The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

"Poor Edith!" they said when Edith's old father died after long years of semi-invalidism, ministered unto by school-teacher Edith who commuted to school eight and morning, held a responsible job, and not only managed the big rambling house of her parents, but did most of the actual work too, housework did not always being as easily summoned as theory might say.

"Just Her Job"

Nobody thought much about "Poor Edith." They have had 15 years when her whole life was a grinding grind of work and responsibility with no time or money for a "life of her own." It was just Edith's job! But now that she is dead, Edith is not married. It was just Edith's job! All plans in the world, nobody to care much whether she lives or dies and her father was so dependent on her! She just has nobody!

Her "Own Life"

Not a week after the funeral Edith got out of that big house—couldn't bear to miss her father, they said, and some wondered if Edith, "all alone" might not "do something desperate with herself." Edith called me up a few days ago and asked me to come to dinner with her, and when I, assuming, of course, that she meant the work she was to do, I asked her, "Oh, come out to my apartment," and gave me an address.

Room of Dreams

Edith had set her little mahogany gateleg table by the open fire. A bright orange luncheon set was upon it, black and orange glass and a spray of brown, chestnut-brown soft rugs like autumn leaves upon the floor, time-dyed tiles upon the walls, a bit of copper here and there, pieces of rich and rare old furniture books everywhere—in short, a room of beauty and comfort and the creation of a woman who knew what was what.

Pose or Real?

Edith was radiant. She fairly glowed with talk—books and art and travel and men and new recipes and new clubs and this and that. I thought of an occasional evening spent with Edith in the old house—bare and cold and empty, with Edith, dear and lifeless and eternally doing something with her hands—had put her down in my book as a routine, drudgery-loving. I like the rest of us never said, "Poor Edith," for she, too, seemed to take it all for granted.

"Making Time"

Which was the real Edith, I wondered? That one or this one? Which was the pose. She could not have become really so different a person in so short a time. Somehow or other, the story came out the tragedy of those ten years of "making time," doing the taken for "granted" thing.

"It was impossible to be anything but a worker then, and keep my real thoughts to myself," said Edith. "I couldn't have company out there. I filled my home with books to fill that barren with the things I wanted around me. It had to be done somehow. I waited."

Self-Sufficient

Edith today seems utterly self-sufficient. She goes and entertains and joins clubs and talks of the pent-up thoughts of ten years, and is at 25, a woman accustomed to handling ten for years, utterly self-sufficient.

But "out home" they still say "Poor Edith" and wonder how she's managing to get along without any little bit.

Two Types of Women

There is a subtle, in the big difference between yesterday's and today's woman. Yesterday's woman's life was a life of human contacts. Her only job was to maintain—feed and clothe and amuse and comfort. With human contacts gone, she was left high and dry, stranded, not one single resource within herself.

Today's woman lives an individual life, not especially dependent on others, and if circumstances make it impossible for her to do so, she "makes time" until she can live her real life, which to the old-time woman was no life at all.

Which is richer, I wonder?

Try-out Tomorrow for Little Theatre

First tryouts for the Little Theatre's next play will be held in room 202, in the administration building of Texas Tech tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock; officials of the organization announced last night. "The Pot Holders" is the name of the play and Little Theatre proponents urge that all persons interested in dramatics try out for parts.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, corned beef hash, scrambled eggs, crisp french toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Bean stew, graham rolls, celery and apple salad, pies and cakes, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast mutton, scalloped potatoes, creamed spinach, baked sweet potatoes, corned beef hash, cranberry sauce, rice, bread, canned apricot pie, milk, coffee.

The bean stew suggested in the luncheon menu is a happy combination of fresh vegetables with the dried beans. Any variety of beans can be chosen, although lima are used in the rule given.

Bean Stew

One cup dried lima beans, 1 cup sliced raw potatoes, 1 cup sliced raw carrots, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups strained canned tomatoes, 1 medium sized onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoon pepper.

Wash and look over beans. Let stand in cold water to more than cover for six or eight hours or overnight. Drain and put into kettle with cold water to cover. Bring slowly to the boiling point and simmer for one hour, adding water as necessary to keep beans covered. Melt butter, add onion cut in thin slices and simmer for fifteen minutes. Add mixture to beans with potatoes and carrots. Cook until vegetables are tender and add salt, pepper, and strained tomatoes. Bring to the boiling point and serve.

Parachutes are now being used in dropping mail bags from airplanes.

She Rules Visitors; Woman Gets U. S. Post

Mrs. J. D. Tillinghast and Secretary of Labor Davis

By ALLENE SUMNER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—"The girls" who clamor loudly and long for "more public-recognition of women" have been given a nice new all-day sucker lollipop by their Uncle Sam.

The lollipop goes especially—and particularly to Mrs. James D. Tillinghast, of Cambridge, Mass., who was appointed immigration commissioner at the port of Boston, following Commissioner Johnson, who died a few days ago.

"The most important federal job ever given a woman" was the remark of Secretary Davis at the labor department news conference with the job.

Mrs. Tillinghast is a good-in-the-wool republican and a proud of it. She is proud of her as not women enrolled in the grand and glorious republican cause up there in the state of the east and the west, from which state she claims to have sent with her blessing seven congressmen within the past few years.

If these congressmen who realize the lady's sterling worth, got the job for her, she thinks.

Mrs. Tillinghast is mother of two grown children and a graduate of a famous school of oratory. She is known as "The Woman Orator." She frankly admits she knows nothing about immigration laws.

"I can not even say that I will temper my job with the 'woman touch' of sympathy," she said, "until I know just how necessary seeming human credence are in this immigration business."

Wives with careers who have claimed that present restrictions are sending them scuttling back to the kitchens because they can not get servants, may expect little help from the new woman commissioner.

"It's easy enough to get servants if you treat them right," she said.

Mrs. Tillinghast did not know, at latest reports, the salary attached to her new job.

"I thought to be pretty good," she said, tucking in a stray lock of her pepper-and-salt hair which she wears in neat braided coils at the back of her head. "But whatever the salary it's my duty to take the job and I'm proud to have the chance to show what women can do."

Mrs. Isabel Whitehead of the Supreme Court is considered by the political women of the country as probably the only woman with a more important job than the new one of Mrs. Tillinghast.

It is open gossip in public women circles—that the capital city—that the appointment does not overstep the eastern district of the woman's committee of the Republican National Committee.

Mrs. Tillinghast was not even invited to a recent conference of these women in Washington until she demanded an invitation.

There was little applause at the dinner of this convention when her appointment was announced.

"I have always said that politics could not be run like pink tea. Women in politics must work like men and not party girls," was Mrs. Tillinghast's only comment on the convention.

TECH QUINTET MEETS BEAR CATS TONIGHT

MATADORS EXPECT CLOSE GAME WITH TEACHERS' TEAM FROM SAM HOUSTON NORMAL AT ASSEMBLY HALL HERE

Tonight on the assembly hall floor the Sam Houston State Teacher's college Bear Cats, of Huntsville, will meet the Matadors in the first of a two game series. Meeting the Houston five for the first time, the Matadors are looking for a close game, as the visitors have played some of the strongest teams in the state on their trip. A number of their games have been won easily, although they encountered difficulty in the two games with the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon Monday and Tuesday nights going down with 48 to 39 and 42 to 35.

Coach Grady Higginbotham will send a much improved team on the floor tonight than was seen in action during the last game with the Sul Ross Lobbers. Better team work is being played by the boys now and heavy score is expected for the game tonight as several of the boys have found their distance for shots at the basket. Higginbotham has been spending most of his time since returning from Abilene in shaping up team-work and ironing out faculty plays. The game is called for 8 o'clock at the new Tech assembly hall.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

The Matadors clash with the Sam Houston Normal quintet here this evening on the assembly hall floor at eight o'clock. This contest will be one of the Higginbotham's hardest tilts the scarlet clad eagles will have this season.

An improved machine will take the floor this evening in defense of the Matadors. Coach Grady Higginbotham has drilled the Tech five constantly on the weak play that came up during the games with the Abilene colleges.

The Houstonian Bear Cats are among the strongest of the T. L. A. A. conference quintets. They are out on a state journey and have met with some of the strongest college floor combinations in the state. No doubt the Teachers of Sam Houston normal will give the Tech crew much to worry with.

It appears to me that as large a school as the Texas Technological college that the students could surely find a yell leader and give more spirit and life in the game. It is true that when good plays are made by the members of the Tech five cheers go up but there is no organization. Tech, where is your pep?

The Matador band and girls pep squad certainly do their bit in assisting the team from sidelines—but little can be said for the committee of the student body—1,500 students and no yell leader.

Lubbock county basketball championships in the high schools will be determined here Saturday at the assembly hall of Texas Tech. Four teams will place strong bids for the county title. Alton, Dalou, Acuff, and Lubbock high school will battle for basket ball supremacy.

Bad "Dogs" Golfer's Worst Worry SO SAYS FAMOUS WALTER HAGEN, IN REVEALING SECRETS OF A CHAMPION

By NEA Service. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8 (AP)—What do you consider the greatest requisites of a good golfer?

Putting that question to Walter Hagen, considered the greatest of all professional players, it was expected that the would stress form, follow through, distance and accuracy to one's strokes, and was given the line.

Walter Hagen, who is nothing if not original, crossed every one-up when he replied:

"A good pair of hands and feet. I have them and they are my greatest assets. Incidentally, I am going to let all golfers in on the secret."

"Say, I pay more attention to my hands and feet than one of E. J. Connelley's followers," says to her companion.

"I see 'em' all on them. I don't try to get them all hard and calloused. I want to keep them smooth and sensitive and without the faintest sign of a blister or abrasion on them."

"I pay $40 for my shoes and they are cheap at the price. You can't play your best golf if your feet are hurting you. A pair of badly fitting shoes could handicap me more than a stroke a hole."

"A blister on my hands, or a crack that hurts, would be just as much a handicap. If not more. You can't grip a golf stick accurately and unconsciously and swing with all your mind concentrated on the ball if you have to flinch because it hurts you. "Every night before I go to bed I rub my hands and feet with olive oil. The result is that, playing in all kinds of weather, they are never hurt and my hands are never chapped or cracked."

"I've been blistered as I have seen many golfers."

"Yes, I reckon you might call it superstition. I never wear a hat. Neither on the golf course nor anywhere else. I want my hair as long as it wants to stay by me. I figure it will stay a long time if I don't straighten it. The tight bands on most men's hair absolutely cuts off circulation in their scalps."

"What happens to your hair is just what would happen to your hand if you tied a tight tourniquet around your wrist and wore it eight or ten hours a day. People laugh at me and call me the 'sacomb kid,' but I should worry. All I ever use on my hair is the same old olive oil."

"How much longer am I going to be good at golf? Certainly for ten years more, if I take good care of myself. Maybe twenty or twenty-five years more."

"You remember Sandy Herd won the Glenageary event when he was 54. You remember Walter Travis never got into the game until his very late thirties? He kept his feet healthy. I feel I'm going to be at top form for the next ten years at least."

DELANEY FAVORED FOR MALONEY BOUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Jack Delaney remained pronounced favorite for his heavyweight match with Jim Maloney, at Madison Square Garden February 18, Wall street betting commissions reported today, with waning interest rivaling that for the Dempsey-Tunney title bout of last year. The odds are six to five and eight to five.

LUBBOCK WILL HAVE ROLLER SKATING RINK

As a new form of amusement for Lubbock, announcement was made yesterday that the portable skating rink of H. G. Benson, of Sherman, will be moved to Lubbock. The rink, which has a good floor, is sided and topped with canvas, Mr. Benson says. It will be erected and operated on Main street, near College avenue.

SAM LANGFORD, FORMER MANDARIN OF MAUL OF HUBBER CLUB, STOPS HERE ON WAY TO JOIN DES MOINES TEAM

Filton "Sam" Langford, the same of the battering bludgeon, whose base hits once made the welkin ring for the Lubbock club of the Panhandle and Pecos Valley league, will leave today for his home in Georgetown after spending several days here, visiting with friends.

Langford, who pitched in the American league, the American association and finished up with the Fort Worth Panthers in the Texas loop last year, will rejoin his old club, the Des Moines Demons, champions of the Western league at Luvergo, for training early in March. He was sold to the Boston Red Sox from Des Moines at the close of the 1925 season, when his batting mark of .345, coupled with a fine fielding record, brought him to the attention of the major league organization. Prior to that time he had seen service in the American league with the New York Yankees, and with teams in the Southern and Sally loops. He is a center fielder.

While in his old home town he will get around some home cooking and will coach the high school side, the first diamond organization of which he was a member. The Des Moines team has been champion of the Western league for the past two years and Langford will be added in the outer gardens by Francis "Fug" Griffin and Bruno "Buz" Wetsel, who were also outfielders with him in 1925.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GOES CZAR LANDS ONE BETTER; RECOMMENDS STIFFER PENALTY FOR TEAM TO TEAM "GIFTS"

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The National League put itself on record today as willing to go Commissioner Landis one better in penalizing ball players who make "gifts" to another club as a reward for performances in any stage of the pennant race.

The commissioner, as a result of his recent scandal investigations, urged a regulation fixing a year's ineligibility as punishment for making such "gifts," but the National League club owners, in mid winter session today, recommended that the penalty be increased to three years.

Testimony before the commissioner, in his investigations, urged charges at Chicago, brought out admissions by members of the White Sox that in 1917 they raised a pool to reward Detroit players for beating the Boston Red Sox in a crucial series. The National league also put its full stamp of approval on the commissioner's other recommendations growing out of the scandal probe. These include (1) a statute of limitations by which charges such as those of Risberg and Gandil would be outlawed after a five year lapse; (2) ineligibility for one year for a player who bets on a game other than one in which he performed; (3) permanent ineligibility for a player who bets on a game in which he participates.

The American league, also meeting here, deferred definite action on these regulations. Acting President Frank J. Navin said they had been tabled until the "next meeting," which is not scheduled until next winter, but baseball men understood the proposed new code of rules would come up tomorrow at a meeting of the joint major league "steering committee."

Modern smokers enjoy the mellow fragrance of Camel

THE smokers of this modern age appreciate the smooth, mellow fragrance of Camels—that taste and goodness that come from the choicest tobaccos grown. Camel's steadily growing popularity with modern smokers has given it the greatest preference any cigarette ever had. In quality and in fame Camel is supreme.

Meet the cigarette that has won the modern world. There is not another like it—regardless of the price. Always mellow, always mild—the smoothest smoke ever made.

Meeting Today at the Home Sensible

Attracting much attention as a model home, the goal of the builders—the Avalanche Journal's "Home Sensible" is the third day of open house. Mrs. Charles J. Leland, hostess, said last night, after going through the house, she Leland said the visitors made close inspection of the home from furnishings to the ceiling and basement. Among the many things in the house which received praise from the women was the chairs made over the kitchen window. Mrs. Leland said.

Accepting the invitation extended by the builders, the Child Study club will hold their meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the home. Other organizations are to meet in the home before the week is over.

In his written resignation submitted yesterday, afternoon, City Manager Parkinson offered the date of May 15 since that day will terminate a year's service to the city, he said. The letter read as follows:

"I feel that in justice to the City of Lubbock, to the Mayor and Commissioners and to myself, that even at a personal loss, I should complete my year's work for the City. It has been and is my desire to see the business affairs and Municipal Utilities put on the very best basis possible before ending my work here, and I believe that within this period I can see the success of this wish.

"I believe further that because of the large amount of unfinished business and unfinished work that I should work and for this reason I am tendering this resignation as of date of May 15th, 1927.

"Thanking you for the co-operation you have given me during my tenure of office and with the sincerest best wishes for the welfare of the city which we are all serving, I again assure you of my own personal desire to be of service and to complete the work we have undertaken."

Mr. Parkinson came here from Durant, Oklahoma, where he held a similar position. He has also been connected with the City of Chicago, the City of Denison and other municipalities in like capacities. Mr. Groce was cashier of the Lubbock National bank when he resigned to take the city secretaryship.

ABILENE C. C. HAS IMPROVEMENT PLAN

ANNOUNCE COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM COMING YEAR

Special to The Avalanche
ABILENE, Feb. 8.—A comprehensive program for civic improvement, industrial expansion and intensive agricultural promotion for Abilene and the surrounding territory has been outlined by the Abilene chamber of commerce during 1927.

A financial budget aggregating $30,000 has been approved for carrying on the work by the executive board of the organization.

C. W. Bacon, prominent capitalist of this city is president of the chamber of commerce. T. N. Cargwell, secretary for the past three years, has been re-elected. Other members of the executive staff are: J. C. Watson, assistant secretary and publicity director; Miss Jewell Ritchey, membership secretary; J. R. Masterson, county agent and agricultural director; Miss Caroline Chambers, county demonstration agent; J. Lee Tarpley, manager West Texas Free Employment Bureau.

Among the projects to be undertaken during this year by the organization are:

- City plan commission.
- Parks and playgrounds improvements.
- Building of an athletic stadium in the city.
- Removal of railroad tracks from center of city and making a central park on the right-of-way.
- Sidewalk building campaign.
- Establishment of a public health station.
- Assisting in speeding up of highway building program in West Texas and securing designation of new roads through this section and the connecting up of the various routes by lateral highways.

An industrial survey of Abilene and the surrounding country will be made. A special department for giving assistance in prospective new industries will be maintained and efforts will be made to secure adjustment of all factors so that continued favorable consideration from manufacturing plants and distributing houses can be secured.

Elimination of fire hazards and promotion of better building ideas so that fire losses may be reduced will be agitated.

A "Friendly Relations" committee will work for more amicable relations between the people of the adjacent territory.

The agricultural promotion program includes the importation of more highly-bred hogs and dairy cows; further encouragement of the poultry industry; securing pure-bred planting seed for farmers; establishment of a farm livestock and poultry experiment station; stimulation of interest in practical irrigation projects and the sponsoring of a boys and girls club movement.

A "Food, Food and Conservation" contest will be staged for Taylor county during the year. Substantial cash prizes will be offered to the winners of this contest.

35TH YEAR FOR SHIPMENT OF WHITE FACE CATTLE

Special to The Avalanche
STAMFORD, Feb. 8.—1927 marks the twenty-fifth year that white face cattle of all classes, big in bone and heavy in flesh, have been shipped direct to feeders and breeders all over the country from the picturesque ranges of the famous S. M. S. ranch. The new year marked also beginning of operations of the big firm under a new name. Since January 1, all business conducted by Swenson Brothers has been conducted by the Swenson Land and Cattle company.

But either the captain didn't believe Jack or he thought the feeling against him was so strong the players wouldn't back him up. "We'll have to use 'Link' Truseworthy, and do the best we can," he said. When Jack told Darling about it, Willie laughed. "Your old team's no good anyhow," said Willie, "and with Truseworthy pitching you'll have just as good a chance as a steer in the Chicago stockyards."

Ranchday Relics Benig Preserved by History Ass'n

Special to The Avalanche
CANYON, Feb. 8.—Although the Panhandle-Plains Historical society is collecting material dealing with every phase of life in the area in which it is working, from the time when Indians were the sole inhabitants of the Plains to the present, it probably has more material dealing with the cattle industry than with any other one subject. Pictures of life on the ranges during the eighties and nineties are carefully preserved and may be compared with pictures of life on the same ranges in 1927. Photographs of various kinds of cattle are being collected in great numbers, and all material dealing with the cattle industry of the present and the past is being catalogued carefully and so arranged as to be of the greatest possible value in years to come. This phase of the society's work is attracting the attention of outstanding cattlemen and they are contributing papers, photographs and money to support the work. J. Everett Haley, field representative of the society knows ranch life as few young men in the State know it and his organization of material gathered will be a guarantee that the work will be carefully done. Such a chronicle will always be of interest to the people of this territory. The photographs alone will tell the story of the development of the cattle industry to all who visit the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum.

RUM TRIP DISASTROUS

Two Dead, Third Sought By Officers, of Trio of Alleged Liquor Runners

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8 (AP)—Of three men alleged to have set out on a disastrous liquor running trip from Miami, Florida, last October, two are known to have met violent death and the third tonight was sought by Oklahoma authorities. A body which officers say resembles a description of George Lampus of Miami was found today on a highway between Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Oklahoma City two months after the body of Pete Amos, Miami Greek, was recovered from a shallow stream near Oklahoma City. The head was battered brutally. Roy Womble, who was believed to have accompanied Lampus and Amos in a motor car, recently found destroyed by fire near El Reno, Oklahoma, was the object of the official search. The car police say, was constructed especially to carry liquor.

VERY FEW LONGHORNS BROUGHT TO DISCIPLINE

Special to The Avalanche
AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—Very few students registered in the University of Texas ever have occasion to come in contact with the faculty discipline committee, according to information from the office of V. L. Moore, dean of men. So far during the present long session only 35 cases have come before that committee from a student body of more than 5,000.

The following day it appeared as though every freshman and sophomore had turned out to watch the game. Members of the two classes waved pennants and gave cheers of encouragement. Jack discovered Betty Darling in the throng.

The soph began to clout the ball wickedly. They had made three runs and the bases were full when McNally came up. He slugged the first ball for what seemed to be a home run. Jack Lockwill leaped into the air and made a marvelous catch.

Jack's great catch prevented four runs as two were out at the time. McNally raged at Jack under his breath. The first time Jack faced McNally from the batter's box, the soph pitcher burned the air with a whistler that Jack couldn't dodge. Hit in the head, he dropped. (Copyright by MCA Service, Inc.)

ETERNAL PROTECTION: — The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore. Psalm 121:8.

IS CONGRESS WASTING TIME

President Coolidge's message, transmitted to Congress on the second day of the present session (Dec. 7, 1926), is a public document of more than ordinary interest and importance. As was to be expected because of the multiplicity of conflicting interests involved, public comments on the message expressed diversity of opinion regarding the policies embodied in the proposed measures recommended by him; but no objection was, nor reasonably could be, raised against the method of procedure which he advised for facilitating and expediting the work of the present session in order to accomplish maximum results.

As required by the Constitution, which directs that the President "shall from time to time give the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." President Coolidge, in his message, gave an extended resume of existing conditions with reference to their effect on the welfare of the country, including those which, though not nation-wide in their scope, are influential factors on which depends the prosperity of various industrial, agricultural and commercial interests in several large sections of the country.

Because the present Congress accomplished so little during its previous seven-month session, which adjourned prematurely on the third day of last July, and carried over so much unfinished business to the present short session, much of the proposed legislation which should have been attended to will have to be left unfinished for lack of time, when the official existence of this Congress expires on the third day of next March.

While weather conditions and markets and the general trend of competition will all end influences during 1927 which make an attempted forecast of movement at this time impractical, it is interesting to note how largely increased the acreages planted to spinach and cabbage are, the former alone occupying nearly 19,000 acres with splendid indications for yield.

One of the most troublesome defects in the practical operation of our Government is due to that antiquated law (designed as a temporary expedient a hundred and fifty years ago) which allows an interval of nearly thirteen months between the election and the first meeting of a Congress in regular session. It is notorious that this long period of Congressional idleness is detrimental to the general welfare, and repeated efforts have been made to have it shortened so as to require Congress to get busy within a reasonable time after election. Nevertheless, Congress has steadfastly refused to change this law, and passes up to the President the responsibility of calling an earlier session in case of emergency.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE SHIPMENTS FROM TEXAS

Surpassing last year's record by nearly nine thousand cars, fruit and vegetable shipments from 1926 from the state of Texas reached a total of 37,000 cars, according to a statement of the co-operative state-federal market news service. The movement is more than double that of three years ago, when of the 22 major commodities in the state, 16,811 cars were rolled. While this is considered a remarkable record, it but indicates a trend which acreage planted for harvest this year cannot help but accentuate if favorable weather conditions are had, the service states.

"Conservatively estimated, the commercially marketed fruit and vegetable production of Texas in 1926 was worth approximately twenty-six million dollars f. o. b. the loading station and should the value of stock trucked to nearby markets and consumed locally be added to that portion which rolled to distant markets the valuation figure might easily be doubled. The year 1926 saw 5,889 cars of cabbage alone move from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, The Winter Garden Section and the Corpus Christi-Robstown area.

"From the Lower Valley of the Rio Grande in the year alone there were shipped more than 13,638 cars of 13 commodities, including 1,132 cars of cabbage, 3,791 cars of mixed vegetables, 2,337 cars of beets and carrots, 1,306 cars of potatoes, 156 cars of string beans, 280 cars of onions, 68 cars of spinach, 19 cars of lettuce, 24 cars of parsley, 696 cars of tomatoes, 20 cars of turnips, 518 cars of green corn and 286 cars of fruit.

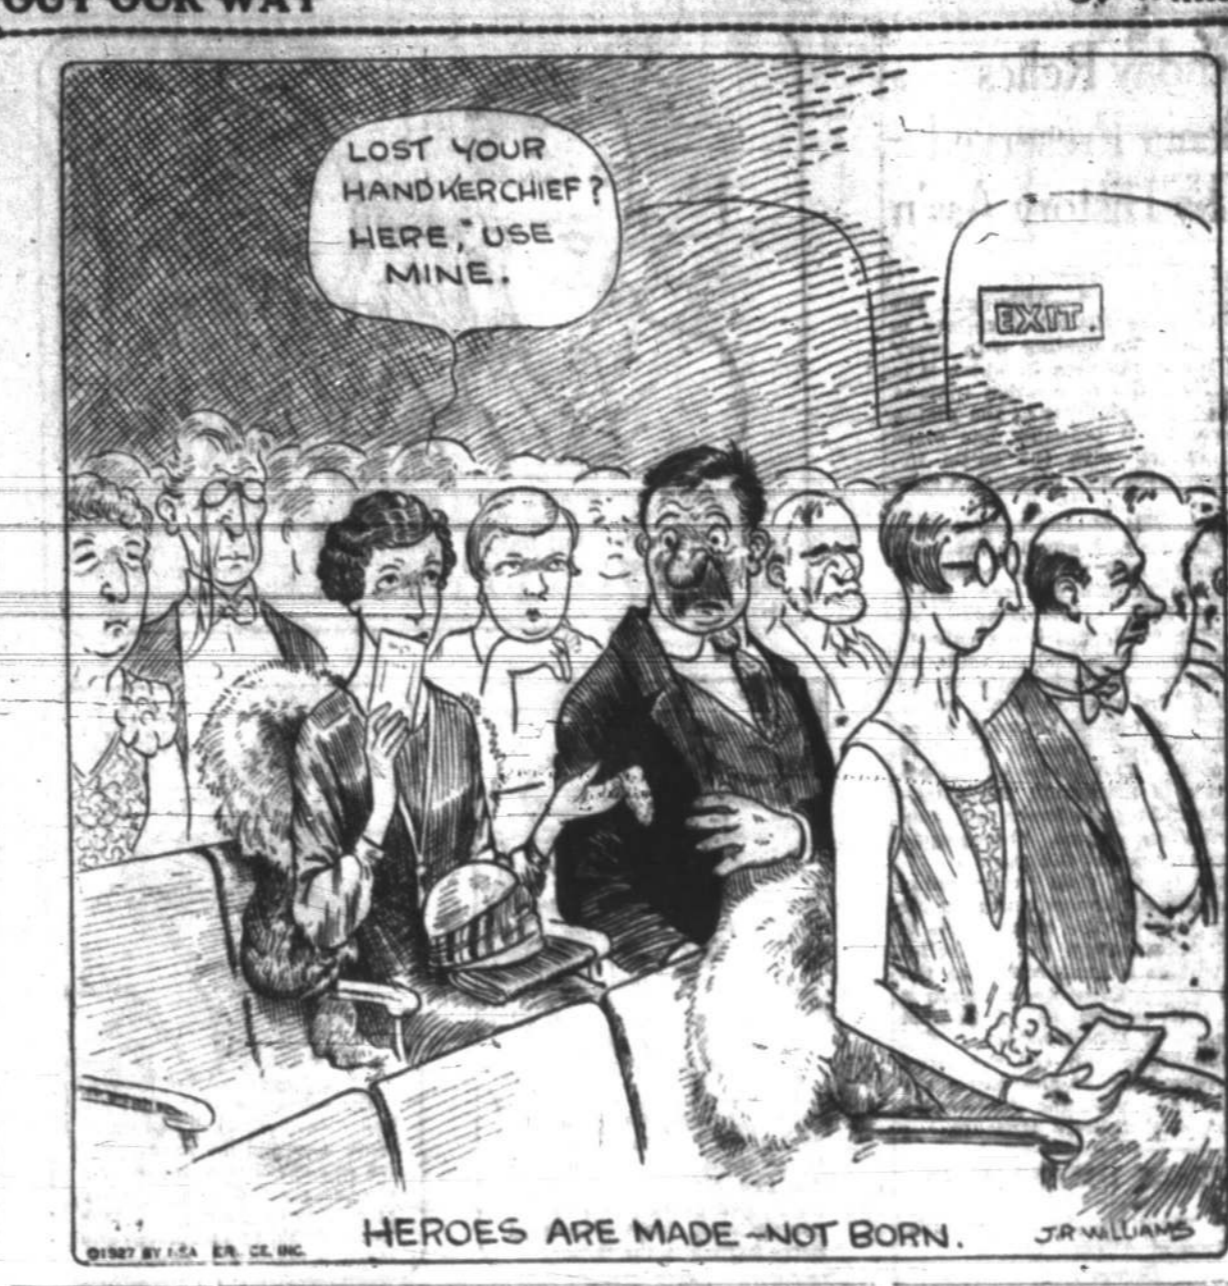

"While weather conditions and markets and the general trend of competition will all end influences during 1927 which make an attempted forecast of movement at this time impractical, it is interesting to note how largely increased the acreages planted to spinach and cabbage are, the former alone occupying nearly 19,000 acres with splendid indications for yield.

Slight irregularities in Texas prison practice were complained of by Col. H. Walter Sayles, chairman of the state prison commission. Among other things he charged that Manager Granberry of a prison farm erred in sharing profits of a moonshine still with a life convict.

Little Avalanches

Girls shouldn't cross their legs. This advice is given for reasons of health rather than morals or manners by Dr. Beatrice N. Phillips, osteopath of Kalamazoo, Mich., who declares that the habit, if persisted in, causes curvature of the spine.

OUT OUR WAY

HEROES ARE MADE - NOT BORN.

SO THINK WE

We think it is a mighty good time to break up a lot of little gambling games in Lubbock. The marble playing wave has struck Lubbock, and a game is seen in progress in almost every down town alley and vacant lot, and a few fights have been seen over the division of the pot.

We think it is a lot of trouble some time to form a habit, but it is much harder to quit one when it is once formed. When a boy we remember some of our companions even went so far as to soak their star navy in molasses till they could chew it, and after years would give most anything if they could get rid of the habit.

We think some of the men will have to go back and practice a little more before they come to town. Some of them have not qualified as chieftains of tobacco in the city for they can not clear the sidewalk—fourteen feet.

We think that about all the average home needs these days is a house-keeperette, a kitchenette, a dinette and a bathroomette, with a cigarette, and the complete will possibly be happy for time until one of them gets a divorcee.

We think the new definition of a farm is a body of land entirely surrounded by automobiles.

We think the more some men drink these days the fewer drinkers there will be left.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that it will not be safe to seek your overcoat. It is reported that an East Texas editor recently came west after he had written an announcement that the ladies of one of the churches had discarded all of their kind in the basement of the church. They had just finished making a drive for old clothes. The editor was unfortunate in not making his story plain.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

R. B. Shaw died at Lamesa, and his remains were brought to Lubbock for interment in the Lubbock cemetery.

Farmers and business men met in a more feed meeting and many farmers pledged to plant more feed this year.

The Tech Athletic field was artificially laid off, and permanent work was commenced.

Jim Cummins started out on a 129 hour endurance test chained to a Chevrolet car.

M. H. Duncan was re-elected to head the Lubbock schools.

Rail's voters increased their school tax from fifty cents to one dollar.

A religious service was announced for Lubbock, which was to be taken by the several churches of Lubbock.

It was announced that no more automobiles with only one light would be allowed on the streets of Lubbock.

These Movie People

By DAN THOMAS NEA Service Writer HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 8.—For the unknown, there are two roads over which drama recognition may be reached. They are beauty contests for girls—and athletic enterprises.

George Young, 17-year-old co-quarter of the Catalina channel in the newest member of Glendon's inner circle—welcomed with open arms because he was the first, and only, swimmer to finish William Wrigley's 14,000 contest.

Three years ago Hal Roach brought Martha Sleeper out here from New York to play child roles in his "Our Gang" comedies. It was six months before Roach saw Martha that she arrived out here in the klieg spotlight.

A short-time ago I mentioned something in this column about the disadvantages of temperance in a cinema play. Since then I have learned that a temper also carries with it certain rewards Janet Gaynor is the most temperamental being on the Fox lot. She "flies off" at the least excuse. And studio officials have just built an attractive little building on the lot for Janet to use as a dressing room.

Why Worry Some people carry these kinds of worry, that which they have had, that which they have, and that which they will have.

Success and happiness depend on getting and keeping in condition, getting the most out of one's energies. Do not anticipate evils that may never come. Anxiety robs one of the peace of mind, strength, and ability. We torment ourselves with mental instruments of torture. We borrow trouble, cross and re-cross bridges weeks ahead, worry about a telegram without opening it, worry over the children at a picnic. Do not make a list of unfortunate things that may occur. A woman did this, lost it and found it again, to discover that the time had gone by and not one of these things had occurred. Worry saps the vitality and blights the ambition; it cuts down ability. Work does not often kill, but worry will.

The mental faculties, to do their best, must be free to work. A troubled brain can not think clearly, attention can not be concentrated.

Evil passions and harmful emotions cause actual chemical changes and generate poisonous substances fatal to growth and action. Worry impoverishes the thinking powers, clouds the brain and paralyzes thought, robs the brain of the opportunity to reason, and so, by causing insomnia.

Why did you stir your goodness with a rolling pin? "Well, you see, judge, I wanted to try to make him headless."

Just Folks By EDGAR A. GUEST VANITY The more I see it seems to me the trouble with us all is that we grow too big in pride. In trial shrink too small.

For when the good Lord prospers us and happiness is ours. We take the credit to ourselves and boast about our powers. But when our skies are overcast and when our paths are straggled, We wonder why the Lord above should punish us that way.

We fancy we were born to smile, to dance our way along. That our particular lives should be one endless round of song. And when delight is ours to know and when we have some victory, We get as though we'd merely gained what ought to come to us. That let the storms of trouble sweep, we vince beneath the blow.

And wonder why the Lord above should punish us that way. We fancy we were born to smile, to dance our way along. That our particular lives should be one endless round of song. And when delight is ours to know and when we have some victory, We get as though we'd merely gained what ought to come to us. That let the storms of trouble sweep, we vince beneath the blow.

Lord, make me bigger in my loss and smaller in my gain. Teach me to see that each day we come both delight and pain. Teach me to understand my tears; to know why they are shed. Teach me to know that joy and grief walk over side by side. Let me grow bigger in my faith, and smaller in my pride.

DAILY MARKET

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8 (AP)—Receipts of the month passed the 300,000 mark, but cotton prices out of the city in the last hour of trading today and the close found them with a gain of from 6 to 14 points for the day.

Continued in the passage of the bill and unfavorable weather outlook held them steady on the firm upturn which showed gains of from 10 to 11 points. Risk traders blocked the push there, however, and abandoned them into the low spot of the day, 1 to 2 points below the opening.

Before the firm, price low arrived in the last hour of trading, March slipped to 12.75, May to 12.91 and July to 14.07, 12 to 13 points below the previous highs. All losses were regained and new highs for the day set in the closing rally which brought March to 12.95, May to 13.07, and July to 14.22. The close was a little under the top.

Exports totalled 26,337 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The cotton market showed considerable irregularity in today's early trading, but after reacting from an early advance, it closed up again, May advancing from 14.35 to 14.05 in late trading, or even with the best price of last week. May closed at 14.07; the general market closing very steady at a net advance of 7 to 10 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points and showed net gains of about 6 to 8 points in early trading, covering by recent sellers and a little trade demand. Buying was promoted by reports of steadiness in Liverpool and the southern spot markets, while there also was some comment on rather unsettled weather conditions in the south.

The advance met resistance, however, and prices eased off during the day when the trade assumed more doubtful as to whether the firm relief bill would pass. There were rumors also that demand from spot shorts in the south had been satisfied, March declined to 12.75, July to 14.15 and October to 14.34, net loss of about 4 to 6 points, but offerings were comparatively light and prices advanced on a renewal of covering. The late buying seemed to be stimulated by reports that the senate had agreed to vote on the McNary-Haugen bill at 4 o'clock on Friday, or just after the close of trading for the present week, as Saturday is a holiday both here and in New Orleans.

Prices sold back to approximately the best prices of last week, March advancing to 13.56 July to 14.50 and October to 14.48, and closed within a point or two of the best.

Private cables said hedge selling had been absorbed by trade calling in Liverpool and there was a good inquiry for a wide range of cotton goods in India, giving a better outlook for Chinese business.

Exports today 28,847 bales, 6,577, net so far this season. Port receipts 62,265. U. S. port stocks 2,881,748.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Buying of wool goods for future delivery was in moderate volume today and spring orders were coming in continuously. In small parcels. Some lines of worsted dress fabrics, notably Danbeck, and knishes were active. SHIR fabrics were selling to cutters under hard competitive conditions so meet the larger use of cottons for dress purposes. The finer grades of silk goods were bought moderately. Cotton goods held fairly steady with demand lighter than last week in unfinished cloth sections. Finished goods for wash fabrics departments were doing better.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Chances of crop damages by a cold wave expected tonight led to a late upturn in wheat prices today. The wheat market closed firm at about the top level reached in 1 1/2 cent to 2 1/2 cent net higher, with corn advancing 1 1/2 cent to 24 cent advance, oats unchanged to 1 1/2 at 1 1/2 cent up, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Corn and oats were chiefly governed by the action of wheat. Country offerings both of corn and oats lacked volume.

Provisions were easier, responsive to a down turn in the value of hogs.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Cattle 15,000; steers steady; heifers 25 lower; cows weak; bulls 10 to 15 lower; vealers 25 to 50 higher; top steers 12.90; bulk 8.75 to 11.25; best yearlings 11.50; best yearlings 11.50; stockers and feeders 7.90 to 8.25; vealers 12.90 to 13.50.

Hogs 20,000; slow, 10 to 20 lower; top 12.45; bulk 11.90 to 12.25; sows 10.85 to 11.20; pigs 12.00 to 12.25; estimated held over 15,000.

Sheep 15,000; fat lambs steady; top 13.25; bulk 12.00 to 12.25; sheep steady to stronger; ewes 7.75 to 8.75; feeding lambs strong to 30 higher; top 13.25; bulk 12.25 to 12.50.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Feb. 8 (AP)—The activity of the live stock division featured the cattle division at the market here today. The calf trade was also run 25 to 50 cents higher. Other classes were steady.

A drop of 10 cents was noted in the hog trade, and the sheep market was steady.

The count was for 1,400 grown calves, 300 calves, 1,800 hogs and 1,400 sheep.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The raw sugar market was easier today under increased offerings, prices declining 1 1/2 to 2 cents to the basis of 4 1/2 for Cuban duty paid. A better demand developed on the reaction, with sales at at least 27,000 bags of Porto Rican and 150,000 bags of Cuban reported for February and March shipment at the market today.

Raw sugar futures were easier early under liquidation and selling by trade and commission houses, promoted by the decline in the spot market. Prices showed declines of 2 to 3 points on active positions, but in late trading covering and buying for Cuban account, turned the market firmer.

All early losses were recovered with the close 1 to 2 points net higher. Approximate sales 50,000 tons, March closed 13; May 12 1/2; July 12 1/2; September 12 1/2; December 12 1/2.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Reactionary tendencies prevailed in the market for coffee futures today, under realising by recent buyers who appeared to be disappointed by the slightly earlier showing of Brazil and continued slow spot demand. The market opened 5 points lower to 6 points higher and sold off from 12.75 to 13.55 for May, the close showing net declines of 10 to 15 points. Estimated sales 45,000 bags. Closing quotations: March 13.62; May 13.53; July 13.50; September 12.16; December 11.80; January 11.75. Spot coffee quiet Rio to 12. Slaton at 13 1/2 to 13 3/4.

Slaton Credit Men Put on Campaign

Special to The Avalanche SLATON, Feb. 8.—A strenuous drive to bring into the Slaton Credit Association. The membership committee has made its first report, which showed a 10 per cent membership of all business and professional interests of the city. The association held its election of officers and directors at its regular meeting, Friday night, February 4.

There was much enthusiasm and interest over the work of the association. It was the sense of all members present that the association had proved itself to be an outstanding asset to the business interests of the city.

The association was organized and began to function under the management of J. J. Hogg, some two years ago and through the efficient management of Mr. Hogg and the secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Whittemore, has managed to do a great deal not only in the building up the business ethics of retail merchants, but has shown the regularity and the great loss of time, confusion and trouble by the slack method of processing accounts and receiving checks.

This association has been almost able to blot out the "cold check" system that seems to have become a common practice during the past two or three years. The work of the association has been two-fold: to concentrate and build the retail merchant business ethics and to check the haphazard and reckless manner of credit, and saving accounts.

"Secrets Of The Herrin Gangs"

A Former Gangster Tells the Inside Story of the War in Southern Illinois

EDITOR'S NOTE: The turbulent history of Klan and anti-Klan actions in southern Illinois and of the war waged by the Shelton and Birger gangs has been told to NEA Service exclusively by Ralph Johnson, a member of the Shelton gang.

Events leading up to the open warfare between the two gangs were told in preceding articles and the first killings described. In this, the ninth article, are related further colorful episodes of the gangland war.

BY RALPH JOHNSON
As Told to Paul M. Hayward
The Sheltons now fitted up an armored truck for forays into Birger's territory. Bullet-proof vests were made by members of both gangs. Fresh supplies of ammunition and additional machine guns and small arms were secured.

This in October, 1926, the Sheltons launched their first offensive—a machine gun attack on Birger's log cabin, the barbecue stand headquarters at 204 1/2 West, 12 miles west of Harrisburg.

Six men, armed to the teeth and riding in Shelton's armored truck, participated in the attack. Machine gun fire was poured into the roadside barbecue stand in the armored truck. No casualties resulted, though the place was perforated with bullets.

No Chivalry
A truck would have it (for the Sheltons). Their armored truck met Birger's truck, Birger's chief, all, coming toward town of Harrisburg, his car beside him. Chivalry holds no place in gangland's code, and the machine gun was turned full on Newman's car as the armored truck swept by.

Newman almost miraculously escaped injury, but his wife was wounded in the leg and his car was wrecked by the ball of 45 caliber slugs.

The Sheltons swept their truck around and fled back westward toward Marion, expecting a hot pursuit from Birger and his men. North of Marion they drew in between two rockers, got the machine guns ready, and in this ambush they waited for the expected pursuit.

After More Recruits
Disappointed in this, they drove on to Shaw's Garden, a roadhouse between Johnson City and West Frankfort, in which Birger was interested, and accorded it attentions similar to those they had just showered on Birger's barbecue stand.

After this foray the Sheltons retreated to East St. Louis to secure additional recruits for new battles. These recruits were mostly enlisted from the ranks of the notorious Cuckoo gang and other groups of thugs and ruffians in St. Louis and East St. Louis.

Birger, meanwhile, had not been idle. On Oct. 12, he and his men descended on the Sheltons' roadhouse, north of Herrin, in an improved armored car and wrecked the resort. This brought the Sheltons back post haste.

with a choice collection of St. Louis toughs at their heels. Birger proved too foxy again and never came near his ruined roadhouse.

Who the others were to fall in this bloody strife and events leading up to Johnson's retirement from the gang war zone will be told in the next and concluding article of this series.

Canyon Club Has Election of Officers
Special to The Avalanche
CANTON, Feb. 8.—The Canyon club recently elected officers for the coming year. C. L. Thompson was re-elected president, with Miss Jennie C. Ritchie as vice-president; T. H. Knighton, secretary and treasurer.

The board of directors includes Dr. D. M. Stewart, Dr. S. L.igham, J. T. Service and G. G. Foster. The Canyon club owns very valuable recreation property where a club house is maintained, and the members enjoy golf, fishing, swimming and other sports. The club has been organized twenty years.

Dynamite Trap
After the embers had cooled a new trap was laid for Birger. Four hundred sticks of dynamite were planted in and about the ruins and fused to central points from which wires led to a station 200 feet away from which the mine could be touched off.

For four days two men were kept on guard, waiting for Birger and his men to come and inspect the ruins, but were 20,000 counterfeit coins.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO W. T. C. C. MEETING

BOOSTER DELEGATES WILL SWARM TO MAY MEETING AT WICHITA FALLS

Special to The Avalanche
WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 8.—A score of special trains will be chartered to bring booster delegates from all over this section of the state to the annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce, according to expectations of committeemen in charge of preparations for the big event. Plans for the parking of these trains have already been made.

Inquiries from points all over West Texas are being received indicating that Wichita Falls may expect the largest attendance the West Texas chamber of commerce convention has ever had.

The yearly meeting is scheduled to convene in Wichita Falls on May 16 and 17. Plans for the convention are already under way with the publicity and convention committees of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce and staff of the organization formulating general and particular outlines of activities. W. B. Hamilton, chairman of the Wichita Falls convention committee working out details of the big West Texas chamber of commerce gathering.

Plains' Historians Meet February 18

Special to The Avalanche
CANYON, Feb. 8.—The annual banquet of the Panhandle Plains Historical society promises to be a bigger affair this year than ever before. This banquet is not to be held until February 18, but a large number of reservations have already been made for it.

G. A. F. Parker of Hereford will be toastmaster this year.—Mrs. T. V. Reeves, secretary of the Society is receiving reservations for the affair. The program features are being worked out by the secretary, Professor L. E. Shofy, head of the department of History of the West Texas State Teachers college and J. Evetts-Haley, the Field Representative.

NO TINS, NO SIR! NO FRILLS OF ANY KIND, BUT— QUALITY TOBACCO SENSIBLY PACKED

that's something worth thinking about

UNLESS you taste Granger Rough Cut in your pipe, the price may mislead you. And unless you know the price, you may miss another point; we sincerely believe it is the greatest pipe tobacco value obtainable today.
So the long and short of it is this—the practical, inexpensive packing explains the price; and the tobacco can talk for itself, once it gets in your pipe.
Economy outside, quality inside—and both in the right place! Is it any wonder it's "going over"?

What our chemists call "an almost perfect seal for tobacco condition"—a heavy soft-foil package with an extra outside wrapper of glassine...
