Parker's Name Listed Among Commission Candidates

PETITION WITH 40 NAMES ON IT FILED ON MONDAY

Only 35 Candidates On Ballot as List Closed

SULPHUR SPRINGS, June 5. (U.P.)—The name of R. D. Parker was listed today among candidates for state railroad commissioner that will appear on the democratic primary ballot.

J. K. Brim, chairman of the state democratic committee, said a petition bearing 40 names was filed last night for Parker's candidacy. Parker, director of the commission's fight against the oil in East Texas, said yesterday he was not a candidate.

BALLOT SHORTER THAN IN YEARS

HOUSTON, June 5. (U.P.)—The democratic primary ballot for July 23 will be the shortest in years. Only 35 candidates had filed for state offices by last midnight when the list closed.

LIFE SENTENCE REDUCED BY MA

AUSTIN, June 5. (U.P.)—The life sentence of J. R. Silver, convicted of robbery and assault in the slaying of Roscoe Wilson, Fort Worth theatre treasurer, and the theft of $3,900 in 1927, was commuted by Governor Ferguson today to fifteen years.

Mountain Climbing Disastrous to Boy

Bob Dozer, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dozer, sustained a broken arm late Saturday when he slipped and fell while climbing a mountain in the Castle Gap range near McCombs.

With a cousin, it was necessary for the boy to climb the mountain before he could be brought to Midland by automobile. The fracture, just above the wrist, was set by a Midland physician Saturday night.

Kill Ravens, Too, Suggests Co. Agent

Rabbits killed in the gathering of cars for the rabbit ear auction at Midland June 30 can be used as bait to kill ravens also, County Agent S. A. Debnam pointed out.

Employing an idea suggested by Sam Weaver, manager of the Midland Hardware company, it was decided to make the pest war a double-barreled affair. Farmers and ranchers making free poison-baited corn from the county agent.

This corn is coated with a deadly poison to any living thing, and is the latest method devised by the government for killing ravens. The ravens are sometimes too smart for strychnine poisoning, but this new chemical gets them, farmers report.

Simpson's Brother Campaigning Here

J. A. Simpson, county surveyor of Tom Green county, was here today from San Angelo visiting his brother, W. B. Simpson, Midland grocer.

The San Angelo man was working in the interest of the candidacy of Walter E. Jones of Gregg county for commissioner of the general land office of Texas.

MEXICAN ADMITS SLAYING VAN HORN COUPLE; SAYS THEY ATTACKED HIM

EL PASO, June 5. (U.P.)—Asst. Dist. Attorney W. Penn Monday drew two complaints charging Antonio Carrasco, 38, ranch hand, with slaying Mr. and Mrs. Riley R. Smith at their ranch home near Van Horn Saturday.

Penn made the complaints to Sheriff Albert Anderson, Van Horn, with instructions to sign and file them in justice court.

The first complaint charges that Carrasco killed Smith with a piece of wood. The second complaint alleges that he killed Mrs. Smith "by striking her with a stick of wood and setting fire to her body."

Carrasco said in the county jail that he killed Mr. and Mrs. Smith after Smith, his employer, fired two shots at him and Mrs. Smith attacked him with a butcher knife.

The charred bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Smith were found in the remains of their burned ranch house late Saturday.

Both had been killed by head blows.

Smith was considered one of the wealthiest ranchers in the Van Horn-Maria section.

Burned Beyond Recognition
Mr. and Mrs. Smith were burned beyond recognition when the house was fired.

Carrasco said he hit Smith over the head with a board after Smith fired two shots at him.

"He was angry at me because I wouldn't gallop my horse while rounding up about 30 head of cattle," Carrasco said.

"When I got to the corral, he drew a gun and said: 'I'll kill you, you Mexican.'"

Carrasco said Smith then fired at him.

Carrasco finished rounding up the herd and then got a piece of wood, he said.

"I met Mr. Smith in the yard," he said. "I walked up to him and struck him on the head."

"Mrs. Smith came running at me with a butcher knife. In self-protection, I struck her over the head."

"She fell to the floor," Carrasco said.

"Mr. Smith had fallen on the floor of the same room," Carrasco said.

"I felt hungry, so I went into the kitchen to get myself something to eat," he continued. "I poured some gasoline into a wood stove."

"There was an explosion and flames seemed to be everywhere. There was no chance for me to get Mr. and Mrs. Smith from the burning house."

"I'm sorry that all this happened—I guess I'm lost."

Carrasco said he went to Van Horn for the sheriff when he saw that he could not get the bodies from the blazing home.

He had worked for Smith for more than three years. He has lived in the section near Van Horn all his life.

Carrasco was brought to El Paso by officers shortly after his arrest. Mob violence was feared after news of the tragedy was learned in Van Horn.

Late News

LONDON, June 5. (U.P.)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today that Britain will suspend war debt payments to the United States "until it becomes possible to discuss an ultimate settlement with reasonable prospect of an agreement."

WASHINGTON, June 5. (U.P.)—President Roosevelt will suggest that more than $500,000,000 be appropriated for drought relief, it was learned unofficially at the White House today.

WASHINGTON, June 5. (U.P.)—Major A. V. Dalrymple, former head of the prohibition unit, has been relieved as special assistant attorney general. It was announced today. Dalrymple has been in charge of department of justice radio cases in Texas.

FT. WORTH, June 5. (U.P.)—Packing house employees called a meeting for tonight to discuss a possible walkout in sympathy with Oklahoma City strikers.

FT. WORTH, June 5. (U.P.)—Strikes are not a bad recovery sign, but are "growing pains of the New Deal," the Rev. William Stamps Jacob of Houston told oil field workers in convention here today.

CONVICTS GIVE UP AFTER 'TRY'

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 5. (U.P.)—Convicts who seized a prison guard and barricaded themselves in a cell block shortly after midnight surrendered today when authorities threatened to use tear gas.

W. C. Smith, guard, was held as hostage but was released unharmed. Three life term convicts engineered the plot.

May Resume Plans For Golf Tourney

Resumption of plans for a Rotary-Like golf tourney at country club was expected to result from a conference of A. Wadley and Joe D. Chambers today.

The proposed tournament was considered several months ago following a challenge issued by the Rotary club. While the gamblers were supposed to have been picked up immediately, a series of cold weather postponed the meeting.

Both clubs have several excellent golfers. The occasion would be the first meeting on the links, although the clubs have engaged a playground ball and donkey polo.

Feeders Day to Be Held Friday

BIG SPRING—Annual Feeders day will be held Friday at the U. S. experiment station.

Four pens of 15 choice Hereford steers, on feed tests for 136 days (ending June 8), will be weighed in and results of the tests made public.

J. M. Jones, chief of the division of animal husbandry for the Texas extension service, will be among extension service men present. Others attending will discuss results of the tests. A packer representative is due to attend and appraise the stuff.

The cattle have been fed native feeds, the same combinations as last year to ascertain their value for a profitable market for surplus feed stuff through fattened livestock.

Last year more than 250 people took part in the feeders day. This year, as usual, typical western dinner will be served visitors, Fred Keating, superintendent, said.

Woman, 90, Rides Planter, 'for Fun'

CHILDRESS (P)—"I'm not old, I've just been here a long time," says 90-year-old Mrs. S. E. Parkerson of Childress, who recently mounted a cotton planter and drove around a field just for fun.

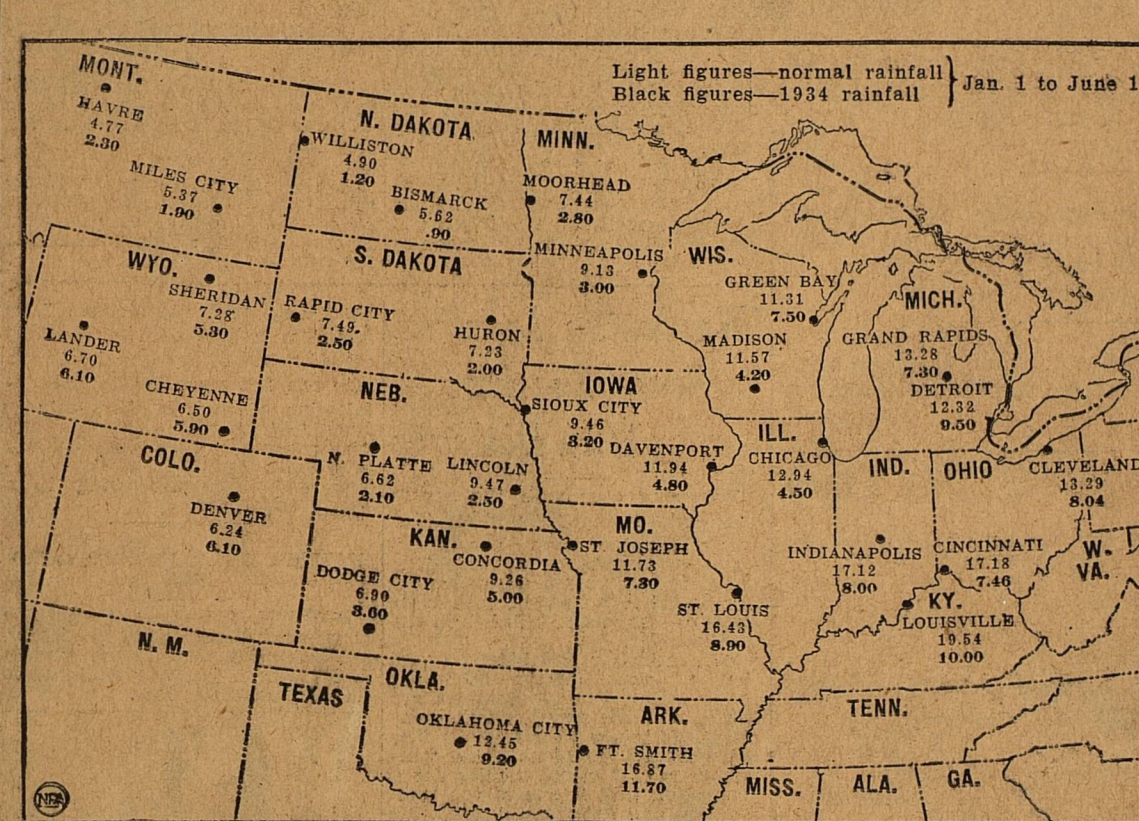

Mrs. Parkerson is a sprightly, quick-witted little woman in a pale blue linen dress and a blue-checked apron, laughed as he told the story of her unusual "joy ride" around the field in which her grandson was planting cotton.

She likes to do "a lot of things yet," including keeping house and managing her home. A grandson and granddaughter live with her. She goes to church "every time the door is open," and every birthday has a prayer meeting at her home.

"I've seldom been sick," she explained in reply to a request for a formula for living such a long and enthusiastic life. "You just want to, you don't give up."

Mrs. Parkerson came to Childress 14 years ago from Kaufman county. Her youth was spent in Virginia during the civil war. She remembers that she could hear the roll of drums from her home. She was in her teens then. She still draws a Confederate pension as her first husband fought under Lee.

Figures Tell Tragic Story of Drouth

A clear picture of the extent and severity of the drouth over the middle west must be had by comparing the figures on this map of the southern region. These figures give, in light face type, the total normal rainfall, averaged over the last 50 years, for the first five months from January to June, as compared with the total rainfall over the same period this year as shown in black face type. Although the figures cover only the places designated, they represent fairly closely the condition of the surrounding country. In no spot, you will observe, has this year's rainfall approached the normal, with the exception of the 24 Bismarck, N. D., this year's precipitation has gone as low as 15 per cent of normal.

PARDEE, FT. WORTH WILL TOUR RODEOS

E. Pardee, nationally known roper and rodeo performer who has been living here for a few weeks, will leave tomorrow on a tour of several shows, expecting to be gone most of the summer.

Pardee will direct the Black Hills Roundup at Belle Fourche, S. D., July 3, 4 and 5, after competing at Fort Smith, Ark., June 10-13.

Pardee is judge in the Minneapolis rodeo June 15-24. Contract was signed yesterday for the job at Belle Fourche, one of the outstanding shows of the United States.

Coming from La Junta, Colo., Pardee has roped for 14 years. He was roping champion at Pendleton in 1932, Cheyenne in 1926, Fort Worth in 1932, Madison Square Garden, New York, in 1929 and Phoenix in 1931. He expects to return here later in the season after roping at Cheyenne, Pendleton and Calgary, Canada.

Pardee recently bought Tomcat, chestnut gelding, from Clarence Scharbauer but injured the horse while training him at Rankin. He will use Fort Worth, the big dun Scharbauer horse which has been run in numerous short races at Cowboy park, through the summer.

Application Denied By Judge Klapproth

BIG SPRING—A petition filed by W. D. Miller, to restrain Jim Walker from constructing a wrecking yard near Camp Coleman was denied Saturday and application reviewed by Judges Charles L. Klapproth and Judge J. H. H. H.

Judge Klapproth held the court did not have authority to issue the order.

An agreed judgment in the case of Philip E. Jenkins vs. Monte Oil company, on notes and foreclosure of a chattel mortgage was entered Saturday in the 70th district court.

THE FORECAST

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy to night and Wednesday.

Ghost Not Laid, And Hen 'Scared'

Whether his hen has been affected by drouth or not, the farmer who was frightened by living too near the cemetery, Chas. Muller does not know but he was exhibiting today the smallest egg believed ever to have been laid by a grown hen.

The egg, a half inch in diameter and three fourths of an inch long, was too light to move ordinary parcel post scales. It was laid Saturday by a Rhode Island Red hen 14 months old.

The hen had been laying eggs of average size for some time. Muller lists just east of Fairview cemetery.

Antarctic Letter From Innes-Taylor Requires 4 Months

SAN ANGELO—News of everyday activities in the greatest ice producing area in the world, where 95 men in six departments led by Commander Richard E. Byrd, are discovering and recording facts to change much of the accepted knowledge of the "devil's graveyard" at the South Pole, was received here last week.

It looked like just another letter in the postman's hand, a thick letter in a long envelope, until J. Nalle Gregory noticed the unfamiliar blue stamp and the postmark.

This pointed out that the letter, mailed January 31, 1934, in Little America, Antarctica, was no ordinary missive and further investigation showed two copies of "The Snowshovel," news sheet for the second Byrd expedition to the South Pole, sent to Gregory by Captain Allen Innes-Taylor, editor. Captain Taylor was here just before leaving for Antarctica.

Four Months En Route

The trip from the frozen regions took the letter just four months and at the time the two periodicals were issued, the expedition was still 1,000 miles north of Little America.

However, the route around the pole to the settlement was 2,600 miles. Events chronicled in the two issues of the Snowshovel portray the sublime and the ridiculous, the breath-taking discoveries and scientific achievement in the same column with humorous happenings of the day.

"It is 'the lure of little voices' that has called you to the Antarctic," says Captain Taylor in his editorial column, "and if you have imagination and can preserve your sense of humor, and if most of all you have a great faith in that what you are doing is of use, then you will not have come in vain. Faith, courage and unselfishness are what make possible the long cold trail of achievement."

In addition to his editorial duties Captain Taylor's main duty is chief transportation for the expedition and at this time is teaching a course in sledding at the half-time instruction periods.

At that time, January 6, a report from Commander Byrd quoted in the newspaper states, "We have found perhaps the most forbidding area on the face of the earth. To invade it means a primitive struggle against the elements at their worst. We have explored 1,200 miles of its borders. The area to the southeast we have penetrated five times by ship and airplane. As a result our whole conception of this part of the world is changed."

No Land Where They Thought

"Where we thought there was land there is no land. We think we have doubled the size of the Ross sea and have diminished by 200,000 square miles the size of the Antarctic continent. Our work is done here. The season is getting late."

An idea of weather conditions may be gathered from this: "The flight was the expedition's sixth record southing by ship and airplane over a thousand mile front in three days. It emphasized the need of striking fast in this area. Wednesday night (January 10) it blew half a living gale. Thursday was a day at Palm Beach. Thursday night brought the heaviest snowfall yet. The flight lay in between."

BISHOP LUCEY TO VISIT WED.

Bishop Robert Emmet Lucey of Amarillo will arrive at Midland Wednesday afternoon from visits at Sweetwater, San Angelo and other churches of his large diocese.

The public will be afforded a chance to meet him, from 4 until 5 p. m., on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Scharbauer. He then returns to Sweetwater.

It was not known whether he would be accompanied to Midland. When he visited San Angelo last Saturday and Sunday he was accompanied by the Very Rev. J. H. Krukkert, dean and pastor of the Sacred Heart church of San Angelo, and the Very Rev. Joseph Pokuda, pastor of St. Joseph church at Rowena. The three had been at San Antonio last week attending the consecration of Bishop-Elect, the Most Rev. Joseph M. Preciado, O. M. F., D. D.

His Excellency was received by the congregation of Sacred Heart church Saturday night. On his entry the choir sang "Gloria Sacrosancti Magni," which was followed by the benediction of the most blessed sacrament and the blessing of His Excellency, Bishop Lucey, for mass, coram Episcopo, was celebrated by the Very Rev. Krukkert, with His Excellency, Bishop Lucey, delivering the sermon Sunday morning.

He blessed the three new altars at Rowena Sunday, and was to have conducted a similar ceremony at Olney this morning.

The distinguished visitor, one of the ablest and most learned priests of Southern California, has been chosen by His Holiness Pope Pius XI to succeed the Most Rev. Rudolph A. Gerken, D. D., who was Bishop of the Diocese of Amarillo and now archbishop of the See of Santa Fe, according to Catholic leaders here.

Priestly Career

Bishop Robert E. Lucey as a priest has been active in social welfare work not only in his former diocese but also throughout the state of California for more than a decade. Since his appointment as director of the Catholic Welfare Bureau in 1921, he has been prominent in the work of local and national advancement.

His espousal of the cause of organized labor has been energetic and effective. He has helped to enlarge the memberships of all the crafts and trades in accordance with the Encyclical of His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, wherein it is presumed that in the reconstruction of the social order, labor must be thoroughly organized.

Other Appointments

In 1925, Dr. Lucey was appointed by Governor Richardson as a member of the executive board of the state department of social welfare, later being reappointed by Governor Rolph. He resigned this office two years ago. He was a member of the board of trustees of the Catholic Welfare Bureau and has been chosen director of hospital for seven years.

He is a former president of the California Conference of Social Work and is also a member of the American Association of Social Workers. One of his other activities has included the office of chairman of the Southern California committee of the Catholic Association for International Peace.

The Most Rev. Robert Emmett Lucey was born March 19, 1891, in the parish of the Sacred Heart, (See BISHOP, page 4)

COMMITTEE OF HOUSE INFORMED BY JAC BLALOCK

Col. Thompson Also Cautions Against
"Stepping in"

WASHINGTON, June 5. (U.P.)—Jac Blalock, representing the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas, told the house interstate commerce committee today that the oil industry is the most prosperous in the country but that passage of the administration production control bill would hurt it immeasurably.

"If you don't believe the oil industry is the most prosperous in the country, line the producers up and ask them how much royalty and dividend checks were issued last month," he said.

Railroad Commissioner Thompson said Texas already had yet to play any position on the infield or in the garden, and is expected to bolster the Midland recruiting staff materially.

Other new recruits will be seen, First Baseman White and Third Baseman Suratt, both former Odessa players. Both are excellent ball players and have raised the stock of the Midland club overnight.

CRAMER MAY BE ON MOUND TODAY

A new pitcher, Burl Cramer, likely will ascend the mound for Midland here this afternoon when play is called at 4:30 with Stanton. Cramer is described as able to play any position on the infield or in the garden, and is expected to bolster the Midland recruiting staff materially.

Other new recruits will be seen, First Baseman White and Third Baseman Suratt, both former Odessa players. Both are excellent ball players and have raised the stock of the Midland club overnight.

Joe Robinson likely will receive. Midland has had difficulty with Stanton all year, and yet to win from the Martin county club.

Midland's new grandstand will be completed by Sunday week, it is expected. The club plays McCombs here June 24 for the dedication ceremony.

Tourist Record at Caverns Is Broken

EL PASO—All records for number of visitors in the Carlsbad caverns during May were broken this year when 6053 persons viewed the caverns during the month.

Previous high mark for May was made in 1931, when 5947 persons visited the caverns.

Texas visitors led in number with 2662, followed by California with 1775 and New Mexico with 750. Forty-five of the 45 states were represented with visitors, as well as 10 foreign countries and the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

BABY BORN TO LORDS

The baby girl born June 1 to Mr. and Mrs. Ira F. Lord has been named Jera Mae. The child weighed approximately 8 pounds.

BULLETIN

AUSTIN, June 5. (U.P.)—District Judge Charles Wheeler today ruled the state has a right to maintain suit to enforce the reduced gas rate ordered by the railroad commission but cannot ask a money judgment to reimburse consumers for "excessive" charges collected after the reduced rate was ordered.

A KISS FOR THE WIFE

Those Oklahoma City husbands who formed a "Husbands' Gratitude Club" seem to have struck upon a pretty sound idea for promoting happy marriages.

Each member took this pledge:

"I solemnly pledge myself daily to embrace my wife, kiss her, and tell her I love her.

"I promise to compliment her at least once each day on some particular part of the menu she prepares.

"I promise to perform at least one kind of unexpected deed for her daily."

Reducing it all to a formal pledge may sound a bit odd, of course. But it does set forth a course of action which points, most decidedly, in the direction of a successful marriage.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

A five year old girl is supposed to have written this:

Sally Rand lost her fan.
Shut your eyes, you nasty man.

The new gas company manager is one citizen who doesn't have to worry about whether to be "Lackey" or "Anti-Lackey."

Tom Donohue, Sweetwater cattle buyer who comes over here when he wants some good stock, got his leg broke over at Angelo the other day, according to the Sweetwater Reporter. An excerpt from the story was as follows:

"... he started into a corral to look at a horse and a mare kicked him."

'Manhattan Love Song' Sparkles With Dialogue

Brimming over with the gayety and enthusiasm of America's biggest city, "Manhattan Love Song," Monogram's film of the sophisticated pent-house set, shows tomorrow at the Ritz theatre, with Robert Armstrong and Dixie Lee in the leading roles.

It is a snappy and hilarious version of that always intriguing theme—when the social tables are turned and the servants take command. It brings to the screen new and startling variations of the complications that ensue, making for a production that is one of the most amusing and entertaining that this reviewer has seen in many a day.

Dixie Lee, returning to the screen after an absence of a couple of years, brings with her a new charm, and a voice that sets off the hit musical numbers to perfection. Robert Armstrong, playing an ingenious chauffeur, is as debonair as ever, while Helen Flint, Nydia Westman, Franklin Pangborn and Herman Bing must also be complimented for their contributions to a top-notch film.

And now that the honors have been duly paid, "Manhattan Love Song" is a tale of two carefully reared sisters of the pent-house set, who are left penniless by the defalcation of their banker, only to have their servants step in, and with many laughable complications, take entire command of the situation and bring everything to a happy conclusion.

Baptists Begin New Mission Study

Beginning a study of a mission book, "Gospel to Red Men," members of the Baptist Women's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon to hear Mrs. E. W. Anguish teach the first chapter. Another chapter will be presented next Monday.

During a brief business session, it was decided that the four chapters of the society will serve at the annual B. T. S. training school next week. Each circle will serve one night. On the last night of the school, the Evangelists class will entertain.

Fourteen Attend Methodist Meeting

Fourteen members of the Methodist auxiliary Monday afternoon heard a report of the annual district conference held last week at Brady.

Mrs. L. B. Hanks, delegate, reported on the business transacted; delegates elected to the West Texas conference to be held at San Antonio in November; the selection of Sterling City as the next conference city; and the impressive sermons delivered by attending pastors, including the Rev. Kenneth C. Minter of Midland.

Quarterly reports of auxiliary officers were heard, concluding the program.

Mary Margaret Mann

The Sonata Pathetique by Beethoven was brilliantly interpreted by Miss Mary Margaret Mann, who showed wonderful training and technique. Other numbers were well timed and exquisitely fingered.

SCRUGGSMEN START SEASON WITH 24 TO 1 WIN OVER SUPPLIES

SOUTHERN ICE IS WINNER OVER GOODYEAR

Scruggs Motor company staked claim for the right to go into the Shaughnessy playoff of the play-ground ball league last night when, in its first game of the new season, its hardball players blasted out 23 hits, scored 24 runs and held its opposition, Midland Auto Supply, to five hits and one run.

The Scruggs team scored almost at will. Woods, Jendoff man, and Eb Estes, heavy hitting outfielder, scored five runs each. Straughan, pitcher for the Motorists, coasted the entire route, getting near-perfect support. Only one error was made by his mates.

The second game resulted in a outfield is no mental stimulant, and having to watch a blind umpire causes one to think things that certainly do not raise his moral standard.

"The rain was great for the farmers and ranchers but it raised havoc with what should have been a real ball game. The major upset for Midland was the officiating of Umpire-in-Chief Dawkins. His attitude from the beginning evidently was that Midland was to lose. Give him credit for perseverance. He finally managed it."

"Balls that were clearly inches high, inside or outside were strikes on the Midland batters—while Rose was being forced to grove the plate to get one called a far worse one."

"Had the Midland 'griping' at the blind one started after Odessa had taken the lead we would be willing to charge it up to sour grapes, but Dawkins began his act early. At the request, not only of the local manager but also spectators, to call the game on account of the rain, he refused until Manager Elliott of Odessa would agree."

"Rose, Midland pitcher, was marked up one error in the box score for his handling of a batted ball but he made a far worse one when he used a change of pace on Jimmy Scroggins, Odessa third baseman. Taking Bill Mayfield, Wink pitcher as authority, we will state that Scroggins is apt to be that kind of pitch down any pitcher's throat. All he did to it Sunday, however, was to lean on it for three bases."

"Not having any scruples against plagiarism I shall proceed to steal some Bill Collins copy out of the McCamey News. Bill, known as the busiest man in McCamey, announces that Iraan is expecting a catcher and a pitcher to arrive this week from Texas Christian university. Wonder if they could be angling for Dan Harston? All other clubs in West Texas seem to be. Our question, not Bill's."

McCamey has signed up a new flinger, Curtis Choate of Big Spring, Arizona and other locales. Also Charlie McQueen, a member of the club last season. McQueen, a Howard Payne graduate this year, has been offered a job as head coach at Cross Plains this season but may continue in the employ of the Humble Oil and Refining company in McCamey and refuse the coaching offer.

"The Wink line-up for their last game indicates they are signing a lot of players lately in an effort to get into the flag chase the second half. Some of their new men include Kaurwer, White, Hodges, Kyle, Gressett and Cary. Cary is the latest addition to their mound staff."

"McCamey has dropped Hayhurst, Martin, Dick Bryan, McClain and Burris from their roster to make room for new talent."

"Collins says that some of the clubs are in favor of Sunday double-headers and that he is in favor of it. Knowing full well that my opinion is not desired nor will be appreciated, I cannot resist quoting the English prisoner in a Russian bastille. 'The whole idea is preposterous, absurd and damn silly,' he said."

Remains of Sports Ampitheatre Found Among Ruins in Mexican Jungle

PAPANTLA, Veracruz, Mexico. (AP) A new and important field for archeological exploration has been opened a few miles from this city as a result of discoveries of monuments of an advanced pre-hispanic Indian civilization.

While several other structures built by the Totonaca Indians had been uncovered in the region of El Tajin, three and a half miles from here, the new finds are considered notable in that they may prove that the semi-tropical section was once inhabited by a conglomeration of Indian races, including the highly civilized Mayans, the Huastecas, who still live in the states of Veracruz, San Luis Potosi and Tamaulipas, the Quiches and the Olmecas.

So enthusiastic was Professor Enrique Juan Palacios, government archeologist, over the discoveries that in announcing them he made the statement "in its archeological and monumental aspects Mexico still reserves numerous surprises for the investigations, hiding jewels which only the hand which will lift the veil of centuries of dust which covers them."

Palacios was a member of a group of archeologists engaged in reconstructing a beautiful and ornate five-story pyramid previously found at El Tajin. While he and other members of the party were exploring in the surrounding jungle-like vegetation they made the new discoveries, most important of which are another similar pyramid, a court for playing the ball game known as Tlacahli, a stone which apparently represented the rain god Tlaloc, and a number of artistically carved stone cylinders the use of which is uncertain.

Also uncovered nearby were a group of several hundred stone structures six feet high and about five feet wide, built in a line extending more than 650 yards. Although these resemble to some extent other Indian races, Palacios believes they served some other purpose since no traces of human skeletons were found.

The heavy growth of centuries of vegetation has prevented any extensive work in uncovering or restoring the ruins. Palacios thinks that the ball court may prove the most important find from a scientific standpoint since it appears like those built hundreds of miles away in Yucatan and hundreds of years ago by the Mayans.

If this likeness is definitely proved it may furnish evidence that the Mayans traveled across the Gulf of Mexico by boat to what is now the state of Veracruz, or even possibly afford a clue to the origin of the mysterious race.

The ball court measures slightly over a hundred yards square and is bounded by five levels of monolithic blocks probably used as seats for spectators. At the north is a structure resembling those found at Chichen Itza and the other Mayan centers.

Although no hoops, which were used as goals, were found Palacios said he was sure the structure was a ball court. He pointed out that Professor Franz Blom of Tulane university has proved that in some cases these hoops were made of wood, and were portable, being carried to the court only when games were in progress. Two other structures previously believed to be ball courts were actually used for ceremonial, Palacios thinks.

On several stones fallen from the newly found pyramid are carved hieroglyphics, which experts will try to decipher.

Another interesting scientific announcement was made recently by C. H. Griffith, long a resident of Mexico, on his return from a fourth month's study of the various tribes and languages in the southern state of Oaxaca. Griffith said he found a tribe with a language startlingly similar to Chinese, and has customs directly related to those of the far eastern people.

Other authorities on Indian languages stated, however, that while many Mexican Indian tongues greatly resemble Chinese in inflection, the likeness ceases there and that this similarity cannot be accepted as proof of the theory that the Mexican Indian race migrated from Asia.

Jungles Created And Peopled for Great Tarzan 'Lot'

"Tarzan and His Mate," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer thrill picture featuring Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan, is completing a three-day run at the Yucca today.

Efforts to surpass all previous jungle pictures made necessary the creation of a hundred acre area packed densely with trees and undergrowth into which African animals and birds were introduced.

Beasts that are shown in action include a herd of more than twenty elephants, more than fifty lions, a man-killing rhinoceros, chimpanzees, monkeys, Wundereasta, gazelles, hippopotami, boa-constrictors and hundreds of other specimens of rare jungle life.

Two of the biggest climaxes of the picture show a herd of maddened elephants charging a safari of natives and white men and later an attack of dozens of lions upon a camp. Wild animal men and a crew of 1,000 production men were recruited from all parts of the country to assist the studio in obtaining the scenes.

The new story continues the adventures of Tarzan, played by Weissmuller, when a safari of white men attempt to raid the "elephants' burial ground" of millions of dollars worth of ivory. Tarzan attempts to protect the sacred jungle hazards that far surpass the thrills of "Tarzan, the Ape Man."

Of special interest in the picture are scenes taken under water by a special process that has recorded the strangest sight ever seen by human eye—the battle between a man and a giant crocodile.

A DOLLAR AND A HALF WORTH OF OIL PROTECTED THIS MOTOR FOR OVER FOUR THOUSAND MILES!

Low Consumption and Motor Protection Proved in the Most Daring Motor Oil Test Ever Made!

WHEN New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil was perfected, it had lubrication values so great that a mere statement of them WOULD SEEM ABSURD.

We arranged with the Contest Board, American Automobile Association, to test five widely-known and advertised motor oils along with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil in a daring "Destruction" Test, to PROVE its superiority. These six oils, a single fill of five quarts, with no more oil added, in six brand new strictly stock cars, were driven until the motor in each car was destroyed from lack of lubrication.

The first oil failed at 1,713.2 miles . . . others failed in rapid succession. The best of the competing oils ran a total of 3,318.8 miles . . . while New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil lubricated its motor for a total of 4,729 miles! . . . more than 3,000 miles farther than the first oil to fail . . . and more than 1,400 miles farther than the second best oil. A marvellous record!

You can and should have this oil in your car. It costs no more than other quality oils—at the Sign of the Red Triangle.
