BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1956

NUMBER 22

By JERRY STOLTZ

It could only happen to the young and carefree.

Tuesday afternoon the Brownfield information telephone operator received a call from a young fellow who asked if she could give him a list of all the Merritt's in the directory.

She courteously replied "yes," and started reading the list. When she read them all, she added "and there's Merritt's Grocery."

That brought the comment from the boy, "That's where I am now. I'm locked in and want to call someone to let me out."

Donnie Goodpasture was passing the time away reading comic books at closing time and was so engrossed in his reading that he didn't notice everyone leaving. He was so quiet they didn't know he was there.

Anyhow he got out.

Bill Williams and Buddy Gillham were the only Brownfield representatives to the Red Raider Club meeting in Lubbock Tuesday night. They reported everything went off okay.

Numerous market-goers from Brownfield this week in Dallas. Also quit a bunch of people down there for the golf tournament. Between the two those down there included:

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Plotner, Russell Winton, Mrs. White, Ned Self, Gladys Swain, Mrs. Harvey Gage, Doc Burda and Mrs. Joe Shelton to the "Fashion Hits A New Cycle" show.

Then either going or gone and some are back, from the tournament are Mrs. Joe Henderson and Mrs. J. T. Bowman, the Jerry Kirschner, Prentice Walkers, John L. Cruces, Jack Shirleys, George O'Neals and Paul Woods.

William Smyrl, candidate for FFA state vice-president, was guest speaker at Monday's Jaycee meeting.

Texas Company Stakes Wildcat SW Of Gomez

Three completions and a wildcat location southwest of Gomez are the most recent Terry county oil developments. The Texas company is drilling the No. 1 Allean Black about four miles west and four south of Gomez in section 123. The 12,900-foot Siluro-Devonian wildcat is two miles southwest of the No. 1 Spradling, the Coroco Southeast (Siluro-Devonian) field opener. The discovery well was completed in June 1955 at total depth of 12,302 feet. Daily allowable is 47 BOFD.

Wildcat location is 330 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 123.

Three Prentice completions were as follows: In the 6700 Honolulu No. 15 Covington, 1,980 feet from south and 2,200 feet from west lines of Section 11, Block D-14, C&M survey, at depth of 6,100 feet with pay topped 6,541 feet. Pumped 122 opd, gravity 30, gas-oil ratio 127-1, acidized with 6,000.

In the Glorieta-Phillips No. 2 Covington 660 feet from north and east lines of Section 25, Block D-14, C&MRR survey, at depth of 6,908 feet, plugged back to 6,695 feet, with pay topped 6,695 feet. Pumped 37.2 opd plus 9.2 per cent water gravity 28.8, gas-oil ratio 204-1, acidized with 3,000.

In Lower Clear Fork-Murchison and Mallory No. 1-C Jones, 1,595 feet from north and 440 feet from west lines of Section 23, Block X, PSL survey, at depth of 8,233 feet, plugged back to 7,865 feet, with pay topped 7,549 feet. Pumped 156.8 bopd plus 15 per cent water, gravity 29, gas-oil ratio 180-1, acidized with 6,000.

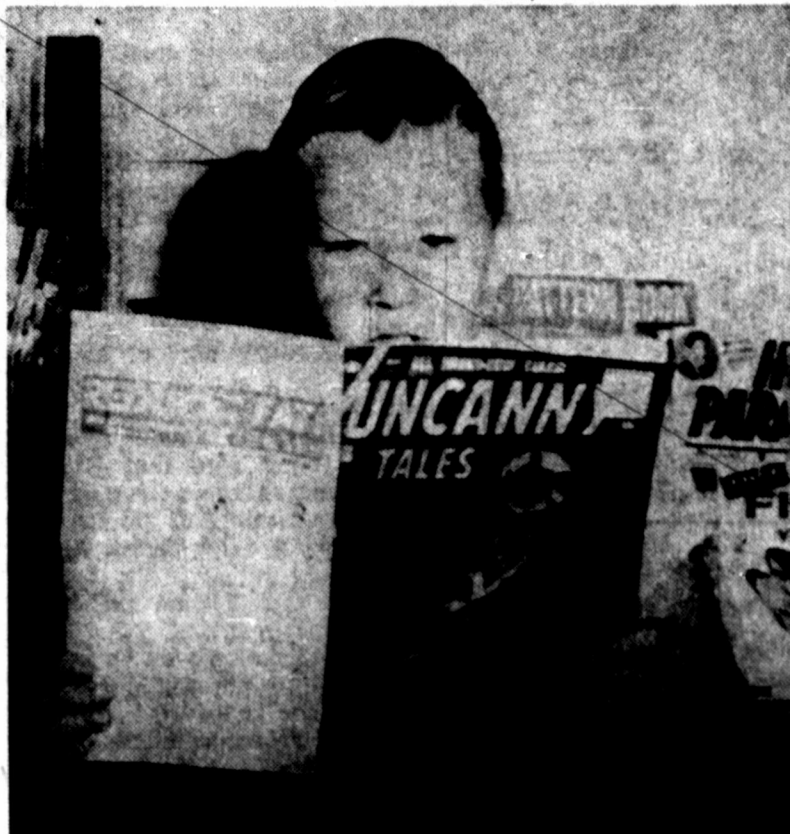

Brownfield Firemen Start Campaign To Secure Rescutor For Emergencies

A campaign to obtain funds to purchase a portable rescutor for Brownfield and Terry county, was started Monday by Brownfield volunteer firemen.

The $610 rescutor is on display at the First National Bank and contributions may be made there, or to any of the firemen.

"Help restore the breath of life to someone" is the slogan adopted by the fire department in the campaign to secure the machine.

The rescutor has been described as a miracle worker at

IT'S UNCANNY—The way a fellow can get locked into places —It's uncanny, thinks Donnie Goodpasture, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dolphus Goodpasture of 1310 Tahoka Road. Donnie looked up from "Uncanny Tales" last Tuesday to find himself completely alone in Merritt's Grocery. The young reader was rescued about 7:30. He said he was on his way home from practicing with his team, the Texas League Buffs, when he stopped at the store to read comics. (Staff Photo)

College Is Uppermost In Graduates' Plans

Two-thirds of the Brownfield High School graduating class plan to continue their education in one manner or another according to information collected by Student Counselor Dr. Bob Hoey. Dr. Hoey also proudly pointed at a marked trend towards majoring in education among the girls.

He explained that the serious shortage of teachers will only be alleviated by encouraging high school students entering college to study education, and that he has been doing this here.

One boy is definitely planning to study education while a couple more are considering it and eight of the girls will enroll in education departments. Sixteen colleges or universities, two business colleges, two beauty schools and four Junior colleges are represented among the choices of the 79 seniors.

Continuing school work out ranks marriage plans by a rather slim margin among the girls. Fifty percent of them intend to either attend college, business college or beauty school. Thirty-eight percent are either married or plan to marry within the next few months.

Roughly 15 percent of the boys are going to work, 73 percent plan college, one is interested in going into the army and only one signified marriage.

Plan Book To Reduce Conflict In Meetings

A plan to publish a "date book" in an attempt to reduce the number of conflicts between meetings was introduced at a Thursday meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

HONOR WAR DEAD

Memorial Services Are Held Wednesday

Terry county's war dead were honored on Memorial Day morning Wednesday by brief but impressive ceremonies on the courthouse square under the sponsorship of the VFW.

Thirteen Gold Star mothers were present to receive corsages and flowers were placed on a symbolic grave for each of the six World War I, 60 World War II and one Korean servicemen who died from Terry county.

Rev. Jones Weathers opened the program with prayer and Rev. Howard Smith delivered the memorial address. He stressed the symbolism of the white stripe of "purity" in the American flag, calling for purity of purpose, freedom of thought, freedom of expression and freedom of worship.

Dedication of New County Park And Pool to Be Held at 8:15 Friday

Friday, June 1, 1956, will be a historic day in Terry county.

Friday will be Dedication Day for the new Terry county park and swimming pool. Saturday will be the first day for public swimming in the pool. The pool will open at 10 a.m.

The Dedication in reality means the realization of a long time dream for many far-sighted citizens of the county and also represents the fulfillment of endless hours of work on the part of others.

Although people had been thinking, and talking, of a new swimming pool for years, the first step in the direction of the park and pool was taken about five years ago when the City, under the administration of Mayor C. C. Primm, purchased a 44-acre plot east of Coleman Park.

The Mayor and Council hoped at the time of purchase that the City might develop the area into what it has now become. However the cost proved to be too great for the City to manage and the idea lay dormant for a couple of years.

In 1954 the Council met with representatives of various civic and service organizations to discuss proposals for a youth program, park, youth center, swimming pool and similar matters. From this meeting the Council met with the County Commissioners and proposed that the City deed the land to the County and make annual payments for maintenance of the park.

The Commissioner's Court agreed to present the proposal to the voters of the county in the form of a $175,000 Park Bond issue and a 5 cent per $100 tax reallocation for park maintenance.

The bond issue carried by a three to one majority on April 16, 1955 and work has continued since that date. In its present form the park includes the ultra-modern swimming pool and bath house, a party house for use by groups desiring to have meetings, family reunions, etc., about two miles of hard surfaced road and all of the landscaping that has been practicable.

The rest of the landscaping will be completed as the weather warrants and outdoor toilet facilities are also to be sored by the Chamber of Commerce.

All civic, service, school, church or other groups desiring to place dates in the book should place them with the Chamber of Commerce by June 15.

added under the present building program.

The park is to be governed by a Park Commission named by Judge Herb Chesshir and approved by the Commissioner's Court. Serving terms of from one to four years on the commission are Chairman L. J. Richardson, vice-chairman, Mrs. O. D. Kennedy, Secretary Mrs. J. M. Teague, Bogie Simms, Lewis Peeler, Jack Eastman, Doc Lewis and Jerry Stoltz.

Mayors Arlie Lowrimore and Judge Chesshir are ex-officio members.

Along with the Dedication ceremony with the Judge and Mayor taking care of the formalities, will be a program commencing at 8:15 at the Pool.

Included will be songs by Janice Meek and Charles Goza, dance numbers by students of Mrs. Parker's, and a water show to include diving exhibitions directed by Mrs. Ben Monnett.

Season tickets may be purchased at the pool or at the Chamber of Commerce office. The area has been fenced, with a wooden fence on the east, and wire fence around the rest of the pool. Present Park Commission thinking is that the pool will remain open for as many hours a week as possible without operating at a financial loss.

READY FOR SWIMMING — "The best thing that's happened to this country in 25 years," was one comment about the new county swimming pool this week. Ready for the Friday night formal dedication and open for swimming to the public from Saturday morning on, two views of the pool, with the bath house also shown on the left, are pictured above.

Clean-up Drive Is Still Going Strong

As Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week continues through Saturday in Brownfield, city officials called on a redoubling of effort to insure a complete job.

While praising those who have already cleaned their yards, etc., Mayor Arlie Lowrimore called on those who haven't yet found time to do their part, to do so at once. Mayor Lowrimore explained again that the purpose of the annual clean-up campaign is to eliminate or improve the following hazards: garbage or refuse piles, cluttered-up and weed-grown vacant lots; fire hazards and anything else that is unsightly or unhealthy.

He called particular attention to the fact that some persons are using 55 gallon barrels for trash cans, and this is a violation of a city ordinance. The proper size can may be purchased at several local stores and also at the City warehouse. Lids may also be bought there.

"The Boy Scouts passed out handbills to every home in town, and there should be no excuse for not cooperating in this campaign," stated the mayor. He again explained that a call to the City Hall, 4111 will bring out a truck to dispose of abnormal piles of trash. Otherwise the trucks will pick up as usual.

HONOR GOLD STAR MOTHERS — Memorial Day services on the courthouse lawn included pinning of corsages on each Gold Star mother present in memory of the son she lost in service of his country. From left the group included, Mrs. R. D. Hill, Mrs. P. J. Nettles, Mrs. Lucille Burleson, Mrs. Ella Glover, Mrs. Carmen Reyna, Mrs. Ben Baggett, Mrs. Lula Smith, Mrs. Gertrude Freeman, Mrs. Mollie Perkins, Mrs. Carris Overman, Mrs. Nora Gregg, Mrs. Anna Bailey and Mrs. Etta Brumley.

LIFE RESTORER—L. J. Richardson, park commission chairman, and City Secretary Jake Geron, right, examine the rescutor for which the fire department is attempting to raise $610 to buy. "Help restore the breath of life to someone," is the theme of the campaign.

Eighty-One Man National Guard Unit Open Summer Camp At Fort Hood Sunday

Eighteen Brownfield National Guardsmen left early Thursday morning enroute to North Fort Hood and two weeks summer camp. The advance detail was to join other elements of the Second Battalion and proceed in convoy to Brownwood where they will spend the night. They will arrive at Gatesville about noon Friday.

The remaining 63 members of the unit will leave by bus or private transportation on Sunday or before. The bus group leaves the armory at 6:45 a.m. Sunday.

During their first four days at North Fort Hood the Guardsmen will participate in crew and individual training. This will include firing machine guns and rocket launchers plus communications and other specialist training.

Friday of the first week will be spent on the Howitzer range and Saturday morning the unit will participate in the Annual 112th Armored Cavalry Regiment mounted review.

The first three days of the second week will be spent in the field and the company will again fire their 105 mm howitzers. Thursday and Friday are turn-in days, and Friday is also pay day. After a final cleanup of the area Saturday morning, the 81 members of the Brownfield unit will start home.

The buses should arrive before 8 o'clock Saturday and the convoy will arrive with the equipment before noon Sunday.

The advance detail commanded by Lt. Donald Price will include SFC Bill Henderson, SP3 Adrian Hinson, PFC Frank Chapa, PFC Jack Day, PFC Alfred Tittle, and Pvs. Claude Montgomery, Augustine Montemayor, Gerald Jordan, Bobby Young and Jim Colliis.

Also going early to attend three-day service schools are the following: cooks school — SP2 Billy Little and Pvt. Alton Snow, vehicle maintenance school — SF3 Leslie Newsom and Earl Brown; communications school — Sgt. Dale Travis and SP3 John Black; recruit training — Lt. Price and SFC E. B. McBurnett, Jr.

Members of the unit who will be attending their first National Guard camp include Jack Day, Freddy Shipley, Alfred Tittle, Charles Higdon, Ernest Hyman, Norris Lewis, James Szydoski, Earnest Thornton, Chris Addison, James Altman, Linton Barbee, Donald Brown, Lewis Chambliss, Jim Colliis, Lee More Cyfert.

know Maxine Turner and J. B. Huckabee got married, but we don't have a story about it. There was also a shower for Freda Anthony, and a host of bridge parties, etc. that we didn't get stories about.

But the best story was how Gee Gee knocked herself out. She put in several hard hours under the hot sun, walked into the house, keeled over and banged her head in falling. After getting out of the hospital her observation was, "anyone that is stupid enough to work that hard in the hot sun deserves to crack their head open."

Her husband Sam looked over the proof of the full page of the pretty girls in bathing suits and said he liked that much better than the usual society page anyhow. In fact Sam has always had a hankering to be a news photographer and he now has his bid in for the next such assignment.

Gee Gee is feeling better in fact with a girl like that you would never know she was suffering with a concussion or just acting normal.

I'm leaving town or I would be afraid to say things like that.

OPEN HOUSE GUESTS—More than 450 guests were registered here Tuesday during open house at General Telephone Company of the Southwest, among them the two young ladies shown above with J. W. Shelley, who is explaining some of the hundreds of items used in the installation and maintenance of toll circuits, switchboards and telephones. In the center is Sandra Kay Bevers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bevers of 506 West Cardwell. With her is Lois Nell Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jackson of 310 South Third. Shelley is a station installer. Purpose of the event was to demonstrate the speed of long distance dialing which came with Brownfield's designation as a toll center. (Staff Photo)

riage in the near future.

Texas Tech and engineering are the most popular courses mapped by the boys. Those planning on going to Tech to study engineering are Donald Bryant, Leodell Gorman, Ronnie Grant, Dick Latham, Lannier Petty, Thad Risinger and Dick Reynolds, although Reynolds may go to Colorado School of Mines instead.

Virgil Hughlett and Gene Young are both intending to study engineering, but whether they will start at Tech or Howard County Junior College has not been decided yet.

Darwin Parker and Wayland Sealey will either work or attend Tech.

James Szydoski will major in education at Tech while Dennis McCutcheon is going to study business.

Lynn Cary, Virginia Denson, Donna Newsom and Ann Shropshire all plan to study education at Texas Tech.

Peggy Adams and Jeanette Johnson are going to study education at North Texas State. Retha Brandon is going to study religious education at Mary Hardin Baylor college. Verna King is going to study education at Wayland college.

Judy Land will be the first Brownfield student to enroll at the new Dallas University. It will open for the first time this fall.

Mary Ann Holmes plans on attending Stephens College. Draughon's Business college will have several Brownfield hams and Lilly's, but we hope we'll gain the same in the Fleemans and Paynes. Ray Fleeman is about 35, a WW II navy pilot, his wife is named Louise and they have two daughters. Payne's wife is named Jeanette.

Another transfer coming up son will take the Barton Evans family to Midland. Barton is with Stanolind.

Condition of Crump Described as 'Poor'

The condition of Pete Crump of 1213 East Buckley, who told police he was "ready to go" after he had shot himself Friday, was described as "poor" this morning by Treadaway-Daniell hospital attendants.

According to Police Chief Nolan Lassiter, Crump left his home early Friday and drove his car to the park where, Crump said, he shot himself three times with a 22-caliber single shot rifle, then got out of the car and shot himself two more times.

Four spent cartridge shells were found nearby, indicating that at least one shot had missed. Crump suffered neck wounds and wounds near the temples. He was operated on Saturday.

Students, including Ann Griggs, Nancy Sue King, Janiece Meek and Juanita Seay. Mary Lou Riley and Melba Williams plan to attend Merriman Business college.

Beverly Brown and Linda Harrell will add beauty to the Abilene Christian College campus. And with regard to beauty, three of the girls will study to be beauty operators. This includes Jessie McClellan, Delma Rhinehart and Dixie Tankersley.

San Angelo Junior College looks attractive to Barbara Chesshir.

The rest of the 45 graduating girls will either go to work, marry, are married, or intend to work and get married both. Back to the boys — two boys on music scholarships, Cecil Blankenship at Sul Ross and Charles Higdon at Eastern New Mexico University, will major in music. Freddy Shipley will also study business at ENMU.

James Brinson is interested in studying speech and radio at Hardin-Simmons. LeeMore Cyfert is going to Bethany college in Oklahoma. John Hill will study science at Rice In-

Entertain New ESA Chapter With Coffee

A new Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Kappa Zeta entertained with a coffee at the home of Mrs. Buddy Gillham, Wed. May 30th at 1:00 A.M. Hostesses were Mesdames Gillham, Dusty Kemper, Bill Dugger, James Hopkins, Ray Hailey, Walter Meyers, and Ken Anderson.

Guest pledges were Mesdames Lonnie Clark, J. J. Morgensen, Floyd Jordan, John Badgwell, Gene Homesley, Othel Reeves, R. T. Wilson and J. R. Bailes; and Misses John Lou Callison and Mazine Watipka. Miss Jean Finley, who has been inactive in ESA was also a guest to be reinstated.

Pledge Pin Ceremony will be held following the ESA International Convention to be held in Albuquerque, N. Mex. June 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Officers for Kappa Zeta are: Gillham, President, Kemper, Vice-president, Hopkins, Treasurer, Anderson Recording Secretary, Dugger, Corresponding Secretary, Hailey, Educational Director, and Meyers, Jonquil Girl. Other appointive offices will be filled from pledges following the pledge pin ceremony.

stitute and Tarleton State college will gain a couple of agricultural students, Duane Lewis and John Milburn.

Carl Moore is going to Cisco Junior college and Bobby Gene Wilkinson will attend Paris Junior college.

Kenneth Murphy will study a pre-law course at either the University of Texas or North Texas State. Gary Wilson will study engineering at Texas A&M. Douglas Gipson intends to take a business course at Draughons. Doug O'Dell plans to attend Trinity University in San Antonio.

Most of the rest of the boys intend to either farm or work. Barry Burrow, a member of the National Guard for three years, likes the idea of the military life and anticipates applying for active duty.

SPECIAL REPORT

Bridey Murphy A Big Disappointment

A Special Report on "The Search For Bridey Murphy" Those Searching For Bridey Murphy have the help of a best-selling book, a popular song and a forth-coming movie. But some are asking whether the search is worth the trouble.

Scientists question the experiments. Would a good scientist, they wonder, ask leading questions, the kind that tell you the answer? Author-hypnotist Bernstein did this often. Again, do good scientists publish their findings before all the facts are in? Bridey's story was on sale before the facts were checked in Ireland.

Serious Scientists don't work this way. They don't believe everything they hear either. They wonder why Dr. Bernstein was so quick to believe and publicize the fantastic tale of Bridey? Dr. Bernstein, they feel, should have at least hesitated in the face of some unexplainable "facts." For example, Bridey "lived" in the 1850's. Yet she tells of being married in a church not built until 1911.

Christians Too wonder about Bridey. They note that Bridey's reincarnation theory makes a shambles of the world picture painted by Christ. And they would rather stake their faith on Christ than on one novel experiment.

In the Christian view, a man is born into the world for a reason. He is to live for a while before returning to God. He's on trial. At death he is judged by what he has done, the good accomplished, the evil committed. God regards the good man with a face to face vision of Himself. The evil man is punished by being deprived of the vision of God. The Christian has a good reason for leading a decent life. It will earn him eternal life. But how about Bridey's world?

When Bridey died she was doomed to stand by a bedside, neither really in or out of the world. She didn't love; she felt nothing in fact. There was no God in Bridey's after life. One wonders why she was born at all.

This Is Why the search for Bridey Murphy will have to go its well-publicized way without the help of good scientists or Christians. The trail may be interesting, they admit, but it doesn't lead anywhere.

Actually neither scientists nor Christian is angry. They are disappointed. Scientists are pleased in the popularity of a scientific question; Christians are encouraged by the interested in the future life. But both wish it was the "real thing" which was selling and not just a novelty.

Roy Collier, owner of Brownfield Funeral Home, returned Friday from Dallas, where he attended the three-day annual convention of Texas State Funeral Directors. The meetings were held at the new Statler Hotel.

Three Pest Control Classes Set in June

Three meetings to study insects which soon will be attacking Terry cotton have been scheduled within the next week by County Agent Jim Foy.

The places and dates: Brownfield, County Park Party House, June 4; Wellman high school agriculture department, June 5, and Meadow, high school study hall, June 7. All sessions are scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

The county agent and vocational agriculture teachers at the three towns will lead the discussion, illustrating the talks with color slides.

Among insects to be studied are the thrip, fleahopper, pink bollworm, lygus bug, aphid, leafworm and spider mite.

Foy urged all farmers to attend one of the meetings, saying that "here would be an opportunity for them to study first-hand the methods for detecting those insects which take a heavy toll of our cotton each year."

Farmlands in Iceland which have been covered by ice for 600 years are now again in use as the glaciers retreat.

Friends, among other things this might mean you had better quit turning right on red lights. They stopped that a year or so ago everywhere but in Brownfield . . . so they say.

And it might even pay to stop if the sign says so.

Charley Rand, August graduate at Texas Tech, has been signed as the new Meadow basketball coach, assistant football coach and math teacher according to Supt. J. L. Carroll.

Mrs. Jimmie Tidwell was elected publicity chairman of the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference Minister's Wives organization Saturday at Big Spring. First thing she'll have to do is shorten the organization title. It'll never fit into a headline like it is now.

Let's don't have any complaints about the society section this week. Gee Gee hauled off and knocked herself out working on this clean-up campaign (that's no joke she really did) and we haven't had time to do a particle of the job she usually does.

PREPARING MAID OF COTTON CLOTHING

When Wanda Cornelius was named Maid of Cotton for Terry county, she won a complete cotton wardrobe, to be prepared by members of the home demonstration clubs. Cotton clothing also was won by the two runners-up, Miss Ruby Smith of Meadow and Juana Jay

Ross Black has been named to the board of directors of the New Lubbock Christian College.

Mrs. Ione Turner entertained her brother and other visitors from Louisiana over the weekend.

★—LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE 1258
An ordinance regulating the drilling of oil or gas wells within the City Limits of the City of Brownfield, Texas; defining certain terms; prohibiting the drilling or operation of any well without a permit; providing for a filing fee to be paid in connection with application for permit; providing for the appointment of an oil and gas inspector; providing for the type of equipment to be used in drilling and the manner of drilling; completing and abandoning of oil or gas wells; providing that violation of certain laws of the State of Texas and certain regulations or regulatory bodies shall be a violation of this ordinance; providing that the invalidity or unconstitutionality of any particular provision of this ordinance shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining provisions; providing for a penalty, and repealing all other ordinances in conflict herewith.

Section 31: Penalty: It shall be unlawful and an offense for any person to violate or neglect to comply with any provisions hereof irrespective of whether or not the verbiage of each section hereof contains the specific language that such violation or neglect is unlawful and is an of-

Management Is Screened In America

One great difference between the American economic system and Socialism is in the manner in which industrial management is selected. In a Socialist system the Government owns or operates the industries and thus takes over the job of choosing the managers of industrial enterprises. In America, through the workings of our private enterprise system, the purchasers, or the public, make the choice. In the Socialist nations, the choice almost always is governed by political considerations. In our system, the choice is based on ability and efficiency.

Our system screens out inefficient management. It screens not through the colored glasses of the politicians, but through the hard realities of the school of competition. When a product goes to market in America it is placed side by side with other products very much like it. The customer inspects them all. He selects the one he likes best on the basis of price, quality and service. The management of the company that made the product which the customer selected has scored a competitive victory over the management of the companies whose products the buyer passed by.

fense. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance, or any of the provisions of a drilling and operating permit issued pursuant hereto, or any condition of the bond filed by the permittee pursuant to this Ordinance or who shall neglect to comply with the terms hereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than Five Dollars nor more than One Hundred Dollars; and the violation of each separate provision of this Ordinance, and of said permit, and of said bond, shall be considered a separate offense, and each day's violation of each separate provision thereof shall be considered a separate offense. In addition to the foregoing penalties, it is further provided that the City Council of the City of Brownfield at any regular or special session or meeting thereof, may, provided ten (10) days notice has been given to the permittee that revocation is to be considered at such meeting, revoke or suspend any permit issued under this ordinance and under which drilling or producing operations are being conducted in the event the permittee thereof has violated any provisions of said permit, said bond, or this Ordinance. In the event the permit be revoked, the permittee may make application to the City Council of the City of Brownfield for a reissuance of such permit, and the action of the City Council thereon shall be final.

PASSED by the City Council this 23rd day of February A. D. 1956.

The Customers Rule

When many customers select the same product this means that the company which produces this product is satisfying the consumers. It also means that the other companies, which produce competitive products, are not satisfying the consumers quite so well. And to be successful a company must sell its merchandise. Thus management must be constantly striving to make a better product — at a lower cost. If it fails to meet the competition of the market place, it sooner or later goes out of business.

The ability and efficiency of management is submitted daily, weekly, monthly — in fact, constantly — to the test of the competitive market place. You can look at almost any item on the American market and see the fruits of screened management — management screened through the sieve that lets the best through and eliminates the inefficient.

Problems To Solve

In order to get high quality into an article, and at a price that will attract buyers at the market place management must overcome a multitude of knotty problems. In the buying of raw materials shrewd judgment and experience are absolute requirements. In holding down production costs, management must prove to be ingenious. In meeting payrolls, in directing a capable sales organization, and in obtaining adequate financing, management must be capable at times of almost working miracles. Whether to invest in a new machine tool to improve an operation; whether to expand a wing of a factory building for a sub-assembly line; whether Joe Doaks, a foreman, is capable of good human relations with his men as well as being a good production man; whether the bank can be persuaded to lend money to tide over a rough spot — these are but tidbits of management's over-all problem. The manner in which such problems are solved is reflected in both the quality of product a company produces and the price at which it can profitably be marketed.

Political Management

Alfred Edwards, of London, former member of the Socialist-Labor Party of Great Britain, wrote a Reader's Digest article in which he gave some of the reasons for his turning against Socialism. He said the

Reserve Program Is Offered by Marines

Master Sergeant Ira L. Laird of Lubbock, Marine recruiter, revealed today that the Corps was continuing its two-year active duty program. Laird pointed out that this program permits the Marine Corps to accept young men between the ages of 17 and 26 for a period of two years active duty as Marine Corps Reservists.

The recruiter also said that a lot of high school graduates might be interested in this new program and that he would be happy to discuss it with them and their parents. He also explained that married men with no children or single men with one dependent are eligible for this service.

Socialist Government chose a taxi-driver to manage one of the big coal industries in England — not because of his ability as a manager of a coal mine (he hadn't any such ability), but because he happened to be a loyal and popular member of the Socialist-Labor political party in power. He managed miserably, and everybody suffered as a result, but still he stayed in.

All areas of our society benefit from the system that brings to the helm of our industrial enterprises the very best brains and capabilities. The consumers benefit by having this efficient management constantly improving the products and cutting the costs. The employees benefit by the improvements in production machinery and techniques, in higher productivity and higher wages. Stockholders benefit through regular dividends from well-managed companies. Our screened management, indeed, is another great plus-factor in the formula for America's unmatched living standard.

A new type of dental drill which revolves nearly 200,000 times a minute may prove a boon to both patient and dentist, according to a paper read before the New York Dental Society. Drill is said to reduce the grinding ordeal from minutes to seconds, in many cases.

Actress Susan Hayward recently won the best actress award at the Cannes Film Festival. She is honored for her performance in "I'll Cry Tomorrow," the film adaptation of the book by singer Lillian Roth relating her fight against alcoholism.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) has introduced a bill in Congress to limit Supreme Court justices to 12-year terms, and to require at least half of future court appointees to have six years' experience as a judge of some other court. At present, appointments are indefinite. A justice holds his office subject only to "good behavior."

TO PHILADELPHIA

Rev. and Mrs. O'Dell Describe Trip

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Rev. Ralph O'Dell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brownfield, is attending the Presbyterian conference in Philadelphia. Here are a few of his comments from Pennsylvania.)

By Ralph O'Dell

(Philadelphia, May 24)—The flight from the Texas plains to this City which Wm. Penn called "Brotherly Love" (second largest in the USA and ranking third in the world) was a graphic lesson in how small our world has become in "size". Especially was this true at the National Airport in Washington, D. C. where planes from every point of the compass and every major center on earth were arriving with utter contempt for distance—either in miles or cultural differences. The whole world is now a neighborhood whether we like it or not.

We now have the demands of being neighborly—or else! (More on this theme later). Mrs. O'Dell and I came to Philadelphia with some misgivings about extreme Yankee snootiness—or so we were told. If we would judge by first impressions, this would most certainly have been true. But, thank God, first impressions aren't the truest or the most lasting.

Arriving in Philly at 12:50 a.m. Wednesday, we secured baggage, took a limousine to the hotel where we had wired in our reservations a month before and had received confirmation. The hotel night clerk bluntly told us that no reservations could be held after midnight, and since it was now 2:10 in the morning and all the rooms were full, we would have to look somewhere else.

After several phone calls to See O'DELL, Page 8

BRAVES PITCHING STAFF—Manager Rudy Winchester has perhaps the strongest one-two pitching punch in Terry Little League with this pair of strong armed hurlers, both of whom pitched for the Braves last year. Teddy Howell, left, and Leon Speed have pitched the Braves into second place, with only the one loss to the Yankees against them.

Goble Captures Title At Denver City, Sunday

Yanks Are on Top, Still Undefeated

With the first place dispute at least temporarily settled after the 3-1 Yankee victory over the Braves Friday, Terry Little Leaguers are rounding out their first quarter of the 20-game season this week. One game was rained out, between the Giants and Yankees, and will be made it up soon.

The Yanks have a tough two nights ahead of them this week with the Red Sox tonight and Indians Friday. Also on tap Thursday is the Giants-Cubs game and Friday the first game is between the Red Sox and Braves.

Tuesday evening at 5:15 the Cubs play the Red Sox and the Braves meet the Giants in the second game.

At the end of the first two weeks of play League Statistician Hal Roach finds Allen Huffman of the Giants leading the league in batting with a .750 average. The rest of the top six includes Leonard George, Red Sox, .667; Joe Cabrera, Cubs, .625; Donald Carruth, Indians, .524; at .500, Maurice Harrell, Braves; Woody Harbin and Gene Wiseman of the Yankees; Teddy Howell, Braves, .474.

Except for the Cubs, team batting is fairly close with the Braves at .353, the Yankees .342, Giants .329, Red Sox .326, Indians .318 and Cubs .200.

League Standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Yankees	3	0	1.000
Braves	4	1	.800
Indians	3	2	.600
Red Sox	2	2	.500
Giants	1	3	.250
Cubs	0	5	.000

Harry Goble, the Brownfield golfer "who grew up on sand green golf courses," played as if he had never left them in winning the ninth Denver City Invitational Sunday.

In the nine-hole finals Goble lost number one and then overhauled and beat Jim Morgan of Lovington, big former professional, with beautiful putting and one amazing stroke of luck. Going into the five par fourth with a one-up lead Goble bladed his short approach and was headed for a certain two-stroke out-of-bounds penalty when the ball caromed off a pipe stake and back onto the green.

But it was Goble's steady play throughout the day that won him the championship. He had qualified one-stroke off medalist with a 73 Saturday. He beat Howard Hassell of Seminole 3-2 in his first match, ousted Clyde Keith of Denver

City 3-2 in the second round and went into the finals with a similar sized victory over Art Hall of Loveland.

A 10-foot putt on the eighth green provided the finishing stroke to his 3-1 win over Morgan.

Other Brownfield winners were Clyde Lewis, runner-up in the first flight and Ray Warden who beat Ted Hardy 2-1 in the first flight consolation finals.

FINALISTS—Harry Goble and Jim Morgan (Denver City Press)

Sawyer Graham lost in the second flight semi-finals.

Morgan had previously beaten Brownfield golfers Jerry Stoltz and Paul Woods in his match through the championship flight. J. O. Burnett, who lost to Woods in the first round, played the longest match of the day when he took DeWitt Weaver, Jr. of Lubbock to the seventh extra hole before losing in the championship consolation semi-finals.

Tigers and Dodgers Win Junior League Openers

First night Junior League winners trade opponents Saturday night as the Tigers play the Pirates and the Dodgers take after the Cardinals. Tuesday night after the two Little League games the Cardinals and Pirates play. Wednesday at 5:15 the Dodgers and Tigers meet.

Opening day games indicated a fast brand of ball for local fans in this first season for the 13 and 14-year-old boys. The Dodgers beat the Pirates 5-2 in a fast first game followed by an 8-3 victory by the Tigers over the Cardinals.

T. H. Holland went all the way for the Dodgers as he pitched a one-hitter, struck out 14 and walked three. Jake Herring used three pitchers for the Pirates, starting with James Bryant, coming on with Johnny Herring in the third and Billy Holiday in the seventh. The loser, although both of the runs were unearned.

Herring was the loser as the Pirates overcame a two-run deficit during his stint on the mound when Jerry Purtell singled with John Clark and Johnny Moorhead on base. That was the only Pirate hit of the game.

Pat Boots and Roy Jones scored in the third for the Dodgers on a series of errors, although Boots singled to get on at the start of the inning. Wayne Boyer scored the winning run in the sixth, and again it was an unearned run, coming as a result of errors and a passed ball. In the seventh the Dodgers iced it away with three consecutive singles by Doug Mason, Boyer and Donald Skiles to make it 5-2.

Cardinal pitcher Johnny Murphy had first-inning trouble and allowed one hit and gave three walks as the Tigers got two runs to open the game. Three more in the second were enough, although they added a single run in the other three innings for good measure. The Cards finally found the range in the fifth to bust out two doubles off Eddie Gutierrez and tally twice. Murphy scored the first run in the third on a double and passed balls. The three doubles were the only hits off Gutierrez. Murphy gave up seven hits but the six walks he gave hurt as much as the hits.

Those present were Mrs. Mary Howell, Margie Howell, Morris Phillips, Mrs. Cecil George and Mrs. Doyle Pierson.

All of the circles will meet at the Calvary Baptist Church next Monday, June 4, at 2:30 p.m. for a business meeting.

GOES TO ALBUQUERQUE

Bob Burnett left Tuesday for Albuquerque to join his wife and two daughters where they are with his son Buford who was in an automobile accident on May 9. Buford has been unconscious since the accident which happened about two miles west of Albuquerque. His wife, the former Margaret Wade, suffered a fractured ankle in the accident. They were returning to their home at Farmington from Albuquerque.

O'Dell—

other hotels and receiving the same answer we were about ready to give this "City of Brotherly Love" back to the supposedly unlovely Indians from whom Bill Penn had bought it! So after voicing my feeling in strong—and audible—Texas lingo the bell captain sidled up with the first smile I had so far seen and said, "Don't worry, just let me handle this." In less than five minutes we were given a room. The captain himself took our bags, telling to ignore the ingramus who called himself the night clerk and who, as we registered for the night, told us we could only stay for the night. "See the manager in the morning. I'll put in the right word for you," said the captain.

Right word it must have been, for the hotel manager called the next morning and with the height of kindness informed us that the room was ours for as long as we wanted to stay. Since then we have met a host of lovely people—and a few more gruff ones. Moral? You can't judge a whole city by a few people—the same would be true of a nation or a race.

Our hotel is downtown in what is called "Old Philadelphia." By "old" they mean "ancient." On building after building, corner stones read: "Erected in 1806, or 1831, or 1842!"

But even before this, the Presbyterian church was strong in Philadelphia, since Pennsylvania welcomed all believers in the Christian faith. In 1704 the first Presbyterian church, called Old Buttonwood church, was erected in Philadelphia. It was in this church in 1706 that seven Presbyterian ministers met to establish the first Presbyterian in the U. S. A.

Those ministers represent congregations in three states and their purpose was "to consult the most proper measures for advancing religion and propagating Christianity." This was the beginning of the National Presbyterian church in America—independent of the State Presbyterian church in Scotland.

We visited Independence Square today and saw the place where the "United" States were born. It was certainly not an accident in American history that 70 years before the Declaration of Independence was written, here in this very city that the Presbyterian church was organized less than 10 blocks away.

May 27—I could write volumes, but will try to keep it as cursory as possible. This is a City of "Beginning" as far as U. S. history is concerned, and of course, it marked also the beginnings of the Presbyterian church as an indigenous organization in this country.

At Columbia Ave. and Beach Street is located the spot where Quaker Wm. Penn made his celebrated Treaty with the Indians in 1682. It was the first treaty which was kept to the letter and as the plaque reads, "With Unbroken Faith." Pennsylvania had been chartered as a territory by Penn in 1681 and welcomed all who believed in God. As a result believers from all Christian groups came here.

I went through Christ Church (Episcopal) at Second and Market Sts.—just four blocks from Independence Hall. This church was organized in 1695. The present structure was built in 1727 and it is beautiful! Thirteen graves are in the aisles of the church. In the yard are numerous other graves, the memorable one being of Robert Morris, the financier patriot whose per-

TEXAS OIL PIONEERS

First Union Member In Oil Industry

(Editor's Note: Sketch compiled from records of ORAL HISTORY OF TEXAS OIL PIONEERS, University of Texas. Persons who can contribute additional information, documents, or photographs of early oil fields should write Archives Collection, Box 7767, University Station, Austin, Texas.)

Harry Paramore of Beaumont holds what is probably the first union card issued to a Texas oil field worker. It was issued December 1, 1905, just before the first strike in that Texas oil fields.

Paramore had come from sonal fortune was dedicated to the War of Independence. He was a close personal friend to Washington. Yet I took pictures of the site of the Old Walnut St. Prison, where Morris, the financier and signer of the Declaration of Independence, was imprisoned as a debtor from 1798 to 1801. And here was visited by Washington who was then President and they took dinner behind prison walls!

Earlier in 1793 the first air voyage in America was made from this prison yard by Frenchman Jean Pierre Blanchard.

Independence Square is terrific. At the center is Independence Hall, originally the State House of Pennsylvania (1732). Here tolled the Liberty Bell for America freedom.

Here also in 1787 the first Constitutional Convention framed the Constitution and its opening words are the selfsame ones used by the old Scottish Presbyterian church contracts: "We, the People."

Just up Arch St. at Fourth stands the oldest Friend's Meeting house. Here I met an old lady, prim and plain, by the name of Bethia Whitacre. She reminded me to spell "BETHIA" correctly, since this was the Scotch form of English "Elizabeth"—and she would have nothing to do with anything English!

Her late husband, Lewis Whitacre, had been the minister of this meeting until his death in 1953. She told me with great dignity how she and Illinois in 1903, at the age of 21, and with no experience in the oil fields. He worked first as night pumper in the old electric light plant at Spindletop. His tools for this job were a pocket wrench and a .45 Colt, the latter to help him protect light blubs from thievery. He was instructed to shoot first and ask questions later.

He made the boom at Batson, and then went back to Spindletop to work for the National Oil and Pipeline Company at the standard wage of $3 a day.

There had never been any oil fields. Oil companies had paid higher wages than farms, and ranches, or other industries in the cities. There was a constant influx of men eager to work for $3 a day. Oil field workers were rugged individuals accustomed to dealing directly with the boss.

In the fall of 1905, the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company announced a cut from $3 to $2.50 a day. The announcement rocked Spindletop. Some of the Lewis took their wedding vows "in this very room, so long ago." They said their vows together (no minister officiated) at Quaker weddings) I asked her if she could remember those vows and she responded with the very words.

One hundred and twenty-five persons in the Meeting signed their marriage contract.

With this Country in place of World Leadership at this crucial time in history, it is thrilling to soak in this aggressive spirit which made America what she is. Her wealth is compared to none and here America banking began.

Her health is better cared for than any nations', and here that program was instituted. The greatest document, outside the Holy Bible, the American Constitution, which has been the Instrument of a God-led people to bring a height of Liberty and Prosperity such as the world has never before known, was conceived, thoughtout and written within six blocks of where I am now writing.

Alma and I will have much to tell when we return home.

workers decided to band together and fight.

About 100 men met, organized a union, and applied to the American Federation of Labor for a federal charter as there was no national organization of oil field workers at the time.

On December 14, 1905, the AFL issued a charter for the Guffey Oil and Gas Well Workers Local 1183. Harry Paramore was elected secretary of this local. He designed their first emblem: a button with a stillson wrench and a pair of chain tongs crossed.

It lasted only 10 days, partly because other companies were not in sympathy with the cut and refused to go along with Guffey. An official of the National Oil and Pipeline Company employees: "If I have to cut wages to $2.50 a day, I'll just quit."

Guffey restored the cut and the strike was over, with little or no hard feeling on either side.

Organized only to fight the wage cut, the local disintegrated rapidly because there was no continuing problem to hold the workers together. Union recognition had not been a part of the demands. The local made little attempt, if any, to establish contact with unions in other oil fields.

Paramore kept up a personal interest in union work in the oil fields, but most of the workers saw little reason to keep up their membership or pay dues.

A full decade passed before labor unions became at all effective in Texas oil fields.

Freda Anthony to Marry Norman Hensley, June 2

Miss Freda Ann Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anthony of 409 East Hill, will be married June 2 to Norman Duane Hensley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hensley of El Paso.

The double-ring ceremony will take place at 7:30 p.m. in El Paso's University Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Collis McKinny, pastor, officiating. She will be given in marriage by her father.

Best man will be brother of the bridegroom, Ronald Hensley. Matron of honor will be the aunt of the bride, Mrs. Warren Faller of Midland.

Bridesmaids will be Anita Goodrich of El Paso, Mrs. Bill Patton of Richland, Wash., and Mrs. Fred Cave of El Paso. Candlelighters will be Gayle Gore of Brownfield and Ann Terry of Midland, cousins of the bride. Ushers will be Dick Peirce, Don Handlin and Dick de Bruyn, all of El Paso.

Miss Anthony will wear a gown of white chantilly lace over organly fashioned with an elongated torso and fitted bodice. The gown has a low, rounded neck line, outlined with tulle and pearls, short cap sleeves and a bouffant waist-length skirt.

The finger tip-length veil of imported Italian lace will be dotted with seed pearls and gathered to a pearl tiara. She will wear short chantilly lace gloves and her jewelry will be one strand of pearls.

For tradition, the bride will carry an antique lace handkerchief borrowed from Mrs. Hensley, a blue garter borrowed from the Bride's Sorority of Delta Delta Delta, and an antique French coin borrowed from Mrs. Patton. The bride will carry a white Bible adorned with a white orchid and stephanotis. Following the church ceremony, a reception will be held at Texas Western College in the lodge of Delta Delta Delta, girls sorority.

Miss Anthony has chosen, for traveling, a blue and white patterned sheath dress of silk shantung, with white linen duster lined in matching material. Her hat is made of tulle and of same material as dress. Accessories include white gloves, bag and shoes, with white orchid corsage.

After a honeymoon trip, the couple will be at home June 4 at Veterans Circle, Texas Western College at El Paso, where both are students, he in psychology and she in art. Hensley has a bachelor's degree in psychology and presently is working toward his master's. Miss Anthony will be graduated in 1957.

Miss Wanda Sue Sims Will Be Married To Alton Earl Billings June 3 in Plains

Miss Wanda Sue Sims will be married June 3 to Alton Earl Billings, both of Bronco. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sims, and he, the son of Mrs. Ruby Billings.

The double-ring ceremony will be solemnized at 4 p.m. in the First Methodist Church at Plains, with the Rev. B. C. Stapleton, pastor, officiating. Mr. Sims will give his daughter in marriage.

Best man will be Leroy Edwards of Bronco, and the maid of honor, Jan Sims, sister of the bride. Bridesmaid will be Frances Payne of Plains, and the candles will be lighted by Mrs. J. Watson of Denver City. Both of Plains, flower girls will be Pamela Randolph, and ring bearer, Reg Trout. Ushers will be Dallas Powell and Jim Palmer, both of Plains.

Miss Sims will wear a dress of white French lace, over satin, with scalloped neckline and hemline. It is of waltz length. Her hip length veil will be of the same material, falling from a scalloped crown of lace over satin, trimmed with pearls. She will carry a bouquet of red roses atop a white Bible.

Following the wedding, a reception will be held in Tsa Mo Ga Clubhouse in Plains, where the table will be covered with lace tablecloth over blue. Attendants' bouquets will be used as centerpieces.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. The couple will be at home in Bronco after June 10. For traveling, Miss Sims has chosen a sheath dress of beige linen with blue embroidery and beige duster, plus blue accessories.

Miss Sims will be a senior next year in Plains High School. Billings is a 1953 graduate of O'Donnell High School. He operates a service station and grocery store in Bronco.

Brother of Mrs. Isaacs Returns To U. S. After Four Years Overseas

"It took them 25 years to do it, but here I am, stationed in Texas," commented Major Leslie W. Tomlin, just returned from a four-year tour of duty in France with the Air Force and visiting in the home of his sister, Mrs. A. R. Isaacs, 1304 E. Lons. His new base is Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo.

Major Tomlin enlisted in the old Air Corps in July of 1931 in Wichita Falls, and during his 25 years service, has never been stationed in Texas. When World War II broke out, the Major was stationed in Iceland, and during the war, saw action in England, France, and Belgium. In fact, when he was in England, he met his charming wife, a native of Cambridge, England. They have been married ten years and have two children, Stewart Monroe, 7, and Stephanie, 9.

For the past four years, Major Tomlin has been stationed at Chaumont Air Force Base in France as an aircraft engineer. Planes based at Chaumont are F 86s. When Major Tomlin first reported for duty at Chaumont, there was nothing there but "a landing strip and a bunch of tents". Since then, of course, it has become one of the best American bases in Europe. The Tomlins lived in a 30 room chateau about eight miles from the base while in France. Three other officer-families had apartments in the chateau.

"We were lucky," the major laughed. He explained that the chateau was heavily shelled during World War II and the French baron who owned the chateau went about repairs in the "typical French manner—backwards." The baron repaired the top floor of the chateau first, installing plumbing, a bath, etc., and then the money pooped out. The Tomlins occupied one of the top-floor apartments, and frankly said that they were the envy of their friends since "modern plumbing is definitely at a premium in France." Their five room apartment cost them approximately $70 a month, but rents usually vary from $40 to $200 a month over there, the major said. Utilities are extremely high, and so is "everything else . . . from food to clothing." The base has a fine commissary, however, with all the vegetables, meats, and cheeses shipped in from Holland or Belgium.

"France has been at war since World War II was over," the major said, "and wages are far below price standards and the whole country's economy is quite unstable." Morale is high, despite the financial situation, and the French seem genuinely to like the Americans, Tomlin said. "They are very receptive," was his statement.

Naturally, the Tomlins did quite a bit of traveling in Europe, and Mrs. Tomlin was able to see her parents in England frequently. They expressed a preference for vacationing in Switzerland, but regret that they were never able to get to Italy.

Some questions of political nature couldn't be answered by the major, but in answer to a query on the North African situation, he said the French people are desperately determined to maintain their hold there.

Major Tomlin, who will be attached to a pilot training wing in San Angelo, will retire as a lieutenant colonel in about five years.

When asked if he would recommend the military as a ca-

SUMMER SESSION BHS NEWS

By DONNA CHRISTOPHER

Well, the excitement of the graduation exercises is a thing of the past now. Most of the annuals are tucked away, and another of "the best years of our lives" has come to an end. The long awaited summer vacation is finally here.

There was much celebrating the night of commencement, high-lighted by a party at the Sheriff Posse House, which was hosted by Mary Ann Holmes and her parents. McNutt Courts was the scene of a graduation night slumber party. Linda Harrell, Beverly Brown, Jo Bess Boston, Shelby Thompson, and Barbara Whitaker were the five girls who turned up bleary-eyed the next day.

A quick run-down on some of the couples that have been taking advantage of their leisure time by spending it together would include: Barbara Chessir — Buddy Campbell, Prissy Trim — Sid Szloski, Beverly Brown — James Gee Morris, Theresa Stephens — Bobby Moore, Sherry Don Spears — Kenneth Murphy, Wanda Cornelius — J. W. Richard, Anne Lee — Ellis Cox, Jeanie Criswell — E. V. Murphy, Jo Anna Cook — Jimmy Jenkins, Kay Kissinger — Jack Lucas, Jerre Sue Estes — Ernest Hyman, Beverly Isaacs — O. J. Murray, Doris Ratliff Gerald Jenkins, Sheri Clements — Forrest Kuykendall, Linda Bost — Herbie Pickett, Pasty Land — Jackie Whitaker, Gretchen Sloan — Chuck Kersh.

As the past editors of this column, Beverly Brown and Linda Harrell did an excellent job of reporting the news from B. H. S., but their own names seldom appeared in print, so we decided to ask them about their future plans and "write them up" for a change. Beverly spent last week in Cisco, where she stayed with her fiancée grandmother. She says she will either take a business course at Draughton's in Lubbock, or work this summer and attend A. C. C. next fall. Linda plans to continue working at the Retail Merchant's Association through the summer, then she also plans to attend A. C. C. Both girls were members of the 1956 graduating class, and they are two really wonderful people.

Undisputedly two of young ers are Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher. Jerre Sue Estes possesses what is probably the most complete record of their widely-headlined romance. She became interested in Debbie about the time the idyllic story began to appear in the news, and she's saved pictures and clippings faithfully ever since. About twenty-five people enjoyed dancing and a scavenger hunt at the home of Sheri Clements on Wednesday, May 23. Linda Bost assisted Sheri as co-hostess. Following the party, Mary Joe Christian entertained about fifteen girls with a slumber party.

Linville's Honor David Adams on His Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Linville of 511 East Hill gave a barbecue supper and birthday party Saturday night for David Evans of Meadow. Present were:

Vacation Bible Schools are getting underway in most of our churches this month, and many of the young people are helping out. The Church of Christ has included a class for teen-agers in its Bible School program, which began this week. The Abilene Presbytery Westminister Fellowship Rally will be held at the local Presbyterian Church, June 1 and 2.

Short Notes: Mike Hamilton and Jerry Don Huckabee are vacationing in Denver, Colorado for two weeks.

Kay Hamilton is visiting in Dallas.

Janith Spears has been dating Jackie Moore recently.

Judith Prewitt has gone with Pat Ott to Illinois, where they will visit some of Pat's relatives. They plan a week-end trip to Chicago. The girls will be gone about two weeks.

The grape vine has it that Miss Cherie Fent, P. E. instructor at B. H. S. is engaged to Bill Todd. Also we've heard that Jo Anna Cook and Jimmy Jenkins are engaged.

A group of F. H. A. boys left at seven o'clock, Tuesday morning for a trip to the Big Bend country and a convention at Alpine.

Bob Wilkinson and Freda Newsom are a new steady couple.

It was picnic time, sure enough, for Patsy and Larry Fulford, Bobbie Nell Richard-

Circles Study Matthew

"The Crisis in Christian Education," scripture reading, Matthew 16: 13-28, was the subject for study and discussion when the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church met in circles this week for bible study.

Circles had the following in attendance: Bagby 5, Blanche Groves 8 members and 2 visitors, Lois Glass 7, Lottie Moon 3, Lucille Reagan 7, and Roberta Edwards 4.

The W.M.S. will meet at the church Monday, June 4, at 4 p. m. for a business meeting.

son, and Ronnie Swan last week-end. The two couples spent Saturday afternoon picnicing in Lubbock.

Jeanie Criswell was installed as Worthy Advisor of the Brownfield Assembly No. 246 of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, in a very impressive ceremony last Wednesday night.

Patti Thomas was treated to a surprise party last Tuesday night.

We congratulate Jacky and Carole Stockton on the arrival of Ronald Dale, Friday, May 25, at Portales, New Mexico. The new addition weighed in at 6½ pounds. Both of the parents are graduates of B. H. S.

MANY PROBLEMS MET

Pre-Planting Irrigation Nearing Completion

By LEE H. WILLIAMSON
SCS Engineer

Most irrigation farmers on the South High Plains are nearly through with their pre-planting irrigation. It has taken some farmers longer to get over their land than it did last year.

The reason: The old pump just won't put out—or is the well failing? The capacity of many wells on the South Plains is a little more than half of what they were last year. Some of the wells may be plugging up, and in some cases the water just isn't there any more.

Conservation Is First

Farmers are beginning to wonder how many acres they will be able to water this summer.

Walker, a sideoats grama which has runners like buffalo-grass and a blue and hairy grama with the same characteristic.

Another sideoats has shown marked ability for producing a heavy seed crop and holding it on the stalk until ready for combining. There are other species which produce a lot of leaves and few stems and still

mer. How can they make their reduced supply of water cover the most land and yet be sufficient for optimum plant growth and production?

Their first decision in conserving their irrigation water is to stop waste. Wasting irrigation water is done in more ways than just running it off down the turn row or highway borrow ditch as tail water.

Overwatering probably accounts for as much waste as tail water runoff. Overwatering is applying more water to the soil than is needed to replenish that removed by plants, evaporation and other factors. Any water in excess of that required to bring the soil back to field capacity will be wasted either through runoff or going below the depth from which plant roots can pick it up.

Storage Space Needed

Water applied at the wrong time may be wasted if there is not enough storage space available in the root zone of the soil to hold the water. A portion of water applied too late, after a plant is suffering, may be wasted in that production already is effected and the water used to revive a suffering plant might have been used for producing fruit had it been applied earlier. Then some soils are so low in fertility that they will not produce beyond a certain point by irrigation alone, and make wastage by over watering easier.

Most Understand Needs

To eliminate wastage and get uniform application of irrigation water the farmer must understand what the water requirements of the plants are. This requirement varies with different plants and with the different stages of growth. The expected production also will influence the water requirements of a crop. He must know how to estimate the amount of water storage space in a soil either by feeling of it or by use of soil moisture indicating instruments.

Knowing how much to apply and when to apply it will go a long way toward eliminating irrigation water waste. Yet, if farmer does not know what his irrigation system is capable of doing or how to operate it in the most efficient manner he

Expert States Cows Also Need Vacation

"The dry cow is the most neglected animal on the dairy farm," says R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman at Texas A&M.

In a study made of 3,599 dairy cows at Michigan State University, records prove that cows produce more if they have at least six to eight weeks of rest between lactation periods.

"Results of the study show that cows dry two weeks or less, produced 9,511 pounds of milk and 347 pounds of butterfat," says Burleson. "Cows dry two weeks to a month produced 10,838 pounds of milk and 390 pounds of butterfat, while those dry four to six weeks produced 11,218 pounds of milk and 404 pounds of butterfat."

Burleson recommends that cows have six to eight weeks of rest between lactations. Cows in this category of the study produced 11,507 pounds of milk and 413 pounds of butterfat.

Though the study was run on Holsteins, production figures for other breeds would be the same in proportion.

Average production for cows given eight to ten weeks vacation was slightly higher, but the difference wasn't great enough to pay for the extra feed involved.

"If the dairyman is neglecting to supply adequate vacations for his cows, he is losing money," says Burleson.

Allyn B. Cox, technician with the Brownfield office of U. S. Soil Conservation Service, was transferred this week to Stanton, where he'll serve in the same capacity with the federal agency.

Cox joined the Brownfield staff the latter part of last year. His transfer leaves three men here: Henry Williamson, work unit conservationist, and A. R. Hodges and Bill Dugger. Williamson thinks a soil scientist is to join his group in the near future.

A number of Terry farmers have reported recent rains of as much as two inches—general average seems to be one-half to one inch. An estimated 90 per cent of the irrigated cotton is planted. Some dryland is planted, but the major portion awaits more rain. A few farmers say they give themselves until June 20 for planting dryland cotton.

Members of the Future Farmer chapters of Brownfield, Meadow and Wellman high schools will return Saturday from Alpine, where they are attending their annual state convention.

Ves Hicks and Walt Meyer, these chapter advisors are accompanying the Brownfield youths. Lester Ericson is with the Meadow chapter, and Homer Jones, Wellman group.

The 1956 Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects, L-218, is now available at County Agent Jim Foy's office in the courthouse and from the Agricultural Information Office at College Station. Get the jump on cotton insects by being ready to fight before the "bug robbers" get the upper hand.

There is no firm count of completed irrigation wells in Terry. However, the number increases daily—drilling activity may be seen on any day of the week.

Here are late statistics issued for the number of water wells completed in June in the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District (in neighboring counties generally to the north):

Bailey, 8; Castro, 11; Cochran, 19; Deaf Smith, 9; Floyd, 12; Hockley, 44; Lamb, 28; Lubbock, 68; Lynn, 26; Parker, 20; Potter, 0, and Randall, 3.

Work is under way on planning the South Plains cotton insect report, which will be issued weekly starting about the second week of June.

V. C. Marshall of Renner, who led the farmers of Texas and the nation in an historic campaign to achieve self-government in their local soil conservation districts, last week won the 1956 Hoblitzelle Award for the advancement of Texas rural life.

Several dozen Terry men were in Lubbock yesterday to attend a cotton session sponsored by Texas Farm Bureau. H. L. (Hub) King of Brownfield, TFB director, was in charge of the meeting, held in Hotel Lubbock.

The 17th annual Cotton Classing Shortcourse, sponsored by the Department of Textile Engineering at Texas Tech, will be offered June 4-15. Professor E. L. Parsons announced this week.

The course is for ginners, buyers, classifiers, farmers and others in the cotton industry. Instruction will be by USDA classifiers, headed by Leil O. Buchanan, manager of Lubbock Cotton Classing office.

USDA is hammering away at the story of who gets the money spent for a one-pound loaf of bread. Involved are the farmer, miller, baker, salesman, laborer, advertiser, handler, retailer and profit.

Grass Testing And Breeding Programs May Find Answers

Texas range livestock producers long have sought a drought-resistant grass that would set a good seed crop, produce a lot of leaves and quickly establish itself—and also a grass which could be seeded at a low cost.

Finding these characteristics in a single grass may be a remote possibility, but A. H.

Walker, extension range specialist, says progress is being made.

Several grass varieties selected by research workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in the states of the Southwest and Mexico are showing a lot of promise and small trial or test plantings now are being made in 66 counties.

Sideoats Grama Good

A total of 255 varieties or selections are included in the county. Cooperating with interested local groups, county agents have located the test plantings on land easily available to those watching the progress of the plants. Among the prize performers, according to Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic—

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflow

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car these days must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflow smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness—

The flash-fast new get-away response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you barely press the pedal.

The instant new full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge—

The walloping new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all—

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week—today if you can—and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here—and what great buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

LET'S HAVE A WEDDING

We'll Have to Fight Side by Side

"A new era dawned in Dallas." That and other editorial headlines proclaimed the State Democratic Convention last week. We don't proclaim to be an astute student of politics, and by no means an experienced one. But it seems to us that not enough emphasis was placed on the statement of the keynote speaker Gerald Mann.

He said, "We want a Democratic and a Republican party, each headed by men who are faithful to their party."

"Every voter does not have to belong to a party. We have no quarrel with a man following his conscience and voting his convictions. But to preserve the two-party system, those who seek and accept positions of leadership and responsibility in a political party must remain faithful and loyal to that party. That is fundamental. It is the inescapable truth. We do not want splinter parties in our nation."

Let us preface the remainder of this with Senator Lyndon Johnson's statement, "I will come back to our party all who subscribe to our principles. I think we should roll out the carpet and make the path easy for those who want to vote Democratic." In other words let us not squabble over the past. Some of us think the "revolt" served a good purpose in showing that we are not going to be blindly led, and others disagree; one thing is certain, it is water under the bridge now.

But to delve further into Mann's plea for unity, etc., the convention itself confirmed the thought that politics makes strange bedfellows. And some of them weren't happy with the unity theme.

A West Texas farmer doesn't have much in common with a Houston chemical plant worker and a Fort Worth aircraft industry worker when you get right down to basic political interests. Each of necessity must fight for his own gain, and where one gains the other loses. Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first to divide voters into such segments as labor, farm, negro, etc. and it has grown to be a threat to true Democracy.

As I see it the essence of the party problems here in Texas is fast approaching the point where we in Terry county must give a little from both sides, and all get on the same side. While we are up here cutting at each other's throats the CIO, AF of L and other labor organizations are working to gain complete control of the Democratic Party in Texas.

New York Gov. Averell Harriman, an admitted candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, has in so many words said "I don't want the South."

He expects to attract the support of such advocates of the "New Vision" (his personal improvement on the New Deal and Fair Deal) as the Americans for Democratic Action, the Reuther-Rieve wing of the union labor movement and above all else, he counts on the backing of several aggrieved racial elements.

He advocates more generous and less discriminate foreign aid, 90 or 100 percent farm parity payments, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, Federal ownership and operation of power projects, immediate school integration enforced by the Department of Justice, all-out support for Israel in the Middle East dispute, vigorous anti-trust activity and prosecutions, huge government grants for schools, hospitals, highways, etc. (How far is this from out and out socialism?)

The liberals at Dallas wanted to temper their support of Johnson by pledging the Texas delegation to Chicago to only the first roll call vote for Johnson, after that they would have been free to vote for Harriman or someone like him.

We are either going to have to work towards a Democratic party like Johnson and Mann want or get out, because most of us won't be able to stomach the actions of the party the Houstonians will build.

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE HOOVER REPORT

By George Peck

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

A book has just been published that every American taxpayer should read. It is the joint effort of two authors: Neil MacNeil, for many years one of the top editors of The New York Times; and Dr. Harold W. Metz, a recognized authority on the Federal Government who has made several studies for the Brookings Institution.

The book is entitled: "THE HOOVER REPORT, 1953-1955." In this concise and readable volume, Messrs. MacNeil and Metz, who incidentally were in the Hoover Commission's Editorial and Research Directors, have ably epitomized the Commission's major recommendations. They have divided the book into four parts: The Tools of Government, Big Government, The Big Spender

George Peck

As readers of this column are aware the Congress unanimously created the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government to investigate the national Government's operations. Former President Herbert Hoover was again called on to direct this big job on behalf of the America which he loves and has served so well over a long period of years.

The Hoover Commission was sworn in at the White House on September 29, 1953. It included besides Mr. Hoover such distinguished Americans as Herbert Brownell, Jr., Attorney General; Arthur S. Flemming, Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization; James A. Farley, former Postmaster General; all named by President Eisenhower. It also included distinguished Senators and Representative, statesmen and educators, named by Vice President Nixon and Speaker of the House Rayburn.

The Commission found inefficiency and waste to the tune of billions of the taxpayers' dollars, rampant bureaucracy, infringement of American liberties and widespread competition with private enterprise. The book gives a thorough accounting of these findings.

Undoubtedly, every reader of this column is aware that the Federal Government has grown to tremendous proportions. But I wonder just how many of us realize just how big. The Hoover Commission found it is so reported in "THE HOOVER REPORT" that our Federal Government employs 10,000 lawyers, spends 4 billion dollars annually on paper work alone, owns one-quarter of the land area of the 48 states, has 244 billion dollars in loans, guarantees, insurance and other contingent liabilities. Those are a few of the gigantic realities of our government today. Big Government affects the economic activities of every wage earner, business man, farmer, producer and consumer! Big Government can and does tax our salaries and incomes, cigarettes and gasoline—but more than that, it issues directives that affect our liberties.

Mr. Hoover says of this book: "One of the important purposes of the Commission was to open the doors of understanding of the functions of our people at large. They are a lesson on civil government of significant educational value. And this book is a condensation of those lessons and the arguments over them. One reason for the high standards of this presentation is the men who did it. . . . The two authors attended every one of the scores of Commission meetings and many Task Force meetings. They know more about the work of the Commission than any other mortal. They are both men dedicated to the Service of the American people."

If your bookstore doesn't have "THE HOOVER REPORT," a copy can be obtained from the publisher—The Macmillan Company, 60 Fifth Ave., New York 11, N. Y.—price $6.00. I urge all readers to get a copy of this book; read it; learn how the recommendations made by the Ho-

WHEN YOU RETIRE

Formulas for Longevity

By Robert Peterson
WHEN RETIRED MEN and women are asked their recipes for longevity, the replies are as varied as the trinkets in Mr. Woolworth's store. According to a drawer full of clippings we have collected, no one seems to agree with anyone else. Take a look at some of the replies: "I get plenty of exercise." "I don't believe in exercise." "I'm vegetarian." "My main diet is red meat." "I spend my winters in Florida." "I've never been out of Vermont."

A WOMAN OF 100 in Iowa gives credit to temperance, saying, "I never smoked tobacco or touched alcohol in my life." But here's clipping about a woman in England who recently passed the century mark and told reporters, "I've smoked a cigar a day for the past 20 years, and I always take a nip of whiskey before going to bed."

Scientists aren't much help. If you ask for a sure-fire formula for living to be 100, they'll waggishly suggest that you pick some long-lived forebears. While they agree that ancestry is the most important factor in determining length of life, they acknowledge there are many exceptions. Study your family tree and you will doubtless discover dozens of cousins who perished much earlier than their parents or grandparents, and of others who lived to be much older.

GEOGRAPHIC locations has a small bearing on longevity. Dr. Flanders Dunbar, a New York psychiatrist, has conducted surveys which indicate there are more centenarians along the Eastern Seaboard than elsewhere in the U. S. She and others who have studied the matter agree that those who survive the longest are not those who have led protected lives in specially favored environments. Neither are they folks who have lived more hygienically or had better medical care than the average Americans. She points out that life along the East Coast is usually marked by hard work and hard weather. This, she assumes, toughens the individual and makes him better able to withstand the diseases that are apt to strike in advanced years.

LET'S FACE IT—there is no magic formula for a long life. Consequently, we are wise to stop worrying about how to add a few years to life, and start making sure we are getting the most out of the years at hand. This concept is summed up nicely on the masthead of the Journal of Gerontology, which proclaims, "To add life to years not just years to life."

One last reminder—don't wait until you retire to start injecting some life into your years. Actually, the amount of pleasure you find in retirement will depend to a large extent on how much pleasure you found in earlier years.

FOLKS WHO don't get around to enjoying themselves until they retire resemble the AUSTIN, Tex. — Supreme Court Justice Will Wilson grabbed the political spotlight with the announcement that he was resigning on June 1.

He will devote his full time to an aggressive campaign for the office of Attorney General. Said Wilson: "Texas' greatest need today is vigorous enforcement of Texas laws. I believe I can serve Texas best in filling that need."

Wilson, who gained fame as Dallas' racket-busting district attorney, has served six years on the Supreme Court. He was elected in 1950 by a heavy majority, and is one of the youngest men ever to serve on the high bench.

It was felt by most seasoned observers that Wilson would have been re-elected without opposition had he desired to continue as a member of the State's highest tribunal.

Wilson served as Assistant Attorney General of Texas under Gerald Mann and Grover Sellers in 1941-42.

Ike's Visit—Pres. Dwight Eisenhower's visit to his native state, planned long ago, by chance came three days after the Democratic State Convention There. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was endorsed as favorite son candidate for President.

Thus, Texas has two native sons in the race for Chief Executive of the United States.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who has said he will support the presidential nominee whom he considers best for the nation, regardless of party, didn't attend the Dallas convention at which Johnson was the main figure.

As Texas Chief Executive he did, however, welcome President Eisenhower at Waco, where Ike received an honorary degree from Baylor University.

Eisenhower leaders, including National Committeeman Jack Porter, and other Texas Republican notables, conferred with the President briefly in Waco. Also present was Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, late of the President's cabinet and now co-chairman of the national Citizens for Eisenhower organization. Governor Shivers did not take part in the conference.

Johnson's Goals — Senator Johnson gained his personal goals at the Democratic convention. But his control of the convention was shaky all the way through.

Near the end, his personal requests were turned down. His reported choice for Democratic Commission if adopted would cut Federal spending by several billion dollars annually with resultant reduction in income taxes; and then go to work on your Congressman and two U. S. Senators to see that the recommendations are acted up on by the Congress.

More Than
She "Bargained" For

Dad Baker retired from active dairying—seven or eight years ago
—but still keeps a half-dozen purchures more or less as a hobby.

Dad goes all-out for these six.
Temperature-controlled barn, expensive feed . . . the works. As a result his milk has a low bacteria count, a high butterfat content.
And as a favor to neighbors, he sells it just two cents above the ordinary price.

Recently, a neighbor complained—asked if she couldn't get the milk "at cost." Dad agreed sent her a bill for exactly what the milk cost: 75¢ a quart.

From where I sit, it's easy to misunderstand if you don't get all the facts. That's why we ought to consider the other fellow's viewpoint before we talk out. For example, you have your reasons the usual time — the September convention. Meanwhile, the May convention is not adjourned — merely recessed. This is interpreted as a "foot in the door" to keep watch over the present committee during the summer.

Defeated conservatives say that Shivers conservatives and Johnson conservatives soon will be back in the camp. They think it can happen in time to shift party control again in the September convention.

New Tax Suggested —When the 55th Legislature convenes next January, the biggest bugaboo will be a familiar one — need for more money.

Budget estimates indicate at least $25 million more a year will be needed for 1957-59 appropriations.

Campaign platforms of legislative candidates show that many think existing tax sources are paying as much as they can. Many suggest that new revenue sources should be found to equalize the load. Few are very specific.

A concrete suggestion came last week from a University of Texas economics professor writing for "Comment," the Bureau of Public Affairs monthly. A "business activities" tax was proposed by Carey C. Thompson.

Such a tax, said Thompson, would be based on value added to a product by manufacture and hence would hit "only newly-created wealth hitherto untaxed."

Michigan, he said, collects about $30 million a year by this means.

Alternate proposals, such as income or sales taxes, widely used in other states, have always met strong opposition in Texas.

"Right-To-Work" Law Hit — Labor leaders are elated, state officials glum over the crippling of Texas' "right-to-work" law.

U. S. Supreme Court last week ruled such state laws cannot apply in the railroad industry. They are superseded by the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes closed shop contracts.

Said Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd: It means "railroad workers must join unions or go hungry. A man who is refused the right to work unless he supports certain organizations cannot exercise any of the other rights guaranteed by the constitution."

Jerry Holleman, executive secretary of Texas AFL, called the decision "a great step forward. Texas Federation believes Congress should ex-will end up wasting water. Is Big Difference

There is a big difference in actually knowing how much water is being pumped, how much is being turned into a tab or into a furrow or is being discharged from a sprinkler head and in guessing or assuming these amounts because it looks like about so much. If accurate information on system discharge is not known it is very easy to overwater in one place and under-water in another.

If runs are too long excess water may be applied to the upper end of a tab or a furrow before water reaches the lower end. If furrows have too much grade tail water may run out the lower end before a proper application can be applied. The same thing may occur if the proper head is not used.

Sprinkler systems operated at the wrong pressure or too long a time at a set will overwater or give non-uniform application. If pipes are too small or sprinkler lines too long thus causing excessive drop, if pressure of the sprinkler nearest the main line will waste water from overwatering before the far end sprinkler can apply the desired application. Leaks in sprinkler line, or too long moves, will cause application to be non-uniform.

Technicians Can Aid

To eliminate waste and to produce the most per inch of water applied, farmers should seek aid from qualified technicians in evaluating the job to be done and the ability of irrigation system to do the job. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting your soil district are available and experienced in this type of job. With tend this same protection to the rest of the workers in the Old Debts Collected—A state auditor's survey of the General Land Office resulted in payment of some long overdue debts to the school land fund.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness released a report covering the three-year period just prior to Bascom Gile's resignation. It had turned up 24 mineral leases on which annual rental payments were in arrears. These were called to the attention of Land Office personnel, and collections of $9,373, plus $402 interest, were made.

Cavness noted that J. Earl Rudder, appointed to succeed Gile as land commissioner, has sought to improve lease handling insofar as funds permit.

Restrictive legislative appropriations cause the office to be understaffed, the auditor commented.

New Freeways Approved — Two new freeway projects were given State Highway Commission okay.

One is to be 33 miles long, on U. S. 81, from Laredo to the La Salle County line. Another multi-lane stretch of 11 miles is planned west of Mineral Wells.

Government experts say there are at least one million dairy cows that are "free boarders" on the farms that keep them. That is, they do not produce enough milk to pay their way, and their owners shell out for the privilege of keeping them, whether or not they realize it.

Not Miracle Grasses

"These are not miracle grasses," points out Walker, "but they do hold a lot of promise for revegetating old fields and denuded rangelands of Texas." It is Walker's belief that no single grass capable of filling the bill will be found but that a combination will come from the breeding and testing program which can mean a new day for the state's livestock producers who depend upon range forage as a major source of feed.

June 30, say Internal Revenue men. Terry farmers who expect to file claims are advised to have complete records of their gasoline expenditures.

The new farm bill which has gone to the White House does not deal with the support price for cotton because the administration has announced the support price for the 1956 crop will be 82½ per cent of parity.

The youthful couple in the restaurant were waiting for their lunch. The conversation turned to literature. "What do you like best to read?" she asked. "Oh, 'Joe Palooka,' 'Lil Abner,' and 'Terry and the Pirates,'" he answered. "Don't you like such things as 'Oleander'?" she inquired, hoping he would evince appreciation of good literature. "Nope," replied he, "the nuts get in my teeth."

Mowed Pasture Is Boosted For Best Yields

Mowing is an important practice in the management of cultivated pastures. Mowing weeds, sprouts, bushes, briars and vines helps eliminate them, and makes conditions more favorable for grass.

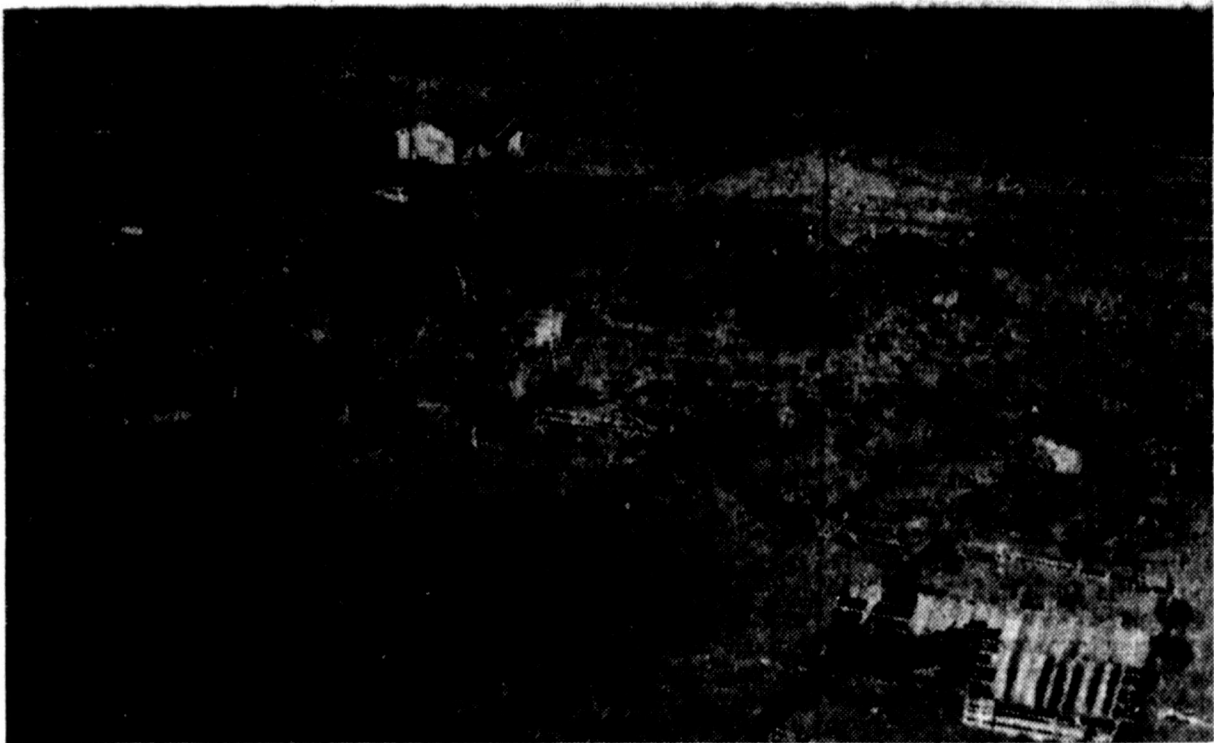

"Also," says E. M. Trew of Texas A&M, "mowing cultivated pasture grasses tends to keep them in a growing condition and more palatable and nutritious."

Mow When Blooming

Trew suggests that mowing be started when the worst weeds begin to bloom. They are weakest and are damaged most by mowing when blooming. All weeds should be mowed before they can produce seed, and some such as eastern bitterweed, a pest as Bermuda-pastures, often make enough regrowth to mature seed after even two mowings.

Make the first mowings for bitterweed high but lower each succeeding clipping to prevent seed production on the mowed stubble. Fall blooming weeds like yankee or rosinweed may need a summer mowing and MYSTERY FARM No. 38 — The MF of last week was identified early as belonging to Oliver Miller and located 1 mile west of Country Club. Mrs. C. F. McNeil of Route 1, Brownfield, was first to telephone, beating by a scant 2-3 minutes Mr. Earl Blackwell of 509 Magnolia Ave. The Blackwells are experts at identifying the MF's — he was nearly first twice and was first week before last.

mowers can be operated at faster speeds than cutter bar mowers but cannot be used if hay or silage is to be made from the clippings.

Trew says that some stockmen have said they lost grazing by mowing last summer, because they mowed the pastures too short and continued mowing after moisture disappeared when fall blooming starts.

Any heavy duty power take-off mower when properly equipped can be used for mowing brush or sprouts up to an inch in diameter. The vegetation to be mowed will determine the type of clips, guards and sickle to use for best results. Rotary or shredder type plies were too low to permit the grass to make regrowth.

Chemicals Are Used

Weed control with chemicals is being used more and more. It is often a cheaper method. Most annual broad-leaved weeds can be controlled with a half to three-quarters of a pound an acre of 2, 4, -D or M. C. P. applied in water as a broadcast spray. But chemical control also has disadvantages. Even at the low rates chemicals may damage or kill pasture legumes such as hop, persimmon, crimson and alfalfa. Too, the material will damage susceptible like cotton, tomatoes, sweetclover if it drifts them.

This morning at the market a reporter questioned me:

- Q. You're a home maker and mother?
A. Yes.
- Q. Do you and your family attend Church?
A. Every week, unless prevented by illness.
- Q. Surely you don't take the children when they're small?
A. Oh yes. It's been proved that habits formed during the first five years establish a pattern for life.
- Q. When it's raining or snowing doesn't it often seem best to stay home?
A. No. Bad weather doesn't usually keep us from doing other things we want to do. Besides, children go to school on rainy days so why not to Church and Bible School?
- Q. Then you feel regular worship is good for a family?
A. Not only good but necessary. Religious training is the fourth R, and the most vital part of our learning to live.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Invite Brownfield To Participate In West Texas Day

Brownfield has been invited to participate in observing West Texas Day at the 1956 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-21.

The invitation was issued in a letter to Mayor Arlie Lowmore from Mayor R. L. Thornton of Dallas. Mayor Thornton is also president of the State Fair.

Saturday, Oct. 6, opening day of the 1956 fair, has been designated as West Texas Day at the State Fair, America's largest annual exposition in terms of attendance. Texas Tech plays Texas A&M in a football game in the Cotton Bowl that night.

This will be one of the first games Texas Tech will play against a Southwest Conference member after being invited to enter the conference.

"This will give us in Dallas an opportunity to welcome Texas Tech to the Southwest Conference and will give her neighbors in West Texas an occasion to give Tech a good send-off," Mr. Thornton said in his letter.

"We hope that many citizens of your fine city, including an official delegation if at all possible, will be with us at the State Fair on West Texas Day," Mr. Thornton's letter concluded.

NEW CROP HAIL POLICY

Have You Heard About It?
If You Have, Are You SURE
What You Have Heard Is TRUE?

Why not get it from the Horse's Mouth? We have complete knowledge of this new Crop Hail Policy and are always ready to explain it to you without obligation.

FOR EXAMPLE: There is no longer a "Step Ladder" clause. A Big Improvement? Yes, but only one of many.
