's administrator. "But there's no way there's a link to the church. None of the three knew each other, two didn't attend. It's something we think the police should look at, but not the media."

No mention of the case was made during the service Sunday, although the congregation said one prayer regarding the "evil (that) lurks in the shawdows of our city."

"The only impact that this has had on our church is that the grief is much deeper because there are more unanswered questions," said associate pastor Gene Thompson. "There is a deeper shock element because of this case."

Thompson presided Saturday at the burial of the latest victim, Lisa Lyn Griffin, 20, a church member. The church's membership roster also included Regina Suzanne Grover, 21, whose body was found Dec. 23. Angela Ewert, 21, who had attended the church at times with a friend, disappeared the night of Dec. 10.

The victims — all single and ranging in age from 15 to 34 — had little in common. Five disappeared within a six-mile radius of each other on the city's southwest side and form the core of the investigation. None knew each other — including the three Broadway members.

"We don't put much stock in the possibility that the church is the link," said Karen Campbell, a member. "The connections are just too thin."

Still, many fear the unknown.

"People are afraid," said Tricia Hamilton, 15. "Our school is having a self-defense class, and when I go out, I have to go out with two or more people and check in all the time. Everyone's concerned."

Spring semester classes start today at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, and students will be getting a letter from Chancellor William E. Tucker.

Taxpayers take note of changes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This first article in a series of five on preparing 1984 income tax returns covers changes from last year.

By JIM LUTHER
AP Tax Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Americans will find their federal tax bills a little smaller when they file returns this year but several selected tax increases will be felt for the first time.

Many Social Security recipients will have to pay tax on their pensions. Non-prescription drugs are no longer deductible. If your earnings rose sharply in 1984, it will be more difficult to reduce your taxes by "income averaging." And tighter rules restrict tax benefits for cars, computers and other equipment whose use is divided between business and personal use.

Before the year is over, the Internal Revenue Service expects to receive 101.4 million individual returns, up from 96.9 million last year. The great majority of those will be filed before the April 15 deadline and perhaps 80 percent of them will produce refunds.

The final stage of the individual tax-rate reductions enacted in 1981 took effect last year but you won't have to do anything to take advantage of them when you file your return. The changes, averaging about 5 percent below 1983 rates, already are built into the tax tables and tax-rate schedules from which you calculate how much you owe.

Here are some of the other major changes affecting individuals and couples:

SOCIAL SECURITY: As part of the plan to shore up the pension system, Congress voted to tax some of the Social Security checks received by upper-and middle-income Americans. In general, up to half of Social Security is taxable if total income exceeds $25,000 for a single person or $32,000 for a couple filing a joint return.

MEDICAL EXPENSES: Medical and dental expenses exceeding 5 percent of your adjusted gross income may be deducted if you itemize deductions. This filing season, there are two changes: Non-prescription drugs may no longer be deducted; only prescriptions and insulin qualify. Second, you may deduct up to $50 a night for lodging expenses incurred while being treated in an out-of-town hospital or clinic.

INCOME AVERAGING: A person whose income fluctuates sharply from one year to the next, such as a farmer or writer, may save on taxes by averaging the successful year against poorer years. Now, it is harder to do. To qualify, your 1984 earnings must have been at least 40 percent above the average of 1981-1983. See Schedule G for details.

CONTRIBUTIONS: If you don't itemize deductions, you still may take a write-off for part of the money you give to charity. For 1984, the maximum is $75.

RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS: Last year, you could delay making your 1983 deposit to an Individual Retirement Account until you actually filed your tax return; for some people, that meant as late as Aug. 15. The new law says you have only until April 15 to make your 1984 IRA contribution — regardless of when you file your return.

DIESEL: The federal tax on diesel went up to 15 cents a gallon last Aug. 1. But the 6-cent increase is aimed at big trucks, not at cars or small trucks. So if on Jan. 1, 1985, you owned a 1979 or later-model diesel car, van or light truck, you may claim a one-time credit by attaching Form 4136 to your return. Form 4136.

CARS AND COMPUTERS: It is tougher to write off a home computer, car or other equipment that is used only partially for business. If you are an employee, you may deduct a computer, for example, only if your boss requires you to buy it. A self-employed person will fare better, but still tax benefits are severely limited unless the equipment is used more than half the time for business.

CAPITAL GAINS: Preferential tax treatment on profits from the sale of stocks or other assets now applies to property owned more than six months — if it was bought after June 22, 1984. The previous minimum holding period was more than 18 months.

NEXT: Charity and IRAs.

Virus can cause hearing loss

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A year and a half ago I had a sudden loss of hearing. I developed ringing in my ears and dizziness, and within six days I was deaf in my right ear. I have been examined by an ear specialist and nothing was found that would explain it. The deafness cannot be helped with a hearing aid since there is absolutely no hearing at all.

I'm just 27 and am anxious to learn as much about this as possible. Can my condition be helped with surgery? It is a major problem when people speak to me on the right side.

DEAR READER — Your story is unique. The most likely explanation is that you had a viral infection of the inner ear that involved the cochlea. That is the little snail-shaped organ that receives stimuli from sound waves and converts them into nerve impulses. A viral infection can cause a sudden, and sometimes complete, loss of hearing. The involvement of the joining balance canals also can cause dizziness. In that case, little can be done now to correct the damage.

That does not mean that nothing can be done. If your left ear is OK, you can use it to hear on your right side. This can be done with a CROS (contralateral routing of signal) hearing aid. You can wear a small inconspicuous microphone on the right side of your head. You can have the sound it picks up transmitted, via FM to your left ear, where a pickup will relay it to your good ear. Or a fine wire can be run from the microphone to the left-ear receiver.

Talk to an audiologist who dispenses hearing aids to work this out. Don't try this without having a qualified audiologist help you get a model that suits your needs.

No, surgery cannot help you with this type of hearing loss. Cochlear implants are being tried, but at this stage you will do better by using your one good ear, since it will not distort the sound.

To help you, I am sending you The Health Letter 16-8, Your Vital Hearing. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is 63, had bypass surgery and takes Inderal. I'm 57 and have asthma. What kind of vitamins should we take? Our family doctor does not believe in vitamins. What is the best daily vitamin you can recommend? Our 15-year-old granddaughter is staying with us. Should she take the same vitamins that we take?

DEAR READER — An excess intake of vitamins will not help you, your husband or your granddaughter. I much prefer that people get their vitamins from good wholesome foods. One purpose of a balanced diet is to provide the vitamins you need.

However, I realize that most people are not happy with that concept, regardless of how sound it is, and some people simply will not eat a balanced diet. For those reasons, I recommend any of the daily all-purpose vitamins as a supplement if you really want to take vitamins. One-A-Day is a good choice, but any other preparation that contains the RDA (recommended daily dietary allowance) without a lot of other items is fine. That will supplement your diet.

Yes, your granddaughter can take them too. However, if all of you follow a balanced diet, you also will get the trace minerals you need.

Protest new IRS recordkeeping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Envisioning stacks of paperwork as high as an elephant's eye, farmers, shop owners, moonlighters and major corporations are demanding the Internal Revenue Service weaken new regulations that require detailed recordkeeping on business use of motor vehicles.

The regulations, imposed on orders of Congress, are designed to keep people from claiming a business-related tax deduction for a purely personal expense, such as a pleasure trip in a business vehicle.

— "I invite you to ride in a one-ton pickup all day and see how much pleasure you derive from it," Adkins Farms Inc. of Chandlerville, Ill., said in a letter to the IRS.

But business deductions have never been allowed for personal expenditures. What is upsetting taxpayers now is the requirement that they keep "adequate contemporaneous records" of every business use of a vehicle — including boats, planes and motorcycles — and of personal computers for which some business deduction is claimed.

The rules also demand contemporaneous records for deductions for business use of a home computer. In essence, the owner will have to keep a log of all computer use and claim a deduction only for the business portion.

Another new law prohibits an employee from deducting a home computer unless the equipment is used for the employer's convenience and is required as a condition of employment. Deductions are limited for self-employed people whose home computers are used less than half the time for business.

In the past, a person whose expense records were incomplete could use other evidence to support deductions. But no more. If you claim a deduction that is not supported by contemporaneous records you lose the deduction and face a 5-percent negligence penalty as well. A 50-percent fraud penalty is possible.

The regulations do not define "contemporaneous" except to say that an entry "shall be made at or near to the time the listed property is actually used." But clearly, they prohibit creation of a log a month after expenses are incurred.

Commissioners make appointments

Denman was nominated by C.D. Gray Jr., commissioner Pct. 3; Price by Eldon Perry, commissioner Pct. 1; Jarrell by Judge Wilson; and a fourth nomination from Ted Billingsley, commissioner Pct. 4, who suggested Joe Jackson, vice president here with American State Bank.

Commissioners took a secret ballot among themselves with Denman and Price each receiving four votes; and Jarrell and Jackson two each.

Wilson then cast the deciding ballot for Jarrell.

Other hospital board members are Dan Cotton, Rex Robinson and Leon Autry.

The appointments Monday were among the commissioner's annual chore of filling the memberships of several county appointed boards.

Reappointed to serve an additional two-year term on the airport board were John Lacik, Andy Anderson and Charles Shaw.

Peggy Kennedy, Velma Clay and Donna Kruse were reappointed to the child welfare board.

Martha Huddleston was again appointed to serve on the county welfare board. Frank Ortegon and Rita Staton will fill the other two vacancies. Staton replaces Fickas Bell who wished to be replaced although his term does not expire until Jan. 1, 1986.

The court also reappointed Miller Robinson, R.J. (Red) Walker and Lillian Sullivan to the library board and Buford Browning, J.B. Tate and Joe Jackson to the Veterans' Land Board.

Named to the Scurry County grievance committee were Pearl Wheeler, Anita Felan and Howard Limmer. These were approved subject to their acceptance.

The commissioners approved names submitted by the Scurry County Historical Commission for appointment to that body. Approved to serve for 1985-86 were Barbara Bills, Donna Fowler, Randall Gray, Sue Lloyd, Cindy Banta, Mary Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bob McMullan, Jeanne Duke, Shirley Leftwich and Marcie Mattson.

Commissioners voted to send a letter of appreciation to all board members for their work during the last year.

In other action, the commissioners voted to pay officials on a salary basis rather than on the basis of fees earned by each official — a vote required under Texas law although this method of payment has been discontinued here and across most of the state.

The court set county holidays for the year including April 5 for Good Friday, May 27 for Memorial Day, July 4, Sept. 2 for Labor Day, Nov. 11 for Veterans' Day, Nov. 28-29 for Thanksgiving and Dec. 24-25 for Christmas.

In addition, members voted and Judge Preston Wilson signed performance bonds covering county officials.

Coliseum manager Phil Ragland told the commissioners that a new cooler for the coliseum air conditioner is needed. As soon as the job specifications are drawn up, the court will begin taking bids. According to Judge Wilson, bids will probably be taken in about two or three weeks.

changes in the Auditor's office. He told me to keep Ann (Walton) and Joy (Howell) employed just as they were. He said he would swear me in just after he was sworn in as District Judge. Later that day he said that the swearing in would be on Dec. 31, 1984. He never told me any differently until about 9:45 a.m. on Dec. 31, 1984. He did call me at home on Dec. 22 and ask me to submit a written resume. He said it was because someone else had applied for the job. But, he never in any way indicated that he was going back on his promise to appoint me. He is not a man of his word.

Bernard (Bartels) lost the race for County Commissioner, so he went behind my back and got my job. You now have a man whom the voters did not want in office in a very responsible position and not accountable to the voters. On Dec. 31, about 1:30 p.m.–while I was totally in shock–he came to my office and asked me if Ann and I would work for him awhile. After I told him that I would try, he told me to tell Joy that she was no longer needed. I liked and respected Bernhard during the four years that we worked together. I no longer respect nor trust him. I worked for and was trained by an honest, honorable Auditor and District Judge. I owe a great deal to Jay Massingill and Judge Holt, and I publicly thank them. I cannot work for anyone that I cannot respect.

Don and I have always worked for a living. We are thankful that we are able to work. We have never gone back on our word nor gone behind anyone's back to get ahead.

You--Ted, Eldon, Preston, Hassie–are my friends and I truly appreciate each of you. Thank you for the wonderful help and support that you have given me all the time I have worked here–especially the last 2½ years. You have been so good to share your knowledge and experience with me and to encourage me. I am very grateful. I've enjoyed working with you. If the opportunity for me to work for Scurry County again ever arises, I will be happy to consider it. I know from experience that I can trust this Court.

Ann and I have reconciled, balanced and closed the books for 1984.

Thank you,
Gwen

Children returned to home

RICHLAND HILLS, Texas (AP) — They were dirty, tired and hungry, but Sammy and Teresa Franco had smiles a mile wide when they were reunited with their parents after a three-day kidnapping ordeal.

"I give God all the glory — He was the one who brought them home safe," Susanne Franco said Sunday as she bounced her son Sammy on her knee at the Richland Hills police station near their home.

Sammy, 6, and his 2-year-old sister were safely recovered Sunday afternoon after their kidnappers' car was stopped by officers staking out a north Fort Worth neighborhood.

The children's tearful reunion with their parents came hours after a second attempt failed to deliver $60,000 in ransom money to the abductors, police said.

A 20-year-old man was arrested and is expected to be charged with aggravated kidnapping and unlawfully carrying a weapon, Fort Worth police spokesman Doug Clarke.

A 16-year-old man taken into custody was being detained in the Juvenile Detention Center where he will face delinquent conduct charges, he said.

A third suspect was still at large Sunday night.

The Francos' ordeal began late Thursday afternoon, when a trio of gunmen stormed into the Franco residence while the parents were at work. The family maid was tied up and warned that the children would be killed if police were contacted.

7th-grader spunky throughout ordeal

CLEBURNE, Texas (AP) — A seventh-grade girl who was rescued from kidnappers by a bullet-dodging Texas Ranger remained spunky throughout her 45-hour ordeal, her father says.

"She was scared to death the first half-day," Alvarado businessman and rancher Don McNiel said Sunday after his daughter, Amy, was back home. "Then she was scared — and mad at what they were doing to her."

The girl was abducted at gunpoint on her way to school Friday morning by gunmen who later demanded a $100,000 ransom.

On Sunday, her captors fled through three East Texas counties with Amy in tow, often exceeding 100 miles an hour during a running gun battle with Texas Rangers.

In a final shootout near Saltillo, a Texas Ranger dashed to the car through gunfire, scooped Amy up and tossed her a second Ranger, who drove her away to a reunion with her father, Johnson County Sheriff Eddy Boggs said.

Two of the five suspected kidnappers were wounded in the shootout, authorities said. All five were arrested.

Amy's father, a director of Alvarado State Bank and a pioneer in the development of the hand-held calculator, said he and his daughter later embraced and "danced around on some country road for about 10 minutes."

"Thank God, my baby's home," the 44-year-old McNiel told reporters at the Johnson County courthouse in Cleburne Sunday afternoon.

McNiel said he was allowed to talk to the blonde 13-year-old whose nickname is "Tiny" during "about every third phone call" from the kidnappers.

"She became stronger as it went on," he said.

On the final day, McNiel said, his daughter refused to leave the house where she was being held until the kidnappers fed a dog in the backyard that had gone hungry for two days.

"She said 'I just told them I wasn't going to go until they fed that dog'," McNiel said.

Her exhausted father, who had tried to rendezvous with the kidnappers in Dallas, Tyler and Mt. Pleasant, said his daughter never had a chance to escape.

The drama began when a Jeep driven by Amy's 17-year-old brother Bart was run off a country road near the McNiel ranch in Alvarado, about 40 miles southwest of Dallas.

Two men, including one armed with a sawed-off shotgun, jumped from the car and ordered the girl to accompany them, McNiel said.

The kidnappers telephoned McNiel not long after the abduction and demanded a $100,000 ransom and said they would contact him later.

"They were insistent that law enforcement not be brought into it in any way," McNiel said.

Except for notifying the authorities, McNiel said followed the kidnappers' instructions as closely as possible.

"We were totally subservient to what they said," McNiel said. "We just begged: 'Don't hurt my baby'."
