Mrs. R. D. Wiley Dies Suddenly at Waco Sunday

Mrs. R. D. Wiley, who for 29 years was identified with Wellington's banking life, died unexpectedly at 10 a.m. Sunday, March 30 in Waco where she was visiting a niece. She had gone there about two weeks ago to convalesce from a recent illness.

With her husband, the late Dick Wiley, she moved to Wellington in 1931 from Childress, when he became president of the First National Bank.

In the difficult depression years that followed, she was a source of encouragement not only to him, but to others, as they worked to strengthen the financial basis of the Wellington area.

That bank's customers were always aware of her gracious manner in meeting the public, as well as the competence with which she handled a difficult job.

She left the bank in 1958 when Mr. Wiley's ill health forced him to resign as its president, and the First National Bank was sold to the Wellington State Bank.

In private life, and especially since Mr. Wiley's death on Sept. 20, 1960, Mrs. Wiley had valued most her close friends and associates.

Born Oct. 14, 1898 at Crawford, she was the former Willie Mae Hickerson, the daughter of Buck and Georgiana Bennett Hickerson. She grew up at Crawford and Waco, and attended Baylor University. She and Mr. Wiley were married Dec. 27, 1923 at Waco.

She taught in Childress county schools before moving to Wellington.

New Highway Chairman Takes Office

Three-County Delegation Asks For Farm to Market Road

Boosters of a ten-mile stretch of F.M. Highway in the northwest part of Collingsworth County met with the Texas Highway Commission April 1, to present the need for this stretch of road. In addition they were privileged to be present at the swearing in ceremonies of Dewitt C. Greer, whose appointment as the new chairman of the Texas Highway Department was formally announced by Gov. Preston Smith.

Herbert C. Petry, former chairman of the commission, acted as master of ceremonies at which Gov. Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., and other state officials were speakers. Gov. Smith lauded Dewitt Greer for his dedicated work as State Highway Engineer for over 27 years during which time the highway system of Texas became the best in the nation, and predicted that he would render an equally valuable service as Chairman of the Texas Highway Commission.

The three-county delegation from Collingsworth, Gray and Wheeler counties was attentively heard as its spokesmen presented the desirability of this road factually and tersely. The usefulness of the road as a farm to market road to take care of cattle and other farm products, and as a school and mail route, were the main reasons presented at the time. The delegates came away from the meeting feeling that they had made a favorable impression and had taken an important first step when funds are available.

Commissioner Petry asked a number of questions concerning the road and the roads that had been built 19 years ago by voting bonds. Commissioner Hal O. Woodward sug-

West Leaves C-C for Insurance Promotion

Oris West, Collingsworth County Chamber of Commerce manager since Oct. 1, has submitted his resignation to accept a promotion in the insurance company for which he is also an agent.

On April 7 he will become staff manager for the Amarillo District of Universal Life and Accident Insurance Company, with headquarters in that city.

Mrs. West, an employee at Parsons Drug almost three years, has resigned there also. Mr. West's promotion came just a few days after the couple returned from an expense-paid trip which he won to the company's annual convention held on Padre Island, with an additional trip to Matamoros, Mexico. He joined Universal Life and Accident Insurance Company a little more than a year ago.

"We hate to leave our wonderful friends in Wellington, but it was such a good opportunity I just couldn't turn it down," said Mr. West.

Both Mr. and Mrs. West were reared at Dodson.

A deacon in First Baptist Church, he is also Adult I Department superintendent. Mrs. West has taught in the Training Union of the Junior Department about five years.

He is a veteran of World War II and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Wellington American Legion.

They have two sons, the Rev. Gary West, associate director of the student division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas and Randy, a sophomore in Clarendon Junior College.

Band Ratings High at Borger Festival

That Skyrocket Band came home with honors after participating in the Borger Band Festival Friday, March 28.

This is a warmup festival, or practice meet before the University Interscholastic League competition later on this spring explained Band Director Wayne Tucker.

That Skyrocket Band received a first division rating in sight reading and a second division rating in concert performance.

With a month left before the state-sponsored contest, a great deal of hard work is left to do, according to Mr. Tucker.

The band received some good comments from the three judges, Tony Anderson of Abilene High School; Wayne Mueller of Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Okla.; and Gerald Hemphill of Phillips University in Enid, Okla. The sight-reading judge was Warren Thaxton of Cooper High School in Abilene.

The Wellington band was the only band in class AA that received a first division rating in sightreading.

"Not only did the band students from here perform well, they also conducted themselves in an order that represented Wellington proudly," said Mr. Tucker.

For Those Needing Help

Drivers License Class Begins Here April 9

A three-night Drivers License School is slated in Wellington to assist those who do not have a drivers license and who want to get one, according to Patrolman Chester Fant, education officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety.

It is sponsored by the Community Action Committee and the Wellington Police Department.

The sessions will be Wednesday, April 9; Thursday, April 10; and Monday, April 14, at the Community Action Center at the corner of 7th Street and East Avenue. They start at 7:30 p.m.

"The purpose of this school is to help those who do not have drivers licenses so they can pass the required examination," said Patrolman Fant.

"Certainly it is not to find out who does not have a drivers license. It is strictly to help those people to get a license. We feel they will be much safer drivers with the knowledge they will gain."

Collingsworth County FARM NEWS

By Don Reeves
County Agricultural Agent

Brush Control

Some 82% of Texas range-lands are infested with one or more species of woody plants which have reduced forage production by one-half to two-thirds its potential and caused inefficient livestock economy.

Mesquite covers 56,244,800 acres in Texas and shinnery oak are a problem on 8,731,200 acres. Collingsworth County contributes its part to the total acres.

Landowners are controlling about 1.2 million acres of brush by all methods each year. This is about 1/10 of what should be controlled each year. Any control method used will need to have regrowth, sprouts and seedlings restricted within five to ten years to keep woody plants under control and maintain forage production at a high level.

Producers lose about $5 billion yearly in the U.S. from woody plant infestations and Texas ranchmen lose their share of this $5 billion on the state's 107 million acres of rangeland.

These woody plants use four to 11 times more available water for a pound of dry matter than range and pasture grass and retard range improvement.

Texas rangelands should produce about 90% of the forage required for livestock grazing. However, they are now producing about 50% or less because of improper grazing management and heavy infestation of undesirable brush and weeds.

About 38% of the average annual rainfall is consumed by worthless brush and weeds.

In an area where the annual rainfall is 27 inches, some 10.1 inches is lost to non-economic plants and 7.6 inches is lost by evaporation from the soil surface. This means that the ranching industry for the area is based on 9.3 inches of effective rainfall.

Herbaceous weeds invade the rangelands when range conditions are deteriorated by continued heavy and destructive grazing and disturbance of the soil by mechanical brush control methods. Also, weeds may be a severe problem on chemically controlled areas before native grasses are re-established sufficiently to offer competition to weeds.

Landowners should use the correct initial control method to establish a grass turf for the least amount of money spent. Then establish a maintenance operation to keep the noxious plants under control. Brush control must be a complete and well-planned program in combination with other range management practices on a pay-as-you-go basis, primarily. Landowners should plan the brush control program to aid in the improvement of the wildlife habitat as a proper brush and weed control program can benefit both domestic and wildlife production.

There are some 10 to 15 million acres that should be devoted to wildlife and recreational purposes as these areas have a very low potential production for grasslands. Each acre of land should be used for its highest potential economic production.

Brush control followed by proper management should increase the net income $1.00 per acre per year from domestic livestock. At least 10 million acres need to be treated each year to catch up with the brush invasion and this should result in a net return of $10 million annually to producers.

Properly planned brush and weed control programs carried out on ranches throughout the state have improved the wildlife population and increased net income from wildlife leases and domestic livestock.

Karnes Works Receives Awards at 7th Dallas Art Festival

Two works of Ben Karnes received awards at the 7th Annual Art Festival sponsored by Temple Emanuel in Dallas. At a champagne preview Saturday evening over 500 works of art ranging from oil painting and crayon caustic to fabric and metal creations were displayed in Tobian Auditorium at 8500 Hillcrest. Judging was by Barney Delabano, assistant director of the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts.

One of Karnes' assemblages entitled "Dream On" was built around a small wire house frame found on an advertising display at the junk grounds. Other materials included black and white checked fabric, velvet, scraps of music notes, adding machine tape, magazine copy, and parts of an old Bible picked up in a church being demolished in Wellington.

The other prize work is yellow and black and was made from cancelled bank checks, metal lathe, and a ladder fashioned from a discarded plastic belt rack.

Karnes says that since he can't paint, he gets a great deal of satisfaction in bringing together things he finds around him. "And my pleasure is doubled if the pieces get recognition or are sold. What thrilled me most Saturday was that one of the festival chairmen remarked that I had the best sense of humor of any artist in the show."

Valliant At Guard School

Platoon Sergeant Robert Valliant, of Wellington's National Guard Unit recently completed a three-weeks personnel administrative course at the United States Army Adjutant's School at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indiana.

This school, which for Sgt. Valliant was a refresher course covered all personnel administration that National Guard sergeants assigned as permanent employees of their units might encounter.

Classes were conducted by the regular instructors of the Adjutant's School.

Graduation exercises were held at the end of the course and certificates were presented to those who completed it.

Sgt. Valliant attended a similar course and also a supply school several years ago.

Sgt. Valliant met one Wellington soldier, Pfc. Billy McKinney, while at Fort Benjamin Harrison. The latter had inquired if there was anyone from Texas at the school and was directed to Valliant—from his own home town.

B&PW Honors Seniors, Mothers at Traditional Tea Thursday

Seniors of Quail, Samnorwood, Dodson and Wellington, along with their mothers were honored at a seated tea Thursday evening, March 27, the traditional event with which the Wellington Business and Professional Women's Club honors the year's graduates.

Dr. John D. Coleman was the guest speaker. Born at Dozier, the youthful livestock nutritionist returned to that community last year after a distinguished career teaching in East Pakistan and in research, with Abbott Laboratories.

"What time do you have?" and "What time is it?" he asked the seniors. There is time for work, time for play, we spend time, we kill time, we waste time, there's time to start and time to quit, he told the group.

Besides time to work and play, there is a time to love and a time for others, he reminded, then counseled the seniors to take time and spend it well.

Dr. Coleman graduated from McLean High School and Texas A&M University, with a degree in veterinary medicine. He taught four years in his field at Dacca University in East Pakistan, then, holding the rank of first lieutenant in the Army Reserve, he was post veterinarian at Ft. Rucker, Alabama, two years.

He received a master's degree in veterinary medicine from Auburn University before joining the staff of Abbott Laboratories in Chicago.

He and his wife, the former Sandra Burden of Shamrock, and their three children live at the family ranch. Dr. Coleman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Coleman of Wellington.

Mrs. Louise Templeton and Mrs. Bura Handley were in charge of arrangements, while Mrs. R. H. Isbell, club president, welcomed the guests.

She commended the seniors for their achievements and the honors they have brought themselves and their communities, and urged that they meet their future with this same confidence and integrity.

Mrs. Rufus Sweat introduced the guests and a medley of songs to evoke memories was presented by the B&PW Chorus.

The reception table was covered with a white net cloth and appointed in crystal.

Guests registering were Connie Hughes, Mrs. Buster Hughes, Miss Jolene Groves, Bill Wilson, Mrs. Leo Popwell, June Popwell, Jan Gosnell, Mrs. Roberts Gosnell.

Biter, Jan, Vernon and Jimmy of Wichita Falls; and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pollard and Barbara of Odessa. Mrs. Hays returned to Wichita Falls for a few days with her two daughters.

Notes from Your County Home Demonstration Agent

By Mrs. Leta Hill

Electric Scissors

ELECTRIC SCISSORS speed the job of cutting out garments. When you shop for scissors, test them on fabric.

They should feel comfortable in your hand and be easy to manipulate. Scissors with two cutting speeds are easier to manage for a beginner and are more versatile for all users.

A light on the scissors helps the user to see the fabric grain and be able to cut more precisely.

The cord should be long enough to reach across a wide cutting area. If you are buying cordless scissors, check the ease of replacing batteries.

Once you have bought scissors, practice with them before you try to cut out a pattern.

Be especially careful when you cut curves, notches and corners in the pattern. You may prefer to cut these with regular scissors until you become skilled in maneuvering electric scissors.

Canning Meeting

LAST WEEK I attended a meeting presented by Miss Hattie Kilgore, director of the research and education department with Kerr Glass Company in Sand Springs, Okla. She gave the agents many new ideas on canning and also refreshed our memories on some old ideas in canning. She told us that there had been a 30% increase in the sale of jars in the Panhandle area last year. So canning is experiencing a comeback.

She encourages us to encourage you, the homemaker, not to use pickle, mayonnaise, etc., jars for canning as they are not tempered for the canning process. The lifetime of a canning (tempered) jar is 13 to 17 years.

Pressure cookers should be checked every canning season. At 10 lbs pressure your gauge should register 240 degrees F. Keep your pressure cookers clean. Boil them out with soda water or vinegar water.

Always check the directions that come with your lids. Some lids have to be hot, some do not. Do not turn jars upside down when cooking. Always take the screw bands off unless you are canning certain pickles that are not processed. Do not use rusty screw bands. When removing the lid puncture it, do not pry the lid up as you may damage the jars. Do not use punctured lids again, except in freezing.

Miss Kilgore stressed that the homemaker in the Panhandle should always make the correction for altitude on her processing times in canning.

Consumer Notes

TODAY $1.25 will do what $1 would do 10 years ago. So, squeezed consumers search for the payoff in today's markets by taking advantage of sales.

Shoppers also can save money by buying better-performing or more durable products.

Here are some simple rules for determining where and when chances are greatest for consumer savings.

- The consumer should realize that although a price is given, the dealer may be persuaded to alter it. In one case, a consumer saved $328 on a new car by legitimately making a firm counter-offer.

- Survey the situation before shopping. The consumer saves the most when the item he wants is large in the budget, when the "cost of the search" (to himself, in money, time and effort) is low and when the market presents a wide variety in price and quality.

- The consumer is wise to search for a variety of costs when he plans to buy an item. He can use available reference his own knowledge and experience. Catalogs of large mail order firms list prices usually in the lower fourth of the total range. "Consumer Reports" magazine gives an accurate picture of differences in quality, performance and price.

- Cut search costs by using the telephone directory Yellow Pages.

MAGIC WITH SOUR CREAM

COLLEGE STATION.—There is magic in sour cream cooking! Dairy-made sour cream has long been a staple in hotel, restaurant and club kitchens presided over by famous chefs.

Use of dairy-made sour cream has increased 42% within the past five years, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. Its greater use still is by families and mass-feeding places in the large cities of our nation.

Sour cream is not really sour—it is "cultured".

Lactic acid is the magic ingredient for making sour creams, says the Texas A&M University specialist. It is added to pasteurized and homogenized light sweet cream resulting in specially controlled sour cream.

Dairy sour cream may be made a bit smoother and stiffer by whipping slightly but don't overwhip or you'll make butter. Stir dairy sour cream into sauces and gravies at the end of cooking, adding only a tablespoonful at a time.

Remember to heat sour cream gently, never boil. Cook sour cream hollandaise-type mixture over warm, not boiling water, not over direct heat. These mixtures make sauces for cooked vegetables such as broccoli, cabbage, asparagus and for garnishing vegetable or fruit salads.

Dairy-made sour cream is perishable and should be kept cold until used. Stored in its original, tightly closed containers at 35 to 40 degrees F., dairy-made cultured sour cream will keep for two weeks. Do not freeze since it weeps as it thaws, Mrs. Clyatt says.

Dairy-made sour cream adapts readily to meals the year around. Greatest consumption, however, occurs during warm weather—from April through September. May and June are the months of highest sales when sour cream is used extensively with salads and garden-fresh vegetables, notes the specialist.

4-H Improves Good Citizenship

4-H, the youth program of the Cooperative Extension Service has as a major objective the development of youth into purposeful and constructive citizens.

Each 4-H project and activity contributes to this objective. Knowledge and understanding of citizenship responsibilities plus participation in group activities are among the important phases of the 4-H Citizenship project.

Leigh Nall Selected 1969 Miss Wellington

When blonde freshman Leigh Nall was chosen 1969 Miss Wellington in the annual pageant Saturday night, March 29, there were remarks in the audience that the judges had picked the All-American girl.

Their choice for runner-up was raven-haired Cindy Saied. These were two of the 62 Wellington High School girls participating in the pageant.

These were chosen from the top five girls selected by the judges. The others were Ann Smith, Karen Maxwell, and Sharon Gaston.

These, in turn, had been picked from the top 10, and the other five making up the group were Clara Brown, Sandra McGill, Debbie Neeley, Becky Burba and Jane Thompson.

The new Miss Wellington is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nall. She already has made a name for herself in the Collingsworth 4-H Riding Club and has participated in junior rodeos of the area. In Wellington High School, she is a B team cheerleader, plays on the Rockette basketball B team, is freshman class secretary and plays in Skyrocket Band and she belongs to the Youth Center.

Outside of school also she is a member of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary.

As Miss Wellington, Leigh will be featured in the school year book and will represent the town in the annual National Wheatheart contest and compete as Miss Irish Rose in the Shamrock St. Patrick's Day Celebration, as well as take part in other events she may be called on to assist with.

Cindy, Miss Runner-up, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saied, Jr. She is 17 and a junior.

In school she is secretary of the Student Council, a cheer leader, former historian of the Future Teachers of America, and she belongs to Ko Shari and the Beta Club. She is a former editor of the school newspaper and vice president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Last summer Cindy was a representative of the Jaycees in this district in the state Safe Driving Road-o.

Nature Trails to Be Constructed

AUSTIN.—Three interagency contracts totaling $8,000 have been let to the Texas Department of Corrections for the construction of nature trails in three State parks for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Tyler State Park is to get a one-fourth mile trail, Caddo Lake State Park will get a two-mile trail, and Mission Tejas State Park will get a one-half-mile trail.

Tom McGlathery, the parks interpretive planner for the Parks and Wildlife Department, who laid out the trails, says they will present the most unusual natural features of the parks to the public.

"The trails are routed so that they will pass such things as odd-shaped trees or ponds and stream life which hold a special significance to the area," says McGlathery.

McGlathery says the trails now under contract, and future trails, will follow an overall theme for each park.

For example, the Mission Tejas trail's theme is botany, the Caddo Lake trail's theme is ecology, and the Tyler trail centers around the streams and the importance of water in the forest community.

Interesting features along the trails will be marked with explanatory signs.

WORLD'S TALLEST HERB

Puya raimondii, the world's tallest herb, grows in the stony reaches of the Bolivian Andes. The herb, which attains a height of 40 feet when full-grown, blooms only once in 150 years and dies after sending a 30-foot flower stalk into the sky.

14,000- ANT MEAL

An armadillo was once observed to eat 14,000 ants at one meal.

Former County Teacher To Be Buried Here

Graveside services for a former Collingsworth County man, William Daniel Stafford, 70, of Portales, N.M., will be conducted at Fairview Cemetery at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, April 3.

He died in a Portales hospital Monday afternoon, March 31. Funeral services were conducted at Wheeler Starlight Chapel in Portales at 2 p.m. Wednesday with the Rev. Clyde Chesnut, pastor of Portales United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Grady McCullough of Oklahoma officiating.

Kelso Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements.

Mr. Stafford was a retired teacher and school administrator. He and his wife were married in 1919 and began their teaching careers in Collingsworth County. After five years they moved to New Mexico in 1924. He was superintendent of the San Jon Schools from 1945 until he retired in 1955.

He was a Methodist, a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Eastern Star, and Woodmen of the World.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Della Stafford of Portales; and five brothers: Leroy Stafford of Wellington; Raymond (Doc) Stafford of Portales; Vernon C. Stafford of Lubbock; Woodrow L. Stafford of Fort Worth; and Norman C. (Buster) Stafford of Houston. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Littleton.

Now It's More Convenient to Drive in Texas

Motorists found it more convenient to drive in Texas during 1968. One reason was the abundance of safety rest areas, roadside parks and scenic turnouts along the highway system.

More than 1,100 such facilities were maintained for the convenience of travelers. Eight more pairs of "super" safety rest areas on the Interstate system were opened. These feature rest room facilities, drinking water, covered picnic arbors, fireplaces and travel information displays, all in pleasant, well-landscaped surroundings.

Fourteen such pairs of rest areas are now in use.

The first settlement at Baltimore was made in 1662.

State Senator Jack Hightower of Vernon visits with children at the Masonic Home and School in Fort Worth following his talk during Public Schools Week. Senator Hightower, who has served as Grand Orator of the Grand Lodge of Texas, has sponsored visits by the Masonic Home children to the State Capital each year. Senator Hightower is serving on the Senate Education Committee and the Committee on Youth Affairs. He talked to several hundred persons on "the crisis in public education," and urged that citizens take a full-time, active interest in the affairs of the public education system.

Home Furnishings Have New Look

COLLEGE STATION.—Fashion emphasis in 1969 home furnishings will reflect a new Fluid Look, reports Extension housing specialist Jane Berry. Fluid Look is making its market debut in the designs of fabrics for draperies and upholstery and in floor coverings.

The new look is flowing and soft with movement in color, texture, pattern and design. The look avoids the tight or static appearance of bold geometric designs, says the specialist for Texas A&M University.

The Fluid Look designs can be just as bold as the wildest geometric, but they are freer and looser in feeling.

Mrs. Berry explains that designers have discovered that at least one large scale flowing design to combine with tight, small scale geometrics gives the best effect.

The specialist expects the new Fluid Look to excite home furnishings markets in all textile furnishings, but especially in floor coverings.

Norwood Girls, Arnett Boys, Win Tourney

Samnorwood girls and Arnett boys won first places in the Samnorwood invitational elementary school basketball tournament, played Thursday through Saturday, March 27 to 29.

The Norwood girls defeated Lela 9 to 6 to take the title. Third place went to Lefors and Quail girls won the consolation trophy. Winner of the sportsmanship trophy was the Erick girls team.

Arnett boys, who played consistently strong ball, took the title 33 to 19 from Shamrock, who received second place.

Samnorwood boys won third and the consolation trophy went to Erick boys. Lefors boys received the sportsmanship award.

Two games went into double overtimes on the first day, when Erick girls defeated Shamrock 10 to 7, then Lefors boys took a game from Quail 14-13.

"We had some real fine ball games, with a good turnout each day, and especially Saturday night," said Coach Kenneth Martindale. "For a Pee-wee tournament, the teams did exceptionally well."

In the girls division, other first round games Thursday were Lela 17, Arnett 12; Lefors Optimist 13, Quail 8; and Samnorwood 35, Dodson 11.

In the second round, championship bracket, Lela won over Erick 21 to 9; Samnorwood over Lefors Optimist 37 to 10. Second round consolation bracket games were Shamrock 11, Arnett 9; and Quail 32, Dodson 17.

Quail girls defeated Shamrock 11-10 in the consolation finals, and Lefors won over Quail 20 to 14 for third place.

Boys Games

First round boys games saw Samnorwood defeat Dodson 15 to 7; Shamrock win over Erick 16 to 15; Arnett over Lela 29 to 7; and Lefors over Quail 14-13.

The second round championship play, Shamrock won over Samnorwood 11 to 9 and Arnett over Lefors 27 to 5.

Erick defeated Dodson 23 to 10 in second round consolation games, and Quail won over Lela 31 to 6.

Erick then defeated Quail 17 to 11 to win consolation finals while Samnorwood took third place by defeating Lefors 11 to 8.

Coach Martindale and Coach Bill Wilson of Quail officiated in the finals, while Coach Martindale and the high school boys basketball team did the officiating in the remainder of the games.

Governor's Safety Program Endorsed by Safety Group

AUSTIN. — Governor Preston Smith's traffic safety program featuring use of chemical tests to determine degree of driver intoxication and licensing of police officers has been endorsed by the Texas Safety Association.

In an action taken by the Association's board of directors, support was given to a proposal requiring persons arrested for drunken driving to take a breath test.

"A simple test of a person's breath can quickly determine whether or not a person is too intoxicated to drive safely," Robert F. Miller, Dallas, Texas Safety Association's vice president for traffic safety, said.

"Chemical analyses of a person's breath can tell how much alcohol is in his blood and the National Highway Safety Standards say that persons with 10 percent alcohol in their blood are too intoxicated to drive. A healthy 200-pound man would have to drink six ounces of 100-proof whiskey in an hour to reach this degree of intoxication," Miller added.

Pointing to the fact that 68 percent of Texans killed in one-car accidents were drunk when they died, the Texas Safety Association official urged the adoption of a breath test law as "the only scientific method of successfully combating the problem of the drunken driver."

"A breath test law can remove the guesswork. Some illnesses make a person appear to be intoxicated and without the use of a scientific breath test such an unfortunate person could be falsely accused of drunken driving. A breath test law can also help determine the difference between a person who has just one or two drinks and one who is intoxicated," Miller concluded.

Field Work Completed for Texas Recreation Study

AUSTIN. — After 15,000 interviews by 200 professional pollsters, the field work of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Outdoor Recreation Demand Study is now complete, according to Ron Jones, director of the comprehensive planning section for the Department. Collingsworth was one of the counties polled.

Jones said the purpose of the project is to find out what kind of outdoor recreation Texans use and want. Persons in 120 cities were interviewed.

These analyses will become available to cities and councils of government for their overall recreation planning as the different programs are run on the computer. The first analysis will be available the first part of 1970.

The study is a large part of an effort to come up with a comprehensive recreation plan. "The objective," says Jones, "is to develop a plan that is acceptable to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation so the state may qualify for funds under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965, and at the same time, to develop a plan that is directed to the needs of Texans for outdoor recreation."

The Parks and Wildlife Department was designated as the state agency to cooperate with the federal government in the administration of the provisions of any federal assistance programs for the planning, acquisition, operation, and development of the outdoor recreation resources of the state.

The plan will take into account all outdoor recreation activities; all resources and programs significant in providing outdoor recreation opportunities within the state; recreation needs of all segments of the population, including special requirements for urban residents, aged, low income groups and handicapped; and to provide measures to preserve and enhance the quality of the outdoor recreation environment in both natural and man-made settings.

Lay Diabetes Meeting Set

The regular monthly meeting of the Amarillo Area Diabetes Lay Society will be held in the Social Hall of Polk Street Methodist Church on Tuesday, April 8.

Dr. John M. Pickett, Amarillo physician and pediatrician will be the featured speaker, and will talk on "Juvenile Diabetes and Proper Treatment." Parents of diabetic children will be particularly interested in this subject.

Only about one child in every 2,500 has diabetes. Nowadays, diabetes can be so well controlled that the child who has diabetes can expect to lead a life such as other children, can grow to healthy adulthood, can marry and look forward to having a family and living a long life. Juvenile diabetes is a type which is usually defined as having its onset before the age of 15 years. Summer camps set up specially for the child with diabetes teach him how to care for himself.

The public is invited to the meetings of the Amarillo Area Diabetes Lay Society, and particularly those who have diabetes or are related to diabetics. The mailing address is 3400 S. Jackson St., Amarillo, Texas 79109.

Other Editors Say . . .

Local Newspapers Stimulate Nation's Small Communities

So much emphasis has been laid on the troubles of cities that the magazine, U. S. News and World Report recently published a feature story on pleasant places to live in the U. S., and there are plenty of them.

As U. S. News points, in 1969 two-thirds of the nation's people are living in communities of less than 50,000. In these smaller communities all across the U. S., there is law and order, race tension is absent and schools are filled with young people with a purpose in life.

The stability of these communities stems from the quality of their citizens and no better indication of that quality is found than in the local newspaper which constitutes the only printed historical record of community life.

More than this, the local editor and his paper are more often than not the primary means of articulating the hopes and aspirations of the locality. And the local editor, by candid editorial expression, stimulates discussion and the formulation of public opinion on a wide range of local and national issues.

In no small measure, the stability of the local community and its influence on national affairs stems from its local newspaper.

It is gratifying to record that there are nearly 11,000 weekly and small daily newspapers in the United States. As guardians of a free press, they help to preserve this country as a pleasant place in which to live.

—Hammond, La., Daily Star.

Wide of the Mark

It is an accepted fact that untold billions of dollars of U. S. aid to foreign nations has been misused. Mr. Thomas Scanlan, publisher of the magazine THE SURPLUS RECORD, following a three-month tour around the world by ship, train and plane, observed, "The time has come for all Americans to demand that American Aid go directly to the people of the underdeveloped nations without any strings or pay-offs. If we can't do this, let's keep our money at home and use it to eradicate some of our own poverty, which has been making the headlines lately."

—The Journal (St. Joseph, Mo.)

Bright Bean

A new electrolytic cell is finding varied use in industry because of its ability to add, subtract and remember information.

It's size has been likened to that of a bean. If these devices become more sophisticated and enable machines using them to talk, we won't be startled to hear one admiring machine say to a problem-solving companion, "That's using the old bean."

—Fort Worth Star-Telegram

There's something about a can of paint and a paint brush that inspires a woman—and perspires her husband.

The busybody who always wants to know what's cooking in the front office may find out it's his own goose.

Lest We Forget

AUSTIN.—Showdown time is near in the Legislature. That's when the time comes for crucial issues of spending and taxation.

Moving at a billion-dollars-a-minute clip, the Senate whipped through a record $5.8 billion 1970-71 appropriations bill which would require a minimum $63.3 million in new taxes.

Of this $5.8 billion budget, $69.7 million is recommended for support of the State Department of Public Safety, an increase of $10.2 million over the current level of spending by that agency. Difference would pay for the hiring of 150 more highway patrolmen, 50 more narcotics agents and 10 additional intelligence agents as well as $864,638 for an addition to the Homer Garrison Jr. Police Training Academy in Austin.

Despite all its heft, the Senate bill contained no funds for the anticipated $220 million teacher-pay-raise, the contemplated $30 million lift in the welfare ceiling, $16.5 million for two new medical schools, $7.5 million for a new dental school or $6 million for planning new colleges.

Include these high-priority items and you are looking at a tax bill a lot closer to $354 million than $63.3 million.

However, House Speaker Gus Mutscher has called for an appropriations bill which will require no new revenue. It would include money for new medical schools, dental school and college planning.

Major differences in the bills is in the area of higher education, where the Senate would raise general fund appropriations of 22 senior colleges and universities $106.5 million, public junior colleges $19.3 million.

First hearings on major tax bills are getting under way. Hearing on Governor Preston Smith's supplemental revenue recommendation, to place a one half of one percent levy on chemical producers and raise the cigarette rate to 15 cents a pack, will be set for mid-April.

House may very well pass its version of the budget next week. It would permit a $240 million increase in general revenue spending without additional taxes. Difference between lean House and fat Senate spending measures must be ironed out in conference committee during the next two months.

Tax battle, which must start in the House, will see-saw back

CROSSROADS REPORT

WORD IS that the swallows got back to Capistrano this year on their scheduled date, March 19, which kept the birds' record about perfect for 192 years.

Evolutionists will consider this as further proof of Nature's skill at evolving creatures to meet conditions, like these little birds which are tuned to hit that March 19 target date in spite of mankind shifting it back and forth with the Leap Year gimmick.

And maybe in another few hundred years, the evolutionary process will get us country people fixed up with roosters that are geared to Daylight Saving Time.

MY CONGRESSMAN has been writing home to complain about the dangerous conditions he works under, up there in Washington, but it's hard to tell whether he wants constituents to send a posse to clean up the place, or to rescue him by bringing him home.

He says the crime situation plumb deplorable up there, with not even great high officials being safe from robbers and assassins and somebody called "they". Says he had just got there for this session when "they" crammed that 41 percent pay raise down his throat in spite of all his kicking and screaming.

TODAY'S CURRENCY

Starting with July, 1929, all new bills printed were of a smaller size. They were approximately 2.61 inches by 6.14 inches and .0043 inches thick. This is our currency size today.

These new notes will stack 233 to one inch. One dollar bills stacked the height of the Washington monument would be worth $1,552,974.00. This would be a fitting though expensive companion piece. George Washington's portrait is on the one dollar bill.

When paper currency becomes too worn for continued circulation, it is withdrawn and replaced. They are destroyed by incineration and must be reduced to ashes.

A one dollar bill can take about 18 months of vigorous circulation wear. There are over a billion of them in circulation.

water plan. Senators further approved their $5.8 billion version of the budget and voted for a constitutional amendment to remove the welfare ceiling.

Voting date on the water bond and welfare amendments was set at August 5. Hopefully, several other constitutional amendments, including volunteer firemen's benefits, college student loans, and an increase in the interest rate on constitutional bond funds will be submitted on the same date. To get on the August ballot, measures must be finally passed by the Legislature no later than April 16, due to the 90-day advertising requirements.

House passed bills to establish a University of Texas medical school branch in Houston and authorize state payment of moving expenses to property owners displaced by highway right-of-way buying.

Private-College Subsidy

Texas college students who attend private schools will have some relief from the cost of tuition if Rep. Lynn Nebers of Brownwood has his way. He has submitted three bills that would provide assistance to students of private colleges. Each of the three are different plans. HB 451 would equalize the tuition paid by a resident at state and non-state schools. HB 1153 would establish a Tuition Scholarship Program for state students attending private schools, and HB 1154 would authorize the Co-ordinating Board, Texas College and University System, to pay a private school a given amount of money for every Texas graduate.

Traffic Ticket Immunity

State Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin has touched some state lawmakers on a very sore spot.

He wants them to renounce their immunity from traffic and parking citations in the capital city. Angly said, as an Austin lawmaker, he has participated in the practice of "taking care of" his colleagues' tickets and is ashamed of it. He introduced a resolution asking legislators to go on record as "expressing a desire to be treated without special favor or undue accord."

U.I.L. May Go

In the Legislature is a bill to abolish the University Interscholastic League, which administers all inter-high school athletic and literary competition. Proposal by Rep. Burke Musgrove of Breckenridge would put all UIL functions under the State Board of Education.

Musgrove says his bill is in response to complaints about UIL's strict rules, such as those prohibiting gifts to athletes and requiring a year's layoff for athletes after a change of schools.

Another bill, by Rep. Bill Swanson of Houston, would invalidate the UIL rule requiring that year's lay-off. Both measures are awaiting hearing in the House Public Education Committee.

Courts Speak

Third Court of Civil Appeals tossed out Fort Worth Sundaco Inc.'s suit to determine the legality of its scheme for evading the state's Sunday closing law. Court said operations, that include "buying stock" of certain stores every Saturday night, have not been challenged yet.

Meanwhile, State Supreme Court heard arguments on the constitutionality of a 1961 closing law. San Antonio discount houses claim the law is vague and indefinite and therefore invalid. Bexar County District Court held the law unconstitutional. State appealed.

The High Court declared the state's new polygraph-examiners licensing law is unconstitutional. This due to a defective title which fails to size up the full extent of coverage.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the death penalty given a Dallam County man for rape of a 74-year-old woman.

Cities Get Sales Tax Rebate

Nearly 290 Texas cities last week received a whopping $28.2 million in allocations from the state comptroller as their share of the one percent local option municipal tax for the last quarter of 1968.

Total ranged from $122 for little Josephine to $6.4 million for big Houston. Comptroller reported totals exceeded expect-tations in nearly all cases.

Tax Facts Uncorked

Committee on Public School Education has released its study on school district tax inequalities which admittedly may provoke legal action.

Survey found "inequities are the rule in this state rather than the exception," that 64% of state's school districts have an average ratio of assessed value to market value of 20% or less. Ratio's range from 14% on undeveloped land to 41% on banks and private homes.

COPSE Chairman Leon Jaworski of Houston said the Committee was reluctant to publish figures since they might lead to embarrassment for many local districts.

Legislators sponsoring the COPSE recommendations as bills in House and Senate said that, whether legal action results or not, people "have both a right to know the facts and an obligation to take appropriate action."

COPSE bills, aired before the House Public Education Committee last week, came under heavy shelling from rural school spokesmen and property owners. Particularly repugnant to rural opponents were proposals to slash the number of school districts from 1,218 to 353 and to equalize taxes on strict market value basis.

Game Violations Show Upward Trend

AUSTIN—Game management officers of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department cleared 932 game, fish and water safety violations during February, 1969, a 12% increase over the 833 violations cleared during February, 1968.

The figure "conforms to the upward trend of law violations reported nationally," says J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the department.

Heading the list were hunting violations, with 508. Of these, 82 were for hunting at night, 65 for no hunting license, 47 for discharging a firearm on a public road, and 40 for trespassing to hunt.

There were 118 fishing violations, 109 for fishing without a license.

Commercial fishing violations numbered 25, and water safety violations numbered 76.

Disposition of cases shows: 730 convicted, 80 dismissed, 9 appealed to a higher court, 5 had the fine suspended, 78 had money retained by the county, 5 found not guilty, 1 placed on probation, 16 juveniles, and 8 voided.

Drip Comes Out of Drip-Dry Cottons

A new chemical finishing process for durable press cotton garments has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The process imparts to cotton fabric the capacity to dry smoothly when hung on a line while damp, after the spin-dry cycle on the washing machine, instead of dripping wet after the rinse cycle. It's known as the "mild-cure" process.

Age and Sex May Help Determine Who's a Litterbug

According to George Gallup, Jr., president of the American Institute of Public Opinions, sex and age have a strong bearing on whether a person is a "litterbug". A recent Gallup survey shows men litter nearly twice as much as women.

The survey further shows people between the ages of 21 and 35 litter twice as much as those between 35 to 49 and three times as much as people over 50. The survey also gave insight into why people litter—carelessness, laziness and indifference, or because no trash receptacles were available.

The people interviewed had decided views as to what should be done about the litter problem. They said laws against littering should be more strictly enforced than at present, there should be more trash cans, and more programs of public education on littering.

Lajuanna Bailey Wins Homemaking Award

A charming young Wellington native who now lives at Shamrock is the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Texas.

She is Lajuanna Bailey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey of Shamrock. Her award is a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills.

Lajuanna ranked first among 32,952 senior girls in 928 Texas high schools.

As the Texas State Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1969, she, along with the state winners from the other 49 states and the District of Columbia, is eligible for honors as All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. The winner of this award will be determined on the basis of her score in the original test plus personal observation and interviews during an expense-paid tour of Washington, D.C., and Colonial Williamsburg, Va., for state winners, each accompanied by a faculty advisor. The national Homemaker will be announced at the American Table Dinner in Williamsburg, and her scholarship will be increased to $5,000.

Lajuanna was born in St. Joseph's Hospital and lived at Lute as a child. In Shamrock High School she was a homemaker student of Mrs. P. M. Scott, until the latter joined the Wellington faculty at the beginning of this year.

Lajuanna's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fain of Lute. Mrs. Bailey worked at Parsons Drug some years ago.

Enemy of Cotton Insect Pests Now Reared in Lab

COLLEGE STATION. — A USDA biochemist at Texas A&M University has developed an artificial diet for mass rearing of aphid lions, a big enemy of many insect pests.

Dr. Erma S. Vanderzant has successfully raised 10 generations of the little predators on a water solution of amino acids, sugars, vitamins, salts and other nutrients. Best results were had by feeding the lions twice daily on tiny cellulose sponges saturated with the diet.

Aphid lions are the larvae of the green lacewing (Chrysopa carnea). The larvae have a hefty appetite for insects pests of corn, cotton, tobacco, tomatoes and other crops. Research at A&M is aimed primarily at bugs that feed on cotton.

The first major national labor organization in the USA was known as "The Knights of Labor."

Paper New for Home Furnishings

You can stand on it, sit on it, store in it and then throw it away when you get tired of it. What is this material new to home furnishings? Paper.

It is reinforced with nylon and impregnated with glass fibers, says Bonny Lay, Extension home furnishing specialist.

Fiberboard can be coated with polyethylene film and paperboard can be finished with plastic. Storage units, draperies, rugs, chairs and tables of paper products are now on the market, she says.

ASCS Employees Go to Meeting

Millard Brown, office manager of the Collingsworth County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, and Mrs. Tom Wilkins, office employee, attended a bi-district meeting in Amarillo Thursday, March 27.

It was called to discuss the ACP handbook. In charge was N. B. F. McGuire, head of the ACP department of the state ASCS, College Station.

He is a cousin of Travis McGuire of Buck Creek community.

Guess Who

About one-third of every dollar we spend goes to help pay the RUNNING expenses — and the GROWING expenses — of some American community... OUR community, if we spend that dollar at home... SOMEBODY ELSE'S community, if we spend the dollar where HE lives.

But schools and roads and streets, churches and local charities, police and fire protection, ... all of the normal necessities and conveniences of community life... go on costing about the same.

So... with community expenses the same, and community income LESS... who makes up the difference? WE DO. You might say it's sort of like paying taxes TWICE... once for the other fellow... and then going down in our pockets to pay them again... for ourselves.

Washington Report

From Congressman

BOB PRICE 18TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1222 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-3706

A recent farm newsletter I received began with a reminder that without the electoral votes of the midwestern farm states, Richard M. Nixon would not be President. Although Texas failed to award Nixon its electoral votes, the Panhandle area did almost solidly support him.

The letter is headed "Nixon's No. 2 Problem — Low Farm Prices" and continues:

The economic situation of the American farmers is the worst since the "great depression" and instead of improving, it is worsening. Farm prices are depressed and farm debt is high. Next to ending the war in Vietnam, the most important problem confronting President Nixon is that of extending to farmers and the residents of farm communities the same degree of prosperity as is now enjoyed by people in business and industry, government and the professions. The first step toward carrying out such a program is the inauguration of an honest and comprehensive study of the entire farm situation; a study that will answer three questions: (1) how bad is the farm problem; (2) how did it get that way and (3) what is required to remedy it.

In conducting the study, there are several avenues of investigation which should be pursued. It should be determined if the Kennedy-Johnson team of "new economists" utilized every possible means of depressing farm prices for the purpose of keeping food costs low while inflating wages and profits in business and industry to create prosperity. For example, did the government repeatedly sell wheat domestically from government stocks for the purpose of depressing wheat prices? Did the government curtail wheat sales to foreign nations and grants in aid to needy peoples in order to keep government-held wheat surpluses at high levels? Did it allow increased imports of beef from New Zealand, Australia, and Argentina for the purpose of depressing beef prices in this country? Did it permit increased imports of dairy products from European countries in order to depress dairy farm prices in the U.S.?

Another avenue of investigation should be devoted to a study of the policies, practices and present financial condition of Farmers Home Administration. Among other items, it should be determined if the policy of Farmers Home Administration has been to grant low cost loans only to those farmers who are unable, on account of their poor financial status, to obtain loans from cooperative or commercial banking agencies. If such is the case, was the policy adopted for the purpose of keeping inefficient and incompetent farmers on the farms to produce price depressing farm surpluses? Former Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman in a farewell interview with the press stated that loans granted by Farmers Home Administration increased from around 300 million dollars a year to almost one and a half billion in 1963. One phase of the study should be to determine how the billions of government funds loaned out were spent and how much of the total loaned is recoverable.

What action the new government takes in connection with the farm problem is up to President Nixon. He can attack the problem with all of the facilities at his command to attain sound and lasting solutions, or he can gloss it over as did his predecessors. If he should follow the latter course, he is apt to awaken on the morning of election day, 1972, with a message from the farmers of the nation, "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting."

I believe both the President and Secretary of Agriculture understand the urgent and vital need of a substantial increase in farm income and that agriculture must be restored to a sound economic basis.

Members of the House Agriculture Committee, on which I serve, are also acutely aware of the need for a solution to this critical problem. Achieving adequate farm income is the first necessary step in solving not only our rural problems but in a large way can contribute to the solution of the crisis in the cities.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Now that General Dwight D. Eisenhower is in his final resting place in Abilene, Kansas, it is time to say goodbye for the time; but there are millions who will continue to remember his shining courage and morality as long as they live. He took over the presidency in a time of trouble and frantic discontent and he left it with prosperity assured and with confidence restored. His individual and public integrity gave hope to people around the world.

Eisenhower's Administration brought prosperity that was based on sound economic grounds and there were specific steps forward that are becoming more significant as the years go by. It should be remembered that the space program was launched under Eisenhower. His much discussed Ezra Taft Benson did more to reduce the huge farm surpluses and restore export trade for agricultural products than any secretary of agriculture in history. Eisenhower led his country through the most critical period of the Cold War without any international disaster. And in all of his trials he had a confidence and a spirituality that was an inspiration.

The opinion of people here was that Ike was the best liked President the nation has had in recent years and their judgment was much the same as that of the people of the whole country. The polls continued to show Eisenhower as the most admired and respected man in the nation during his eight years in the White House and for four years after. The important reality is not that he was admired; but that there were basic moral reasons for this esteem. His character earned it.

Collingsworth good roads advocates appearing before The Texas Highway Commission Tuesday were told that they should speak to their representatives in both the Senate and House on the importance of continuing the F.M. road program on its present level. It was pointed out that the representatives from the metropolitan areas are wanting to reduce this program to a minimum and put the highway money, as they say, "where it will serve the most people".

Two members of the House of Representatives met with the Collingsworth and Gray County groups. These were Tom Christian of Claude and Malouf Abraham of Canadian. Both are Republicans.

Rebecca Owens and Louise Wells say they have visited Childress enough for one week. Tuesday morning they were notified by phone to meet Ralph and me at the Wichita Falls Airport at 12:51. Later they were told by the Highway Patrol and City Police to get on back to Wellington. We could not make the plane. On reaching the Wellington Leader they were notified that we had made the plane and to set out again. By some miracle and the four lane roads they reached the airport only seven minutes after we landed. On passing through Childress the policeman gave us a wave and a big laugh.

One-Act Play First in UIL Competition

A big First came to Wellington High School Monday, March 31, when its one-act play was judged first in District 2-AA University Interscholastic League competition.

In so far as can be remembered, this is the only time Wellington has won first in the district one-act play contest.

Directed by Mrs. Bob McAlister, "The Scarecrow" will be presented in regional competition at Lubbock Saturday, April 19.

Two Wellington students were picked for the all-district cast, Sam Dyess, who had the part of the Scarecrow, and Glenn Barber, who played the Scare Human.

The contest judge, Dr. Reeves of Howard Payne College, praised the cast for its diction and placing on the stage, and for the costumint.

The story of "The Scarecrow," a newer play, concerns the universal search for happiness.

The cast included: Mary Bearden, the witch; Charlotte Masten, the fairy; Sam Dyess, the scarecrow; Glen Barber, the scare human; Mickey Ann Kendrick, a little girl; Andy Lowe, the old man; Barry Johnson, the king; Debbie Lewis, the princess; Sharon Gaston, the jester; and Kenny Henry, the man in the audience.

Ted Martin was stage manager and Carol Burba was in charge of makeup and costumint.

Max Phipps, who has entered the ministry of the Assemblies of God churches, has been chosen the pastor of the church at White Deer, and he and Mrs. Phipps are already holding Sunday services there.

They will move in mid-April. Rev. Phipps, who has been employed at East Side Welding, began preaching in June 1968, and received his exhorter's license. He will soon appear before the examining board of the West Texas District of the Assemblies of God to receive his permanent license. He was graduated from high school here.

His wife, Pat, has been secretary in the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce office two years. A graduate of Plainview High School, she also attended Clarendon Junior College.

Both are active in the Wellington Assembly of God, he serving as Sunday School superintendent and she as Sunday School secretary.

Rev. Phipps is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murl Phipps. He is the third young man to enter the ministry from the Wellington Assembly of God within the past year. Leo Rivest is now pastor of the Stanton Church and James Poteet is pastor of a church at Luling.

"BELLING THE CAT"

The expression, "belling the cat," means to take one on a dangerous task for the benefit of others. The phrase has been traced back to one of the very earliest English poems, "Piers Plowman", and originated from the fable in which the mice proposed to insure their safety from the cat by putting a bell on him so they could hear his approach and escape. Their problem was to decide which of them would put the bell on the cat.
