Early Days on The Plains

By R. C. BURNS

In March, 1874 an exploring and surveying party was organized at Sherman, Texas under Governor E. J. Davis administration, to explore Northwest Texas. There were one hundred and ten men all told, fifty of these were mounted and were furnished Spencer rifles and Colt's forty-fives. Their business was to guard and keep the company supplied with fresh meats. I wanted to join this company but my parents objected saying we would all be killed by the Indians. They also thought I was too young to leave home, my age was sixteen years.

After this company started to the West, I left home about midnight unbeknown to my parents and started West to overtake the company, which I did, west of Gainesville, Cook county. I had some trouble to get the captain to let me go along with them. He ask me what I could do on a horse. I told him anything any other man could do.

He said I could go along and would furnish me with another horse, also furnished rifle and pistol, but could not pay me a salary as the company was completed.

When we arrived near the Wichita River, on Holliday Creek three of the men and myself were acting as scouts. We saw 3 grown buffaloes. They gave orders how to give chase and left me in the rear to go a certain way. So the buffaloes turned in my direction and I killed one of them, the only one out of the three that was killed.

The killing of this, the first fresh meat we had, gave me a prestige over the other boys and they detailed three men and myself to keep the outfit in meat.

From that time on we saw buffaloes by the thousands, deer, antelope and turkey by the hundreds ,so we had no trouble in supplying the outfit with meat.

Wild horses, coyotes and lobo wolves were numerous.

After we passed Waggoner's camp on the Wichita river, there was nothing west of there occupied by white men, no roads, buffalo trails and only occasionally an Indian trail.

We turned northwest from the Wichita river, making only twelve to fifteen miles per day.

I remember on Pease river and Pariie Dog Town Fork of Red river, we encountered a herd of buffaloes that were so numerous that we camped a day to let them pass. But the next day they were still numerous and passing. So we passed on thru them, but small herds of buffaloes were seen every day, until we got on the Canadian river. Here we found another herd as large or larger than the one on the Pease river. Buffaloes were all traveling north, going to their summer grazing grounds, which were in Western Kansas, Eastern Colorado, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

We kept traveling Northwest until we got to the northwest corner of Texas and where there was supposed to be a monument built to indicate the corner of Texas, Kansas and Colorado. We camped here about two weeks, when I had a fight with a man who was drunk. This man stabbed me in my left arm, just above the elbow. The outfit had one wagon loaded with whiskey and tobacco. So this incident stopped my scouting and killing game.

After we had been in this location twelve or fifteen days and while first and second lieutenants, Lamb and Ed. Seeker were absent from camp, (the Seeker brothers later became noted in the ranger service in Southwest Texas) seven men of the guard mutined and turned back on the trail for civilization. I asked permission to go with them. I was beginning to think of home and was still carrying my arm in a sling. After the captain say that he could not prevent them from leaving, he put a guard around the provision wagons, so the seven men and myself started back to civilization without food or salt. We were nine days getting back to Waggoner's camp. We ate buffalo meat without salt for the nine days.

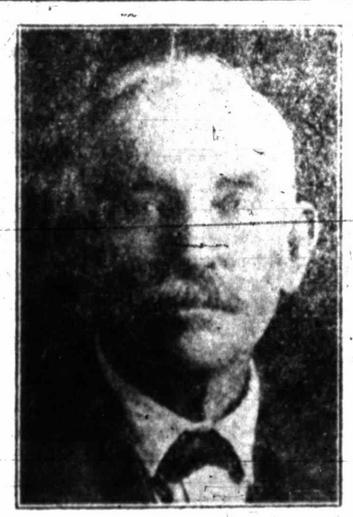

Waggoner's camp cook had killed a man the morning of the day we arrived. The cook, however, prepared a meal that tasted better than anything I had ever eaten before or since. It consisted of cornbread, molasses, coffee and beef.

Our next stop was at Henrietta, Clay County, which consisted of three or four log houses. Here we got some more eats, biscuits, molasses and coffee. The next eating place was Montague. Here we got ham and eggs with coffee.

At Montague we broke up into four squads. Charlie Moore and I went to Fort Worth and on to Collin county. Here I became a cowboy with J. W. Wilson, who was starting a ranch in Clay county.

After driving a small herd to Clay county, he went to Palo Pinto county and purchased another herd from Dr. Warren and Ham Scott. We were camped near Palo Pinto town when the Comanche Indians made a raid on Warren's and Scott's camp, which was near the camp of Wilson, with a small creek lying between the two camps.

Dr. Warren was an uncle of our fellow citizen B. C. Warren. The Warren and Scott boys killed an Indian. This was the first and only time I ever heard the real Indian war whoop.

R. C. BURNS

On the way back with the herd from Clay county, in Keechi valley the Indians killed two men by the name of Walker, father and son. This occurred within two miles of our camp.

In 1875 I left the ranch in Clay county for my home near Denison. July of the same year I left for Jack county to work on Loying's ranch. Worked on various ranches in Jack, Palo Pinto and Kimball counties.

In July, 1881 I came to Crosby county and went to work for Hensley brothers, owners of the "22" ranch. Van Sanders was foreman of this ranch. I think it was during the month of September that Van sent me to Singer's store, located northwest of the town of Lubbock about three miles.

On this trip I entered Lubbock county on the Yellowhouse creek and traveled up the creek about three miles from the east line of Lubbock county.

I came to the Kidwell ranch, located about where Mr. O. L. Slaton's ranch house is at the present time. I continued up the Yellowhouse creek to Buffalo springs. Here I found a dugout which had been occupied by the famous buffalo hunter, George Cozzy. From this point Cozzy killed buffaloes for miles around for their meat and hides. Cozzy and another man did the killing and eight or ten men did the skinning.

Cozzy told me he had killed over 5,000 buffaloes fro mthis point and hauled their hides, tongues and tenderloins to Fort Worth and other railroad towns.

Cozzy used the highest point in Lubbock county to locate the buffaloes he wished to kill. This hill is East of town and is known as Cozzy hill, and I believe it is now owned by J. W. Peppers.

Two or three miles further up the Yellowhouse I came to the sheep ranch house owned by Z. T. Williams and now owned by Geo. M. Boles, seven or eight miles east of town, where the cottonwood trees are. I set the original trees out in 1894.

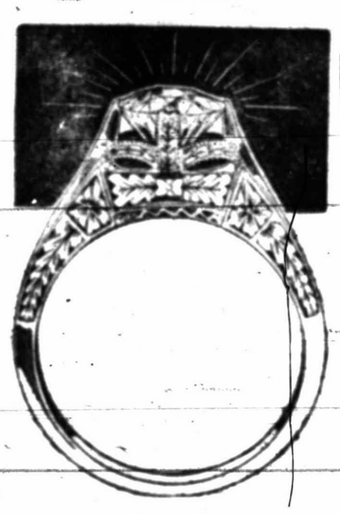

About ten miles further on, at the headwaters of the Yellowhouse creek, I had come to my journey's end. Here I found two stores, one dwelling house and one dugout, occupied by G. W. Singer and a Mr. D'Quay. Each had stocks of goods. Mr. Singer's family lived here.

Up to this time the goods and supplies were hauled from Fort Griffin and Fort Worth.

The latter part of 1881 the freighting of all supplies was from Colorado City.

At Singer's store I found a motley crowd of cowboys, freighters, Mexicans and about a dozen Apache Indians. Most all, except the In-

BROTHERS HELD FOR KILLING BANK MESSENGERS

Joseph Diamond, Morris Diamond, Louis Goldstein

Following the arrest of Morris B. Diamond, of New York City, in Cleveland, O., charged with implication in the murder of two Brooklyn (N. Y.) bank messengers and the theft of $43,000 in cash, his brother, Joseph Diamond, a youth of 21, was taken into custody in New York and positively identified by one eyewitness as one of the brutal assassins. The brothers admitted they had stolen the car used by the murderers "to run rum" and that the fake license plates used on the car had been secured by Joseph Diamond under an assumed name. The photograph shows the brothers being examined by Assistant District Attorney Louis Goldstein.

AUTOISTS MAKE DEMANDS

By the United Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—The 13,000,000 automobile owners of the country will demand of this Congress removal of the war tax on passenger cars, tires, accessories and parts, according to announcement of the American Automobile Association. This tax amounts to 5 per cent, and 3 per cent on trucks. Motorcycles owners also will join, the association says, in seeking relief from the tax.

SLATON SCHOOL AND SLATON SUPERINTENDENT IS HONORED

Through the courtesy of faculty members of Lubbock Schools, Mr. Sone was elected to the office of County Director of the Interscholastic League, which met there in April, and on the motion of Superintendent Dupre, of Lubbock, Mr. Sone was selected by the Executive Committee of the South Plains Teachers' Institute as conductor for 1924.

It is gratifying to the people of Slaton to predict that there are such cordial relations between the Slaton and Lubbock schools. This makes us feel that our sincere efforts to help locate the Technological College at Lubbock is really appreciated by the Lubbock folks and that they want to show that appreciation. It seems to almost guarantee that in the future the little petty differences which have existed between the student bodies of the two schools are to be forgotten and that though the rivalry in school activities may be strong and keen, true sportsmanship will characterize every contest and the losers will boost the winners for honors higher up. Its up to Slaton to stand by the latter suggestion.

Slaton is proud of the privilege of taking care of the Lubbock County Interscholastic League. We hope to make it a great event for our visitors. Slaton appreciates the privilege of entertaining the County Interscholastic Meet. Some twenty or thirty schools will enter contests in one or more of the various events of music, expression, literary and athletics.

It will be a great day for Slaton and Slaton will do her best to make it a great day for hundreds of visitors who will be here to participate.—Slaton Slatonite.

ORANGE, Texas, Dec. 1.—A sword over a century and a half old, which bears scars from battles of the American Revolution, the War of 1812 and the Spanish American War is the unique relic of J. I. Wight, of Orange. The blade is a family heirloom. Wight has been offered as much as $10,000 for it by a national museum.

AUTOS ARE KILLING THEIR THOUSANDS ALL OVER U. S.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (United Press)—Deaths from automobiles in the cent higher this year than they were United States are more than 8 per last year, declared Richard E. Kropf, a fraternal society expert, in a report on accident fatalities made public at a fraternal insurance conference here. The automobile is by far the greatest single menace of accidental dath in the Unitd States, he declared, and is creating a separate problem for insurance statisticians.

"Fourteen thousand persons were killed by automobiles in the United States last year," said Kropf. "Tnis year the death toll will be about 14,200. That is at a rate of neary 13 killed per 100,000 of population. Last year the rate was 11 deaths per 100,000.

"Chicago since the first of the year has been killing an average of two persons a day. New York last year killed almost 900 persons by automobiles. Year by year the death rate increases. According to the U. S. Census in the concentrated areas of sixty-seven principal cities, the automobile death rate in 1915 was 8 per 100,000, in 1918 9.9, next year 12.4, next 13.6, next 14.1 and in 1920 it was 15. Nine thousand persons were killed and 25,000 maimed, crippled and injured at grade crossings in those five years. In the five year record New York, for all boroughs, finished with an average of 12.6 deaths per 100,000, Chicago 17.3 and Los Angeles topped the lists of big cities with a rate of 24.1."

DRIVE CATTLE TO MARKET AS OF OLD

By the United Press.

AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 1.—The romantic scenes of pioneer days of Texas were brought back here recently when several cattlemen drove their herds overland to market.

For the first time in years an unusually wet season provided an abundance of grass along the trails, making an overland drive possible.

ONE GALLON OF MILK TO EVERY HUNDRED PERSONS

BERLIN, (United Press)—Berlin receives each day only one liter of milk for every twenty-five persons living within its confines.

Only 1600,000 liters o fmilk daily are now furinshed to Berlin, which has a population of approximately 4,000,000.

Figuring in American measurements, Berlin gets about one gallon of milk daily for every 100 persons—about enough to whiten the black coffee every German drinks every day.

The milk dealers refuse to send their milk to town, as they obtain their money for it only ten or twelve days after they sell it—and the mark meantime crashes ten times into its depths.

The farmer prefers to fed his milk to his pigs or make cheese and butter or simply throw the milk away, rather than sell it for the paper marks which, by the time he gets them are literally worthless.

With the introduction of stable pay for their products within the shortest possible time.

And the butcher, get him a Christmas gift. A few extra bones to put in the steak would tickle him.

FOURTEEN YEARS FOR DR. F. A. COOK

Mr & Mrs S E J Cox and Dr F A Cook

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Brooklyn (N. Y.) doctor, whose claim that he discovered the North Pole was so thoroughly disproved by Admiral Peary, the real discoverer, has been sentenced to serve 14 years in a Federal prison and to pay a fine of $12,000 for fraudulent dealings in oil stock in Fort Worth, Texas. The trial judge flayed him in delivering the sentence. S. E. J. Cox, another promoter, whose hobby was airplane flying and who built a machine to compete in the James Gordon Bennett Cup races in France a few years ago, was sentenced to 8 years and to pay a fine of $8,000. Cox's wife startled the country a few years ago by calling an "airplane taxi" in Texas to take her to New York on a shopping tour.

THE SIXTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES WILL MEET MONDAY AT NOON FOR BIG JOB

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (United Press).—The Sitxy-eighth Congress will meet Monday at noon.

It is a congress that faces trouble right from the start. There are a number of reasons for this. They include:

1. It is a "presidential year" congress. The session that opens Monday will not really get down to business until after the New Year. Politics wil be in the air every minute.

2. It is controlled potentially at least by a new group of progressives, headed by LaFollette, who have it in their power to make infinite difficulty for both the major party groups, particularly for the administration Republicans.

3. It has more work to do as is usual with congress than it can do between now and next June, when the political conventions will call a halt on legislative activities.

In a peculiar fashion this new congress is important to the President of the United States. He faces his big test. It is generally recognized that upon Mr. Coolidge's success or failure with congress will depend his nomination in the coming Republican national convention.

Test With Message

The first test will come with his message, which it is expected, he will deliver in person Tuesday, before a joint session of the House and Senate. That message will be listened to with keenest attention and deep respect, for, whatever men may think of him as a politician, as a man they have much respect for Mr. Coilidge.

His message will be taken apart in the most minute fashion, and will be analyzed and interpreted in every conceivable way, unless it is so plain and forthright that there is only one interpertation to be put upon it.

In this connection, many of his friends hope he will make it blunt, without use of excessive words, and specific to he point of plainness, so that what he means to say cannot be misconstrued, either by the opposite party or by the friends of other ambitious Republican aspirants to the nomination.

New Faces in Congress.

The clans were gathering today, with many new faces seen in the historic halls of the Capitol. The last congressional election was an upset in more than one way. "Uncle Joe" Cannon is gone—gone to watch in philosophic calm while the rest of "the boys" get all excited over what to "Uncle Joe" is just another congress. Oother faces that always graced the informal assemblages preding the convening of a new congress are gone too. Death has takne some of them, and political fortune others. The new ones were coming in by every train today, some of them self-conscious, shading down, a little, the air of importance with which they departed from their homes, when they arrived here to find that they were just so many peas in a great big pod.

The greatest deliberate body in the world, so-called, is about to assemble. It looks a good deal like a town meeting, and if it lives up to past performances, it will act a good deal like one.

The gavel will fall at noon Monday in House and Senate. Prayer will ascend prayer that must be kept to a brief minute or two, and then the Sixty-eight Congress will be off.

PRESERVATION OF THE MONROE DOCTRINE IS URGED

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Dec. 1. Preservation of the Monroe Doctrine is essential because its application may be needed in the future, Secretary of State Hughes warned in an address here Friday night before the American Academy of Political and Social Science, and the Philadelphia Forum.

The fact that the intervention of non-American powers in this hemisphere is not threatened at this moment cannot be deemed to be controlling, Hughes said. "The future holds infinite possibilities and this doctrine remainsas an essential policy whereever any emergenc ymay arise requiring its application."

Hughes answered those who have been charging that the United States has "imperial ambitions" on the American continent, saying "we have not sought by opposing the intervention of non-American powers to establish a protectorate or overlordship of our own" over republics in Central and South America. He also answered those who have urged active participation in European affairs, saying that "the influence that is due to our detachment and impartiality could not long be maintained if we should substitute the role of a partisan in European quarrels."

"We are still opposed to alliances. We refuse to commit ourselves in advance with respect to the employment of the power of the United States in unknown contingents. We reserve our judgment to act upon occasion as our sense of duty permits."

JAPS WILL ACCEPT MANDATES OF UNTED STATES COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 1—The Japanese of California shall abide by the provision of the California alien law as constructed by recent decisions of the United States supreme court.

Such was the decision of forty delegates from Japanese associations of the state after a conference here Friday.

U. Oyama, councel general of Japanese adressed the meeeting, explanied the situation and urged that Japanese of the state observe the law's mandates.

He also advise against any action through the courts or other wise to carry on the fight.

TAKE OVER N. Y. HOTELS FOR SWEET CHARITY

NEW YORK, (United Press)—On the first Monday in December, the third New York society will take over the Biltmore and Commodore hotels here and run them for the day in the interest of charity. The Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis will be the charity benefitted. A special attraction at the Commodore will be the doll show and auction. At the Biltmore the chief added attraction will be a fashion show. Society women and girls will wait on tables and do the regular work of the hotel staff.

AMARILLO LIONS CLUB WILL VISIT CANYON NORMAL

CANYON, Texas, Dec. 1.—Word has been received by President J. A. Hill of the West Texas State Teachers' College that the Amarilo Lions Club had accepted his invitation to hold one of their regular luncheons at the college here. The Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs have been entertained by the college and a spirit of cooperation between the college and Amarillo is said to grow out of these meetings.

The answer to the invitations states that about 100 people will visit the college and that they will come December 11.

INTEGRITY Studebaker SERVICE

STUDEBAKER

EVERYONE who drives a Studebaker Special-Six marvels at the ease with which it steers.

This is due to three things: The use of Timken tapered roller bearings on the steering pivots; the easy-operating, exclusive Studebaker steering gear and a minimum of unsprung weight on the front axle.

The Studebaker Special-Six transmission, differential, rear axle, and all four wheels are also completely equipped with Timken bearings.

No other touring car priced under $5600 uses as complete installation of Timken bearings as the Special-Six.

This is an example of the quality that is built into every detail of the Special-Six. Studebaker spares no expense to make it the market's outstanding value in a five-passenger car.

Get behind the wheel of any car you plan to consider. Then compare its steering and riding qualities with the Studebaker Special-Six. Call—or phone—and we'll bring a car to your door so you can make this test yourself.

"Where Most People Trade"

WEST BROADWAY — LUBBOCK, TEXAS

MRS. WILLIAM E. COREY DIVORCES STEEL MAGNATE

Mr & Mrs William E. Corey

Charging desertion, Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey has secured a Paris divorce from William Ellis Corey, millionaire American steel magnate, one of Andrew Carnegie's "boys." They were married in New York on May 17, 1907. Mrs. Corey was Corey's second wife, before her Marriage being Mabelle Gilman, well known actress. His first wife was Miss Laura Cook, of Pittsburgh, to whom he was married when he was making $40 a month. She worked hard for him and inspired him on the road to success. They had several children, but Corey is said to have believed his wife did not advance as he did. He settled $1,000,000 on her, and she divorced him. He had succeeded Charles M. Schwab as President of the United States Steel Corporation, but was forced to resign because of the publicity that followed his divorce and re-marriage.

PLAINS FARMERS' TESTIFY TO NEED OF RAILROADS OUT THIS WAY

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 1.—Burning of crops in place of coal is the experience of some residents of Northwest Texas, because of lack of railroad facilities, according to J. F. Tunnell of Quitague, who testified before the state railroad commission today in behalf of the application of the proposed Texas Panhandle and Gulf railroad. This was only one of the alleged hardships suffered by formers of the northwest of the state remote from a railroad, which Mr. Tunnell detailed before the commission.

Another hardship is the fact they are compelled to drive their cattle to the nearest railroad, requiring from three to four days for the farmers near Quitaque, Mr. Tunnell said. He declared it impossible to raise finished cattle in the territory, as they lose as high as ten per cent of their weight on the road.

The prospect of a railroad coming through the territory had increased land values in some cases from $60 to $100 an acre, Mr. Tunnell testified.

Witnesses from Briscoe and Tulia offered testimony similar to that given by Mr. Tunnell.

The hearing will continue into next week, probably through Tuesday.

ROOM IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont. (United Press)—Canada's total land area is close to a billion acres and the population of the nation is less than 9,000,000. The average population dnsity is 2.3 persons to the square mile. One ninth of the total land area is under cultivation. These figures were sent out in a report of the Immigration and Colonization Department, which under its new directing head, Hon J. A. Robb, is developing plans to increase immigration.

UNIVERSITY COURSE WILL MAKE REAL ESTATE A PROFESSION

MADISON, Wis. (United Press)—Real estate will soon b a profession on a par with medicine, law, journalism or any other of the professions.

Commitees from the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the United Y. M. C. A. schools, the Institute for Research in Land Economics and the American Savings, Building and Loan Institute are working now to draft final plans for a four year university courses in real estate and kindred principles of land economics, which will lead to a degree of bachelor of arts.

The course to be given soon in many of the larger universities of the country will be arranged probably as follows:

First Year—Introduction to real estate practice, real estate law and business economics, real estate selling, real estate transfer and conveyancing and real estate financing.

Second Year—Building construction and design, land economics and real estate office organization and management, property management, valuation or appraisals, and one elective.

The other two years of the course will be devoted to subjects preparatory for the intensive study of the problems of real estate, including a thorough groundwork in economics. The Institute for Research in Land Economics here, headed by Dr. Richard T. Ely, is sponsoring the plan, which will be announced within a few weeks it is thought.

W. A. DONALDSON DIED AT PLAINVIEW ON FRIDAY

PLAINVIEW, Texas, Dec. 1.—W. A. Donaldson, pioneer banker and business man of the Plains died here about noon Friday of brights disease. He was 66 years old. He moved to Hale county in 1893. After living here several years he went to Canyon to enter the banking business. He later resided in Tulia, where he was the head of a bank. Mr. Donaldson returned here thirteen years ago, to become head of the Third National Bank, which position he held until his death.

Mr. Donaldson is survived by two sons, Jim and Hayden, of San Diego, California.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, a trustee of Wayland College, and a member of the Baptist church. Burial will be made in Tulia Monday.

TRANSIT EDUCATION

By the United Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Fifteen colleges and universities have scheduled courses on transportation under the auspices of the National Transportation Institute this winter, it was made known at headquarters of the institute here. Twelve university professors of transportation and nationally known authorities on economics have undertaken to give the courses, it was announced.

Early to bed and early to rise and you hear all the player pianos.

DID YOU EVER HEAR OF WATCHMEN LIKE THESE FRENCH?

PARIS, (By Mail to United Press)—"Somebody will steal the Eiffel Tower next and be on his way to the Belgian frontier before we hear about it," is what old Parisians murmured over their aperitifs when they read in the afternoon papers the story of how Messrs. Nouivan and accomplices got away from the Chateau of Versailles with two priceless Gobelins tapestries.

The tapestries measured each about one hundred and forty square feet. There were no less than fourteen watchmen, who are supposed to make their rounds hourly. The gold thread used in the figures—the real object of the theft, it is believed—weighed altogether about 70 pounds. Nouvian told the examining magistrate that when he and his pals loosed the second tapestry from the wall it dropped to the floor with a noise of thunder.

"We were so afraid that it would arouse the watchmen," he continued "that we hid in a dark corner for a quarter of an hour, waiting for a chance to run. As nobody came lang, we gathered up our bundles and walked out quietly."

FISHERMEN STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES IN N. C.

BEAUFORT, N. C. (United Press)—Every time a local fisherman catches 100,000 fish he will be paid $6.50. Menhaden fishermen here have won a strike for a higher rate of pay. Menhaden are "fatbacks" a species of fish which is rich in oil. Millions of them are converted into fertlizer annually. The menhaden throng the North Carolina costal waters in the fall, swimming in schools of countless thousands. Small but sturdily constructed steamers swarm out of the harbor here in the season pursuing the schools in the open sea. The crews were formerly paid $5 each on every hundred thousand fish in a catch. They struck for $8. They compromised with the fish factory owners for $6.50.

POLICE MAY HAVE PULL, BUT NOT ON DOORBELLS

POOTSVILLE, Pa. (United Press)—Women in the northern part of this town admit they never see a policeman, but they believe they are always around. When a delegation made charges to the city council that they never saw a policeman, Chief of Police Moyer made a novel proposition to prove the efficiency of his patrolmen. "Le the policeman ring your doorbell every time they pass then you will know they are on duty," Moyer advised. The women, having vistons of being frequently awakened at night, declined the proposition. The council then concluded the policemen were doing their duty.

BUILD A HOME

FIRST FUNERAL IN CANYON CEMETERY IN 1891

CANYON, Texas, Dec. 1. The cemetery that now bears the name of Dreamland was established in 1891. The first funral to be held in Canyon, with burial at this cemeterq, was that of Mr. McElroy, husband of Mrs. Augusta McElry and father of Clyde McElroy. The funeral was on the same day as the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Knight.

The first person buried in the cemetery was the body of a negro who was struck by lightning while driving cattle through the country. Mr. Knight states that the negro was buried along the south edge of the new cemetery.

The cemetery was not named until a few years ago when a cemetery association was organized by the women of Canyon in order that it might be kept in god condition.

Mr. Knight states that he bought the half section out of which the cemetery is taken, paying $105 cash, eight town lots and a Winchester rifle.

BONHAM ROTARY CLUB FINANCING WORTHY STUDENTS

BONHAM, Texas, Dec. 1.—Deserving Bonham students can now attend college whether they are financially able or not.

The local Rotary Club has established a student loan fund from which students may borrow money enough to complete their education.

Preference will be given students who are just entering and need a start and those who have paid part of their way thru and need addtional funds to complete their course.

To secure aid for a high school education, the student must attend a Bonham school.

Contributions are accepted from Rotary Club members only and must be voluntary.

MRS. CRAIG WISHES TO GO TO JAIL WITH HUSBAND

Mrs. Charles L. Craig

Mrs. Charles L. Craig, wife of the Comptroller of the City of New York, who is under sentence to serve 60 days in the Essex County Jail, Newark, N. J., for contempt of court in criticizing the actions of Federal Judge Julius L. Mayer, declared to reporters she would make every effort to gain permission to accompany her husband to jail. Failing that, she will take a cottage convenient to the jail to be near him.

EX-STUDENTS OF SIMMONS COLLEGE HOLD GALA HOME COMING EVENT AT ABILENE THURSDAY, THANKSGIVING

ABILENE, Texas, Dec. 1.—In the first turkey day home-coming ever held on the Simmons campus some three hundred ex-students and alumni of the school returned to the old place for a gala occasion on Thanksgiving. The big feature of the day drawing the Simmonsites home was the annual football contest between the Simmons Cowboys and Howard Payne resulting this year in a gruelling three-point tie. Between 3500 and 4000 people witnessed the game. Almost as great an attraction to the home-coming exes was the real turkey dinner and get-together staged in the science building with the Abilene Simmons Club as host. Dinner was prepared for five hundred people; the number served was less than this because scores of alumni and exes living within driving distance of Abilene were prevented from carrying out plans to attend by rain the day before. A Thanksgiving reception was given in the evening in the Caldwell Fine Arts building with about 500 in attendance.

Class reunions in the morning proved the 1923 class to have the largest number back for the home coming. The oldest class represented was the class of 1896; several from the class of 1902 were also present. Thirty six towns and cities were represented in the registered list returning students, including Texarkana, Arkansas, and Tulsa Oklahoma. Texas cities and towns listed on the register were: Dallas, Waco, Lubbock, Haskell, Seymour, Abilene, Eastland, Anson, Cisco, Ranger, Comanche, Wichita Falls, Winters, Clyde, Merkel, Tuscola, Crowell, Rising Star, Sylvester, Lenesa Desdamonia, Westbrook, Stanton, Harrold, San Angelo, Baird, Breckenridge, Sweetwater, Throckmorton, Quanah, Ballinger, Weatherford, Stamford and Vernon.

TROUBLE SHOOTERS

"Say!" demanded the lone diner of a group of chatting waitresses. "Who's waiting at this table?"

"Why, you are, of course," they retorted as one woman.

Smith: "Yes, I'm engaged to be married and I've only known the girl two days."

Jones: "hat folly."

Smith: "Ziegfelds."

I went ten rounds with Dempsey
And I am feeling fine,
For it was on a Ferris wheel
His seat was next to mine.

Ethel: "Is she old-fashioned?"

Edith: "Rather. She still wears her skirts up to her knees."

"This is the finishing touch," remarked the improvident but generous man as he loaned a friend his last dollar.

Teacher: "Johny, what are the two genders?"

Johnny: "Masculine and feminine. The masculines are divided into temperate and intemperate and the feminine into frigid and torrid."

Bert: "Is that piano-playing girl who lives next to you familiar with Verdi?"

Gert: "Apparently, she thinks so. She takes such liberties with him."

Blake: "Jones is one of those men who have a mean sense of humor."

Drake: "Yes, he's as bad as the prison warden who put a tack on the electric chair."

Mother: "Now, Johnny, if you won't divide your apple with your little cousin you may go to bed."

Johnny (attacking the apple vigorously after a moment's consideration): "Very well; good night."

Alice: "How many men have you ever kissed?"

Virginia: "Alice, you know I detest statistics."

Henrietta: "My husband is never at home nights."

Harriet: "Do tell me how you manage it."

Visitor: "What's the death rate in this town?"

"Resident: "About two per automobile."

RUSSIANS WANT U. S. TO GIVE THEM THEIR MONEY BACK.

MOSCOW (By Mail to United Press). An important American commission has arrived here with the object of straightening out a business dispute which, if setled satisfactorily, is bound to do much towards promoting Russo-American business in general.

The dispute in question is the claim of Russian co-operative societies to property in the United States, worth several million dollars, which is held in escrow on account of Russia's repudiation of her national debts.

The co-operatives say that they are private organizations and independent of the Russian government, consequently their property should not be liable to seizure. The commission is here to investigate the real status of th societies, wherefore Col. Victor E. Courts with full notarial powers for Russia.

Maj. J. A. Willis, attorney for the U. S. War Department, and Charles A. Marshall of New York(counsel for the Russian co-operatives," complete the commission; which is also accompanied by George Link, of the Russian Department of the National City Bank, which is the co-operatives depository in the United States.

JOB FOR JOHN AND SIS FIXED IN ADVANCE

PHILADELPHIA, (United Press) Choosing a vocation for a child need no longer be so much a matter of chance, it has been established at the psychological clinic of the University of Pennsylvania.

The intent of the clinic is to determine what fitness an individual has for some general line of occupation. This is found through the application of a numbr of tests which enable the investigators to grade intelligence.

It is possible through these tests, according to the physicians in charge of the clinic, to discover that some children will never be able to go to high school and that others posses an adaptibility to proceed with their education.

The samg tests, it is pointed out, may be applied to determine the proper vocation for children.

GERMAN CITIES DESIRE ADOPTION

BERLIN, (United Press)—Chicago has adopted Leipzig. At least the mental workers of Chicago have set themselves up as godfathers to the suffering mental workers of the Saxon city. An American author, named White, now in Liepzig, has gained much praise in the German press because of his efforts in behalf of the middle class workers of Leipzig. Leaders of five groups the university, the conservatory, the church, labor union and the Free Masonic lodge—are being selected to be sent to Chicago to speak in behalf of the movement. The expenses will be paid by Chicagoans. The movement being started in Leipzig, if successful, will be spread to other cities with different American cities as godfathers.

"WOLF WOMAN," ARMED, MAY DIE "WITH BOOTS ON."

Chicago police have been ordered to shoot to kill when they seek to arrest pretty Mrs. Katherine Williams Malm, Chicago's "wolf woman," whose husband has told them she is armed to the teeth, is a crack shot and has declared she will die "with her boots on." Malm, a hardened safe blower, told the police when arrested his wife had been his accomplice in 60 crimes, including murders. Malm confessed a murder, aided by his wife, for which another man had been arrested and identified. Paradoxical as it may seem, Mrs. Malm is a mother, and neighbor say she is an ideal one.

A LETTER FROM T. J. ESTES WHO IS VISITING IN ARKANSAS

Editor Avalanche:—

Am feeling pretty good and enjoying my visit fine. Gained thirteen pounds.

The persimmon and o'possum season is now on, persimmons are ripe and o'possums are fine, and when I get a chance I fill up every time. Yes, and I have "Corn bread and butter milk and good old turnip greens."

One of the Harrison, Ark., terrorists recently got out of his territory and received quite a flogging at Branson, Mo. I've heard it said that "What's good for the goose is good for the gander," and as it seems that this fellow took great delight in the administration of such medicine for the goose, so he hasn't much room to kick at taking a little of his own medicine.

The rough land here is being cleared up and sown to grass. Some are using goats to kill out the bushes and some of the heretofore worthless land is becoming valuable for grazing.

There are many canning plants here that are putting up great quantities of fruits, berries and vegetables.

As to field crops and cash farming, though the great smooth and fertile Plains country has this skinned a mile and then some.

Plans are under way to put a great power dam across White River, above Cotter, Arkansas, (near my old native home) that will cost several million dollars. It is to be more than 200 feet high and it is said, will back the water more than 50 miles. Many of the finest farms in this country will be submerged and their production and taxation lost, but on the other hand, it will be a great thing for the country in many ways.

There is a colony of people on Buffalo River here that are expecting a religious war next year and the coming of Christ. No doubt the material for the war is here but O Lord, deliver us from any more wars.

EARLY DAYS ON THE PLAINS

dians were occupied in playing cards.

I stayed all night here, returning the next day to the "22" camp. As I remember, this was the only settlement in Lubbock county, with the possible exception of two or three families near Estacado, composed of the two Marshman's and Underhill.

In the winter of 1881 the "22" camp was moved south to a point on the Salt Fork of the Brazos. This move was made to get on the south of the range in order to keep the cattle from moving south during the winter.

The men holding this winter camp was Van and Will Sanders, John Garrison and myself. We proceeded to dig a hole in the bank, facing south. This was a sure enough dugout, about twelve by twenty feet. We made a fire place in the back end and used a pine box for a table and used buffalo hides to sit on. Our light was a tin can filled with tallow and cotton rags torn in strips and plated for wicks. Our blankets consisted of wolf hides and four light blankets for cover. We spent two winters in this dugout. We got all our hog meat and lard from wild hogs that were thick in the shinnery. Four years prior to this time a pioneer went into the hog business in Dickens county and was killed by the Indians. His herd of hogs scattered over the Plains and became very numerous where there was shinnery.

In the summer of 1883 I took charge of the Llano Cattle Company, known now as the Post Ranch. July 1884 I left the Llano ranch and took charge of the Nave-McCord Cattle Company, now owned by Jno. B. Slaughter.

In November, 1884 I married Miss Emma Boles, of Coryell county and brought her out to the ranch.

At this time Mesdames Laura Cooper and Burns were the only women in Garza county. We stayed on this ranch four and a half years and then moved to Lubbock county as manager of the Western Land and Livestock Company. This was in November, 1888, the ranch being known as IOA. I was manager of this this ranch seven years. From 1881 to 1888 I was in Lubbock county on various roundups. As before stated, I came to the IOA ranch in 1888, succeeding J. K. Milwee as manager.

At this time there were only five women living in Lubbock county. They were: Mesdames J. Singer, R. C. Burns and the two Mrs. Marshman's and Underhill, and several cowboys on the ranch. The Kidwells and Brigmans had sold out and left the county.

In 1890 came W. E. Rayner and located the townsite in section 20, Block "A". There was also a town located by J. T. Lofton and John Harrison, of Fort Worth and F. E. Wheelock and R. C. Burns on Section 7, Block "A".

In 1891 there was a consolidation of the two towns on the present site of what is now Lubbock. The election of officers and the organization of the county took place in March, 1891. The following officers were elected: G. W. Shannon, judge, W. M. Lay, sheriff, Geo. C. Wolffarth, clerk, Us G. Moore, treasurer, W. S. Clark, assessor, J. B. Jones, surveyor, J. D. Caldwell, Com. No. 1, F. E. Wheelock, Com. No. 2, L. D. Hunt, Com. No. 3, Van Sanders, Com. No. 4.

Each of the competing towns had put up buildings. Each faction had eight or ten small houses and after the consolidation they moved to the present site.

The Nicolett hotel, now the Broadway hotel had to be torn down and rebuilt on the present site. This was considered a fine hotel at that time. The court house was completed the following year. Singer moved his store from up the creek to its present location, on the southwest corner of block 105. This was store and postoffice combined. J. D. Caldwell moved his stock of goods from Estacado about this time. Preston Phenix put in a blacksmitn shop. Van and Will Sanders put in a livery stable, Jno. P. Lewis opened a saloon, (he was known as Master and now lives in New Mexico). It was located on lot number one, block one hundred and thirty four. He shipped in one barrel of whisky. It was said Lewis was his own best customer. At any rate, the saloon only lasted three or four months. Soon after we voted local option.

In 1892 R. E. L. Rogers published the Lubbock Leader. Then followed other distinguished editors as follows: M. M. Cox, J. W. Hunt, J. J. Dillard and Jas. L. Dow. I have been a subscriber to all these papers from 1892 to this date, October 31, 1923. And just think: Oh Boy! I get up in a warm room now and read the Morning Avalanche, which gives us the local, state, national and international news while it is news. I expect to live to see the Avalanche a rival of the Star-Telagram, the best paper in the state today.

I could tell of some interesting incidents that have taken place on the ranches mentioned in this article and may do so some time later.

Respectfully,
R. C. BURNS,
Tax Assesor Lubbock, County, Tex.

NEW CUMBERLAND PASTOR WILL PREACH TODAY

Rev. Rigers, the newly called pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in this city will preach today at the regular hours for services, and the general public is invited to hear him. Mr. Rigers, is a young man and comes from Alabama, and will no doubt become one of the leaders in church circles. We were glad to form his acquaintance yesterday, and to give space for his announcement of services.

How about the pressing shop? They need Christmas presents. Give them an old suit to burn as they please.

Lubbock Morning Avalanche

VOL. 2. NO. 30 LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1923 FULL LEASED WIRE UNITED NEWS

ELEVENTH DISTRICT FEDERAL RESERVE BANK IN SUMMARY OF GENERAL CONDITIONS—FAVORABLE

Record-Breaking Debits to Individual Accounts and Heavy Liquidation of Indebtedness Brings Prosperity.

Record-breaking debits to individual accounts resulting from the active distribution of goods at both wholesale and retail, the heavy liquidation of old and current indebtedness, and the movement of cotton to the concentration points formed the outstanding developments in the Eleventh District during the past month. Retail trade was exceptionally active, showing substantially larger volume of sales than in either September this year or October last year. Wholesale distribution was even larger than the previous month and continued to show a widening margin over a year ago. Although October is the month in which retail merchants in this section customarily make heavy payments on their accounts, the liquidation of these accounts last month was exceptionally gratifying, especially because of large payments made on accounts of long standing.

Commensurate with the liquidation of book credit has been the lifting of individual indebtedness at banks. Loans have been receding at a rapid rate and the rise in deposits hase been even more marked. During the first two weeks of September payments at the Federal Reserve Ban kof Dallas averaged only slightly less than a million dollars per day, and during the ten weeks' period since liquidation set in loans have been retired at a rate of more than $450,000 per day. The rise of approximately $150,000,000 in the demand deposits of member banks of this district since the low point of last summer, coming at the same time as the reduction in loans, has left the bankers with the problem of obtaining a profitable outlet for these surplus funds. Consequently, there has ben a strong demand for short time investments for the employment of idle funds until they are needed to finance the next crop Many banks have invested heavily in commercial paper, as well as the Government short term certificates. Nevertheless, banks as a rule are carrying large cash reserves on account of the insufficient supply of desirable investments.

The district's stockmen have received encouragement from the continued improvement of the ranges and livestock following the abundant rains during the past three months. Indications are that livestock will go into the winter in better condton than for the past several years, and that but little feeding will be necessary. However, the heavy receipts at market centers has caused a downward revision in prices which has greatly reduced the stockmen's profits.

Coincident with favorable developments has been the heavy casualty rate in the mercantile field as reflected in the month's failure statistics, which shows the checkered situation that still exists in this district.

The October oil production, which exceeded the previous high record, has added to the amount of surplus stocks, causing a further weakness in the crude oil market.

Building permit valuations at larger centers evidenced a seasonal decline of 22.4 per cent and lumber orders at pine mills receded 12 point

Crop Conditions.

Weather conditions generally have been unfavorable to the harvesting of crops and farm operations during the past month. The excessive and continued rains have not only retarded operations but have been responsible for considerable losses. Cotton picking has been greatly delayed, the grade of the lint has been further reduced and considerable wastage has resulted, particularly in the northwestern section of Texas. While only a small portion of the small grains have been sown (on account of the wet condition of the fields), the grain seeded early in the fall is growing well and there is sufficient moisture in the ground to carry it through the winter.

The corn crop now being harvested is not only of a very poor quality, but the average yield is very unsatisfactory. It is estimated that this year's crop in Texas will not average more than 18.5 bushels per acre, which is the lowest yield since the poor crops of 1917 and 1918. The total production fro Texas this year is estimated at 97,429,000 bushels.

Although grain sorghums have made good growth since the rains began late in August, there has not been sufficient time for the crop to mature properly in many localities. The excessive rains during the past month have greatly interfered with harvesting operations and much of the crop was lost in the field. The November 1st estimate of this year's production was placed at 45,496,000 bushels.

In North and East Texas it will be necessary for the farmers to purchase a considerable amount of feed before the 1924 crop is made, due partly to the reduction of the acreages planted to these crops, and partly to the low yields of this year's feed crops. Earlier in the season it appeared that West Texas would have a sufficient feed supply with which to make another crop, but the recent losses and the lighter yield than was expected, due to the excessive rains, seems to indicate that additional fed will be needed.

The yield of the Texas sweet potato crop was forecasted at 6,880,000 bushels, as compared to 8,715,000 bushels in 1922. The average yield per acre this year was placed at 80 bushels, which is eight bushels below the ten-year average. The wet weather has delayed harvesting and shipments prior to November 1st totaled only 115 cars, as against 380 cars to that date last year.

While the production of New Mexico crops was curtailed by the dry spring and summer, this year's yields of most crops will greatly exceed those of last year.

According to the report of the Bureau of the Census, Texas ginnings from the 1923 cotton crop prior to November 1st amounted to 3,496,479 bales, as compared to 2,847,427 bales last year. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions, 1,311,260 bales were ginned between September 25th and November 1st. On the basis of the Department of Agriculture's forecasted yield for the Texas cotton crop this year—4,300,000 bales—more than 80 per cent of the crop was ginned prior to November 1st. In the northwest section of the state the rain and frost damage has been considerable. The opening of the bolls has been retarded, the cotton on the ground is sprouting, and the grade of the lint has ben considreably lowered. Only about 45 per cent of the crop had been gathered up to October 25th. In the west the crop was approximately two-thirds picked. A considerable amount of cotton remains in the fields of the bottom land of north and east sections, but the cotton on the hill land is practically all gathered. In other sections of the state only a small amount of cotton remains in the field. While this year's production will be substantially above the 1922 yield, much of the cotton this year is of a low grade. Last year the grade was exceptionally good, due to the fact that ideal weather conditions prevailed during most of the fall.

Cotton Movements

The October receipts of cotton at the port of Galveston amounted to 647,262 bales, as compared to 532,248 bales for September, and 654,422 bales for October, 1922. While the receipts for October this year show a slight decline from that month a year ago, receipts since August 1st this season have outstripped those of the corresponding period of 1922 by 15.4 per cent. Stocks at this port on October 31st were 369,832 bales as compared to 472,234 on that date a year ago, reflecting the heavy export movement this season. Exports from Galveston amounted to 561,233 bales for October, and 1,033,796 bales for this season. The increase in this season's exports over last season was 30.5 per cent.

The gross receipts at Houston for th season passed the two million mark during October, and net receipts passed the million mark. The net receipts for October amounted to 504,557 bales as compared to 487,380 bales during September and 443,648 bales during October, 1922. Exports for October amounted to 202,318 bales as against 171,619 bales during the corresponding month of 1922. This season's exports were 65.3 per cent greater than for the corresponding period of last season.

The total foreign exports from all United States ports since August 1st this season were 12.5 per cent larger than for the corresponding period of 1922.

OLD INDIAN KEEPS BLANKET: SAVES COIN

APPERSON, Okla. (United Press) Barelegs, 107-year-old Osage Indian refuses to become Americanized.

Adhering to the old Indian dress of moccasins and blanket, the old savage avoids the motor car and spends the greater part of his time caring for "two measly ponies" according to his aged spouse.

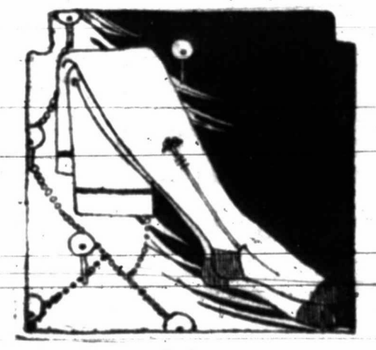

Contrary to the charge that an Indian does not know how to save his money, Barelegs is an expert, again verifies Mrs. Barelegs. "Wood and horse feed is all that he will spend his money for, and I have to finance the home purchases," was the burden of her complaint to the Indian agency at Greyhorse.

All purchases made by the veteran are in even dollars, to avoid caring for the loose change, according to agency officials.

Chamber of Commerce—What It Is and What It Is Not!

Says the "Spirit of Progress," official organ of the Sioux City Chamber of ommerce:

"The Chamber of Commerce of today is an organization for the furthering of the interest of the city as a whole. It works in the open and works for the things that will promote every legitimate business and anything that will help the city as a whole.

"But—and here is where many people have the wrong idea—the Chamber of Commerce cannot and should not work for the furthering of any individual business institution. This is perhaps the one place where the modern Chamber is most widely misunderstood. During the course of a year hundreds of people come to these commercial organizations in every city of any size with schemes—some wild and some mild—which they want financed.

And the Hat Was Passed

"There was a time when it was thought that the only function or duty of a Chamber of Commerce was to get new factories—not even jobboing houses would do. In order to do this, every time it was found that a new factory could be secured the hat was passed among members in an effort to get the desired amount. Some of the factories obtained in that way stuck—most of them did not.

"In those days the dues of the organization didn't mean much, for the hat was passed frequently between dues.

"Today, however, the Chamber of Commerce is an organization giving service to its members and watching the interests of the business as a whole. The Chamber of Commerce is not an organization for establishing a man in business.

"It is just as important for the organization to keep out of business that are not needed as it is to bring in those that are needed. It owes this to its members and to the city. In many fields of activities the city is overcrowded and any further attempts along these same lines would mean over development to the death of legitimate institutions already established. Every institution has its liabilities as well as its privileges.

And the "City Builder" says:

"My home and my business are founded in My City. She gives to me and mine the protection of Law and order, that my property may enhance and my rights be secured. I vote here. My city gives my children a superior schooling. Good neighbors are mine. Truly, My City is 'home spot' for me.

"I love My City my full measure of civic loyalty. If I pretend a manly and fair conception of reciprocity, I must, upon every occasion give to My City a full measure of loyalty through intelligent co-operation with others of similar sentiments.

"My City does not want my partisan, my offishness, my dissension, my criticism nor my indifference. Rather, My City expects of me qualities of high citizenship, tolerant friendship, willing co-operation, heart-given sympathy and intelligent support.

Functions in Exclusive Field

"I may economize or retrench wherever I choose, but I must not withhold my support from My City's greatest organization, her Chamber of Commerce, which exists only for the good it does and functions in a field of usefulness not covered by any other agency, or by the national, state or city governments.

"As I am a man, and conduct a man's business in a man's city, I consider myself privileged to co-operate with other men in improving the status and affairs of My City. As My City's Chamber of Commerce is the centralization of the best thought of her best men, for the general good, I willingly continue my membership.

"As a prideful man, the thought of withholding support from My City's Chamber of Commerce would be abhorrent, as business enighbors, and the shame of advertising myself as willing to ride free upon their public spirit would be more than I could stand.

"My Chamber of Commerce membership gives My City a square deal."

Society Beauty Sails; Divorce Rumored

Mrs. Courtney Letts Stillwell, of Lake Forest, Chicago's society colony, who has been listed as one of the twelve most beautiful women in America, has sailed for Paris, leaving behind her millionaire husband, Wesley Hill Stillwell. It is rumored she intends to take up a residence in the French capital and institute divorce proceedings there.

PUT MARKER ON JOHN BROWN'S CAVE

NEBRASKA CITY Neb., (United Press).—A marker is to be placed over the cave near here where John Brown, historic character of slave days, is supposed to have hidden slaves while aiding the to escape to the North.

The Nebraska City Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution are sponsors for the proposed monument, which will be the first of a series of markers of historic spots in this part of the country.

The "John Brown" cave is shaped like a cross, with extensions running in each direction of the compass. At one end the weatherboarding that closed the entrance still stands. A rickety log cabin is close by and 100 feet north is the well where the refugees obtained their water.

A thick stubby undergrowth partly conceals the entrance where the fleeing negroes were hidden over the day until they could be secretely sent at night into the hands of other friends on their journey farther north.

Under the log cabin, near the entrance, a subterranean passage way leads to the cross-shaped cave.

Old settlers stated that passage ways from the cave led indirectly to points as far as Eastern Iowa and the system of handling the escaping slaves had ben carefully worked out.

FAST EATERS SAVE MONEY

BERLIN (United Press) Slow eaters are penalized in Germany. SEEK RESTING PLACE FOR ASHES OF WAR HERO

SAVANAH, Ga., (United Press)—The question of the disposition of the bones, or dust, of General Elbert, revolutionary war officer, has been raised anew by an offer of a burial plot here.

The offer was mode by the Masonic lodge and has not yet been decided upon by General Robert Travis in whose law office the treasured remains lie in a musty casket.

The bones of General Elbert, after being lost for practically a century, were found in a burial mound along the Savanah River, near here, a year ago.

Patriotic organizations took steps for proper reinterment and memorial to Revolutionary war leader, but no final decision was reached. During the discussion, the bones, now virtually nothing but dust, were given into the keeping of General Travis and for a year he has kept them carefully guarded.

General Elbert aside from the Revolutionary war record, was a high officer of the Georgia colony, one time governor of the state, and the man for whom Elbert county and Elbert on were named.

GERMAN HAS HIS MONEY-BOOTLEGGER

BERLIN (By Mail to United Press)—Every German has his money-bootlegger.

Since the exchange of foreign moneys into German marks is all bound round with red tape, restrictions and what not, those holding dollars, pounds and other stable currency sell to Tom, Dick and Fritz, who may sell cigaretts on the street corner, wait tables at the leading Linden hotels or at Friedrichstrasse coffee houses.

The man with the dollars is glad to sell to his bootlegger, because he saves the great amounts taken by banks and booths for interest and expenses. The bootlegger likes to buy direct for the same reason—and because there is no written note of his act which will lay him open to arrest for having dollars or pounds.

"Just a minute while I stop in here to see what my money bootlegger is paying today," is a common utterance these days "I need some marks and my friend here has more than he needs. He will want some dollars to keep his pay stable."

Small dollar notes—ones, twos and fives—are at a premium around Germany. Everybody wants a few small notes to bootlegg. Nobody except banks will take checks, so this medium of exchange has no value as a bootlegging medium.

AMERICA TO LIFT MILLIONS FROM ROLL OF CHARITY TO LIST OF SELF SUPPORTING IN LESS THAN 5 YEARS

By HENRY WOO
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

GENEVA (By Mail to United Press).—"In five years, by American methods, we expect not only to render 1,000,000 people who are now on charity self-supporting, but actually wealth-producing.

"And as these 1,000,000 people on a wealth-producing basis will represent an increase of one-fifth of the entire population of Greece, this increase by one-fifth of her productive capacity and of her national production cannot fail to give Greece an entirely new economic position amongst the nations."

This is the declaration in an exclusive interview to the United Press by Henry Morganthau, on the eve of his departure for Athens for the purpose of taking over the permanent installation under the League of Nations of the 1,000,000 refugees mostly Greek, that have been turned back to Greek soil from Asia Minor as a result of the Greco-Turkish war and the Lausanne peace treaty.

Serves Without Salary

Morganthau, as the high commissioner for the League of Nations, will have sole charge of the expenditure of some $30,000,000 in the task constituting one of the biggest financial expenditures and undertakings ever entrusted to a single man. Morganthau, who will serve the League of Nations without salary, expects to devote at least two years of his life to the task, although it is expected that fully five years will elapse before these 1,000,000 refugees are not only on a slef-supporting basis, but are actually contributing to the national wealth and national economy of Greece.

Greece, in the meantime, will be probably the only modern nation that in a period of five years will have had its entire wealth-producing population increased by one-fifth.

Speaking of his plans, Morganthau, who because of his years of experience as merican ambassador at Constantinople is an authority on Balkan conditions, continued:

"The settlement of the 1,000,000 refugees will constitute the greatest opportunity that has ever been offered to demonstrate what merica can do towards getting Europe out of her present muddle by the introduction of American methods and the development of everything industrial and agricultural under the guidance of American efficiency experts.

"The Balkans to date constitute the most primitive and most backward portion of Europe. Surrounded entirely by other nations that have reached a high degree of civilization and efficiency, the people have been left in a state of backwardness and undevelopment which it is almost impossible to conceive.

Will Show the World

"Into this virgin soil we expect to introduce the best that America has been able to develop. We expect to demonstrate here what America could do towards developing Russia and other portions of Europe that are not yet up to their maximum production and efficiency and as a consequence towards getting Europe out of her present economic depression.

"To begin with, one of our first tasks in the settlement of the Greek refugees will be a survey of the Vardar and the Struma valleys, now marshy and uncultivated. If the soil is what we think, we will immediately put into effect here all that was learned in America in the great task of bringing the Mississippi valleys up to its present productiveness.

"The land will be drained and irrigated; suitable crops, such as cotton and tobacco introduced; with every reason to hope that not only will hundreds of thousands of people be placed on a self-supporting basis, but that Greeces national wealth and production will be increased in such a manner as to change completely her economic status.

"The land available in these valleys will not suffice for all of the refugees, but the Greek government will provide other lands and we will also have under our control the lands being abandoned by some 350,000 Mussulmen, who, under the terms of the treaty of Lausanne, will return to Asia Minor, in exchange for Greeks.

"Then, in a region where plowing is still done with a crooked stick, we expect to introduce immediately all that has been developed in the way of modern American agricultural machinery. The American machine houses will not be asked to donate machinery, but in view of the large purchases that will be made of them, they will be asked to install demonstrating stations and repair shops.

"However, as hundreds of thousands of the refugees are from industrial rather than agricultural classes we expect also to install primitive industries, such as brick making, shoe making, flour mills, blacksmithing and, as far as possible, industries that will produce what is needed by the population itself.

Will Not Be Charity

"Nothing that will be done will, in any sense of the word, be charity, as all of the refugees in the end will be expected to pay back what their installation has cost, once they have been put on a self-supporting basis. However, the question of financing the enterprise, which is being handled fully under the auspices of the League of Nations is, to my mind, far less interesting and important than the question of a demonstration to the entire world what can be done in Europe by American methods and efficiency.

"We expect in the end still another most important result of the work. That Greece, as a whole, will benefit immensely by this increase of at least one fifth in her national production and capacity cannot be doubted. As a consequence in precisely the same way that with the improved economic conditions in Italy that have come since the war, hundreds of thousands of Italian emigrants in other countries have preferred to return home and throw in their energies and their fortunes with their native country, so we expect with the greatly improved economic conditions this will result in Greece, that hundreds of thousands of Greeks especially those now in the United States will prefer to return and throw in their lot towards building up a greater Greece."

Dr. Albert Will Head German Government

Dr Heinrich F. Albert, German Commercial Attache to the United States before the war and charged with being head of the German propaganda service in America, has been called upon by President Ebert to form a new government following the overthrow of the Stresemann Cabinet. Albert was guilty of many overt acts against the United States while we were still at peace.

TROUBLE SHOOTERS

The Boy Is Right

Sunday-school Teacher (very seriously): "Now, Harry, what must we do before our sins can be forgiven?"

Harry (still more seriously)—"Please Ma'am, we must sin."

Cause and Effect

He rose with great alacrity
To offer her his seat
'Twas a question whether she or he
Should stand upon his feet.

Blonde Bess Opines

When a girl refuses a chap she thinks he'll propose again. He usually does—but to some other girl.

Every Face a Menu

He—"Yes, the doctors say our food affects our looks."

She—"Well, more people eat nuts than I thought."

Two Explanations

Si—"Yep, I had a beard like yours once, but when I realized how it made me look, I cut it off, b'gosh."

Hi—"Wal—I had a face like yours once, and when I realized that I couldn't cut it off, I grew this beard, by heck."

Delivering the Goods

There was once a woman called Mrs.
Who said, "I don't know what a Krs.,
But a fellow in haste,
Put his arm around her waist
And quietly answered, "With thrs."

Sounded Reasonable

The teacher asked the class in natural history—"Where is the home of the swallow?"

A long silence, then a hand moved. "All right, you may answer, Robert," smiled the teacher.

"The home of the swallow is in the stummick," declared Robert.

Att This Time of Year

Ebner—"This letter from your son at college is rather short."

Si—"Yep ah' he is too. That's why he wrote it."

He Asked for It

Miss Gab—"He doesn't speak to her any more."

Miss Fab—"No. He asked her what she should use on his hair and she told him furniture polish."

A Good Job

He—"Yes, once I loved a girl and she made a fool out of me."

She (trifle bored)—"My—what a lasting impression some girls make."

More European trouble. Wish the Atlantic was as wide at the Pacific.

Charles Bernard, of the French house of deputies appeared on the stage of a music hall in Paris and was driven off by hisses. The French do not approve of officials appearing as comedians.

LONGEST AND THINEST FARM IN THE WORLD

STURGIS, Mich., (United Press) William A. Dresser, Lafayette, Ind., defies anyone to exhibit a farm more elongated than the one he owns. It is twelve miles long and only 85 feet wide and has been used for farming purposes for more than 70 years. Before the Civil War the strip was the Wabash & Erie canal right of way. When the canal was abandoned about the time of the war the land was converted for farming. Not long ago the entire property was bid for sale in payment of taxes and Dresser bought it in.

Wild deer on Long Island ate enough of a five-ton truck load of cauliflower, sunk to the hubs in the soft marshland, to spoil the sale of it.

Everything to be desired in a Sedan of twofold economy

This 1924 Stephens Sedan at $1995 proves your price saving by comparison with any car in its class. Hundreds of owner reports, volunteered from every quarter of Motordom, assure you of equally certain upkeep saving.

Repeatedly first in the country's leading Economy Runs, the 59-horsepower, Stephens-built motor provides six-cylinder range and response equally acceptable to men and delightful to women. Numerous 100,000-mile records indicate the service you, too, can rightfully expect from the first proud hour of Stephens ownership.

If such definite economies are any object to you—linked with a luxury that custom building and consummate coachwork alone provide—come in and employ the severest tests you know to prove them facts. See the car whose past performance and present price prove its superior savings!

SIGNS!

TELL THE WORLD WITH SIGNS

ARE THEY SIGNS or HAND LETTERED ADVERTISING?

Signs or lettering, regardless of the surface employed or the nature of the pigment used, should be respected as nothing less than hand lettered advertising.

Many of us, perhaps, appreciate this virtue in the products we manufacture, but many also are not fully aware of its greater worth when measured as advertising.

We all know that the average layman who employs the services of a sign writer rarely ever considers him as an advertising man. For some curious reason the average person associates advertjsing with the printed form of display (with the exception of painted bulletins) and thinks of signs as so much material and labor, nearly always consideraing the labor as the lowest item. But let it be known, neverthless, that every creator of bulletins, commercial signs or show cards is in reality an advertising man.

To begin with a very few customers positively know, when placing an order, just what they want. The advertising man or the sign man if you prefer, through a series of suggestions finally draws from the prospect an idea of just what he would like to accomplish. Then he must create, design and produce a sketch or even perhaps a finished product for the clients approval. This effort is not and cannot be termed as ordinary labor, as many laymen are prone to believe, but the result of mental effort; the application of all the artists past experience in solving his clients problem in the most effective manner.

Perhaps his message is to be applied to a store front sign, or maybe it is a particularly important show card to be used in a window display where hundreds of dollars have been invested, or then, again, it may be a bulletin board acquired at a busy road intersection. In any instance there is an investment at stake, a vital message to put across. If the sign fails to make his message clear to the public the purchaser does not reap a return on his investment, and we as advertising men are responsible for our part in the creation.

How many times have you bought just signs? Then again how many times have you bought a sign made to advertise, made to measure if you wish, for we are not only creators and "copy" men, but layout artists, pictoral artists, type setters and printers combined—our talents must cover all branches.

UNITED STATES NAVY DEPARTMENT WILL ASK CONGRESS FOR A NEW WARCRAFT—AT NEXT SESSION

By the United Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — The American navy must maintain its standard of strength under the Washington Naval Disarmament Treaty, Congress will be told by the Navy Department.

This will be the principal problem of the Navy Department before Congress—to keep up this country's strength under the 5—5—3 ratio of the naval disarmament agreement.

Under the naval disarmament treaty the United States Navy can build no new battleships for thirteen years, but the pact provides for the modernization of America's existing batleships for protection against torpedoes and air atack.

The Navy Department holds that this modernizations of the navy is of the greatest importance, so that the United States with the British and Japanese navies under the Washington agreement. For this purpose several millions of dollars are being asked of Congress.

The Washington treaty provides for American equality with the strongest of any of the other nations in aircraft carriers. The conversion of two battle cruisers into aircraft carriers is provided for in the disarmament treaty, and the Navy Department is urging the necessity of immediately taking up this work in order that the United States can keep abreast of this ne wdevelopment of naval warfare. Many more millions of dollars are necessary for the program of converting the battle cruisers into aircraft carriers and also for building aircraft for these carriers.

Cruisers and Submarines

The navy is asking for eight cruisers and six submarines. The Washington treaty placed no limitation on these classes of warships, as no agreement could be reached. The navy takes the position that it is following the spirit of the treaty, as it desires to maintain only th same ratio in these classes of ships as in the case of battleships.

Cruisers are held to be a vital need to round out the fleet and give protection to commerce. The American fleet is held to be deficient in respect of cruisers. This country now has ten modern cruisers built or building, while Great Britain has forty three and Japan twenty five. Cruisers are essential to the fleet as scouts and as a supporting force for destroyers, as well as commerce protectors.

An important need of the navy which undoubtedly will come before Congress is the question of naval protection for American trade in China. A business of over $200,000,000 annually is dependent upon the protection of a few small gunboats, mostly obsolete, to guard this country's commerce against piracy and banditry in China, according to the Navy Department.

Gunboats for Control

The Navy Department has asked for six fast light draft gunboats for patrol work about 1,700 miles up the Yangtse River in China. The American warships being used for that purpose now are principally old gunboats inherited from the Spanish War, or vessels too slow to operate against flood waters. The replacing of these old ships is held to be an urgent requirement, which has the strong backing of the American Chamber of Commerce.

This Government takes the position that there is not a single naval base in the limited States that would serve the American fleet in time of war. It is planned to provide a real flet base in the Hawaiian Islands, one in San Francisco Harbor, Puget Sound and New York. Other bases are urgently in need of repair.

The problem of insufficient naval personnel also will be a big question before Congress.

The Indian population in the United States is increasing.

FAMOUS U. S. OIL MAN GOES TO HELP ENGLAND

DRUMRIGHT, Okla. (United Press). Jack Daly is "wildcatting" again.

This time he is going to the other side of the world in search of the black fluid that is food to flivvers and men of war.

Eleven years ago Jack Daly pulled into the pasture that is today the site of the famed Drumright oil field. Here he became a veteran driller and rose to be field superintendent of a large oil company.

But there is in Daly's blood the thing that makes explorers of men. Today he is on the first lap of his journey that will take him through London and on to Asia where England is making frantic efforts to get its part of the world's supply of oil.

Daly will handle the drilling crews in the Burma and the Strait Settlements for the Burma Oil Company, and expects to be on the job, "ready for duty," by January 1, 1924.

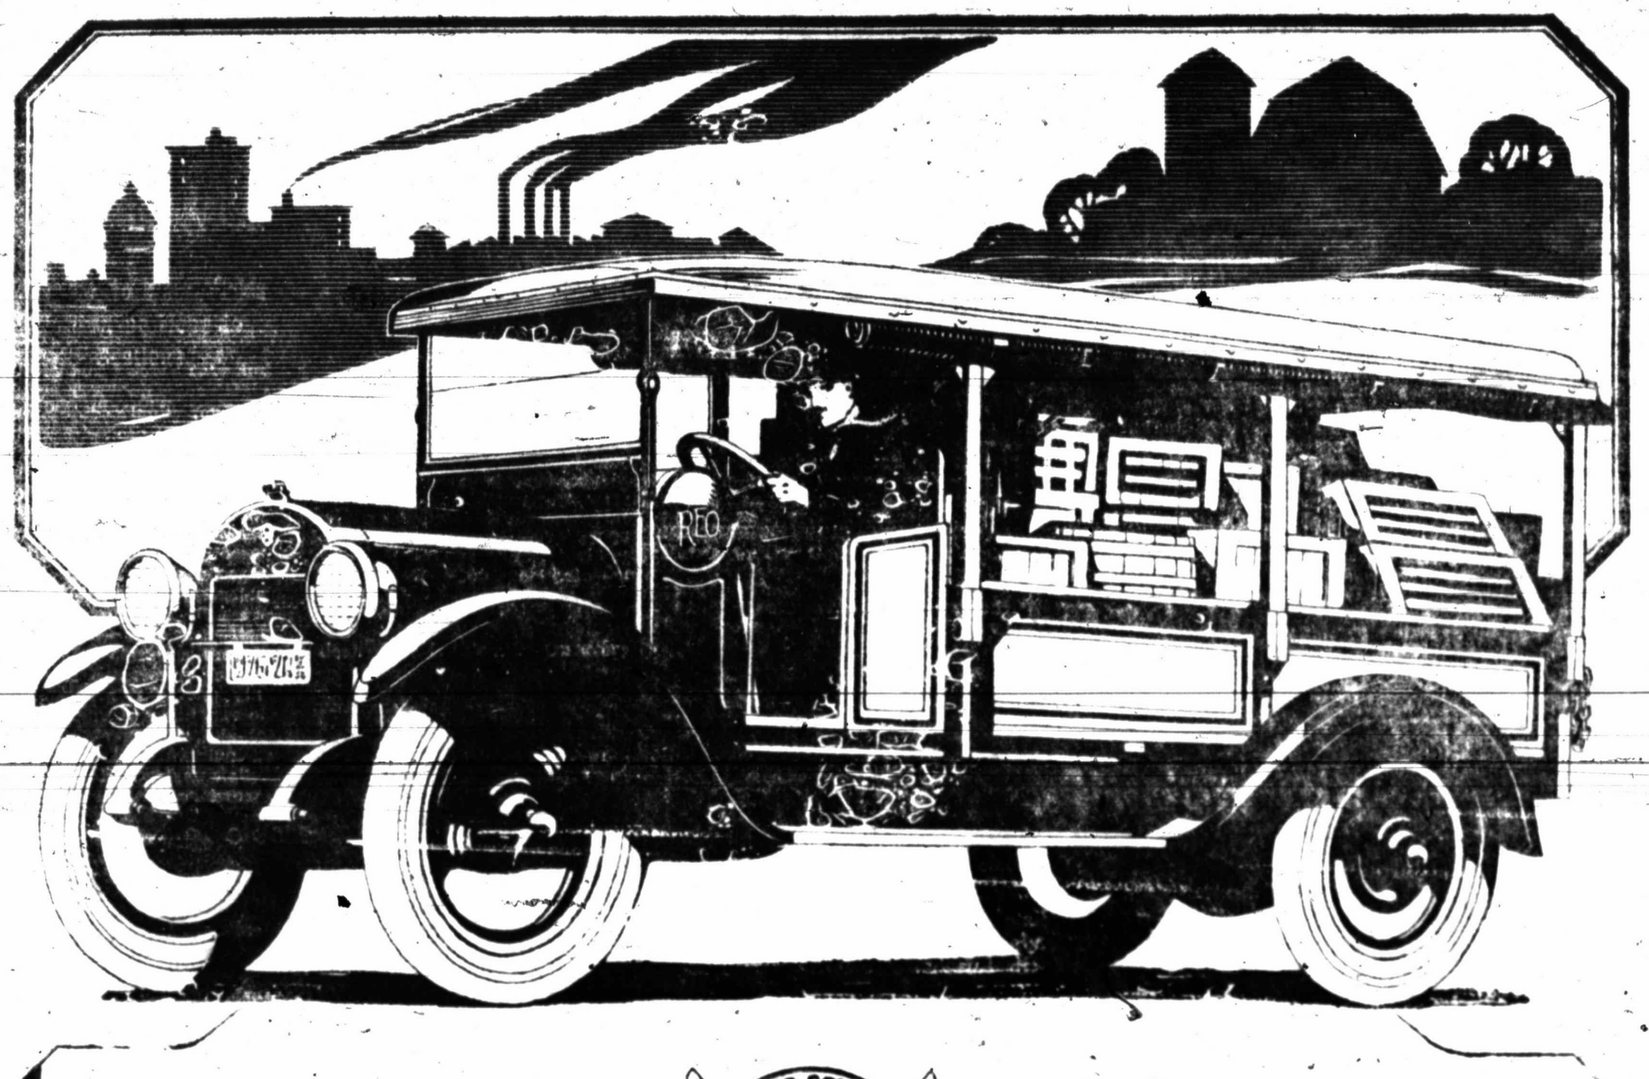

Most any man will lie about how truthful he is.

THE GOLD STANDARD OF VALUES

SPEED REO WAGON

What the Speed Wagon Will Do For You

HERE are stripped-to-the-bone facts on Speed Wagon performance. Not an idle statement nor a generality among them. Nearly 100,000 vehicles in use is a conclusive background of proof for every assertion made:

1—The Speed Wagon will haul light loads at less cost than the lightest trucks.

2—It will handle the largest loads cheaper than larger trucks, even by making additional trips. Fleetness discounts size.

3—It will reduce depreciation charges to the negligible amount based on a quarter million miles of service.

4—It will reduce gasoline, oil and tire costs.

5—It will maneuver in traffic with passenger car ease, due to easy control and fast acceleration.

6—It will safely maintain passenger car speeds on concrete, gravel or dirt roads.

7—It will negotiate stubborn stretches where lighter trucks protest and heavier trucks stall.

8—It will assure an unusual degree of safety because of greatly oversized brakes and careful distribution of chassis weight.

9—It will cushion and protect the load from road shocks, due to pneumatic tires, flexible springs and double-frame mounting of power unit.

10—It will provide a style of body to exactly fit the business.

11—It will permit simplicity of proper attention and adjustment, due to unusual chassis accessibility.

12—It will never be more than a few miles from a completely stocked and expertly manned service station, because there are more than two thousand in America.
