ARLINGTON — Nolan Ryan, who has stymied hitters in four decades while compiling seven no-hitters, 319 victories and more than three dozen major league records, said Friday he is returning for a record 27th season./8B

Rig count jumps

HOUSTON — The number of working oil and gas rigs in the United States made a healthy gain for the second week in a row, climbing by 35 to 755, Baker Hughes Inc. said Friday. The tally also neared last year's mark of 775, the Houston tool maker said. Last week, the count swelled by 33 to 720.

West Texas A&M

CANYON — The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents Friday voted to change West Texas State University to West Texas A&M University despite complaints from students, alumni and faculty. Voting 8-1 in a meeting at College Station, the regents said the new name is effective June 1, 1993./1C

To the sharks

TOKYO — Police have arrested a fisherman and his cousin for trying to feed the fisherman's wife to sharks after an argument, a local police spokesman said on Friday. The fisherman threw his wife into a net and dragged her behind his boat in shark-infested waters for about half an hour, said police spokesman Yasuo Kikuchi in Iyo, about 425 miles southwest of Tokyo. "I will use you as a bait for the sharks," the 40-year-old fisherman, Motoichi Nishimura, reportedly told his wife, Rumiko, before throwing her into the water. She suffered only minor bruises, police said. "I thought I would die," police quoted 22-year-old Mrs. Nishimura as telling investigators.

Magic quits AIDS panel

Johnson slams Bush for inaction

■ Administration 'dropped the ball' on disease, basketball legend says.

By Philip J. Hilts
N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Magic Johnson resigned Friday from the National Commission on AIDS, contending in a letter to President Bush that the administration had "utterly ignored" the commission's recommendations and "dropped the ball" on AIDS.

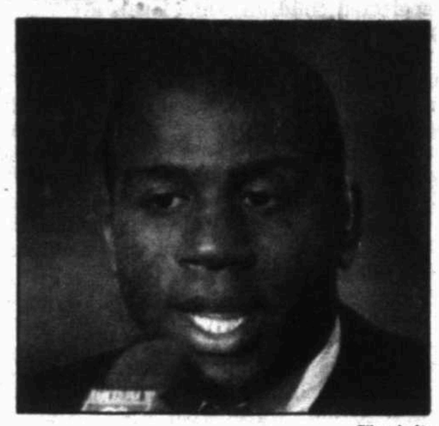

Johnson, the 33-year-old basketball legend who announced last Nov. 7 that he was infected with the human immunodeficiency virus that causes AIDS, was appointed to the commission by Bush later that month. Since then, he has expressed growing disappointment with the administration's AIDS programs.

Bush made no public comment on Johnson's resignation, the most recent in a series of blows to his administration's claim that it has responded effectively to the AIDS epidemic. During the Republican Convention last month, Mary Fisher, a woman who has AIDS, said the administration must do more to combat the disease.

And activists as well as mainstream medical organizations have steadily criticized the administration for providing insufficient funds and for promoting weak AIDS education programs that avoid direct discussions of sex.

White House deputy press secretary Judy Smith, traveling with Bush on a campaign trip to Illinois, said: "We re-

Judge grants boy 'divorce' from parents

■ Precedent-setting ruling may give minors increased standing in courts of law.

Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla. — A judge Friday ruled in favor of a 12-year-old boy who set a legal precedent by going to court to "divorce" the biological parents he said had mistreated and abandoned him.

Circuit Judge Thomas S. Kirk told Gregory Kingsley he was now formally adopted by his foster parents. "Gregory, you're the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russ at this moment," he said as the courtroom broke into applause.

Kirk said the boy's biological mother had "lied consistently" during the legal battle Gregory initiated to sever his relationship with her.

"I believe by clear and convincing evidence, almost beyond a reasonable doubt in this case, that this child has been abandoned ... and neglected by Rachel Kingsley and it is certainly in his best

Soviet missiles remain locked on U.S. targets

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia is still aiming its nuclear missiles at the United States and is awaiting a U.S. response to President Boris Yeltsin's initiative to point the weapons elsewhere, the commonwealth's military chief said Friday.

Russia also should resume nuclear tests if Western countries don't stop conducting them, Marshal Yevgeny Shaposhnikov said in a speech to students of the Moscow State Institute for Foreign Relations. Shaposhnikov heads the unified army headquarters of the Commonwealth of Independent States, which is made up of most of the former Soviet republics.

Yeltsin said last January in a speech to the United Nations, weeks after the collapse of the Soviet Union, that Soviet missiles were no longer targeting the United States.

Asked about that statement, Shaposhnikov said:

Energy industry loses steam for Guerrero

By Joe Cutbirth
N.Y Times News Service

AUSTIN — When Texas Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero came calling on Fort Worth energy and civic leaders this spring, she won rave reviews.

W.A. "Tex" Moncrief asked Guerrero a few industry-related questions, decided she had "done her homework" and immediately wrote a $1,100 check to her campaign.

But that's the last money he's likely to give.

Revelations that Guerrero misrepresented her education to voters for more than a decade have caused Moncrief and some other former Guerrero supporters in the energy industry to take a second look at the Railroad Commission race.

Although Guerrero's core constituent groups have rallied behind her this week, the perception that she may be politically wounded has caused former supporters to reassess their position.

"It was nothing but a bald-faced lie and certainly would lower anybody in my opinion," Moncrief said. "What she's done (by admitting it and apologizing) is the proper thing, but ... I would say right now I'd be quite reluctant to vote for her.

"Well, I'll go ahead and say it," he added, "I'll vote for the other side now."

Candidates for the Railroad Commission, especially incumbents seeking reelection, traditionally have looked to energy and transportation interests for large campaign contributions.

Often, the money comes from business owners who are more concerned with the perceived benefits of supporting a likely winner than they are with backing a candidate who agrees with them on issues that are irrelevant to the regulatory process.

Although Guerrero's core constituent groups — liberals, Democratic women and South Texas voters — have rallied behind her this week, the perception that she may be politically wounded has

Analysts: Renewed Perot would throw Texas twist

By Max B. Baker
N.Y. Times News Service

FORT WORTH — Like nowhere else in the country, Ross Perot's anticipated return to presidential politics is having its biggest impact in Texas, a pivotal state in the winning strategies of George Bush and Bill Clinton.

While President Bush and Arkansas Gov. Clinton said Friday that neither would change their strategies to counter Perot's possible re-emergence, political analysts say Bush, especially, will not be able to ignore the Dallas billionaire's independent candidacy.

NASA soars after launch of Mars Observer mission

By John Noble Wilford
N.Y. Times News Service

The first American spacecraft bound for Mars in 17 years was launched Friday on a planned 11-month, 450-million-mile voyage to map the planet, explore its geological and climatological history and look for evidence that life might have once existed there.

After a successful liftoff at the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station in Florida, the 5,700-pound Mars Observer spacecraft was cruising on course for a rendezvous with the red planet next Aug. 24.

"The spacecraft is healthy and on the proper trajectory for Mars," said Jim Doyle, a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., which is directing the $900 million mission for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

When the spacecraft arrives at Mars, it is to swing into an orbit crossing the planet's poles and

WIN: Judge grants boy 'divorce' from parents in precedent-setting case interests that her parental rights be terminated immediately."

Gregory's adoptive parents, George and Lizabeth Russ, said they were delighted. "We just hugged," Mrs. Russ said of Gregory. "It was really exciting. I didn't expect it would happen that fast."

Harry Morall II, a lawyer for Mrs. Kingsley, said his client "should have been judged by her lifestyle now, not in the past."

Mrs. Kingsley was not in the courtroom for closing arguments and the ruling. Morall told the judge just before he announced his ruling that she had become ill and left the courtroom. She never reappeared.

Later, at Morall's office she said, sobbing, "I just want Gregory to know that I love him very much. He is welcome to come home anytime he likes. He will always be my son. All I ever wanted was a chance to be with him."

The case was considered precedent-setting because the lawsuit was pursued by a 12-year-old boy and the ruling gave a minor increased standing in a court of law. Lawyers say they deal with similar custody cases frequently, but the legal action is usually initiated by a foster parent or by the state.

The case was also given an unusually high profile by national coverage on Court TV and CNN.

The judge's ruling culminated a day in which Gregory took the witness stand and nervously recalled bouncing from his mother's home to foster homes until he finally "thought she forgot about me."

As his mother wept in the courtroom, Gregory recounted a joyless childhood filled with uncertainty and abandonment. He said his mother was often out late drinking and kept marijuana "in a brown box on a table in the living room."

Asked why he wanted to live permanently with his foster family, Gregory said: "I'm doing it for me, so I can be happy."

The brown-haired, pale boy recalled years when he wouldn't hear from his mother even at Christmas.

He said his first memory was of his dad leaving the family. He said he loved his foster parents but didn't love his mother.

The boy said he preferred to be called Shawn, not Gregory. "I hated the name Gregory," he said.

The boy contended in his lawsuit that his mother's abuse and neglect led him to seek legal freedom so he could be adopted by the Russes, with whom he has lived for almost a year.

Mrs. Kingsley wanted him back. Some legal observers said the case could affect the ability of children to protect themselves from parental abuse or neglect.

David S. Liederman, head of the Child Welfare League of America in Washington, D.C., praised the ruling.

"This landmark case is a giant step in recognizing that in certain cases of abuse and neglect, children in their own right will now legally be recognized in court," he said.

The judge, who had given Gregory legal standing in court, decided the issues of parental rights and adoption without a jury.

Legal experts: Ruling could aid abused, neglected children

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A judge's decision to let a 12-year-old boy sue his biological mother for "divorce" and be adopted by foster parents is likely to help abused or neglected children, some legal experts said Friday.

David S. Liederman, head of the Washington, D.C.-based Child Welfare League of America, called the case "a giant step in recognizing that in certain cases of abuse and neglect, children in their own right will now legally be recognized in court."

Circuit Judge Thomas S. Kirk on Friday told Gregory Kingsley that he was now formally adopted by his foster parents, George and Lizabeth Russ.

For Gregory, who now prefers to be called Shawn, it was a chance to celebrate with his family.

The boy's attorney, Jerri Blair, presented him with a blue T-shirt, which said "Shawn No. 9." The Russes have eight other children.

"I hope we have raised the consciousness of everybody in this country," said George Russ, the adoptive father and an Orlando attorney.

The case was considered precedent-setting because the lawsuit was pursued by a 12-year-old boy, and the ruling gave a minor increased standing in a court of law.

Blair said it too early to determine the impact of the case.

"We'll find out at the appellate level," she said. "That's where precedents are set. I think it's already made a difference to many kids around the country."

But Howard Davidson, director of the American Bar Association's Center on Children and the Law, said he didn't think the case would have any implications beyond child abuse, neglect and abandonment cases.

"All of the publicity makes it significant," he said. "To my knowledge, this is the first time in American history that a termination-of-parental-rights hearing has been broadcast on national television."

Rachel Kingsley, biological mother of Gregory, called the proceedings a "kangaroo court."

"The judge made up his mind before he walked into the courtroom," she said, sobbing. "I didn't expect to walk out of the courtroom with my son, but I did expect to be allowed the chance to start the healing process with my family through counseling on which we've been working very hard."

GUERRERO: Industry supporters take 2nd look caused former supporters to reassess their position.

"I don't think there is a question this will damage her with the industry," said a well-connected energy lobbyist. "I think basically it's caused a lot of people to take another look."

Most of the people interviewed for this story asked not to be identified because they have business at the Railroad Commission and did not want something they said to be held against them by whoever wins the race.

Guerrero spokesman Chuck McDonald said the campaign is not prepared to write off any voter group.

"We understand people's anger and disappointment, and we are going to try and do everything we can to win back their respect," McDonald said. "But we realize that is a process that takes some time."

Jeff Norwood, a spokesman for Barry Williamson, said Williamson's campaign has received dozens of calls from former Guerrero supporters who are now pledging their support to Williamson.

"We are welcoming them aboard our campaign with open arms," Norwood said. "I think she is dead in the water as far as the energy industry is concerned."

Guerrero's opposition to widespread deregulation of intrastate trucking rates has apparently helped her hold onto support from the trucking industry.

"It appears to me that she made an error and chose not to correct it and it probably will hurt her ability to be influential," said the owner of one major trucking company.

"As far as her job," he said, "I'm mostly judging her on what she's done, and she's a credible person. I don't have any problem voting for her."

Austin political consultant George Christian, a Democrat, said that defections from energy leaders could hurt Guerrero's ability to raise money in the final weeks of the campaign, but that in the long run her standing with the entire electorate is what counts.

"The main reason a candidate seeks that support (from industry leaders) is financial," he said, adding that several major oil and gas producers he has spoken to are sticking with Guerrero.

"If you are talking about votes I think her standing with the general public is more important than it is with what is left of the Texas oil industry."

Christian said that it is imperative for Guerrero to take the money she has raised from the industry and use it in the final weeks of the campaign to get her message to the public.

State Republican chairman Fred Meyer said Friday that, if Guerrero wants to start with a clean slate as she said when she resigned from office Thursday, she should return all the contributions she has collected.

"That's ludicrous," McDonald said. "Lena raised that money on her record of public service at the Railroad Commission and the Texas House of Representatives."

WEATHER SUMMARY

Via Associated Press

Tonight should be cloudy, cool

Staff report

Today's forecast calls for mostly sunny skies, a high near 80 and north winds at 10 to 20 mph. Tonight should be cloudy and cool with a low in the 50s. Sunday should be cloudy and cool with a high in the mid-70s, according to the National Weather Service in Midland.

After an overnight low of 53, Friday's high reached 94 compared to the record high for that date of 102 set in 1977. The record low for that date is 44 set in 1989.

STATE

Below-normal temperatures continued across much of Texas Friday in the wake of a cold front's passage.

High temperatures ranged from the 70s to lower 80s in North Texas under mostly cloudy skies, and from the mid-80s to lower 90s elsewhere.

Another cold front was moving southward through the northern Panhandle late Friday afternoon.

Winds were northerly at 10 to 20 mph and gusty behind the front and generally southerly to southwesterly at 10 to 20 mph across other sections, with higher gusts across the Panhandle.

Skies were mostly sunny in West Texas and mostly cloudy over the extreme east in response to moisture from the Gulf of Mexico, which combined with an upper level low-pressure system in central sections.

It brought showers and thunderstorms along the upper Texas coast. Fog and hazy conditions were reported in East Texas and the Coastal Plains, with visibilities averaging five miles.

A trace of rain was reported at Lufkin.

NATION

Tropical Storm Danielle swirled off the East Coast on Friday, causing high waves and flooding along the mid-Atlantic coast.

Thunderstorms were scattered over the nation's interior, and winds swirled dust across roads in California.

Waves churned up by Danielle's 60 mph winds slammed into North Carolina's barrier islands and flooded low-lying areas of Virginia Beach, Va.

Storm and flood warnings were posted along the coast from North Carolina north to Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, and over southeast New England and New York state, the National Weather Service said.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

Correction

Two sentences were omitted from a letter to the editor from Ed A. Vogler in the Friday Midland Reporter-Telegram.

The second sentence of the third paragraph should have read, "After receiving an October 1991 parking study report conducted at city expense by David Jones, I have expressed to the airport board my concern regarding this situation."

Paragraph five of the letter should have stated, "I would like to make a recommendation to the current airport board and the city council that the parking stickers be immediately eliminated and any city employee or individual conducting official city business at the airport have their parking validated. This recommendation has been supported by a majority of the members of the previous airport board and also by two members of the present city council."

The Reporter-Telegram regrets the omissions.

Man hits train

Staff report

ODESSA — A 38-year-old Odessa man spent an hour trapped inside his car after it rammed a train at the Rexene plant on South Grandview Avenue late Friday.

Johnny Ramirez drove his four-wheel-drive vehicle into the stationary utility train about 9:40 p.m. Department of Public Safety and Odessa Police rescue workers used a saw to cut through the passenger side door to free him.

Ramirez was transported to Medical Center Hospital but apparently was not seriously injured in the accident.

A witness to the accident said the train siding was not marked by flares.

MAGIC: Johnson criticizes Bush for inaction

(From 1A)

gret the decision by Magic Johnson to resign. The administration and Mr. Johnson are both committed to ridding this nation of AIDS."

Calling the effort against AIDS "an administration priority," Ms. Smith said that money for AIDS research had increased 170 percent since 1988. She said that this year, the administration had spent $4.3 billion, "more than for any other disease except cancer," and that $4.9 billion had been proposed for 1993.

Bush's opponent in the presidential race, Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, called Johnson "a good man," adding, "I hope in 39 days I can bring him back" to the AIDS Commission.

"Mr. Johnson knows that this administration has not done anything on AIDS," Clinton told reporters in Boston. "We've got a good AIDS Commission, good AIDS reports, and no action."

Johnson, in a letter faxed to the White House at 10 a.m. Friday, wrote: "As I think you know, along with my fellow commission members I have been increasingly frustrated by the lack of support, and even opposition, of your administration to our recommendations — recommendations which have an urgent priority and for which there is a broad consensus in the medical and AIDS communities."

The commission, a bipartisan panel appointed by Congress and the White House, is charged with developing a national consensus on what should be done to fight the disease.

Last September, in the first comprehensive review of national policy, the commission outlined 30 steps the government could take to help get the epidemic under control.

Among other things, the commission recommended a single national plan of attack, increased drug-abuse treatment and needle-swap programs, dropping the immigration ban against those who have AIDS, and a more candid discussion of sexual matters and safe sex in AIDS education programs.

In a June 25 statement, members of the commission said that the administration had either rejected or declined to act on all of the recommended steps.

"I cannot in good conscience continue to serve on a commission whose important work is so utterly ignored by your administration," Johnson wrote in his letter of resignation.

Using sports metaphors to recall a meeting with Bush in January, Johnson told the president: "No matter how good the team may be, I said it won't win the championship without the owner fully in the game. I am disappointed that you dropped the ball, and your administration is not doing everything that it must to fight this disease."

Secretary of Health and Human Services Louis W. Sullivan, said Friday that Johnson's resignation had been accepted with regret. He commended Johnson for the work he had done in AIDS awareness and prevention.

However, Sullivan disagreed with Johnson's assessment of the administration's work on AIDS.

"During the four years of the Bush administration, the federal government has supported increased efforts in research, new therapies for those with HIV, and extensive health-care services," he said.

Sullivan said that the level of financing was a direct reflection of the degree to which Bush is personally concerned about AIDS.

After announcing his HIV infection last year, Johnson resigned from the Los Angeles Lakers, the team he had led to five championships. He returned to basketball this summer to lead the U.S. Olympic team to a gold medal in Barcelona.

Johnson, who has no symptoms of the disease yet, is considering whether to get back into professional basketball while his health holds up, said his agent, Stephen Rivers. He said that Johnson would continue working on AIDS education outside the commission.

RUSSIAN: Missiles remain locked on U.S. targets

(From 1A)

tween a political statement and its practical implementation, depending on the statement's importance.

"We are awaiting a similar (step) from the Americans. If there will be a similar and reciprocal step, this question will be abolished by itself.

However, he added, "quite a number of missiles have been taken off combat duty in the framework of the START agreement."

Yeltsin's statement created a controversy in Russia at the time, and subsequent reports suggested his speech was written by Foreign Ministry officials who did not consult with the country's military leaders.

Shaposhnikov demanded similar reciprocity over Russia's declared moratorium on nuclear testing, which is to last until the end of the year. So far, only France has joined in.

"If our partners in the West don't stop these nuclear explosions, I think we would have to part with the moratorium and resume nuclear testing, maybe in a less intensive manner," Shaposhnikov said. "Otherwise, from the technological point of view, we could be left behind in this process."

He also complained that Ukraine, Russia's closest rival in wealth and power among the former Soviet republics, had balked at returning its part of the long-range nuclear arsenal to Russia.

With the collapse of the Soviet Union, nuclear weapons were left scattered across Russia, Ukraine, Belarus and Kazakhstan. Bowing to Western pressure, the republics moved their battlefield-range weapons to Russia by early May, ahead of schedule.

But each still has long-range, or strategic, nuclear missiles. The four republics have agreed to control the arms jointly until the end of the century, when all are to be transferred to Russia under a protocol signed on May 23 to the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty.

"At present, Russia, Belarus and Kazakhstan have one approach to this problem. Ukraine has an entirely different approach," Shaposhnikov said.

He said Ukraine wanted to introduce the concept of "administrative subordination" for the nuclear missiles and personnel stationed on its land.

"When you ask them what administrative subordination means, they say, 'It's our oath of allegiance ... our appointments, our supplies, our salaries and so on,'" he said.

Shaposhnikov said the Ukrainian demands violated a January agreement under which troops of all strategic forces would pledge allegiance only to the commonwealth.

Shaposhnikov said, however, that he recently discussed the issue with the presidents of the four nuclear republics, "and it seems the positions are coming closer and we can find the solution."

Ukraine has 176 long-range missiles, including 130 SS-18 missiles. According to Shaposhnikov, that is 10 percent of the former Soviet long-range nuclear arsenal; Russia holds 80 percent, Kazakhstan 6 percent and Belarus 4 percent.

NASA: Mission to bring in more data than others

spend at least one full Martian year — 687 Earth days — photographing the windswept plains, volcanic peaks, yawning canyons and dry river channels in unsurpassed detail. Scientists expect the mission to produce more data about Mars than all previous spacecraft that reached the planet, including the two Vikings that landed there in 1976 and failed to find any signs of present life in the soil.

Scientists and space agency officials hope the mission will prepare the way for a robust revival of Mars exploration in the next decade and the eventual flight of humans to the planet's cold, dry but alluring landscape.

Liftoff came at 1:05 p.m., a delay of 38 minutes while technicians grappled with last-minute preparations and mission officials anxiously monitored blustery winds in the launching area. After the Titan 3 rocket powered the spacecraft into an orbit of Earth, there was even more suspense, as flight controllers had to wait for more than an hour to get confirmation that another rocket firing had succeeded in sending Mars Observer on its interplanetary trajectory.

The suspense was heightened because this critical maneuver depended on the performance of a solid-fuel upper-stage booster, called a transfer orbit stage, that was making its flight debut. For some undetermined reason, data confirming the ignition did not arrive as scheduled.

Finally, when Mars Observer transmitted signals to a tracking station in Australia, flight controllers could relax. "The spacecraft has phoned home," said a jubilant Dr. Bevan French, NASA's chief scientist for the program.

From the tracking data, engineers could tell that the upper-stage booster had fired properly to propel the spacecraft out of Earth's gravitational grip and on its way to Mars at an initial speed of 37,500 miles an hour. Engineers also reported that a sun sensor used for aligning the spacecraft had failed to operate properly, but a backup sensor had been switched on.

"I'm not really concerned," said David D. Evans, the project manager at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The spacecraft was built by the Astro-Space division of the General Electric Co. at Princeton, N.J. The Titan 3 rocket was built by the Martin Marietta Corp.in Denver, and the transfer orbit stage was assembled by Martin Marietta under contract to the Orbital Sciences Corp. in Vienna, Va.

Mars Observer is equipped with wide-angle and narrow-angle cameras for taking pictures that could be 40 times sharper than any previous photography of the planet, showing objects as small as 10 feet across. Other remote-sensing instruments on board are designed to determine the mineral content of the Martian surface, temperatures and weather conditions, magnetic fields and the elevations of topographic features.

One of the spacecraft's objectives is to investigate the presence of water on Mars. Some is frozen at the poles, and scientists say there is indirect evidence that a large volume of water lies frozen beneath the Martian plains in the form of permafrost. Where there is water now, scientists reason, would be the most promising places for setting up human encampments and for searching for any signs of microorganisms.

Even if there is very little water on Mars now, all the photographic evidence of eroded valleys and dry river channels suggests to scientists that floods of water washed across the planet in its early history.

POLITICS: Candidates say they won't change plans

(From 1A)

Political analysts say the Republican president needs to carry Texas in November if he is to have a prayer of winning re-election. Behind in the polls and in deep trouble with voters in California and New York, President Bush is fighting for his life in his adopted home state, which also is the back yard where Perot gets his biggest support.

"What this will mean is that Bush is going to have to spend a lot more time in Texas," said Stephen Hess, an authority on presidential politics at the Brookings Institute. "He has a finite amount of money and time, so you can say that Perot hurts Bush nationally."

Democrats are almost crowing about the possibility of a rejuvenated Perot, saying a focus on the economy, jobs and the federal deficit will only help Clinton in his efforts to tell voters it is time for a change.

"It is George Bush's worst nightmare," said Garry Mauro, chairman of the Clinton Texas campaign. "They have spent the last month talking about everything but those issues. Murphy Brown. Values. Anything but economics, jobs and the deficit."

A win in Texas will give Clinton the election nationally, Democrats believe.

"I don't know about the other 49 states, but in Texas it is wonderful," Mauro said. "It (Perot's candidacy) makes it almost impossible for him to recover."

A somber tone cloaks Republicans' talk about Perot. They expect him to re-enter and say they consider him a candidate already since his name is on the ballot in all 50 states. What they don't know is how much Perot plans to campaign, or how.

"What it causes us to do is spend more time dealing with Ross Perot in Texas and not focusing on Bill Clinton," said Jim Oberwetter, chairman of the Bush campaign in Texas. "In that respect it causes us a problem. It causes us to reshuffle the cards.

"Texas is crucial and I can't come up with an Electoral College total without Texas that puts the president in the White House," Oberwetter said.

Bush official Clayton Yeutter said during a campaign stop in Houston on Friday that polls he's seen show Perot hurting Clinton the most. But no one knows for sure what the real effect will be, he said.

"My guess is that this will vary state by state," Yeutter said. "In some parts of the country, the supporters may be more willing to forgive and forget."

The Los Angeles Times reported Friday that the Texas billionaire will officially re-enter the presidential campaign on Monday on a favorite forum, Cable News Network's "Larry King Live."

However, associates of Perot insisted Friday that the Texas businessman had not made up his mind and wanted a chance for his volunteers to meet in Dallas on Monday with representatives of the Bush and Clinton campaigns.

"From what I know, Mr. Perot is not going to announce whether or not he's going to run on 'Larry King,'" said Orson Swindle, national volunteer coordinator for Perot.

Still, Perot in recent days has clearly inched closer to getting back into the race he abruptly quit on July 16. Perot reportedly is upset that neither Bush nor Clinton is tackling the nation's economic problems.

In a radio interview with a Chicago station Friday, Bush said that the possibility of a Perot re-entry was "interesting" and that "in some places people think it would help us."

"What I'll do is just keep taking my case to the American people and saying what I think our agenda for American renewal will be to help the economy," the president said.

Speaking to reporters in New York on Friday, Clinton said he did not intend to change his strategy. He said that he didn't run against Perot before and won't if he returns.

Conventional wisdom from political analysts across the country is that a Perot candidacy probably hurts Bush in Texas, Florida and North Carolina, states with large conservative voting blocs. But he could steal votes from Clinton in other parts of the country.

Bush has all but conceded California and New York — with their 54 and 33 electoral votes, respectively — to Clinton, analysts said.

With Perot in the mix, Clinton could lose votes in California, the rest of the West and the Midwest, said Bruce Buchanan, a professor of government at the University of Texas in Austin. But Perot doesn't hurt Clinton enough in any of those states to hand Bush victory, he said.

"Bush is in big trouble. He is behind 10 or 12 points. He is already in an uphill struggle," Buchanan said. "The question seems to be if it (Perot's emergence) changes that fact. And it doesn't, substantially."

Democrats were saying Friday that the best thing for Clinton to do may be nothing.

"He (Perot) indicated one of the reasons why he decided not to be a candidate was because the Democratic Party was a revitalized party. We agree with that assessment," Brown said during a visit to Fort Worth a week ago. "He has not been equally kind in his remarks about George Bush."

Still, there are Democrats who are worried about Perot's effect in Texas, especially in his hometown of Dallas. An August poll of swing precincts — many of Republican-leaning districts in northern Dallas — Perot was still getting 30 percent of the vote, said Ken Molberg, chairman of the Dallas Democrat Party.

"I won't know until we do a poll what will happen to those people who have gone to Clinton if Perot gets back in the race," Molberg said.

Bush's strategy across the country and in Texas won't change in the immediate future; the president will continue to concentrate on the deficit, jobs and wasteful government spending, Oberwetter said.

Low-interest loans are now available to county farmers

Staff report

AUSTIN — Low-interest emergency loans are available to eligibie farmers and ranchers in 17 West Texas counties, including Midland, that were declared disaster areas because of hail, high winds, heavy rains and a tornado, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry announced Friday.

Meanwhile, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan declared Hale County, located north of Lubbock, as a primary disaster area because of excessive rain and hail during May.

Howard County received designation as a primary disaster area because of heavy rains, hail and high winds from May 15 to June 15. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is deferring its decision on designating Wilbarger County as a disaster area until after the 1992 harvest season is completed.

An additional 15 counties were declared contiguous disaster counties.

They are Borden, Castro, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Glasscock, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Scurry, Sterling and Swisher counties.

These declarations allow family-sized farm operators in both the primary and contiguous areas to apply for emergency assistance from the Farmers Home Administration.

To be designated as a primary disaster area, the Farmers Home Administration determines whether a sufficient number of farmers in each county suffered losses of 30 percent or more.

The counties designated as contiguous disaster areas were declared so because they were adjacent to the primary disaster area, but did not have the same extent of losses.

Each loan application will be considered on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, repayment ability and other requirements.

For additional information, producers should contact a local FmHA county office.

Inspectors find Africanized bees in Crane County

Staff report

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service of the USDA announced Friday it discovered another swarm of African Honey Bees in mid-September.

The "closet" swarm had moved into a honey bee trap in Crane County, and the latest finding was about one mile east of the Pecos River. Crane County is south of Odessa and the Pecos River is the southern border of that county.

Because this swarm was found, the Texas Apiary Inspection Service has placed more of the blue box honey bee traps in the area.

The bees are attracted to the blue boxes by a small vial of pheromone. Pheromones are chemical attractants specific to different insect species. The honey bee pheromone will attract any species of honey bee, ie, Italian, European or African bee.

"I want to caution anyone who sees these blue boxes," said Doug Paxson, county entomologist for Martin/Midland counties. "They are honey bee traps, so do not disturb them as they might have a swarm of unfriendly bees inside."

Water Wonderland files for bankruptcy

Staff report

The owner of Water Wonderland filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy on Friday, according to federal bankruptcy records.

The water park at 12300 W. Highway 80 E. is owned by S.F. "Sonny" Henderson, the president of Waterland Enterprises Inc.

The park has been in operation more than 10 years.

Water panel adopts emergency rules

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Commission has adopted emergency regulations to govern facilities that receive, treat, recycle or dispose of soils contaminated by petroleum-based substances.

The new guidelines are meant to consolidate all existing and future operators under uniform regulations for record-keeping, reporting, shipping, facility design standards and site location, the commission said Friday.

It said adoption of additional measures was partly caused by 25 pending registrations and new applications that the commission is receiving for treatment facilities and mobile treatment operators.

Observers fear Somalia's north may face clan fighting

■ Looting, banditry threaten to turn to all-out war, aid officials say.

Associated Press

NAIROBI, Kenya — Rising clan tensions, looting and banditry threaten to turn into all-out war in Somalia's nominally independent north, aid officials and recent visitors to the region said Friday.

The region, which calls itself the Somaliland Republic, seceded months after last year's overthrow of President Mohamed Siad Barre. It is a former British republic inhabited primarily by members of the large Isaaq clan, the backbone of the rebel Somali National Movement's 10-year war against Siad Barre.

Siad Barre was finally toppled in January 1991 by rebels belonging to the United Somali Congress, which is dominated by the southern Hawiye clan.

Somaliland, which is not recognized internationally, for months avoided the clan warfare that engulfed Somalia's south and caused the massive famine that is now killing thousands of people daily. More than 100,000 people have already died in southern Somalia, and up to 2 million more could perish without enough food, aid officials say.

Now, differences between rival subclans in the north are growing in the region's capital, Hargeisa, which is essentially divided in two, according to recent visitors to the area.

Looting and banditry, common on northern roads, have increased dramatically in Hargeisa in recent weeks, and the road from the airport into town has become a dangerous gantlet, aid officials said.

Sporadic gunfire is heard in the city day and night, and the use of heavy weapons has increased. In the last two weeks, the rival clans have engaged in at least two extended nighttime exchanges of mortar and artillery fire, said Lucy Hannon, a reporter for the British Broadcasting Corp., who recently returned from three weeks in the region.

Many aid officials contend that if southern Somalia had received more assistance last year as it emerged from Siad Barre's rule, it would not be the disaster it is today. Now they fear that northern Somalia could also descend into all-out clan warfare unless it receives large amounts of international assistance soon.

"The bottom line is, the north isn't anything like as bad as the south, but the ingredients are there," Ben Foot of Save the Children Fund-UK said Friday at the group's regional headquarters in Nairobi.

He said the main difference between the regions is food — the south has none and must rely on international handouts, while the north continues to live off commercial imports.

"All we need is a deterioration in the food source and I think we would have open warfare pretty rapidly," said Foot.

He said nutritional surveys by Save the Children have shown only moderate malnutrition so far among children in the north.

While some of the north's supplies are being imported through Berbera, on the Gulf of Aden, much of its food is from looted international aid stocks provided to Somali refugees living in camps in neighboring Ethiopia.

But John Newman of the CARE relief agency said that although Hargeisa has grown increasingly tense, it is unlikely to blow up into all-out war.

Following their decade-long rebellion to unseat Somalia's old government, the region's Isaaq clan is "pretty sick of fighting," Newman said. "They're just tired of it."

Russia, U.S. formally lift restrictions

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia and the United States on Friday formally lifted travel restrictions on journalists and business people, burying a Cold War practice that kept huge parts of each other's territory closed for years.

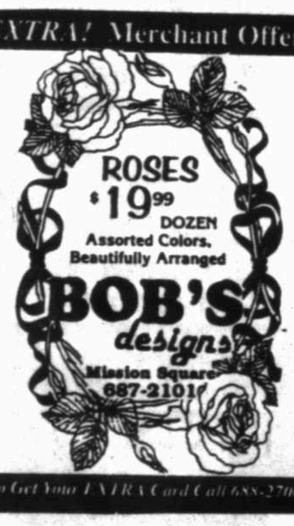

The agreement, worked out last June but put into effect on Friday, was a belated acknowlegement of the freedoms that travelers from each side have been enjoying since the Soviet collapse in December.

It also could help the struggling Russian economy by erasing the remaining limits on foreign investors' travel to Russian military factories or locations, and by Russian business people's visits to U.S. sites.

"It's a major step forward, something we've all been working very hard on," U.S. Ambassador Robert Strauss told reporters Friday. "I've been pushing this since I arrived here. The press has pushed me."

"At long last, it's finally over," said Viktor Linnik, a onetime correspondent in New York for the former Communist Party newspaper Pravda. "In all my years in the States, despite all the improvement in Soviet-American relations, we had those restrictions."

Japan politician admits he took money from crime figures

TOKYO (NYT) — Japan's most powerful politician, Shin Kanemaru, admitted to prosecutors Friday that he had accepted $4 million from the former head of a company linked to organized crime figures.

The admission, which was expected, was submitted in writing to prosecutors as part of a deal under which Kanemaru will not have to answer questions about other allegations. But it may be weeks or months before it is clear whether the 78-year-old Kanemaru will be able to retain his post as head of the richest and largest faction in the governing Liberal Democratic Party or resign his seat in Parliament.

Members of the Socialist Party and other opposition groups called on Kanemaru Friday to step down.

In his statement, Kanemaru reportedly told prosecutors that he never sought the donation from a transport company called Tokyo Sagawa Kyubin. In a trial now under way in Tokyo, prosecutors have charged that the company spent vast sums — by some accounts, well over $1 billion — to curry favor with leading politicians and gain influence.

Prosecutors have also suggested that leaders of the Liberal Democratic Party — presumably including Kanemaru — sought to use the company to enlist members of organized crime groups to silence dissent from right-wing advocates.

Under the terms of the agreement that led to his confession, a "summary indictment" will be issued against Kanemaru next week and he will then pay a fine of about $1,700. Opposition groups say that anyone with lesser powers would have been arrested.

Kanemaru reportedly told prosecutors that he would "reflect seriously" on his actions and work to clean up Japan's scandal-ridden political system.

South Africa releases hundreds of prisoners

JOHANNESBURG (NYT) — The South African government Friday began the release of hundreds of prisoners convicted of major crimes in the guerrilla war against apartheid, clearing the way for a meeting today of the country's top black and white leaders.

The meeting between President F.W. de Klerk and Nelson Mandela, president of the African National Congress, their first since May, is to concentrate on the issue of violence.

But both sides regard this as the prelude to resuming deadlocked negotiations on South Africa's transition to non-racial democracy.

Mandela agreed to end the angry impasse after winning three government concessions: the phased release of more than 500 imprisoned guerrillas, about half of them convicted of murder; tighter security around migrant-worker hostels that have become centers of black factional killing, and restrictions on the public carrying of spears and machetes, the so-called "cultural weapons" favored by the rival Inkatha movement, a Zulu-based group.

The first 150 prisoners are to be released by Sunday, with the rest promised their freedom by mid-November.

"I hope that when this is done," de Klerk told a conference of his governing National Party in Durban Friday, "it will be understood as a deed of reconciliation in order to unlock the future."

The South African president had refused to include these prisoners in a 1990 amnesty on the ground that their crimes — murder, attempted murder, terrorism, arson — were too serious.

The government is believed to have received in return at least tacit understandings that the congress would curtail its pressure campaign of marches, sit-ins and strikes, and would support a future amnesty that would absolve government officials of crimes as well as the government's opponents.

Full details of the agreements were withheld, presumably so that the two leaders would have something to disclose after their meeting today at the World Trade Center, on Johannesburg's outskirts.

The government and the congress reached a stalemate in May over the drafting of a new constitution that would formally end white-minority rule. The Pretoria authorities insisted on built-in safeguards to protect minority interests, while the congress saw those demands as a quest for a white veto with which to frustrate majority rule.

At the same time, Mandela feared that he might be moving too fast for his constituents in the black townships.

In June, after the killing of more than 40 men, women and children in the black township of Boipatong, Mandela was shocked by the explosive anger among his people. On a visit to the Boipatong region, he encountered local youths who sang out, "Mandela, you behave like a lamb while we are being killed."

Situation is 'worse than expected'

■ U.N. envoy tours Bosnian town where there are reports of Serbs driving Croats, Muslims from their homes.

Associated Press

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina — U.N. envoy Cyrus Vance said the situation was "worse than expected" in the Bosnian Serb stronghold of Banja Luka, where there have been reports of Serbs driving Croats and Muslims from their homes.

Vance and Lord Owen toured the city on Friday to investigate the reports of "ethnic cleansing" in the northwestern Bosnian town. They were welcomed by thousands of Serbs who applauded them and flashed three fingers in a Serbian victory sign.

But Muslim leaders said they told Vance and Owen that all was not well in Bosnia's second-largest city and that they feared for their people.

Although all sides in Bosnia's devastating civil war are accused of "ethnic cleansing," foreign officials especially blame Serb forces for evicting thousands of Muslims from the two-thirds of the republic the Serbs now control.

Meanwhile, in the capital, shelling wounded at least six people. A U.N. relief spokeswoman said fighting around the airport meant there was little immediate hope of restarting a desperately needed airlift to rush supplies in before winter.

"We are racing against time," said Sylvana Foa of the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees. Even daily relief requirements are not being met, she said.

In Stup, a western suburb of Sarajevo, Bosnian defense officials reported a new infantry attack by Serb forces.

And on Zuc mountain to the north of the city, defense forces came under heavy shelling from howitzers and tank cannons. In some places, the lines were less than 100 yards apart and the two sides were shouting insults at each other, said AP photographer Morten Hvaal, who visited the front lines.

Bosnian health officials reported 36 dead and 229 wounded across Bosnia in a 24-hour period ending Friday. Of those, 17 dead and 93 wounded were in Sarajevo.

At least 10,000 people have been killed in the civil war, which began after Bosnian Muslims and Croats voted in February for independence from Serbian-dominated Yugoslavia. Serbs want to remain in Yugoslavia.

It was not clear whether the turnout to welcome Vance and Owen in Banja Luka, 90 miles northwest of Sarajevo near the Croatian border, was a genuine welcome or was staged to counter reports of high tensions in the city.

Serb leader Radovan Karadzic and other Serb officials contended Muslims were not being expelled from their homes. But after meeting with him, Vance disagreed.

"We cannot agree with Karadzic when he says there is no ethnic cleansing here," Vance told reporters. "Before we make our own judgment, we have to check some things, but my impression is that the situation is worse than we had expected."

Owen said the city used to be a place of tolerance, but that the envoys had "heard some things that worry us very much."

Vance and Owen later left for the Croatian capital, Zagreb, to meet with Croatian President Franjo Tudjman.

Muharem Krzic of the Muslim Party of Democratic Action said Muslim representatives expressed "serious concern for physical safety of the Muslim people and its bare existence in the region," Belgrade radio reported.

Ms. Foa said the sole way into Sarajevo was by deteriorating road from Split and that the agency had been unable to keep up with the daily needs of the 450,000 people in the area, with no chance to build up stockpiles for winter.

The Sept. 3 downing of the Italian plane, killing all four crewmen, was a major setback, the U.N. relief spokeswoman said.

"The airport is still a war zone," she said. "The safety of the airport is not clear."

High Commissioner Sadako Ogata thought she had enough sign of good will from the warring parties last weekend to resume the airlift, Ms. Foa said. But the 19 countries that were participating have asked her to get more security assurances, she added.

The warring parties haven't abided by agreements to provide security around the airport, Ms. Foa said. "We still see shooting every night."

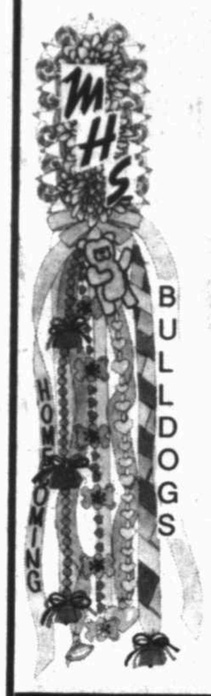

Ms. Foa said the United Nations has been able to average only 50 tons a day over the road from Split since the airlift halted, which is far short of the the 220 tons a day that is needed.

Super collider survives ride through congressional year

■ More state news/ 10

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of the super collider are breathing easier now that the controversial atom smasher has successfully completed its topsy-turvy ride through Congress for the year.

But they realize that although this year's battle was won, the war is not over.

"I don't think there's any doubt about the fact there will be another battle next year," Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, said Friday.

But Gramm said the debate reaches beyond the future of the $8.25 billion collider under construction south of Dallas. "The battle is whether we want to invest in programs that have a return in the next election or programs that have a return in the next generation."

The federal dollars spent on science and research have shrunk from 5 percent of the non-defense budget 25 years ago to less than 2 percent today, Gramm said.

Congressional action on the collider was sealed for the year when the Senate voted late Thursday night to approve a $22 billion energy and water development appropriations package that includes the atom smasher money.

The action, which mirrors what the House did a week ago, now sends the appropriations package to President Bush's desk.

Although the legislation contains a nuclear test ban measure Bush finds unpalatable, a senior Republican source said the White House would not fight the testing restrictions because that could jeopardize the collider's future — and Bush's re-election prospects in Texas.

Congress has earmarked $517 million for the collider for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. Although that's $133 million short of what Bush requested, it's $483 million more than the House originally wanted to spend on the project.

Collider backers had a tough lobbying fight on their hands after the House stunned supporters and voted in June to strip the project of all funding, leaving only $34 million to shut down operations.

A flurry of lobbying efforts from the White House, congressional and industry supporters ensued. The battle was essentially won when House and Senate conferees agreed last week to the $517 million.

"It's good to chalk this one up in the win column," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

The project received a second dose of good news Thursday, when the commission overseeing Texas' $1 billion collider contribution voted to release $51.7 million for the project.

Thursday's allocation fulfills the Energy Department's request for $130 million in state funds this fiscal year. The Texas National Research Laboratory Commission in March had released $78 million to a collider escrow account.

"There has been no formal request from DOE regarding their FY '93 needs at this time," said commission spokesman John Quinn. A preliminary budget request is expected to be submitted to the nine-member panel next month, he said.

To date, almost $1 billion in federal money has been spent on the super collider, which is due to be completed in 1999. Including the amount chipped in Thursday, Texas has contributed $279 million.

Gramm said this year's success should help when next year's inevitable battle resumes.

"We have a lot of work to do next year, but Sen. (Lloyd) Bentsen and I worked very efficiently together on the project this year and we will start over again when the new Congress arrives," Gramm said.

Lee routs MHS, 57-0, for largest margin in history of series

Joe D. Williams/Reporter-Telegram

Midland Lee quarterback Courtney Turner, who rushed for 91 yards, gets the Rebels in touchdown position against the Midland High Bulldogs at Memorial Stadium Friday. Lee won the game 57-0.

■ Scott McLeod rushes for four Rebel touchdowns as Lee improves to 4-0.

Fifty-seven to nothing, 57-0, or a whole bunch to the least possible of very little.

Any way you put it, the result comes out the same — Midland Lee's dominance of cross-town rival Midland High was absolute Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

The 10th-ranked Rebels (4-0) moved the ball at will, stuffed the Bulldogs' offense and even scored on a 72-yard punt return as Lee moved to 1-0 in District 4-5A play. The 0-4 Bulldogs, meanwhile, were left still searching for an identity as they fell to 0-1 in league play.

Lee junior halfback Phillip Sims stepped into the shoes left vacant by Sherman Dedrick, a senior lost for the season after a knee injury in last week's 41-0 win over Amarillo Palo Duro, leading the game's rushers with 116 yards and one touchdown on 13 carries.

Also adding to Lee's 400-yard offensive total (376 on the ground) were quarterback Courtney Turner with 91 yards on nine carries, halfback Marlon Henry with 70 yards on 11 carries, and fullback Scott McLeod, who gained a comparatively paltry 50 yards but scored four TDs.

The Reb defense, led by Tony Olivas, Bernard Oldham, Chris Connally, Cory Haynes and Roderick Strambler, to name a few, did its part also. MHS gained 68 yards in the first half, 129 for the game, and ended the contest with just 24 net rushing yards.

And if anybody thought the Rebels were going to take MHS lightly Friday,

Two teams headed in two directions

By Terry Williamson
Sports editor

Midland Lee's 57-0 victory over cross town rival Midland High Friday night is a "Tale of One City" wrapped in a neat package.

Here are some hard facts:

■ The 57-point spread is the widest margin of victory in games between the two teams in the 32-year history of the event.

■ It is the second consecutive shutout of the year by the Lee defense, while the MHS defense gave up the most points of the season.

■ Lee remains as the only unbeaten team in District 4-5A while Midland High's consecutive game losing streak climbed to 13.

■ Lee loses star halfback Sherman Dedrick for the season and backup Phillip Sims, getting his first start of the year, has his first career 100-yard rushing night with 116 yards on 13 carries.

■ Lee brings in a soccer player, Brian Gibson, with only one week of workouts and he shows a booming leg that included a 31-yard field goal.

■ Lee's No. 10 ranking in the AP schoolboy poll should get a boost.

■ Midland High's rushing total of 24 yards and the inability to make a first-hit tackle remains a concern.

Those are hard facts of two teams headed in opposite directions. It isn't that Midland High gives up and dies on the field. These 'Dawgs are just woefully thin to match up with Lee, a team that is obviously very good right now.

Lee coach Earl Miller liked what he saw on the field.

"I'm extremely proud of the way our kids played against Midland High," Miller said. "Midland High is a team that has given up a lot of points this year. If we were going to have a letdown, I was afraid it would be this week, but the kids got ready to play and answered the bell."

Midland High coach Ronnie Reeger took another lump, but came up fighting.

"We knew what was ahead of us when we came here," Reeger said. "We're in this thing for the long haul. We can still play better and it is a concern to us that we aren't getting the job done.

"We have a chance to perform, like making a sack or a big play, and we don't get it done. Lee's program is getting the job done and maybe one day we'll have that kind of advantage."

Lee's back-to-back shutouts (41-0 over Amarillo Palo Duro last week) is something that really pleases Miller.

"Back-to-back shutouts is hard to produce against anybody," Miller said. "It takes a little luck, but I'm extremely happy with the defense. It's looks like we are in for a big challenge next week, however, since we play San Angelo, who is No. 2 or No. 3 in the state on offense."

Lee linebacker Chris Connally said, "We've just been doing the best we can. It's all in the mind. If you think you can do it, you can do it. You have to play hard and just not let injuries get in the way of what you are doing."

Lee halfback Sims was impressive, busting tackles and keeping his feet churning in what was essentially

Iraan airs it out in Stanton

■ The Braves score 20 unanswered points in the second half and beat the Buffs, 37-14.

By Joe Wyatt

STANTON — For the Buffaloes, it was a matter of ground superiority — established, then lost.

For the Iraan Braves, it was air supremacy — attained and maintained.

Iraan quarterback Shay Elkins completed 10-of-14 passes for 169 yards and a touchdown as the Braves defeated Stanton, 37-14, in the District 6-2A opener for both teams here Friday night.

Stanton drew first blood, but ended up sustaining the deepest wound as Iraan out-scored the Buffs 20-0 in the second half to move to 3-1 for the season and 1-0 in the loop. The Buffs bulled their way to 136 rushing yards in the first half, but finished the night with just 149 in all.

Tigers sink Big Spring

By Tom Ruiz
MRT Correspondent

BIG SPRING — The banged up Snyder Tigers used a gutty performance to push their way past the mistake prone Big Spring Steers 14-6 here Friday night.

Because of injuries the Tigers (3-1) suited up 24 players for the game and it was these "Dirty Double Dozens" who made the Steers look like lifeless sides of beef at a butcher shop.

Stupid mistakes, as Steers coach David Butler put it, also kept Big Spring deep in their own territory for most of the half.

"The turnovers kept us in the hole most of the game. By the time we made a game of it, we just ran out of time," said Butler, whose team turned the ball over five times, four of them

No. 4 Permian survives Bronchos, 14-0

By Jeff Wilson
MRT Correspondent

ODESSA — If Odessa High football coach Bill Barron ever gets into the writing or recording business, he should name his first offering 'Missed Opportunities'.

After Friday night's 14-0 loss to District 4-5A and cross-town rival Odessa Permian, Barron has the perfect research material available.

The Bronchos wasted dozens of chances to defeat the Panthers but continually fell short for the 28th straight year and fell to 2-3 overall and 0-1 in district play. The No. 4 ranked Panthers improved to 3-1 and 1-0.

"They've got a very good football team," Permian coach Tam Hollingshead said. "They played extremely well."

Odessa played so well that the Bronchos should have taken a lead into the locker room at halftime, but for some reason things fell apart for Odessa every time the Bronchos moved onto Permian's side of the field.

The Bronchos crossed the 50-yard line three times in the first half and five times overall, getting to the Panther 27-yard line on their first drive of the game, but a combination of hard luck and long third-down situations kept the them from ever coming close to score.

"I thought our game plan of nickel-and-diming up the field is the finest I've ever seen developed by our offense staff," Odessa coach Bill Barron said. "We felt like we took advantage of exactly what they gave us and what they gave us kept the clock running and the chains moving."

But the Bronchos, who moved the ball at will in the first half, would never penetrate the Panther 27-yard line.

Odessa bottled the Panthers up inside their own 5-yard line twice in the first, once on a fumbled punt that Permian barely recovered at it's 2-yard line, but the Panthers found a way to avoid trouble each time.

"We were pleased with our defense," Barron said. "If you take away a couple of big plays ..."

REBELS: Reeger concerned with MHS

(From 1D)

they can consult Undra Graves to find the answer.

"Beating Midland High like this means a lot to us. We were missing our top running back so we had to prove we could do it," said Graves, who ran back a Jeremy Hernandez punt 72 yards with 7:24 left in the game to put Lee on top 51-0.

It was his second return for a touchdown this season, as Graves ran back a kickoff 94 yards for a score against El Paso Socorro.

For Sims, the game was just an effort to keep up with Dedrick, who led the team in rushing last season and in the first two game's this year.

"It feels pretty good (to get 100 yards). Missing Sherman gave me an extra incentive to play well," said the 5-8, 160-pound Sims.

The Bulldogs appeared doomed from the start, as Michael Gilbert coughed up a fumble on the game's first play from scrimmage, setting the Rebels up at the MHS 24-yard line. Sims ripped off a 21-yarder, then McLeod crashed over on the next play, and before a minute had run off the clock Lee was ahead 7-0.

The Rebels scored next with 7:16 to go in the first period, as McLeod's one-yard score capped a 44-yard drive that was highlighted by a never-say-die 19-yard effort by Sims. Sims scored a TD of his own 2:24 into the second quarter, and when the Bulldogs fumbled the following kickoff and Lee recovered at the MHS 20, the foundation for a rout was laid.

McLeod carried for 14 yards to the 5-yard line and, after Turner ran for four yards, dove over from one yard out. Turner found Ryan Tucker on a two-point conversion pass to make up for a missed PAT kick, making the Lee advantage 28-0 with 7:51 still to go in the first half.

Brian Gibson, a Rebel soccer player who joined the team just this week, nailed a 31-yard field goal just before the half to give the Rebs a 31-0 lead, then Lee opened the second half with a 47-yard drive that was ended by another McLeod score. Henry ran over from six yards out with 2:03 to go in the third period, and mercifully the Rebel starters were pulled with the score 45-0.

That didn't stop Graves, though, who performed his TD encore before Jeremy Warren closed the game's scoring with a seven-yard touchdown.

"We played better (than in last week's 47-7 loss at Andrews) in spots, but we eventually got down so far we couldn't recover," said MHS head coach Ronnie Reeger. "The problem is, we can play better and we're not playing as well as we can. That's a big concern."

Cooper opens loop play with victory

ABILENE — Abilene Cooper broke open a 14-14 tie with 17 unanswered points in the third quarter to defeat cross town rival Abilene High 31-21 Friday night in the District 4-5A opener for both teams.

Cooper had two running backs crash the 100-yard barrier as Michael Rose had 146 yards on 21 carries and Tony Tate had 124 yards on 24 carries. Tate scored a touchdown and passed for another.

Abilene High led twice in the game, scoring first on a 79-yard run by Anthony Washington for a 7-0 lead and then led 14-7 on a 27-yard TD pass from Rusty Oglesby to Kris Dodson in the second quarter.

Cooper is now 3-1 on the year and 1-0 in 4-5A play while AHS falls to 2-2 and 0-1.

San Angelo rolls over Coronado

LUBBOCK — San Angelo ended its non-conference schedule here Friday night with a sound 24-7 victory over Lubbock Coronado, which now owns a 1-12 overall record against teams from District 4-5A.

San Angelo is now 2-2 on the season and will host Midland Lee next week.

Bennie Jones led San Angelo with 105 yards rushing while quarterback Ben Montgomery passed for 160 yards, completing 12 of 28 passes. He also threw three interceptions.

It was the first time this year that San Angelo had given up less than 30 points this year. Coronado scored in the first period, but didn't hit paydirt again against the Bobcats.

OPPOSITES: Miller impressed with Bulldogs

his debut as a starter.

"The 100 yards doesn't really surprise me," Sims said. "I came into the game physically and mentally ready to play."

It took Dedrick's injury last week to get Sims, a junior, into the lineup, but Sims wasn't happy with the fact that it took an injury to Dedrick to get his day in the sun.

"I played my hardest for Sherman," Sims said. "I dedicate this game to him. We want him on the team. It takes all of us to win. You just have to be ready to play when we have situations like this."

The Bulldogs will host a stout Amarillo High team next Friday in a Homecoming game. It will be another tough test for MHS.

"We've got to treat every game like it's the biggest game of our lives," Reeger said. "We've just got to get better, and until we do, it's going to be a struggle. I saw some spots where we did some things better, but it didn't show on the scoreboard."

Midland High let two golden scoring opportunities slide by in the first half. Quarterback Johnny Parades overthrew a wide open Blake Henry, which would have been a TD, and Roy Ratliff almost made a great catch in the end zone with a Lee defender draped all over him.

The final score in this one is the story of these two teams. One is flying high and the other has reached unknown depths. Still, Miller gave the Bulldogs a hand after the game.

"To tell you the truth, Midland High is better than I thought they were. They competed against us," Miller said. "If they stick in there with the man (Reeger), they're going to win some games."

PERMIAN: Big plays the difference in game

(From 1B)

Big plays were the turning point of the game on both sides of the ball. Permian made a couple and kept the Bronchos from making any.

Throughout the first half, Odessa seemed on the verge of breaking a big one but each time Odessa moved into Permian territory, the offense sputtered and faced long downs on second and third. On the flip side, Permian got the big plays while having trouble moving the ball in the first half.

The Panthers broke a 0-0 tie with 40 second remaining in the first half when Gerrod Bergen broke a delayed draw for a 41-yard touchdown run. It was a play Hollingshead had never used in a game before.

"That's the first time we've called that play,"the third-year coach said. "Gerrod did a terrific job of getting the ball into the end zone."

Barron admitted the play surprised him.

"We've never seen them run it and we weren't prepared for it," Barron said. "We know that all Wing-T teams have that play but we weren't ready for it."

Permian put the game away in the second half with a ball-control offense and a defense that shut down Broncho quarterback Erik Hartman. The Panthers held Hartman to just three completions on 20 tries for 43 yards and 48 yards rushing.

"Defensively, we made a couple of adjustments at halftime," Hollingshead said. "They were blocking the option diferently."

The option worked well, at times, as Odessa rushed for 135 yards but the yardage wouldn't come when it was needed the most.

The Panthers put the game away for good late in the fourth quarter when quarterback Dennis Graham found Kendrick Parrett for a 43-yard touchdown with just 1:30 left in the game. That pass was the only one Graham completed in six tries.

"It was one big play that beat us," Barron said. "Not two. The second touchdown was meaningless. I was totally shocked (by the call). If we picked off that pass and score it means the game for those kids. I was shocked."

Permian running back John Williams rushed for 151 yards to lead Permian's 326 yards of offense. Williams has rushed for more than 100 yards in each of the Panthers' four games.

Permian is at Abilene High Friday night while Odessa plays host to Abilene Cooper.

Agassi, Courier win Davis Cup openers

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS — Andre Agassi completed a first-day United States sweep, beating the world's top-ranked player, Stefan Edberg, in four sets Friday night for a 2-0 lead over Sweden in the Davis Cup semifinal.

Agassi's 5-7, 6-3, 7-6 (7-1), 6-3 victory followed Jim Courier's 4-6, 7-6 (7-1), 6-3, 7-5 triumph over Nicklas Kulti on the red clay at Target Center.

The Americans can win the best-of-5 semifinal as early as Saturday, when the doubles team of John McEnroe and Pete Sampras takes on Edberg and Anders Jarryd.

There will be two more singles matches Sunday — Edberg vs. Courier and Agassi vs. Kulti — but the United States might not need victories to advance to the Dec. 4-6 final against the winner of the Switzerland-Brazil semifinal. Switzerland took a 2-0 lead Friday.

Like Courier, Agassi lost the first set only to survive several break points and rally to victory. And like Courier, Agassi used a lopsided tiebreaker win to establish control.

Agassi's serve was broken three times in the first set. He served for the set at 5-3 but was broken twice in losing the last four games. Edberg was also broken twice in the set but his aggressive serve-and-volley game confounded Agassi.

Agassi again served at 5-3 in the second set. This time, the world's sixth-ranked player put Edberg away by lobbing over the hard-charging Swede.

In the third, Agassi trailed 3-4 and was down 0-40 on his serve before winning five successive points, passing Edberg three times. Both players held their next two serves to reach the tiebreaker, when Agassi made life at the net miserable for Edberg.

Twice the American used topspin lobs for winners. Twice he passed Edberg with crisp backhanders. And the winner came when Agassi got to Edberg's drop shot and smashed a forehand.

Edberg's double fault at 15-40 gave Agassi a 2-0 lead in the fourth set. Edberg broke back but so did Agassi, who then held serve twice for the win.

Agassi celebrated by high-fiving his teammates. Earlier, Courier was much more demonstrative, jumping into McEnroe's arms and embracing U.S. captain Tom Gorman after holding off Kulti.

Baylor's Teaff begins SWC farewell swing

Associated Press

If the Baylor Bears are able to turn their season around after their 0-2 start, coach Grant Teaff will be able to pinpoint the exact point where the U-turn occurred.

He'll remember the tense moments at the beginning of the second half of what turned out to be a 57-38 loss to Colorado.

"Those moments in the second half were critical to this football team, and in the long run, to this whole program," Teaff said.

Baylor, trying to send Teaff out a winner in his final year as coach, lost to Louisiana Tech in its opener but sacked Utah State 45-10 a week ago for a running start into SWC play Saturday against Texas Tech.

"The second quarter of the Colorado game and the Utah State game gave us a glimpse of what we can do and what we should do," Baylor quarterback J.J. Joe said. "We kept on plugging, and it just takes one strike of lightning for everything to change."

Baylor-Texas Tech is one of two SWC games scheduled for Saturday. Texas Christian and Southern Methodist play the other SWC opener with the Mustangs trying to extend their first two-game winning streak since 1986, the year before they disbanded for two seasons due to NCAA sanctions.

The Horned Frogs are a six-point favorite and the Raiders rate a two-point edge over Baylor.

Houston has the toughest assignment in non-conference games. The Cougars are 18-point underdogs, playing at No. 4 Michigan; Texas, rested after an open-date, hosts North Texas and winless Rice plays its first home game against Sam Houston State.

Texas Tech is trying to avoid the hole it dug for itself with a 1-4 start last year and yet they're 1-2 with losses to Oklahoma and Oregon and a victory over Wyoming.

"I'm disappointed with the way we started this season because I really thought our carryover would be much better than it has been," Red Raider coach Spike Dykes said. "We've got to get something started and get going."

A 99-yard fumble return by Donny Brooks helped the Raiders win last year's game in Waco, but it was only their third victory in the last 13 games with the Bears.

The Rice Owls also find themselves on the brink of another disaster season after losing their first two games. Coach Fred Goldsmith also will face Sam Houston with a new quarterback since starter Josh LaRocca is likely out for the season with a broken collarbone.

Bert Emanuel, who saw little playing time in the first two games, will step into the starting role and be backed up by Greg Willig, who was the starter at the beginning of last season.

Sam Houston (2-0) of NCAA Division I-AA has a reputation for playing tough against Division I-A opponents. They lost to Houston 38-34 in 1987 and scared Baylor before losing 13-9 in 1990.

"The way they played Baylor two years ago, we're probably the underdog," Goldsmith said. "They're the ones that won nine games last year. We're frustrated and antsy. We don't like being 0-2."

The Longhorns will be heavy favorites to beat North Texas, a game that should allow plenty of substitution. Coach John Mackovic won't say if freshman quarterback Shea Morenz will play.

"All three of our quarterbacks are developing," Mackovic said. "Any one of the three is in a position where he could play."

SMU's has improved the run portion of its run-and-shoot offense because of the development of Kevin Shepard, who gained 156 rushing yards in last week's 20-13 victory over New Mexico.

"They are probably playing with more confidence since they started back playing football," TCU coach Pat Sullivan said of SMU. "All those seniors who have been on the short end in the past are beginning to come together."

The Houston Cougars take on their second consecutive Big 10 foe by meeting the Wolverines in Michigan Stadium with an anticipated crowd of 100,000-plus.

Miscues cost Greenwood win

By Pete Herndon
MRT Correspondent

GREENWOOD — Following Friday's game against Alpine, Greenwood Rangers' coach Bob Purser had the look of a man whose team was almost able to turn the corner on what has thus far been a frustrating football season.

The furrowed brow, though, following Alpine's 21-12 victory was an obvious give-away that "almost" is not good enough.

Had the Rangers defense been able to keep Alpine quarterback Oscar Lujan from turning the corner, the Rangers might have been celebrating their second win of the season.

Lujan, however, ran the option for 178 yards and two touchdowns on 21 carries to give the Bucks their fourth win in as many games. Greenwood fell to 1-3 going into next week's homecoming game against Lubbock Cooper.

While Lujan outran the rest of Alpine's backs by 70 yards, Bucks coach Earl Overton was well aware of the contribution of running backs Chad Thompson and Joe Torres.

"Lujan's got a pitch key and he was able to keep the ball," Overton said. "The defensive corner (is the key). Our backs are responsible for blocking those guys."

"They changed their (option) scheme a little on us," Purser said of Alpine. "They executed their offense well. We didn't execute our defense.

"They did the same thing they've been doing to everybody."

Purser readily admitted Greenwood answered by doing the same thing it seems to do against everybody: No completions in five passing attempts. Worse: four fumbles, four lost.

"Two weeks in a row it's been the same stuff," Purser said, referring to numerous turnovers hampering Greenwood in a 26-13 loss to Denver City last week. "I guess we need to figure out how to hold on to the football."

None of the fumbles were more costly than Jim Fortson's fourth quarter miscue. Trailing 14-12, Greenwood had driven 68 yards to Alpine's 12-yard line with seven minutes, 42 seconds remaining in the game.

Fortson set up the threat by running for 24 and 26 yards to spark the drive. The 24-yard run was what was left after Greenwood had been flagged for a clip.

The fumble, however, spoiled what had been a stellar night for Fortson, who ran for 161 yards on nine carries.

His first carry, the first play from scrimmage, went for 63 yards. Four plays later, fullback Donny Strickland scored the first of his two touchdowns to give the Rangers a 6-0 lead.

The snap on the extra-point attempt, however, was mishandled.

Alpine answered with 1:58 left in the opening period when Lujan cleared the left corner and raced 44 yards for a score. Louis Espinoza, who was later ejected for unsportsman-like conduct, kicked the point-after to give the Bucks a lead they would never relinquish.

After Alpine extended the lead on a three-yard run by Espinoza, Strickland answered with a 14-yard score with 1:04 left before intermission. Michael S. Smith was then stopped short on his bid to tie the game with a two-point conversion run.

The score held until 1:11 left in the game, when Lujan scampered 17 yards for the final touchdown.

The play capped a 43 yard drive, started by the final Rangers fumble with 4:13 remaining.

Rhea named to state position

Midland's G.M. "Corky" Rhea has been appointed to the Texas Special Olympics' State Training Committee as Director of Softball.

Rhea

Rhea, a softball player, coach and umpire for the last 30 years, is a member of the National Indicator Fraternity in the Amateur Softball Hall of Fame, in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Buffalo ace

Dan Buffalo aced the No. 5 north hole Friday afternoon at Green Tree Country Club.

Buffalo's feat, accomplished with a 4-iron on the 212-yard hole, was witnessed by Larry Pryor.

Ex-Chap honored

Earning All-American honors is difficult, earning two of them in one year is extremely rare. But that is an achievement of former Midland College golfer Shaun Bishop of San Angelo.

Bishop was a member of the 1992 Midland College golf team which won the National Junior College Athletic Association's Division I Championship in June, and was selected as a second team All-American for his finish in the national tourney.

This week, MC was notified that Bishop was named a second team NJCAA Academic All-American for compiling a 3.64 Grade Point Average while attending MC for two years as a Business Administration major. Bishop now is attending Southwest Texas State University on a combination golf-academic scholarship.

Moses takes lead in Inter-City golf

ODESSA — Jeff Mosses of Midland fired a 72 to take a three-stroke lead Friday in the first round of the 54-hole Odessa/Midland Inter-City Championship golf tournament at Ratliff Ranch Golf Links.

Mosses leads four golfers that recorded 75s in Championship play.

Odessa's Mike Apodaca was joined by Midlanders Ronnie Jumper, Charles Roberts and Wally Brown at 75.

Ron Seay of Midland is alone at 76.

BUFFS: Iraan scores 20 points in 2nd half

(From 1B)

It was anybody's game in the first half, and it took a Lee Harvey field goal of 30 yards to give the Braves a 17-14 lead as time expired in the second quarter. And that scoring drive only materialized after Stanton fumbled the ball away at midfield with 1:13 left in the half.

But Iraan took control in the second half. Elkins hit Harvey with a 29-yard scoring strike just two plays into the third quarter, and the Braves stopped the Buffs on fourth-and-short plays on each of their next two possessions to take a 23-14 lead into the fourth quarter.

"We did so many things bad in crucial situations," Stanton head coach Bill Grissom said. "The fumble right before the half and the interception that led to a touchdown in the second quarter ... those things are part of the game, but they (Braves) cashed in on them.

"We didn't seem to play with the same intensity we've had in recent weeks, but Iraan has a good football team and that had a lot to do with it," Grissom said, after his Buffaloes fell to 2-2 and 0-1.

Stanton began with intensity, however, and the Braves were able to run off just five plays to the Buffs' first 21. The Buffs' first two drives stalled on a lost fumble and on an incompletion on fourth-and-long. But Shane Louder fell on an Iraan fumble at the Braves' 10-yard line and Stanton made its third drive count.

Ricky Lucas, who led all runners with 112 yards on 26 carries, crashed into the end zone on a fourth-and-goal play to give the Buffs a 7-0 lead.

But Iraan answered with six quick plays, including a 22-yard completion from Elkins to Harvey, and the Braves' quarterback capped the march with a five-yard TD run that knotted the game.

When Kurt Hanna intercepted Stanton's J.J. Ortiz on the Buffs' next play, the Braves needed seven plays to go 71 yards and score. Elkins fired completions of 21 and 40 yards and Hanna dove the final two yards to put the Braves in front, 14-7.

"They (Buffs) were giving us some routes on the outside that we do a good job of running, so we took them," Iraan head coach Larry Hanna said. "But they were playing us so tight on the run that we had to throw the ball to loosen things up.

"It worked in the first half, and our running game got cranked up some in the second half."

Iraan fullback Cameron Holifield had 31 yards at the intermission, but finished with an even 100 on 17 carries. His seven-yard TD run with 4:00 left in the game capped the scoring.

And Kurt Hanna, who scored a second TD midway through the fourth quarter on a 15-yard dash, finished the night with 48 yards on 13 tries.

Stanton got 79 yards from Sherman Bryand. And Lucas' 10-yard scoring run in the second quarter pulled the Buffs even at 14-14.

Tors take 28-20 win over Randall

LAMESA — Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes downed previously undefeated Canyon Randall here Friday 28-20, as Cole Adams ran for two touchdowns and passed for another.

The loss dropped the Raiders to 3-1 for the season while Lamesa improves to 3-1.

Adams put the Tors on top for good as his 27-yard scoring run gave Lamesa a 6-0 edge. He scored again on a six-yard TD run, then connected with Blaine Sheppard on a 13-yard scoring pass. Lamesa's other TD came on an 86-yard run by Corey Kelly.

The Tors travel to Littlefield next week.

ROBERT LEE — Garden City quarterback Brent Seidenberger hit David Blalock with a 29-yard touchdown pass with four seconds left on the clock here Friday night to hand the Bearkats a nip-and-tuck 20-14 win over Robert Lee.

Robert Lee had taken a 14-13 lead with 17 seconds left in the third quarter when Danny Jackson scored on a 16-yard run.

Garden City had rolled out 406 offensive yards to Robert Lee's 238, but still had to have the dramatic finish to pull out the win. Garden City is now 3-1 on the season after losing last week to powerful Roscoe.

The Bearkats got 207 yards rushing from Jody Bradford, who also scored a touchdown in the third quarter and kicked two extra points.

Garden City will host Sterling City Friday in a Homecoming game.

Andrews defeats Levelland, 30-23

LEVELLAND — Jonathan McDonald's 45-yard touchdown run with just over a minute to play lifted the Andrews Mustangs to a 30-23 victory here Friday night over the Loboes.

The Mustangs needed McDonald's late heroics to remain perfect at 4-0 for the season. Andrews trailed 23-22 when McDonald broke loose for the deciding score.

Xavy Emiliano tacked on a two-point run, and Levelland fell to 0-4 in an outcome that spoiled sophomore Peter Puente's varsity debut.

Puente caught six passes for 158 yards and three TDs.

Levelland quarterback Kelly Ramsey hit on 14-of-27 passes for 308 yards. But his final effort — after McDonald's winning score — was intercepted.

The Mustangs return home on Friday to open District 3-4A play against Lake View.

Abalos' 235 yards paces Red Devils

RANKIN — Roy Abalos had a career night here Friday while leading the Rankin Red Devils to a 38-22 win over Water Valley.

Abalos rushed for 235 yards on 24 carries, had an additional 100 punt return yards, two kickoff returns for 54 yards, scored four times and punted once for 47 yards.

One of Abalos' TDs came on an 18-yard pass from Joey Varela with no time left in the game. He had two long scoring runs of 61 and 25 yards.

Rankin rolled out 302 yards rushing overall with Abalos doing most of the damage, but JoJo Guerro had two touchdowns.

Rankin climbed to 3-1 on the season while Water Valley fell to 1-3. The Red Devils are open next week before taking back up on the road against Eldorado.

King's opening nine good for lead share

LPGA

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Betsy King had a birdie-eagle-birdie run on the front nine en route to 2-under-par 70 and a share of the second-round lead in the Los Coyotes LPGA Classic on Friday.

King, who began the round at 4-under, was tied with Hollis Stacy, who shot 71, with a 6-under 138 total.

First-round leader Tani Tatum and Tracy Kerdyk were one back at 139. Tatum shot a 73 and Kerdyk had a 71.

Julie Larsen, Anne Marie Palli, Cindy Schreyer, Jan Stephenson and Sherri Turner were tied for fifth at 140. Turner, who shot a 72, bogeyed the 17th and double-bogeyed the 18th to fall out of the lead.

Larsen shot a 68, Schreyer and Stephenson had 69s and Palli shot a 70.

King began her birdie-eagle-birdie run on No. 2 to get to 8-under. She then bogeyed Nos. 5 and 7 before a birdie at No. 8 put her at 7-under.

Douglass leads Senior event

ALPHARETTA, Ga. (AP) — Dale Douglass shot a 4-under-par 68 on a dreary Friday to take a 1-stroke lead after the first round of the Senior Tour's $800,000 Nationwide Championship.

Douglass had six birdies and overcame his only mistake — a double-bogey on the second hole — to take the lead on the par-72, 6,781-yard Country Club of the South golf course.

"It is one of the longer courses we play," said Douglass, 56, a two-time winner this year and seventh on the money list. "The older guys are the ones having problems. It doesn't bother us younger seniors."

Tied at 69 were George Archer, Don Bies, John Paul Cain and Bob Brue as 21 players in the field of 78 shot par or better on a course soggy from an all-day rain on Thursday.

Defending champion Mike Hill was at par 72. Raymond Floyd, who made golf history last week by winning the GTE North Classic to become the first golfer to win tournaments on the Senior Tour and regular tour in the same year, had a 73.

STEERS: Big Spring must travel to Monahans next

through the air.

The 2-2 Steers not only ran out of time, they also ran out of luck, having scored on a Wes Hughes 13-yard run with 6:37 left in the game.

The Steers got the ball once more after a great defensive effort gave them the pigskin at the Snyder 28, but seven plays later, with fourth and goal at the one, Lonnie Jackson's attempted leap into the endzone at first looked like a score but the officials marked the ball inches short of the goal line and the Tigers ran out the clock for the win.

So, did Jackson get in?

"Of course he did. We just didn't get the breaks tonight," said Butler.

While Butler was naturally disappointed, Snyder coach David Baugh was proud of his team's effort.

"We didn't even know who was going to start tonight," he said. "This was one of the greatest efforts I've ever seen from any football team that I've coached," he added.

While the Steers were self-destructing, its poor field position also kept them from being effective.

Steer possessions in the first half, began at their own 20, 20, 29, 18 and 34 yard lines. Compared to the Tigers, which began drives at the Big Spring 43, 40 and 28 yard lines.

Their only score in the first half, however, came on the 12-play, 43-yard drive, which Wayland Harrison ended on a 3-yard romp.

The Tigers came up with the insurance TD in the third period. Again with great field position at its 48, Ben Wilson ripped off 50 yards to the Steer two-yard line. Wilson finished the game with 139 yards.

Two plays later Matt Cave dove over from the one for a 14-0 lead.

That gave the Steers a wake-up call they desperately needed.

The Steer defense allowed Snyder one first down the rest of the way, as they began to wear the short-handed Tigers.

Twice in the third period Big Spring penetrated the Snyder 20, only to see fourth and short plays fail.

Midway through the fourth, the Steers gave its fans something to cheer about as they went on a 12-play, 77-yard drive, which Hughes had to earn as he was chased out of the pocket, escaped to his right, and then turned back left, scoring from 13 yards out.

Big Spring travels to Monahans next week.

So what about momentum going into the District 3-4A opener?

"It all depends how you look at it. We got beat by a team who had a great game plan and executed it very well. It was a tough loss, but we'll learn from it," Butler said.

Daly leads at mid-way point of BC Open

Associated Press

ENDICOTT, N.Y. — Warmer temperatures and John Daly's growing familiarity with the En-Joie Golf Club course produced a 5-under-par 66 Friday that moved him into the lead of the $800,000 B.C. Open after two rounds.

Phil Mickelson helped create a three-way tie for second by coming through with the tournament's best round, an 8-under-par 63.

Joining Mickelson one stroke behind Daly at the En-Joie Golf Club were 1990 B.C. Open champion Nolan Henke and first-round leader Ken Green.

Joel Edwards trailed by two strokes after a 66, and Keith Clearwater and Jay Haas trailed by three and four strokes, respectively.

Bucs could clinch tonight

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — Randy Tomlin and the Pittsburgh Pirates continued to dominate New York, beating the Mets 3-2 on Friday night to give the Pirates a chance to clinch the NL East championship Saturday.

The Pirates' ninth victory in their last 12 games cut their magic number over second-place Montreal to two, and the Pirates can wrap up the division by beating the Mets on Saturday if the Expos lose to Chicago.

Tomlin (14-8) improved to 8-0 against the Mets, including 3-0 this season, allowing one run on six hits over seven innings, striking out five and walking none. The left-hander — who has nearly one-third of his 26 career wins against the Mets — lowered his lifetime ERA against New York to 1.91.

Tomlin has a 1.84 ERA in four starts against the Mets this season: victories of 3-0, 3-1 and 3-2 and a 7-6 no-decision. The Pirates have won six consecutive starts by Tomlin and 10 of his last 11.

Danny Cox pitched the ninth for his third save.

Gary Redus led off the first inning with a homer, another run scored on a passed ball and center fielder Andy Van Slyke made a rally-killing, sliding catch in the sixth as the Pirates improved to 11-2 against the Mets.

The Pirates are on the verge of becoming the first team to win three straight NL East titles since Philadelphia (1976-78) largely on their domination of the Mets and Cardinals. Pittsburgh is a combined 26-5 against them and is 31-12 at home against division opponents.

NL Roundup

Expos 4, Cubs 3

MONTREAL — Larry Walker homered with one out in the 10th inning to break an 0-for-15 slump and give the Montreal Expos a victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Walker hit a 1-1 pitch from reliever Heatcliffe Slocumb (0-3) to right field for his 23rd homer. John Wetteland (4-4) pitched a perfect 10th for the victory.

Montreal, which remained seven games behind first-place Pittsburgh in the NL East, tied it at 3 with one out in the ninth when pinch-hitter Moises Alou singled off reliever Bob Scanlan to score Will Cordero.

Chicago starter Greg Maddux missed a chance to become the first Cubs pitcher to win 20 games since Rick Reuschel in 1977. Maddux, who remained 19-11, gave up eight hits, struck out three and didn't walk a batter in 6 1-3 innings.

Rick Wilkins gave Chicago a 3-2 lead in the seventh with a one-out homer off Expos starter Ken Hill.

Padres 1, Braves 0

SAN DIEGO — Greg Harris, slowed by two stays on the disabled list this season, pitched 7 2-3 scoreless innings for his first victory since May 31 as the San Diego Padres beat the Atlanta Braves.

Harris (3-8) allowed five hits with a season-high eight strikeouts and two walks. The Braves, who entered the game with a 5½-game lead over second-place Cincinnati in the NL West, have lost seven of their last 11.

Cincinnati was at San Francisco on Friday night.

Brett closes in; A's clinch tie

Associated Press

AL Roundup

MINNEAPOLIS — George Brett got his 2,994th hit and scored on Gregg Jefferies' double as the Kansas City Royals beat the Minnesota Twins, guaranteeing the Oakland Athletics at least a tie for the AL West title.

Second-place Minnesota, which began the night 8½ games behind the A's, can at best force a one-game playoff for the division title.

With the score tied at 3, Brett dropped a single in front of right fielder Pedro Munoz in the eighth and Jeffries followed with a line drive off Scott Erickson (13-11).

Rusty Meacham (9-4) allowed two hits in 2 1-3 innings and struck out two. Jeff Montgomery pitched the ninth for his 39th save.

Royals starter Rick Reed allowed only three singles and led 2-0 going into the sixth. Chuck Knoblauch singled, took third on J.T. Bruett's double and Kirby Puckett's single tied the score. Puckett scored on Munoz's double, but Gene Larkin flied out off Meacham.

Erickson (13-11) lost for the first time in six decisions, allowing nine hits. He is 13-3 in September and October.

Keith Miller tripled on Erickson's first pitch and Wally Joyner's single put the Royals ahead. The Royals made it 2-0 in the third when Brian McRae doubled and scored on Miller's single.

Brewers 4, Athletics 1

MILWAUKEE — The Oakland Athletics clinched a tie for their fourth AL West title in five years despite a loss to the Milwaukee Brewers.

Minnesota's 4-3 loss to Kansas City lowered the A's magic number to one and kept the second-place Twins 8½ games back.

Milwaukee, meanwhile, remained 3½ games behind the AL East-leading Toronto Blue Jays, who beat the New York Yankees 3-1. Ricky Bones (9-9) pitched three-hit ball over 7 1-3 innings and Kevin Seitzer hit a two-run homer for the second-place Brewers, who have eight games left.

More Sports/8B

Bones (9-9) allowed one run and three hits in 7 1-3 innings, walked two and struck out one.

Tigers 6, Indians 5

DETROIT — Chad Kreuter's pinch-hit double in the 10th inning gave the Detroit Tigers a victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The win was Sparky Anderson's 1,131st in Detroit, tying him with Hughie Jennings as the all-time winningest manager in Detroit.

With one out in the 10th, Skeeter Barnes singled and took second on Mark Carreon's single. Kreuter pinch-hit for Mike Henneman, who entered the batting order after designated hitter Cecil Fielder moved to first base.

White Sox 6, Angels 5

CHICAGO — Robin Ventura's two-run double with one out in the ninth inning lifted the Chicago White Sox over the California Angels, who have lost five straight.

Ventura's game-winning blow off reliever Joe Grahe (5-6) sent home Frank Thomas and pinch-runner Shawn Jeter.

Blue Jays 3, Yankees 1

NEW YORK — David Cone, pitching in New York for the first time since the Mets traded him, stopped the Yankees for seven innings and the Toronto Blue Jays cut their magic number to five with a victory.

Toronto, which maintained its 3½-game lead over Milwaukee in the AL East, beat the Yankees for the 10th time this season.

Mariners-Rangers

ARLINGTON — Texas and Seattle combined for several records in Friday night's extra-inning game.

The 53 players used through 15 innings by both teams tied a major-league record for an extra-inning game. The Chicago Cubs and Houston Astros used 53 players in an 18-inning game on Sept. 2, 1986.

The Mariners tied a major-league mark for an extra-inning game by using 10 pitchers. Seattle also tied a club record by using 28 players.

The Rangers used four shortstops, tying a major-league record. The 25 players used by Texas tied a club record.

A total of 18 Rangers struck out through 15 innings, a club mark.

The game was in the 16th inning at press time.

Morenz antsy

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas freshman quarterback Shea Morenz says he wants to play and doesn't want to be redshirted this season.

He also said that he hopes to play in Saturday's game against North Texas, but that if he does he doesn't want to play just one game.

"If I give up my redshirt season, I'm going to want to play a considerable amount," Morenz said.

"I'm a little disappointed because nobody likes to sit on the bench," Morenz told the Austin American-Statesman. "Everybody wants to play."

STOCKQUOTE HOTLINE

WHAT IS STOCKQUOTE HOTLINE?

Stockquote Hotline gives you the latest stock prices direct from the wires of the Associated Press. Over 9,000 stocks are listed from NYSE, AmEx, and OTC sources; all available 24 hours a day. You can receive up to 10 quotes with one easy phone call.

HOW TO USE STOCKQUOTE HOTLINE:

1) Call the Stockquote Hotline at 560-2400; enter the category number which is 9988.

2) You will be asked to enter your stock ticker symbol. These are based on industry-standard symbols, which can be found in a Standard & Poor's Ticker guide, or by calling your local stock broker.

3) Once you've entered the numerical code for the ticker symbol, press the Star Key (*) and you will hear the current price and net change from the last Associated Press update; which is a few minutes behind market activity.

4) After the stock is quoted, you will be asked to enter another ticker symbol. You now have 2 options:
- You may request a quote for another stock by repeating steps 2 & 3.
- You may request additional information on the stock just quoted by once more pressing the Star Key (*).

Now the volume, high and low will be given, and then you will be asked to enter another ticker code.
- You may enter up to 10 ticker symbols per call.

5) To exit Stockquote Hotline, simply hang up the phone.

Ryan says he'll return next year

■ Family members and Texas pitching coach Tom House pursuade baseball's all-time strikeout leader to return to the Rangers in 1993.

Associated Press

ARLINGTON — Nolan Ryan, who has stymied hitters in four decades while compiling seven no-hitters, 319 victories and more than three dozen major league records, said Friday he is returning for a record 27th season.

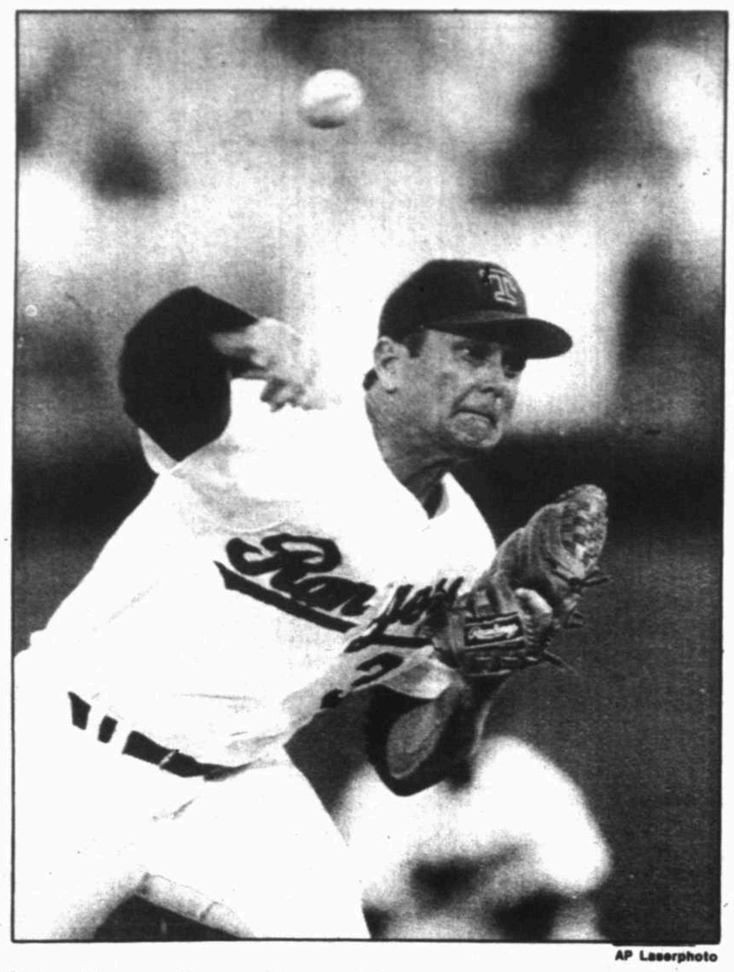

"I am looking forward to pitching in 1993," the 45-year-old Ryan said. "I still feel I can help our ballclub win. This was a disappointing season on both a personal and team basis, and I anticipate better results in both cases next season."

Ryan is tied at 26 seasons with James McGuire, who pitched from 1884-1912, and Tommy John, who pitched from 1963-89.

Under the contract agreed to between Ryan and the Texas Rangers on July 18, 1991, the team has a $3.6 million option for 1993, of which $900,000 would be deferred with interest. The team has until eight days following the season to exercise the option, and must pay a $200,000 buyout if it doesn't.

Ryan is 5-9 this season with a 3.83 ERA and 152 strikeouts in 150 1-3 innings.

Baseball's all-time strikeout king, who had hinted Tuesday he might return, said he made his decision after talking with relatives and Rangers pitching coach Tom House "in the last 24 hours."

Nolan Ryan realizes retirement is near, but says it won't happen next season.

"I think this year it was a lot tougher to come to this decision than in other years," Ryan said.

He added that he was disappointed with his performance this season.

"From a personal standpoint, I never got in the groove that I wanted to," he said. "I certainly don't cherish the thought of going out of my career with this kind of record."

Ryan said the Rangers young talent was a "major factor" in his decision.

"I really feel that the ballclub is in position to be very competitive next year," Ryan said. "I can be a contender and we are in position to do that.

"Certainly we have some work to do. But I think it's an exciting time coming for the Texas Rangers and I want to be involved in that."

Ryan said he felt capable of pitching at least 200 innings next season.

"I think for me to help this club, I have to start 30 games and pitch those kinds of innings," Ryan said.

Ryan will pitch again Sunday against Seattle. He went six scoreless innings Tuesday against Minnesota, giving up just four hits in a game the Rangers lost 1-0 in 13 innings.

It was typical of the poor luck that has plagued Ryan throughout the season. In addition to several nagging injuries that have taken him out of the rotation several times, the Rangers' bullpen has blown six saves behind him.

Ryan started the season by going 13 starts without a victory, the longest of his career. During that streak, he was taken out of games by foul weather eight times. His bullpen blew leads four times.

Rangers general manager Tom Grieve said Ryan's decision would help him start planning for next season.

"Anytime you have definite plans, it makes it a lot easier," Grieve said. "We're beginning the planning right now and the timing is good on Nolan's part."

Ryan said he didn't know if next season would be his last.

"Sooner or later, I have to retire. It is going to happen," Ryan said. "It's just a matter of when and the timing of it."

Midlanders bring back international honors

By Jimmy Patterson
Assistant sports editor

Merely participating in an international soccer event is prestigious enough. But when you're from Midland, Texas, and you're a part of a winning team in a world renown tournament, that's a hefty accomplishment.

Eight Midland youth soccer players spent two weeks in Portsmouth, England, last month as team members with the Bobby Moffat-Flame United Tour of England. The teams on the tour — from points across America and countries from around the world — competed in the 10th Anniversary Portsmouth Cup International Soccer tournament, one of the most respected youth soccer tournaments in the world.

D'Lynn Knous, a member of the under-12 girls team, and Coy Brown and Matt Lackey, teammates on the under-12 boys team, helped their respective clubs return to the U.S. with championship trophies.

Other local players who made the trip were Michael Lackey, Tim Parnell and Derek Weinkauf (under-11 boys), and Jeremy Knous (under-13 boys).

"For myself, it was really interesting to see how Englanders played the game," said Chad Peterson, coach of the Midland players who made the trip. "I'd made several trips to Europe before, and it's really exiciting to see different styles of play."

In addition to Flame teams from Dallas, Fort Worth and Chicago, countries represented at the Portsmouth Cup competition included Denmark, Sweden, Canada, Norway, Finland, Scotland, and England. In all, 120 teams from 14 countries played in the event.

A total of 12 boys teams and six girls teams that fall under the banner of the Flame represented the U.S.

Montreal's Carter retires after 18 seasons

Associated Press

MONTREAL — With tears and sobs, Gary Carter announced Friday that he would retire from baseball at the end of the season.

"Timing is so important," the 38-year-old catcher said during a news conference. "I was contemplating and praying about retirement for some time. My body cries out. It hurts. I like to think I could continue but I'm not comfortable ith the numbers I've had in the last few years.

The 11-time All-Star is hitting .219 in 282 at-bats this season with five homers and 33 RBIs. He has a .262 career average in 18 major league seasons with 324 homers — 55th on the career list — and 1,224 RBIs.

"People will remember me as an Expo. My identity is with the Expos, not anyone else," said Carter, who spent 11 seasons in Montreal. "This is really a happy day. The happiest day was signing with the Expos in 1972 and then returning here for the 1992 season. The saddest day is when I was traded to the Mets in 1984. I've had the luxury and the pleasure of coming back to the organization where I started. Not many players can say that."

Carter, who will be eligible for the Hall of Fame ballot in 1998, will remain with the Expos, possibily as a radio broadcaster and a coach during spring training.

Tears starting welling in Carter's eyes when Montreal general manager Dan Duquette called him the "most magnetic, endearing personality in the 24-year history of the Expos."

Carter broke down several times during his speech, choking with emotion.

"Of course, my family needs me," he said. "I have a wonderful wife and three wonderful kids who want daddy to come home. I haven't been to my house since April 1."

Carter, who lives in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., started thinking about retirement a month ago. He was replaced late in a game in a double-switch by prospect Tim Laker.

"I was upset because we were ahead in the game," Carter recalled. "Then that night, I called home and found out my wife was in a traumatic car accident. She was broadsided by somebody. I was told by a policeman that she might have been killed if she hadn't been driving a Lexus (a big car). I wasn't there to be with her. Then the next day, there were warnings of Hurricane Andrew and I couldn't be there. All of that hit me like a ton of bricks. That was the beginning of the thought process about retiring."

Carter also spent five seasons with the New York Mets, winning a World Series ring in 1986, and one each with the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Connors downs Navratilova in straight sets

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — Jimmy Connors beat Martina Navratilova in a quasi-tennis match Friday night and her defeat was mostly her fault.

Or mostly her double-fault, to be exact.

Connors, a 6-1 favorite in man-to-woman betting, won 7-5, 6-2 before a sellout crowd of 13,832 outdoors at Ceasar's Palace. Both stars came to play and not to create an event, like Bobby Riggs' infamous battle with Billie Jean King at the Astrodome in Houston 19 years ago.

There were few exchanges among the players and hardly any between them and the fans during the battle for a winner's prize of $500,000.

Navratilova committed eight double faults and two of them were key.

With Connors up 6-5 in the first set, Navratilova double-faulted away set point.

Connors was leading 3-2 in the second set and was ahead 15-30 with Navratilova serving in the sixth game when she double-faulted again. Connors then broke service, held his own and broke service again to close out the match.

Connors, on the other hand, had only six double faults, although he was allowed just one serve. This meant if he faulted, it was automatically a double fault.

Another bend of the rules allowed Navratilova to serve to a wider court. She had 2 feet, 3 inches extra on each side, or half of the doubles alley. She, however, scored only six points on shots into the doubles lane.

"I was more nervous today than any match I've ever been in," said the 35-year-old Navratilova, who's won 160 women's single titles, including nine Wimbledons and four U.S. Opens.

"I thoroughly enjoyed playing Martina," said the 40-year-old Connors, a winner of 109 singles titles. "I didn't know what to expect going out there playing her."

While Connors didn't know what was coming, what he got in the first set was a severe challenge and probably a bit of a shock when Navratilova broke his opening service.

The fans obviously enjoyed the match, shouting encouragement to their favorite, and there was very little levity among those in the crowd, which seemed to appreciate the performance of the players.

The most boos came during the wqarmup after Connors hit a ball into the crowd, and the umpire told the crowd to return the ball.

The match was witnessed by Riggs and King, who engaged in their "Battle of the Sexes" before more than 30,000. King won that $100,000 winner-take-all match 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

At the time, King was one of the leading players on the woman's tour while the 55-year-old Riggs was a former Wimbledon and U.S. Open champion and a tennis and golf hustler of some note.

While Connors got the $500,000 prize, he and Navratilova also got appearance fees, which weren't announced but were estimated to be anywhere from $200,000 to $500,000 apiece.

Regents vote to change school name

CANYON (AP) — The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents Friday voted to change West Texas State University to West Texas A&M University despite complaints from students, alumni and faculty.

Voting 8-1 in a meeting at College Station, the regents said the new name is effective June 1, 1993.

"It was not unanimous the feeling we were getting for (the name change)," Ross Margraves, chairman of the board of regents for the Texas A&M system, said Friday. "But the administration, a large part of the student body and business and community leaders in the Panhandle area supported the name change. I think the board made the right decision."

Several students and alumni disagreed Friday.

"I was against the name change," Henry Garza, a 1987 graduate of West Texas State, said Friday. "I feel like I lose my connection with the school. My degree says West Texas State and that's how I will always remember it."

Kevin Casey, a student who organized a group opposing the name change called Save WTSU Foundation, addressed the regents shortly before their vote Friday.

He called the new name change "false advertising" because West Texas State does not have a school of agriculture or a degree program in engineering.

Administrators and students who pushed for the new name said they were seeking a more pronounced alliance with the Texas A&M system. West Texas State joined the Texas A&M system in September 1990.

They downplayed the name change as a way to outrun recent problems at the school, including the indictments of three former school leaders in 1991 on charges of misapplication of fiduciary property.

"I don't think by any means it (the name change) was the result of problems West Texas State had prior to entering the Texas A&M system," Margraves said Friday.

Bill Bandy, a spokesman for the West Texas State University Alumni Association, told the regents Thursday, "Our alumni are not in favor of promoting West Texas A&M University."

Bandy said "financial support ... will severely decrease from the alumni sector if the name change becomes a reality."

'The school had a bad reputation a few years ago. I think the name change will help. Texas A&M helped us beef up our curriculum. This just goes along with all the help they (the Texas A&M system) have given us.'

—Cindy Allred
senior

West Texas State president Barry Thompson, who supported the name change, said West Texas A&M adds the prestige of "a world-class university."

Some students and faculty on the campus in Canyon Friday agreed with Thompson.

"I think it will be beneficial on our transcripts and on our degrees," said Angie Jeffcoat.

Richards meets with prison director

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards said Friday she's urged the executive director of the state criminal justice agency to be open with prison board members and careful with taxpayers' money.

She met with James Lynaugh, executive director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, just days after prison board chairman Selden Hale's Tuesday resignation.

Hale's move came after it was discovered that he had fellow board member Joshua Allen of Beaumont investigated by the criminal justice agency's internal affairs unit 14 months ago.

The governor's office looked into the matter after Allen recently found out about the investigation, according to Richards' spokesman Bill Cryer. Cryer has said the conflict-of-interest allegations that prompted the investigation of Allen proved to be groundless.

Richards said the manner of that investigation was part of her discussion with Lynaugh.

"I said that the simple courtesy is that when you are dealing with someone who has an accusation levied against them, you confront them with it," she said. "... I do not condone nor will I tolerate an atmosphere in which I think things are done in secret and people do not have the opportunity to respond to an accusation made."

Lynaugh was asked by reporters before going into the meeting whether he should have told the governor about the Allen investigation. Lynaugh said that was the board chairman's duty.

Hurricane Andrew wipes out personal income in August

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Andrew hurt Americans' total personal income in August, wiping out what would have been a healthy increase, the government said Friday.

Two other reports on the month — one showing a small but unexpected decline in factory orders for durable goods and the other a drop in existing home sales — added to the economic gloom and President Bush's political troubles.

Personal income plunged 0.5 percent to a seasonally adjusted rate of $5.03 trillion, the worst drop in 19 months, the Commerce Department said. If not for the storm, income would have increased 0.7 percent, the best in six months.

Some economists were cheered by the income report, but others said the economic disruption caused by the hurricane shouldn't be ignored. All agreed the 0.1 percent decline in durable goods, coming on top of a 2.7 percent drop in July, was a bad sign for employment prospects at factories.

"Andrew has made a bad situation a bit worse," said economist John M. Albertine, a Washington-based consultant. "The economy's in the soup, and the letters in the alphabet soup spell recession."

The fresh evidence of the economy's failure to mount a sustained recovery from recession sent stocks reeling. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials tumbled 37.55 points to 3,250.32, extending its loss for the week to 76.73 points.

Bonds, in contrast, rallied. Traders hoped the reports would spur the Federal Reserve to cut interest rates again. The yield on the 30-year Treasury bond fell to 7.36 percent from 7.41 percent.

Democrats seized on the latest round of reports to remind voters, less than six weeks before Election Day, that average economic growth during President Bush's term is the slowest since the Depression.

"Like the Hoover administration, the Bush administration has misled the American people by claiming that the economy is doing fine. At first, the president claimed that the downturn would be short and shallow, but data now show that this recession has been long and painful," said Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee.

The Commerce Department said August's overall income decline was more than accounted for by a storm-caused drop at an annual rate of $60 billion.

Andrew's demolition of property in southern Florida and south-central Louisiana reduced rental and business owners' income.

The storm also depressed personal consumption spending. It fell 0.1 percent to $3.32 trillion, the worst showing in 10 months. Insurance payments for hurricane losses had the effect of reducing spending because of the technicalities of how the department calculates it. Without the storm, spending would have risen 0.5 percent.

In later months, the storm probably will boost both income and spending as people get cleanup jobs and start buying lumber and other building supplies, analysts said.

Former aide says Bush knew Iran-Contra details

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush "knew from day one" details of the arms-for-hostages deals with Iran and was so eager to get involved that he asked, "What can I do to help?" a former National Security Council aide said Friday.

The assertions by Middle East expert Howard Teicher heated up the Iran-Contra issue on the campaign trail, where Bush, campaigning in Illinois, insisted, "I have leveled with the American people."

Teicher — who is writing a book on the Middle East, due to come out in April — said he briefed Bush on the Iran operation three times in the spring and summer of 1986 and also had several "hallway conversations" with the then-vice president on the subject.

Bush "understood what this was all about — providing arms so Iran would use its influence to win release of the hostages," said Teicher. "George Bush is trying to slide away from what he knew" and "does not appear to be totally candid."

Teicher and retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Richard Secord — whose new book focusing on the Iran-Contra affair, "Honored and Betrayed," is coming out this week — both say Bush knew far more than he has acknowledged publicly about the Iran arms sales.

Secord's book says Bush participated in resuming the Iran arms sales after President Reagan had suspended them in the summer of 1986.

Bush responded to Teicher's and Secord's comments by saying $40 million has been spent investigating Iran-Contra and that "clearly if I'd done anything wrong ... you can bet that the Democrats in Congress would have had me before the bar."

Teicher and Secord said they told the Iran-Contra investigators years ago about Bush's alleged involvement.

Bush's Democratic rival seized on the new allegations.

"Mr. Secord raised some serious issues," said Bill Clinton, campaigning in Connecticut. His running mate, Al Gore, campaigning in New York City, said Bush doesn't want to debate Clinton because the president wants to avoid questioning about his role in the scandal.

Bush said in 1987 that he was "out of the loop" on the Iran initiative. He also has said it "never became clear to me, the whole arms for hostages thing," until mid-December 1986.

Said Gore: "Now we have direct testimony of people involved who say that he was not only in the loop, he was on the illegal side of the argument" favoring the arms sales.

Teicher was brought into the Iran operation in February 1986 and said Bush "clearly understood what this was all about from day one."

Teicher has a photographic record of one briefing: Teicher shaking Reagan's hand as a smiling Bush stands nearby.

Another Teicher briefing was in July 1986 as Bush prepared for a trip to Israel.

"The vice president asked 'What can I do to help?'" Teicher recalled. At that point, the arms initiative had temporarily collapsed over the Reagan White House's insistence that all the U.S. hostages held in Lebanon be released in a package deal.

Teicher said he told Bush which Israeli government officials knew about the arms shipments and could be included in discussions about them.

Bush met in Jerusalem with Israeli government officer Amiram Nir, who pressed Israel's argument for sequential releases — a hostage or two in exchange for each arms shipment — rather than a one-time package deal. Bush has refused to answer detailed questions about the meeting.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE FORGOTTEN ONES

THE STORY OF ABRAHAM'S WIFE, SARAH, AND HIS BELOVED SON ISAAC, IS WELL RECORDED—AS IS THAT OF HAGAR, WHO BORE ABRAHAM'S FIRST SON, ISHMAEL, BUT LITTLE IS SAID OF THE WIFE THAT ABRAHAM TOOK AFTER SARAH'S DEATH, KETURAH. THIS FINE WOMAN GAVE ABRAHAM NOT ONE—NOT TWO—NOT FOUR—BUT SIX SONS!

FOUR TERSE VERSES (GENESIS 25:1-4) GIVE SHORT SHRIFT TO KETURAH AND HER SONS:

ZIMRAM, JOKSHAN, MEDAN, MIDIAN (FOUNDER OF THE MIDIANITE NATION) ISHBAK, AND SHUAH.

BUT ABRAHAM, FATHER OF EIGHT SONS, LOVED BEST THE ONE OF WHOM GOD SAID, "I WILL MAKE OF HIM A GREAT NATION", FOR, AS GENESIS 25:5 REPORTS: "ABRAHAM GAVE ALL THAT HE HAD TO ISAAC."!

NEXT WEEK: THE IMPORTANCE OF CONCUBINES!

RELIGION IN BRIEF

■ Church to dedicate needlework

First United Methodist Church, Main and Ohio, will hold a special service of dedication Sunday during the 10:35 worship service for the church's new needlework paraments and kneelers.

The dedication is being held in memory of Rachel O. Hedrick.

Early in the 1980s at a Banner Committee meeting, Mrs. Hedrick expressed her desire to have volunteers stitch new paraments and kneelers for the sanctuary. From that meeting, plans began to evolve. A Parament Committee was organized; funds appropriated; a designer hired; and volunteers recruited and trained.

Plans were made for four sets of ministers' stoles, pulpit and lectern falls and worship table frontlets in each of the four colors of the church seasons — white, purple, green and red. In addition, there are 12 kneelers and a table cloth.

The actual work began in 1986. Through years of many meetings and much stitching and planning, some 50 women have become involved.

A committee of three — Martha McNair, Ramona Schall and Bea Thomas — agreed to see the project through to completion following Mrs. Hedrick's death in June of 1991.

These beautiful creations are now complete and ready to be shown and used.

The paraments will be available for viewing in Fellowship Hall following the late worship service.

■ Convention Update dinner set

The public is invited to a Texas Baptists Committed "Convention Update" dinner for area Texas Baptists beginning at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church, 2104 W. Louisiana.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Ben Loring, pastor of First Baptist Church in Amarillo. Also, there will be a testimony given by a local layperson regarding "commitment to the state convention." A Texas Baptists Committed spokesman will explain that organization and its purpose, and discuss issues relating to the upcoming Baptist General Convention of Texas annual meeting in Corpus Christi on Nov. 9-10.

The dinner will cost $5, payable at the door. Reservations may be made by calling the First Baptist Church office at 682-1646. The program will begin at 6:45 p.m. and will end by 8 p.m. Persons may attend the program without attending the dinner.

■ Church plans Bible study

A busy day of activities is planned for Sunday at Bellview Baptist Church 1710 N. Big Spring, beginning at 9:30 a.m. with a Bible study for members of all ages that will include the Adult Sunday School Promotion at 10:30 a.m.

Bellview has reorganized its Adult Sunday School Division in a way that strengthens its emphasis on small group study, fellowship, evangelism and outreach.

The Rev. G.A. Magee, pastor, will continue a new series on the book of Romans in both the 10:50 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. services. Magee also has begun a series of sermons from the book of James on Wednesday evenings at 7:20 p.m.

■ Church to honor children

Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will honor children in Sunday school with promotion exercises during the worship services Sunday morning.

Shirley Hanson, Children's coordinator for the past year, will conduct the program. The children will perform musical selections and receive promotion certificates.

At Sunday's evening service, the church will license Wayne Franklin to the Gospel ministry. As a part of the service, Franklin will deliver the evening sermon.

Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m., followed by morning worship services at 11 a.m. The evening worship service begins at 7 p.m.

For additional information, call 697-4471 or 683-1947.

■ Church celebrates anniversary

St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas, will celebrate its 40th anniversary today and Sunday.

Carrying out the theme, "Faith From Generation to Generation," the schedule of events will begin today from 6-8 p.m. with an open house reception honoring past and present ministers and their spouses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clemmer.

Sunday School classes will not meet on Sunday. Instead, the schedule of events for that day are as follows:

■ 9 a.m.: Registration, visitation and photography in the lobby of the church sanctuary.

■ 10:45 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.: Worship service. The Lone Star Brass will be playing during the service. The choir will sing "You that Know the Lord is Gracious," composed especially for this occasion by Dr. John Yarrington, conductor of the Little Rock, Ark., Symphony and who is director of music at Pulaski Heights United Methodist Church.

■ 12:15 p.m.: A Luncheon in Fellowship Hall.

Following the luncheon, there will be a program of music and skits recalling memorable events from the church's first four decades.

Maxine McCullough, Ira Watkins and the Rev. Jarrell Sharp will be in charge of the events occurring in the '50s.

The decade of the '60s will be handled by Mike Tubbs, Helen Clemmer, Ken Looney and Carol Pitts.

Bruce Peeler, Mary Jane Young, Steven Hankinson and Frank Stowers will organize a presentation built around the music of the '70s.

And, significant episodes in the growth of St. Luke's during the 1980s will be remembered under the direction of Gene Hawley, Genevieve Libby and Mark Parker.

■ Festival of St. Michael set

Hope Lutheran Church, 2003 North "A" St., will host a Festival of St. Michael and all angels at noon Sunday.

The observance has a medieval flavor.

The festivities will include a medieval feast, a ballet dance by the "Coleman and Company Dancers," a play of St. George and the Dragon, jugglers, wandering minstrels and madrigal singers.

■ Diane Bish to present recital

Diane Bish will perform a recital at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church.

Miss Bish is a concert and recording artist, composer, conductor and international television personality. On her own TV series, "The Joy of Music," Miss Bish has brought together the great music of the organ with world renowned solo artists, ensembles and orchestras.

■ Precept Bible study planned

A Precept Upon Precept Bible study, "Marriage Without Regrets," begins Thursday at the Mid-Cities Community Church, 8700 W. Highway 191.

The Precept Upon Precept study method is being used across the country and in more than 52 foreign countries by people seeking to know the truths of the word of God for themselves.

These in-depth studies are widely acclaimed for their practical, personal approach to Bible study, according to a press release provided by the church. The study includes homework, discussion and lecture time to direct the person in "unlocking the message of God's word."

Precept Bible studies are written by Kay Arthur, a well-known speaker, broadcaster and author. Her in-depth knowledge of the Bible as well as her gifted presentation of Biblical truth has made the Precept method an effective study tool.

The Ladies' Ministry of Mid-Cities Community Church is offering a morning class (9:15 a.m. to 11:15 a.m.) and an evening class (6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.)

For additional information about the Precept study, call Kim Boagart at 699-6515.

■ Church to present videotape

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Midland will present a a videotape entitled "Ring of Fire: Dream Wanderers of Borneo" at 9:45 a.m. Sunday.

The program is an account of Lorne and Lawrence Blair's exploration of the Islands of Indonesia. They travel to Bornea in search of the nomadic Punan Dyaks, the "dream wandering" tribe believed to no longer exist.

They find and live with the Punan Dyaks where they are initiated into the spiritual mysteries of the "dream wanderers."

Lorne and Lawrence join the dance of the hornbill and get tattooed with the symbol of "Aping — the Tree of All Life." It is explained to them by the shaman that this tattoo they bear will be a reminder that all life forms are part of a single tree.

The public is invited to attend, and child care is provided.

Rabbi receives doomsday letters

N.Y. Times News Service

Like many people in the religious community, Rabbi A. James Rudin often gets letters signed by God and/or Jesus. The letters, which sometimes arrive with the words "personal" and "confidential" scrawled on the envelope, usually call on the rabbi to repent and prepare for the end of the world, which, the writer has calculated down to the day, hour and minute. "Next Thursday at 3:33 p.m. Eastern daylight time," one recent letter warned.

"When I first received such letters years ago," Rudin writes in his weekly column for the Religious News Service, "I immediately threw them out, but lately I have started to save them. I now own an extensive collection of doomsday predictions and personal messages from self-appointed divinities."

The rabbi writes that he often wonders who these people are and why they insist on covering every millimeter of the page with their tiny handwriting or with footnotes with inappropriate biblical proof texts. But ultimately, Rudin ponders their disappointment. "I really wonder how the authors of the letters handle the deep frustrations that must surely come when the world, with all its flaws and faults, continues to exist, and when the world's people do not fall on their knees to worship the newly arrived divine figure?"

'I now own an extensive collection of doomsday predictions and personal messages from self-appointed divinities.'

— Rabbi A. James Rudin

United Way Shining Stars

NAME: Bob Bradshaw
OCCUPATION: Owner-Manager of Bob's Floral Designs
VOLUNTEER POSITION: Section Chairman, Member of Panel 3 Allocation Committee

Bob Bradshaw has always taken a proprietary interest in the community, and got involved in community activities almost immediately after coming to Midland in 1979. He became a solicitor for the United Way five years ago, shortly after he started his floral design business. He said he did it as a means to say thank you to Midland--"to try to give back a little of what Midland has given me." He and his staff make phone calls for Homebound Services, and he has recently signed on as a Friend of Midland College, as well as taking classes as a fine arts major there.

"We (the Bradshaw family) participate in everything. We love this town," he says.

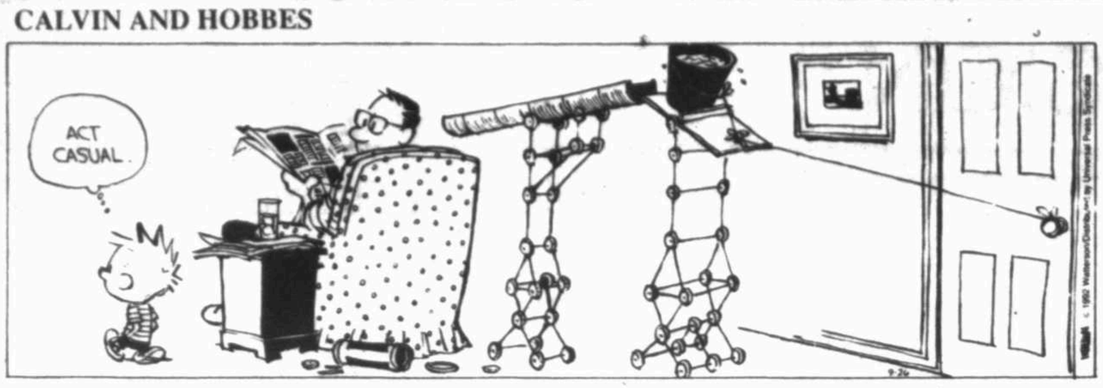

"The real success in life comes not so much in elevating yourself, but in what you can do to elevate the man or woman beside you. If you help someone to reach his/her full potential as a human being, whether it's encouraging further education, or learning new job skills, or entering a program to quit taking drugs or alcohol, then that's success."

For anyone trying to decide whether or not to get involved in United Way, Bob has this advice: "Go down to Casa de Amigos, and if you can walk away unmoved, then I'll be terribly surprised."

"The United Way Of Midland serves 36,000 Midlanders through the following agencies and programs: American Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boy Scouts of America, Boys' and Girls" Club of Midland, Camp Fire, Casa de Amigos, Citywide Community services, Community and Senior Services of Midland, Family Services, Permian Basin Child Abuse Prevention Program, Freewill Foster Home, Midland/Lee Youth Centers, Midland Rape Crises Center, Midland Need To Read, Palmer Drug Abuse Program, Permian Basin Center for Battered Women and their Children, Permian Basin Girl Scouts, Salvation Army Corps and Day Care Center, YMCA's

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Move away from superficial people and concentrate on building stronger personal relationships. Partnerships thrive in December. The business outlook improves once you accept the need for certain changes and adopt hi-tech innovations. You may receive public acclaim in spring. Fight off negative feelings and go after what is important to you next summer. Wedding bells could peal in early autumn.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: Singer Olivia Newton-John, actresses Julie London and Linda Hamilton, fitness expert Jack LaLanne.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Mischief could be afoot despite the sincere desire of many to make this a day of good will. Give a thumbs-down to unusual business deals. The evening should be quite romantic.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Put family and home life first today. Dedicate yourself to bringing happiness to those closest to your heart. Check over your wardrobe, personal bills and correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A good weekend to make important decisions. Forge ahead with plans to change your residence, start a new career or launch a business. Give a loved one the benefit of the doubt.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Channel your restlessness into constructive outlets. You will be amazed by what you can accomplish! A hobby can be turned into a real moneymaker with the help of experts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your personal relationships are more harmonious now. A quiet chat produces many good ideas. It may be time to do some in-depth personal research. Romance could take a fascinating new turn.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your social connections begin to pay off in business. You are at your best today and should not waste a minute! Group gatherings are favored over one-on-one meetings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Others may feel you are spinning your wheels, but you know better. Follow your intuition and you will be able to overcome almost any barrier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You could catch the acting bug while attending a theater performance. Seek out people who lift your spirits and make you laugh. Romance gives you several interesting choices.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An emotional experience makes you a stronger person. You know the true value of a lasting relationship. Consolidate recent gains and build on them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): If you can wait until midweek to make a decision, do it. Playtime revives your spirits and leads to a fun social invitation. Children could show you the way to go now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): People around you act too fast or draw the wrong conclusions; an annoying mix-up could result. Slow down and be more precise. Good news adds to your enjoyment tonight. Pursue romance.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A romantic weekend lies ahead. Relationships that develop slowly will prove long-lasting. Your self-confidence returns when you climb a mountain or explore the great outdoors.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are polite, dignified and well-informed. They put great store in having a happy home and are quick to suggest a compromise when family members quarrel. Count on them to mediate any school or office disputes as well. Although these Libras work hard, they tend to leave the clean-up or rough chores to others.

Roseanne Arnold receives Hollywood Walk of Fame star

LOS ANGELES — Television's favorite blue-collar mom Roseanne Arnold got a star in the Hollywood Walk of Fame during a celebration that included an airplane towing a congratulatory banner.

More than 300 fans, friends and family members showed up on Hollywood Boulevard to witness the Friday morning unveiling in front of the Hollywood Wax Museum. It was the 1,966th star dedicated along the famous walkway.

The comedian told the crowd that when she was 3 she had fantasized about coming to Hollywood and being a big star. The Walk of Fame honor, she said, was a dream come true.

During the ceremony, a double-decker tour bus drove by with a sign reading, "We Love Roseanne." Overhead, an airplane towed a banner that said, "Yeah, Roseanne. A star on the Walk of Fame."

Miss Arnold's ABC-TV show "Roseanne" has been a top-rated program since it debuted in 1988. This weekend, the "Roseanne" cast and crew celebrate completion of the show's 100th episode.

MADRID, Spain — Michael Jackson has decided to replace the Los Angeles police with Spain's National Police in a video clip that opens the concerts on his current European tour.

Jackson

Jackson spent two hours Thursday shooting scenes with 40 officers from National Police anti-riot, mounted and motorized units, said police spokesman Antonio Nevado.

The scenes, for the moment without music, show Jackson strolling around a Madrid police station surrounded by the officers. Nevado said these scenes would replace previous clips using Los Angeles police officers.

Citing an unidentified spokesman for Jackson, a police statement said Jackson chose to remake the video with Spanish police due "to the excellent conduct and professionalism demonstrated by the police" during his concerts this week in Barcelona and Madrid.

The statement said Jackson used the video to teach young fans that police are there to help and protect them.

SAN DIEGO — Rapper Ice-T will remain on next week's concert bill at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium but has agreed not to perform his "Cop Killer" song, a promoter said.

But promoter Brian Murphy said he nixed an invitation for Ice-T to perform at upcoming shows in Los Angeles because of fears of concert violence.

In San Diego, stadium director Bill Wilson had asked concert promoters to drop Ice-T or his song, saying it might offend the more than 200 police officers who would be working as security for Wednesday's show.

Ice-T was a last-minute replacement for Faith No More, and promoters said it was too late to find another opening act. The show features heavy metal bands Metallica and Guns N' Roses.

Murphy said Ice-T's management was notified about the letter and, "It's my understanding that he has agreed not to play 'Cop Killer.' "

MADERA, Calif. — Country music singer Clint Black sent flowers and a sympathy note to the parents of a 17-year-old girl killed in a hit-and-run accident as she drove home from his concert.

Black

The basket arrangement was wired from Nashville, Tenn., and delivered Tuesday, the day of Amy Wall's funeral.

"I'm deeply saddened by the tragedy that has taken your daughter, Amy, from all of you," Black wrote. "My prayers are with you, and you have my deepest sympathy."

Black also sent a basket of flowers to Miss Wall's companion, Michelle Jones, 18. She was injured in the accident on Freeway 99 after Black performed in Fresno last Friday.

Joseph Avila, 42, of Fresno was arrested and charged with vehicular manslaughter, felony drunken driving and felony hit-and-run, authorities said.

UNIVERSAL CITY, Calif. — Filmmaker Spike Lee has signed a multiyear deal with Universal Pictures that gives the studio a first look at all movie projects he develops.

"Spike's complete mastery of the filmmaking process, combined with his passion and unique creative vision, have made him one of the true innovators in the arts," said Tom Pollock, chairman of the MCA Motion Picture Group.

Financial terms of Wednesday's agreement weren't disclosed.

The Universal-Spike Lee relationship began with "Do the Right Thing." Lee, who's finishing "Malcolm X" for Warner Bros., will bring the next film he directs to Universal.

"I was away for 'X' but I'm back at Universal. We at Forty Acres and A Mule Filmworks (Lee's production company) eagerly look forward to the future — onward and upward," Lee said.

Danielle heads up mid-Atlantic coast

Associated Press

Tropical Storm Danielle churned up the East Coast on Friday with 65 mph winds, prompting calls for evacuations along the Delaware shore and parts of New York's Long Island.

Residents of waterfront homes in metropolitan New York and workers at Coney Island beaches piled sandbags against rising tides as they braced for the storm.

At 3 p.m. EDT, Danielle was centered near latitude 37.1 north, longitude 75.5 west, or about 30 miles northeast of Virginia Beach. It was headed north at about 10 mph toward the Delmarva Peninsula, which includes Delaware and parts of Maryland and Virginia.

A tropical storm warning was posted along the Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey coasts, and up the Chesapeake Bay. A gale warning extended as far north as Rhode Island.

With winds gusting up to 65 mph, Danielle was expected to dump up to 6 inches of rain along the mid-Atlantic coast. Little change in strength was expected before landfall, forecasters said.

The towns of Brookhaven and Islip on Long Island called for the voluntary evacuation of people living in barrier beach communities on Fire Island and in flood-prone areas along the north and south shores.

In Delaware, schools in Dagsboro and Lewes were converted into emergency shelters for residents who wanted to leave their homes, but no one was ordered to leave.

"We are recommending that people evacuate," said Robert L. Stickels, Sussex County administrator in Delaware.

Danny Tartt, manager of a grocery store in Rehoboth Beach, Del., said he had twice as many customers as usual, and they were stocking up on water, bread and canned foods.

In Ocean City, Md., high water covered an estimated 30 to 40 yards of beach, the Beach Patrol said. Residents were advised to tie down loose lawn furniture and barbecue grills and loosen the moorings on their boats.

"We go through this every summer," said Brian Hendricks, an Ocean City Fire Department dispatcher. "If the situation warrants, we'll handle it, but right now we're just monitoring the storm to see how it progresses."

In New Jersey, schools in several towns in Cape May County were closed Friday or sent students home early.

Heavy rain from the storm's western edge caused flooding in eastern Virginia. Sections of beach virtually disappeared under crashing 12-foot waves as onlookers watched from the boardwalk in Virginia Beach, scattering when a large wave broke at the base of the elevated walkway.

"This is great," said Jerry Liddle, a visitor from a Richmond suburb. "We can have tequila when we get back. We've already got the salt on our lips."

Forecasters also tracked two other Atlantic storms.

Hurricane Charley, with maximum sustained wind of 85 mph, was centered near latitude 36.0 north, longitude 33.4 west, or about 390 miles southwest of Terceira in the Azores Friday afternoon. Charley was nearly stationary and weakening.

Tropical Storm Bonnie was about 750 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland, and moving south about 7 mph. Bonnie had maximum sustained wind of 50 mph and was also expected to weaken, the weather service said.

Sustained wind speeds for tropical storms range from 39 mph to 73 mph. Anything stronger is a hurricane.

Bush proposes 10 percent cut in own salary

CHICAGO (AP) — President Bush asked Congress on Friday to cut the pay of top federal officials, including his own, by 10 percent, "as a symbol of our understanding of the concerns of so many Americans."

The message goes beyond the pay cuts the president proposed in his economic speech in Detroit on Sept. 10, in that he includes himself, the vice president and the speaker of the House of Representatives.

"For other leaders in our government, members of Congress, senior officials paid more than $75,000 in all three branches of the government, and high-ranking military officers, the pay reductions would be 5 percent," the president said.

A pay increase had been scheduled for these officials in January next year but, Bush said, it would not take place.

Congress has only one more week of business scheduled. Bush released his statement late Friday evening, a time when it would get minimum attention.

Bush said it was important that his proposal be acted on quickly, because the constitution says a president's salary can only be changed at the beginning of a new term of office.

"It is therefore essential that this legislation be enacted immediately, before the adjournment of the current Congress."

Bush said the proposed reduction is part of his Agenda for American Renewal, issued in Detroit.

"There are many in America who are out of work or uncertain of their prospects," he said. "The federal deficit constrains the capacity to rejuvenate the economy.

Bush receives $200,000 a year. It would be cut to $180,000.

The pay of the vice president and the speaker would be reduced from $166,200 to $149,580 a year.

The pay of Supreme Court justices and federal judges cannot be reduced under the Constitution. But the Jan. 1 raise would not go into effect, the White House said.,

Under the Bush plan, on Jan. 20, government employees receiving more than $75,000 a year would have their pay reduced "to the greater of either $75,000 or 95 percent of their present pay rate."

The pay raise scheduled for the new year would be eliminated for those making more than $75,000.

Teen-ager convicted of crime contemplates jail in secret tape

NEW YORK (AP) — A Long Island teen-ager, in a secret videotape made hours before she pleaded guilty to shooting her lover's wife, expressed just a single concern about her upcoming jail time: the lack of sex behind bars.

Amy Fisher, whose lawyer has portrayed her as a naive victim, also boasts about outfoxing the media and says she hopes all the publicity will help her get a new Ferrari.

Fisher, who at age 18 is facing a five-to-15-year jail term, repeatedly makes sexual overtures to boyfriend Paul Makely on the tape. She proposes they get married so they can share conjugal visits while she's behind bars.

"I asked (defense lawyer Eric Naiburg) if I could get conjugal visits. He said, 'Get married.' I said, 'Eric, you're a miracle worker. There's got to be a way.' Maybe that's going to be his next project," Fisher says.

"He's going to go to the Supreme Court ... because people should be able to have sex in jail if they're not married. I told him I'd be his client."

Fisher is jovial and sexually graphic in the tape, which was apparently made in a gym co-owned by Makely.

The syndicated TV tabloid show, "Hard Copy," which obtained the tape, refused to disclose any details about where it came from or to say if it was purchased.

But Naiburg said it was obvious his client had been used by Makely for a profit.

"I know she was set up by a man who we put our trust in for his own financial gain," Naiburg said.

Miami Says
"We Will Rebuild."
Will You Help?

In the early morning hours of Monday, August 24, Hurricane Andrew devastated a huge swath of Dade County, Florida, in the region just south of Miami.

The catastrophic result: 63,000 homes destroyed, close to 300,000 left homeless, losses of more than $20 billion.

It was the costliest natural disaster in American history.

Now, the people of Miami and Dade County are digging out, caring for each other, rebuilding their shattered community.

It will be a Herculean effort. No American community has ever faced physical destruction on such an epic scale. And we are determined to build a better, more just and promising community than before, not just restore the world that Andrew's ferocious winds swept away.

The civic and business leaders of Miami and Dade County have come together to get this job done. We have formed a new organization called WE WILL REBUILD, led by many of our most committed citizens, drawn from all sectors of our wonderfully diverse community.

This broad-based effort has the full and active support of President George Bush, Governor Lawton Chiles and many, many Miamians dedicated to binding the wounds of today and building a better tomorrow for all our citizens.

WE WILL REBUILD needs your help. Now.

BECAUSE SPORTSMEN PAY OVER $3 MILLION EACH DAY FOR CONSERVATION

The "Un-endangered Species"

WHITE-TAILED DEER

Then: In 1900 it was estimated that there were less than 500,000.
Now: Today there are over 18,500,000 white-tailed deer.

Many people don't realize the pioneering role hunters and fishermen have played in America's conservation movement. Or the fact that these sportsmen have contributed over $16 billion for wildlife restoration and conservation programs.

In 1900, an official U.S. survey estimated that there were less than 500,000 white-tailed deer in the nation. Today there are more than 18,500,000—largely due to wildlife restoration programs paid for by America's hunters.

The white-tailed deer isn't the only species to benefit from sportsmen's dollars:

Wild Turkey
Then: In the early 1900s there were only about 650,000.
Now: Today there are about 4,000,000 wild turkeys.

Pronghorn Antelope
Then: About 50 years ago there were only about 12,000.
Now: Today there are about 1,000,000 pronghorn antelope.

Canada Goose
Then: By the late 1940s there were only about 1,110,000.
Now: Today there are about 2,500,000 Canada geese.

Elk
Then: In 1907, there were only 41,000 in the U.S.
Now: Today there are more than 772,000 elk in the U.S.

Virtually every species of native American wildlife from songbirds and chipmunks to bald eagles and whooping cranes benefits from conservation programs paid for by sportsmen.

To recognize the many contributions sportsmen have made to conservation, Congress established National Hunting and Fishing Day® in 1972, to be celebrated on the fourth Saturday of September each year. On Saturday, September 26, join with sportsmen in supporting conservation.

Many people don't realize the pioneering role hunters and fishermen have played in America's conservation movement. Or the fact that these sportsmen have contributed over $16 billion for wildlife restoration and conservation programs.

Although records of wild turkey populations during the early 1900s are vague, it's estimated that encroaching civilization and habitat loss had reduced their numbers to about 650,000 birds or less. Today, there are about 4,000,000—largely due to wildlife restoration programs paid for by America's hunters.

50 Legal Notices

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:
You are hereby notified that GLASSCOCK COUNTY COOP No. 2 has applied for Texas Air Control Board (TACB) Permit No. 21861. This permit, if approved, will authorize expansion of a COTTON GIN in BIG LAKE, REAGON COUNTY, Texas. The location of the existing facility is approx. 25 MILES NORTH OF BIG LAKE ON HWY. 137. This facility will emit the following air contaminants: particulate matter, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, unburned hydrocarbons.

A copy of all materials in the public file is available for inspection and reproduction at the TACB ODESSA REGIONAL OFFICE at 1901 East 37th Street, Suite 101, Odessa, Texas 79762, telephone (915) 367-3871, and at the TACB Central Office, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Austin, Texas 78753, telephone (512) 908-1000. Inquiries about the permit application should be directed to the TACB Permits Program in Austin or the TACB ODESSA Regional Office.

You may submit written comments concerning the permit application to the TACB Executive Director in Austin. All written comments received within 30 days after the second publication of this notice shall be considered by the Executive Director in determining whether to issue or not issue the permit. All written comments will be made available for public inspection at the TACB Central Office in Austin. This notice is to be published on September 25, and September 26.

Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request the Board to hold an informal public meeting and/ or contested case hearing on the permit application pursuant to Section 382.056 (d) of the Texas Health and Safety Code. The Board is not required to hold a contested case hearing if the basis of a request is determined to be unreasonable. All requests for a contested case hearing must be received in writing within the 30-day comment period regardless of whether an informal public meeting has been held or scheduled on this matter.

Before a permit can be issued for this facility, the applicant must demonstrate that all emission sources are in compliance with all TACB Rules and Regulations and all applicable Federal Regulations. This includes the application of "best available control technology" to each new or modified emission source and compliance with all ambient air quality standards.
