FOUND NEW WITNESS

LUNCH STAND MAN TELLS OF SEEING TWO MEN COMING FROM RIVER.

SECRET CONFERENCE HELD

Officers Conduct Secret Inquiry For New Evidence—Results Not Made Public.

City Council Offers $100 Reward. The Times is authorized by Alderman W. E. Sken to say that the city council of Wichita Falls will pay the sum of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Dr. Irl Dycus on the morning of the 28th in this city. This, with the $100 reward offered by J. L. McConkey, makes the amount $200, and it is thought the State will authorize a reward of $250.

Important developments may be made public within the next few hours in connection with the tragic death of Dr. Irl Dycus and the arrest of O. W. Robison and J. A. Norwood, who are held in jail pending a thorough investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of the young Archer City physician.

This morning a secret conference of the officials working in the case, together with District Attorney Martin, County Attorney Greenwood and Justice Brothers was held in the office of Judge Scurry.

A number of persons who are believed to know facts connected with the case, were brought before the conference and subjected to an examination.

The exact nature of the testimony of these witnesses is not known, as the conference was held in secret and the officials say they have no information to make public. However, it is known that several witnesses whose testimony had not been taken at the public inquest, were closeted with the officials this morning.

A witness whose testimony may be of great importance and whose story, if true, appears very damaging to the two men now under arrest, is John Vandiver, who conducts a lunch stand at the O. K. wagon yard on Indiana avenue.

Mr. Vandiver told a newspaper man this morning that he saw two men pass his place coming from the direction of the Wichita river at about 4 o'clock Tuesday morning. He further says that they were accosted by a man who came out of the wagon yard and appeared to be questioning them. Mr. Vandiver further states that he saw Norwood, one of the men under arrest, while the latter was being taken through the court yard between the jail and the court house yesterday and believes that he was one of the two men he saw pass his place Tuesday morning.

Norwood, in his statement before the inquest Tuesday afternoon says that he and Robison went to his room at the Mansion hotel a short time after they were last seen at the pool hall. This is regarded as evidence of the highest importance.

It is stated upon good authority that two other witnesses, who have not been known in the case, one from Burkhurnett and the other from Seymour, will be brought here for examination today.

It is also rumored that the Fort Worth and Denver has sent one of its detectives here to work on the case, and assist especially in securing any information that may be had from the Denver trainmen.

Harold Dycus, who was nominated for the office of county surveyor of Archer county and who returned last night from Fort Worth, where he attended his brother's funeral, is in the city and will probably remain until the investigation is concluded.

There were rumors on the street this morning that a special session of the grand jury had been called, but Judge Carrigan stated to a Times reporter this afternoon that such action was not contemplated at this time.

This morning the city council authorized the announcement that they would give $100 for the arrest and conviction of the parties guilty of the murder of Dr. Dycus. It is also reported that E. B. Carver of Archer City would give a like amount, but he could not be communicated with today to verify this report. Mr. McConkey's offer of $100, announced Tuesday, has not been withdrawn.

Local authorities had thought yes.

WILL BE RE-OPENED IN A FEW DAYS.

By Associated Press. Lenox, Mass., July 30.—The conference of government lawyers, who have been considering the trial of the Standard Oil Company broke up today. The work of again setting in motion the legal machinery of the government against the Standard Oil Company, will be taken up on a motion for a rehearing, which will be filed in Chicago in the next few days, and the arguments will be made some time during August.

COTTON PROMISES YIELD OF OVER SALE TO THE ACRE.

J. M. Isley left his cotton field long enough today to put on his Sunday clothes and look after business down town.

Mr. Isley has one of the best fields of cotton in this section, but has been kept quite busy fighting the weeds.

One field of about 31 acres on the Bateson farm in the valley east of town is especially good and Mr. Isley's neighbors say that it will yield not less than a bale to the acre. There is a good stand on this field and the cotton stalks will hide a man's body up to the chin.

The stalks now bear from 40 to 70 bolls and squares and yesterday some of the bolls were breaking open.

No injurious insects have appeared and the only enemies that Mr. Isley now has to combat are the weeds.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of extending our thanks to the friends who so generously ministered unto us during our recent bereavement. Such acts of kindness are not to be forgotten by us. We sincerely trust that God's richest blessings may rest upon you all. Very sincerely,

J. J. Nicholson and family, W. F. Jourdan and family, John W. Gray and family, S. T. Anderson and family.

BRYAN COMMENTS ON LEAGUE PLATFORM

By Associated Press. Lincoln, Neb., July 30.—Although the heat was oppressive, Mr. Bryan was early at work in his office today.

After reading the Independence League platform, he said that it contained a number of planks identical with the democratic platform and believed the voter who favors the Independence party merely assists the republicans to defeat the reforms in which he is interested.

SULTAN PROCLAIMS A GENERAL AMNESTY.

By Associated Press. New York, July 30.—The sultan of Turkey today proclaimed a general amnesty to all political refugees, regardless of race. This affects 200,000 Americans and others in the United States.

EX-GOV. OF CALIFORNIA DIED AT STOCKTON TODAY.

Stockton, Cal., July 30.—James Budd, a former governor of California and a prominent democratic politician, died in this city today.

About a week ago Mrs. E. W. Morris was bitten by an insect, either a spider or a mosquito, on her right wrist, and a few days later inflammation developed and the arm became painfully swollen up to the elbow.

Dr. Miller & Walker have moved their offices from the Ward building, corner of Ohio avenue and Eighth street, across the street to a suite of rooms in the new postoffice building. Those requiring their professional services will govern themselves accordingly.

2 KILLED IN CLASH DAVIDSON GAINING

PENSACOLA SHERIFF AND HIS DEPUTIES RESIST MOB BENT ON HANGING NEGRO.

REPULSE FIRST ATTEMPT DODGED LAWYER ISSUE

Second Effort of Mob of 1,000 Persons Was Successful and Black Brute Was Hanged.

By Associated Press. Pensacola, Fla., July 30.—Two killed and nine wounded, some of them fatally, is the record of the clash between a mob bent on lynching Leander Shaw, the negro who yesterday brutally assaulted Mrs. Lillian Davis near here, and the sheriff and his forces. The mob finally overpowered the sheriff's forces and lynched the negro in the most prominent park in the city about midnight last night.

Two attacks were made on the jail, the first being repulsed, but the second attack, which was made by a mob of a thousand people, was successful, the negro being dragged for two blocks and strung to an electric light pole in the center of the park, where fully 2,000 bullets riddled his body.

The dead are Henry Kelley Morgan and "Bud" Nichols, a planter. Among the wounded are Jailer Easton and Sheriff Van Pelt.

The body of Shaw was cut down this morning. Mrs. Davis, whose throat was cut by the negro, is yet alive, but it is said that she cannot recover. Her babe, which was struck by the negro, it is said will recover.

State Fair Poultry Show.

Special to the Times. Dallas, Tex., July 30.—Fred F. Sliney, director of the poultry department of the State Fair of Texas for the twenty-third annual meet, October 17 to November 1, predicts the greatest exhibition of fine birds this year in the history of the southwest.

Workmen are overhauling the poultry building preparatory to installing a large number of empire coops, ordered by the directors at their first meeting this year. When this work is completed the best of accommodations will be offered for the exhibition of at least three thousand birds. Already letters are pouring in indicating that this capacity will be taxed to the utmost.

Offerings in the way of premiums and awards this year are materially increased. The first premium prize will be $7.50 instead of $5.00, and the second $4.00 instead of $2.50. The association will offer $75.00 for the best parti-colored pen and $75.00 for the best solid-colored pen.

In addition to those offered heretofore, there will be special prizes in the turkey department. Large wire cages will be installed in the center of the building for the exhibition of this class of poultry. The cages are of a special make used for the first time in Texas for exhibition purposes.

Fanciers of the State express gratification at the ruling of the association allowing exhibitors in the poultry department to change their birds after the first week of the fair. This will serve to make the exhibition of a higher class than ever before, as many exhibitors have stayed away in the past on account of the fact that it is injurious to the birds to keep them cooped up for sixteen days.

The catalogue is now completed and ready for distribution and will be sent to those interested upon receipt of request.

Attorney General Has Lead of Over Twelve Thousand Ahead of Wynne.

Voters Side Step Submission Question, Causing Comparatively Light Vote to be Cast.

Houston, Tex., July 29.—There is very little that is new in the totals from last Saturday's primaries. The figures on the attorney general's race remain about the same, with Davidson some 12,000 in the lead, which is a gain over the preceding day. The figures are:

Davidson, 118,528; Wynne, 106,548.

The figures on submission show that the vote was not nearly so heavy as had been anticipated. The general opinion was that the prohibition issue would bring a vote from practically every suffragan, but several thousand of them have dodged the issue and have not voted on the submission matter. As the totals now stand, submission has 84,857 and the anti have 87,736, which shows a submission gain as the more complete returns have come in.

J. L. Wortham has raised the point that the Terrell law clearly required that in order to become a party demand an issue must have a majority of all the votes cast at the election, and not alone a majority of the votes cast on the issue. If he be right in his contentions, submission has been defeated by a large majority, through the failure of the voters who dodged the issue to declare themselves. However, such a construction would compel every voter who failed to vote on the issue to be counted as being opposed to the issue, even though he didn't vote.

EX-GOV. LANHAM DEAD AT WEATHERFORD.

Weatherford, Tex., July 29.—Following a remarkable rally, which so impressed the members of his family that they expressed hopes for his recovery, former Gov. S. W. T. Lanham weakened tonight and passed peacefully to the other world at 11:25 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. M. K. Little, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will hold the service, which will take place at the Lanham family home here Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

Present when Gov. Lanham died were his children, with the exception of Frank Lanham, who was en route to this city from Fort Worth. A life long friend to the late governor, Alex. Rawlins, was also present.

Shown Strength During Day.

This morning Gov. Lanham rallied. Evidences of what was hoped would be a recovery, so that his life would be spared at least for several years to come, were noticed in his requests for nourishment. A little later in the morning the governor asked for his spectacles, put them on and directed that the morning paper be brought to him. During the day he talked pleasantly with various members of the family.

It was not until some time after sunset that he showed any symptoms of sinking. Growing weaker about 10 o'clock, Gov. Lanham seemed to realize that his end was a matter of a few hours. Calmly he gave directions that his sons, Dr. H. M. Lanham of Waco, Edwin Lanham of Weatherford and Fritz Lanham, and his daughter, Mrs. Ed. Connor of Dallas, who were at home, remain at his bedside, saying that the end of his earthly career was near.

His Passing Away Peaceful.

The governor's mind was perfectly collected and he remained conscious to the last. The end was peaceful. He did not suffer great pain and died with a smile on his lips. During his last illness which followed the shock attendant upon the death of Mrs. Lanham, Gov. Lanham lost greatly in weight. His face was grown much thinner and his frame rather emaciated, but with wonderful vitality for a man of his years, his mind was clear and his wit keen to the last hour of his eventful life.

In the death of Gov. Lanham, the trio of living ex-governors of the State of Texas is broken. There are now but two living men who were formerly chief executives of the State—Charles A. Culberson, now United States senator, and Hon. Joseph D. Sayers.

BRYAN SUPPORTED CRISP.

Denies That He Voted Against Southern for Speaker of House.

Americus, Ga., July 29.—Judge C. R. Crisp, son of the former speaker of the United States house of representatives, has received a letter from William J. Bryan with reference to the charge that Mr. Bryan failed to support Mr. Crisp's father for speaker of the house. Mr. Bryan says that while he voted for Mr. Springer in the caucus, as he lived in Springer's district and had promised to support him, he had voted for Crisp when the election was held in the house. After reviewing his reasons for going back on voting for Mr. Springer, Mr. Bryan says:

"Nothing but the most malignant enmity can account for the circulation of the charge that I am prejudiced against the Southern democrats. Every Southern man with whom I have served in congress is able to contradict this. I have no more loyal friends than those men from the Southern States. I have insisted for years that it does not matter where the candidates come from, but that what he stands for should determine his selection."

BOYS FOUND MAN'S BODY IN A POOL

FAMILY OF J. E. McCALL AFFLICTED WITH FEVER.

Mrs. J. E. McCall died Tuesday evening at her home on the Clay and Wichita county line, about four miles east of town, after an illness with typhoid fever. The funeral service was held at the Baptist church at about half past three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the service being conducted by Rev. T. R. Bowles. The body was held to rest in Riverside cemetery, beside the grave of her daughter, who died just a month ago from the same malady.

Mr. McCall's family has been sorely afflicted by the fever, and three sons are now reported bedfast, two of them being seriously ill.

Another Man Robbed.

Jerry Sullivan, a section man on the Wichita Falls and Northwestern, reported to the officers last night that he had been robbed of three ten dollar bills in a beer saloon in the Mulberry Row district. Sullivan was under the influence of liquor at the time he claims to have been robbed and there is no clue as to the identity of the men who robbed him.

Dan Thornberry, who has been sick with the typhoid fever at his home at the corner of Travis avenue and Ninth street, is now on the road to recovery and is able to sit up.

SURVEYS DEPOT SITE

KATY CIVIL ENGINEER HERE TO SURVEY GROUND FOR NEW UNION STATION.

OFFICIALS ARE COMING

Vice President and General Manager of M. K. and T. and Other Officials Expected Today.

Engineer J. D. Reagan of the engineering corps of the M. K. and T. railway, was here yesterday surveying the site of the proposed new union passenger station, to be used jointly by the M. K. and T., the Wichita Falls and Northwestern and the Wichita Falls and Southern railroads. As was announced several weeks ago, the new union station is to be located on Eighth street, back of the new post-office building.

It was learned yesterday that it was planned to move the present station several rods east from its present location, after the new station is completed, and use it for a freight receiving and storage house.

Details of the plans for the new building have not been given out, but it is said that the new station will be built on a scale not only large enough to conveniently handle the heavy passenger traffic that is now carried by the three roads named, but will be built large enough to accommodate a large increase in the passenger business, which the railroad officials believe is certain to come within the next few years.

This afternoon the vice president and general manager of the system, A. A. Allen of St. Louis, and other officials of the Katy system, are expected to arrive on Mr. Allen's private car, and it is expected that the visit of these officials will result in a definite announcement concerning the new station.

DO YOU WANT TO MAKE OR LOSE MONEY THIS SUMMER?

There is no good reason for any "summer dullness" in the stores of this city. That's a strong statement—but it's not nearly so strong as the one to follow. ¶ No store in this city ever suffered from summer dullness that was not directly traceable to its advertising policy—that was not inevitable on account of its advertising policy. This is a strong statement—but not so strong as the one to follow. ¶ You—if you who read this are a merchant in this city—have the absolute power to decide whether, during this summer, your store shall lag and lose ground, through encouraging the non-buying habit in the people—or shall keep as busy as in the so-called "busy seasons." You decide the matter one way or the other when you decide on how much or how little you will ADVERTISE during these summer months. ? ? ? ? ?

TO REALLY "GAIN GROUND" AT A TIME WHEN SOME STORES ARE LAGGING AND FALLING BACK IS NOT ONLY POSSIBLE—IT IS AN ASPIRATION WORTHY OF AN ENERGETIC MERCHANT WHO HAS THE HABIT OF ACCOMPLISHING HIS PURPOSE. : : :

Early Lamps and Wicks.

It would be hazardous to conjecture what the first wick consisted of, but when we come to consider the iron lamp, or "crucible," we know that the wick commonly used was the pith of the rush, which was gathered and partially stripped of its outer green covering, cut into proper lengths, dried and tied up into bundles ready for use. The iron lamp was hammered out of one piece of iron in a stone mold. This was usually done by the blacksmith, and the molds are still to be seen in museums, in the hands of private collectors and no doubt at some of the country blacksmiths' shops. They are of one uniform shape, with some slight varieties. The lamp consists of two cups, one suspended above and inside the other. The suspender is so fixed and notched as to enable the upper cup, which holds the oil and wick, to be shifted to keep the oil constantly in contact with the wick. The lower cup catches the drip of the oil, which can be easily replaced in the upper cup by lifting it off until the oil is poured into it. The upper cup has sometimes a movable lid.—Chambers' Journal.

Carnegie's First Investment.

It was due to Thomas A. Scott that Andrew Carnegie made his first investment, ten shares of stock in the Adams Express company, valued at $500. This he did with considerable trepidation. He had labored hard for the money, he had saved up while he had worked as a telegrapher. It is part of railroad history how he later fell in with the inventor of the sleeping car, saw the enormous advantages which that manner of travel held out to passenger and promoters and how he interested others in the invention of Mr. Woodruff. This occurred shortly after his return from Washington, when the problems of transportation were still uppermost in his mind. He was now on the road to success and wealth as he then pictured earthly possessions. The Pennsylvania oil fields yielded large returns when Carnegie and others turned their energies in the direction of the newly discovered territory. In one year land purchased for $40,000 increased in value so that it paid a dividend of 112,000.—Beverage.

The Old Master.

Mistress (to new servant)—I must impress upon you, when you go to the dining room, not to try to get the dirt off the 'Old Master' with a wet rag, but use a dry, soft cloth only. Servant—Mercy on us, marm; be I to wash the master?—London Tatler.

The world is dying for want not of good preaching, but of good hearing.—Boardman.

Nature and the Barnacle.

In the barnacle we have a unique and wonderful case of a creature that can afford as age comes on to dispense with the eyesight that was so useful in youth. For the young and old barnacle are as different one from the other as fishes from seaweed. In the heyday of life the barnacle swims about the sea, seeking its food with the aid of its eyes and generally leading a roaming existence. Later in life, however, it grows tired of this aimless wandering and settles down to worry ships' captains by attaching itself to the keel of their craft and defying the much advertised powers of various preventive paints. Once, then, the barnacle has become a fixture, whether on ships or shores, its eyesight is of no more use. It cannot seek its food, and it cannot shun its foes, for it never more will move. Therefore its eyes become superfluous and, according to nature's invariable rule in such cases, disappear.

Lived to Fight Another Day.

Frederick the Great simply lost his head at Molwitz, his first battle. Had he not been a king it is safe to say that he would have been shot at the next sunrise. In the heat of the carnage he got an idea that the army under his command was being overwhelmed, so he put the spurs to his horse and dashed headlong among his soldiers. He rode many miles before he stopped in his wild flight. Late at night he was discovered hiding in an old mill, awaiting, as he thought, capture by the enemy. Then he discovered that the army he deserted had won the battle. As Frederick was a prince, everybody tried to forget the incident just as quickly as possible, and after that, when the king went to war, he was just as brave as any other soldier.

ABOUT THE NEGRO VOTE.

That those callers on Mr. Bryan who have advised him that in certain of the doubtful States of the Middle West there is the possibility of a considerable defection of negro voters from the republican party whose support may be secured for the democratic ticket, have reasonable grounds for reaching such conclusion, finds confirmation in the determination of the republican campaign committee to at once establish headquarters in those States, and that active campaigning for Taft and Sherman be commenced long before they ordinarily begin such work.

Included in the list of States where an active campaign will immediately be inaugurated are Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

It is to be presumed that in thus prematurely precipitating the campaign, there is threatened defection in the ranks of those heretofore affiliating with the party, outside of the negro which has alarmed those charged with the responsibility of electing Mr. Taft; but it may be taken for granted that in the States of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois the first work of importance to be undertaken will be the pacification of the negro vote, which the g. o. p. feels that it has the vested right to vote as a political asset belonging exclusively to itself. Hence the party managers may be expected to resist to the last extremity any attempt to transfer it to different possession and control.

That the republican managers know what they are about, this move clearly demonstrates, notwithstanding their present disquiet over the situation. Democrats who thoroughly understand negro nature will not bank to any great extent on negro support of the democratic ticket, still they rather enjoy seeing the effect these discussions between Mr. Bryan and his callers is having on republican leaders, already intensely exercised at the growing prospect of being shut out from the public crib.

No doubt Mr. Bryan himself, in the exercise of his remarkable tactical ability, gets a deep sense of humor out of seeing the republicans hurrying to the front, with the thermometer hanging around 100, in order to save the negro votes in the States where it is most needed.

So long as he can manage to keep them occupied with holding this vote in line, their ability to do harm in other sections is lessened.—Houston Post.

Reading a Horse's Face.

Every horse carries an index to his temper and intelligence in his face. The teachable, tractable animal is broad and flat between the eyes; the bony ridge of his face dishes slightly from the point where the face narrows toward the nostrils. His ears are well set, sensitive and far apart, with a well defined ridge of bone extending across the top of the head between them. Always feel for this ridge in judging a horse. The eye should be large, clear and bright, with a prominent ridge of bone along the inner and upper edge of the socket.—London Answers.

Where Swallows Go.

The swallows all spend the winter in Central America and the south part of Mexico. They appear in the southern states as early as the middle of February, but seldom get as far north as New England until the month of May. The robins winter in the southern states and in northern Mexico. They are to be seen in flocks the winter through the gulf states.—Exchange.

Over 2500 assesment orders have gone to pieces in the United States, leaving more than Thirteen Million of their members without insurance.

The average age of these orders was less than 15 years. Yet in the face of these facts, people continue to join the same kind of concerns in the year 1908 and think they have their lives insured.

In truth, these concerns furnish only temporary protection. The law forbids them to guarantee the amount you are to pay or the amount to be paid at death.

Never Lose Sight of This.

A legal reserve insurance company which faithfully accumulates, securely invests and honestly handles the mathematical reserve contemplated by its plan of organization and required by the insurance laws of the several States, cannot fail.

It cannot fail because the system upon which it is founded is mathematically correct, sure in its operation as the multiplication table itself.

It is as certain to fulfill its contracts to the last as that two and two are four; as certain as that an accumulation of one hundred cents will settle on obligation of one dollar.

If a legal reserve company has failed at any time in the past, it was not because of any defect of the legal reserve system, but because it had departed in some vital particular from the requirements of that system—a thing practically impossible under the new legal reserve laws of New York, the most exacting ever enacted.

An assesment company, whether a fraternal society or a private association, which conducts its business economically and efficiently, which faithfully accounts for all receipts and honestly disburses the same, and which securely invests the meager emergency fund accumulated in its earlier years, is nevertheless bound ultimately to fail.

It is bound to fail because the system upon which it is founded is mathematically wrong.

It is bound to fail because two and two are four and not seven; because the requirements of the multiplication table are inexorable as death itself; because the rates are too low to permit of the accumulation, when members are young, of a fund sufficient to provide for the higher mortality that must come with increasing age.

Though its business be managed economically and its affairs administered honestly, it is nevertheless bound to fail ultimately, because it is not possible for even honesty and economy and upright purpose to pay an obligation of one dollar with an accumulation of thirty cents.—Mutual Interests.

How Could She Do It?

The homely forms of speech used by the country people with whom little Edith and her mother boarded last summer were frequently very puzzling to the child.

One evening the farmer's wife, in talking for a few minutes with Edith's mother, remarked that, as she was very tired that night, she would "go to roost with the chickens."

When Edith's bedtime arrived a little later the youngster was nowhere to be found. After considerable search she was discovered sitting on a large stone near the chicken house, quietly watching the fowl as they came in one by one.

"Edith," called her mother, "what are you doing there? I've been looking for you everywhere; it's time to go to bed."

"I know, mother," was the reply, "but they're nearly all in now, so she'll be here soon, I guess."

"Who are in and who will be there? What on earth are you talking about, child?" asked the mystified mother.

"Why," explained Edith, rather impatiently, "you know Mrs. — said she was going to roost with the chickens tonight, and I'm waiting to see how she does it."

Eating Test For Cooks.

In a certain employment agency ten cooks out of a job waited one afternoon last week for a situation to turn up. Presently a well-gowned woman who was short of servants applied at the desk for the desired help. The manager referred her to the ten cooks. The woman interviewed each of them in turn with unsatisfactory results.

"Not one of them," she explained to the manager of the agency, "likes to eat the things that we like."

"But what difference does that make?" asked the manager. "They are no doubt good girls for all that."

"Yet they wouldn't suit me," the woman replied decisively. "My family have very pronounced tastes in cookery, and my experience has taught me that only a cook who likes the same dishes that we like can prepare them satisfactorily. That is a matter of simple common sense. It stands to reason that any dish a cook likes will turn out better than one she doesn't like; consequently I will do the work myself till I find a girl whose tastes agree with ours."—Philadelphia Ledger.

On the Verge of Prostration.

"What else have you got?" asked Cholly, looking languidly over the bill of fare for something to tempt his jaded appetite.

"Well," replied the waitress, "we have hot biscuits too."

"That'll do," said Cholly, resting his intellect by tossing the bill of fare aside. "Bring me a hot biscuit stew."—Chicago Tribune.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

There would be far less complaint on account of the heat if people would be careful of their summer diet. Those who eat sparingly are far more comfortable than those blessed with a tremendous appetite, and, above all things, avoid a heavy, hot midday meal while the present weather continues.

The clever housekeeper and one who studies the family comfort will plan all sorts of cold dishes and cold drinks for her household. If you are trying to keep cool, the very first thing to remember is to avoid the heavy, rich foods that are only intended for cold-weather meals.

Cool Food.

Savory Tongue Creams.—Six ounces of cooked tongue, three ounces of cooked chicken, half a tablespoonful of powdered gelatine, half a cupful of white sauce, three small tomatoes, one tablespoonful of chutney, a few drops of red coloring, salt and paprika to taste, some tomato jelly, some aspic jelly, parsley and lettuce.

Coat some wet molds with liquid tomato jelly, then let it set. Mix the gelatine with one gill of the tomato jelly, dissolve and strain. Chop finely the tongue and chicken, add tomato, pound them till smooth, add white sauce, chutney, salt and paprika, rub through a sieve, add the gelatine and coloring. Divide this mixture into the molds. Turn out when firm and garnish with parsley, lettuce and chopped aspic jelly.

Veal Mousse.—Line a wet mold with liquid aspic jelly, ornament with fancy shapes of truffle; then set away in a cool place. Dissolve one heaping tablespoonful of boiling water. Chop two cupfuls of cooked veal; then pound it, gradually add one cupful of veal stock heated to steaming point. Rub through a sieve, add the gelatine, one teaspoonful of onion juice, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, allow to cool, then fold in half a cupful of whipped cream, stir till it begins to set, then pour into the prepared mold.

Gateau of Cherries.—Dissolve two heaping teaspoonfuls of powdered gelatine in half a cup of boiling water. Put three heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, one cupful of cold water, rind and strained juice of one lemon into a saucepan, boil for twenty minutes, strain, add a few drops of red coloring, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, one pound of stoned cherries and gelatine. Mix well and pour into a wet mold. Turn out when set.

Cheese Salad.—Put a tablespoonful of Lucca olive oil and the yolk of one hard-boiled egg into a basin, and beat them together with a wooden spoon. Next add half a teaspoonful of salt and quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Work these well in, then add one teaspoonful of sugar and one teaspoonful of made mustard. Grate half a pound of cheese and add it, and mix well together. Lastly sprinkle in two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Pile the mixture in some scallop shells and arrange a pretty border of lettuce leaves around each.

Novel Luncheon Favors.

For a college girl or man's luncheon, bonbon or nut baskets may be made by cutting out cardboard canoes, covering them with crepe paper in the leading college color and decorating them with the college letters in the other college color. A pennant for the boat may be made of paper applique with the college letters. Slender place cards will serve as oars. Two pieces of the cardboard shaped like a canoe and sewed together will serve for the foundation.

Preserving Hints.

Preserving time, falling as it does in hot weather, is not a specially enviable occupation; therefore, it should be done with as little discomfort as possible.

Don't wait until the heat of the day to get at it. It is better to rise at 5 or 6 o'clock and enjoy a nap with a clear conscience later. Some women do not finish their preserving until evening from lack of an early start.

See that your fruit is absolutely fresh. If bought from a reliable dealer much waste is avoided.

Do not dump fruit into scales or kettle without picking it over; one or two spoiled pieces will ruin an entire lot of preserves.

Weigh, don't guess, in measuring, or at least weigh the first lot, put into a measure of some sort and see just how far that quantity reaches. The remaining fruit and sugar can be gauged by that at a saving of time.

See that you have plenty of sugar in the house. It is never wasted, while waiting to send to the grocer's in the midst of work is temper-trying.

Boiling sugar and water before the fruit is put in makes more delicate preserves. The fruit itself need not be kept so long. More can be done at a time in this way.

Skim carefully the first boil if you would have clear preserves. There is an art in skimming; some cooks waste much of the syrup by going needlessly deep.

Rinse out the jelly tumblers with hot soda water before using, later rinsing with clear water.

A pound to a pound is the usual proportion of fruit and sugar in preserve making. Both must be of the best quality if good results are to be had.

Be sure that the preserves are sealed from the air. Let the steam escape and the fruit cool before tying up.

There has been especial improvement on the old-fashioned method of putting paper dipped in brandy over the fruit and then tying it with paper lids.

Pouring melted paraffine over the top of preserves is also good. Care must be taken that there is a thick layer with no holes or thin places. Tin lids or screw tops can be used with this.

Canned Pineapple.

Remove the skin and eyes from the pineapple; then cut in half-inch slices, and slice in cubes, at the same time discarding the core. Follow directions for canning. Pineapples may be shredded and cooked in one-half their weight of sugar without water, and then put in jars. When put up this way they are useful for making sherbets and fancy desserts.

Spiced Currants.

Seven pounds currants, 5 pounds of brown sugar, 3 tablespoonsful cinnamon, 3 tablespoons cloves, 1 pint vinegar. Pick over currants, wash, drain and remove stems; put in a preserving kettle, add sugar, vinegar and spices, tied in a piece of muslin; heat to boiling point and cook slowly 1 1/2 hours; store in a stone jar and keep in a cool place. Spiced currants are fine with cold meats.

Preserve Melon Rind.

Pare and cut in strips the rind of ripe melons. Soak in alum water to cover, allowing two teaspoons powder.

ed alum to each quart of water. Heat gradually to boiling point and cook slowly ten minutes. Drain, cover with ice water and let stand two hours. Again drain and dry between towels. Weigh, allow one pound of sugar to each pound of fruit and one cup water to each pound sugar. Boil sugar and water ten minutes, add melon rind and cook until tender. Remove rind to stone jar and cover with syrup. Two lemons cut in slices may be cooled ten minutes in the syrup.

Ripe Tomato Pickle.

Three plants tomatoes (peeled and chopped), 1 cup chopped celery, 4 tablespoons chopped peppers, 4 tablespoons chopped onions, 4 table spoons salt, 6 table spoons sugar, 6 table spoons mustard seed, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tea spoon grated nutmeg, 2 cups vinegar. Mix ingredients in order given. Put in stone jar and cover. This uncooked mixture must stand one week before using, but may be kept a year.

Cucumber Pickles.

The way I put my cucumbers for sour pickles is this: Salt and water, to make a brine that will float an egg, not using only just enough salt for that purpose. Wash cucumbers and place in brine with a weight on them to keep them under. If a scum arises skim as you put the cucumbers in from time to time. When wanted for use wash and pour boiling water to cover them and let stand about three-quarters of an hour. Scald sufficient vinegar to cover and when the water is cool pour off and cover with the vinegar, which must be boiling. They are generally ready for use by supper time if placed in the vinegar in the morning, and are very good. I sometimes spice the vinegar and sweeten it.

WANTED—Subscribers for the Times

To the Lovers of Good Coffee

WE WISH to advise you that we have installed in our store a New Royal Electric Coffee mill, which is being placed on the market by the A. J. Deer Co., of Buffalo, N. Y. It cuts the coffee, thereby increasing the quality 20 per cent over the old style mills that crush the coffee.

This New Electric Coffee Mill is equipped with knives of razor sharpness, and cuts the berries into uniform particles (doesn't crush or grind it), and the little oil cells remain unbroken. The oil known as Caffeone cannot evaporate, and is preserved indefinitely. This is one reason why a pound of coffee cut in this mill will make from ten to twelve cups more of full strength coffee than will the same coffee ground in the old way. But the main thing about this mill is that you can have your coffee cut as fine as the finest sand, and it will still be free from that fine dust that is produced by the old method of grinding, therefore you will always have a clear cup of coffee, instead of the muddy effects which are the result of the old method of grinding.

Royal Electric Cut Coffee is especially adapted for percolators or French drip coffee pots.

Without attempting to be technical, we will give you some reasons why this is true: Raw coffee is chemically changed in the roasting. The most important chemical change is the formation of an oil known as Caffeone, produced from the elements in the original state. It is this oil which gives the rich and appetizing flavor to the roasted coffee. Scientific experiments have established the fact that the only way to extract the Caffeone satisfactorily is to bring the infusion to the boiling point, and allow it to simmer for a few minutes—according to the degree of fineness to which the particles have been granulated. The method of simply pouring boiling water through pulverized coffee fails to extract a large part of the coffee strength. When you boil this pulverized or powdered coffee,

THIS IS THE MILL THAT CUTS THE COFFEE

The Most Up-to-Date Mill in the World.

It yields readily all its Caffeone, but the result is a muddy infusion which will not settle, and muddy coffee is condemned on sight on account of its appearance, its disagreeable sensation in the mouth, and even more because of the injurious effect of taking into the stomach the small insoluble particles held in suspension in the liquid. These are the reasons why the use of pulverized coffee is being discontinued. So with the old Mill that crushes the Coffee.

It is impossible to make a perfect drink from Coffee ground in the old way, where dust and coffee are mixed with particles of all sizes, large and small. The same principle of boiling or baking potatoes—the small ones are cooked too much before the large ones are half done. The Caffeone is all extracted from the small particles before the large have yielded their full strength. As soon as the Caffeone is extracted, the grounds are of no value as a food product, and if you continue the boiling, that causes the unpleasant woody taste which destroys the pure coffee flavor. To get the greatest efficiency from each particle of coffee all must be of nearly the same size. This is what the Royal Electric Mill does for you, by a new cutting process which accomplishes the purpose completely, leaving nothing more to be desired.

The lover of good coffee finds here a richness of flavor never found in coffee ground in the ordinary way at any price. This is the first element of real goodness, but in addition it will appeal to all who have the management of the household on the score of economy and health. When the prudent housewife stops to figure the cost, she will buy Royal Electric cut coffee, because it is granulated into very fine, clean particles all of the same size, which give their full strength uniformly, and because of the absence of other flavors to be overcome. This is no idle boast. The general rule in making coffee is to use six parts of water to one of ground coffee; by having your coffee cut in the New Royal Electric Mill the same strength is obtained by using one part of coffee to nine parts of water. This is where you get your ten to twelve cups more of coffee to the pound.
