Laniel Rejected By Assembly, Submits Cabinet Resignation

George N. Richardson, 82-year-old Dunn farmer, figures he will quit farming when he finishes this crop, which consists of 40 acres of cotton and 40 of grain sorghum. He has been farming on the same place for more than 60 years, and, as shown here, he still makes use of a horse-mule team occasionally. Richardson was one of the earliest settlers in the Dunn community and one of the first farmers to raise cotton in this county.

Veteran Dunn Farmer Is Still Using His Horse-Mule Team

Rarely does a man work until he is past 80 years old, especially in as hard work as a person must do on a farm.

Those who do that seldom do any of the heavier work in the field, but one Scurry County man is not only still farming at 82 years old but is sometimes using a horse-mule team to pull his equipment.

He is George N. Richardson, who farms about two miles northeast of Dunn. The old-time Scurry resident does not farm all the original Richardson land, since most of it is cared for by one of his sons, Ollie Richardson, but he does take care of a quarter section, 80 acres of which is in cultivation.

This is probably his last year to be active in farm work, Richardson said, explaining that his son does do much of the work even on the 80 acres. For instance, the first time 40 acres of cotton was planted on Richardson's small tract it was done by Ollie Richardson with a tractor. This week, the older Richardson was replanting the crop, which had been washed out by the last big rain. This planting was being done with equipment drawn by Richardson's team. The team is composed of Judy, the horse, and Charlie, the mule. Both the animals have been with Richardson about 15 years.

Not all Richardson's work is done by team-drawn equipment. "We've got three tractors," he said, referring to himself and Ollie Richardson, "but Ollie was busy this time with them and I didn't want to bother him."

Very active for his age, Richardson has the 40 acres of cotton and another 40 in grain sorghum. He is optimistic this year about crop prospects, hoping the drouth has ended. This is about the third drouth Richardson has seen in West Texas, and he calls this the worst. "We had good crops for 30 to 35 years before this drouth came up," Richardson said. Included in those years was one when Richardson had about 150 acres of cotton and carried about 100 bales to the gin. The Richardson farm was a fair-sized operation in those days. Instead of one team of animals, Richardson had 10 head of mules, which were used to pull four planters or four cultivators.

The Richardsons were among the first Scurry farmers to raise cotton. Richardson said he first started cotton on seed left over from use in Hood County, where he was born Oct. 30, 1871, and lived until he was about 18 years old. "We planted the cotton in about every third furrow," the oldtimer said. "We didn't know whether it would grow out here or not." Sorghum was also planted, and both crops grew. The sorghum, Richardson said, got as high as a man's head.

Before they planted cotton, the Richardsons ran cattle on the place northeast of Dunn. They continued with cattle after they added cotton farming to their activities. Aiding Richardson then were his two sons, Ollie and E. J., now of Snyder, and two daughters, who are now Mrs. Clyde Williams of Elk City, Okla., and Mrs. Fred Cherry of Pampa.

Richardson first married Susie Dunn in 1892 at Dunn, shortly after he had come to this county. He started the Richardson farm at about the time he married. His wife had been the daughter of H. A. Dunn, postmaster-farmer in the community, for whom the town was named. His first wife died in 1940. About seven years ago he married Pearl Allen. The couple lives not far from Ollie Richardson's home.

Richardson is well-known as a conservation farmer, according to soil conservationists here. Last year he completed terracing all his farmland as his most recent conservation practice.

Snyder Man Is Hurt In Wreck

Billy Don Harris, Snyder National Guardsman about 21 years old, was injured yesterday in an automobile accident near Comanche.

Harris, an equipment operator for Dowell Chemical Co., was believed driving his 1951 Oldsmobile at the time of the accident.

A staff physician at the Blackwood Clinic-Hospital at Comanche said late yesterday afternoon he considered Harris' condition fair but that extent of the Snyder man's injuries had not been fully determined. Other guardsmen were said to be with Harris at the time of the accident but were not seriously injured.

Harris is the son of Mrs. Virgie Harris, 3012 Avenue V, an operator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here. He was believed returning from summer guard encampment at Fort Hood.

Police Shoot Down Gunman

DETROIT, June 12 (AP)—A man apparently gone berserk was killed and four policemen wounded in a wild gun battle on Detroit's East Side today.

Police identified the dead man as Malachi Benjamin, 40.

Patrolman Larence Magnotte, one of those wounded, said: "We got a call that a man was on a porch with a rifle. He ran inside when we drove up. He had a shotgun, too. Everyone started shooting."

Seriously wounded were Police Lt. Valde Kreiger and Patrolmen Robert Fullerton and Harold Davis. Magnotte was shot in the right hand.

Neighbors said they didn't know why Benjamin appeared with the guns. One told police: "He just came out and started yelling and waving them around."

Around 100 curious crowded toward the house during the battle as police tried vainly to keep them out of danger. Police fired 48 shots during the exchange. They said that Benjamin was firing almost constantly.

Negro Shot To Death

HOUSTON, June 12 (AP)—A 22-year old Negro was shot to death last night by an off-duty police officer.

Motorcycle patrolman T. C. Picken Jr., 27, said he shot James Ira Williams after Williams lunged at him with an eight-inch knife.

Vietnamese Stem Assault

HANOI, Indochina, June 12 (AP)—Vietnamese Catholic militiamen, fighting side by side with French forces, beat back a Vietminh night assault on their village 15 miles northwest of this war capital, in the only heavy Red River Delta fighting in the past 24 hours.

A French army spokesman said possibly 700 Communist-led Vietminh raiders turned back after the battle, at Vinhmo. Both sides suffered "substantial losses" and several Catholic militiamen were captured.

In another part of the rice-rich delta, French pilots flying American fighters and bombers hit a Vietminh guerrilla base 10 or 15 miles east of Hanoi. French patrols roamed the area between Hanoi and Son Tay, 25 miles to the northwest, but met no Vietminh units.

With monsoon rains likely to deluge the delta by the end of June, French military sources predict that Red forces will launch their expected big thrust at the delta within the next few weeks. The French were pouring reinforcements into vital delta defense posts.

Baseball Park Is No Good For Campaign

LONGVIEW, Tex., June 12 (AP)—State Representative D. H. Buchanan of Longview thought he'd do a little politickin' over at the Little League Baseball Park.

He shook hands with some young sluggers and their coaches—and stood along a baseline.

A line drive smacked into him sharply.

Buchanan had no comment this morning, but it was noticeable that he did most of his sittin' down standin' up.

Local Politics At Virtual Standstill

Campaigning among candidates for political office in the Snyder area has so far been unusually quite this year, although the first Democratic primary is just six weeks from yesterday.

By contrast, the picture two years ago was of about twice as many candidates in the midst of public political rallies scheduled in Snyder, Fluvanna, Hermleigh, and Ira. So far this year, none has been scheduled.

Two years ago, the program of the rallies was planned and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and each rally was attended by a large crowd, 300 attending each rally at Ira, Fluvanna, and Hermleigh, and about 1,000 attending one here.

Except for the numbers of persons attending the rallies, they were much the same with about 40 candidates speaking at each. At the Snyder rally, 46 county and district candidates spoke.

This year, there are only 23 announced candidates for county offices here and for offices of districts of which Scurry County is a part. Only seven of the 16 offices have a plurality of candidates. Nine candidates are running unopposed, six races are being run by two candidates in each, and three persons are seeking one office.

About the nearest thing to a rally so far this year was the recent oral announcements of two opposing candidates who attended the Borden County Reunion, an annual event at Gail.

Near the close of the barbecue festival, opportunity was given for any politicians present to speak. C. F. (Frank) Sentell addressed the group by saying that he sought a second term to the state legislature from this district as representative. Robert R. Patterson then addressed the group by giving his name and saying that he was seeking the same office. Both are residents of Snyder.

N. C. Outlaw of Post was a candidate for this office until his withdrawal about two weeks ago.

Other candidates for county and district offices involving Scurry County are Mrs. Eunice Weathersbee for district clerk of this county ;Mrs. Mollie Pinkerton, incumbent, and Mrs. Leona Weathers for county treasurer; W. C. Davidson for justice of peace of justice precinct 1; Homer Whisnand, incumbent, and Lloyd Merritt for sheriff; Pat Johnston, incumbent, and Dan Cotton for County clerk; Jim Ikard for tax assessor-collector; Edgar Taylor for county judge; Wayland G. Holt for county attorney; Clarence Wade, incumbent, T. B. Knight, and John E. Bryant for county commissioner of precinct 1; Cullen Toombs, incumbent, and Lloyd Devenport for commissioner of precinct 2; L. L. (Pat) Moore for commissioner of precinct 3; Doyle Parmer, incumbent, and Don Robinson for commissioner of precinct 4; Forrest Beavers for county superintendent of schools; Renal Rosson for district attorney, and Harley Sadler of Abilene for state senator.

Campaign platforms, for the most part, have been about as they have in previous election years with no particular controversial issues arising.

One candidate, however, has implied that he will take a stand later on a matter of public controversy concerning the use of the Thomas Y. Pickett & Co. tax evaluation engineering firm, which holds a contract with the county government.

Pickett's firm for several years has held a contract with this county, setting its property valuation for a percentage fee which usually runs about $40,000 a year.

Members of the Snyder School System's board of trustees have occasionally requested the commissioners court to cooperate in terminating the Pickett contract at a date of termination of the school district's contract with another firm so that the two governments could bargain collectively with a firm for cheaper rates.

The school system uses Pritchard & Abbott of Fort Worth and pays a consistently lower fee although the school district's industrial property vaulation is set at a larger total than that of the county government.

Youth Admits Starting Fire In Tenement

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—Chief of Detectives John T. O'Malley said today that a whisky-drinking, cigarette-smoking 11-year-old boy told him he started a tenement building fire which killed seven persons and injured nine.

O'Malley said the boy, Marion Gregory, told him the fire started last night when he "flipped" a cigarette butt into some rubbish in a stair well.

A father and his small son and daughter, a mother and daughter and a brother and sister were trapped in their fourth floor apartments by the fast-spreading flames and perished.

Young Gregory previously told investigators that the fire apparently was started by two men in baseball caps.

In his earlier story, he told officers he was reading a Western novel in his second-floor apartment when he heard voices below.

As he looked out, he said, he heard one man say, "Let's get that gas lit and get out of here." Then he reported seeing two men in baseball caps run into the alley, one carrying a bucket.

Supervising Capt. Robert Ryan said he learned that the boy smokes and drinks whisky on occasion and often flipped away flowing cigarette butts.

The ladd lived in an apartment with his father, Lewis.

Asst. State's Atty. Frank Ferlic said the boy told him that the start of the fire was an accident.

Several investigators said unofficially there were indications that the fast spreading flames fed on gasoline. They based this theory on the swiftness of the fire and heavy charring of wood along a stairway.

The fire caused an estimated $20,000 damage to the tenement building.

An inquest has been set for Monday.

It's Hot In Moscow

MOSCOW, June 12 (AP)—Moscow is having a heat wave. The mercury climbed to 87.8 degrees yesterday, the hottest June 11 in 74 years, and it was just as hot today.

Geneva Parley More Confused

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS, June 12 (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel, who had skinned through two confidence votes in the last five weeks, finally lost out today.

The National Assembly, torn by conflicts over the Indochina war and the proposed European Defense Community, rejected him and his government 306-293.

The 64-year-old Premier, a wealthy Independent Republican who has guided France for 50 weeks, promptly submitted the resignation of his seven-party coalition Cabinet. President Rene Coty, who won out over Laniel in a race for the presidency last December, refused to accept the resignation until a new premier can be found.

The vote created further confusion in the conference in Geneva trying to end the fighting in Indochina. The French government can make no decisions at all, since it is half-in, half-out.

In a day of quick-shifting political developments in a city already bored with the Assembly's instability, these were the highlights:

1. The Assembly defeated Laniel on his demand for deferring consideration of Communist and Socialist resolutions crjtical of his government. Since the votes against him fell seven short of 313, a majority of the total number of deputies, Laniel was not constitutionally obliged to resign. In practice, however, premiers step aside when put in a minority on an important issue.

2. Laniel and his Cabinet met at the Elysee Palace, France's White House. They offered their resignation as a group. Coty did not immediately accept. A new Cabinet meeting will be held Monday and the Laniel government will remain in office at least over the weekend.

3. A source close to Coty said the resignations probably will be accepted, but that the president is anxious to avoid giving the outside world the appearance France is drifting without a government. The president immediately started calling in political leaders to talk about the chances for a new man to get an Assembly majority.

Meantime, Foreign Minister, Georges Bidault said he planned to be back in Geneva Monday to continue work at the Asian conference. Since the Assembly has refused to endorse the Laniel government's policies and has suggested no other, Bidault smilingly remarked he will follow his "personal policy."

The first callers at the Elysee Palace after the Cabinet meeting were Andre le Troquer, president of the National Assembly, and Gaston Monnerville, president of the Council of the Republic (Senate).

The Laniel government has been coming apart at the seams for months because of internal squabbling. Some of its severest critics were members of parties that presumably were supporting him.

On the policy level, there are two great divisions, on Indochina and on the European Army. The present crisis is one of the few in French history motivated by foreign policy. Usually governments fall on relatively minor domestic issues.

Handling of the Indochina situation was the subject of the last confidence votes won by Laniel. He was upheld 311-262 May 6. That was the day before the fall of Dien Bien Phu. May 13 he survived by a margin of only two votes, 289-287.

At that, his government has lasted longer than most in postwar France. The average over the last 10 years has been 5 months, 25 days. He took office June 26, 1953.

Knowland Critical Of Flanders Attack

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) sharply condemned today as a "mistake" and "not justified" a move by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) to oust Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) from his Senate chairmanships.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said that if a fight broke out on the Senate floor over the Flanders proposal it might "completely block" President Eisenhower's legislative program.

Flanders filed in the Senate yesterday a motion that would strip McCarthy of his chairmanship of the Senate Investigations subcommittee and its parent group, the Government Operations Committee, unless he answers questions raised about his finances in a 1953 Senate Elections subcommittee report.

The Flanders motion was permitted to "lie on the desk" without assignment to a committee, which would permit any senator—Republican, Democrat or Independent—to call it up.

Flanders said that despite opposition from Knowland he will push for a showdown in the Senate, unless McCarthy answers the questions raised about him.

"I agree that this is embarrassing to the Republican leadership," Flanders said. "But it's past time for them to be talking about that now."

He said the Senate leaders "should have been thinking about this issue and motion months ago."

"I have not consulted anybody on my speeches dealing with the junior senator from Wisconsin," he said. "If I did consult them, they might talk me out of giving them."

Flanders said his office has been swamped with telegrams since his Senate floor speech and his surprise television appearance to notify McCarthy he was going to make the address.

Taken by surprise by the Flanders move, Knowland told reporters: "I do not believe that is the procedure to be followed" in dealing with McCarthy, currently engaged in a televised controversy with Secretary of the Army Stevens over their charges of "pressure" and "blackmail."

"I don't believe the motion entered is justified," Knowland said. "I think it is contrary to established procedure in the Senate. I think it would open up the door ultimately to action which would be disruptive of Senate procedure and practice established over a long period of years.

"Any action bringing the issue to the floor of the Senate would be certain to precipitate a controversy that might completely block the administration's legislative program."

Despite this, Knowland said he had no plans to consult President Eisenhower about the matter at the regular Monday morning meeting of legislative leaders with the President.

Mock Raid Is Set Monday

By The Associated Press

Promptly at 11:49 a.m., CST, Monday, June 14, one and a half million Texans are going to be in danger—with quotation marks.

In a game of make-believe, imaginary enemy bombers will fly over Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth and drop imaginary atom bombs.

The people will be warned at 8:50 a.m. that the make-believe bombers are on their way.

The three Texas cities are among 42 in the United States, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico selected in an international operation to test civil defense communication.

Fifteen "saboteurs" already have been at work in Houston for days. Monday they're supposed to "blow up" telephone exchanges, bridges, power stations and water facilities.

Fort Worth already has tried out its warning sirens. It has figured out that 87,000 persons will be "killed" and another 24,000 "injured," there.

Spies Sent Up, Reds Report

MOSCOW, Sunday, June 13 (AP)—Two "American spies" have been sentenced to 25 years in prison by the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union, Pravda announced today. The Communist party newspaper said the two men had been spirited into Murmansk with the aid of Norwegian officials.

Pravda identified the alleged spies as Vladimir Constanovich Galai and Juri Alexandrovich Khramtzev.

The story said Galai deserted from the Soviet army in Austria, contacted American Intelligence in Vienna and was sent to a "spy school" under the name of Lawrence O. Johnson.

The account said Khramtzev left the Soviet sector of East Berlin, was picked up by Americans in the Western sector and sent to a "spy school" under the name of Gregory Vasilov.

Charge Is Lodged Against Kidnaper

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 12 (AP)—A kidnaping charge was filed today against short, swarthy Daniel J. Marsin, 41, who was identified by Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith as the man who abducted her and collected $75,000 ransom.

Marsin, an unemployed welder with a wife and two children, had been seized near a ranch house four hours after Mrs. Smith, 23, was released unharmed in the Superstition Mountains Thursday night.

Immediately after filing of the kidnaping charge by County Atty. William P. Mahoney, Marsin was hustled before Justice of the Peace Al Flood. He was ordered held under $20,000 bond.

Marsin had made no statement about the kidnaping.

His wife, permitted to visit him in the city jail, urged him to lead officers to where the ransom money was hidden. He refused.

As the charge was filed against Marsin, officers were searching the foothills of the Superstition Mountains, 45 miles east of Phoenix, for the $75,000. They believed it had been buried.

Hunting the money in that rocky, brush and cactus-covered area was like looking for a needle in a haystack.

The searchers started from a spot where they had found a partially burned valise in which the victim's husband, Herbert, a wealthy pipe and steel company executive, carried the money to the rendezvous with the kidnaper. Then they fanned out over the rugged area, looking for signs of fresh digging or removal of rocks.

Marsin was silent during his brief court appearance. He was represented by John J. Flynn, Phoenix attorney.

County Atty. Mahoney talked with Marsin before filing the charges.

"He gave marginal details of the kidnaping but would neither admit nor deny the act," Mahoney said.

"But, this much I know—he's the guy."

A barking dog caused Marsin's arrest Thursday night. Officers had stopped at the Quarter Circle U. ranch in their search for the kidnaper.

"When the dog barks twice some stranger's around," Mrs. Jim Ruiz told them.

The officers spotted a man skulking in the darkness and seized him.

Marsin told them he had been prospecting in the mountains and had become lost.

BOTH PARTIES MEET MONDAY

By The Associated Press

Democratic and Republican state executive committees meet Monday to certify candidates already out campaigning.

Democrats meet in Austin and Republicans in Dallas.

The purpose is to certify state office candidates in the July 24 primary elections.

There'll be other business, too. Hugh Prather Jr., a Democratic state committeeman from Dallas, said the Democrats "may take some action on the Wright Morrow controversy." Prather said it was likely the committee would reaffirm support of Morrow.

Morrow, from Houston, is Texas' disputed Democratic national committeeman. He resigned in 1952 to support Republican Eisenhower for president. The state committee refused to accept the resignation, but Stephen Mitchell, head of the national committee, said it accepted it and Morrow no longer was committeeman from Texas.

The head of the Republican state committee, Alvin Lane, Dallas, has announced he will resign at Monday's meeting. Republicans are expected to name John G. Adams, Harlingen attorney, as Lane's successor.

Most candidates in the primaries already have launched campaigns.

Gov. Shivers, who has been visiting over the state with his supporters, makes the formal opening speech of his campaign for reelection June 21 in Lufkin, where he was born.

The Governor said he would hold an old-fashioned political rally and deliver a half-hour speech over a state radio network at 8:30 p.m.

The Governor will be out of his office every day in the week prior to his Lufkin rally. His office said Shivers will address the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Assn. in Houston Monday and a chamber of commerce banquet in Pasadena Monday night. He will be at a Houston breakfast for campaign workers Tuesday. Wednesday he will be at a soil conservation meeting in Amarillo. Thursday he will be in Corpus Christi for three speeches. Friday he will address the Texas Press Assn. in Fort Worth and the Arlington chamber of commerce meeting. Saturday he will be at North Ft. Hood for the 36th division's Governor's Day review.

J. J. Holmes, another Democratic candidate for governor, was in West Texas making television appearances.

Ralph Yarborough, also a Democratic candidate for governor, has made several speaking trips.

George Hinson, Mineola, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Saturday wound up a 12-day swing through 31 West Texas and Panhandle counties saying he was confident of victory.

Eden, Molotov Fail To Agree

GENEVA, June 12 (AP)—Anthony Eden and Vyacheslav M. Molotov talked over proposed kill-or-cure remedies for the Geneva conference deadlock today, but failed to reach agreement.

The British and Soviet foreign ministers, co-chairmen of the Indochina parley, conferred for an hour at Molotov's villa on courses which could either break the deadlock or end the conference.

A British spokesman described the talk as inconclusive.

The outcome hardened the view of the Western powers that the conference would begin to break up next week.

The plight of the French Cabinet in Paris added to the general atmosphere of frustration in Geneva.

East and West have been trying for seven weeks to reach some common ground on ways of unifying Korea and bringing peace to Indochina, but progress has been almost imperceptible.

Retired Singer Dies

LOS ANGELES, June 12 (AP)—Leon Rains, 83, retired opera singer and onetime member of the metropolitan and Damrosch-Ellis opera companies, died yesterday after a short illness.

End Of Conference Asked By Knowland

WASHINGTON, June 1 2(AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) called today for an end to the Geneva conference and invited the Associated States of Indochina to declare their independence if France sets up a "peace at any price" government.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader and a member of its Foreign Relations Committee, declared in an interview that Geneva negotiations "have gone on long enough to demonstrate clearly that neither the Soviet Union nor Communist China is prepared to negotiate anything but the abject surrender of the French in Indochina."

With Premier Joseph Laniel having offered his resignation after losing a vote of confidence in the French Assembly, Knowland said he fears a "surrender" government" may be formed.

"It is my very strong belief," he said, "that Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos are not going to sit complacently by and exchange a position of not being completely independent in the French Union for one of complete domination by the Communists.

"The Associated States may issue a declaration of independence, just as we did in 1776, and appeal to the United Nations and the free nations of the world for help if the French are prepared to agree to a settlement which would destroy Indochina's hope of independence and sovereignty.

"I don't believe they are going to sit back and have their freedom bartered away by a French government that may be established on a 'peace at any price' basis."

Knowland said he thinks the three states might be willing to accept help from the republic of Korea, aid that the French previously turned down.

He said he is convinced that anti-Communists in Indochina are willing to fight "if they can get the arms and equipment to do it."

Knowland said that in his view the Geneva conference has reached the point where if the negotiations are continued by the free nations "we will lose the respect of the whole world."

"I don't see how we can continue to go on with sessions that are being used as a sounding board for Communist propaganda," he said. "These sessions are merely paralyzing the free nations while the Communists make their troop dispositions preparatory to taking over more territory in Indochina."

Some People May Pay More For Gas

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The way oil and gas people here see it, the Supreme Court decision this week in the natural gas case is likely to mean less natural gas at higher prices in states that don't produce their own.

The court ruled that the Federal Power Commission has authority to regulate the price of all natural gas flowing into interstate commerce. The majority opinion, written by Justice Sherman Minton, held that protection of consumers "against exploitation at the hands of natural gas companies was the primary aim of the Natural Gas Act."

Representatives of the oil and gas industry and members of Congress from producing states were quick to attack the decision, which came in a case involving the Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Okla., a supplier of natural gas to pipeline companies for resale in many states.

John A. Ferguson, executive director of the Independent Natural Gas Assn. of America, expressed the opinion "that millions of consumers of natural gas throughout the United States will be the ultimate losers" if the decision stands. He suggested it would cause independent producers to seek local markets rather than sell to interstate pipeline companies, thereby reducing supplies for consumers outside of production areas.

Russell B. Brown, general counsel, Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, commented:

"Any misimpression that federal regulation will be of benefit to gas consumers in eastern and other areas far removed from the source of production is completely erroneous. Such a revolutionary change would disrupt the conditions under which the producers and gatherers of gas have been operating for many years. The resulting confusion will make certain one thing: That the supply of gas to the consumers would be reduced, which must inevitably add greatly to the cost to the consumer."

Curtis Morris, Washington director of the American Gas Assn., said he feared more and more gas would be turned into other uses in producing states and thus cut supplies to pipeline companies.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla), himself an oil and gas man, asserted the court's decision, if effective, would mean consumption of more and more gas in the states where it is produced and export of less and less in interstate commerce.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex), Senate Democratic leader, was one of the first to attack the high court's decision. "Shocking" was his word for it in a Senate speech. Johnson, Kerr and other oil state legislators said that if the decision stands they will back legislation to nullify it and define more precisely the authority of the power commission.

Not All Property Is Affected By Court Injunction

AUSTIN, June 12 (AP)—Settlement of the Lloyds of North America insurance case includes a permanent injunction against disposing of part, not all, of the property of Texas Gulf Properties, Asst. Atty. Gen. Rudy Rice said today.

The Associated Press erroneously said in a story last night that a receiver would take charge of all property of Texas Gulf Properties.

Rice said the only property of Texas Gulf properties to be placed under jurisdiction is approximately 75 acres in Matagorda County.

Texas Gulf Properties, an underwriter of Lloyd's of North America, had executed a note of $100,000 as a contribution to Lloyds, payable in yearly installments. The note was secured by a deed of trust on some 50 acres.

The state secured an injunction against disposition of this land, plus 25 more acres, which the state considered necessary to match the value of the $100,000 note.

LOCAL SOLDIER IS MAIL CLERK

Pfc. Norman H. Inman of Snyder, sorts out the mail in Korea where he is assigned to the 724th Transportation Railway Operating Battalion as mail clerk. Inman is a member of Headquarters Company in the battalion, which operates railroads carrying troops and supplies between Pusan and other points in South Korea. The 21-year-old Snyder soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Inman, 2703 Avenue W, attended North Texas State College before entering the Army in April 1953.

Church To Aid Child Without Arms And Legs

SHERMAN, Tex., June 12 (AP)—Pretty little Cindy Inman is only six months old, but she appears to marvel at this strange world of people with arms and legs.

Cindy has none.

She was born Dec. 7 at St. Vincent's hospital here. Even before her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Inman, saw the baby, she suspected something was wrong.

"They wouldn't say anything about the baby, at first," she said. "They kept telling me everything was going to be all right. But they avoided mentioning the baby."

Her husband, a 30-year-old lineman for Texas Power & Light Co., finally broke the news to his attractive, red-haired wife.

"After my husband told me about it," she related, "I kept crying for Cindy and they finally brought her to me. I remember taking the baby in my arms and saying, 'She's mine.' There were suggestions that I put her in an institution. I never even considered the idea.

"It's our baby, I told them, and we were going to keep her.

"I told them God gave her to us and we were going to raise her like a normal child."

During her stay in the hospital, Mrs. Inman was visited by her pastor, the Rev. George Sullivan of Central Baptist Church, and other civic and religious leaders.

"They helped us over the rough spots," she said.

The Rev. Mr. Sullivan will announce in his church tomorrow plans to raise funds to buy artificial limbs for Cindy.

Plans are to raise $4,000 for the first year, with gifts to be addressed to "Cindy Fund," Central Baptist Church.

The campaign is to be called "See Cindy Walk."

The Inmans took Cindy to Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation in Orange, N.J., several weeks ago. The trip was sponsored by Central Baptist Church and TP&L.

"They took a load off our minds," said Inman. "We found that Cindy could have arms and legs, and could learn to walk like other children. I think the doctors told us there were three other cases of limbless children, and they showed how one of them had learned to use the arms and legs they made for him."

Tidelands Hunters Use Many Gadgets

LOS ANGELES, June 12 (AP)—If barracudas, manta rays and sharks aren't yet in the employ of offshore oil explorers, it won't be for lack of ingenuity on the part of the oil hunters.

With the re-opening of the tidelands to the states, knowledge of sub-sea oil deposits has become important to oil firms. The oil industry has estimated the tidelands may contain as much as 40 billion barrels of oil.

The tools used to take samples of the coastal shelf form a list a fathom long.

Possibly the most elementary is the human diver. A group called diving consultants is composed mainly of former Scripps Oceanography Institute students.

The divers, fitted with underwater breathing equipment, descend to certain depths, measure the strikes and dips of the formations and return to the surface with samples of the ocean floor.

Mechanical devices have been in use many years. One of these is a bottom sampler called the clam shell, which operates like a miniature steam shovel.

A similar device is the bottom snapper, which grabs a sample of the ocean floor in response to a trigger action.

A drop sampler is also used. It runs off a wire line and has a dart at the end which grabs material from the floor. The wire is reeled back, the dart is extracted and the explorer can examine the evidence.

At the same time the dart grabs the ocean floor sample, a camera measures the bearing and inclination so the oil hunters can get a true picture of the underwater formation.

Jetting devices, using a string of 3½-inch drill pipes, were developed in 1950. One type has a stainless steel collar and a bit on the bottom. Suspended in the top of the drill pipe is a coring dart.

Sea water is pumped through the pipe, emerges from the bit in a jet and the pipe is lowered and raised like a cable tool. The action washes away the surface deposits, or over-burden, to reach the actual formation.

A sampling tool only two years old is the miniature drilling rig, driven by a 25-horsepower machine. The rig is secured to a ship anchored in the exploration area and can go to depths of 200 to 400 feet.

Seismometers have been used too in offshore explorations the past five years. Charges of black powder are shot off from a level about six feet below the surface. The seismometers, or electronic surveying devices, then measure the sound waves which bounce off the ocean floor.

Nearly every California oil company has explored the sea at one time or another. What have they found? That's top secret.

Guardsmen Go For Training

NORTH FORT HOOD, Tex., June 12 (AP)—Thousands of green-clad National Guardsmen today were headed for North Fort Hood and the annual field training of Texas '36th Infantry Division.

Some of the division's 9,000 guardsmen already were on the move aboard troop trains.

Advance detachments from all units of the division already were in camp, setting up kitchens for a hot meal to be served the troops on their arrival, checking out equipment, stringing up communication wire and putting in shape the various installations that will serve the T-Patchers for the next two weeks.

During the second week of the camp this year, the entire division will move out into the field to live and train under simulated combat conditions. Firing of all weapons of the division on the various ranges will occupy much of the first week.

Next Saturday the T-Patchers will hold their annual "Governor's Day" parade and review before Gov. Allan Shivers and military and civic dignitaries of the state.

County Fruit Crop Is Nil This Year

There will be no sizeable peach crop in this area this year, and that means there will be little local fruit.

Peaches make up most of the fruit growing in Scurry and surrounding counties. Warm weather early this year caused the peach trees to bloom early in March, some even beginning in late February, according to Nolan von Roeder, who has the largest number of fruit trees in the county.

After the early blooming, the frost fell in March and killed out most of the prospective peaches. Von Roeder now has 3,000 peach trees, 2,000 of which are in the east part of the county and 1,000 west of Snyder. He recently uprooted 2,000 on the farm west of town because of the drouth and the trees' age. They were 26 to 28 years old, he said.

There are still a few peaches on trees, "but there may not even be enough for the birds," Von Roeder said. He said the frost killed out the peach crop in this entire area, even as far east as Parker County, where there are thousands of peach trees. He said the frost was not as severe east of here but that there will probably be few peaches this time in that area.

Von Roeder said it is getting harder to raise peaches now because of weather conditions. Last year, the peach trees here were overloaded, but they dried up because of lack of rain. There is one consolation to the killing of peaches this year, Von Roeder said. It will give more growth to the trees.

Von Roeder said there are about 10 persons in the county who have orchards large enough for sale of fruit in good years.

Probably second in the local fruit raised is plums, which also bloomed early. Most of the plums were killed out by frost this year, Von Roeder said. The majority of the domestic plums raised here are the staple (purple) variety. About 15 per cent of the Von Roeder trees are plums.

Apples, pears, and apricots make up most of the remainder of fruits raised here, and there are few of those trees in the county. Von Roeder said he does not think he has many apricots growing on the few trees he has but that one Snyder resident told him he had several apricots on his trees. This is unusual, the orchard man said, because apricots usually freeze out at higher temperatures than do peaches. Most of the time, freezes of 28 degrees will kill apricots, while many peaches can take temperatures down to 20, he said.

Those who have apple trees will probably have apples this year, Von Roeder said. He explained that many apple trees bloomed later than the frost and that the apples survived. Most apples trees are in bloom during the period from March 20 to April 1, he said.

Probably several pear trees will bear fruit this year, he said. The pears raised here are not the mellow type most persons like to eat, he said. They are usually cooked for eating.

There are not many pecan trees here, but those growing here will probably have crops this year. They usually bloom in April and probably got by the frost, Von Roeder said. A few black walnut trees grow here but are not very popular because the shells are so hard to crack. Those trees will probably make a crop this year, he said.

City Supplies Not Hurt By SC Work

Cities and industries, many of them in this West Texas area, have been asking whether soil conservation practices being carried out by thousands of farmers and ranchers will reduce the amount of water available for municipal and industrial uses.

H. N. Smith, state conservationist for Texas, says that for all practical purposes the conservation carried out will not hurt the water supply.

The Soil Conservation Service has been studying this problem, especially at the Blacklands Experimental Watersheds project near Riesel, since 1940. The studies, still in progress, include measurement of rainfall and runoff from two similar watersheds.

At the beginning of the study, similar farming practices were being followed on both watersheds. Conservation practices were established on one of them in 1943, including changing part of the cultivated area to grassland, use of improved crop rotations, and construction of terraces on land in cultivation. No change was made in farming practices on the other watershed.

During the first five years rainfall was slightly above normal, and the runoff-producing rainfall averaged 17.4 inches annually. The runoff-producing rainfall averaged only 4.8 inches a year from 1948 to 1952, drouth years. The total rain fall during the drouth period was two-thirds the amount for the normal five years, but most of it fell in such small amounts or at such a slow rate that it produced no runoff.

For the normal rainfall period there was almost no difference in runoff from the untreated and treated watersheds, Smith said. The annual average was 10.3 and 10.4 inches respectively. During the drouth the average annual runoff from the untreated and treated watersheds was about 1.4 and .9 inches.

The fact that there was a difference of one-half inch in the annual runoff from these two watersheds during the drouth is not the significant point, Smith said. He explained that this minor difference in rate, even over a period of several years, would amount to so small a volume of water that it could not be considered in the planning of a dependable municipal water supply. The important point, he added, is that the total runoff from the untreated watershed during the five drouth years was only about two-thirds of the average runoff from one year during the normal rainfall period.

Smith emphasized that because runoff during drouth years may be very small, water supply reservoirs must have enough capacity to catch the water during the years of normal to high runoff and store it for use during drouths. A city cannot depend on the runoff during a drouth to maintain its water supply, he said.

Although soil conservation practices on a watershed will not have a significant effect on water yield, they can help much in protecting water supplies from loss of storage space by sedimentation. Conservation practices reduce erosion and the rate of reservoir sedimentation. By slowing down the rate at which reservoirs are filling with sediment, Smith pointed out, more storage capacity will be maintained for storage of water for use during drouth years.

Electric Fair Set At Roby

Members of the nine-county Midwest Electric Co-operative will gather in Roby July 29-30 for the big annual electric fair and membership meeting.

Co-op officials are expecting the crowd to break records this year for the fair, which will include a complete electrical exposition and big top show. Members attending will elect directors and hear reports of their officers during the July 30 business session.

A special show on July 29 will include free ferris wheel rides for children. Johnnie Ammnos, manager of Midwest, is inviting all local residents to the free show, which is headed this year by Bob Johnson, aerial balancing artist. Johnson has been featured at the Palace Theater in New York and has recently performed on coast-to-coast television hookups. Another headliner in the show is Harland Stretz, magician. Also included in the show will be hillbilly music, juggling, pantomine, whip artistry, and vetriloquism. Kelvinator will again sponsor an amateur talent contest and present a radio to the winner.

Electric cooking will be compared with gas cooking, and demonstrations will be held on pumps, water heaters, and water softeners.

Coal seams are the buried remains of massive jungles which grew millions of years ago.

FARM AND RANCH

By DALE WALTON

Chickens sure are lazy.

At least that's what a professor of poultry husbandry at Texas A & M, E. D. Parnell says. Farmers around here who have chickens may back his statement.

A chicken not only wants plenty of cool, fresh drinking water, but it wants the stuff convenient. If a watering fountain is more than 10 feet away, a crazy chicken may go thirsty rather than make the trip, Parnell says.

Something probably should be done about this. Since water is cheap, and eggs and meat are not, it might be a good idea to figure out where to place watering fountains so the chickens will get watered once in awhile. Chickens just don't do very well without water, Parnell says. Sometimes it is necessary to give chickens medicine in the drinking water, but these chickens are stubborn, and if the medicine does not taste good they may stay away from the fountain. If it affects their drinking habits, the farmer should find a new way to give the medicine.

PANIC IS RAGE

This blue panic grass seems to be the rage of the year.

The amazing perennial grass is gaining popularity every day with farmers and ranchers here. The Rev. Cone J. Merritt, who lives six miles south of Snyder, has worked up a plan in cooperation with the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District, and he already has a fair stand of blue panic on his place. Interested in revegetation work, Merritt collects a sample of the seed of any grass which looks good to him, and he tries it out on his pasture near Hermleigh, which is separate from his home place.

Also in the conservation line, Merritt has terraced both his farms this year, using the level closed end terrace laid out by local SCS technicians. He kept the water which fell on his terraced land, allowing it to soak into the ground.

HELL ROARING HOLLOW

W. S. Gillum of the Hell Roaring Hollow community southeast of Snyder recently completed a soil-conserving plan with the SC district. Included is the conditioning of about 40 acres this year for the sowing of permanent grass. He and a son have already seeded 75 acres of blue panic for summer grazing. Of this, 55 acres is up to a good stand, and 20 has been dry planted, covered about one-fourth inch deep.

In the same area, T. A. Berry has a good stand of panic on 11 acres. The two farmers intend to let the panic grow all summer before they begin to graze it. Gillum said he may cake his cattle to eat the cured hay after frost.

KEEP TRYING

Lee Massingill, owner of a 280-acre farm in the Lloyd Mountain community, is interested in blue panic and says he will keep on trying until he gets a good stand. Hardy grass, this panic, if a farmer can get the stuff up.

Massingill has another big interest . . . . getting organic matter back into the soil. He helps it along by turning back into the soil grasses, stalks, and stubbles. This matter causes the soil to take up water more rapidly and makes the important plant nutrients available to the crops being produced.

MAINTAIN, PROTECT, PRODUCE

Speaking of organic matter, that is a favorite subject of talk across the cafe table or across the tractor with Jake Hodges, SCS chief here. "Maintain the organic matter of your soil if you want it to produce better." Hodges said after thinking just how he wanted to be quoted.

This not only makes for better production but protects the soil from water and wind erosion. The conversa-er, conservationist cited as an example an 80-acre tract of newly - grubbed land on the J. G. Drinkard farm three miles northeast of Dunn.

On the Drinkard place, it was observed that water went into the soil much faster on the newly-grubbed land and that very little water stood for any length of time behind the new terraces. In contrast, water could be seen standing in large quantities on land which had been in cultivation for a long time. Drinkard built 5.7 miles of level closed end terraces last winter in cooperation with the SCD.

Gail Youth Is Winner Of FFA Contest

Pat Porter, Borden County FFA member, was winner in the area II FFA public speaking contest at the area convention at Lamesa last week.

Porter, who will be a senior next year at Gail, won the contest over two other boys who had been district winners. They were Roby Thomas of Sweetwater, who ran second, and Charles Waldrop of Marfa, who was third. The area covers all of West Texas, from El Paso to Haskell and Del Rio to Lubbock.

For winning the area contest, Porter received a $25 prize and a banner. He will go the state convention at San Antonio July 21-23 to represent the area in the state FFA speaking contest, competing against boys from nine other areas in the state. The state winner will go to the regional contest, which will include boys from 12 states. The regional winner will go on to the national contest at Kansas City.

Bobby Gray, agriculture instructor at Gail, said Porter and other contestants will use the same talks throughout the contests. Porter's speech, which convered conservation in West Texas, will probably be revised to the state level, Gray said.

Judges in the contest were L. M. Hargrave of the agriculture education department at Texas Technological College; R. E. Post, agriculture teacher from Colorado City; and Joe Stephens of Lamesa, former state FFA vice-president and now a student at Texas Tech.

In Porter's talk, he stressed the importance of moisture conservation. He pointed out that studies show the depth of moisture at planting time is a good sign of how much cotton the farmer will raise. For instance, with moisture three feet deep, chances are three to one the yield will be more than 300 pounds; if it is two feet deep there is a 50-50 chance of a yield of more than 100 pounds; and if moisture is less than a foot deep there is a 9 to 1 chance of less than 100 pounds.

Contouring and closed level terraces on land with one-half per cent slope will net as much as $16 per acre more than that without the terraces, Porter said. He added that every acre-inch of water is worth $5, every acre-foot worth $60. "Our soils in this rolling plains area are relative coarse, deep, and have ample water-holding capacity if steps are taken to prevent runoff," he said.

As a cure to waste of water which falls on farmland, Porter named contouring, closed level terraces, spreading and diverting flood waters, leaving soil cloddy to keep all possible crop residue. These offer unlimited possibilities, he said, to reduce runoff and erosion, increase yields of crops, and stabilize farming in this area.

Santa Fe To Make Awards To Clubbers

Special awards for 4-H Club boys and girls are available through the Santa Fe Railway.

Santa Fe will make various awards to boys and girls for club work in states served by the railroad. In addition to its regular awards program, the company will contribute $1,000 to the 4-H national committee's service fund.

Included in the awards plan are 15 to be given in Texas. Judgment is made by the 4-H Club leaders in the state and based on individual achievement records of the boys and girls. Also, college scholarships of $250 are provided for one boy and one girl in the state.

Little League Near End Of First Half

One more week remains on the first half of the Little League schedule, and it appears the American Legion Yankees will come out winner of that half.

The Yankees, leading the league since its starting this year and champions for the past two years, continued their undefeated season Friday night by edging the Kiwanis Club Braves, second place team, 6-4.

The loop leaders still have two games to go this week and could be knocked out of first place, but the odds are for them.

The Lions Club Cubs, trying desperately to add another win to their record, failed again Friday night in losing to the Rotary Club Cardinals, fourth place team, 9-4.

The Braves took the first lead in the Friday night game when Charles Popnoe doubled, Philip Johnson walked, and Jerry Felming singled to bring in Popnoe. They were ahead 1-0 going into the second inning.

Richard Mahan, home run king of the league, added two more to his slate in the game. The first came in the second inning with no runners on base and tied the game 1-1. In the third, two were on base when Mahan hit the other homer. Another runner, who had made first on an error, came in to make the score 5-1. In the fourth, the Braves tallied two runs on an error, single, walk, fielder's choice, and wild pitch.

With the Braves crowding them, the Yankees turned out another run in the fifth when Richard Samuelson doubled. Two errors and a single were enough to get the one run in. Still trying in the sixth, the Braves got in one run on an error and a single.

Winning hurler was Norma Gladson, who went three innings to strike out four, walk two, and allow two hits. He was relieved by Mahan, who fanned six, walked one, and gave up two hits. Loser was Billy Foree, who pitched the whole game and allowed six hits and two walks while striking out seven.

The Cardinals took an early lead over the Cubs and never gave it up. An error and fielder's choice scored one in the first. In the third, Foy Dennis doubled to score one. Six singles and one error came in the fourth for four scores. Each team tallied three runs in the fifth. Mike Moffett doubled for the Cards in that frame to score one. The Cubs got one run in the sixth when Billy Wells and Pat Gibson both doubled.

Dennis, the winner, went five innings and struck out nine, walked one, and allowed five hits. He was relieved by Moffett, who in one inning fanned one, gave up two hits, and walked none. Loser was Weldon Ware, who pitched four innings, striking out two, walking one, and allowing eight hits. His relief was Gene Witherspoon, who gave up three hits and one walk, hit one batter, and fanned two.

Averages Are Running High In Loops Here

Batting averages and pitching records are running high among some individuals in the three baseball leagues of Snyder.

With the season half finished, some pitchers are still undefeated, as are some teams, and some batters who have been to the plate few times are still batting 1.000.

The top pitcher in the three leagues combined is Norman Gladson of the American Legion Yankees, who are leading the Little League. The Yanks are undefeated in seven games, and Gladson has been winner of six of those. In 25 innings, Gladson has given up only 10 hits, averaging less than two per game. He has struck out 34 for an average of almost six per game, and he has walked three, one for each two games.

Mutt Thompson leads the City League's pitching with a 3-0 record for Tri-Service, second place team, while Dean Staton of the Courthouse Tigers has the same record in the Pony League.

Philip Johnson of the Kiwanis Club Braves heads up Little League batting with 12 hits in 22 times to the plate, an average of .545. Richard Mahan of the Yanks, who holds a .500 average for 12 hits in 24 times up, has six home runs, the most in any league here. Another hit was a double. Leading the Pony League in batting is Richard Pickett of the Von Roeder Red Sox with 1.000, but he has been to the plate only once. Douglas Avers of Magnolia has three for 1.000 in the City League.

Tribe Regains First Place

BOSTON, June 12 (AP) — Larry Doby's bases-loaded single in the seventh inning enabled Cleveland to defeat the Boston Red Sox 4-3 today and take over the American League lead before 18,917.

The Indians' victory, coupled with New York's 2-0 defeat of the Chicago White Sox, gave Cleveland a half-game margin atop the league.

Doby's timely two-run safety put the Tribe, trailing 2-3 at the time, in the lead to stay. Cleveland was outhit six to five by the Red Sox but did its damage with a three-run seventh.

Don Mossi turned in a perfect relief job over the last three innings to preserve Bob Feller's third triumph of the season and raise his lifetime record to 30-25 against the Sox.

Maglie Hurls Giants Past Chicago, 5-0

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—Capt. Al Dark batted in three runs with sixth and ninth-inning singles as the New York Giants blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-0, before 11,775 here today.

Sal Maglie pitched seven innings on a yield of seven hits to earn his seventh victory as the Giants squared the series at a game apiece. Hoyt Wilhelm finished up after the 37-year-old barber tired in 90-degree humid heat.

Podbelian Subdues Dodgers By 5-1

CINCINNATI, June 12 (AP)—Bud Podbielan, a Brooklyn castoff, held the Dodgers to five hits today as the Cincinnati Redlegs whipped the Brooks, 5-1, and knocked them back into a tie with New York for first place in the National League.

Duke Snider was the only Dodger to cause Podbielan any serious trouble. Snider got three hits in four times at bat to give him a seven for nine mark in the first two games here.

The Reds accumulated only two runs off their first six hits although the blows included three doubles and a home run.

WILSON HURLS A NO-HITTER

MILWAUKEE, June 12 (AP)—Big Jim Wilson, the forgotten man of the Milwaukee Braves' mound staff, pitched the first no-hit no-run game of the 1954 major league season today, beating Philadelphia, 2-0, on home runs by Johnny Logan and Del Crandall.

The 32-year-old right hander, shunted to the dugout after an indifferent season a year ago, faced only 28 hitters, one over par, in hurling his near-perfect game. The lone Philadelphia base runner was Smokey Burgess, who drew the only walks Wilson issued. Burgess was left stranded in the second inning when Johnny Wyrostek struck out and was nipped in a double play in the fifth, also as Wyrostek went down swinging.

The no-hitter came on Wilson's second start of the year. In his first appearance, last Sunday, he shut out Pittsburgh 5-0 on a four-hit job.

The no-hitter was the first in the National League since Carl Erskine whitewashed the Chicago Cubs, 5-0, for Brooklyn on June 19, 1952.

Wilson's victim was Robin Roberts, who had beaten the Braves nine straight times over the past three years. Logan blasted his No. 6 homer of the year 380 feet into the left field bleachers as the second batter in the first inning, and Crandall cleared the left field fence some 300 feet out, as the third man in the fifth inning.

Roberts gave up only seven hits. The Braves had three runners as far as second base, but none reached third except Logan and Crandall as they went past on their homers.

Wilson was close to giving up hits only twice. In the eighth inning, Wyrostek lashed a hard drive straight through the box. The ball went between Wilson's legs, but Logan made a brilliant stop behind second base and threw the runner out at first.

In the ninth, with Wilson only one out away from his no-hitter, Willie Jones smashed a liner over third base with a 3-2 count, but the ball curved and landed foul by not more than an inch down the foul line. Jones then grounded out.

Gilliam, Kuenn, Being Haunted By Soph Jinx

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Is the sophomore jinx a real, live menace or is it merely a myth used as an excuse for second year flops?

Jinx or no jinx, the fact remains that Junior Gilliam and Harvey Kuenn, rookie award winners of 1953, are faring quite badly so far. Both are hitting far below their gait of last year.

On the other hand, Ray Jablonski and Johnny Podres, who did all right but did not set the league afire in their first seasons, are enjoying tremendous success in their sophomore years. Another second year standout is pitcher Jim Keegan.

At the last look, Jablonski was leading all National League hitters with a gaudy .388 average. The young St. Louis Cardinal third baseman also was high up in runs batted in and total bases. Podres, the 22-year-old Brooklyn Dodger southpaw, was up among the pitching elite with a 6-2 won and lost record. Keegan owns the best record among all pitchers. The Chicago White Sox righthander has won 9 of 10 decisions.

During the spring training session, Gilliam and Kuenn openly scoffed at the sophomore jinx. Both expressed ignorance of such a bugaboo. Well, with one third of the season gone, Gilliam is hitting a lowly .252 for Brooklyn and Kuenn a somewhat higher .282 for Detroit. Both marks are considerably lower than their 1953 batting figures. At one point, Gilliam went hitless in 25 straight times at bat while Kuenn had a streak where he made only two hits in 40 times at bat.

If misery loves company, Gilliam and Kuenn may be consoled by the fact that a goodly number of other first year sensations are proving to be second year disappointments.

The most poignant examples are Tom Umphlett, Bob Buhl, Jim Greengrass, Jim Pendleton, Don Liddle, Leo Kiely, Dave Hoskins, Marion Fricano, Don Larsen, Rip Repulski and Don Bollweg.

Sprinter, 34, Still Active

SAN ANTONIO, June 12 (AP)—Sgt. Alex Litman, who at 34 is the oldest active sprinter in the nation, keeps in trim with a 5-mile run before reveille each day at Brooke Army Medical Center.

He'll run 220 yards in the All-Army Track and Field meet at Fort Devens, Mass., next week.

Litman, of San Angelo, boasts a two-year edge on Olympic ace Mal Whitfield. Litman has been running in military and amateur athletic union track meets since entering the Army in 1940.

Litman's best 220 time this year was a 21 second performance turned in during trials for the Fourth Army track meet at Fort Sill, Okla. He later won the Fourth Army 220 title in 21.5 and also swept the 100-yard dash championship in 9.6 seconds. Litman was a member of the Brooke relay team which set a Fourth Army record for the half mile of 1:29.6.

Last year Litman won the All-Army 220 title and finished second in the All-Army 100. Should Litman be successful in sprint efforts this season at Fort Devens, he will compete in the annual AAU meet on June 18 and 19 at St. Louis, Mo., and the All-Service meet on June 25 and 26 at Camp LeJeune, N.C.

The sprinter works as a technician in a dispensary at Brooke's medical field service school.

Former Resident Takes Two Medalist Titles

Buddy Avary, 19-year-old former Snyder resident, was medalist in two recent North Texas golf tournaments.

Avary, who lived here until about three years ago, now lives in Bonham with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Avary. His grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Avary, lives here at 3208 Avenue V.

In a tourney at Bonham, Avary took medalist honors with a score of 70. He fired a 69 at a Fort Worth tournament to become medalist.

A former Snyder High School student, Avary now attends Austin College at Sherman.

Eagles Among Top Favorites

HOUSTON, June 12 (AP)—Stanford and North Texas State again will be among the top team favorites June 20 when the National Collegiate Golf Championships begin a seven-day run at the short but tough Brae Burn Country Club.

After having dominated the collegiate team titles since 1938, Stanford and North Texas return for the 58th annual championships with impressive season records.

Stanford, the defending champion is undefeated. North Texas bowed to the Indians last year after winning four straight titles but won the NAIA championship last week at Abilene, Tex.

Three of the four members of Stanford's 1953 team will be back, including Warren Dailey, holder of nine course records and nine club titles.

Heading the North Texans will be Marion Hiskey, who regained his NAIA individual title last week. Hiskey was a NCAA semi-finalist last year.

Earl Moeller, the defending NCAA individual champion, returns with a pair of teammates who make Oklahoma A&M a definite threat to the team title.

Marciano Now 7-2 Choice To Triumph

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Rocky Marciano, fast running out of opponents, rules a 7-2 favorite to convince Ezzard Charles "they never come back" when he defends his world heavyweight title against the 32-year-old former champion Thursday night at Yankee Stadium.

The 15-round match, scheduled for 10:30 p.m. (EDT) will not be seen on home television although it will be beamed to 61 theaters in 45 cities outside New York on a closed TV circuit. It will be carried on radio (ABC). In case of a postponement, the fight will be held Monday, June 21.

Because advance sales have been higher than for the Marciano-Roland LaStarza match last September, the International Boxing Club talks about a $500,000 gate and about a 40,000 house. Approximately 200,000 are expected to see the theater-TV version.

The record book says Charles, a former champ, must fail again as Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Jeffries, Max Schmeling, Joe Louis, Jack Dempsey, Joe Walcott and Charles himself have failed. It's a stern rule of the prize ring that no man ever regained its richest prize.

Actually Charles missed his big chance when he lost a decision to Walcott at Philadelphia, June 5, 1952, a year after Walcott had knocked him loose from the title at Pittsburgh. Many thought Charles beat Walcott in their last fight but few were inclined to argue that he deserved it because of his over-cautious approach.

Since the Walcott series, Charles has been more aggressive, showing a little "tiger" in an all-or-nothing campaign. The comeback was derailed last summer when he lost to both Harold Johnson and Nino Valdes but knockouts over Coley Wallace and Bob Satterfield earned him another title shot.

Ring experts who watched Charles train at his Monticello, N. Y. camp think he has the equipment to give Rocky a terrific battle—if Charles fights his fight against Walcott at Philadelphia and fear he may revert to his old super caution against a savage puncher like Marciano.

Marciano's perfect record of 45 victories in 45 fights with 40 knockouts speaks for itself. The champ has been on the deck only once, when Walcott floored him with a left hook in the first round of their fierce battle at Philadelphia, Sept. 23, 1952, the night he won the title. At 29, he still is improving and has developed a solid hook to the body that may crumple Charles. He is working on a string of 10 straight knockouts.

Trojans Take NCAA Crown

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 12 (AP)—Southern California's power-packed Trojans overwhelmed all opposition today to win their sixth straight NCAA track and field championship with 66 17-20 points.

Coach Jess Mortensen's outfit was led by high-jumper Ernie Shelton, who missed three tries at the fabled seven-foot mark by a whisker, and Jim Lea, who won the 440 for the second straight year.

Shelton's winning mark was 6 feet 10¼ inches, 1¼ inch under the orld record of 6-11½ held by Walt Davis. But the dramatic moment of the two-day meet came when the officials raised the cross bar to seven feet.

Three times Shelton tried and three times he barely ticked the bar.

Lynch Raises Batting Mark

By The Associated Press

Tulsa infielder Danny Lynch invaded the old pros' circle of the Texas League last week as he moved into second place in the individual batting chase.

The 27-year-old Oiler slugger has a .369 average according to the current official listings, putting him 18 points ahead of Beaumont's Buzz Clarkson and 17 points below leader Les Fleming, also of Beaumont.

Fleming, the Exporter manager, held the lead which he assumed last week as he raised his average to .386. He led last week with a .370 mark. He also leads in hits with 85.

Clarkson leads in three departments, with 50 runs scored, 17 home runs and 64 runs batted in.

Shreveport's Ev Joyner has the at bats lead with 261 to his credit.

Kenton Boyer of Houston sets the pace in doubles with 18.

The triples lead is shared by Shreveport's Joe Koppe, Tulsa's Jim Bolger and San Antonio's Joe Durham. Each has five.

Fort Worth's Karl Spooner continues to dominate the league pitching. The Cats' rookie leads in innings pitched with 107, strikeouts with 117 and is second in number of victories with nine.

John Andre of Shreveport has the most triumphs with 10.

Carley To A&I

KINGSVILLE, Tex., June 12 (AP)—William Ted Carley, formerly director of athletics at Schreiner Institute at Kerrville, Tex., has been appointed head basketball coach at Texas A&I College.

Carley will be an assistant coach in other sports.

Sun Breaks Tie For 5th In City Loop

Sun got out of a tie for fifth place in the city baseball league and now holds that place alone after defeating the league's cellar team, the DeMolays, 8-1 Friday night.

Sun had been tied for fifth with Sunray, which was to have met third place Hermleigh last night.

After a scoreless first inning, Sun left no question as to how the game would go when it brought in four runs in the second frame and two in the third. A three-base hit by Henry Pyle in the second started things off, followed by a walk. Victor Deike doubled later in that inning to bring in two. An error put another runner on base, then another double by R. E. Hines brought in two.

In the third, after one strikeout, Pyle went to the plate again and hit the second home run of this league. A walk was given the next batter, who was taken home on a double by J. V. Smith. In the same inning, two singles and an error gave the DeMolays their one run. Joe Devenport, the one who made the run, got two of the DeMolays' four hits, while Bill Tillman got the other two.

Don Ballard was winner on the mound. He went five innings to give up the four hits, walk three, and strike out six. R. E. Sparks, who pitched the remaining two frames, allowed no hits, struck out four, and walked two.

OIL NEWS

Shallow Find Is Logged In South Andrews

Phillips Petroleum Co. has a flowing discovery from the shallow San Andres-Permian pay at its No. 2-B Embar, South Andrews County wildcat.

This discovery is two miles north of the nearest producers from the San Andres and 14 miles south-southwest of Andrews. It is 660 feet from south and 674 feet from west lines of section 4, block 44, T-2-N, T&P survey.

Phillips No. 2-B Embar started out to dig to 8,800 feet to explore the Fusselman. Operator is now going to run a production test on the pay it has found and if that testing shows definitely that the wildcat can complete from the San Andres the 8,800-foot objective will be abandoned.

The oil flow in this project came in a drillstem test at 4,244-4,355 feet. The tool was open 108 minutes. Gas surfaced in two minutes and oil came to the top in 45 minutes. The oil was flowed to pits for three minutes.

It was then turned to tanks and in one hour the production was 18.02 barrels of 33-gravity oil. There was no water. Flowing bottom hole pressure was between 435 pounds and 615 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure was 825 pounds. Length of the shutin was not reported.

Gas-oil ratio was 888-1. After the tester was closed operator reversed out an additional 10 barrels of oil and then recovered 180 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. Electric logs are being run and then a production test will be taken.

Second Well In Vaughn Field

The Vaughn (Ellenburger) field of Northeast Crockett County has gained its second producer and a three-eighths mile south extension with the completion of The Pure Oil Co. No. 1-E-A Bean.

The well was finaled for a calculated daily flowing potential of 228.5 barrels of 41.8-gravity oil and no water. Gas-oil ratio was 336-1.

The potential was based on an actual 21-hour flow of 200 barrels of oil through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations between 7,739-7,794 feet in 5½-inch casing cemented at 7,801 feet.

Total depth is 7,802 feet and top of pay is at 7,722 feet on elevation of 2,618 feet. Pay section was washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and 1,000 gallons of regular acid.

Tubing pressure was 150 pounds and there was a packer on the casing.

Location is 672 feet from north and 2,114 feet from west lines of section 81, block OP, GC&SF survey.

Pure has filed application to drill its No. 36-E. R. L. Vaughn as a one-location east southeast offset to production in the two-well Vaughn (Ellenburger) field of Northeast Crockett County.

Drillsite is 667 feet south and 2,119 feet from east lines of section 82, block OP, GC&SF survey, and 10 miles northwest of Ozona.

It is to be drilled to 7,800 feet, beginning at once.

Deep Wildcat Slated In Lea

Continental Oil Co. and associates No. 1-A Bell Lakes Unit., South Lea County, New Mexico wildcat to 13,000 feet will be 2,970 feet from east and 330 feet from south lines of section 31-23s-34e.

This location was previously announced as being in section 21-23s-34e. That was an error.

At the correct location the prospector is a twin to Conoco No. 1 Bell Lakes Unit, which blew out on March 13 and burned for several weeks before it was finally brought under control and plugged.

The blowout in No. 1 Bell Lake Unit came when total depth was 12,616 feet in lime. The well flowed gas at the estimated rate of 100,000,000 cubic feet per day and showed oil at the estimated rate of at least 600 barrels per day.

Conoco Man Promoted

HOUSTON, June 12 (AP)—E. A. Williford of Oklahoma City has been promoted to general sales manager for Continental Oil Co.

Williford will make his headquarters at Ponca City, Okla. He has been central region marketing manager.

Felmont Oil Corp. and associates have completed their No. 1 Terrell County School Land fee, Southeast Gaines County wildcat, as a flowing discovery from the Devonian and a one and one-half mile northeast extension to the Amrow (Devonian) field.

On the potential test the well flowed six hours through one-quarter inch tubing choke and produced 430.47 barrels of 35.6-gravity oil. That calculated for a 24-hour initial production of 1,678.83 barrels of oil.

There were no signs of formation water. The shakeout was two and one-half per cent drilling mud, with a trace of acid water.

The production came from perforated section in the 7-inch casing at 12,672-730 feet. That interval had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Flowing tubing pressure during the completion test was 80 pounds. The gas-oil ratio was 9-1. Total depth is 12,785 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

The section of hole between 12,735 feet and the total depth showed some oil, but it also showed water. That zone is plugged off with cement.

Rankin Gets Plenty Water

RANKIN, Tex., June 12 (AP)—This little town in the dusty West Texas sheep and oil country finally has plenty of water and is boasting it will become an oasis.

Rankin is in one of Texas' driest sections. Its water situation started getting really tough half a dozen years ago when oil was discovered nearby and the population of 600 more than doubled.

Last year Upton County voted $360,000 in bonds for water for a Rankin park system, the excess to be sold to residents. This week water from nine wells was turned into the city mains.

The county has storage capacity for 400,000 gallons. The city can bring that up to 500,000 gallons. And more than half a million gallons a day can be pumped from the new wells.

The county owns two sections of water rights for Rankin so that additional wells can be dug if needed.

County Commissioner Tom D. Forkman Jr. said the wells cost about $220,000, so the saving of $140,000 from the bond issue will be used for park improvements and any further water expense.

What residents like best about the new water system is that instead of a front yard full of dust and prairie bushes pretty soon they'll be looking at grass and flowers.

Tommy McMahon is one of the city mail carriers who has had his troubles with dogs in town. Here, a dog sits on the porch of a residence, under the mailbox, and barks at the approaching postman. "This one is a bluffer, not a biter," McMahon said. Postmen usually have the "number" of most dogs on their routes. One postal employe several years ago was bitten by a rabid dog and took the Pasteur treatment. (Lee Watson photograph)

Canines Still Represent Big Problem For City's Postmen

What's happening to postmen here shouldn't happen to a dog.

Postmen, however, probably wish something would happen to some of the dogs in town, because the dogs are really biting this season.

Just two weeks ago, a postman who is not a regular city carrier got a hole in his leg left there by an unfriendly dog. Maybe it wouldn't be so bad, he says, if the dog's owner wouldn't come out of the house after the postman has already been bitten and say, "Don't worry, he won't bite."

Whether dog owners here know it or not, these dog bites are costing the postmen and the government. For instance, one carrier not long ago got bit by a vicious dog. On impulse, he kicked his tormenter and suffered a broken toe. This was in addition to his torn trousers, which were replaced at his expense, his five weeks of sick leave, and the doctor bill, which the government paid. At 13 days a year, it takes a postman two and one-half years to accumulate five weeks' sick leave.

There are no city carriers here who have not had at least one dog bit, the carriers say. One has been bitten only once in four years, but he is extremely careful and tries to become a friend to each dog on his route. The dog which bit him was extremely shy and hard to get acquainted with, he said. Another postman has been bit at least two dozen times in the last four years. Only one dog bit him twice, he said.

Only one dog in town is known to have bit more than one postman. That dog is notorious, and his master sometimes goes without his mail. Postal authorities throughout the U. S. recognize the seriousness of the dog problem, and postal regulations provide for some help in avoiding it. Chapter 9, Article 64 of the postal regulations state that "Carriers are not required to deliver mail at residences where dogs are permitted to interfere with delivery."

Almost every time a dog bites a postman, he not only injures the postman but tears his pants. Uniform pants cost anywhere from about $4.50 for the light weight summer trousers to $8 to $9 for the winter weight. The postman who had been bitten two dozen times said his pants were torn each time. On one occasion, the dog biting him almost ripped the leg off his pants. It can get expensive. Hardly ever does the dog's master, who allowed the critter to run loose in the first place, offer to pay for the damage to the postman, doggone it.

The dogs biting postmen are usually the ones considered very tame by their masters and are left to roam the neighborhood. Some residents even get angry at postmen when they make remarks about the dogs. One postman said a resident "threatened to whip me because I told him he should pen his dog up." That particular dog had bitten that particular postman. There is the other side to the story, though. Many residents here do keep their dogs penned or on leashes. Often, though, they are tied within reach of the mail boxes, postmen say. Some residents are aware their dogs will bite. One small boy told a postman, "Don't be scared. He'll bite, but he won't bite hard."

Practically every postman here, even the parcel post men who drive trucks, have scars to show for their constant battle with dogs here. In addition to a scar to show for a bite, one oldtime postal worker remembers taking the Pasteur treatment against rabies after being bit.

This postman, J .O. Morrison, Sr., now works in mail distribution and has not carried mail on the route for a number of years. A veteran of 34 years' postal service, he has been bitten only once, but that was by a dog with rabies. Morrison was a carrier in Oklahoma City when this occurred in about 1920. The dog had been friendly previously, but one day it slipped upon Morrison an. bit his leg.

Morrison said he did not think much about the dogbite until later, when he heard the dog had been killed because it was suspected of having rabies. The postman and a county health official went to where the dog was buried, dug it up, and had its head analyzed. Sure enough, the dog had rabies, so Morrison was forced to go through the 21-shot Pasteur treatment.

"The shots didn't hurt much," Morrison said, adding "In fact, I gained 40 pounds during those weeks I was taking the shots." The shots purified his blood, Morrison said.

That dog bite cost Morrison $55, and the dog's owner did not help foot the bill. Postmen here do not recall any carrier ever suing a dog's master and collecting damages, but there has been thought about this in Texas. Postmen throughout the state at one time attempted to get a bill passed in the legislature for state aid to mailmen in suing dogs' owners for damages as a result of dogbite. Nothing definite ever happened, though.

City ordinances also protect the postman here, and city officials are usually notified when dogs become a menace to carriers, according to H. D. Moreland, postmaster.

Jack Shelley, city manager, said city ordinances require owners of dogs to keep them on their property and have them licensed. Stray dogs can be picked up anywhere and are kept for 10 days before being destroyed. Any dogs not licensed are considered strays. Licensed dogs can be picked up if they are off the property of their owners. Any dog which bites a person, Shelley said, should be penned up and kept away from persons for about 10 days for signs of rabies symptoms.

Even these preventive measures do not keep postmen from being bit by dogs, and the situation does not seem to be getting better. It appears that either residents will have to start being cooperative and keeping their animals in check, or postmen will have to start carrying dogbite kits.

Kilgore Rites Held For Dr. Harkrider

Perfectly Obvious

DALLAS, June 12 (AP)—Operators at a service station laughed yesterday when a man in a beat-up old car drove in for gas.

The sign on his rear bumper read, "Don't try to push me off the road, Buster — It's obvious I was here first.

Airline Plans To Change Its Schedule Here

Pioneer Air Lines has begun to change schedules again.

The change will hit Snyder tomorrow, when Pioneer will discontinue two flights, put in two more, and change the time of one. That leaves only one flight the same as it has been.

Flight No. 42 is the same, leaving here at 6:55 o'clock in the morning eastbound. No. 43 is the remaining flight, but instead of landing here at 4:11 o'clock in the afternoon it will come in at 6:10, almost two hours later. These two flights took on 25 and 10 passengers respectively last month. They brought in one and 28.

Being pulled out of Snyder are flights No. 41 and 46. Flight 41 had been coming in from the east at 9:18 o'clock in the morning, and No. 46 had been arriving from the west at 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon. No. 41 boarded five and left 18 here last month, while No. 46 was the most popular of those going out of town. A total of 45 boarded that flight last month, and 11 were deplaned here.

The flights replacing the two being pulled out are No. 48, which formerly landed here and No. 42. No. 48 will leave here at 8:10 o'clock at night and arrive at Dallas at 10:28. No. 42 will arrive here from Dallas at 8:26 o'clock at night. It is a flight needed here for some time, according to Jim Babcock, Pioneer station manager. With this new flight available, a Snyder passenger can leave here at 6:55 o'clock in the morning on No. 42 and go to Fort Worth or Dallas. The flight arrives at Dallas at 9:01 o'clock. The passenger, after staying all day, can board No. 42 at 6:15 o'clock in the evening and arrive in Snyder at 8:26.

Babcock said figures on passengers boarding were higher during May than before. A total of 85 boarded last month here, compared to 67 in April. Deplaned were 58 in May and 62 in April. There were 15 flyovers because of bad weather last month. The most popular coming in with 28 passenger during the month was No. 43, which arrives here westbound at 4:11 o'clock.

Air freight usage increased last month, while use of air mail and air express decreased, the manager said.

Rodeo Queen Contestants

Selection of the first Scurry County Rodeo queen will be made this year from a group of 12 candidates.

The contest is being sponsored by the Cosmorama Study Club which intends to use proceeds from the contest to help build a women's clubhouse for use by all civic clubs, women's clubs, and the public here, Mrs. Jack Bowden, head of the queen contest committee for the Cosmorama Club, said.

Each of the 12 girls in the contest has selected a younger girl as her "queen of the future". Each queen will also have two campaign managers during the race.

Coronation of the queen will be held at 8 o'clock the night of July 13, with voting to close earlier that day, and the queen will reign during the three-day rodeo from July 14 to July 17.

The coronation will take place in the rodeo arena west of town, and the queen will be one of the featured attractions in the annual rodeo parade the afternoon of the opening day.

Queen candidates, their sponsors, and ther selections for "queen of the future," are:

Joan Cockrell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Cockrell. She is sponsored by Mildred's Dress Shop, and her selection for future queen is Nonnie Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Novis N. Rodgers.

Joanna Gale Forbes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Egen, is sponsored by Barrow Furniture Co., and her future queen is Lesa Bowden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bowden.

Sittie Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Harrell, is sponsored in the queen's race by Wade Pipkin Motors. Her future queen selection is Jana Pipkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Pipkin.

Sandra Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper, is sponsored by Lamb Chevrolet Co., and her queen of the future is Susan Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Lamb.

Janeene Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, is sponsored in the contest by Everbody's Food Market. Her selection for future queen is Kay Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Logan.

Doris Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Sterling, is sponsored in the contest by Gray's Style Shop. Her queen of the future is Helen Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Joyce.

Jane Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Houston, is sponsored by Stevenson's Sunbean Cash Food Market. Her queen of the future is Christen Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malven K. Stevenson.

Mary Jimm Stinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee T. Stinson, is sponsored by Art Style Beauty Shop. Her candidate for queen of the future is Millijon Smyth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smyth.

Mary Jimm Stinson, left, and Joan Cockrell, above, two candidates, compare ideas on how the race for queen of the Scurry County Rodeo will go. The queen's race is being sponsored by the Cosmorama Study Club, and proceeds are to be used in building a women's clubhouse here.

Jane Houston, left, and Camille Cloud, two contestants in the race for queen of the Scurry County Rodeo this year, are holding hands now, but will probably enter in the spirit of the contest which will end with coronation of a queen the day before the rodeo opens on July 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd On Colorado Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Eldon Floyd are on a wedding trip to Colorado following their marriage here Friday night.

Mrs. Floyd is the former Bonita Joy Lyons, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lyons, route 3. Mr. Floyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Floyd, 2811 Thirty-second Street.

The Rev. Floyd Strickland read the wedding ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. The couple stood beneath an archway flanked by baskets of white gladioli. Miss Pauline Yandell accompanied Mrs. Bobby Ray Newton as she sang "At Dawning" before the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length dress of ice blue lace over blue satin. The strapless bodice was covered by a long-sleeved jacket of lace bound in blue satin and trimmed with satin-covered buttons. Her half hat of matching lace over satin was outlined in seed pearls and held in place the short veil. Blue pumps completed the ensemble, and she carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Charles Ray Lyons attended the bride. Her dress was of yellow organdy, fashioned with a square neckline and a circular skirt. Her accessories were white.

Eddie Don Floyd served his brother as best man.

At the reception which followed the wedding, Miss Danna Floyd and Miss Neida Floyd presided at the bride's table. The table was covered with an ecru lace cloth over yellow and centered with the wedding cake placed on a mirror ringed with yellow roses. Miss Peggy Alen secured the names of guests for the bride's book.

The couple will be at home at 2013 Avenue E upon their return from Colorado.

Mrs. Floyd, a graduate of Snyder High School, attended Howard Payne College. Mr. Floyd attended Snyder High School and served two years in the Marine Corps, 15 months of that time in Korea. He is now employed at a service station here.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS
. . . good indoors or out

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5466.

Barbecued spareribs are strictly American in flavor and preparation, and there never was a happier choice for a backyard meal.

You can do the main part of the barbecuing in the kitchen oven, then give the ribs the last touch on the outdoor grill. To go with the meat, heat canned beans with thin onion rings in a skillet on top of the range or on an outdoor grill for 15 to 20 minutes. To make a salad, alternate short lengths of celery, radishes, olives and wide strips of green pepper on skewers. Stand the skewers in a bowl of ice cubes and they're ready to go. Everybody picks up his own salad and eats it out of hand.

For your barbecued ribs, here is one suggested method:

3 pounds fresh pork spareribs
4 tablespoons dark old-fashioned molasses
3 tablespoons cider vinegar or lemon juice
4 tablespoons prepared yellow or brown mustard
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons tobasco sauce
½ teaspoon kitchen bouquet

Have the spareribs cut in serving-sized pieces. Place in a shallow pan, about 11 x 17 x 2 inches is a good size. Mix the molasses, vinegar, mustard, Worcestershire, tabasco and kitchen bouquet. Brush the ribs with it. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) one and a half hours, brushing the ribs often with the sauce. Makes six servings.

For a back yard barbecue, reserve about one-fourth of the sauce used during the oven baking. Place the ribs on the outdoor grill and cook one-half hour longer, brushing with the reserved sauce often.

Fish steaks with carrots and peas come to the table in the casserole for a main dish. Add a tossed green salad, another vegetable if you choose and a dessert for a quick, hearty meal.

2 pounds fish steaks
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Paprika
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
½ cup drained cooked diced carrots
½ cup drained cooked green peas

Place the fish in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with one-half teaspoon salt and lemon juice. Dot with one tablespoon of the butter and sprinkle with paprika. Make a white sauce of the remaining butter, flour, one teaspoon salt, pepper and milk, then stir in the carrots and peas. Pour the sauce around the fish and bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until the fish flakes very easily, about 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

On the bank of Big Sulphur Creek at Dunn, Mrs. Jake Smith (left) and Mrs. L. E. Russell establish themselves on a summer afternoon with fishing poles and minnow bucket. Fishing is Mrs. Smith's favorite sport, and Mrs. Russell often accompanies her on her excursions.

SOCIETY SCRIBBLINGS

Some of the pleasantest spots in the county on a hot June afternoon can be found around Dunn. Big Sulphur Creek ambles along under the hill where Dunn's grocery store, filling station and three churches are situated, and it never goes dry even in a drouth year.

"Right over yonder" are neighboring Little Sulphur and Deep Creeks, marked by winding rows of trees that shade the creek banks.

FISH STORY

The Society Scribbler was sitting in D. D. SMITH'S store the other afternoon, drinking a soda pop and wondering where the feminine part of Dunn's population might be found when a gray-haired lady wearing a smock and a split bonnet and carrying a long fishing cane stopped outside the door.

She was Mrs. L. E. RUSSELL and she was looking for Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. JAKE SMITH. "Somebody said she was down at the creek fishing," she said.

Well, Mr. Smith didn't know for sure where she was but he agreed that was a likely place to find her.

As it happened, she wasn't there yet, but it wasn't long till Mrs. Smith, known around Dunn as "Aunt Betty," was established under a willow tree on the creek bank and had her hook resting on the bottom, "down where the catfish lay."

Aunt Betty has been fishing around Dunn for nearly 40 years, sometimes alone, sometimes with some of the neighbor women or children. She won't allow any men around when she fishes.

The owner of the land where the Big Sulphur fishing hole lies doesn't object to having Aunt Betty and her friends fish there.

"However," her son explained with a grin, "he did say he got tired of having them tear down the fence so he built them a turnstile."

A TRUE SPORTSMAN

Though Aunt Betty is a real master of the art of fishing, she doesn't care a thing about eating the fish.

"I just fish for the sport," she declares. "I get a lot of teasing, but I don't no more care."

She hardly ever catches anything in the Dunn hole bigger than a pounder. But that's good fishing, and Aunt Betty can still get excited about it.

"My gracious alive," she said, "you ought to hear me when I'm out here by myself and get hold of a fish like that."

JOE SCOTT, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. SCOTT, guesses he is about the only boy that gets to fish regularly with Aunt Betty. However, when the Scribbler visited Big Sulphur, JERRY JOHNSON, who lives about a mile out of town, had been invited along.

Mrs. Russell is probably Aunt Betty's most frequent fishing companion, but some of the other Dunn women, including Mrs. Scott, go along every once in a while.

Aunt Betty fishes in most of the water around Dunn, but the town pool is the place where she can be found most often, because it's in walking distance from her new duplex on the hill. Almost every summer she goes to Hopkins County, where she has fishing rights and an interest in a lake cabin.

When the weather's too bad for fishing, canasta is the favorite pastime. Aunt Betty lives by herself, but the people in the other side of the house can usually be persuaded to play; and Mrs. Russell is a close enough neighbor to come in for a game.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Russell once were neighbors on farms close to Dunn, but they have both lived in Dunn since their husbands died 37 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. GENE RICHARDSON were among the more than 220 persons who attended the annual convention for Furr's managers in Estes Park last week. They arrived on the same day as the unusually late snow storm which had the temperature down to 15 degrees. The hotel in which they stayed was a summer resort, Mrs. Richardson said, and hadn't been heated in 25 years. The light wraps most of the conventioneers carried weren't quite enough to cope with all that!

At any rate, the trip was fine, Mrs. Richardson said. Activities included a tour of Bear Lake and a visit to the Broadmoor ice show.

Fabulous 5-Year-Old Not So Fantastic, After All

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What is the truth about Portland Mason, the fabulous 5-year-old?

Many fantastic things have been printed about the daughter of James and Pamela Mason, the British filmsters. Among them: that she has her own mink coat and her own psychoanalyst; that her parents bought a school for her; that they take her to cocktail parties and night clubs.

To check up on such reports I went to the youngster's mother, dark-haired, intellectual Pamela Mason.

Mrs. Mason defended her daughter from the critics' barbs. "I wouldn't answer these things," she began, "except that Portland is beginning public school this fall. It is a terrible burden for her to face the other children after all these stories about her.

"The only unusual thing about her upbringing is her hours. I was the eldest of six children and we were all brought up with nurses. We were required to be in the drawing room at a certain hour each day, and so forth. I missed being with my mother, and I vowed that I would rear my own child.

"Unlike many Beverly Hills children, Portland has no nurse. I take care of her myself. Rather than get up at 6 in the morning with her, I arranged it so she got up at 9 and stayed up later in the evening. That's all there is to it."

About buying the school: "Portland went to a nursery school early and liked the teacher. She had to go out of business and we tried another school, but Portland wasn't happy. So we bought some property for her former teacher to reopen her school. we are the mortgage holders, that's all."

The cocktail parties: "The only one she attended was Kirk Douglas' introducing his new wife. We went because Portland is in love with Kirk. She was roundly criticized for being there, and we certainly wouldn't have gone if we had known it would be one of those big, all-star occasions.

"When she was a baby, we used to take her to dinner parties at the Walter Wangers or other close friends. That was because I was nursing her."

The night clubs: "Portland went to Ciro's once. That was because her dancing teacher was one of the Katherine Dunham troupe, and we wanted her to see the show. We came in when the first show started and left immediately after."

The mink coat: "Utterly fantastic. If she has one, we haven't seen it."

The psychoanalyst: "I don't believe I've ever met one in my life, and I don't think Portland has."

Fedora Bontempi Cooks On TV, Again At Home

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Fedora Bontempi, who teaches thousands of women to understand the art of good cooking via TV and radio, is a petite blonde who looks as if she would be baffled by the problem of boiling an egg.

Fedora and her singer husband Pino co-star in one radio and three television programs weekly, with a new TV show in the offing. Fedora cooks and Pino sings, and between them they manage to convey a sense of good living.

Fedora talks of cooking with affection: "Caress your food as you cook, give it the benefit of imagination and interest, and it will turn out loving you."

She has been cooking ever since she can remember. Though her mother sometimes chased her out of the kitchen, she managed to acquire the fine Italian touch with pasta and sauces by the time she could read. Immediately after graduation from New York's Hunter College she went to Europe to study the finer points of French and Italian cuisine.

All this deep enthusiasm for cooking was entirely personal until she married Pino in 1938, a year after his arrival in this country from Italy. She was doing movie bit parts in New York at the time, and Pino was giving concerts and singing on radio.

Fedora decided they might as well pool their talents, and wrote a script involving the daily adventures, culinary and romantic, of an Italian singer and his wife. The Bontempis were an instant success.

Fedora still writes all the scripts for both radio and television shows. She and Pino produce a weekly radio program, have two weekly television shows originating in New Haven, Conn., and a show from New York, playing up Italian cooking.

Their projected new program will deal with American cookery.

Writing all the scripts, acting in all the shows, co-producing and cooking up new recipes keeps Fedora fairly busy, but she's a glutton for punishment.

"After cooking all day on TV, I start right in again when I come home," she says. "Pino still likes my cooking."

OMAHA, June 12 (AP)—The National Assn. of County Officials wants more time to present its case to the commission on intergovernmental relations.

County Judge Fred B. Glass of Marlin, Tex., was unanimously elected president of the association.

Clare McCardell calls this favorite design of hers a "popover." The bodice is cut on the bias with a front seam opening that artfully drapes into the side seam. The skirt is cut on the straight of the material for fullness, and is drawn as tightly about the waist as you wish. Miss McCardell cut the popover from a plaid gingham cotton and it made a perfect sun and play dress. Size 12 requires five and one-half yards of 39-inch material. "There are no foxes in University Park," she was told.

"Then maybe it's a cat," she said politely.

Big Crop Of Doves Counted

AUSTIN, June 12 (AP)—Surveys indicate good prospects for a successful harvest of mourning doves this coming season, Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen of the Texas Game and Fish Commission reported today.

A count of dove populations is being made throughout Texas by 27 field men of the commission staff in cooperation with personnel of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Initial reports indicate the birds are nesting in good numbers, said Dodgen.

Favorable reports on Panhandle antelope indicate the possibility of three hunting periods of three days each in the Panhandle instead of two periods of five days as were used for last year's first antelope hunt in the Panhandle in modern times.

The outlook for an open season on antelope west of the Pecos is dark because of the prolonged drought.

Quail prospects have improved as the result of general rains and are especially bright in the Panhandle, which had a very low number of birds last year.

Ex-Marine Is Honored

AUSTIN, June 12 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers today honored Cecil Downey of Seagoville, an ex-marine who lost both legs on Iwo Jima, as the "Handicapped Person of the Year" for the state of Texas.

Award of the honorary certificate was made at a meeting of the Texas Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

The governor also presented an award to Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas as "Employer of the Year" of handicapped workers.

Downey won the honor because of his comeback after having both legs blown off and his hands mangled when his squad was advancing against the Japs on Iwo Jima. A mine field blew up under the squad's feet. Downey was the only man left alive.

After years of painful hospitalization, he finally was able to begin rehabilitation training.

He learned leathercraft, wound up as manager of the Ayres Leather Goods Co. in Dallas, then established his own business, the C and D Leathercraft Co. in Seagoville. He now has nine full time employes and six salesmen and has trained five physically handicapped persons.

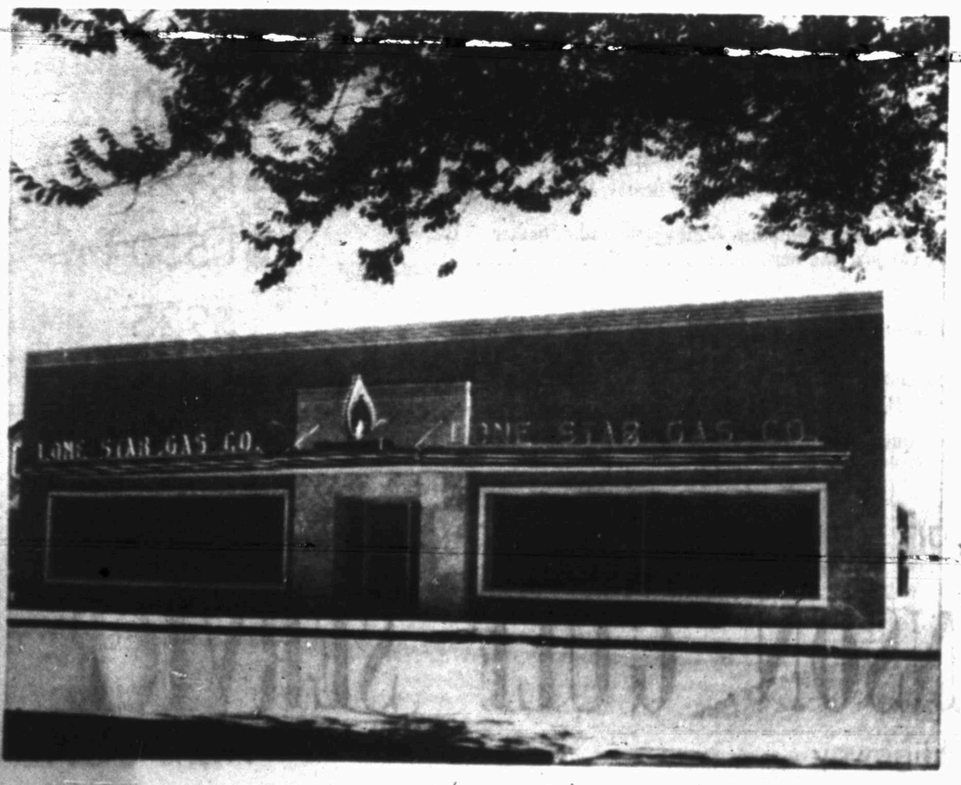
Growing SNYDER



INDUSTRY

Snyder industries furnish the public everything from cottonseed to kilowatts and employ a large number of residents here. Employes of these various industries include many civic and church workers and are a part of a large industrial payroll here.

Among the largest industries here are utility firms, which furnish electricity, gas, water, and telephones to an average of 3,759 homes and businesses each. As the city grows, firms dealing with construction contribute materials, part of which are made in Scurry County for building in Scurry County. Cottonseed breeders aid farmers in developing the best cotton, which is one of the largest crops in the county.
