Free flea, tick control offered in Big Spring

Big Spring Humane Society is offering free Vet-Kem tick and flea control for dogs through the Texas Federation of Humane Societies.

Owners are limited to three packages of three tubes each, which amounts to a nine-month supply. A small donation would be appreciated, but there is no cost involved.

Pet owners may pick up their supply anytime the facility is open; hours are Tuesday through Friday from 8 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Big Spring Humane Society is located along the Interstate 20 north service road, west of the city.

Dinner theatre tickets on sale at the chamber

Tickets are on sale now for a Sept. 1-2 dinner theatre production of the comedy "I Take This Man."

Sponsored by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and the Howard College theater department, the ticket price will include a candlelight meal before the show.

While the show is appropriate for all ages, organizers say they discourage bringing young children because they could be distracting to others.

Tickets are $25 a couple, $15 for singles and $10 for seniors 65 and older. Dinner starts at 7 p.m. and the show goes on at 8 p.m.

The event takes place at the Dora Roberts Community Center. Tickets are available at the chamber office, Third and Gregg.

Some $10,000 spent in race for Howard County Sheriff so far

By BILL MCCLELLAN
News Editor

Contributions in the Howard County sheriff's race have amounted to more than $10,000, according to information filed at the county clerk's office.

Sheriff Bill Jennings, a Republican, is being challenged by Democratic candidate Dale Walker in the November election. It's the only strictly local election in November, though

JENNINGS
Howard County residents will also participate in selecting state and national representatives.

WALKER
Comparative numbers

between the two sheriff candidates are skewed somewhat because of the history of the race. Walker was actually appointed by the Howard County Democratic party as a candidate after the March primary. That's because Javier Becerra, the party's only candidate for sheriff heading into the primary, disqualified himself by voting in the Republican primary.

What the figures do indicate, however, is that although Walker has only been running since May, he has received campaign contributions of $4,931. That's according to the last filing period, which ended June 30.

Jennings has received contributions of $5,441 — though over a period dating back to late 1999.

A breakdown over that time shows Jennings received the following:

- $200 from March 5 through June 30;
- $271 from Feb. 14 through March 4;
- $4,820 from Jan. 1 through Feb. 14;
- $150 from July 1, 1999 through Dec. 31, 1999.

Walker received all of his contributions between May 10 and June 30 of this year.

The expense documents also indicate that Jennings spent $6,779 over the past year while Walker spent $1,416.

Key contributors to the Jennings re-election campaign have been Mr. and Blood drive at Herald exceeds its goals

By DEBBIE L. JENSEN
Features Editor

The Big Spring Herald exceeded its goal in the blood drive held Thursday, as new and veteran donors showed their support.

"We appreciate everybody who donated," said Herald publisher John Walker. "I think it is important that when we can do something like give blood, we do it to help friends and neighbors. The newspaper and members of the Herald team feel it is part of our role in the community."

United Blood Services collected 13 pints of blood from residents and several Herald employees who took time from their work.

"I think it is a privilege to give blood," said Jessie Payer. "No one else can do it but us, and we can make a difference in someone's life."

Payer recently learned of some friends who were killed in an auto accident.

"That brought home how important blood donation is," she said. "Someday I might need blood, and I hope someone will donate for me even if they don't know they are donating for me." Patricia Baatz received her five-gallon donation pin during the Herald drive, recognizing her donation of the equivalent five gallons of blood over the past 20 years.

"I have been donating since I was 18 years old," she said. "It's no big deal, and it's one of things you can do in life."

The family tradition continues now as her 17-year-old son, Jeffrey Smith, donated for the first time Thursday.

Carl Reid received paid time off from his employer, Cornell Corrections, to donate.

"I have a cousin who had to have a kidney transplant and currently is on dialysis," Reid said. "I also have friends who work in the emergency medical service and tell me about some of the wrecks they go to. I think it is really important to donate."

"I think people should think of the person they love in a situation where they need blood, and there is not any blood to give," Reid said. "What is a couple of minutes to save someone's life?"

Big Spring ISD holds luncheon for more than 300

By GINA GARZA
Staff Writer

More than 300 faculty, staff and teachers attended Thursday's Big Spring Independent School District annual back-to-school luncheon.

Returning and new staff members alike feasted on a choice of steak or chicken, potatoes, salad, rolls and cake. Administrators conducted the program.

"I want to welcome everyone here," said Bill McQueary, superintendent. "The school board members wanted to show their appreciation to us by giving us this meal."

McQueary introduced the school board members as well as those who work in the administration office.

New staff members were also introduced, along with their work location. According to deputy superintendent Murray Murphy, there were 60 resignations within the school district at the end of the last term.

"Out of those 60 positions, we filled 54," he explained. "We eliminated six positions due the amount of students expected for this school year."

Murphy asked each principal to go to the front and introduce their new teachers and administration. All the schools had new teachers starting work Wednesday, except for Kentwood Elementary.

"I don't have anyone new," said Dee Owen, Kentwood principal. "It's just us same old people as last year," she joked.

All those in attendance received several "school spirit" items, including a Big Spring ISD mug.

School starts for all Big Spring campuses on Wednesday.

Crossroads area merchants urged to study 'invoices' before making out checks

By BILL MCCLELLAN
News Editor

Another solicitation designed to look like an invoice is making its way through the mail to area businesses, and merchants are advised to be on the alert.

Though apparently legitimate, the invoices are made to appear as if they are bills, and not offers for a service. What the company counts on, according to the Better Business Bureau, is that local merchants will think it is a bill, and pay it.

"We advise people all the time, when you get an invoice, any invoice for anything, be sure it is somebody you have done business with in the past. And don't take their word for it, either," said Dick Rowland, president of the Better Business Bureau of the Permian Basin.

One of the latest is from a company called IT&T International Business Directories of Switzerland. It offers a listing in the Fax Directory International. Another which has been circulating is under the name UTP Digital Directories, operating out of Sulgen, Switzerland. UTP describes itself as a "publishing house" and upon payment will publish the name of the business on the Internet for one year at a set fee. The going rate for one such solicitation from UTP was $906. IT&T wanted $995, but offered a 3 percent discount if payment is made within 14 days.

Both appear to be invoices, but closer scrutiny shows they are solicitations.

"Once upon a time it was the law that things of this

The structural engineer and consultant company last fall was the proper thing to do," Burns said. "They also made inspections and say the building is stabilized and structurally sound; it's perfectly safe."

Bill McQuary, Big Spring ISD superintendent, said the condition will continue to be monitored and surveyed.

"Experts have advised us that there is some other compaction grouting that will need to be done in the future," he said. "It's nothing to be worried about; it's just to help keep the building stable."

One of the more recent ones is from a company called Yellow Pages Company of Orange County, Calif.

Though the company uses a telephone as part of its logo, close scrutiny of the solicitation indicates it is for the Internet. In fact, on the back, it reads: "Yellow Pages, Inc. is an independent publisher not affiliated with any telephone company."

Businesses should know that neither the name nor logo is protected by federal copyright or trademark registration.

"Most of the soliciting firms of this nature publish a directory of sorts, but the value and circulation of these publications may be questionable," said Rowland. "The targets of the solicitations usually are selected from advertisements placed in local yellow pages directories."

neers and architects to stop the sinking of the junior high, was touted as a viable solution. More than 2,000 cubic yards of compaction grouting material was pumped 25 to 35 feet beneath the school.

Trustees learned Thursday that the procedure was apparently the right choice. And, as school begins again, they received assurance that the problems won't be repeated.

Patient stays awake during heart surgery

MIAMI (AP) — A 61-year-old man stayed awake for the entire 4-hour, 10-minute open heart surgery performed on him by a team of three doctors.

Dr. Mark Anderson of the Miami Veterans' Affairs Medical Center performed a single coronary artery bypass graft Thursday using only an epidural, an anesthetic shot injected into the spinal cord.

The operation began at 8:10 a.m. and was over at 12:20 p.m. The patient, whose name was not made public, was reported to be in stable condition at the hospital Thursday evening.

The two doctors who assisted in the operation, Juan Restrepo and Gerard DeSouza, said they believed the operation was just the second of its kind to be performed in the United States. They said they had heard reports another one was previously performed in Pittsburgh.

"This is a very tricky operation," Restrepo said after the procedure. "As well as upsides, there are risks in doing it this way."

The anesthetic procedure meant doctors did not have to insert a tube down the patient's windpipe. Using an epidural instead of a general anesthetic also reduces a patient's recovery time, in part because there is much less stress response on a respirator.

The downside, said DeSouza, is that a higher level of anesthesia is injected into the spinal cord than is used with general anesthesia. That means the anesthetic has to be closely monitored because it can stop a patient from breathing.

"This can only be done for a single bypass surgery, maybe a double," said DeSouza.

U.S. Navy helicopter crashes in Gulf

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Two crew members were killed and two others were missing Thursday after a U.S. Navy helicopter crashed and sank in the Gulf of Mexico during a training mission. Two others were recovering from injuries.

The survivors, floating in a life raft, were rescued from the water more than 30 minutes after the helicopter went down.

Jeremy J. Yaklin, 19, of Lapeer, Mich. and Adan Shawn R. Palyo, 20, of Stratford, Conn., were listed in stable condition at Christus Spohn Memorial Hospital in Corpus Christi, said Lt. j.g. Chuck Bell with Naval Air Station Corpus Christi.

Cdr. Bob Riehl, commanding officer of the HM-15 mine countermeasures squadron based at NAS Corpus Christi, identified one of those killed as Jeffrey S. Paschal, 40, from Phoenix. The identity of the second victim was being withheld until family members could be notified.

The crew was aboard an MH-53E helicopter, also known as a Sea Dragon, that crashed about 11 a.m. some 17 miles offshore in about 50 feet of water. Crew members reported mechanical problems before the craft went down, Bell said.

A search over a 28-square-mile area will continue through the night for the remaining two crew members, Riehl said. "I always have hope," he said about the prospects finding them alive. "It's a big area. It's a big ocean," he said. All the crew members were equipped with survival equipment, such as strobes, radios and oxygen cylinders.

"The survivability rate is very good down here," said David McBride, a Coast Guard spokesman. The water temperature is about 80 degrees.

Several Coast Guard and Navy craft, including three helicopters, a jet and a patrol boat and the USS Gladiator minesweeper, were searching for the missing crew members Thursday afternoon.

For safety reasons, all but one aircraft was recalled for the overnight search, McBride said.

Clinton confesses anew, absolves Gore

SOUTH BARRINGTON, Ill. (AP) — In his most detailed, candid public reflection on the Monica Lewinsky scandal, President Clinton said he had made a "terrible mistake" and that Al Gore should not be blamed for it.

"He doesn't get enough credit for what we did together that is good. And surely no fair-minded person would blame him for any mistake that I made," Clinton said of the vice president in an appearance before 4,500 ministers at a conference in Chicago.

Clinton's lengthy confessional on Thursday came during a nearly 90-minute question-and-answer session with an evangelical minister Clinton has consulted since 1992. And it was made just days before Gore, who is trying to distance himself from any voter distaste for Clinton's actions in the sex scandal, becomes the Democratic presidential nominee.

Gore's choice of a running mate this week is an implicit part of that effort. In Sen. Joseph Lieberman, Gore has on his ticket the Democrat who first rebuked Clinton from the Senate floor and an observant Jew who serves as a model of rectitude in the Senate.

White House spokesman Joe Lockhart said Clinton's speech to the Willow Creek Association was scheduled six months ago. The discussion with group leader, the Rev. Bill Hybels, was not supposed to focus on the Lewinsky matter, but conservative members insisted Hybels bring it up, Lockhart said. In recent days, Hybels told Clinton to expect Lewinsky questions, Lockhart said.

Clinton will address the Democratic National Convention on Monday in Los Angeles, and there has been speculation that he would use the speech to formally absolve Gore for the Lewinsky scandal of two years ago that led to Clinton's impeachment in the House and acquittal in a Senate trial. Thursday's blunt confessional may serve that purpose.

"I'm now in the second year of a process of trying to totally rebuild my life from a terrible mistake I made," Clinton said without detailing the mistake or mentioning Lewinsky, the former White House intern, by name.

HOROSCOPE

You're energized this year. Zoom in and make dreams reality. Others cheer you on. You have a strong fan club. Talking about goals and wishes opens the door to desires. Expand your circle of friends. Network. You'll gain through others. Count on your determination and charisma. You will also work long and hard to make your desires a reality. You are more than willing to indulge your loved one. CAPRICORN serves as the voice of reason.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 Willingly revise plans. Another's new idea proves to be too good to resist. Go with the moment. You might go overboard and indulge in a major way. Listen to your sixth sense with a loved one. Your words carry more weight than you realize. Tonight: Let down your hair.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

 Reach out for another and take a risk. Someone's way of looking at problems rings a bell. You can deal with these ideas. Family plays a big role in decisions. Cough up that little extra money to make another happy. The good times roll when you decide to be less uptight. Tonight: Try a new restaurant.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 You get good news. Others join you and get into the moment. Your sense of fun revolves around one significant other. Tension eases when you allow others to just be. Accept silliness. Let go of judgments. Make an extra effort to communicate with a dear friend. Tonight: Dinner for two!

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 Others come to you.

Refuse to be cornered. Know exactly what you want. You'll land on your feet if you listen to your strong intuition. Money plays a big role in your decisions. Don't be a tightwad right now. Another appreciates a gift or thought. Tonight: Say yes to a party invitation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

 Pace yourself. You need to keep communicating, especially about a child or loved one. Aim for what you want and take charge. You have high energy and can devour any task that comes your way. Friends invite you to join them. They love your extra energy. Tonight: Flip the hamburgers at a barbecue.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

 Tame your imagination. Know more of what you want from another. Put yourself on the line and ask for what you want. You read between the lines with family and others. You need to zoom in and pitch in where another might feel uneasy. Tonight: Play the night away.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

 You don't have to go far to make what you want happen. Your cheerful side emerges when dealing with loved ones and family. Friends seek you out for advice, and perhaps also to join them in a fun excursion. Let go of self-discipline, at least for the day! Tonight: Whoop it up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

 Conversations take on an animated quality. Those you respect and/or put on a pedestal seek you out. A partner puts himself on the line to make a situation work. Don't stand on ceremony. Know your expectations and ask for exactly what you want. Tonight: Togetherness makes the night.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Your attitude attracts others. Listen to another's schemes, but feel free to say no. Others present you with many opportunities. You might not know which way to go. Try to incorporate many people and happenings into your plans. Tonight: Indulge another.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

 Your instincts with another help you get past an immediate liability. Carefully revise your thinking about a dear loved one. Be more understanding.

Sometimes this person might create a lot of grief, but he means well. Laugh and enjoy the high energy. Tonight: Whatever makes you smile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

 Reach out to another. You might understand much more than you are letting on. Your sense of humor comes out with a child or loved one. Be more playful. Give someone the freedom to be a little wilder than normal. Zoom in where it counts. Tonight: Vanish with a favorite person.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

 Recognize another's limits as well as your own. Pushing could make for frayed nerves. Honor a change of plans. Be flexible with a parent or older relative. Bring friends and loved ones together. Let others relax and have fun in your back yard. Tonight: The party could go till the wee hours.

OUR VIEWS

We salute:

Each week, the Herald salutes individuals and groups from our community and area who have been recognized for special achievements or accomplishments.

We recognize these special people for working to help make our region a better place to live, work and play.

This week we salute:

• ALL THOSE WHO GAVE THE GIFT OF LIFE in the Big Spring Herald's blood drive Thursday afternoon.

• THE SPADE AND HOE GARDEN CLUB, which adopted the entrance to the Big Spring State Hospital for a beautification project.

• 'OLD SETTLERS' OF HOWARD AND GLASSCOCK COUNTIES who enjoyed visiting at their annual reunion over the weekend.

• EX-STUDENTS who got together for the Forsan All-Class Reunion last weekend.

• SACRED HEART CATHOLIC CHURCH, on another successful festival.

• BIG SPRING AMBUCS, who provided a specially-designed AmTryke for cerebral palsy patient Stetson Elliott.

Is there an individual or organization in our community that you feel should be saluted? If so, please send us their name and why you think they should be recognized. We must have your name and telephone number and you must provide it in writing.

YOUR VIEWS

TO THE EDITOR,

I cannot express the feelings I felt when I read the Herald's story about the tiny baby girl that was found hidden in a suitcase with nothing to cradle her tiny body except for a towel.

She deserved so much more than to be tossed away like an unwanted piece of trash.

No one knows except God why her parent or parents felt the need to hide their baby in such an ugly, uncaring way, but it was wrong.

Even if the baby's parent or parents had no money to pay for the birth or if the baby was stillborn and they could not pay for a proper burial, all they had to do was ask for help and the people of Big Spring would have helped because Big Spring is one of the most caring and giving towns in the world. Being poor is not a crime.

One of the reasons this hurts me is because 18 years ago I gave birth to a tiny stillborn baby girl. The loss of our baby was painful and we struggled to pay for her funeral expenses. But not once did it cross my mind to just toss her away like a piece of trash. She was our baby — God's child — and with this in mind, I will make a heartfelt plea to the people of Big Spring to help me start a fund to ensure that this tiny baby girl gets a proper burial and a headstone to mark her final resting place.

The name on it should or could read: "Our baby," because in a way she belongs to all of us, for she was born in Big Spring.

I have little to call my own but I would like to start the fund with $20. It is not much but if we all give what we can, our baby will have a proper burial.

Insights from a Democrat on George W.

I don't suppose the name Lanny Davis is a household word. All I know about him is that, as a lawyer, he was special counsel to President Clinton during the Monica Lewinsky debacle, 1996-1998. One of his tasks, evidently, was public relations, because he appeared tirelessly on the TV talk shows defending Clinton rigidly, even when the president was indefensible. Davis was a 100 percent Democratic loyalist.

JEFFREY HART

What a surprise it was for me to read the column Davis wrote for the (New York) Daily News on Monday, July 24, 2000 ("My Years at Yale With Bush"), in which he has a number of interesting and friendly things to say about George W. Bush, whom he knew at Yale.

Davis begins forthrightly: "I'm for Vice President Gore. He's one of the best vice presidents in history — experienced, qualified, right on the issues I care about. But I don't mind telling this to the vice president and my Democratic friends: George W. Bush is a good guy."

Then he proceeds to his recollections: "He was a year behind me at Yale. We spent two years (1966 and '67) in the same residential college and were fraternity brothers in Delta Kappa Epsilon (a k a Deke). We spent a lot of time together, party time, serious time, personal time.

"I've been with him at our best and our worst. And whatever youthful acts he now regrets, I assure you he had plenty of company (including yours truly)."

"George is likable. I can't recall anyone speaking a bad word about him, and that's saying a lot in a Yale student crowd. It didn't matter whether you were a Republican or Democrat, you'd like having a beer with him and shooting the breeze.

"He seemed to have the knack attributed to Atticus Finch in 'To Kill a Mockingbird': to walk in other peoples' shoes and see the world through their eyes. It didn't strike me then — he seemed so unpolitical — but that's a quality that could put him in the Oval Office.

"I remember a night when we were talking, and someone (he might have been from the Deep South) made a racial remark. Before anyone could speak, George said quietly 'You're out of here.' The offending student left. There was silence in the room. Then George said, 'He's not evil. It's what he was taught.' That was the end of that."

Clearly, Bush was appealing even to a committed liberal Democrat such as Davis. And in the background there is a sense of his appeal to, and indeed his authority over, his Yale peers.

Here's another rather dramatic exercise of decency and authority:

"I also remember a party at Duke. One of my classmates was having a fight with his girlfriend, as usual. But this night, he was getting physical with her. I watched, amazed, trying to figure out how to intervene. Then someone moved past me. It was George. He stepped between the two, pushed my classmate out the door, turned to the girl and asked her if he could help."

Davis now forgets for a moment that Bush was "so unpolitical" in those days, because he finds that Bush was engrossed by "History 35," a popular course taught by John Morton Blum, the legendary liberal history professor and award-winning biographer of Theodore Roosevelt. History 35 focused on Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"I saw George carrying a textbook from the course and jokingly asked, 'What's a good Republican like you doing in Blum's course?' ... George responded to my comment: 'I've learned more from John Blum than from any other teacher I've had at Yale. I don't care what his politics are. I love that course."

Davis continues: "I am also asked, 'How smart is he?' It's a stupid question. ... Yes, he's no high intellectual. My impression of him at Yale was that he sort of coasted along. Maybe intellectual nonchalance is the best description. But he has an acute mind. While he doesn't seem to apply it to intellectual subjects, he clearly does to assessing people and situations — and to seeing the big picture faster than most."

This is remarkable, memorable testimony. What we see emerging here seems to me something rare and impressive.

Bush now speaks of "leadership," and of course there are different kinds. What his particular kind seems to consist of is the ability to get different kinds of people with different agendas to work together, as he "reached across the aisle" as governor and worked with Democrats for particular goals.

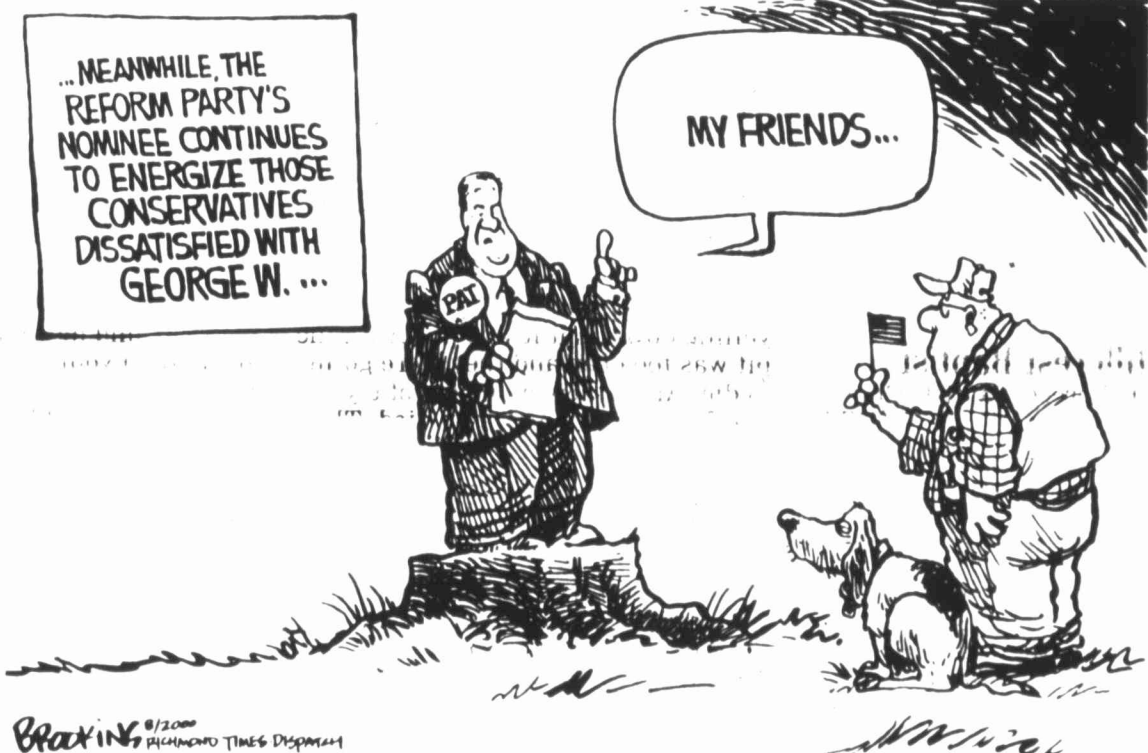

Partly as a result, he gained re-election with 70 percent of the vote.

This is the special ability we saw in President Eisenhower. He was no intellectual, but he got Montgomery, DeGaulle, Churchill, Patton and other gigantic egos to pull together.

Davis concludes about Bush: "If you need proof of the cost of underestimating him, ask Ann Richards — ex-governor of Texas."

Lieberman selected on issues, not geography

George W. Bush is campaigning on the theme that he will change the tone in Washington, setting aside the personal attacks that have come to characterize American politics. Yet at the Republican Convention in Philadelphia, Bush repeatedly took aim at the character and ethics of President Clinton. Bush linked Al Gore to the president's moral lapses and declared the next four years would be "no different" if Gore were elected. Even 14-year-old Pierce Bush, one of the candidate's nephews, was on message. "We've got to restore dignity to the White House," he said upon greeting members of the media.

JACK ANDERSON

Watching the character assault unfold on television, Al Gore's brain trust in Nashville knew they needed to respond. How better than to choose a vice president whose very presence on the ticket silences the critics?

The selection of Connecticut Senator Joseph Lieberman signals the end of geography as destiny for aspiring vice presidents. Clinton proved in 1992 when he chose Gore that a thematic statement is far more powerful than playing big-state electoral politics.

Given Gore's reputation for pandering, most political professionals thought Lieberman's name was being floated as a courtesy. The fact that Gore was serious, and that he took a risk, has earned him a second look from the media and from the voters. Early soundings indicate that he has roused his moribund candidacy to the point where he is within striking distance of Bush.

Gore has disarmed the opposition on two fronts. By choosing a notably moral man, he makes it harder for the GOP to claim that only their ticket can reclaim the honor of the presidency. And by avoiding a running mate who could be tagged as liberal, Gore leaves the GOP sputtering that the Democratic ticket is too centrist, an argument likely to boomerang and hurt Bush before it damages Gore.

An examination of the issues on which the Bush campaign claims Lieberman is a closet Republican reveals some similarities with Bush, but far more differences.

Lieberman was one of three Democratic senators (along with Bill Bradley) who voted to support experimentation with vouchers in the District of Columbia. But unlike Bush, he has not made vouchers a crusade and stops far short of endorsing them as a widespread answer to failing schools.

The Bush campaign likes to cite Lieberman's past support for partial privatization of the Social Security system as bolstering Bush's plan for allowing younger workers to invest a portion of their contribution in the stock market. While initially intrigued by the idea, Lieberman concluded that the transition to personal accounts drains too much money from the system and that benefits would be put at risk. As evidence of his change of mind, he produced an unpublished op-ed piece he had written earlier this year that described his disillusionment.

Lastly, Lieberman supports parental notification for minors who seek an abortion, which the Bush campaign seized as evidence that he's closer to Bush than Gore on abortion rights. But Lieberman voted against overturning President Clinton's veto of a ban on so-called "partial-birth" abortion.

Lieberman is not easy to pigeonhole, which is what makes him a compelling combatant in the battle for the hearts and minds of American voters.

County fair will showcase local art

Entries will be taken Thursday, Aug. 24, in variety of contests

By DEBBIE L. JENSEN
Features Editor

Part of the fun of the Howard County Fair each year is just seeing the exhibits, enjoying the carnival and chowing down on fair food. But the folks who enter contests in a variety of categories might be considered the backbone of the event.

And their entries — including photographs, paintings and other artwork, are displayed throughout the fair.

Want to show off your artistic side? The fair has a variety of contests that will allow you to express yourself, and entering one or more of them won't cost you anything.

Because the fair has been condensed into four days this year, Aug. 25-28, entries in the art department are taken one day only — Thursday, Aug. 24, between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

"That's probably the most important thing we want to get across to people this year," said Geraldine Posey, who is in charge of the art department at the 2000 Howard County Fair. "We want to make sure everyone knows it's just that one day."

Two special photography contests are being repeated this year after they were both very successful last year.

"Kids Do the Darndest Things" photo contest includes two divisions — pictures of kids 0-21 and pictures of big kids, over 21. Photos in this contest must be at least 3x5, framed and ready to hang.

"This was such a fun contest," Posey said. "It really brought the people over there."

Posey said she sets aside a department just for those photos and those in the other special contest, known as "Favorite Family Pet."

Pet contest photos don't have to be framed; they can be between 3x5 and 8x10, and only one photo per pet can be entered.

Artwork covers the walls in this photograph from the 1992 Howard County Fair. Entries in photography, painting and other art categories are displayed during the event.

Other art department entries, which include paintings, drawings, graphics, sculpture and pottery, are divided into categories according to the age and experience of the artist. Work is welcome by children from kindergarten through high school, and adults from college through professional.

Photography is divided into three divisions — professional black and white, professional color and amateur photography. In the amateur division, black and white or color photos are judged according to the age of the photographer.

For more information about the fair's art department, call Posey at 263-1267 mornings, or 267-4232 in the afternoons/evenings.

Experience the hope that brings peace

Why do we make such a big deal out of electing a new President every four years? Why do we look forward to the start of a new school year? Why do we get excited over a new football season?

One of the reasons is that each of these events brings a renewal of hope — hope for a better economy, hope for better grades or new friends, and hope for a winning season. Hope is a good thing and is a major factor in leading a happy life. There is a story of two frogs that fell into a deep pit. The other frogs sat around the pit yelling down that it was hopeless, the pit was too deep and they were going to die. After a few moments of trying, one frog gave up and soon died. The other frog continued jumping despite the loud opinions of the other frogs until he successfully leapt from the pit.

One of the other frogs asked him why he kept trying when all the frogs were shouting that he would die. The tired frog answered, "I'm deaf. I thought you guys were yelling encouragement."

Life without hope is not much of a life. It leads to depression and suicide. Hope in anything can keep us going. Hoping the new President will make a difference can keep us going for several years. Hoping for better grades in school can keep us going for nine months. Hoping for a winning season can keep us going for 12 weeks. At the end of each period, either our hopes are validated, or they are dashed.

"Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord." (Psalms 31:24) When we place our hope in the Lord, with confidence and faith, we can live a life of happiness without worrying when it will end.

"Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy." (Psalms 33:18) Isn't it a comforting reassurance to be confident that the Lord is watching over us and is interceding on our behalf?

RON COLWELL

Especially when the world is troubled by low moral values, rumors of war and widespread civil unrest, uninhibited use of alcohol and drugs, pornography and sexual freedoms without consequences, violence in our homes and schools, etc.

In order to experience the kind of hope that speaks peace to our hearts no matter what circumstance we find ourselves in, we need to know that we are doing the Lord's will and are striving to keep His commandments. "And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." (1 John 3:3) How can we have confidence in the Lord if we are not truly His followers?

A Latter-Day Saint scripture fits nicely here and helps to summarize my feelings on Hope. "Let thy bowels also be full of charity towards all men, and to the household of faith, and let virtue garnish thy thoughts unceasingly; then shall thy confidence wax strong in the presence of God..." (D&C 121:45)

May we all have hope in Jesus Christ and peace in our lives.

Ron Colwell is bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Infant's death highlights faith-healing fears, prosecutor's dilemma

CLIFTON, Colo. (AP) — The last breath of infant Billy Ray Reed came much the same as the first — in his parents' trailer with church members surrounding him.

Without ever seeing a doctor, the 2-day-old boy died July 9 of complications from a hole in his heart.

According to the coroner's report, Billy Ray's parents noticed that he was having trouble breathing and that he was turning blue. But they considered him fussy and thought he was getting better after they prayed for him, the coroner said.

The coroner said Billy Reed, 31, and his wife, Barbara, 23, denied their son medical treatment that could have saved his life. A doctor, the coroner said, would have easily recognized the baby's heart defect.

Now District Attorney Frank Daniels is struggling with whether to prosecute the Reeds for choosing prayer over doctors to heal their child.

For Daniels, this could become his second case in the last year against members of the Reeds' church, the General Assembly and Church of the First Born.

"The question is, was this child unreasonably placed in this position?" Daniels said. "The statute is very gray, very unclear. It makes my decision very difficult."

The Reeds have repeatedly declined to comment or to name their attorney. "We believe in the King James version of the Bible," Barbara Reed said before the coroner's report was released.

"Either the Lord or the law will handle them," said neighbor Cassandra Price, 25. At least seven children of Colorado members of the Church of the First Born have died since 1982, authorities say. In at least two cases, the parents were convicted.

Most recently, Josh and Mindy Glory were given 16 years of probation in February after pleading guilty to not seeking medical help for their 18-day-old son. He had contracted pneumonia and bacterial meningitis, both of which could have been treated with antibiotics, the coroner ruled.

Similar cases have involved Christian Scientists and the followers of Christ Church and other denominations.

In Pennsylvania, Dennis and Lorie Nixon of the Faith Tabernacle Congregation in Altoona are appealing their involuntary-manslaughter convictions in the death of their 16-year-old daughter, who had diabetes. Doctors said she would have lived with insulin; her family prayed over her bed, read from the Bible and coated her body with oil.

Every Wednesday and Sunday, First Born members in Mesa County, 250 miles west of Denver, roll past a peach orchard into the gravel lot outside their simple, white church with a jungle gym outside.

About 50 worshippers of all ages languidly push out harmonized hymns a cappella. There is no program, no minister, no stained glass, no altar, no listed telephone number for the church.

Members trace the church's roots to at least 1702, although J. Gordon Melton, director of the Institute for the Study of American Religion in Santa Barbara, Calif., says the larger Church of the First Born probably began in the late 19th century.

Member Leland Bruner, 71, says medical mishaps and deaths in hospitals happen just as often as they do in his congregation, if not more often. He and his wife have raised seven children who have never taken as much as aspirin.

"People like to go the best physician they can afford," he said.

"We have access to the best physician here. He raised people from the dead, caused the blind to see, healed the lepers."

Rita Swan of Sioux City, Iowa, was a lifelong Christian Scientist until the death of her 16-month-old son, Matthew. After that, she said, she and her husband "dedicated our lives to turning the situation around to the benefit of children."

The group she later formed, Children's Healthcare is a Legal Duty, is working to repeal a federal act that allows for religious defenses in child health cases.

Daniels, the Mesa County district attorney, unsuccessfully lobbied last year for a repeal of the Colorado law that allows for faith-healing defenses.

"There's the protection of children, freedom of the religion, and then there's the law. Where those fit together is unclear," he said.

In 1944, the Supreme Court ruled that parents could become martyrs for their religion but they did not have the right to make martyrs of their children.

Lady Steers to host Bronte in volleyball scrimmage

By JOHN HASSELMEIER
Sports Editor

Volleyball season will be getting off to a fast start for the Big Spring Lady Steers as they will be participating in three scrimmages in the next two days, including one at 5 p.m. against Bronte today at Steer Gym.

The freshmen will start things off at 5 p.m., followed by the JV at approximately 5:30 p.m. and then the varsity at approximately 6 p.m. with another rotation possible.

Then, on Saturday, the team will be heading to Lamesa High School to face Lamesa and Colorado City. It all gets under way at 11 a.m. against Lamesa and 3:10 p.m. against Colorado City. The JV and freshman teams will play in-between.

finished 17-12, but 5-5 and in fourth place in district.

That team was top-heavy with seniors, to the point that fifth-year head coach Traci Pierce has three starters, two fulltime and one parttime and four lettermen back. In fact, those scrimmages will really serve a purpose as only seven varsity slots have been decided.

"I've always tried to carry from 10-12 just for practical reasons," Pierce said. "We're so young. We only have two seniors on the team. I don't want to put someone on the team who might play a lot on the junior varsity, but sit on the bench with the varsity behind somebody because they're young. I'm looking at two, maybe three more and that's probably it."

Melissa Forth, a 5-7 senior outside hitter and 5-8 junior middle hitter Latrisha Rollins started fulltime while 6-10 1/2 junior Meaghan Pudliner came off the bench. Last year, Pudliner played setter, but this year, Pierce may be moving her to outside hitter.

The other returning letterman is 5-5 junior setter Brittany Bryant.

As for the other three solid prospects, they are 5-5 senior outside Kristie Gunselman, 5-6 junior setter Paige King and sophomore 6-1 middle hitter Krystle Long.

"We've got some good kids," Pierce said. "We've got a good group of freshmen coming in. Our sophomore group is solid. We've got a good junior group. Of course, we've got two seniors, so we won't be glad to see them go."

See LADY STEERS, Page 2B

Some Colorado City Wolves are shown being taken through their paces during practice Wednesday morning at the practice field. They are running an agility drill and hope to make amends for a 1-9 season as a Class 3A school a year ago. Colorado City is now in Class 2A.

Lady Wolves to host Lake View in Friday scrimmage

By JOHN HASSELMEIER
Sports Editor

COLORADO CITY — Volleyball season will be getting under way today for Colorado City as the Lady Wolves as they will be scrimmaging San Angelo Lake View at home starting at 5:30 p.m.

Then on Saturday, the teams will head for Lamesa for a scrimmage. The Lady Wolves will face Snyder at 11 a.m. and Big Spring at 3:10 p.m.

It's been said many times that death and taxes are the only certainties, but the Colorado City varsity volleyball team has a much more pleasant certainty to think about. After suffering through a 5-19 and 0-10 record as a Class 3A school, the University Interscholastic League dropped the school into Class 2A.

"I absolutely love dropping a class," said fifth-year coach Karen Trent. "We were in a tough district last year."

That also meant that the Lady Wolves go from six-team District 4-3A to three-team District 3-2A. As three teams from each district advance to the playoffs, Colorado City will be in the volleyball playoffs this year.

That's good news for more than one reason as three starters return. That in itself isn't bad, but those are also the only three returning lettermen. Those three are 5-8 1/2 senior outside hitter Lacy Dockrey, 5-9 junior middleblock Vanessa Quintero and 5-7 sophomore outside hitter Teri Phariss.

For now, the other four slots have been determined. The four in question are 5-7 junior utility player Rebecca Ornelas, 5-9 sophomore middleblock Erica Grant, 5-6 sophomore setter/outside hitter Kotia Russell and 5-5 freshman setter Hannah Bassham.

"We already know we'll lose Erica at about mid-season," Trent said. "She's having foot surgery at about mid-season. Rebecca at that point will probably slide over into the middle blocker position and I'll be looking for somebody on the JV's (Red or Black) to move up to the varsity."

Trent is looking at carrying seven on the varsity to start the season and then pick up eight or possibly nine later on.

The coach said that passing looks like a strength for this year's team.

"For the first time, I can say passing looks like it's one of their strengths early on," Trent said. "They're an enthusiastic group. Their defense is probably equal to what they've seen in the past. They're a scrappy bunch of individuals. They're all over the floor and it's got to be an actual kill on the other team's part for the other team to score."

Experience appears to be a weakness however.

"Experience is probably always a weakness," Trent said. "We may be young for a couple of years yet to come. Yesterday (Tuesday), during scrimmage, the weakness that stood out was serving, which never happens with this bunch. The serving was not up to its usual standards. I had players last year serving 95-96 percent. Yesterday, we were probably serving 60 percent. We also need to get the timing down on our hitting."

One thing that won't change for the Lady Wolves is district travel. That's because the district competition consists of Plains and Tahoka. Trent says both of those teams look quite tough indeed.

"It looks tight," Trent said. "Plains has been to 14 or 15 state tournaments. Tahoka will have a real strong middle hitter. We've seen them in the Denver City Tournament in years past. We split with them last year."

"The playoff picture looks extremely good," Trent said. "Region I (2A) is wide open. Hutto, which won this region a year ago, won the state championship, has

rough time at nationals

HERALD staff report

Times continue to go rough for Big Spring's Christina Gwyn and the Everman Cowgirls softball team at the American Softball Association 16 and Under National Tournament in Garland.

The Cowgirls defeated the Texans by a 4-3 score in the first game, but then fell to Oklahoma Intensity by a score of 7-3 Thursday.

Gwyn pitched for the Cowgirls in the Texan contest. She struck out 11 while walking one. She gave up four hits, but the Everman defense let her down somewhat as it committed three errors to make the game closer than it actually was. At the plate, she didn't get a hit, but she did score the run that tied the game in the sixth inning.

Things then went south for the Cowgirls after that as they then fell to Oklahoma Intensity. Four unearned runs allowed the opposition to win.

However, Everman wasn't without its chances. The Cowgirls loaded the bases with none out in the seventh, but didn't get any runs across.

Gwyn and the Cowgirls play again at 7 p.m. today.

Cowboys camp may move to the Rio Grande Valley

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — This time next week, the Dallas Cowboys will pack their bags and close their third training camp at Midwestern State University.

They're not likely to return for a fourth.

Cowboys owner Jerry Jones has been in serious negotiations to hold the monthlong preseason practices in a new development outside McAllen starting in 2001.

While South Texas appears to be the frontrunner, Jones insists the race isn't over.

"There are several issues that have to be resolved before you really got down to the wire," Jones said Thursday. "They're doing a great job and could easily, perspective be where we might end up. But last year, as it turned out, the best place for us was here. That could happen again."

Representatives from the Rio Grande Valley Regional Sports Authority and Hidalgo County toured the Midwestern setup Wednesday and Thursday, taking notes on how things are done and getting ideas for their new facilities.

"At the moment, what we can say is we are pleased with the progress being made," said Jim Oberwetter, a vice president for Hunt Valley Development, which owns the potential training camp site. "But not all the agreements that need to be signed have been completed. Until they are, we really don't have anything further to say."

Another candidate appeared to join the mix Thursday. A representative for several California sites was part of the Midwestern tour, which Jones said proves the competition is ongoing.

"I really like what the people in McAllen are doing, but the facts are that there is no deal as we stand here today," he said. "We certainly have within our management thoughts and an inclination about which way we might go, but that's just on our side of it. That doesn't include what the areas that we're looking at might be willing to do."

Astros lose big again to Mets, 10-3, Thursday

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mike Piazza was 4-for-4 and drove in four runs, and Robin Ventura also had four RBIs as New York routed Houston 10-3.

Jay Payton homered and had an RBI single, and Bobby J. Jones (7-5) won his third straight start to help the Mets complete a 5-2 road trip. New York closed with-in 2 1/2 games of NL East-leading Atlanta, the closest the Mets have been since July 2.

In the only other National League games Thursday, St.

Louis beat Colorado 5-4 and San Diego routed Philadelphia 15-3.

As for the American League, New York took down Oakland, 12-6, Toronto routed Kansas City 15-7, Seattle beat Chicago 6-3, Tampa Bay defeated Minnesota 10-4 and Detroit pounded Baltimore 14-3.

Houston's Jeff Bagwell homered twice, giving him 31 this season. He's the first Astros player to hit 30 homers in five consecutive seasons. Houston has hit a team-record 16 homers this season, one more than last year.

Tony McKnight lost in his major league debut.

Cardinals 5, Rockies 4

A long at-bat in the seventh inning got Jim Edmonds' sweet swing clicking again.

After some earlier failures, Edmonds hit a game-winning double in the ninth as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Colorado Rockies 5-4 Thursday. The Cardinals survived after wasting a late two-run lead for the second straight game.

Edmonds entered the game in a 2-for-13 slump, and he stranded five runners in two at-bats early in the game. The turning point came when the left-handed hitting Edmonds fouled off several pitches against left-hander Mike Myers in the seventh before hitting a two-out double.

Like the rest of the Cardinals, Edmonds has been affected by the absence of Mark McGwire. The NL Central leaders are 12-18 without him.

Padres 15, Phillies 3

At Philadelphia, Bret

Boone and Phil Nevin hit three-run homers as San Diego set seasons highs for hits and runs.

Desi Relaford and Joe Vitiello also homered for the Padres, who have won nine of their last 12 games. San Diego had 19 hits, including nine for extra bases.

Woody Williams (7-4) won for the third time in four starts, allowing three runs and six hits in six innings. Randy Wolf (9-6) was the loser for the Phillies, who suffered a rather rough defeat in front of their fans..

Old mammogram films help doctors find anything new

DEAR ABBY: I am a mammography technologist. Please help me tell mammogram patients how important it is for them to bring in their old mammogram films when they go to a new X-ray office for this test.

Only if the radiologist who reads the films has the old ones for comparison can he or she determine if the shadows are old or new. Without those films for comparison, the patient may have to undergo more mammography X-rays, and perhaps also a biopsy that might have been avoided had the old films been available to the doctor.

Because of changing insurance, it is not always possible for women to have mammograms done at the same place every time. A patient needs only to keep track of where her mammograms were taken so she can call and ask about the procedure for releasing the films to her. The films will be at the X-ray office where they were taken, not at her doctor's office. If she can't remember, her doctor should be able to tell her.

Don't let anyone tell you that mammograms aren't necessary! - HOLLY GORDON, FOUNTAIN VALLEY, CALIF.

DEAR HOLLY: Thank you for giving women this important reminder, and for giving me the opportunity to reprint these recommendations from the American Cancer Society for early breast cancer detection.

- (1) Women age 40 and older should have a screening mammogram every year.
- (2) Between the ages of 20 and 39, women should have a clinical breast exam by a health professional every three years. At age 40, women should have a breast exam by a health professional every year.
- (3) Women age 20 or older should perform a breast

Good advice for everyone — teens to seniors — is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. THIS DATE IN HISTORY

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Aug. 11, the 224th day of 2000. There are 142 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Aug. 11, 1909, the SOS distress signal was first used by an American ship, the Arapahoe, off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

On this date:
In 1860, the nation's first successful silver mill began operation near Virginia City, Nev.

In 1934, the first federal prisoners arrived at the island prison Alcatraz in San Francisco Bay.

In 1942, during World War II, Vichy government official Pierre Laval publicly declared that "the hour of liberation for France is the hour when Germany wins the war."

In 1954, a formal peace took hold in Indochina, ending more than seven years of fighting between the French and Communist Vietnam.

In 1956, abstract artist Jackson Pollock died in an automobile accident in East Hampton, N.Y.

In 1962, the Soviet Union launched cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev on a 94-hour flight.

In 1965, rioting and looting that claimed 34 lives broke out in the Watts section of Los Angeles.

In 1984, President Reagan joked during a voice test for a paid political radio address that he had "signed legislation that will outlaw Russia forever. We begin bombing in five minutes."

In 1993, President Clinton named Army Gen. John Shalikashvili to be the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, succeeding Gen. Colin Powell.

In 1997, President Clinton made the first use of the historic line-item veto approved by Congress, rejecting three items in spending and tax bills.

Ten years ago: Egyptian and Moroccan troops arrived in Saudi Arabia to join U.S. forces in helping to protect the desert kingdom from possible Iraqi attack.

Five years ago: President Clinton banned all U.S. nuclear tests, calling his decision "the right step as we continue pulling back from the nuclear precipice."
