Candidates are moving around lively telling the good people their wants on the 9th of July. On that eventful day thirteen county officers will be chosen out of about thirty. Let every voter go to the primary and vote for his choice, regardless of his past political views. We should all feel interested in whom we desire to see elected; its our duty as citizens and a duty we owe our friends who are making the race for the various offices.

On a recent trip through the county we noticed the crops along the road from Harbin to Pigeon were good; corn is in roasting ears; cotton looked to be in a healthy, growing condition; the forage crop is extra good. Good rains had fallen over most of the country the past week, which missed this section of the county. However, we are in for a reasonable good crop of both corn and cotton and as to sorghum and milo maize we have fine prospects.

Right Food Makes Young of the Aged.

When one is lively and a hard worker at this age there is something interesting to tell and the Princeton lady who has passed this mark explains how her wonderful health is due to the food she eats.

"I am past seventy years of age and up to five years ago suffered terribly with chronic stomach trouble, heart disease and was generally as weak as you will find sick old women of sixty-five. At that time I began to use Grape-Nuts food and from the very first it began to build me up. Soon I came to a condition of perfect health because I can always digest this food and it is full of nourishment. All my heart and stomach troubles are gone. I soon gained between 15 and 20 pounds and have never lost it. I can now do a hard day's work.

"Certainly this is the greatest food I ever struck. It gave me strength and ambition and courage and I try to do all the good I can by telling people what it has done for me. Many of my neighbors use it and are doing fine.

"I had the grip the latter part of the winter and for four weeks ate absolutely nothing but Grape-Nuts and came out of the sickness nicely. That will show you how strong and sturdy I am. Truly it is wonderful food to do such things for one of my age." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ENDORSEMENT OF DAVIS K. DOYLE.

I herewith present some letters of recommendation which I hope will introduce me favorably to those voters of Erath County with whom I have not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance.

Mr. H. H. Hathaway, who is taking an interest in my race, but who has known me only a few years, wrote some letters of inquiry and has handed me some of the replies which was received. Permission has been obtained from the writers to publish the following. I knew nothing of what was contained in these letters until they were given me by Mr. Hathaway; some of them are perhaps better than I deserve. Trusting you will give them a careful reading and consideration, I am

Yours truly,

DAVIS DOYLE.

Stephenville, Tex., June 7, '04.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: Your favor of the 2nd at hand. In reply will say:

I have known Mr. Doyle since his boyhood days. In school with my children, on the farm, as a struggling teacher and as a reporter. Have been associated with him in several ways. As a man, Mr. Doyle has a clean record, and, according to my judgment is in every way well qualified to fill the position to which he aspires. He has at all times shown himself to be in the right on all questions. He has at all times bravely declared himself on the side of right, honor and high principled manhood

I am sure that if Mr. Doyle be elected that his supporters will have no cause to regret their choice. Very truly yours, J. L. Hansel.

Johnsville, Tex., June 7th, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: Yours of the 2nd received, would say in reply to your inquiry in regard to Davis Doyle's fitness and qualification for the office to which he aspires that Davis is one of the cleanest and most considerate young men I have ever known. Moral on all lines; his qualifications are good. He taught our school two years and know that he is kind in his manner and pleasant to do business with. He is, you might say, a self-made young man. If elected would fill the office with honor to the county and himself. Hope you will do all you can to help elect him. Yours truly, C. L. Winborne.

Proctor, Tex., June 6, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear sir: I am very glad of the opportunity of answering your questions. I have lived in a stone's throw of Mr. Doyle for the past three years; and I know no man in Erath or any adjacent county that I think better qualified or suited for tax collector. He was my Sunday school teacher for nine months. I know he is a perfect upright gentleman.

I am very intimately acquainted with Mr. Doyle and can recommend him as a most efficient man for the position. Yours truly,

L. T. Green.

Huckabay, Tex., June 4, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: Yours of June 2nd to hand. Am glad to answer your queries as follows.:

I have known Mr. Doyle about 14 or 15 years. Our first relation was that of teacher and pupil, whom I have seen grow into one of our best Christian characters and most honorable citizens. As to his fitness and qualifications for the office to which he aspires, I do not believe we have any better qualified or more worthy young men in our citizenship.

I can heartily endorse Mr. Doyle on any and all lines.

Yours to command in interest of Doyle,

W. N. Jonhson.

Dublin, Tex., June 6, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: You wrote to me for information of Mr. Davis Doyle as a man and his qualification for the office of tax collector of Erath county.

I can say for Mr. Doyle as a man, he is a religious man and always has been since I knew him. I have known him for ten or twelve years and he always was for the right and tried to do good wherever he was and could.

I think the people would do well to elect Mr. Doyle to the office he is running for. I think he is well qualified to fill the office. He has been a prohibitionist all the time. I take pleasure in giving the information to you. Yours truly,

W. C. Williams.

Johnsville, Tex., June 3, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

I have gone to school to Mr. Doyle two terms and have known him about ten years. I have found him to be an all-round man. He is a man of truth and right, and I know him to be fit and qualified for the office to which he aspires. Very truly, Silas Evans.

Cowan, Tex., June 13, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: Have just read your letter or statement in regard to Davis Doyle. I have know Mr. Doyle intimately for about four years, having attended a school to which he has been a loyal friend. I regard him as a man of honor, one who will reflect honor on the office to which he aspires. I have met and known no one whom I thought stood more firmly for principle and right. Yours truly, —— ——

Selden, Tex., June 10, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: I wish to say in reply to your inquiry of the 2nd, that I have been acquainted with Davis Doyle for about eight or nine years, and that in him I have found a perfect gentleman; honest and upright, always for the best interest of his country. As to his ability, can say that he is fully qualified to fill the office to which he aspires.

In my judgment we could not make a better selection for tax collector. Yours truly,

(The signatures to the last two letters are withheld because permission to use them has not yet been asked for.)

Stephenville, Tex., June 6, 1904.
Mr. H. H. Hathaway.

Dear Sir: Your letter of inquiry concerning Davis Doyle and his fitness to fill the office of tax collector received. In reply will say that I have known Davis Doyle since he was a barefooted boy, fifteen years ago. I am proud that I can say that his general deportment and Christian character is as pure as can be, without spot or blemish and far above reproach. Young Doyle and myself were door-neighbors at Pilot Knob, where he taught his first school, and it was there that the parents of the children of that community learned his real value for good, and that he was a natural born leader for good. He led in the Sunday school, led in the prayer-meeting, and in fact led in everything for good calculated to inspire the boys and girls to higher and nobler walks of life.

I will say that if the people of Erath county want to fill the office of tax collector with a man who was never known to lead his neighbors' boys into temptation then Davis Doyle is your man, and I cheerfully recommend him to you as such.

W. S. Norris.

AT THE BIG WORLD'S FAIR

Observationist Man Takes in the Exposition Rates Reasonable—Well Worth Seeing.

The writer returned last week from the world's fair at St. Louis, the greatest of all expositions the world has ever known. To visit this fair is to take glimpse of nearly every nation of the world and it is well worth the time and money necessary to go and see it. It is too big to attempt to describe—colossal, gorgeous and apparently beyond the conception of the mind of man in its splendor. No grander sight was ever seen than that which presents itself in early evening when millions of electric lights flash and turn night into day, sheding a glow over the white city, which, with the music of bands and the song of the Italian mingling its echoes with the falling of the waters of the cascades, enchants the observer, and he soliloquises: a paradise, this. Then he comes to himself and realizes that it is but the creation of man.

Everything is on a ponderous scale. There is nothing small about the fair except the admission fee. And we mean what we say, for no one living now will ever again have an opportunity to see so much for fifty cents. Even many of the shows along the Pike are enormous in magnitude and equipment, a number of them costing from half a million to a million dollars to inaugurate. Many of them operate their own electric plants. The electric light plant of the Dublin Light and Power Cc. is a baby beside the electric plant necessary to run the "Alps," one of the best shows of the Pike. We merely mention this to give one an idea of the fair as a whole.

The impression prevails that hotel rates and everything else has been raised to exhorbitant prices and that one cannot go to St. Louis and visit the fair for much less than $10 per day. This is all a mistake. One can live in St. Louis now just as cheaply as before the fair. Nice rooms can be secured at $1.00 per day and splendid meals can be had at twenty-five cents at first class restaurants down town and good meals can be had inside the grounds for fifty cents. Lunches inside the grounds can be had at about the same price one pays at lunch stands at railroad eating houses, and it is all an error about one having to pay for water, unless he or she so desires. All the state buildings furnish free ice water in abundance and are provided with ample chairs and resting places, but as a matter of convenience watering stands have been conveniently placed throughout the grounds and in many of the exposition buildings where one can drop a one cent piece into a slot and a glass of water is mechanically drawn for the thirsty individual, but if one does not want to give up a cent for water, we beg to say that walking is good at the fair, as the streets are either concrete or asphalt, and there is free ice water at the Texas building. Free toilet rooms are scattered throughout the grounds. The admisison to the grounds entitles one to see in a day and half a night more than he can see to save his life in six months. Everything is free except grub and the shows on the Pike and he is not compelled to partake of either of these unless he wants to; he can content himself with walking up and down the Pike from 7 a. m., to 12 at midnight, where he will see more interestnig sights free than he would see by attending the ex-confederate re-union in Dublin a life time. You can ride ten or more miles on the street car for five cents, take a trip twenty miles down the Mississippi and back for a quarter and get a glass of beer on the fair grounds (we are told) for five cents. The fact is, that a person of economical pocket book can pay for his room, admission into the grounds, meals and see two or three shows, which costs twenty-five cents each, for $3.50 per day. The writer stopped at the American, a hotel of five hundred rooms, paying $1.00 for a 100m and fifty cents for meals, and the meals are equally as good as the meals for which one pays seventy-five cents at the Worth hotel at Ft. Worth. This is the most convenient hotel to the grounds, being located within two blocks of the main entrance to the fair and immediately on a street car line leading to the city.

Texas is well represented at the fair. Her state building is unique and one of the most attractive state buildings on the grounds, her exhibit in the agricultural building is superior to all and we felt a pardonable pride in mentioning the fact that we were from Texas when we would hear some one comment upon the beauty of the exhibit and the varied products of the state. Her fruit, wood and mineral exhibits are creditable, but are out classed by several states, especially by California in the display of fruits.

If we had the time and space and felt equal to the task, we would attempt to give a faint description of the fair. We say faint description because with all the time and space and all our energy and imagination thrown into the effort, we could paint but the shadow of the picture.

If you have not traveled much, go, for there you will see and learn of the possibilites of your own country, the ingenuity of man, and the greatness of other nations than could be obtained in months of travel, and if you do go, take our advice and as soon as you get inside the grounds provide yourself with a map of the fair, locate the directions and begin a systematic effort to see the "world in a nut shell," taking a little note book along in which to jot down certain exhibits that you desire to remember, for, if you do not, if your friends should ask you two hours after leaving a certain building what you saw in there the chances are two to one that you could not tell him a half dozen things that you remember having seen. There are so many objects to be seen and they crowd themselves upon one's vision with such rapidity that but few things become impressed upon the record of the mind that they may be recalled. Decide each morning sufficiently what buildings you will visit and select them by groupes, thereby curtailing your walking as much as possible. Visit the exposition during the day and take in the Pike at night. We visitd same thirty shows and they were all high class entertainments and more than worth the admission fee charged. The most commendable are the "Alps," "Irish City," "Hereafter," "Naval Display," "Hale's Fire Fighters," "Galveston Flood," "From New York to the North Pole.," "Trip from St. Petersberg to Port Arthur," "Battle Abby," "Palais de Costume," "Scenic Railway," "Jerusalem," "Under and Over the Sea," "Esquama Village," "Philippine Reservation." "Cummins' Wild West Show," See this latter show in the afternoon and you should take a trip on the Ferris wheel, from which a magnificent view of the grounds is obtained.—Observationist.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This remedy is certain to be needed in almost every home before the summer is over. It can always be depended upon even in the most severe and dangerous cases, It is especially valuable for summer disorders in children. It is pleasant to take and never fails to give prompt relief. Why not now? It may save life. For sale by Overton Drug Co.

Wednesday was probably the hottest day this season. The heat of the sun was terrific and what little cool breeze that stirred was most welcome.

To the Erath County Voters.

To the Democracy of Erath County:

Senator R. V. Davidson of Galveston county is a candidate for attorney general, subject to the primaries to be held July 9th. I have known Senator Davidson intimately since 1876, when we were both young men.

I wish to commend him to the people of this section. He was from North Carolina and his people are old-time southern people. Robert Vence Davidson is a worthy descendant of the Vances and Davidsons of the old state. As a man he stands clean and honorable and his life is an inspiration to those young men who are to see in the elevation of man a commendation of what is good and noble. His abilities are of the first order. He is one of the big men of our state. Mentally he is the peer of anyone. As a lawyer no one stands higher. His record is embodied in the reports of our courts. His own section has supported him almost unanimously. Plain, unassuring, quiet, his abilities and character force him to the front, and his friends urge him forward, as I, who know him so well, and love him, do now. Vote for him and in so doing vote for Texas.—Lee Young. 6-2t

Erath County Union.

The Erath County Farmer's union is hereby called to meet at Stephenville on July 11th, 1904, instead of at Hannibal on July 14th, as the state president, J. C. Murray, will be there on that day and wants to bring some important business before the union.

Please give us a full delegation and send your credentials to H. B. Clark, Tempest, Texas, in time for him to get them before the meeting. Very truly,

W. N. Perkins, President.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Overton Drug Co.

Attention Democrats.

All eyes are now turned toward St. Louis, where soon will be chosen the leader of democratic ideals in the contest for our country's government. And added to this event so fraught with destiny, is the attraction of the greatest exposition ever held.

No good citizen of either party can look upon this triumph of civilization without feeling a thrill of gratefulness to the founder of democracy, whose patriotism and wisdom made possible this nation's greatness, and especially does the sentiment appeal to that almost innumerable company who are devoted to his principles in these far off days.

The Rock Island runs all of its trains directly to the fair grounds, stopping at the main entrance, where you can alight if you wish to avoid the crowd up town—at any rate you get a view of the great world's fair, which will be with you during the convention, and when your duties are done you can return to the full enjoyment of the exposition.

We pass through a new and interesting country, with scenery of beauty on every side.

Our rates are very low. Rally a crowd and go. Write for particulars to W. H. Firth, G. P. & T. A., C., R. I. & G. Ry., Fort Worth, Texas.

3. A more active interest in school matters throughout the state generally. This is shown by advance along several lines.

More rapidly than ever before have rural districts organized themselves into independent school districts, assuming local control of their school interests. These independent school districts have built better school houses, and have lengthened their school terms by added local support.

During the past two years there has been an increase of about 100 per cent in the number of school districts that supplement by local funds the state apportionment.

4. Mr. Lefevre favored the re-enactment of the uniform text book law, and worked hard to secure legislation providing for the introduction of manual training into the public schools.

5. His rulings have been wise and helpful. Under one of his rulings there is now a more just distribution of the state school funds than formerly.

When we undertake to estimate the relative numbers of teachers and school officials supporting each of the rival candidates we pass into a region of speculation and guess-work from which we cannot emerge into a land of certainty until after July 9. Column after column of space could be filled with names of teachers, county judges, county superintendents, county examiners, school trustees and many others of the wisest, most patriotic and most progressive of citizens of Texas, who believe Mr. Lefevre has rendered valuable service to the educational interests of Texas, and who further believe that he is entitled to another term and are going to support him. Only today a warm personal friend of Mr. Cousins' said to me that while he was for Cousins he believed Lefevre would win, saying that he believed he was about the only public school teacher in his county who was for Mr. Cousins. All over the state are to be found trustees, county judges, and county superintendents who state that Mr. Lefevre has made a most efficient state superintendent and are doing all they can to secure his re-election. Here in McLennan county are hosts of the most intelligent merchants, farmers, mechanics, lawyers, teachers, preachers, doctors, and men of all other occupations who are heartily supporting Mr. Lefevre.

As Democrats how can we do anything else? Custom has established as one of the fundamental principles of Democracy that the voters show their appreciation of honest and capable service by re-electing for a second term the faithful men whom they have once voted into office. Why should an exception be made in the present instance? Mr. Lefevre filled out the unexpired term of Hon. J. S. Kendall and was then elected to his present term. Having made a good officer he ought to be given another term, and I believe the Democracy of Texas will see that he is given another term, and the loyal Democrats of McLennan county will not lag behind the rest of the state in showng their recognition of faithful, efficient service.

Yours for time-honored Democratic customs and principles.

Over a Thousand Were Drowned.

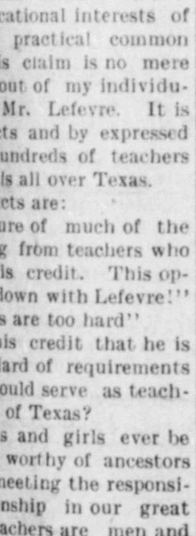

The terrible catastrophe of the sinking of the excursion boat, General Slocum, with sixteen hundred persons on board in East river, New York city last week, has invoked messages of smypathy from all over the world. The boat had been engaged by the Sunday school classes of the German Lutheran church and a majority of the excursionists were women and children. The steamer caught fire and was burned to the waters' edge and sank with all on board who had not previousy jumped into the stream, which at that point, designated "Hell Gate," was very rough and swift. Nine hundred bodies have been recovered from the water and it is thought the list of dead will reach more than one thousand.

Wants to Prohibit Tobacco.

Erath county went pro Saturday by a decisive majority. This puts Somervell and every adjoining county in the "dry" column. We hope the success of the prohibitionists with the liquor question will develop some effort on their part to enforce the law relating to the sale of tobacco. If we are not mistaken it is against the law to sell or give tobacco to a boy less than sixteen years of age. The prohibitionists claim the use of tobacco tends to create an appetite for intoxicants. Nearly every day some of the kids of Glen Rose can be seen smoking or chewing. Now that intoxicants are voted out of this entire section, it is time the kindergarten for drunkards was abolished. Will the prohibitionists hew to the line?—Glen Rose Herald.

IN THE KOREAN COURT

GUEST AT A STATE BANQUET.

Dining Hall Furnished With European Furniture and Well Heated. Table Richly Decorated and Cooking Exquisite—Emperor Remained Invisible Behind a Curtain During Feast—Novel Pastime of Dancers.

In a recent number of the Tour du Monde of Paris Dr. Hagen, who has traveled in Korea, recounts in a most interesting way his impressions of the country and its people. Of especial interest is Dr. Hagen's description of an audience and of a state banquet at the court of Korea, says the London Globe.

"When the time fixed for the audience arrived we entered into a very lofty room, the carpets of which were by no means costly. Behind a table sat the emperor with the crown princes and the eunuchs. The Emperor Li Hsi thanked us for our visit and asked us how our trip was progressing and whether we intended to remain a long time in Korea. The crown prince asked us exactly the same questions. He is about thirty years old; he has an inert look, a beardless fleshy face, and thus he does not give one the impression of being healthy and capable of doing much. He has several wives, but no children. He himself is the son of one of Li Hsi's concubines. He certainly will not ascend the throne without a great deal of trouble. The Japanese already have another crown prince in readiness at Yokohama. This latter prince has joined the Japanese, and he will be supported by them when the proper time comes. The crown prince joined but very little in the conversation; even the simple questions that he asked were suggested to him by the leader of the eunuchs. It is scarcely to be supposed that the crown prince will ever think of shaking himself free from the influence of that powerful and feared caste, whose role in Korea, as in China in olden times, is noxious. At the end of the audience, which had lasted scarcely twenty minutes, the emperor took his leave of us in a few amiable words.

"Before dinner we were offered a glass of vermouth in the next room. The dining room was well heated and furnished with European furniture. The table was decked out richly with cutlery, glass, linen, flowers and fruits. The cooking was exquisite, and the wines were many and good. For some years the imperial household has been managed by a lady from Alsace, and she knows her duty very well. Formerly the dinner would have cost the emperor $100 per guest; now each guest costs him only about $20.

"Korean servants wearing the national garb waited upon us most attentively and noiselessly. It seemed amusing to us that the emperor remained invisible behind a curtain during the dinner. Still, he kept himself informed of all that happened at table and asked repeatedly what impression the foreigners were receiving. The Koreans present were fully acquainted with the manners of the west, and they did not offend either the rules of etiquitte or those of 'good form.'

"After the dinner the room was turned into a concert hall for the entertainments that were to be given. In the outer hall played some thirty musicians, squatting upon the ground, mandolins, guitars and other stringed instruments, as also drums and tambourines. To foreigners the Korean music seems to be only ear splitting, for it has no rules of melody and is monotonous. At first appeared only two men clad in very rich garments to represent a lion and a tiger. They danced around to the music, rubbed together their noses as they uttered weird sounds, and then they vanished.

"Thereupon about a dozen female dancers appeared in beautiful gold shimmering colors and with their hats and other head coverings decked with flowers and with sandals and well fitting white stockings on their small feet. Although they were young and pretty their faces were much painted. Round their necks and on their foreheads they wore pendants, and their dresses were covered with filigree. Their names were pretty, for they were taken from flowers and trees. These dancers belonged to the demimonde of Korea. At first they entered in pairs, went through various movements and each crowned her partner with flowers. Then a large screen was opened in the room and a dancer took her place on either side of it. Near the top of the screen a rather large hole had been made, through which a dancer had to throw a flower to be caught by her partner on the other side. There were fixed rules for this pastime. If the thrower missed the hole, but could pick up the flower before it touched the ground, then she could begin again and go on until she managed to throw it through. When she had done that a flower was stuck in her hair, but she at once pulled it out to present it to one of the audience. If the flower falls to the ground, then the thrower has to pay a penalty.

"This lively game was followed by a pantomime, which represented a family squabble between a man, his wife and her friend. The evening came to an end with dancing and singing by the soldiers of the Pingyang regiment. At midnight we took our leave."

Experiments With Camels.

Experiments are being made at Cairo, Egypt, to see if camels can be used as draft animals. They are hitched to two wheeled wagons and sent into the desert. Their utility in this line has always been heretofore doubted.

FACTS OF RECORD vs. STATEMENTS

"I regret that circumstances force me to this means of campaigning, but in view of the present commissioner, L. R. Mayfield, has circulated a statement which reflects upon the financial ability of the Commissioners Court of which I was a member, I deem an explanation in order.

Mr. Mayfield's statement in reference to the county poor farm is misleading and calculated to deceive the voters. He makes a pretty showing for the farm under the present management, but says nothing of the fifteen or sixteen pensioners upon whom the county expends over $1000 annually. Formerly there were no pensioners, but all subjects of charity were required on the farm. While I was not opposed to pensioning deserving cases, a majority of the court was. This of course increased the expense of the farm, but lessened the expense to the county.

He says nothing of the forty acres of land we cleared, the several houses we built and the grubs we took out of the whole farm. He says nothing of the good teams we had, with which we did work on the road at a cost of $5.00, while the present commissioners are forced to pay $15.00 to accomplish the same work, nor of the revenue they received from the sale of these same teams.

But his statement in reference to the court house bonds is still more misleading. He makes it appear they have paid off in three years, more court house bonds than were paid in nine years under previous administrations. He tries to hoodwink the voters into believing that all these bonds have been paid except $10,500. His statement shows that they have paid fifty-eight bonds. He does not tell you that in reality they only paid off thirteen bonds, or $6,500. the remainder having been BORROWED from the permanent school fund and is still as much an outstanding obligation as ever.

He says nothing about the county treasurer having been forced to borrow $3,000 from the banks last August, September and October, paying the interest out of his own pockets, in order to avoid issuing scrip.

He tells you nothing about the taxes having been raised from 93 to 99 2-3 cents on the one hundred dollars, with a rendition of something like a million dollars more than under the previous court and a consequent increase in revenue of over $7,000. The present road and bridge fund is over $13,000, while from 1896 to 1900, it was only about $7,000, yet at no time did we ever issue scrip or force the treasurer to borrow money on his own account to pay the county's obligations.

A candidate is evidently hard pressed for argument when he will juggle figures to mislead the people in any such manner, and especially when a little inquiry will convince any one of the deception.

Respectfully,
JNO. M. KIKER."

To the Voters of Commissioners Precinct N. 2 of Erath county, Texas.

In reply to the statement published in the Telephone of last week, signed by John M. Kiker, and hereby reproduced above, I have the following to say in behalf of myself.

First, I will state to the voters of Precinct No. 2, that I have never forced Mr. Kiker or any one else into campaigning through the news papers: the first and only article that I have written and had published was simply a record of my stewardship since I have been commissioner of your county and I deem it proper and believe that every officer has a right to let the people know what he has done in their behalf since they have elected him.

Second, In reply to what Mr. Kiker has to say about the County Poor Farm, I have this statement to make. While Mr. Kiker was commissioner there were many paupers who were permitted to stay at their homes or where they wished, and they received a sum of money from the county each month. Their names and allowances are as folows: J. M. Chenaut, $3.00, began April, 1896; Mrs. Malisa Jlount, June, 1896, $5.00; G. K. Driskill, August, 1896, $10.00; John Bybee, $15.00; C. Cite, September 1896, $4.00; Mrs. Pitman, February, 1897, $5.00; John Zimmerman, June, 1898, $15.00; Mrs. M. A. Barton, June, 1898, $5.00; M. A. Barton, June, 1899, $5.00; Mrs. Rich, June, 1899, $5.00. The above amounts were paid to each of the above named parties per month, aggregating $904.00 paid per annum to all of them. There are nine of these paupers that I have been able to find on the county commissioner's docket; there may be several more, but I have not had time to hunt them up. So you can readily see that the statement that all the paupers of the county stayed on the poor farm during his administration is a mistake.

As for the amount of work Mr. Kiker claims to have been done on the farm and the grubs taken out and the houses he built, I will say that most all this labor was done with convicts.

As for the amount the court has paid out for work on the roads I have this to state: That Mr. Kiker used the grader three months out of the year, while he was commissioner, and in the month of November, 1898, he drew a draft on the treasury for the sum of $580.55 to pay this expense for one month; it does not seem to me that it only cost him $5.00 per day. There are more roads in our county now than ever before, and we have better roads. The cost for each days' work now with the grader is $12.00 per day, while the records show that during Mr. Kiker's administration the cost was $22.34 per day, so the difference can be very easily seen.

Now in refernce to the court house bonds. We have taken up and paid off on the court house debt in the last three years $10,500.00, the balance was in permanent school funds, which makes 29,500.00 which we have taken up from the state and the interest on the 19,000.00 still held by the county goes into the public school fund of Erath county.

Now in reference to the county treasurer borrowing $3,000 from the bank: I will state that this was done on his own responsibility and that Erath county was not being held responsible for his acts.

Now about the raising of the taxes: We raised the taxes five per cent the first year after I was elected, and the voters will remember that this was the year that we had so many smallpox cases and the county was at such an expense to care for them; this was the reason they were raised. The next year they were placed back to what they formerly were, to wit: 94¾ cents on the one hundred dollars; they have never been raised to 99⅔ cents on the one hundred dollars but for one year, so this is a mistake about the court raising the taxes and if Mr. Kiker will look he can see for himself.

Mr. Kiker says the present road and bridge fund is $13,000, but this is a mistake; it is only $9,000, and out of that amount Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 gets $3,799.45, which is her pro rata share in proportion to the amount of taxes she pays, and she has never gotten her part of this fund till this year. Mr. Kiker will remember that at the time he was in office there were not so many roads as there are now, and he will know that it takes more money to keep up many roads than it takes to keep a few—anyone will know this. Mr. Kiker will further remember that we used to have but ten weeks of district court in this county, but since the county has become more densely populated and there is more litigation and more crime in our county because of the greater number of people, there is an enormous expense to the county and this was not the case when he was your commissioner. Mr. Kiker well knows that the expenses of the district court when the grand jury is in session will average $125.00 per day and this has to be paid out of the jury fund, and there is no provision for the jury except the occupation taxes of the county, and the money that is received from the sale of estrays, which there are but very few now, hence the jury fund is short now and has always been.

I am not as hard up for argument as Mr. Kiker would have you believe. Facts are facts, and I, as a candidate, desire the voters of Precinct No. 2 to know the condition of things now compared to what they were when Mr. Kiker was in. I do not desire to mislead the people and could not do so if I so desired, because our every act is made of record and is open to the public for inspection. Mr. Kiker cannot say that since I have been commissioner there has ever been any money loaned out of the permanent school fund to private individuals, but I can truthfully state while he was your commissioner he loaned out several hundred dollars to private individuals and took their promisory notes, an act for which there is absolutely no law to back. The county money belongs to the county and there is no law givng a commissioner the right to loan it to individuals. Some of these notes, it is true, have been paid, but several of them have never been paid, and are barred by the statute of limitation. I have had very grave charges brought against me and have been accused of divers and sundry things, but have never been charged with violating the law since I have been your commissioner of Precinct No. 2, and hope that as your commissioner I will never do a thing that would be a violation of the law.

Another item I will call your attention to and then I am through. The ex-officio fee of a county commissioner is $90.00 per quarter and no more, according to the statute that regulate these fees; but in the month of November, 1899, Mr. Kiker received $147.62 ex-officio, and in the month of August, 1900, he received $122.00 ex-officio; this is what the books in the county treasurer's office show. I submit these facts to the voters of Erath county and ask them to consider them between now and the 9th day of July. I regret very much to place these facts in print before the eyes of the public, but think it my duty to do so in view of the inuendoes that have been thrown at me in reference to the county finances. Very Truly,

L. R. MAYFIELD.

FOOD FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

The more natural diet is more palatable, invigorating and strengthening to body and mind—right to the contrary with unnatural, improperly prepared food, which stunts the growth, dwarfs the mind, causes a lack of will power and steadiness of nerve. No doubt that fifty per cent of the failures in life can be traced to improper diet when young.

Attention Erath County Voters.

On account of certain reports having been circulated in different parts of the county derogatory to the character and standing of Geo. F. Parker, candidate for County Treasurer, the following testimonials from prominent citizens who have known him from his boyhood as an upright, honorable and industrious young man in every sense of the word, will prove of interest to the voting public. His standing as a citizen is unquestioned; his character is irreproachable, and he justly deserves the support of everyone in the race he is making for the important office of County Treasurer of Erath County. Read the fullowing testimonials and you cannot help but be convinced as to his fitness for the position.

To whom it may concern:

Dublin, Texas, June 28, 1904.

Having heard some reports detrimental to the former life of Geo. F. Parker I feel it my duty to state to the public that I have know him since small boyhood, and at various times have worked side by side with him in the hay fields and other places, and have always found him to be an extraordinarily industrious young man. I also attended school with him and he always proved himself to be of a noble and clean character. Geo. T. Cargile.

To whom it may concern:

Dublin, Texas, June 27, 1904.

The undersigned has kown Geo. F. Parker since his childhood. During a considerable time he resided across the street in Dublin from me and therefore on that account I had every occasion to know him and to know his character and his habits.

Mr. Parker has always struck me as a young man of particularly industrious habits and of a moral character worthy to be held up as an example. I have known him to do other work than men's work when he was really not able to be out of his bed and he did not do these things because he was absolutely compelled to, but altogether of his own volition upon the grounds that, afflicted as he was, he did not think it right that he should become a burden upon his aged parents.

These statements I make because I learn that the young man has been misrepresented by parties who do not know but who claim that he is not industrious and that he depends upon others. I can freely say that he is the most industrious young man that I ever knew, considering his physical infirmities, and I know that he has continously labored and attempted to labor when the act was an absolute detriment to his health and a strain upon his constitution and upon his strength.

I do not believe there can be found in all of Erath county a young man more deserving in all respects than he. J. S. Daley, Publisher Progress.

To the voters of Erath county:

Dublin, Texas, June 28, 1904.

I have been informed that it is being circulated by someone that Mr. Geo. F. Parker, who is making the race for Treasurer of Erath county, is a person that has never worked for a living with the exception of the past two years, during which time he has filled the office of assessor and collector of Dublin.

That Geo. Parker is willing and has always worked more than he was physically able to do is known to those intimately acquainted with him. I have seen him at various times driving the "chuck" wagon and doing the cooking for Higginbotham Bros. when they were gathering up and driving cattle, when he was not physically able to do that kind of work. And when he was not able to do outside work, I have seen and known him to assist his sisters in sewing, and doing other kinds of housework and at other times doing fancy needle work and placing the same on sale in order to make an honest living. How anyone could afford to circulate such reports derogatory to as worthy a young man as Geo. F. Parker, and afflicted as he is with rheumatism, I cannot understand. Respectfully,

Jno. G. Harris.

To whom it may concern:

Dublin, Texas, June 29, 1904.

In behalf of Mr. George F. Parker of Dubiln, who is making the race for Treasurer of Erath county, and to correct a report that has gained some circulation to the effect that he has never worked before his election to the office of assessor and collector of Dublin in 1902, I desire to say:

Mr. Parker has been afflicted the most of his life with rheumatism, on account of which he has for the greater portion of the time been unable to perform manual labor. That he has not and will not do any kind of legitimate work in order to make a living is absolutely false, and such reports are circulated for no other purpose than to injure a most worthy young man.

Mr. Parker is a young man of irreproachable character; honest, moral, temperate and industrious. When Mr. W. S. Young and myself put up hay on the Lee Young ranch near Dublin he worked for us and did all he was able tc do. There is not a man in Dublin who can truthfully say that Geo. Parker will not work. He is a graduate of the Dublin High Schools and is in every way well qualified to fill the position to which he aspires. He is a democrat, has always been one and has no apology to make for being one.

I hope you will support him by your vote, as well as with your influence. Very truly, W. S. Messner.

To whom it may concern:

Dublin, Texas, June 29th, 1904.

In behalf of the candidacy of George F. Parker, of Dublin, who is making the race for Treasurer of this county, we wish to make the following statements:

We have been personally acquainted with George F. Parker for years and know him to be honest and upright in all his dealings, moral, temperate, industrious, and well qualified to fill the office for which he is running. Notwithstanding his being afflicted with rheumatism, which for a greater portion of the time rendered him unable to perform manual labor, we have known him to work in cotton and hay fields at times when he was in absolute misery. We have known him to drive delivery wagons for the merchants in Dublin, and in fact do any kind of honest work in order to earn a living. We have seen him at times when he was unable to get out of bed, propped up on pillows, doing fancy needle work, which was placed in the stores of Dublin for sale.

There are parties in this county who, we are informed, are circulating reports derogatory to the character and standing of Geo. Parker, and in answer to same we desire to say that any report of whatever kind, or by whomsoever circulated, which reflects in any way upon the character, reputation and standing of George, is absolutly false, and the person or persons circulating the same are doing so either ingorantly or for the purpose of injuring a most worthy young man. G. B. Maloney. Alex Maloney.

A considerable number of the Dublin people who left two weeks ago on a special car to visit the fair at St. Louis; have returned and report a most enjoyable trip. Most of them returned last Saturday, though Capt. Smith and wife and T. L. Higginbotham and family remained for a longer time. M. C. Witcher and wife stopped over in Ft. Worth for a brief visit with relatives and W. C. Akard and family stopped at Springfield, Mo., for a visit with relatives.

Home Endorsement of Geo. F. Parker

Candidate For County Treasurer of Erath County.

We, the undersigned citizens of Dublin, without regard to political or sectarian beliefs, fully and unhesitatingly vouch for Mr. Geo. F. Parker as a young man whom we know to be rthy in all respects; of exceptional moral character and a young man whose influence and deportment cannot fail to be for the best interests of all the people and especially the rising young n of the country. We know him to be well educated in the best schools of the county and fully qualified to creditably and honorably fill any position which he is likely to ask of the p'e. We further know that he is imbued with the spirit of enterprise, progression and energy which seems miraculous in view of the physical misfortunes under which he labored since childhood. We unhesitatingly say that he is deserving of every good will and absolute confidence. He is now a candidate for the office of County Treasurer of th County and for this position we consider him peculiarly fitted.

The present week is the last one prior to the democratic primaries to be held July 9th to thin the candidates down to a stand and this being the case each candidate is anxious to get one last presentation of his case to the voters, if he has anything special to present. The appearance of this issue of the Progress in this respect would indicate that they have confidence that the paper reaches the voters, as the greater portion of the paper is given up to this class of reading matter. For this we have no excuse to offer, though regretting that many conditions of the present week prevented the publication of double the ordinary number of pages in order to give place to much news matter that without the extra pages is necessarily lacking. We hope the candidates using the Progress will be given a fair hearing.

The scholastic population of Dublin, according to the recently taken census, was 597, of which number 585 were white and twelve colored. The enumerator has learned of several children whom he had missed and will file a supplemental report which will bring the scholastic population of Dublin to over six hundred. There will also be something like one hundred transfers to this district and the enrollment of overs and unders is expected to also easily reach one hundred more, making a total of over eight hundred to attend the school the coming term.

The Whitney ball team, including three ex-league players, is booked for a series of games with the Dublin team on the new ball grounds at the park next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The grounds are being prepared by the Athletic Association and will be in first class condition and it is believed that this will be the best contest ever witnessed on the Dublin diamond. The games will be called about 3:30 in the afternoon.

Prof. Gaylord Kline, who taught Latin and English in the Dublin schools last year and who was recently re-elected to the same position for the coming term, has been elected and has accepted the position of superintendent of the public school at De Leon.

The tent meeting begun Sunday morning last by Rev. E. L. Compere of the Baptist church in south Dublin on the lot formerly occupied by Peeples' gin, is attracting considerable interest and attendance. The meeting will continue at the present location all next week and it will then probably be removed to north Dublin.

The board of equalization for the city of Dublin met yesterday afternoon to canvass the tax renditions for this year. The board is composed of Messrs. H. E. Brown, J. B. Waldo and M. C. Witcher.

TWO STEPS

The Last One Helps the First.

A sick coffee drinker must take two steps to be rid of his troubles and get strong and well again.

The first is to cut off coffee absolutely.

That removes the destroying element. The next step is to ta ke liquid food (and that is Postum Food Coffee) that has in it the elements nature requires to change the blood corpuscles from pale pink or white to rich red, and good red blood builds good strong and healthy cells in place of the broken down cells destroyed by coffee. With well boiled Postum Food Coffee to shift to, both these steps are easy and pleasant. The experience of a Georgian proves how important both are.

"From 1872 to the year 1900 my wife and I had both been afflicted with sick or nervous headache and at times we suffered untold agony. We were coffee drinkers and did not know how to get away from it for the habit is hard to quit.

But in 1900 I read of a case similar to ours where Postum Coffee was used in place of the old coffee and a complete cure resulted, so I concluded to get some and try it.

The result was, after three days use of Postum in place of the old coffee I never had a symptom of the old trouble and in five months I had gained from 145 pounds to 163 pounds.

'My friends asked me almost daily what wrought the change. My answer always is, leaving off coffee and drinking Postum in its place.

"We have many friends who have been benefited by Postum.

"As to whether or not I have stated the facts truthfully I refer you to the bank of Carrollton or any business firm in that city where I have lived for many years and am well known." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason."

A number of Dublin people, including Revs. Bailey and Wiseman, are attending the Methodist conference at Stephenville this week.

M. C. Witcher and family and Capt. Smith and lady have returned from St. Louis. S. S. Davis and family are yet absent on a visit in Illinois.

J. R. St.Clair and wife, accompanied by Charlie Bartlett and Mrs. G. W. Smith of De Leon, expect to leave next Tuesday to attend the fair at St. Louis.

J. T. Foote and wife left Thursday for Marlin, where Mr. Foote will remain for several weeks while Mrs. Foote will visit her parents at Cotton Gin, Texas.

Judge C. H. Jenkins of Brownwood passed through Dublin last Monday en route to St. Louis to attend the democratic convention to meet there July 9th.

The Eastland county district court, due to begin next Monday, has been postponed to the following Monday on account of the democratic primaries to take place next week.

Prof. M. J. McDonald of Gustine is in Dublin today and will leave tomorrow for St. Louis to attend the fair and incidentally take in the democratic national convention.

Rev. Geo. W. Smith, pastor of the Baptist church at De Leon, and Rev. J. M. Reynolds, pastor for the same church at Cisco, were here this week to attend the Baptist tent meeting.

Account Fourth of July the Texas Central railroad will sell excursion tickets July 3rd and 4th, limited to July 5th for return, between all stations on their line. Rates on convention basis.

The heavy rain of Wednesday night which visitd eDublin reached for several miles to the east and northeast and southeast. There was also considerable wind and much lightning at Dublin, but no damage.

C. C. Scitern, Christian minister at Purves, will begin a protracted meeting at Purves on Friday before the second Sunday in July to continue for ten days or two weeks. He will be assisted in the meeting by Elder A. H. Darnell of Dublin.

Prof. J. B. Jones of De Leon has been elected superintendent of the Granbury public schools in place of Prof. Chastain, who was elected and resigned. The scholastic age has heretofore reached to twenty years in the schools there and this year was reduced to seventeen.

A people's party club was organized in Dublin last Saturday with C. P. Kennedy president, J. K. P. Cline vice-president, Tom McCarley secretary, and D. P. Cline treasurer. There were but twelve charter members to the club, but a number have since joined and it is expected that many others will follow. We understand a club was also organized at Highland.

Editor W. C. Huchingson was last week hurriedly called to Chickasha, I. T., on account of the sudden and serious illness of his baby, which we understand is yet very dangerously ill. The present seriousness is credited to a mistake in a druggist filling a prescription for the child—the mistake having nearly resulted in the immediate death of the child. Mrs. Huchingson and the children were visiting relatives at Chickasha.

ENDORSEMENT OF J. W. PARKER.

We, the undersigned citizens of Stephenville, Erath county, Texas. hereby endorse the candidacy of Judge J. W. Parker for the office of district judge of this district, and for the benefit of those who do not know Judge Parker we desire to make the following statements: That we have known Judge Parker for many years; that we are familiar with his public and private life; that, as a man, we know him to be of high moral Christian character, a consistent member of the church, and one whose public and private life is above reproach; that we have seen him upon the bench as special district judge, and know that he as a judge, is able. fair and impartial, and always has the courage to act regardless of consequences.

In reply to certain circulars that are being circulated to the effect that Judge Parker's opponent is entitled to much credit for disposing of the dockets of this district, we would call attention to the following facts: That during the latter part of Judge Straughan's second term his health failed and it thereby became necessary to order special terms of the district court; that two specials terms—one for five weeks in Erath county, and one of four weeks in Hamilton county—were ordered. Judge Parker held these special terms of court, holding also another regular term for Judge Straughan in the last named county; that by reason of these special terms of court held by Judge Parker, all the cases that could be gotten ready for trial had been disposed of at the time Judge Oxford went upon the bench, and little more than the usual docket existed. Again, soon after the election of Judge Oxford the legislature cut off from this district the two densely populated counties of Coryell and Hamilton, thereby releaving the district of about one-third of the business, and thereby giving one-third more time for holding court in the remaining part of the district. We think that the credit for the disposition of the crowded docket of the district court should be given where it is due, and that the circulars mentioned have in them no real merit.

We desire to further state that on various occasions for the past several years Judge Parker has acted as special District Judge in Erath county, and as such Judge, business was disposed of as rapidly and as orderly as that done by any Judge whom we have seen upon the bench and that, considering the small number of appeals taken, and the large per cent of those cases appealed which were affirmed, his record cannot be beaten in the state.

We would further state that Judge Parker, as a judge and as a man has always commanded the respect and implicit confidence of the lawyers, litigants and the people of this section.

COMPLIMENTS JUDGE PARKER.

Judge J. A. Eidson, one of the associate judges of the court of civil appeals of the third supreme judicial district at Austin, Texas, in a letter to W. R. Strong, a prominent farmer of Erath county, dated April 18, 1904, has the following to say of Judge J. W. Parker, candidate for district judge of this judicial district:

"I have known Judge Parker for many years. I have noticed his course while practicing law at Hamilton, Texas, and while county judge of that county, and I have no hesitancy in saying that in my opinion he is well qualified to fill the office of district judge. He possesses all the requisites for that office in an eminent degree. He is man of strict integrity; is able, fair and impartial as a judge and always has the courage to do right, regardless of consequences. I say this as a private individual and lawyer, without any intention to disparage the merits or qualifications of anyone else"

The above is certainly very complimentary to Mr Parker, coming as it does from so high a source. But no one who knows Judge Parker will question in the least his ability as a judge, or his fairness and high ideal of justice. Should additional evidence be desired, it is only necessary to state that during the two years he served as county judge of Hamilton county, and the ten or twelve weeks from time to time he has served as special district judge, only thirteen cases were appealed that he had tried. Of these only two were reversed by higher courts, and one of these was reversed because of a statement the prosecuting attorney made in his speech before the jury, and not from any mistake of Judge Parker's. There is, we dare say, not a better record in the state—while there are many worse. He is in the first place a good judge of law, is fair and impartial, treating all with consideration and kindness at all times, both on the bench and privately.—Stephenville Empire, May 12, 1904

To The Voters of Erath County.

Huckabay, Texas, November 27, '03.

We, the citizens of Huckabay, Texas, hereby recommend W. T. Lowe as an upright, worthy gentleman of honest and industrious habits. And as Huckabay community has never asked for a county office we hereby solicit him to make the race the coming election for the office of County Treasurer, promising him our hearty suppport and earnestly asking the voters of Erath county to support him; first, as above stated, because we have never before asked your support for a man of our community, and secondly because we offer you a man whose character is clear and one who is worthy and well qualified to fill the office for which he asks:

WILL FULKERSON

Candidate for Tax Assessor.

Will Fulkerson, the subject of this sketch, was born in Faulkner county, Arkansas, (now laugh) on a farm thirty-five years ago on the 22nd of June.

He has been a citizen of Erath county since 1885. From 1885 until 1891 he chopped cotton and thinned corn on a Barton's creek farm.

In 1891 he moved to Stephenville to go to school and went to live witn N. J. Shands, then sheriff of Erath county. He worked around the jail and did chores for his board while he went to school. He became so useful that Shands, a populist, soon after made him his deputy, although Fulkerson and all his family were democrats. He continued in the employ of Shands until 1896, when Frank Freeman was elected sheriff to succeed him. Freeman retained him as his deputy until 1898. In 1900 Will, as he is called by everyone, was elected to the office of city marshal of Stephenville and was ex-officio city assessor and collector, in which capacity he served until May of this year. He is married and has two children.

Personally, Will Fulkerson is one of the most popular men in Erath county. As deputy sheriff he made a most capable officer; and as city marshal he was prompt and efficient in enforcing the law, and at all times courteous and obliging.

During the nineteen years of his residence in Erath county his daily life and conduct has ever been such as to commend him to the citizens of Erath county and render him worthy of the honors they have conferred upon him, and justifies the hope of his friends he will be victorious in this race for assessor of Erath county at the approaching primary.

A False Report.

Inasmuch as there is being a false report circulated over this county for the purpose of injuring me in my race for county judge I wish to make the following statement:

It has been told that I owe Mrs. Dawson a debt and have not paid the debt and refuse to make the matter satisfactory. I never owed Mr. Bill Dawson deceased, nor his estate, nor his wife a cent in my life; I am not now nor never have been under any obligation to them to the extent of one cent.

Soon after I came to Erath county another attorney and myself filed a suit in Hill county, the other attorney procured Mr. Dawson's signature to the cost bond; I took the bond immediately to Mr. Dawson and explained that I could not afford to become responsible on the bond, as I was a new man here, with a family to support and but little means, that I would give up the suit rather than involve myself for the cost, and it his name remained on the bond it must be with that understanding." He stated "that it was all right, let it remain." Mr. Dawson afterward paid some costs in the case.

Mr. Dawson never spoke to me about paying the cost or any part of it.

Soon after his death Mr. Riggs Roberts came to me to settle the matter and get me to refund some of the cost paid by Mr. Dawson. This I refused to do, making to Mr. Roberts the explanation above given, which I supposed was satisfactory, as I never heard of the matter again until I became a candidate for the office of county judge. This is the only business transaction I ever had with Mr. Dawson or any of his family. M. J. THOMPSON.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this, the 27th day of June, 1904.

Letter to Maloney and Company. Dublin, Texas.

Dear Sirs: The trustees of Fair Ground, Cobleskill, N. Y, were glad to pay fifteen cents a gallon more for Devoe; and no wonder. Two other paint agents said it would take 150 gallons of their paint to cover the buildings.

Our agent put it at 125 or less. It took 115. We saved them 35 gallons of paint and painting (worth 4 to 85 a gallon, as the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint) less fifteen cents a gallon on 115 gallons. Say $140.

That's how to count the cost of paint. The cost of putting it on is 3 or 84 a gallon. You see what that means. Go buy Devoe. Yours truly, F. W. Devoe & Co., New York.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say to much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy for sale by Overton Drug Co.

Our farmer friend, W. P. Hallmark, was in last Wednesday with a wagon load of cabbage raised on his farm near Harbin. They were as fine specimens as can be raised anywhere in the union. One of the heads, presented to the Progress editor, tipped the scales at nine and a fourth pounds.

We are requested to say there will be no preaching at the Methodist church next Sunday morning and Sunday night, on account of the pastor being absent in attendance at the quarterly conference.

CONSTIPATION

BIG PRICE FOR A COIN

Silver Dollar of 1804 Sold For $2,000.

RECORD FIGURE FOR THAT SPECIE

Famous United States Coin Purchased by a Pacific Coast Collector. Only Seven In Existence—Rest of Issue, Lost at Sea, Was Sent to Pay Off American Sailors In North Africa.

A United States dollar, now in its one hundredth year, recently began the long trip from Denver to Portland, Ore., after having lain in a Denver collection of coins for more than eighteen years, says a Washington special dispatch to the St. Louis Republic. Though the dollar is about the size of those coined during the present year and contains about the same number of grains of silver, it brought in the neighborhood of $5.35 per grain of pure silver in its combination, and all this because it has been in the one form for 100 years.

The dollar is one of the coinage of 1804, of which there are only seven known to be in existence. It was bought by the late J. V. Dexter at the Chapman sale of coins in 1885. At that time the coin had been but lately secured from a collection in Berlin, being the only one of the dollars that is known to have been in a foreign collection.

Mr. Dexter paid $1,000 for the dollar, having to bid against several other collectors, the price being at that time the largest that had ever been paid for one of the coinage named. Since then one of the other coins has been sold for $1,200, a record that held good until H. G. Brown of Portland, Ore., paid $2,000 for the coin to R. G. Parvin, who succeeded to the ownership of the Dexter collection. Mr. Parvin did not willingly part with the coin at that price, for he had held it as the key piece of his numismatic collection.

About a year ago the story of the Parvin 1804 dollar was printed in papers throughout the country. As a result Mr. Parvin has been receiving letters ever since concerning his collection of rare coins from all parts of the country. A Chicago man tried to buy the dollar, offering up to $1,500, and failed. Then a man in St. Louis tried to get it for a collection to be exhibited at the world's fair.

During these negotiations Mr. Parvin thought he had discovered the limit of bidding and that no man would go over $1,500 in trying to get the coin. So when he was asked to put a price upon it he replied that he was not willing to dispose of it, but had set his price at $2,000.

Mr. Brown did not wait for the slow progress of the United States mail, but telegraphed to send on the dollar. After that telegrams came at the rate of one a day, and while Mr. Parvin was reluctantly placing the dollar in a candy box and labeling it there came another telegram to hurry up the dollar anyway and to send it "C. O. D." if there was no other way. So the dollar started west.

The scarcity of the dollars of the 1804 mintage is explained by an accident at sea. The larger part of the silver dollars of that year were struck off to pay United States soldiers and sailors doing duty in Tripoli, north Africa, and were shipped to that place. The vessel that carried them away from this country was never heard from again, so the entire cargo is supposed to rest somewhere upon the floor of the Atlantic ocean.

Just seven copies of the dollar of that year are in existence, two lying in the mint at Philadelphia and the others being in private collections. In 1858 some copies of the coin of 1804 were struck off, being known as "restrikes," but all but two of them were called in, the records show, and destroyed. One copy of the "restrike" is in the mint at Philadelphia, and the other is owned in England. No counterfeit of the 1804 dollar was ever known.

Said an amateur numismatist the other day: "I've been studying about coins for a long time, reading all the books and treatises on the subject I could lay my hands on, and enjoin it upon you, my friend, if you ever come across an 1804 silver dollar, grapple it hard and fast. I can tell you," he said, "that one of them has a fictitious value of at least a thousand times its weight in gold, and the possessor of one who is sordid enough to wish to sell it can get a princely sum for it. I find in the libraries solid evidence of the fact that the real, pure, unalloyed 1804 dollars are among the rarest coins in the universe—I mean, of course, United States coins. There were originally some less than 20,000 of them coined, and the few in existence today are in carefully guarded cabinets of well to do coin collectors."

A Story of Maurus Jokai.

An amusing story is told concerning the late great Hungarian novelist, poet and dramatist, Maurus Jokai. His youthful drama, "Dalma," was performed in its author's presence at Pesth some time ago, and the students, with true continental enthusiasm, took the horses out of his carriage to drag the hero home. Arrived at the house, Jokai put his head out of the carriage window, says the Glasgow Herald, declaring that he had left these premises more than three months, a fact which he had for some moments past been endeavoring to explain to them. Nothing therefore remained but for the students, with many a hearty laugh, to drag the carriage to the poet's new abode.

Dr. Wesley:
I took Osteopathic treatments for three months, and they have done more for me than all the doctors in the 21 years that I suffered untold care. Now I can eat at the usual time without distress, sleep like a child, have no pains at the monthly period. Oh! if suffering women could only know the boon that has come to them in osteopathy, what happiness it would bring.
MRS. B. F. ELLIS.

Dr. Wesley:
When I came to you for treatment I was in a bad condition. Every month I would nearly die. I began treatment under you, and, truly, my improvement was wonderful. Such sweet relief you brought to me the first month after taking them I can not describe. I had often been confined to my bed for days, often shaking with nervous chills, my arms and legs feeling as though there was no life or blood in them and suffering terrible pains, but since I commenced to take Osteopathic treatments from you I have not had any of those spells, and now I can thankfully say that all my periods come I haven't a pain.
MRS. JULIA CRE...

Dr. Wesley: It is with pleasure I write the following. I was in dread for years to have my monthly periods to come around, knowing what it meant suffering, such, as I could hardly endure. At these times I would have smothering spells, heart-fluttering, coldness all over me, so that I would be bathed in hot water all over, terrible headaches, backaches and at times, fever. But I am free from these symptoms now, and have been for months, since I was treated by you. Oh! what you did me can not be measured in words or dollars.

Dr. S. W. Wesley:
Your treatments have wrought a wonderful change in my health. I was troubled with suppressed menstruation all my life and had tried all the remedies that I knew of, or could hear of, but found no permanent relief. After being under your treatment for two months, I have not had any pain, and my menses are at regular intervals. I could ask. I think Osteopathy is a wonderful thing for my kind of ailments.
MISS MARY JOH...

Dr. Wesley:
I have been a sufferer from female trouble for years and years, and at each period I would have to be in bed from three to eight days with pain and suffering. It is a great pleasure in saying for the benefit of other suffering women, that in a few months you entirely cured me by your Osteopathic treatments. May God bless you to cure all others who may call on you.

Dr. S. W. Wesley:
Since taking three months treatments from you I have not had a pain. I can't express the good you have done me, and feel for the good you have done others. FOR THE CHILDREN

Japanese Toys and Games.

The passion for toys and games of all kinds is remarkably developed among Japanese children, and they are encouraged to play games in much the same way that children of other countries are urged to learn.

One of the most curious features about Japanese child life is that each season of the year has its own particular games. In fact, the games are distributed, as it were, and apportioned to different months—battledoor and shuttlecock being played at certain seasons of the year, ball at another, and so on. As for the dolls, they have a special fete day devoted to them, and in Japan dolls are as much a boy's playthings as a girl's.

The dolls of the Japanese boys are generally dressed to represent historical heroes; others are attired as the emperor and empress or as heroic or legendary figures. Japanese children, too, on the "feast of dolls" give their dolls presents and put them on shelves or seats in the best room in the house.

They also play at funny little cards, but these, instead of being like English cards, bear quotations representing the gems of Japanese poetical literature. The game consists of drawing a card with one-half of the quotation and finding the other which bears its context.

"There is also the "game of scents." This consists in burning various perfumes and guessing the scent in question by the smell of the smoke it creates—sometimes a very difficult matter, it is said.

The Enchanted Water.

Take a dinner plate and pour water in it pretty close up to the brim. Then take a small empty bottle and say to your friends: "Look at this bottle and note that it has a perfectly solid bottom. Now, will you believe that I am wizard enough to pour water through this solid bottom?"

"Of course," everybody will sarcastically answer. "Oh, yes; of course."

But you will soon make them believe it in dead earnest or else be quite mystified.

This is the way for you to do the trick:

Take a long stick and put one end into the bottle and by means of it hold the bottle close to a flame until it is very hot. Then seize it with a cloth and stick it at once, mouth downward, into the dinner plate that is full of water.

Now, a teaspoonful at a time, not too rapidly, pour water over the bottom of the bottle.

Now, the queer thing is that the bottle actually will begin to fill up with water, and, so far as your friends can see, you have succeeded in pouring water in through the bottom.

What is the explanation? Why, this: That as the bottle cools off the air within it contracts and causes the water in the plate to rise.

Something About Birds.

Birds have very short lives, but they enjoy them more than we do. They live faster, so to speak, and know more of exuberance the pure joy of living, than we can imagine.

Did you ever think, too, how warmly they are clothed? Feathers are warmer than fur. When we human beings want to protect ourselves from the cold of winter we send hunters up into the frozen north to bring down to us the breasts of the eider duck. Think of that down! One side of it has lain against the warm breast and the other against the ice floes, and when we have it made up into quilts or garments we find that it keeps us warmer than anything else possibly could.

It is also wonderful to think how light in weight these feathers are which give such warmth. You see, they have to be. A bird could not carry much weight as it cleaves the air any more than you could when swimming. How exactly the need of the little creature was met when it was clothed in feathers!

Very Likely.

The other day a new baby came to Mr. and Mrs. Jones. A day or two after the baby's arrival little Margaret, aged five, was asked by her neighbors if her parents had named the new little brother yet.

"No'm," was the small miss' answer, "but they named the rest of us children Jones, so I s'pose they'll call him Jones too."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Lesson In Grammar.

"A noun is the name of a person, place or thing," chanted the class.

"Now give me the name of a noun," said the teacher as they finished.

Betty—An organ grinder.

Teacher—Quite right. But why is it a noun?

Betty (triumphantly)—'Cause it's the name of a person who plays a thing.

Chubbledy Boy.

Chubbledy Boy is exceedingly young,
But he is a wonderful scholar as well,
For there's never a word in the English tongue
Can puzzle Chubbledy Boy to spell.

His method a pedagogue might annoy,
For Chubbledy has an original plan,
And it's "B—R—X—Q—W—Boy,"
And it's "B—R—X—Q—W—Man."

Of course no teacher could ever allow
Such very ridiculous spelling as that,
For it's "B—R—X—Q—W—Cow,"
And it's "B—R—X—Q—W—Cat."

But there's one by whom it is understood,
And there's one who praises her Chubbledy Lad,
With his "B—R—X—Q—W—Good,"
And his "B—R—X—Q—W—Bad."

And there's one whose bosom is wont to beat
Over little Chubbledy's prattling art,
And his "B—R—X—Q—W—Sweet,"
And his "B—R—X—Q—W—Heart."

—John Ludlow.

A Frightful Accident.

A laborer was on his way to his work one morning as a through train was about to pass a little station where a crowd had assembled for the way train, due in a few moments. A child who had strayed to the edge of the platform seemed about to lose her balance in her effort to get a good view of the oncoming engine.

Quick as a flash the workman jumped forward, tossed the child back to a place of safety and was himself grazed by the cylinder, which rolled him over on the platform pretty roughly.

Several people hastened to his assistance, but he rose uninjured, although with a face expressive of grave concern.

"Confound it! Just my luck!" he exclaimed, drawing a colored handkerchief, evidently containing luncheon, from his pocket and examining it ruefully.

"What is it?" inquired the onlookers.

"Why, the salt and pepper's all over the rhubarb pie, and the eggs—well, I kept telling her something would happen if she didn't boil 'em harder!"

Kindness.

Be kind no matter if you are on the honest run to catch your interests in life. While you run let your fleeting presence prove a blessing to those whom you must pass in the race to reach the goal. Leave behind you a trail of golden remembrances of words and smiles of good cheer that have cost you nothing at all in self sacrifice or money or physical strength or mental effort.

Getting Out of It.

Mrs. Unappy (after the quarrel)—When we were married you said you'd be willing to follow me to the end of the world, and now— Mr. Unappy—Now I desire to call your attention to the fact that the world has no ends. It is round.

The King of Korea.

Only the king of Korea may rear goats or have round columns and square rafters to his house or wear a coat of brilliant red. Only the king may look upon the faces of the queen's hundreds of attendant ladies or have any building outside of which there are more than three steps. Four steps would be high treason and would cost their owner a traitor's death.

Punishment.

Naggus—What are you going to do with the hero and heroine of that magazine story you are running now? Marry them? Borus—Certainly. They will be married in the last chapter. Naggus—I'm glad of it. It will serve them right!—Chicago Tribune.

Rivers In Korea.

On the western coast of Korea the tides of the Yellow sea are higher than anywhere in the world outside the bay of Fundy, and while the rivers of eastern Korea are clear streams, that run swiftly from the mountains, those on the western side are great brown, muddy rivers, up which the thirty foot ocean tides surge many miles.

The Opinion of a Local Student.

Dublin, Texas, April 6th, 1904.—To Representative of International Correspondence Schools: I have recieved the bound volumes and drawing outfit furnished with my Sheet Metal Pattern Drafting Course, in which you enrolled me last month, and am well pleased. The drawing instruments are just as represented and the course of study as set forth in the books I regard as very clear and complete. Your course of study will be of great benefit to me in my work. FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

The Rule of "Waste Not."

The little foxes spoil the vines, the little leaks wreck the ship, and the little losses in the kitchen help to create a deficit at the end of the year.

When thriftlessness is not due to ignorance, it is plain, unadulterated moral weakness, and any woman ought to be ashamed of herself who is guilty of the offense of letting things go to waste in her kitchen, as much so as if she were caught in the commission of the most flagrant sin.

If the thriftlessness is due to ignorance, then the best thing the housewife can do is to go to school where she can learn the A B C's of domestic economy. Many women buy economically, but waste what they have by lack of care.

For instance, often when the white of an egg is used the yolk is left to harden and is finally thrown out. By pouring a little water over the top of it the yolk may be kept soft.

If hardened it may be brought back to a usable condition by adding to it a little milk. The white of an egg may be kept without any difficulty provided it is kept covered.

In most families bread is a great source of waste. If spread with butter on the crust when first taken from the oven it will keep fresh longer. If this is not done the loaf should be left in wrapping paper and will then retain its moisture.

Run the dry bread through the chopper and save the crumbs for croquettes and for the various purposes for which crumbs are so necessary. Right here it may be said that in these twentieth century days no kitchen should be without a chopper. The uses to which it can be put are innumerable.

A Kitchen Convenience.

Of course everybody likes to keep the cook in a good humor and is willing to do anything to maintain her in that desirable state of mind. Nothing does more to help this cause along than improved methods and means of preparing the daily meals.

The picture illustrates a newly patented vegetable cooker, the working of which will be clearly seen. Cabbages, potatoes or any other article of food to be boiled or broiled are placed in the wire cage, and this is suspended in the pot of water or above a steaming pan. When the food is cooked to the proper extent the cage is withdrawn, the water runs off the vegetables, and you have well prepared food and a smiling cook.

House Decorations.

A new treatment of my leaded hall window may interest others. This particular window is three feet wide and one and a half feet deep. The curtain materials are white point d'esprit and light green china silk. The effect produced is that of silk over white curtains. Economy is subserved by having only two yards of the silk, the modus operandi as follows: First the silk is run on the rod (one yard), then the two white curtains, then the remaining silk one. They are drawn back on the rod on either side, leaving the window exposed, on the wide ledge of which stands a jardiniere containing asparagus fern. This window gives character to the whole reception hall. Silk in shades to harmonize with the wall may be substituted.—Good Housekeeping.

Planked Shad.

A dinner fish dish should be broiled or baked. Planked shad is quite possible at home. Dry and seasoned cherry wood planks are to be had at house furnishing shops, and the broiler on most gas stoves is well adapted to this kind of cooking. See that the plank is beveled on the under side with two crosspieces of wood. Split a shad up the back, remove the backbone, cut off the head and tail and season with salt on both sides. Fasten the shad to the plank with small, thin nails, butter it well and broil under a pretty good flame. In about thirty minutes remove and serve on the plank, spread with plain butter or, better still, with maitre d'hotel.

A New Match Scratcher.

At last has a way been found for the tidy housekeeper to rid her walls of that unsightly but necessary article, a match scratcher. Pretty little pictures take their place, but if you look closely you will see some clever person has thought of the bright idea of combining the two. A quaint little Dutch scene is framed in passe partout, and some portion of the glass is ground to the necessary roughness to ignite the match. If it becomes marked it can easily be wiped clean again with a damp cloth.

A COMMON ENEMY.

Worry, Overwork, Hasty Eating, Excessive Use of Liquors, Loss of Sleep, Neglect of Nature's Calls. These Bring on the Deadly Bright's Disease.

Thousands Die of It Every Year.

Kidney disease is the enemy we have most to fear as a result of the feverish restlessness of modern civilization. It is a treacherous enemy, working out its deadly effect under cover of the most trifling symptoms. The first indication of changes in the urine, frequent headaches, digestive troubles, should be the signal for prompt remedial measures. Prickly Ash Bitters is a kidney remedy of the greatest merit; it is soothing, healing and strengthening, quickly relieves the aching or soreness that always appears in advanced stages, checks the progress of the disease and through its excellent cleansing and regulating effect in the stomach, liver and bowels, it brings back the strength and ruddy glow of vigorous health.

Funeral Procession.

Yes, it's like the Old Man says. They are on the retreat taking him back to Missouri. You may run it over them in some places old man, but you can't cut the mustard here. Your blade is too short. Yes, the old man had to yelp. Not unlike his mate with a tin can tied to his tail, he went mad and foamed at the mouth and vented his spleen with a lot of nonsensical prevarications about the big war priced merchants. This the people pronounced at once another of his fakes and they give him the laugh at his vain attempt to deceive the people by trying to make them believe he came here to sell them goods at wholesale cost. He was red hot because Mistrot Bros. & Co's big war priced sale knocked him out. Old man if you will kindly look at Dunn or Bradstreet's Review you will see whether we stand in the front ranks or not.

Weep not, he is hunting greener fields now.
