ABOUT THE SALES TAX

When a group of Texas farmers and ranchers suggest a retail sales tax to provide money for support of the schools, it ought to make headlines all over the state.

They may not have made sensational headlines but that is what the members of Lazbuddie JSD proposed last week, after having to raise property taxes in the district 10 per cent for school purposes.

The action should make headlines first of all because it hasn't been very long when, if you even said the words sales tax you would have been wise to dodge. I think most farmers, in fact most people, of Texas were then opposed to the sales tax.

Times and conditions have changed their thinking. Nearly every day, some person suggests to this writer that a sales tax is the most feasible and the most just method of supporting our schools.

The thought is that real property can stand just so much taxes. But the increase in population has brought about the necessity for more and still more improvements and additions to the school plant and equipment in most districts. Right now, some small districts are on the suspended list, others are being warned by the state in regard to higher standards of equipment for laboratory and other departments. Takes an ever increasing amount of money to do what seems imperative.

The Lazbuddie men proposed a 2 percent tax at the retail level, the money raised to be distributed among the schools according to number of scholars. We predict an active effort over the state to adopt this measure.

More than 500 million dollars will be paid by homeowners this year to the "home fix-up racketeers", who promise the homeowners bargains in termite-proofing, kitchen reconstruction, roofing, etc., according to the editors of Changing Times magazine.

The fast talkers in the house renovation and repair business have many tricks. One of them, according to the editors, is to promise cut-rates to those who will permit their homes to be photographed for "advertising" purposes. The offer is hedged with so many conditions that inevitably the full price must be paid.

Often such racketeers conceal many of the charges in the fine prints in the contract, or offer worthless guarantees and then skip to the next town.

To guard against such operators, the magazine advises:

1. Don't bite at super-bargains. Ask for the names of four or five previous customers that you can check with.

2. If the company is not known to you check its standing with your local bank, the chamber of commerce or better business bureau. This is essential if dealing with out of town or itinerant firms.

3. Read the contract twice before signing. Demand a duplicate of what you sign, with the contractor's signature on it.

4. Don't sign the completion certificate, indicating the job meets with your approval, until you have satisfied yourself that it is in accord with the contract or sales agreement.

How Ladies Do Talk

After the convention reception lady was heard to remark: "Yes, with cupric sulfatish eyes, why did she have to wear a nickel acetatish dress with dabs of mercurous oxide?"

A sign in a western town reads: "4,029 people died of gas in this state last year. Two inhaled it; 27 put a lighted match to it, and 4,000 stepped on it."

Reassurance Given Muleshoe Still Being "Seriously" Considered For Location Of Clothing Factory Site

The possibility of a clothing factory locating in Muleshoe appeared nearer reality this week, with the announcement that Muleshoe and five other cities have been surveyed by a nationally known mail order firm, with such a factory location in mind. Members of the Muleshoe Industrial Development Committee report they talked with the head of the clothing firm, and he indicated that Muleshoe is still being seriously considered as a location site.

Noting that the survey of possible sites was about three or four months behind schedule, the clothing firm president told a member of the committee here that Muleshoe has "good possibilities" as the location for the plant he intends to build.

Work to secure the plant for Muleshoe began early this year when the committee was first formed and contacted the industrialist. At that time, he made a visit here and appeared favorably impressed with Muleshoe. The mail order firm, through whose outlets the clothing is merchandised, then conducted a survey on its own account to choose a suitable site. Six towns in Texas were finally chosen out of an original 14. Final choice of the site will depend on several factors, according to the local committee.

One of the principal factors is the availability of labor that can be trained to work in the factory. Through a survey conducted by

USE PART OF $195,000 BOND ISSUE City To Begin Water And Sewer Expansion Program; Bids To Be Opened July 19 and 26

A program to extend the water and sewer system of the city of Muleshoe will get underway within a few weeks, according to members of the City Council, who have called for bids for drilling at least one new water well, installing more than ten miles of water and sewer main lines, and moving two huge storage tanks to the site of booster stations to be installed on the new lines. Most of the new water and sewer mains will be installed to serve the west part of town, but will also be used to modernize the existing lines in older sections of town.

Bonds will be opened at 2 p.m. on July 19, tomorrow, at City Hall for the drilling of a water well, and equipping it with pump, motor, casing, etc., and for the removal of the two water tanks given the city by the Santa Fe Railway early this summer. The moving of the 300,000 gallon tanks is expected to present quite a problem, as there are north of the track, and the site of high-tension power lines between the present location of the tanks, the final resting places at the booster stations on the water lines.

Mayor W. T. Bovell said that in addition to the bids to be opened July 19, the City will also open bids on July 26 for furnishing 1500 feet of 10 inch water mains, 14,000 feet of 8 inch water mains, and 12,000 feet of six inch sewer, 6,000 feet of six inch sewer, 6,000 feet of 8 inch sewer and 2400 feet of 10 inch sewer, complete with manholes, fire hydrants, two booster pump houses and three booster pumps and controls.

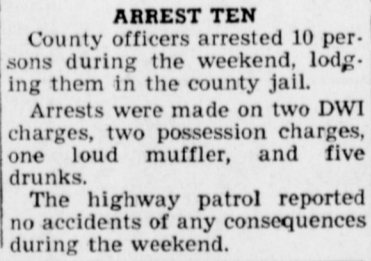

The new water well will be located on city property which was the former site of the old cattle auction barns on the south side of the Sudan highway within the city limits.

The three booster stations will be located one at the well near the airport, one at the new well, and one at the site of a proposed well near the new elementary school in Richland Hills subdivision.

Money to finance the projects, all of which are expected to be completed this summer, will come from a $195,000 bond voted here on April 27, of this year. A portion of the bond money was used to purchase more than 1700 acres of water rights south of Muleshoe for future use.

City Engineer Ralph Douglas has designed the new water and sewer system, including the relocation of the giant water storage tanks.

Recruiter Talks For Rotary Club

T. Sgt. Charles R. Thompson, recruiting service of the Air Force, was the principal speaker at the meeting Tuesday of the Rotary Club. Sgt. Thompson, stationed at Clovis, discussed Communist attempts at penetration both in the military service, in labor unions and other organizations.

He described how Communists someday hope to seize about 70 great industrial centers of the U. S., not by using atomic bombs but by trickery. He said they think 75 men trained for the job might seize Detroit and a territory of 50 miles radius around that city.

Sgt. Thompson said air fields, roads, railroads etc. would first be destroyed in the night hours; the populace would awake to learn they had Communist masters. Communication and means to travel being disrupted, the Communists figure the military, or police force would have a difficault time subduing them.

Senn Stemmmons was in charge of the program. Sgt. Richard Smith of the recruiting service, Amarillo, was a guest.

Other guests included Rotarians Edgar Chance, Sudan; Bill Gorman, Lubbock; Allen Williams, Clovis; and Bud Cable, Clovis. Harry Pearman, Lubbock, was a guest of Dr. Birdsong.

DO YOU WANT FARM LABOR UNIONIZED?

Are You Willing To Pay Your Farm Laborer A Minimum Hourly Wage of $1?

The following is a quote from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal written by Glen Stackhouse, "Mexican and U. S. union leaders ended a three day labor conference today with a strong demand for the national minimum wage of $1 an hour for Mexican Braceros working on American farms".

Do You Want To Use Braceros That Are Members of The AFL-CIO In A Closed Working Agreement?

In the Daily Reporter from Lamest, Texas, April 4, 1957, it states the following about a union meeting in Nogales Mexico: "Principal resolutions scheduled to come before the two nation labor group were for establishment of firm and higher minimum wages for imported farm workers "Braceros" in the U. S., increased enforcement of the international agreement, elimination of excessive charges for Braceros food and housing conditions. Other resolutions anticipated included one calling for international union pacts in all border cities and another international union cooperation in industrial wage matters".

National and Local Organizations Sponsor This Move

Still quoting from the Lamesa Daily Reporter, it reads: "Aldana said the Mexican section planned to set up a committee to organize the Braceros in the recruitment centers and issue them CTM membership cards. He said the men would be instructed to present the cards to the National Agricultural Workers Union—AFL-CIO—upon their arrival in the United States to gain admission to the American Union".

"The International Migratory Workers Pact has always guaranteed the workers the right of union representation, but actually only a handful have ever taken advantage of the right".

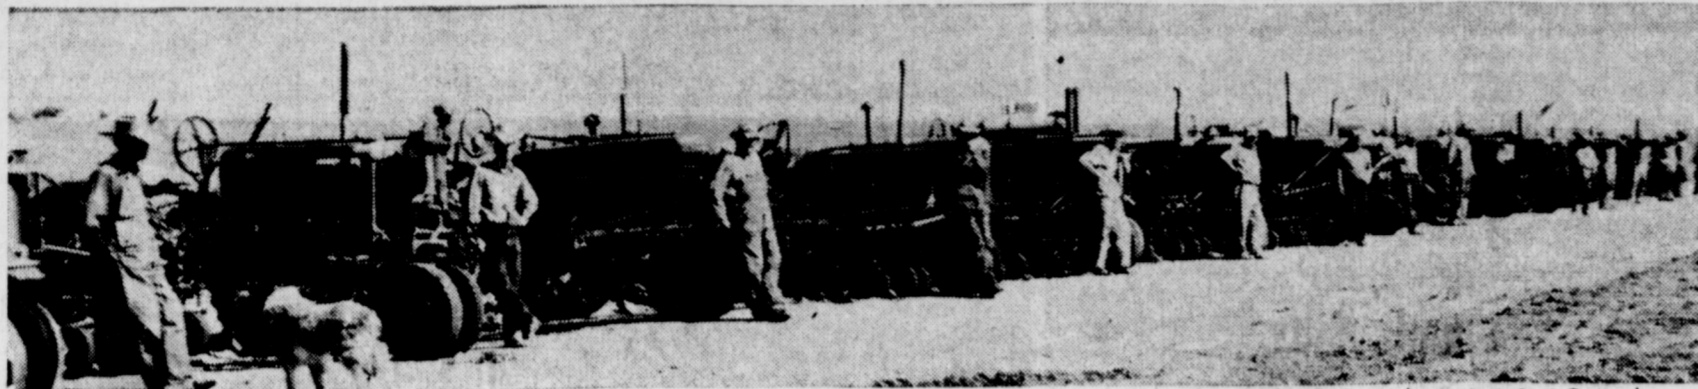

Aldana added that he and Sen. Jesus Yuren, chairman of the Mexican section would call upon their fellow legislators to set up a permanent joint legislative committee to consider the Bracero Program".

"James G. Patton Denver, Colo., president of the National Farmers Union, congratulated the committee for its constructive work to solve a 'troublesome situation.' He added that his organization of small farmers was grateful for what the labor body had done in 'raising living standards and protecting family farming'".

While Mr. Patton is patting the Unions on the back they are in turn hurting the ones Mr. Patton is claiming to help, the small farmer. If we, the small farmers, have our crops hoed and harvested, we may raise someone's living standards, but it won't be ours.

FARMERS it is time to put a stop to any talk of applying the minimum wage to agriculture. Tomorrow will be too late.

New Assistance Program Begun For Permanently and Totally Disabled

Complete and permanent invalids or persons in the community so mentally deranged that they require continuous oversight to keep from harming themselves or others may soon be able to receive small monthly checks from their State Department of Public Welfare through the new state-federal program of aid to the permanently and totally disabled. The Constitutional Amendment, which was adopted by the voters in November, 1956, limiting the amount of money that can be appropriated for this program to 1.5 million dollars per year, makes aid possible only to those who are helpless and have no relatives able to support them. Leo Healer, Welfare supervisor for this area, pointed out this is the only welfare program which requires consideration of the ability of relatives to support. This law defines "responsible relatives" as children, parents, step-children, step-parents, brothers, and sisters. Mr. Healer said that for the first time in nearly 20 years the Department's field workers will be required by law to determine the resources of relatives of persons who apply for aid. The "permanency" and "totality" of the disability will be determined by a state reviewing physician after study of a complete physical or mental examination by the person's own private physician. Complete helplessness from a medical standpoint, rather than inability to work, is the criteria. The state will pay the private physician for his examination. Funds for assistance payments will not be available until September 1, 1957, but applications will be taken after July 15. While the helpless individual will not be able to leave home, the per-

Traffic Laws Are To Protect And Not Annoy Drivers

"Traffic laws are designed to protect — not annoy you. Cheating on them will lead to sudden death or crippling injury." This warning was issued today by J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, in connection with TSA's current Slow Down and Live campaign. "Some people think that laws are made to be broken or at least bent", he said. "Nowhere is this more evident or more fatal than in traffic."

Persons who hire attorneys to ascertain their legal rights and obligations in business and property matters think nothing of risking their lives by driving without a good knowledge and a respect for traffic laws. "Even if you have no regard for your personal safety, consider these consequences: "When you drive faster than the speed limit, make wrong turns, go through stop signs or red lights or pass improperly, you run these risks: A traffic fine; damage to your vehicle that may amount to hundreds of dollars; medical expenses; time and income lost from your job; damage suits; possible loss of your driver's license; lawyer's fees; and, you create anxiety for your family. "Add to these the many indirect costs as higher insurance rates and increased taxes, plus the suffering and anguish even a minor traffic accident could cause, and you have a real case for safer driving", Musick said. Commenting on the role of law enforcement agencies, he said the Highway Patrolman or policeman on the corner, can only be as effective as the public will permit him to be. "Once the public is convinced that they have a personal responsibility for traffic safety", Musick said, "we can make further inroads into the shocking traffic accident record which last year killed 2,611 persons on Texas streets and highways, and injured 111,501. This is a terrible price to pay for apathy when public support is free."

Basic Plan On T.L. Timmons Farm Meets Needs For Soil Protection

T. L. Timmons, owner, and Gene Hamilton, operator, both coordinators with Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District, have completed a basic conservation plan with the District. This plan, which includes agronomic practices, a conservation irrigation system, and crop residue management, will fully meet needs of the soil for protection and improvement.

A conservation irrigation system is one that will utilize rainfall, make even distribution of irrigation water, retard erosion, and provide drainage. To meet these requirements on his rolling, moderately coarse, and coarse textured soil, Mr. Timmons selected a sprinkler type irrigation system. Due to the high intake of his soil and the cost of leveling, he felt that he could make best use of his water by using a well designed sprinkler irrigation system. Picture above shows inline valve which is set every 150 feet in 8-inch underground main steel line. Laterals are attached to valves by three 50-foot swing lines.

Gene states that he is well pleased with this sprinkler system. He believes that he can get a more uniform distribution of water on his crops and in turn more uniform growth and yield than with a gravity (ditch) system. He especially likes the labor it saves since the main line does not have to be moved. Other farm operations, such as cultivating, are made easier because the main line is underground and out of the way. Also, water is saved by the use of the underground main line since it does not have to be drained as does the portable surface main when moved joint by joint. This system saves time and labor, thus helping to offset the higher initial cost of such a system as compared to that of a conventional one. Even though a costlier system, it enables him to apply controlled amounts of water to supply the needs of his soil and crops.

Gene's agronomic program is based on high wind erosion susceptibility and moderate fertility-holding capacity of his soil. This soil, unless managed for complete protection against wind, will seriously erode. He plans to maintain cover — living or dead — roughness, and cloddiness throughout the year. Alfalfa is being used on one-fourth of his land to be rotated every four years. Close-spaced high residue (sorghum) crops will be used each year. This hay will protect his soil from blowing and also maintain and improve his soil fertility-holding capacity by increasing organic matter content. Cover crops (vetch) will be interseeded in sorghum residues and cotton middles for wind erosion protection and fertility improvement each year.

The management of his residues is very important in order to fully meet the needs of the land. Residues must be used to protect and provide fertility in top soil. Residue will be left on surface until seedbed preparation in April. At that time it will be shredded and left standing for close-spaced sorghum and listed for row crops. Residue left on surface not only protects soil from blowing, but, after sweeping with stubble mulch sweeps, it will decompose, releasing organic acids for interseeded cover crops. Organic matter content which is the life of the soil will be increased in the top six to eight inches of soil where 60% of feeder roots are found. Mr. Hamilton will thus utilize his residue for soil protection and improvement.

Other proven practices they plan to employ include application of cotton burrs to cuts where land has been smoothed, fertilizers to get maximum growth of feed crops, and total decomposition of residues.

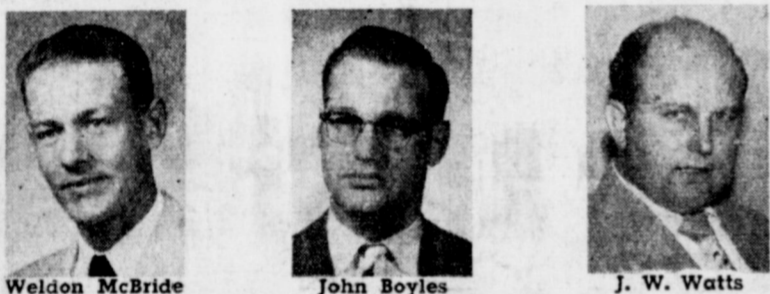

In time, sustained yields and continued soil productivity will more than repay extra time and money needed to apply this type of conservation farming. Conservation farming doesn't cost—it pays.

Babson Discusses

CANADIAN BARGAINS

Toronto, Canada, July 18 — I am getting so many inquiries regarding cheap stock listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange that I have come up to Toronto to make some inquiries. There certainly is great interest in these cheap stocks. So much money is being sent to Canada by American investors that the Canadian dollar is now worth a premium of 5% over the American dollar.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF CANADIAN INVESTMENTS

The safest is probably an investment in the producing oil wells which are more or less controlled by the larger American companies. These are selling on a fair basis and should have even greater growth; but they should be bought for income rather than for speculation. There is no question but that there is a lot of oil in Western Canada; but most wells are waiting for transportation to good markets. To build pipe lines takes time and money. The wells will not be allowed to produce much until these pipe lines have been constructed. There are also large fields of natural gas; but these also are awaiting pipe lines. Oil can be put in barrels and transported by truck; but natural gas is absolutely dependent on pipe lines or else upon very expensive compression.

The most popular investments are in metal-mining companies, including gold, copper, zinc, lead, uranium, and even the rare metals. Most of these stocks do not now represent producing properties, although some of the non-producers are building mills or refineries. There are probably many that are now selling for less than a dollar a share which will some day sell for many times this. But only experts can pick them at this time. For the ordinary investor to buy them at random is a good deal like betting on a horse race. Some horses will surely win; but which one is another matter.

RELATION BETWEEN PRICE AND RESERVES

Even if a mining stock is selling cheap, that is, below a dollar per share, yet one should first find out how many shares are outstanding. The brokers here tell me that most of the buyers look only at the prices and do not consider the number of shares outstanding. Of course, the number of shares should be multiplied by the price to see what the mine or the prospect is selling for. Certain stocks which now pay no dividends are probably the best buys.

The most important thing for the investor to know is the amount of real ore reserve, whether iron, copper, lead, zinc, uranium, nickel, or whatever the metal may be. These ore reserves can be determined pretty well by diamond drilling. An honest broker will tell you approximately the amount of the reserves. In addition to knowing the quantity of the reserves, one should know the percentage of ore to a ton of earth. With this information the investor can divide the price at which the mine is selling by the reserves and secure a rough estimate of the price that he is paying per ton of ore.

OTHER FACTORS TO CONSIDER

There are other factors to consider, such as distance from railroad, a navigable river, or even highways. Before a metal can be marketed, the ore must be brought to the surface and refined and the metal transported to market. Each step is expensive, but very important. Then, of course, the amount of "overburden" is important; that is, how much earth must be removed before the ore can be taken out. The diamond drilling will give the figures on this. The main thing to keep in mind is: Buy reserves of ore and study the price you are paying for these reserves. Forget the stock market and imagine that you are merely a metal merchant buying copper or one of the other metals. For instance, if you are studying a coal company, instead of figuring too much on the price of the stock, figure how much you are paying for a ton of coal.

Investors who take the trouble to get this information should really be able to make a lot of money. Sometime in the next 30 years most metals will be selling at several times their present prices. There are only so many tons under ground of every metal, and the amount is being reduced every day. I really believe that $12,000 invested properly in Canadian Oils and Metals, will, at some period during the next 30 years, be worth a million dollars. Such an investment, however, requires much care in the selection and supervision of the companies.

the Trinity Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Dale Burden. Attending were Bonnie Fullbright, Jean Lancaster, Margaret Riddle, Charles and Mary Ruth, Dorothy Bowers, Patsy Wolfe, Frances Hamilton, Rickey and Karen, Janet Burden, and Bernell Drye.

Christian Science Services

Today's need of the spiritual sense of truth will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" will include the following from Psalms (145:18): "The Lord is rich unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (272:3-5): "The spiritual sense of truth must be gained before Truth can be understood. This sense is assimilated only as we are honest, unselfish, loving, and meek."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (98:1, 3): "O sing unto the Lord a new song; for he hath done marvellous things: He hath remembered his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel; all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God."

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Read John 6:47-56. I am the living bread. (John 6:51.)

Bread is the world's most common food staple. Though it may vary somewhat in ingredients and methods of preparation, in shape and taste, bread is essential to the diet. The Brazilian,

Current efforts to destroy the farm program reminds us of the story about the farmer who burned his barn to get rid of the rats.

Almost everyone, it seems is "against" the present farm program. Few farmers like it, the Secretary of Agriculture doesn't like it, and many city critics want to do away with it entirely.

There are legitimate complaints against the farm program as now drawn by Congress and operated by the Department of Agriculture. There can be no denying that the program has many faults.

It is costly. Congress since 1950 has appropriated nearly $20 billion to operate a program that includes large payments to farmers and huge subsidies for export of surpluses.

The program has not stopped over-production and the build-up of surpluses. It has not halted the 7-year decline in farm prices and income.

It has put the government deeply into the business of managing both farming and farmers. There are hundreds of farm laws and more than 100 thousand government agents supervising farm production and marketing.

But, to repeal all farm program laws to get rid of the faults makes no more sense than burning the barn to destroy the rats. That would be an admission of complete failure.

The farm program has faults, but it hasn't been a complete failure. It helped farmers weather the depression '30s and prepare for the big production increases vitally necessary in World War II and immediately afterward.

for instance, eats bread with coffee each morning. He would feel lost without it.

Jesus' mission to mankind and His way of expressing Himself cut across all time and national boundaries. When He said, "I am the bread of life", He spoke to all men of all times. Christ is as essential to our daily spiritual diet as daily bread is for our physical diet. His absence from our lives leaves us spiritually hungry; His presence is a joy to us and a source of strength.

Only the bread of heaven come down from God gives us true life. In Christ is our hope for spiritual health, for He alone, the one who is the living bread of life, satisfies our deepest need.

PRAYER

Our Father, as Thy people long ago prayed, so we pray: "Lord, evermore give us this bread." Grant that as people everywhere this day eat their daily bread, they may also partake of the bread of life. Strengthen and sustain them, and us, in service to Thee. In His name, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

My spiritual hunger is satisfied in Christ, the Bread of Life. —Harold R. Kelly (Brazil)

The fault is that we haven't made the necessary changes to meet changing conditions since 1952. We have clung blindly to old programs that no longer apply to changes in production methods, and in market demand.

The government, on one hand has forced reduction in crop acres, and on the other has taught farmers how to produce more per acre. It has supported prices of some products, and not others. It has paid farmers for not farming as well as they had been taught how.

The problem now is how to strengthen the farm program and make it apply to modern conditions, not repeal of all farm laws. To do so would bankrupt most farmers without helping city consumers. Merchants who buy from and sell to farmers could not survive.

There seems to be a widespread smear campaign aimed at convincing the country that (1) farmers are getting rich off the government; and (2) consumers pay twice for their food, once in the market and again on their tax bill.

The facts are: Farmers' income averages less than half of the average city worker's; farm income is down 33% in five years, but city income is up 21%; farm income per hour averages 70¢, but factory workers earn an average of $1.95 an hour.

The farm program has benefited city consumers far more than it has farmers. It has encouraged abundant production, resulting in a 22% decrease in farm selling prices since 1952, despite a 17% increase in farm operating costs. Consumers, according to the Department of Labor, pay less for their food than in 1952. Middlemen have increased their charges by 20%.

The New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers baseball teams have showed profits for the past few years.

Sandhills Philosopher Can't Understand Hard Money Talk; Asks What Kind Is There?

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses money this week, a subject he seems to have mostly a theoretical knowledge of.

Dear editor: I was out here on my farm yesterday afternoon sitting in the shade of a tree meditating on the hard money policy I understand is now in effect, which puzzles me as the newspapers are full of talk about this as though it was something new, whereas I always thought a hard money policy had been in effect ever since I learned it took a nickel to buy an ice cream cone. Is there any other kind?

At any rate, I got to watching a newspaper blown along the ground and was speculating on whether it would blow over close enough for me to reach it without getting up. I don't mind getting up to get a newspaper if it's time to get up and stretch anyway, but this rush-through-life philosophy never did appeal to me and I kept sitting there and sure enough the wind maneuvered it around and finally it did land right at my feet and I reached out and got it and opened it up and ran into a hard money article that disturbed me.

According to this article, a financial expert in Washington testifying before a Congressional committee, admitted that higher interest charges on home mortgages "might have increased monthly payments to home buyers by as much as

$10 a month, but if that helps to hold down other costs, and I think it does, it is well worthwhile." As I understand this, if a man paying for a home has to pay $10 a month more for interest, he's better off. He won't get through paying for the home any sooner but it'll save him money because he can thus spend $10 less for groceries or clothes or a television or gasoline or other essentials.

This seems to me to be a brand new theory of saving money, and while I don't quite understand it, it sure seems like the only answer to the high cost of living. If you pay more for one thing, you naturally have to pay less for something else, and it's a fine theory if more stores would adopt it. For example, if a pair of shoes costs $4 more than I expected, I wouldn't mind if the meat market would recognize this Washington expert's theory and knock off an equal amount on steak. I don't mind paying $10 more for a tractor tire if I can pay $10 less for gasoline, although if the experts really want me to get ahead, they could go one step further and shave $12 instead of $10 off the latter, or whatever item it is I'm buying, and give me a margin to play on.

I have found though that when a theory comes up against hard money, hard money generally wins.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

OUR WORLD: The shakeup in Russia has stung the world. A hard struggle for power among top communists has been going on since Stalin's death. Molotov and several other "old Bolsheviks" appear to have lost.

Khrushchev stays on top. Most observers believe he is not totally powerful, as Stalin was. But he is in the saddle. How high and how long he will ride remains to be seen.

So far as the free world is concerned, the "who" in Russia is less important than the "what". The nature of communism has not changed. Individual communists may rise and fall. But the communist idea remains a deadly threat to free people everywhere.

Disarmament talk continues. The United States has proposed conditionally that tests of nuclear weapons be suspended for ten months. Effective inspection and control would be a basic part of the plan. They are vital.

The U. S. must remain strong. We can never deal effectively with the communists if we are weak. Strength is the language they understand. The American people know that.

The defense appropriation bill passed by Congress reflects that knowledge. We must cut out waste. We can do that without trifling with our national security.

OUR NATION. As for appropriations, we have continued to make cuts in the President's budget. Most of the important appropriation bills have been passed. Some are in conference between the Senate and the House.

If we split the difference in appropriation bills in conference, total cuts in the budget to date are $4,445,000,000. Even that includes only the reduction made in the foreign aid authorization bill. Further cuts are expected in the actual appropriation bill.

The people looked at the President's budget. They said it was too high. They demand reductions. They are getting reductions.

OUR STATE: I made two talks in Texas recently. One was before the annual membership meeting of the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce. The other was during the annual convention, in San Antonio, of the Texas Press Association. I thoroughly enjoyed both occasions.

Texas has the best editors of any State. They are well-informed. They are down-to-earth. They know the needs of their readers. At the San Antonio meeting, I was impressed all over again by their knowledge and understanding.

The editors told me they approve our budget-cutting efforts. They want the U. S. to talk — realistically — about disarmament. They want to save their sons from having to fight a war. They are thoughtful Texans, deeply concerned about the issues that affect them and their children. It was good to be with them.

Hydrogen Element Found Effective For Increasing Grain Production

Grain sorghum fertilization tests are receiving a great deal of attention in the fertilizer research program at the High Plains Station at Halfway. Nitrogen is the fertilizer element that has been found to be most effective in increasing yields of grain sorghum but more information is needed to know when it should be applied, and whether any phosphate fertilizer is required along with the nitro-

Turkey Still Tops On Plentiful Food Listing For Month

Turkey, for the second straight month, is the featured food on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's August plentiful foods list. Supplies of turkeys are abundant, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service, and consumers may look for excellent buys on these birds.

Fresh fish is another protein food chosen for the plentiful group, as August is in the height of the fishing season, both in Gulf waters and in inland streams. Supplies probably will vary with the region.

August plentiful foods also will include numerous summer vegetables, although some will be found more abundant in one region than another. Fresh peaches and pears will be in excellent supply. Lemons and limes will continue on the USDA list.

Sorghum Storage Loans Available

Time for providing storage space for your grain sorghum is rapidly growing short. If you do not have enough storage space and need financing for this, you will find loans available through the Commodity Credit Corporation, according to W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

These loans are available through local banks or directly from the CCC, says Allen. Owner-operators, share tenants, share landlords, and producer partners are all eligible. Applications can be made at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office.

These loans can be paid off over a four-year period beginning on the first anniversary of the loan. Interest is at 4 percent per year. Storage structures built with these loans, however, must meet standards for storage under the CCC price-support program, points out Allen.

"Adequate storage space means getting a better price for your crops after the usual low harvest time price levels have passed. If you could use more space, why not drop into your local ASC office and discuss the possibilities," suggests Allen. "They can give you the details as they apply in your particular area."

Traffic accident deaths in the cities of the United States were reduced by 6 per cent during May, 1957, compared with the previous year.

Weed Killing Operations Threaten Crops

Hormone-type herbicides such as 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T are among the most effective weed and brush killers available — but their very effectiveness calls for extreme caution.

These powerful and useful chemicals can damage crops through careless handling just as easily as they can destroy plant pests. This fact is especially evident this year.

Damage to cotton by herbicides has increased alarmingly in unregulated areas of Texas this season. As many as 9,000 acres in four West Texas counties suffered slight to severe effects from herbicides sprayed in adjacent areas during periods when wind drift was excessive.

In contrast, not a single report of damage has been received from counties where the Texas Department of Agriculture regulates the sale and use of herbicides.

Some 125 counties are regulated by the Texas Herbicide Law. Permits must be obtained for applying herbicide chemicals in these counties and a Department of Agriculture inspectors must supervise spraying operations.

The remaining 129 counties are exempt from the law and it is in these counties where crop damage has occurred.

Inspectors make certain that spraying is not practiced within certain distances of susceptible crops—in relation to wind velocity. It is also important that clean equipment is maintained.

Much damage has been done by poisoning cotton with equipment which has been used in making applications of herbicides.

Although the Texas Department of Agriculture does not have official jurisdiction in unregulated counties, farmers are urged to use extreme caution in applying weed and brush killing chemicals. Department inspectors or county agents should be contacted for further information on proper safeguards during spraying operations.

Copies of the Herbicide Law, listing regulated counties and material relating to proper use, may be obtained by writing: John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

Lawn Insects Can Be Controlled By Chemical Measures

Many kinds of insects and insect-like pests damage lawns, but this damage can be greatly reduced by proper use of available chemicals, says C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

Grubs of several kinds of beetles feed on the roots of grass, leaving bare spots where plants have been killed by their feeding. Armyworms and cutworms feed on the leaves or stems. Still others, such as chinch bugs, false chinch bugs, Rhodesgrass scale and leafhoppers suck juices from the grass. Ants and earthworms dig holes in lawns and throw up mounds of earth, and ants may invade the house from their nests in the grass.

All of these pests can be controlled, according to the entomologist with insecticides such as chlordane, DDT, aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor. For quicker results chemicals should be washed into the soil by watering after application. Insecticides may be applied whenever desired. Follow the application rates on the container and observe all precautions on the label, because insecticides are poisons.

The problem of moles in the lawn is related to insect problems since moles invade lawns and build tunnels in search of worms and grubs. So controlling insects may help control the moles as well, suggests Garner. Finally, the entomologist suggests that you visit the office of your local county extension agent and ask for publications on lawns and insects.

Libya, in North Africa, occupies 679,358 square miles.

Thirty persons died and more than 200,000 were left homeless by the disastrous 1951 floods of the Po River near Rovigo, Italy.

"Sure have paid that loan down since you changed to AMALIE L. P. G.!"

BANK

"You wouldn't believe what that AMALIE L. P. G. Oil can save when you're burning butane or propane in your engines. Butane's a problem; common, ordinary oil thickens up till it looks like gear-grease. Dust and grit cake up. That sure is rough on engines. But no more — with AMALIE L. P. G.!"

Nothing but the finest Pennsylvania crude in AMALIE L. P. G. Oil — no other crude like that on earth. And AMALIE chemists have done two great things: In refining, produced an oil that holds its "viscosity," or flowing quality, and developed additives to keep grit, dust, etc., in solution, so they filter out. That's why we say —

BIGGEST LOADSPACE

- NO EXTRA COST!

One more reason why

FORD TRUCKS COST LESS

You get 23% extra loadspace in a Ford Styleside pickup body at no extra cost. That's 23% more loadspace than the next biggest competitive pickup... up to 41% more than the rest!

The picture speaks for itself. It's easy to see how Ford's extra-wide body can save you time, save you trips. And that's only one of the many ways you'll save with a '57 Ford pickup. First cost is low, resale value is high. Ford's famous Short Stroke power—Six or V-8—means low operating costs and a 10-million-truck research study proves Ford trucks last longer.

There's a big dividend in comfort, too! Ford's all-new Driverized cab and new chassis suspension give you a ride that's more like a passenger car than a truck. Here's a pickup you'll be happy to use for pleasure as well as for work!

Let us show you all the "Cost Less" advantages of Ford's new Styleside Pickup!

Billy Ellis Wants Information For Football History

To all former football players, teachers and fans of Muleshoe high school:

In the light of the approaching football season, which promises to be one of the best Muleshoe has had in many years, I am trying to compile a complete history of the sport at Muleshoe, and need your help.

So far, I have been able to get everything I need for only the past eleven years, 1946-56 inclusive. Beginning with 1945 and going back to football's first year at Muleshoe, 1924, there are gaps in the records which I'm hoping you can help me fill.

Primarily, I'm trying to get the score of every game which has been played every year at Muleshoe. Also, I need the names of coaches, captains, and team members, but I have most of these.

The first five years (1924-28) are the ones I have the least information about. Anyone who went to school at Muleshoe during that period and having anything concerning the football team would aid me greatly if he or she would dig it out and send it along.

Any written records of scores during this period would be greatly appreciated (Since I've checked Journal files and there was no annual until 1930, the only chance for a record of scores would be in diaries, scrapbooks or personal records).

Other "lean years" in my records are the 1931, 32, 33, 36, and 43 seasons, but I would appreciate anything in the way of a season record for every year before 1946. I would like to complete these soon, in order to begin a series of articles for The Journal.

If you have anything you can send me (even someone's name whom I could write, send it to Billy Ellis, Texas Tech Athletic Dept., Lubbock, or bring it by The Journal office.

Thanks,
Billy Ellis

Cotton Defoliation Guide For 1957 Available From County Agent Office

This year's late cotton crop and high rainfall may make cotton defoliation even more important in most sections of the state, according to Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist. But this does not apply to the High Plains area where they need all of the maturity they can get to beat frost, he adds.

In the rest of the state where farmers must meet the pink bollworm deadline, the specialist says that defoliation will probably be necessary. In the sections of South Texas, the Gulf Coast and Central Texas where strippers are to be used, it is a must.

In Central Texas, the small plants and dry weather usually make it possible to use a stripper with only light defoliation.

But with this year's increased rainfall, the plants are larger and Elliott says that defoliation may have to be used.

A publication just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "Cotton Defoliation Guide for Texas", gives much information on the 1957 use of defoliant.

Included in this leaflet is a helpful chart that covers such points as the name of the defoliant, its chemical name, percent active ingredients, rate per acre and dilution information. The bulletin also tells when to apply the defoliant and contains sections on cautions and care of equipment.

Copies are available from local county agents.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

By Raymond Euler

To date, the weed committee has received real cooperation from individuals, county and federal agencies, including the highway department, and others in the fight against bindweed. Railroad officials have indicated they may take part, and if they do, it will be the best year since the inception of the Parmer County Farm Bureau Weed Committee three years ago, in its efforts to eradicate these threats to farmers.

Chairman Raymond Schueler, County Agent Joe Jones and ASC office manager, Prentice Mills are all grateful for such cooperation. Lloyd Killough, head of Texas Highway maintenance in Parmer county, and his crews have contributed to the success of the program from the beginning. County Commissioners have made financial aid available for control on county road right of ways, too.

This Saturday night, in the Bovina school auditorium, twelve of Parmer County's comeliest young ladies will compete for title as PCFB Queen of 1957. Odys Echols of KCLV, Clovis, will be Master of Ceremonies. The public is invited.

Although consumers spent 25% of their income for food in 1956, compared to 23% before the war (1935-1939), they would have spent only 16% on the same foods they bought in the pre-war period. Consumers are more selective in grocery purchasing now, just as they are in the purchase of cars and clothes. But the point is, food prices are not up, percentage-wise, it's the additional service demanded that makes the increase.

Though it's not the nicest way to receive a compliment, we think it is one, when a state representative, who has obviously allied himself with private power interests against the rights of the farmer's REA, stands up in the legislative halls and begins attacking Farm Bureau representatives for planting themselves in Austin and telling legislators what their members said to tell them. Parmer county, and we believe every other Texas Farm Bureau county had resolutions to remove the fetters of a state "supreme" court ruling, and we believe it is the duty of legislators to do just that. We are

Cotton Insect Report

Weather conditions have continued favorable for growth and fruiting of cotton. While plants are not as large as normal for this late, cotton is fruiting at a satisfactory rate in most of the earlier planted fields.

Although several of the cotton insects are present in most fields, infestations have not been heavy in most plantings. Many growers have made early season applications to cotton to insure maximum early fruit set. In most instances such treatments were used to control light to medium infestations.

Aphids were reported present in some fields throughout the area. Infestations have been light in most cases.

Thrips were present on cotton in light to medium infestations. No heavy infestations were reported.

Fleahoppers appeared in large numbers as cotton reached the fruiting stage. Infestations were light in most fields, but occurred in fairly large numbers in some fields in Mitchell, Terry and Yoakum counties. Heavy infestations were reported in Gaines county. Since cotton is late in most locations, damaging infestations of fleahoppers should be controlled to insure maximum fruit set.

Garden webworms (careless weed worms) were reported on cotton in Collingsworth, Crosby, Gaines, Lamb, Lynn, Lubbock, and Mitchell counties. The worms generally moved from careless weeds to cotton as weeds were destroyed.

Lygus bugs have appeared in large numbers on cotton in some fields in Cochran, Crosby, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Lubbock, Lynn, and Terry counties. While a few growers have used control measures, most infestations haven't been sufficient to require control.

Cabbage loopers were present on cotton in most fields. The loopers were reported less common from several counties. There seemed to be a slight increase in eggs and small loopers in some fields in Cochran, Floyd, and Lubbock counties, though infestations were not heavy.

Grasshoppers appeared in damaging numbers on cotton in some fields in Briscoe, Dawson, Gaines, Garza, Howard, Mitchell, and Yoakum counties.

A number of reports have been received of incorrect dosages being recommended and used for control of certain cotton insects. Such practice will give unsatisfactory control or tend to bring on earlier trouble with bollworm, aphids, and spider mites.

H. D. Agent's Column

The District 2 4-H camp began July 17 and will continue until about 3 p.m. Friday. We are at the Panhandle South Plains fair grounds in Lubbock. The girls and boys who are attending from Bailey county are: Betty Sue Hatton, Three Way; June Gray, Progress; Sandra Harris, Muleshoe; Rickey Bell, Circleback; Travis Bessire, West Camp; and Jimmy Mitchell, Friona highway.

The camp is a lot of fun, but we also do some educational work. This year we are learning some very useful things about electrical appliances and equipment, lighting in the home and on the farm and proper wiring of the home and farm to take care of the lighting needs, appliances and equipment.

The Southwestern Public Service Company is sponsoring and paying the expenses of the camp. Personnel of the company are teaching the boys and girls who are divided into three groups for the study of lighting, wiring and electrical equipment.

The boys and girls will attend a craft class before we come back home Friday afternoon. The crafts will consist of table lamps, wall lamps and brooders. The articles will be made by the camp participants, and will be on display in a store window in Muleshoe after we return. Be sure to look for them for I am sure you will be interested in seeing the things that boys and girls learn to do at camp.

Swimming and skating are two of the special activities of camp. Of course there will be other supervised recreation of different kinds.

Another thing that we like about camp is that we meet 4-H boys and girls from 19 other counties. We have the opportunity of talking with them and learning what 4-H members are doing in other parts of our district.

USE INSECTICIDES CAREFULLY

Are you using insecticides around your home? How safe are you while using them?

Insecticides are a real asset when used properly. They can rid your homes and lawns of insect pests. Be careful that they do not rid the place of you. Never overlook the fact that insecticides are very poisonous and must be handled carefully. Read the instructions printed on the container and follow them exactly as they are printed. Mix solutions accurately. Keep in mind that the company that made the insecticide has worked out the formula to do the most effective job of killing insects. The correct amount will kill the insects while a stronger solution may not kill them. This sounds rather strange but that is the way they sometimes work. The saying, "If a little will do a little good, a lot will do a lot of good" is NOT true in the case of insecticides.

Be sure to give yourself sufficient protection while using the solutions. Be careful not to inhale the fumes, spray or dust that you may use. If any of the poison should get on the skin be sure to wash it off IMMEDIATELY. The skin will absorb poison and can cause severe illness or even death.

When storing insecticides be sure they are placed in a safe place—out of reach of children and pets.

Remember that extreme care MUST be taken—insecticides are poison.

We strongly urge everyone to consult the Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects for recommended insecticides and dosages. Guides are available at county agent's offices.
