New Blows Hit Bonins; Japs Fear Invasion

Liberators Sink Two Enemy Ships And Fire Third

BY J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

New American stabs into the Bonins 600 miles below Tokyo gave point today to Japanese Premier Koiso's warning to his people that "the enemy is watching for an opportunity to land on our homeland."

Japan, he said, faces an "unprecedently grave national crisis."

Chichi Jima Bombed

Radio Tokyo said Liberators bombed Chichi Jima Thursday (Tokyo time). Two days before, Adm. Chester Nimitz announced, Liberators sank two cargo vessels and set a third afire off Chichi Jima, principal fortress in the Bonin island defenses guarding Japan.

Mindful that the Bonins have been under steady attack since American investment of Saipan to the south, General Koiso warned of possible homeland invasion and asked the people to increase Japan's fighting power.

He asked too for improved air raid defenses, no doubt in recollection of recent Superfortress attacks on the home islands. American bombers, Tokyo radio quoted him as saying, last night, were certain to increase their blows.

Success Almost General

Gen. Douglas MacArthur contributed to this gloomy enemy appraisal with successful attacks on six ships south of the Philippines. Mindanao was hit for the tenth time by MacArthur's raiders and big fires were kindled in the island's main city of Davao. Halmahera island 300 miles south was bombed again.

The bitter bloodletting centering on Hengyang for control of the Hankow-Canton railway continued without sign of approaching decision. The Chinese halted two enemy thrusts and strove to halt another Japanese attempt to get rolling down the unconquered 170-mile gap in the railway.

Leaders Asking Expedited Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.. (U.P.)—Congress was urged today to act soon in outlining an effective postwar military establishment rather than wait until after the war when it may be made impossible by a wave of anti-militarism inspired by war-weariness.

Members of the House Postwar Military Policy committee said in interviews that the public in general favors a strong peacetime military force but all favored passage of enabling legislation before the war is over and a cooling period sets in.

Says Nation Approves

Rep. James W. Wadsworth, R., N. Y., author of the resolution creating the military policy committee and exponent of compulsory peacetime training of all young able-bodied men, said enactment of such laws now "would have the nation's approval."

"Congress will not wait until the war is over before acting because the members fear an attitude similar to the anti-militaristic public reaction of 1920," he said.

Calling compulsory training the "keystone" of a strong military force, Committee Chairman Clifton A. Woodrum, D., Va., said many members believe such legislation should be considered soon "because there likely will be a wave of pacifism after the war and any legislation of a military nature will be difficult to enact." A similar theme was sounded by Chairman Andrew J. May, D., Ky.,

In mixed form, however, it is subject to tax and tagging, the opinion informed A. B. Conner, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station.

Charles Wilson Resigns Post With WPB

Wholesale Shakeup Of Board Believed To Be In Prospect

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The top structure of the War Production board was blown wide open today with the unexpected resignation of Charles E. Wilson, executive vice chairman who charged unfair attacks had been inspired against him by aides of his boss, Donald E. Nelson.

Wilson's letter of resignation to President Roosevelt came only a few days after Nelson himself was reported ready to walk out.

A wholesale reorganization of the upper level of WPB appeared in prospect.

Differences Long Smouldered

Differences between Nelson and Wilson and their prospective adherents long had smouldered at WPB. In accepting Wilson's resignation after conferring with Nelson, the President took note of this fact by saying "I was aware of some dissension within the War Production board."

Recently the disagreements appeared to have centered on industrial reconversion problems.

What effect Wilson's withdrawal might have on Nelson's scheduled trip to China was not immediately disclosed.

Unfair Attacks Charged

In a letter of resignation to the President, Wilson said differences among subordinates on the War Production board had resulted in unfair attacks upon him. Stories that he is opposed to reconversion, Wilson said, were "in my opinion inspired by subordinate officials of the board connected with the personal staff of Mr. Nelson."

The reference was to Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, who conferred at length with President Roosevelt about two hours before Wilson's resignation was announced.

Wilson said he has encountered "unfair attacks and criticisms."

"Nelson Disclaims Responsibility"

"Mr. Nelson has disclaimed any responsibility for these attacks," Wilson's letter of resignation continued, "asserting that they were made without his knowledge or approval. He has also repeatedly acknowledged that the staff and I have been fully cooperative in reconversion."

President Roosevelt in accepting the resignation said he did so "with reluctance" and spoke highly of Wilson's work in war production.

"Of course, Mr. Roosevelt said,

Tire Scarcity Lays Up District Trucks

A report that 470 trucks and buses were out of service Monday in region 7 of the Office of Defense Transportation because of tires was forwarded to Washington by E. P. McCallum, jr., Dallas, regional director of the highway department of the ODT.

The Lubbock district of ODT reported 15 trucks and seven petroleum tank trucks out of service.

Operators of those vehicles were having to let them stand idle because of tire failure and inability to obtain a new tire, R. E. Wood, director of highway transport department of the Lubbock ODT district, said. Obviously, he said, other trucks were out of service for similar reasons without reports being made to the ODT.

The ODT, as claimant for the transportation industry, is citing reports, sent to Washington, in its request for reconsideration of recent reductions of trucks-bus tire quotas by government agencies.

Paris Patriots Call For Help

Allied Troops Battling Way Into City; Liberation Announcement Premature

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed today that Allied troops were fighting their way into Paris, large sections of which are held by the French forces of the interior.

Fall of the city is expected momentarily, but so far as Allied headquarters is concerned it has not yet been liberated.

Charles de Gaulle and the commander of the French forces of the interior, Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, had announced early yesterday that the capital was liberated and their statements were hailed by governmental leaders the world over.

French underground laders, after four days of street fighting in Paris, negotiated an "armistice" with the German garrison, presumably on the terms that the Nazis leave the city, supreme headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force said. The Germans apparently repudiated the agreement and kept on fighting and the underground called on the Allies for help.

Destruction Threatened

The Germans were said to have threatened widespread destruction to public buildings and installations. A French underground leader who came to London from Paris a month ago said the Germans then had at least 10,000 regular troops in the capital and strong forces of gestapo secret police.

The supreme headquarters announcement was a surprise to French sources in London, who acknowledged there might be fighting around Paris as the Allied troops sought to break in. The French said their best information indicated the French forces of the interior still were in control of the center of the city and its main buildings.

A mysterious German call, possibly code, repeated over and over on the Paris radio wave lengths asserted tonight: "Attention, enemy tank spearheads which have broken through are to be wiped out at strongpoints. This is Under speakin."

Interest Centers In Fight

While great popular interest centered on the struggle in Paris, an operation of far greater military import was going on down the Seine where Allied armies were attempting to destroy utterly the fleeing German armies.

The "armistice" negotiations by the French street fighters in Paris apparently were made without previous knowledge of the supreme command. A directive provides that no field commander can negotiate an armistice with the Germans unless Gen. Eisenhower gives his consent.

The feeling was expressed at supreme headquarters that the underground operations in Paris and the subsequent call for help resulted in the use of Allied troops which might well have been employed in operations of greater military significance.

It is expected at supreme head-

Rodeo Opened With Color And Parade

A colorful parade wound over Lubbock business streets this morning to touch off the American Business club's three-day rodeo.

One hundred sixty-five horses and riders and a string of horse-drawn vehicles were in line of march, which was led by Mayor O. W. Ribble and Sheriff Tom Abel carrying the Stars and Stripes and the flag of the Texas Republic. Strung behind that vanguard, which included the mayor's son Sammy Ribble, were South Plains oldtimers on horseback, rodeo performers from all over the country, the gaily-bedecked populace in general, an old wagon filled with ABC members and others, a prairie schooner, and kids on poines.

Awards Presented

Judges announced the following parade awards:

Women—Joyce Barnett, first prize, $16.50 pair of riding trousers; Ruth Hopping, second, $5 in merchandise; men—Roy Shirley, first prize, $15 Navajo blanket; Riley Bohmer, second, 10-gallon hat.

First of the rodeo programs will commence at 8:15 o'clock, and some of the country's best-known riders have registered. Among them is Marvin Rogers, Oklahoma City negro, who said he would ride the "toughest" horses and brahma steers in the show.

Appearing at all four performances during the three-day show will be such stars as Ernie Barnett of Del Rio, champion all-around cowboy of the National Rodeo association in 1942; "Fuzzy" Garner of Canute, Okla., champion bull rider of the N.R.A. in 1943; "Kid" Fletcher of Hugo, Okla., world champion bull rider of 1939, winning the title at Madison Square garden, New York.

All In Readiness

"Everything is in readiness for the opening," said Jimmie Wilson, general chairman of the rodeo for the ABC. "We have lined up a real show for the customers this year—one that will outshine the

Two Yanks In Cub Find Nazis Still In Outskirts Of Paris

BY L. ROSS HAZELTINE
Written For The United Press

OUTSIDE PARIS, Aug. 23 — (Delayed)—There were still Germans in one outlying section of Paris Wednesday and they shot —but not very accurately.

I am able to report this first hand after an unsuccessful attempt to land in Paris in a flying jeep piloted by S/Sgt. Marvin R. Cummins of San Antonio, Tex.

Cummins and I planned to land at the Longchamps race track on the west side of the city, between the Seine and the Bois de Boulogne, and investigate reports that the city had been deserted by the Germans.

We skimmed the rooftops of peaceful Versailles. The ornate buildings looked shabby and the gardens overgrown. People in the street stared at us without waving.

Soon we saw the Eiffel tower and Cummins smiled back at me as he pushed the Cub into a dive toward the Seine. We slipped under the bridge between St. Cloud and Boulogne - Billancourt and then we were sailing across the race track—straight toward the biggest anti-aircraft gun either of us had ever seen.

German soldiers, many of them stripped to the waist, were stretched out on the grass. A sentry stood by his box but he

Dozen Targets Hit By 2,300 U. S. Planes

Assault Is One Of Greatest By U. S. Air Forces

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 24—A vast armada of 2,300 American planes smashed a dozen targets in Germany and on the Czech border today while the RAF bombed and strafed a Nazi "Dunkirk" attempt from the great port of Le Havre at the mouth of the Seine, only a few miles beyond advancing Allied lines.

The attacks in Germany by 1,300 heavy bombers and 1,000 fighters constituted one of the greatest assaults ever mounted by United States Air forces.

Targets included synthetic oil plants at Merseberg, Misburg and Rugland in Germany and Brux on the Czecho-Slovak border. Also bombed were an oil refinery at Freital near Dresden; two airplane plants at Brunswick; German air force stations at Kolleda near Merseberg and Langenhagen near Hannover; a radio factory at Miemar and other industrial targets at Kiel.

German Boats Lashed

As American armor slashed 25 miles down the Seine in new lightning advances, the harried Germans put out a big fleet of light service warships and other vessels from the threatened port on the Seine estuary.

For eight solid hours, RAF coastal command planes in relays bombarded the Flotilla, sinking and damaging an undetermined number of ships. Many were set afire.

The air forces announced late today that 50 German warplanes were destroyed in operations from British and French bases yesterday and that in the first 70 days of the invasion, 3,641 German planes had been destroyed in the air and on the ground. In the same period 2,959 Allied craft were lost. The figures included strategic bombing attacks on Germany itself.

Election May Be In Doubt Until Dec. 7

(Copyright, 1944, By The Associated Press).

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Because 11 states will not count their soldier votes on election day, Nov. 7, it is possible that the outcome of the 1944 presidential election will remain in doubt for several weeks after the polls close.

Should the election be unusually close, the winner might not be known until as late as Dec. 7, when the canvass of Nebraska's absentee vote could determine whether the state's seven electoral votes would be cast for President Roosevelt or Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

These possibilities grow out of an Associated Press survey which indicates that more than 2,000,000 men and women in the armed forces have applied for absentee ballots and that, by the most conservative estimates of state election officials, approximately twice that number will vote in November.

The soldier vote is likely to be decisive in most of the 11 states which do not immediately tabulate it, and the 11—including Pennsylvania with 36, California with 22 and Missouri with 15—have a combined electoral vote of 116.

Lubbock Marine Is Wounded In Pacific

W. A. Robertson, jr., a first lieutenant of U. S. Marines, was wounded in the leg and hip in the fighting against the Japs on Guam, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robertson, sr., 2621 Twentieth street, have been advised by the War department.

Lieutenant Roberson apparently was hit three times by machine gun bullets, his father said, but reports are he is recovering.

Young Robertson has been in the Marines more than two years. He enlisted from Vanderbilt university, where he was a student and football player. He went through fighting on Bougainville and New Georgia without a scratch.

The elder Robertson, who is with OPA district offices here, served in the Marines in World War I. The family has lived here a year, moving from Amarillo.

Lieutenant Robertson is 24 and unmarried.

Nazis Trying Big 'Dunkirk' At Le Havre

Bordeaux Reported Captured; Hitler's Grip Slipping Fast

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 24 — American troops slashing north from the Riviera reached the border of Switzerland today, and Hitler's hold on France was slipping rapidly away.

At the mouth of the Seine the Germans attempted a large-scale "Dunkirk" from threatened Le Havre, with many war vessels and other ships which were made the targets of ferocious assaults by Allied aircraft.

VON KLUGE'S FORCES TRIMMED WITH THE BRITISH ARMY In France, Aug. 24 (AP)—There was reason to believe tonight that Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluge's forces have been clipped to about 10 divisions both in the corner below the Seine and in the Pas de Calais area where flying bombs are launched.

There appeared little hope, however, that Allied troops will be getting into the robot bomb area for some days as normal military practice would call for some regrouping at the Seine even if that barrier is not heavily defended.

Bordeaux, last German stronghold in southwestern France, was reported to have been captured by American troops with the aid of French Maquis.

Wide Assortment In Fleet

The Germans' evacuation fleet of Le Havre, including a wide assortment of torpedo boats, gunboats, corvettes and merchant ships was bombed for eight hours from midnight on today by relays of British naval aircraft and other RAF planes.

The attempted German flight coincided with advances all around the Seine corner which hourly were choking off German escape routes.

The Germans were retreating all along the front from Lisieux to the sea.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's U. S. Seventh army reached the Swiss frontier after a drive of 200 miles in 10 days through the French Alps from the Mediterranean.

Stimson Sees Early Victory

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Secretary Stimson said today Allied military victories coupled with the rising of French forces have shattered German hopes of making a prolonged stand even in northern France.

The secretary of war told a news conference:

"This has been an historic week —the climax of the battle of northern France, the forward surge of the Allies in southern France, the liberation of Paris and now Romania's abandonment of the Axis.

"One every side Germany weakens. Now is the time for us to muster all our strength and unity for the final blows.

German Power Waning

"The liberation of Paris by the French people themselves after our own American forces had half-encircled the city is a fiting demonstration of the waning power of the Nazis and the rebirth of freedom."

Stimson said that already the great bulk of metropolitan France has been liberated, for all prac-

Demands For Postwar Security Louder After Romania's Fall

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (AP)—Evidence from Romania that Hitler's Europe is beginning to collapse on political as well as military fronts gave new impetus today to British insistence at the Dumbarton Oaks conferences for early decisions on postwar world security organization.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief of the British delegation, has taken the lead in urging that at least a part of the security organization should be set up soon to span the gap between the end of the European war—which he says may come sooner than expected—and the formal creation of a new international league to preserve peace.

Need Nearing

The British view, it was learned, is in line with the feeling in some quarters of the American delegation that the British-Russian - American - Chinese pledge made at Moscow to cooperate in the enforcement of peace after the war should now be given some specific and organized form.

This has raised speculation in diplomatic circles here that the spadework of the Dumbarton

Bulgaria Seeks Peace; Romania Joins Allies

Hungarian Army Is Reported In Revolt; Collapse Of 1918 Believed Repeating; Political Parties In Hungary Dissolved

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Hungarian army was reported in revolt today, and press dispatches said Bulgaria had asked the Allies for their peace terms in the wake of Romania's stunning break with Germany and her proclaimed decision to join forces with the Allies.

A flood of reports from Allied and Axis sources on the continent made it clear that all three of Hitler's Balkan satellites were in the throes of a political upheaval almost identical to that which collapsed the central powers in 1918.

The German DNB news agency announced that Hungary's Nazi puppet premier Dome Sztojay had ordered the immediate dissolution of all political parties in that nation, and Swiss press dispatches to London said mutiny had broken out in the Hungarian army.

DNB sail all political activities in Hungary were prohibited under the decree and that Sztojay was prepared to act ruthlessly to put down any opposition.

DISTANCES TO BERLIN

Italy — 662 miles (unchanged for week).

Cabinet Crisis Imminent

An exchange telegraph dispatch from Zurich quoted a Hungarian diplomat there as saying that a cabinet crisis was imminent, if it had not already developed and that an army-led revolution was believed certain.

Simultaneously, Bulgaria was reported on the verge of following Romania out of the Axis camp authoritative reports from Ankara said the Bulgars had asked for a final delineation of the terms on which they could make peace with the United States and Britain.

While some government circles in Sofia appeared to be holding to the illusion that they could withdraw from the war with some territorial gains, it appeared increasingly evident that the Romanian move would squeeze Bulgaria out in short order—and at the Allied terms.

ROMANIA BEGINS MARCH AGAINST HUNGARY

By WADE WERNER

LONDON, Aug. 24.— Romania began marching against Hungary today after her sudden exit from the war against the Allies in an about-face which direly threatened the whole German position in the Balkans.

Bucharest broadcasts said Romania in fact had turned co-belligerent and there were reports of spreading fighting in the rich oil and wheat kingdom between Romanian and German troops.

Reds Sweeping Toward Heart Of Country

Romanians Fight Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Aug. 24—Captives reported hostilities spreading between the troops of Germany and Romania today while two great Russian army groups swept toward the heart of the oil and wheat kingdom in drives apparently aimed at trapping any Nazis still in their path.

Companion offensives in South and North Poland continued apace.

Troops which seized Debica were declared overrunning hundreds of German war factories, 150 of them in Debica alone. Red Star said the Lwow-Krakow railroad britled with German war plants of all kinds. The advance moved within 17 miles of Tarnow. Further north, Russian columns were within 33 miles of Krakow and 75 of German Silesia itself.

Reds Near Lomza

Northeast of Warsaw, the Red army drove within five miles of the important communications hub of Lomza, 20 miles below the East Prussian frontier, in an offensive gradually splitting German armies defending that Reich province and Warsaw.

Captured Romanians said the Germans had trained their guns on them, seeking to block their retreat in some places. Many Romanian units were reported raked by machinegun fire.

The Russian advance continued uninterrupted toward the Danube basin and Galati gap. At midnight, Soviet troops had galloped within 167 miles of Bucharest and 140 of the Ploesti oil center, and less than 50 from the mouth of the Danube—a principal transport artery for Hitler. Tighting, Cetatea-Alba and Vaslui all fell in Bessarabia.

Gabreski, Leading Yank Ace, Prisoner

Political Import In War Successes

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Prospect that the European war may end before American voters choose their next president provided an undisguised lift in the spirits of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's supporters today although Democrats generally were inclined to discount the effect on the Nov. 7 election.

The Republican presidential nominee was silent about the political reaction that might come with defeat of Germany, but some of his friends expressed the belief the New York governor's chances would be enhanced by developments that might offset the Democratic plea for retention of President Roosevelt as commander in chief.

Dewey Makes Statement

It was evident they considered the announced liberation of Paris a long step toward victory and Dewey himself lost no time in issuing a formal statement yesterday that it meant "the beginning of the end of Nazi domination in Europe." Calling on Germany and Japan to surrender before the consequences to them become more severe, Dewey predicted the Allied armies would sweep onward to Berlin.

Many Democrats contend the cessation of hostilities in Europe will produce peace problems that may be of more lasting importance than the war itself and that President Roosevelt has had the opportunity to become more familiar with these problems than any other American.

Problems Studied

Dewey, who has predicted that the next president will serve more of his four-year term in peace than in wartime, has taken occasion recently to identify himself publicly with the consideration of postwar problems.

He sent his foreign affairs deputy, John Foster Dulles of New York, to exchange views on the Dumbarton Oaks diplomatic conference with Secretary of State Hull. Dulles announced last night that progress had been made toward a bipartisan understanding in the talks, which will continue today.

Full Job Preference For Veterans Urged

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, declared today "I don't think unions can afford to stand in the way of veterans' preference in post-war allocation of jobs.

"I think an understanding will be worked out between the unions and the veterans—there are as many union veterans as the other kind," Truman said at a press conference.

"I stand on the selective service law as written," Truman said. "It was the intent of Congress to give veterans preference; no seniority should stand in the way."

In an address to the VFW yesterday, Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial organizations, said "absolute employment priority" would not be an advantage for discharged service men and women.

Murray said operation of such priority "would set veteran against the industrial worker, veteran against veteran, and veteran against employer."

Murray's viewpoint was opposed by Col. Paul H. Griffith, chief of the veterans personnel division. Griffith said he believed a veteran was entitled to "super seniority" in anything.

GOP Considers Soldiers' Votes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (AP)—Chairman Herbert Brownell, jr., of the Republican national committee declined today to answer directly a question whether Gov. Thomas E. Dewey would go overseas or to Army camps in this country during the presidential campaign.

He did say, however, that the prospective soldier vote had been taken into consideration by himself and other Republican leaders in reaching the conclusion that Dewey would win the presidency in November.

Demos Said Split

In predicting a Dewey victory, he said the Republicans have "achieved unity," whereas the Democrats are "split, particularly in Missouri and other border states." He disagreed with Democratic forecasts of a Roosevelt victory in Missouri and predicted a swing back to the Republican banner of many negro voters.

The Republican platform is far more satisfactory to the negroes than the Democratic, he declared, adding that the certification in Georgia by the Democratic secretary of state of a "lily white" group of Republican electors repudiated at the GOP national convention was "one more indication that the New Deal party has refused to recognize the claims of negroes."

Brownell announced the appointment of Godfrey Hammond, of Scarsdale, N. Y., 52-year-old magazine publisher, as the new director of publicity for the national committee, succeeding James P. Selvage, who resigned at the close of the party's national convention in June.

Hope For Safety Of Lt. Miller Growing

Hope that Second Lt. James P. Miller, Flying Fortress bombardier, may have parachuted to safety when his plane was shot down in the Baltic sea area April 11, has been held out in a communication from the War department to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Miller, 1910 Avenue H.

The plane, according to the report, was hit by flak while returning from a mission over Poland, but apparently descended from formation under control and three parachutes were seen to emerge. Hope that Lt. Miller may have been one of those jumping was strengthened by the fact that the bombardier ordinarily is third to jump when crew members of a Fortress are forced to abandon ship.

The letter said continued search will be made for Lt. Miller, 27, and the remainder of the crew.

Lt. Miller, a graduate of Lubbock High school, had had three years of study in Texas Tech when he was mobilized with the National Guard late in 1940. He trained with the battalion at Camp Bowie and only missed being a member of the "Lost Battalion" because of a transfer to the Air Corps.

He graduated as a bombardier from Deming, N. M., last October and then trained at Sioux City, Ia., going overseas in March of this year. He had been on approximately 12 missions when reported missing.

Lt. Miller's wife, the former Ruth Haynes, is resding here while her husband is overseas.

Georgia Negroes To Test Bans On Voting

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 2[4] (AP)—A group of Georgia negroes today launched a federal court test of state Democratic party regulations barring members of their race from participating in primary elections.

The suit was brought in the name of Primus E. King, negro minister and barber, against 11 members of the Muscogee county Democratic executive committee and asked $5,000 damages for alleged violation of civil rights.

"The suit was filed on behalf of a group of prominent Muscogee county negroes," said Oscar D. Smith, attorney for King, "to ascertain if the United States Supreme court decision on the Texas Democratic primary applies to the Democratic primary machinery in Georgia.

"Our plan is to carry the case to the United States Supreme court if necessary."

King alleged that he was denied the right to vote in the July 4 statewide Democratic primary "solely because of race and color."

Prior to the primary, negro leaders and the county committee agreed that negroes would make a "token" effort to vote in order to lay ground work for the court test.

"My committee will contest the suit of course," said J. E. Chapman, jr., chairman, and one of the 11 defendants.

"I'M A WAR WORKER TOO!"

. . . . says Reddy Kilowatt
YOUR ELECTRICAL SERVANT

Yes sir! Long before Pearl Harbor I was busy helping to turn out defense materials. Since then I've been even busier. War plants all over this area couldn't turn a wheel without ample and dependable electric power. In fact, the production of electricity has been declared an essential industry.

But it's not only in the factories that I am helping to win the war. Every farm is a war plant these days, producing food to sustain both our fighting men and civilian war workers. The uses of electricity on the farm are almost limitless. Farmers everywhere are making me work overtime to help them get the chores done.

And in your homes—did you ever stop to think how much time electrical appliances save the housewife? That's time which she can devote to Red Cross, or victory gardening, or getting into an essential industry herself.

The only thing about me that doesn't look like a war worker is my pay check. It's just as small as it ever was. So I'm proud of my war record. Who wouldn't be?

(Reddy Kilowatt, your electrical servant, is the symbol and spokesman of the electricity furnished by your electric service company.)

Pugh's Defense Is Commenced

TAHOKA, Aug. 24. (Special)—Defense witnesses in the L. B. Pugh murder trial this morning pictured the late Deputy Sheriff Con Burns as having been quick to use his gun.

They were testifying for L. B. Pugh, accused of having slain Burns in June on an O'Donnell business street.

Walter Suits, Borden farmer, said Burns had told him a year before the shooting the officer was afraid he and Pugh would have trouble.

Says Prisoners Struck

Clarence Daniel, O'Donnell farmer, said Burns had struck him once when he was arrested. On cross-examination, Daniel testified he had paid several misdemeanor fines.

Cecil Smith, O'Donnell farmer, said Burns once hit a Mexican arrested for drunkenness. He said a Mexican struck by Burns two years ago first had cut the officer with a knife.

The defense expected to call possibly 10 more witnesses, the state perhaps 20, mostly reputation witnesses. District Attorney Rollin McCord said subpoenaes had been issued for witnesses from Benjamin, Goree, Odessa, Seminole, Haskell and other places where Burns had acquaintances.

State To Ask Death

It was apparent that the trial would proceed into Friday. Wednesday's proceedings were slowed by technicalities between counsel. Special Judge J. E. Garland is preisiding.

The state will ask the death penalty. Wednesday, the prosecution presented five witnesses, the defense 10.

Two defense witnesses testified that three years ago there had been differences between the defendant and Burns, when the officer arrested Pugh for a minor offense. They said Pugh, an O'Donnell wrecking yard operator, resisted Burns and that the officer struck him in the face three times with his revolver.

Believed Drinking

L. L. Nowell, on the stand for the state, testified that he talked with Pugh in a cafe at O'Donnell, a few minutes before the shooting took place on the street near the cafe, and that Pugh appeared to have been drinking. Pugh told him, upon seeing Burns in the cafe, words to the effect that he, Pugh, ought to go get his gun and "have it out" with the deputy.

Nowell stated that he later observed the officer and Pugh engage in a brief conversation on the street outside the cafe. Pugh left and returned in about five minutes.

Burns was shot twice through the body, one slug piercing the heart, the medical examiner testified.

District Attorney McCord is assisted by Calloway Huffaker, Lynn county attorney. Pugh's attorneys are Truett Smith and Tom Garrard.

Postwar Security

Oaks talks might be followed relatively quickly by a meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin to confirm and set in action three-power cooperation in the European area in the immediate postwa rperiod.

The present plan is to delay forming a permanent peace agency until all smaller nations have had opportunity to make suggestions and offer criticisms of the proposals to be evolved here.

Many Nazis In Reserve

In the midst of success, he reminded, it still is necessary to remember that a substantial number of divisions of the German Fifteenth army in the Calais area were not yet in combat. Standing north of the Seine river he said, the undoubtedly will seek to reorganize such Seventh army units as manage to escape from Normandy and increase their strength.

"Allied air and ground forces, with teamwork and power," Stimson said, "are in the midst of effective action to undermine and crush the ability of the Germans to make a prolonged stand in northern France."

'One-Man Army' Parson 'Hitches' Jittery Him To Girl

RED HILL, Pa., Aug. 24 (AP)—Wedding bells did what the enemy couldn't—shake the steel nerves of the "One Man Army of Anzio."

It took just 10 minutes to turn Pfc. Alton W. Knappenberger, Congressional Medal of Honor winner for holding off two German companies and mowing down 60 Nazis, into a jittery bridegroom.

Maybe it was the marriage license clerk at Norristown who first noticed the change, for he asked the "Army" to speak louder.

That's when the 20-year-old veteran—his childhood sweetheart, 16-year-old Ruth Eickhoff, by his side—admitted he was "more scared than I ever was."

However, everyone smiled when he hurried into St. Paul's Lutheran church; fumbled in his pockets and then dashed off again, leaving his bride-to-be to explain:

He had forgotten to bring the marriage license.

It wasn't long before the "Army" was back, with the license. The ceremony started.

It was over in 10 minutes. By that time the "Army" had steadied down to the point where he was almost as calm as his young bride.

The honeymoon trip will have to be postponed until after the war because the "Army" expected to return to service soon.

quarters, however, that German resistance before the city will be of a "rear guard" character.

Nazis Fired On Parisians

German troops and tanks paraded through the streets of Paris three days before its liberation "firing into crowds and killing many civilians," Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig said in a communique today.

The commander of the French forces of the interior which delivered the capital said 1,000 German prisoners were captured and a dozen heavy tanks were destroyed in the first day of fighting along with a large number of other weapons.

Asked For Armistice

Koenig said the German commandant in the French capital tried to stall the fate of his troops by asking for an armistice.

It was understood from other sources that he sought thus to gain temporary safe conduct for the withdrawal through Paris of German troops which still were in action against American forces in an arc west of the city.

The French said they refused and fought it out and won.

There still was no official word of the total number of Germans captured, but on the basis of the thousand taken on the first day—before the German stand began to break—the bag m i g h t have been considerable.

was so surprised to see us he made no effort to bring his rifle to his shoulder.

A few Germans scrambled into the gun pit. Others ran for machineguns ringing the area.

Machinegun Chattered

As for us—we ducked for the river. We heard a machinegun start firing as we shot under the bridge again and I don't see how we ever escaped being hit because we were flying at the fantastic speed of 40 miles an hour.

A small crowd had gathered along the banks of the Seine and now they waved at us but Cummins was too busy and I was too scared to care much. Heads bobbed out of windows but bobbed right back when they heard the machinegun chattering.

One fat old woman walked boldly out to the middle of the street, shaking her arm vigorously towards a woods a little farther on. We understood a moment later what she was trying to get across when tracer bullets from another machinegun began to come our way.

Cummins found concealment behind some trees. We swept under some telephone wires and soon we spotted the most beautiful U. S. Army jeep I ever saw driving along a road. We were back inside our own lines.

The marriage of Miss Sherley Annette Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shepard of 1412 Main street, to Ensign Lewis C. Cox, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Cox of Clovis, N. M., was solemnized Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Cox, father of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and closest friends.

Baskets of bluebells and white gladioli decorated the candlelighted altar space which was placed against a background of palms and fern. Purple and white, the couple's school colors, were featured in decorations. Miss O'Veta Morris lighted the candles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with bodice of lace and a gathered skirt. Her fingertip veil was attached to a sweetheart halo of lace and she carried an arm bouquet of white and orchid gladioli and roses.

Bridegroom's Sister Is Attendant

Miss Evelyn Cox of Clovis, the bridegroom's sister, who was maid of honor, wore a frock of orchid net over moire taffeta and she carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses and gladioli.

Naval A/C Edward Templeton of Nashville, Tenn., was best man and Pfc. Bill Patton, USMC, of Clovis, N. M., served as usher.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with corsage of pink carnations and Mrs. Cox wore a black dress and corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held and the wedding cake was served. Miss Vola Sherrod presided at the guest book.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a white suit with russet brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The couple formerly attended Abilene Christian college at Abilene when the bride was a member of Cadettes social club and the bridegroom held membership in Sub T-16 social club.

One Dead, 15 Hurt In McCook Twister

(By The Associated Press)

The McCook farming community near Edinburg today counted one person dead and 15 injured in the wake of a light twister while showers in the lower Texas coastal area followed a small tropical disturbance which earlier in the week blew inland in Mexico, south of Brownsville.

Meanwhile the New Orleans Weather bureau said a tropical hurricane moving inland near Tampico, Mexico, attended by winds up to 80 miles an hour, would disintegrate against the mountains of the interior with widespread heavy and torrential rains.

The advisory said strong winds and high tides would continue along the coast and inland in the vicinity of Tampico and northward for 250 miles during the morning.

As a precautionary measure against possible effects of the storm planes from the Brownsville Army Air base had been moved inland, but no effects of the hurricane were felt there. Tampico is approximately 250 airline miles south of Brownsville.

Mrs. Nasario Soliz, 67, was killed in the twister yesterday which struck McCook, 14 miles north of Edinburg, and 14 of the 15 persons hurt were in one dwelling at the time.

"Guess My Age!"

New Kind of Face Powder Makes Her Look Years Younger!

ONCE this lovely girl looked quite a bit older. Some people actually thought she was rapidly approaching middle age . . .

For she was the innocent victim of an unflattering face powder! It was such an unkind powder—treacherous and sly. It showed up every tiny line in her face—accented every little skin fault—even seemed to exaggerate the size of her pores.

But look at her now! Can you guess her age? Would you say she is 20-30-35?

At last she has found a face powder that really flatters her skin—makes it look younger and more enchanting!

Why Lady Esther Face Powder Is So Flattering

Lady Esther Face Powder is extra flattering because it's made differently. It isn't just mixed, just sifted, in the usual way. It's blown by Twin Hurricanes—blended with the speed and power of hurricanes—to look clearer, smoother and more flattering on your skin!

Because of this patented, exclusive method of hurricane blending, the texture of Lady Esther Face Powder is much smoother and finer than ordinary powder. The first touch of your puff spreads a delicate film of beauty on your skin, hiding little lines, little blemishes. And Lady Esther Face Powder clings longer, too—clings four long hours!

But the most exciting difference is in the shades. Lady Esther shades have a subtle new quality—because the color is blown in by hurricanes. Many women say that the Lady Esther shades are so fresh and alive that ordinary powder shades seem dull and drab by comparison.

Living Proof— In Your Own Mirror!

Why choose a face powder because it is expensive, or because of a clever package? Judge it only by its appearance on your skin!

Try Lady Esther Face Powder! Get the smallest size box, if you like—but try it! When you see how much smoother and younger it makes your skin look—it's time enough to get the largest and most economical size. But to prove this is the most flattering powder you have ever used, get the small-size box today!

Fourth-Termers Exped To Win

HOUSTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Herman Jones, Austin attorney and state chairman of the pro-Roosevelt forces, said here today he believes the September Democratic convention will have the power and authority to name electors who will vote for Roosevelt and Truman.

Jones, who was here on private business, said the pro-Roosevelt forces have at least 643 out of a possible 1401 votes and should be able to control the convention which meets in Dallas Sept. 2 to nominate and certify the party's candidates.

Can Nullify Convention

He believes, he said, the convention can legally nullify the work of the May convention, which named electors and instructed them not to vote for the party nominee but for some other Democrat if certain Texas demands were not met.

"Anybody who says the state supreme court held that the May convention had exclusive authority to nominate electors either can't read English or is failing to tell the truth," Jones said. "All the court held was that in the absence of explicit statutes the party could determine its nominating methods and the court concluded the statutes did not explicity require nomination of electors by direct primaries."

"Disagreement Threat"

He said Texans today are witnessing "the most disgraceful and treacherous threat to popular government this state has ever known."

"At long last," he continued, "the whole evil plot of the Crooker-Germany group is out in the open. The 'deal' which this crowd proposes shows nothing but contempt for the people of Texas.

"They boldly declare they don't care how the citizens vote. They, as electors, will put themselves above the people and decide what is good for us. They state that if they can grab enough electoral votes in Texas, they may be able to swing the presidential election, regardless of how the people of 48 states vote."

The average haul of United States domestic air express in 1941 was 547 miles.

Nazis Knew Of Invasion, But Place, Time Were Surprises

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF in Southern France, Aug. 15. (Delayed)—Right now it looks as if the Germans were caught by surprise in this operation. If so, it only proves the old security saying that "you can't keep the enemy from knowing what you're doing—you can only keep him from knowing when and where."

Waiting around the air base from which we flew over with the first glider wave the bunch of reporters started talking about security. It was the same as before the Anzio operation. Nobody thought there was the least hope of taking the Germans by surprise. And there was plenty of reason for that feeling—incidentally, a very unpleasant feeling on D-day eve.

Speculation over when we were going to invade southern France long since had reached the status of common conversation around the Mediterranean. Divisions which were going to participate had been training for weeks and weeks. It is impossible to hide such training operations when they involve thousands of men, airplanes, gliders, parachutes, ships, jeeps, trucks, tanks and other implements of war.

In addition, there's the necessary water proofing of vehicles for such an operation and it's easy to spot a waterproofed vehicle whether it is on the streets of Rome, Naples, Bari, Palmero or Algiers. Every enemy spy in the Mediterranean knew the invasion was due soon. The clinching point was the German broadcast propaganda which kept telling the doughboys in this theater:

"We know you're coming to southern France. We'll be waiting for you there."

Gives You Uneasy Feeling

Even though you know it is mostly just feeling for information, still it gives you an uneasy feeling in the pit of the stomach to hear enemy broadcasts like that.

All those, plus many other things, strengthened our conviction that we were not exactly staging a surprise party in southern France.

And we weren't. But still, the Germans didn't know exactly where or when the party would be held—which is all an invasion force needs to get its feet dug in on the beaches.

Navy Fooled Enemy

As D-day drew near the Navy added to the enemy's confusion over the locality of the invasion by staging a number of fake sorties at various points along the southern French coast. Subsequent reports indicated every such sortie brought a shift of German defensive power.

"Dress rehearsals" of air and naval operations a few days prior to D-day got the Germans at least partially mixed up on timing. Trice before the actual invasion they broadcast that landings were under way.

All in all, it seems that these tricks — long considered standard operational procedude — did the job. The Germans knew we were coming, but they didn't know when or where.

Still, at least one bunch of airmen and reporters around a poker table on the eve of D-day, would have felt better if we had known for sure then.

Wolfforth Bale Is Sold For 21 Cents

A price of 21 cents per pound was paid Tuesday afternoon at an auction for Lubbock county's second bale of 1944 cotton, grown on the O. M. Woodson farm 4½ miles southwest of Wolfforth. The staple graded middling seven-eighths. Roberts & Daniel, cotton brokers, bought it.

Woodson said this bale was pulled Tuesday from 12 acres, eight people doing the work. He has 85 acres in cotton this year. He also had the first bale at Wolfforth two years ago, he said. Kenneth Bozeman, Lubbock auctioneer, sold the bale for Woodson.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce premium of $50 for the county's first bale will be paid to Arthur Kahlich of three and one-half miles southwest of Slaton who delivered a bale about 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to Slaton Co-Op gin, chamber officials said Wednesday afternoon. Ginning of this bale was completed at 3 p. m. Ginning of Woodson's bale was not completed until 6:30 p. m.

and the Thousands of Grocers Who Serve Them

DEL MONTE REPORTS ON CANNED FRUIT AND VEGETABLE PROSPECTS

Ever since the war started, Del Monte has tried to interpret the canned fruit and vegetable picture in a way that would help our many friends and customers adjust themselves to wartime shortages.

As the largest canner of fruits and vegetables in America, we feel it is our responsibility again to make clear how prospects look to us—why today's situation exists—and what everyone can do to make the best of it.

Big Crops Don't Always Mean Big Packs for Civilians

The farmers of this country are doing a great job.

Peas are a good example. The acreage of green peas sown for processing in 1944 is estimated at 48% more than the five year pre-war average.

Many people feel news like this means our canned food troubles are over. This isn't true.

One reason is the weather. We had a late spring with rains and floods. Planting was late and replanting was crowded into a few short weeks.

Complicating our problem was the shortage of experienced workers.

Peas must be canned at one certain stage in their development to produce a quality pack. This year, the pea crop matured much faster than usual — and we started our Del Monte pea operations with a staff of regular field and cannery workers 30% below normal.

One thing that saved the day for us on peas was the patriotic help of hundreds of citizens of DeKalb and Rochelle, Illinois; Sleepy Eye and Wells, Minnesota; Arlington, Wisconsin; Ogden, Smithfield and Spanish Fork, Utah; Franklin, Idaho; and Toppenish, Washington. Among them were housewives, office workers, public officials—many of whom had never set foot in a cannery before.

With everybody pulling together, we were able to can 50% more than our average pre-war pack. But military needs have grown.

Last year, every member of the industry turned over to the government 20% of its pack of canned peas. This year, the government will require double that amount. So despite all the fine news about crops and packs, there probably will be fewer canned peas for civilians.

The harvest of green beans and corn is not completed. Weather is always a tremendous hazard with any vegetable crop. It looks today as if there would be plenty of string beans. There is some danger that continued dry weather will affect the corn crop. But even if it doesn't the best we can hope for is a civilian supply of corn somewhat less than last year's.

Tomatoes are only beginning to ripen. Present prospects are for a pack as large as last year's. But the amount going into civilian distribution will be considerably less.

In short, the vegetable outlook is not promising.

What About the Outlook on Canned Fruit?

Canned fruit is one of the most popular foods with the armed forces. The government is reserving the equivalent of better than two-thirds of the pack—a material increase over last year's requirements.

This entire amount must be set aside for the armed forces before civilians can get a single can or jar. And rightly—for what good American would deny a serviceman first call on the food he needs?

The canned fruit situation has one bright spot. A bumper crop of apricots produced a good supply for civilians—despite manpower shortages and larger government requirements.

But the pear crop is short—meaning considerably fewer canned pears for us at home. We will have less canned pineapple on our tables, too.

There are two big "ifs" in this year's sizable peach crop—weather and manpower. A hot spell could ripen peaches so fast that we couldn't find enough workers to handle them. With Uncle Sam needing more than last year it looks (even with good weather) like definitely fewer peaches for the home front.

Fruit cocktail? Canners hope to "put up" even more than last year. But quotas for our fighters have grown still faster. Again, this means less at your grocer's.

So, it should be clear that there simply can't be a fruit pack big enough to leave a normal supply of fruit for civilians, after increased military needs are met.

Count on Your Fair Share of Del Monte

Whatever amounts of Del Monte are finally available, however, you can depend on this—

We are doing everything we can to see that you can get your share of them.

Ever since the war started, we have apportioned Del Monte Foods to Del Monte distributors in every section of the country, on a fair and square basis.

Furthermore, we are spreading out our Del Monte deliveries throughout the year. This means that you can hope to find several varieties of Del Monte Fruits and Vegetables on your grocer's shelves at most times.

So look for and ask for Del Monte Foods. You have a right to your share, and your chances of getting some Del Monte Product to answer your purpose are good.

Use Del Monte's wide variety, too. Switching and swapping within the Del Monte line is one of the best answers to wartime shortages, because it is the best way to be sure of quality and flavor.

Other Ways to Help

If you live near a food processing plant, you can help produce a bigger pack yourself by working there part or full time. Check with the U. S. Employment Service or your nearest plant. You can see by this report how much your help is still needed.

And do continue to be patient with your grocer. Understand his problems. Remember that the better-known brands are the first to be taken from his shelves.

Try to help ease his load by such thoughtfulness as shopping early in the day and early in the week.

Neither America's food producers nor America's grocers can win the battle of the food front alone. Your intelligent cooperation with the industry, your grocer and your government is very important.

It's a big responsibility. But we have yet to see the problem that is too big for American women. Especially when it means their families will be better fed.

Gas Coupons Being Checked

DALLAS, Aug. 24 (AP)—An average of 120,000 gasoline coupons are being checked here daily in the latest campaign by the Office of Price administration against the black market in ration currency, the regional office reported today.

Some 50 tons of ration coupons for gasoline, food and shoes have been examined by the OPA's terrification center, which went into operation in June. The coupons had been used by residents in OPA's region 5, embracing Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

Many "Irregulars" Found

Nearly 40,000 gasoline coupons, OPA said, have been found irregular in some respects—unendorsed, stolen or counterfeit—and returned to district OPA offices, of which there are 13 in the region, for investigation. Under the violet-ray light test, 3,589 "A" coupons showed up as counterfeits. A total of 1,189 counterfeit "B" and "C" coupons and other kinds of gas coupons were found to be counterfeit.

After coupons have passed through the various stages of examination they are destroyed by being run through a mill-like device in the OPA office known as a "feed grinder," whence the paper goes into salvage.

Agricultural Labor Crisis Due This Fall

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Aug. 24. (AP) — A crisis in agricultural labor will come this fall but by next spring the need for imported workers will slacken because "there is no question in anyone's mind that war in Europe will be over by the end of this calendar year," Brig. Gen. Philip C. Bruton said today.

Bruton, chief of labor for the War Food administration, arriving here to confer with farm officials, told reporters the "overall farm labor picture is better than it has been for the past year and one-half, but getting in the crop this fall will be a tight squeeze. All help available will be needed, including volunteer townspeople and school children.

He said some 60,000 German war prisoners were working on farms in the United States.

Liberation Of Paris Sets Off Celebrations

(By The Associated Press)

The French tricolor and the Cross of Lorraine appeared on flagpoles from coast to coast Wednesday when America learned Paris had been freed after four years of Nazi occupation.

In New York the celebration was held in Rockefeller plaza, where some 20,000 gathered to witness a program sponsored by France forever, the organization affiliated with the French Committee of National liberation.

While ticker tape and confetti fluttered down from the surrounding skyscrapers, and Army band played, city council President Newbold Norris, Richard de Rochemont, national president of France forever, and Guerin de Beaumont, agent general of the provisional French government, made speeches and Lily Pons sang La Marseillaise.

French sailors and girls jubilantly marched arm in arm through the historic common in Boston and the French and United States anthems were played over the public safety committee public address system. A formal celebration was planned for today.

The French flag, by order of Mayor A. P. Kaufman, will replace the city flag for a week at the St. Louis soldiers' memorial.

Elimination Of Low Flying Is Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (AP) — The War department has assured Rep. Sumners (D-Tex) that commanding officers of air installations in the vicinity of Dallas, have expressed their desire to cooperate completely in a program to eliminate violations of low flying regulations in that area.

In a letter made public by Sumners, the department said any pilot found guilty of violating such regulations would be prosecuted to the extent of their jurisdiction.

Paper Urges Votes For John L. Smith, Already Nominated

AUSTIN, Aug. 24 (U.P.) — War and weather were blamed here for slight interest being shown in the state Democratic run-off election to be held next Saturday.

Predictions were heard that the vote which neared 900,000 in the initial primary of July 22 might fall to less than half that in the Aug. 28 balloting.

But two statewide races were to be decided — for associate justice of the state supreme court and for attorney general.

Early returns of the first election had indicated a close race for lieutenant governor though Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith on complete count was shown to have a majority vote, thus eliminating a run-off in that race.

Nevertheless some people still thought the race was on. A Southwest Texas paper of large circulation editorially urged people to take part in the run-off and elect Smith. A friend of Smith at Corpus Christi attempted to insert an advertisement urging his candidacy.

Good Food, No Stragglers, No Speeders

Four MPs Spend Brief Period Of Duty In French 'Shangri-La'

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MONT ST. MICHEL, France, Aug. 11 (Delayed) — Once upon a time there were four military cops who spent one day in paradise.

There were no dusty roads to police, no stragglers to round up, no speeders, no doughboys to bawl out for forgetting to wear leggings or helmets and no truck drivers to yell at for tying up traffic as they asked their way to some unpronounceable French town nobody ever heard of.

For in this 24-hour MP's Shangri-La there was only one narrow cobble-stoned street and no military vehicles of any kind moving along it.

Little Island Of Peace

This brief policeman's heaven was Mont St. Michel, one of the world's foremost tourist centers in peacetime and, in war, one of those pleasant little islands of peace amid raging battles.

The four MP's didn't know what they were getting into when the corps provost marshal assigned them to guard a tiny village on a granite promontory connected with the shore only by a long and narrow causeway.

But, like any other tourists, they gasped as they drove along the causeway. They saw a splendid church perched atop a sheer rock with its time-worn spire rising 400 feet above the sea like a child's dream of Camelot.

Find "Off Limits" Sign

Driving up to the entrance, through great 13th century stone walls which once withstood a 22-year siege by the British, the four cops climbed out of their jeep and stuck up the familiar old Army sign:

"Off limits to all troops."

They strolled a few feet up the historic Grand Rue, answering the waves of friendly villagers until they came to the Hotel Poulard where they registered.

They washed up — they couldn't take a bath because of the shortage of water on the island — and after leaving one man on guard at the gate to turn back military wayfarers, they explored Mont St. Michel from basement to turret, with the help of a young French guide whose only fee was a couple of cigarets.

Like Kings At Ease

They stuffed themselves on Mont's famous gastronomic delicacy — flaming omlettes — veal, fresh bread and butter, fried potatoes and dessert tarts. And in the dusk, they sat like kings at ease on the terrace overlooking the sea while they puffed on cigars and sipped wine and cognac.

Bright and early the next morning, up drove a fifth military policeman with word that their commander wanted them to return. He had decided that Mont St. Michel needed no policing. The four transients climbed sadly into their jeep and waved witsfully to the villagers as they drove away.

Their furlough in paradise was over.

PROUD OF GAVEL

BOSTON, Aug. 24 (U.P.)—Dancer Talia Wermuth is the proud possessor of the gavel used when the United States declared war on Germany in 1941. It was presented to her by house speaker Sam Rayburn in honor of her brother, "the one-man army of Bataan," who accounted for 118 Japs single-handed and is now a prisoner in Singapore.

Rabbits In Patrol Lines Veterans Of Action In France

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE, (Delayed). (AP) — Pet rabbits are helping to while away foxhole boredom among many of the front line troops by playing quite an effective part in the war.

A one-eyed rabbit named "Butch" started a battle all by himself and another rabbit called "Whiskers" has been put in for the Purple Heart for a combat wound.

"Butch" is the American Army champion patrol rabbit. He has been in German lines more often than most frontline doughboys. He snuggles in the pocket of his non-com owner, Sgt. Lawrence Swain, 21-year old squad leader, of Vernal, Utah.

Rabbit Starts Battle

One black night recently Swain was crawling along a hedgerow on patrol when "Butch" crawled out of his pocket and went AWOL without his owner noticing it.

The rabbit nibbled a few spears of grass and then decided to rejoin the patrol squad. Suddenly he hopped on Swain's neck.

"Scared?" said the sergeant. "I jumped and emptied a full clip of ammunition in the air. I didn't know what had me."

The firing startled Germans nearby and they swept the area with rifles and machineguns. This led the American commanders to think the Nazis were attacking and the Americans began throwing metal, too. Swain and his rabbit found themselves in the middle of the scrap.

Since then, "Butch" sticks pretty close to his owner.

Recommended For Award

"Whiskers" fights in the same infantry division and belongs to Pfc. Leo Silkey, of Marshfield, Mo. A small black and white rabbit, he's the envy of the doughboys because he can eat grass as well as rations.

The rabbit rides into action on a grenade pack carried by Silkey, a mortarman, and at night "Whiskers" shares a foxhole straw couch with his master.

"Whiskers" served 18 days in the frontline trenches before he was nicked in the ear with a piece of shrapnel. For this wound in action he was recommended for the Purple Heart. Silkey says he wouldn't take $100 for "Whiskers," who he says isn't at all afraid of enemy fire—"at least no more than me."

Japs Admit Deaths Of 2 More Generals

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (AP)—The Japanese ministry of war announced today in a Tokyo broadcast that two more Japanese generals had met death "in line of duty aboard," the Office of War Information said.

Maj. Gen. Genkichi Shima died Aug. 6 and Maj. Gen. Genzo Minakami died Aug. 8, the ministry said in announcing their posthumous promotions to the rank of lieutenant general.

The ministry did not disclose where the generals had met their death nor under what circumstances.

Gestapo Holds Old Marshal At Belfort

LONDON, Aug. 24. —Marshal Petain, 88-year-old chief of state of the Vichy government, was reported today to be a virtual prisoner of the Germans at Belfort, where he was taken by Gestapo agents who spirited him from Vichy Sunday.

Advices from the French-Swiss border said Petain was unceremoniously carried away by the Germans with other members of his government, apparently as a result of his refusal to accompany Pierre Laval to the new puppet government seat.

Laval also was said to be a virtual prisoner of the Nazis at Belfort, a French city about 25 miles from Basel, Switzerland, and an equal distance from Germany.

Petain was reported to have reached Belfort Monday afternoon. An earlier report had said he was being held at Wiesbaden, Germany.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BATTERED TANK SCRAPPED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 24 (U.P.) —Many of the tanks knocked out by the enemy in North Africa and other battle fronts wind up in the yards of the Consolidated Steel company here, which rips them apart, cuts them into scrap and remelts them for reshipment in the form of other weapons.

ALL-AROUND ERVICEMAN

ARDMORE, Pa., Aug. 24. (U.P.)—James McKelvy, three-branch serviceman, has tried them all—Marines, Army and Navy. Honorably discharged from the Marine Corps because of a physical disability, he sought a Navy commission. Meanwhile, the Army drafted him. While stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., his commission came through and he was released for duty as a communications officer with the Fleet Air Force.

Balkans To Become Untenable To Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Romania's double back-flop — surrender to the Allies and war against the Germans—will render the Balkans peninsula untenable for Hitler although he will hang on as long as he can as a further measure to delay his own capitulation.

The Romanian turnabout represents another great military victory for the Allies, although diplomacy has played its part. This biggest of the Balkan countries has flown the white flag because she has been beaten in battle and was about to be overrun by the Red forces which were bearing down on her from the north. The importance of her surrender is fourfold:

1. Bulgaria, already wavering, may be expected to follow suit now that her next door neighbor has deserted the Nazi camp.

Hungary Now Vulnerable

2. Hungary, which also lies against Romania's border, is now vulnerable to direct attack—and Hungary is Germany's southeastern shield. The great Danubian basin, which is a gateway into the Reich, will now be open to the Allies.

3. Hitler will lose great supplies of which he is in desperate need.

4. The moral effect the world around, especially in Germany and Japan, will be great. It's the sort of thing that's breaking the hearts of the Nazis and the Nipponese.

Romania Furnished Supplies

So far as Romania itself is concerned, it has represented Hitler's greatest source of supplies in the Balkans. Not only has he depended heavily on the Ploesti oil to keep his war machine running, but this fertile Balkan state has been a land flowing with milk and honey.

Romania produces vast quantities of corn and other foodstuffs which have played their important part in keeping the people of Germany loyal to the fuehrer.

We don't need to regard Romania's move in the light of a returning prodigal, yet we can have a tolerant understanding of her position. A substantial portion of the population always has been pro-Ally and representatives of that element now have taken over the government. It's encouraging to see in the cabinet that distinguished old peasant leader, Juliu Maniu, who for many years has been a steadying influence among his people.

Country Had Many Fascists

There was, however, even before the war a very considerable Fascist movement in Romania, with leanings towards both Italy and Germany. The Fascist organization was known as the Iron Guard, and one of the prominent adherents was the same General Ion Antonescu who has been head of the puppet government which has been doing Hitler's will.

However, there was more than that to the story. Germany had politico-economic domination of Romania—as it did of neighboring countries. The explanation is simple:

Countries like Romania and Hungary were marketing more than fifty per cent of their products in Germany—and they had absolutely no alternative market. The Nazi dictator could bankrupt them almost overnight by withdrawing his patronage.

So it was that when he demanded Romanian adherence to the Axis, he got it. Antonescu and his outfit handed over their birthright for a mess of pottage which now must stink in their nostrils.

Jap Doctor Heads Hospital In China

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (U.P.) — A Japanese doctor captured by Chinese guerrillas in 1941 is the new head of the International Peace Hospital in Southeast Shansi, one of four hospitals supported by China Aid Council of United China Relief.

Dr. Matui, regular Japanese army surgeon, was one of 50 prisoners seized in a raid on a Jap garrison. Taken to the rear for questioning, like all prisoners, he began work in the surgical department of the hospital and for two years he has cared for Chinese wounded in battles against his own country's troops. His work brought him recognition in the form of appointment, last July, as surgeon-in-chief, with several other Japanese prisoners under him as orderlies.

Many Jap prisoners in the northwest guerrilla region work voluntarily with the northwest intelligence service. They question new prisoners, translate captured documents and write propaganda leaflets for distribution among the Japanese troops. Complete freedom of movement is allowed to them and their only distinguishing mark is characters sewed on their jackets saying "Japanese accepted in China."

Pacific Natives Eager To Trade For GI Clothes

WITH U. S. ARMY FORCES IN THE SOLOMONS, Aug. 24 (U.P.) — The ravages of war have passed over many of the South Sea islands but natives in even the most out of the way places have learned the value of "one dolla,' ten dolla' " and acquired a taste for GI clothes — worn strictly non-regulation.

The beautiful native girl exists largely only in the imagination of Hollywood script writers, but occasionally a comely lass is found on an island where the Polynesian strain appears. But the popular fancy that romance with the village belle begins when you set foot on the island is quickly dispelled.

Such a one was Temota of little-known Rennell island, 100 miles south of Guadalcanal. Her striking figure wrapped in a sarong-like shawl and her shy smile captivated members of an Army party which recently visited the island. But when they asked her to accompany them to their flying boat anchored in the lagoon. Moa, chief of the village, immediately squelched them.

"She stay here," was all Moa said, but everyone understood.

Visitors report that the islanders will swap you native souvenirs for your shirt or pants or almost any item of clothing, but they have a keen sense of trading. When the Army party visited Moa, he also was entertaining the king of the island, ruler of a dozen villages.

The king's clothing looked familiar to the visitors. It should because on the left chest of his shirt was lettered "USMC."

Houseboats Solve Housing Shortage

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 24 (U.P.) — Several hundred persons, who were unable to rent homes or apartments in Miami this year due to overcrowded conditions, are living happily where the sun beats down the hardest—on the water.

Along the Miami river and the Biscayne Bay waterfront many a laundry can be seen flying in the breeze each Monday, for these apartment-seekers finally solved their problems. They are living on houseboats of one sort or another —anything that floats — just to have a winter home in Miami.

Approximately 225,000,000 books were produced in the United States in 1942.

Surpluses Are Being Turned To Civilians

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)— William L. Clayton, surplus war property administrator, testified today that he is attempting to get all possible surplus property into hands of consumers while civilians shortages exist.

He told the Senate war investigating committee that he was attempting to put surplus goods on the market in such a way as not to interfere with production and employment.

Another witness, J. S. Wilson, assistant to the vice president of the Maritime commission, testified that lands and buildings at a concrete barge shipyard at San Jacinto, Tex., had been sold at private sale for $200,000 to the DuPont Corp., without other bids having been obtained.

Cmdr. W. S. Brown, commission attorney, said in response to question from the committee that $500,000 "sounds reasonable" for the government's investiment in the property.

He added, however, that shipyards are "a drug on the market" and that it was useless to try to get other bids. The commission considered the DuPont bid a high offer, he said, and it was obtained only because DuPont was buying the property in connection with nearby lands for a chemical plant.

New Windshields Aiding Allied Ships

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (U.P.)—Add to jeeps on the farm and electronics in the basement, a seagoing windshield on buses and locomotives.

This safety device, revolving windshield that is technically known as the "clear view screen" is now in wide use on Allied cargo and Naval vessels. A round, movable segment of glass, mounted within the front window of the captain's bridge, is set going by a motor when the ships runs into stormy weather.

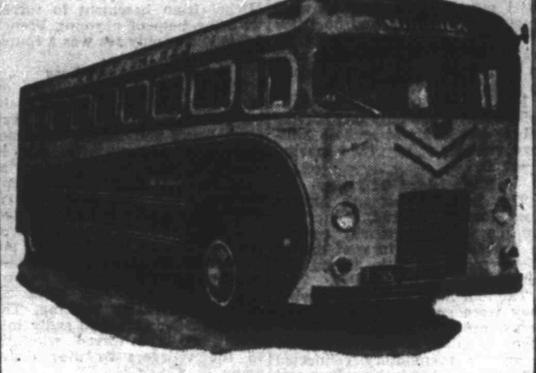

"It spins so fast," explained Morris F. Ketay, director of engineering of the Marine Division of Bendix Aviation Corp., under whose direction the shield was developed, "that by centrifugal force it throws of sea-spray, rain, snow and even sleet and ice."

After the war this simple device should be available to safety-minded bus, truck, and even taxicab companies, Ketay said.

Drouth Retards State's Crops

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP) — Lack of rain over most of the state brought further crop damage this week, the United States department of agriculture reported today.

Scattered showers were of some benefit to late planted feed crops and sweet potatoes in a few eastern counties; in most instances, however, the showers were too light to be or real benefit.

Cotton continued to shed and open prematurely due to lack of moisture, and the development of the late crop was curtailed. In the southern and south central counties, the crop was too far advanced to be helped by moisture.

Corn Harvest Continues

Corn harvest continued active in southern counties and was in progress to a limited extent in more northern areas. The crop was suffering from lack of rain in the high plains with prospective yields being reduced by the continued drouth.

The harvesting of hay and forage crops made good progress, but the preparation of land for fall-sown grains was held back. The harvesting of alfalfa seed in the trans-Pecos area, and of sudan grass seed in the high plains progressed under favorable harvest conditions.

The early peanut crop is well advanced; late crops, however, are in need of moisture.

Vegetables Retarded

Transplanting of fall-crop commercial vegetables is retarded and some crops set to the fields early are beginning to suffer, particularly eggplant, peppers and tomatoes. The review as issued prior to Wednesday's rains in the lower Rio Grande valley.)

Livesteock continued to hold fair to good condition through much of the state, but in a number of localities shrinkage was evident and will become widespread unless rains are received soon.

An exception to the dry heat was found in the Big Bend and Pecos El Paso areas which received drouth-breaking rains during the week. Range feeds in the Panhandle and high plains section are dry but still generally adequate for the stock.

Case Of Snoring Birds Is Solved: They're Barn Owls

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24 (AP)— The case of the snoring birds was solved today, to the satisfaction of science but the further disgruntlement of dwellers in a downtown apartment house who say they can't sleep because of the noise.

"They're barn owls, all right," exulted Dr. Robert M. Stabler, professor of zoology at the University of Pennsylvania, as he stood atop a ladder and picked a gray lump from a parapet of the building.

"This is pretty definite circumstantial evidence," he said, "shows the barn owls have been around here. They spit out the fur and bones and teeth of their prey, mostly rats."

Residents of the building were unimpressed by this display of ornithological knowledge.

"Shoo them or shoot them, whatever they are," they chorused.

Youth Conference Is Convened Here

An American Indian theme will feature a missionary dinner program tonight of the annual Echo conference which opened Tuesday night in First Christian church with an enrollment of 42, according to Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor.

Clyde Foltz, ministerial student in Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, is guest leader of the conference and Miss Ruth Towne, educational director of the church, is supervisor.

Programs consist of project periods, classes and planning committees. Dinner is served at the church each evening. A worship and recreation program is conducted. Services last from 5 to 10 o'clock each evening.

The final service will be held Friday night, and will be in the form of a candle light communion service.

Cardinals Doing OK Minus Relief Hurler

Pitchers Carrying Big Load Well

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24—The St. St. Louis Cardinals, who have operated without a bonafide relief pitcher all season, offered evidence today that their strong-armed squad of starting hurlers would have about as much use for one as their batting champion Stan Musial has for a pinch hitter.

Their pitchers, most of them big chesty fellows like Mort Cooper and Max Lanier, have gone 11 straight games without assistance from the bull pen and that pace more or less reflects a trend that has been in effect all season.

In other pennant winning years, Manager Billy Southworth had such capable relief hands as Howie Krist and Murry Dickson to take over when the starter faltered, but there was no one on the staff who was equipped to do the job on a regular basis this year. Hence Southworth alternated his starters in the bull-pen calling on practically any of them to relieve for short stints between their regular assignments and the system has paid dividends.

"Big Four" Pitch 55

Emphasizing the staying power of the Cardinal corps is the fact that the "big four," Lanier, Cooper, Harry Brecheen and Ted Wilks have pitched a total of 55 complete games out of the 116 that the team has played. The Cardinals have needed no relief in 73 games, and in most of the others, one pitcher going two or three innings has managed to settle the issue. Cooper has pitched 18 complete games, Lanier 14, Wilks 12, and Brecheen 11.

In deference to the Cardinal batting attack, it should be emphasized that such a performance would not have been possible had the pitchers been with any other club. Usually the margin of victory is so substantial that even a faltering pitcher is able to weather a few shaky innings late in the game. A check of the records reveals that the Cardinals have been held to a one run margin of victory in only 15 of their 87 triumphs.

In 10 games they have had a two run margin, in eight they have finished three runs in front, in 12 they have had a four run margin. They have had 10 five run victories, two have been decided by six, two by seven, four by eight, two by nine, five by 10, three by 11 and one each by 12, 13, 16, and 18 runs.

Big Mort Cooper, ably assisted by brother Walker Cooper, had it easy gaining his 18th victory, 11-1, over the Chicago Cubs at St. Louis last night. He scattered nine hits and his control was sharp, walking none and striking out five. Walker Cooper hit an inside the park homer and three singles for a perfect night at the plate, bringing his recent pace to 15 hits in 19 times at bat.

The victory enabled the Cards to keep ahead of the all-time record pace of the Cubs of 1906, though they need 29 victories in their final 38 games to tie it. Playing at their present pace, they could clinch the pennant as early as Sept. 15—earlier if the fast traveling Pittsburgh Pirates have a relapse.

The game was the only one played in the majors yesterday.

McSpaden And Nelson Favored

All-American Play 'For Keeps' Starts

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—It was Harold (Jug) McSpaden and Byron Nelson — golf's biggest money winners—against the field today as they started playing for keeps in the rich $42,500 all-American tournaments.

The favorites, running one-two among the professionals in money earned this season, were matched against the country's top shooters in the first 18 holes of the 72-hole open carrying a top reward of $13,462 (maturity value) in war bonds.

Simultaneously, 26 amateurs including the defending champion Dale Morey of Martinsville, Ind., and 28 women began their 72-hole activities to furnish a three-ring circus atmosphere at Tam O'Shanter.

Enthusiastic About Pair

Sideline seers were enthusiastic about McSpaden, the 1943 winner, and Nelson, third a year ago, in the open. To embellish their arguments they hauled out statistics showing that "Jug" had won five major tournaments and Nelson had taken three. Narrowing th echoice to either McSpaden or Nelson was something else, however.

In 15 tournaments under P.G.A. sponsorship since last Jan. 1 Lord Byron has a three-stroke advantage over "Jug." Their respective totals are 3,687 and 3,690 for averages of 69.56 and 69.62 in 53 rounds.

Qualifying rounds for the non-exempt entries in the open continued until darkness halted proceedings last night with a half-dozen shooters unable to finish.

A pair of 68's, four under par, fired by Henry E. Williams, jr., of Royersford, Pa., and Claude Harmon of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., topped the efforts of the professionals yesterday. A 77 or better was necessary to qualify.

Lefty Sollis Wins In Badminton Meet

Lubbock's first city-wide badminton tournament, staged Tuesday night at the Texas Tech gym, brought to the front an old familiar sports name in Lubbock, but in a different field, as Lefty Sollis, who was quite a footballer back in the days of Pete Cawthon at Tech, captured the singles crown and a share in the doubles trophy.

Sollis scored an upset victory over the pre-tournament favorite, Maj. Harris, in the semi-finals, winning in straight sets, 15-11, 18-16. Sollis then continued his stampede through the tournament in the finals with another straight set victory over Sgt. A. V. Corp of SPAAF, 15-11, 15-10.

Sollis and Prior won the doubles championship over Maj. Harris and Lt. Ferri, and again it was a straight set victory, 15-7, 18-15.

Down-To-Earth 'Golden Greek' Makes Deep Plunge In Racing

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

JOBSTOWN, N. J., Aug. 24—Millionaire William Helis, the turf's "Golden Greek," is a down-to-earth fellow who sleeps in the raw and, whenever possible, wears overalls and goes unshaved.

Being a modest, conservaitve guy in private life, he is appalled at the thought that the public may picture him as a flashy, diamond-studded showoff because of his enthusiastic but expensive plunge into racing. This plunge was featured by such outlays as $100,000 for Valdina Orphan, $65,000 for Pericles and $55,000 for Attention.

"Friends" estimate that Oilman Helis has invested more than $1,000,000 in thoroughbred improvement in the short clocking of two years, which is a record for such an abbreviated period, even in the sport of kings. "Friends" also estimate that Oilwell William's daily income approximates $65,000—before Uncle Sam takes his divvy.

May Admit Purchase Price

But that's the trouble! Those estimates by "friends" smear mud on the track of the Golden Greek, who may reluctantly admit the purchase price of a certain horse—to confirm the statement of auctioneer or seller—but with whom any further talk of money is strictly taboo.

Helis, new master of the nearby Rancocas farm—the 1,200 acre "dream" layout—was a bit disgruntled as he leaned against the rail of the little clocking stand watching some of his horses "work" around the sandy loam curves of the world's longest training track—one and four fifth miles.

The early sun etched sharply the easily galloping thoroughbreds and their exercise boys, meanwhile silhouetting the Indian-like profile of 57-year-old Helis—a bespectacled dark-completed man with thick gray hair, whose conservatism at the table left the right amount of flash on his five foot ten frame. Because he was expecting visitors, he wore gray trousers and gray shirt—instead of his usual overalls. And into the breeze he blew puffs from his cigar.

Dollars Come First

"When people ask me about racing, why do they always bring in the dollars before the horses?" he inquired with the protective frown of a guilty schoolboy.

He got no answer from the reporter; and he expected none. Helis knew the answer quite well. He had suddenly got horse blood in his veins two yaers ago—he had suddenly acquired a "love" for thoroughbreds and racing. But he was different from millions of other gee-gee addicts. He had fabulous wealth from oil with which to plunge into the fascinating pastime as owner and breeder.

His "friends" recall that Helis has lent $250,000 to the Fairgrounds track at New Orleans, where he has his main offices. Whenever the Golden Greek would go to the track, he would sit in the dining room and not even watch the races. Until one day when he was induced to make a small wager on a certain horse, and he heard the crowd screaming the name of his horse and the name of another bangtail. He rushed from his table to the balcony and saw his horse win a stretch battle by a nose.

Something happened to him in that fraction of a second. He has never been the same since—nor has racing. Something new has been added—like when millionaire Tom Yawkey entered baseball. But Helis is still an ultra-conservative in everything not pertaining to his only weakness—horses. And it saddens the modest, unassuming millionaire to think that the public might regard him as show-off.

Two Games Forfeited In Junior Baseball

The manpower shortage hit the junior baseball ranks Wednesday afternoon as games in both leagues were listed as forfeits when the Lions club and Sears team failed to show up for scheduled games with the Rotary club and Purina Mills, respectively.

But plenty of action is offered for the remainder of the week with the first half champions, the Kiwanis Cardinals facing the Optimists club this afternoon at Tech field while the Rotary pairs off with the American Business club on Friday to close the second half race. The Rotary and Optimist clubs are now tied for the top.

A "world series" preview is offered in the National League this afternoon when Bill Dean's first half winners and Hemphill-Wells' second half winners tangle in the final game on the older league's schedule.

Veteran Outfielder Tries Luck On Mound

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 24. (AP)—Joe Vosmik, whose many years in the major leagues was spent in the outfield, tried his luck pitching for Minneapolis last night and it was mostly bad.

The former Cleveland-Boston-Brooklyn player was on the mound four innings and was combed for nine hits, issued six walks, Columbus had a good time walloping Vosmik and two other pitchers for 22 hits, winning 22 to 2.

Thirty Out For SPAAF Eleven

Most Of Hopefuls Are Youngsters

More than thirty football hopefuls have been working out at South Plains Army Air field during the first week of practice for the Winged Commando grid squad.

Most of the candidates are youngsters, many former high school stars. Few "name" college gridders have reported and there just isn't anybody to take the place of such a man as Guard Marion Rogers, named to the Associated Press all-American service team last year.

Coach To Play

Coach Ray Truitt, who played football at Marshall college and for the professional Detroit Lions, expects to do a little playing at guard, and Rogers' 1943 running mate, James Steele, will be back on the other side of the line.

SPAAF plays its first game here Sunday, Sept. 24, against Amarillo Army Air field.

Other games on the schedule include:

Sept. 30—Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

Oct. 6—North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington.

Oct. 22—Lubbock Army Air field at Lubbock.

Oct. 28—Amarillo Army Air field at Amarillo.

Nov. 3 — Southwestern at Georgetown.

Nov. 11—13th Armored division at Lubbock.

Nov. 17—West Texas State Teachers at Lubbock.

Dec. 2—Texas Tech at Lubbock.

BOUT SET FRIDAY

GALVESTON, Aug. 24. (AP)—Procter Heinhold, Texas lightweight champion, meets Buddy Garcia in a six-round bout here Friday night as part of a card headlines by a 10-round scrap between Jack Marshall of Dallas and Jimmy Carolia, heavyweight.

Heinhold's title, which he won a couple of weeks ago from Jimmy Brentz, will not be at stake.

Durocher Uncertain Of His 1945 Status

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (U.P.) — Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, describing his boss President Branch Rickey as "one of the smartest men — if not the smartest — in baseball," insisted today that he had no inkling of his status for the 1945 season.

Durocher denied reports that Rickey had called him home in advance of the team to discuss the matter.

"When Mr. Rickey is ready to talk he will let me know," he said. "Nothing has been discussed about the 1945 season. I merely came back here to handle some personal business matters."

The voluble Dodger pilot confirmed that one of the "personal" discussions would be with President Ford Frick of the National league, who suspended him for five days last Saturday at Cincinnati after a run-in with umpires.

"I want to get a clarification on that suspension," he said. "If it is five calendar days, then I'll be eligible for Friday night's game with the Giants. Otherwise I won't be allowed back until Saturday.

BOUT ARRANGED

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (U.P.) — Arrangements were completed today for a welterweight bout at Madison Square Garden on Sept. 8 between Ralph Zennelli of Providence, R. I., and Jimmy McDaniels of Los Angeles.

Wisconsin Man Wins Trapshooting Title

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 24. (U.P.)—John Peterson of Racine, Wis., today held the "champion of champions" title at the annual grand American trapshooting tournament for having hit 98 out of 100 clay pigeons in the opening day of the event.

Petersen topped a field of 23 state champions, nosing out George Wagner of Dayton, O., and H. L. Cheek of Clinton, Ind., who tied for second with 97 birds each.

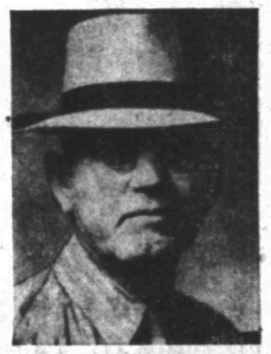

The veterans' title went to Thomas C. Houthton of Flint, Mich., who hit 98 out of 100 at shorter range to take the title for contestants over 70 years old.

The tournaments ends Friday when a field of more than 800 shooters will compete in the grand American handicap for $50,000 in prize money. The meet, cut short because of the wartime ammunition shortage, is open only to contestants who can provide their own shotgun shells.

The Nazis who used to be so full of fight are now full of flight.

IN this year's first state Democratic primary elections, held on July 22, only a few more than half the eligible voters of Lubbock county took the trouble to go to the polls.

The same thing may be said of practically every South Plains county.

Now we stand on the verge of the year's second, or "run-off," primary and as far as this county and section are concerned—as well as the state as a whole—it is doubtful if more than 30 per cent of eligible voters will make choices.

That is not a pretty—or an encouraging—situation to contemplate.

It is not enough to say that the July 22 vote was "off" because "there wasn't much fire in this year's campaigns."

It shouldn't take "fire," charges and counter-charges, mud-slinging, yodeling, or guitar-playing to get out the vote in Texas.

Texans, steeped in a heritage of freedom and democracy, should recognize the right of ballot as a privilege. We should see in our elections the duty of action.

ON this Saturday, before any reader decides it is "too much trouble to go vote," let him realize that one of the things our boys are fighting—and dying—for in the current global war is the right of the individual to be heard in the carrying on of his government.

Let us all remember that by our elections—and by them only—may the voice of the individual, and all of his fellows, be clearly heard.

If it isn't "too much trouble" for American fighting men to wallow in blood and mud; to dare the enemies of freedom in planes above the earth and sea, in ships upon the sea and in submarines under the sea, certainly it is not "too much trouble" for the rest of us, here at home, to respond to the duty and the opportunity which are ours to protect free government while our fighting men are gone.

If you're eligible, go vote on Saturday.

Vote for whomever you choose—but vote.

Otherwise, you shirk a responsibility which is yours by virtue of citizenship.

It's nice for people in an office or store to be just like "one big family," except that fussing and arguing interfere with business!

DESPITE the fact that we who live on the South Plains of Texas are far removed from water-ways, it is none-the-less true that we have a "stake" in any sort of contrivance which can haul water freight more rapidly, more easily—and cheaper.

The reason we have a "stake" in water freight is because a great many of the manufactured items which we use are hauled, at one time or another, on inland water-ways. Included in the retail price of these items—although we rarely think of it—are all transportation costs involved.

Therefore, if there is a new type of inland water-ways tugboat, for instance, that can haul more freight at less trouble and cost than its predecessors, it will mean more money left in our pockets in the long run.

While in Detroit recently, The Plainsman visited the Chrysler company's Jefferson avenue plant where are being manufactured the new "Sea Mules."

The "Sea Mule" represents a revolutionary change in tugboats and while every one being made is going to the U. S. Navy, this new type of tug someday will be employed commercially on all of our rivers and small lakes where water freighting is employed.

The "Sea Mule" can do more work for its size than any other boat of its kind and can do it cheaper—say the Chrysler people, and the Navy agrees.

The Plainsman is no "old salt," knows nothing about boats. But after taking a trip on a "Sea Mule" he can say that the new tug is, at any rate, a remarkable contraption.

THE "Sea Mule" is composed largely of four steel bulkheads, each a unit in itself but connected with the others. In war, or peace, it is important that even though one or two bulkheads be broken, the others will keep the boat afloat.

Its powerful engine will haul two of the largest barges that can be used on American inland water-ways, each barge loaded to full capacity. Furthermore, it draws only about two feet of water itself, hence can be maneuvered to bank or warf under almost any sort of conditions.

But what makes the "Sea Mule" particularly unusual are three innovations.

1. It is "cut back" from the front so the deck can literally be protruded over a shore-line;

2. It can turn around on its own axis, thus requiring no large expanse of water in which to make a full turn; and

3. It can be operated sideways, as well as straight ahead, just as an automobile driver has always wished his car could be manipulated when he has to make a parallel parking at close quarters.

The speed of the "Sea Mule" is none of anybody's business in war-time, with the Navy using the boats in amphibious operations in various parts of the globe. However, we noticed on our trip down the Detroit river to the eastuary, where the river begins to merge with Lake St. Claire, that the "Mule" can really scat.

Each "Sea Mule" has a captain's cabin, from which the boat is operated and steered, but there's absolutely no "gingerbread" or decoration on it anywhere.

The boat's size is, roughtly 40 by 20 feet.

"Sea Mules" cannot be operated on an ocean, or even on the largest of the Great Lakes.

But in a river or a smaller lake, they can really go to town.

TO give you an idea of how much coal, steel, wood, wheat—and heaven alone knows what else—moves on the Detroit river (which is connected with the Atlantic by way of Lakes Erie, Ontario and the St. Lawrence Water-way) we pass along some information which astounded us.

At the junction of the Detroit river and Lake St. Claire there is a bell-bouy.

By that bell bouy passes every day and every year more shipping than passes any other American water-way—including the great ocean ports.

We had noticed, of course, the many ships—both freight and passenger—which were negotiating the Detroit river, but we never before dreamed that the water traffic there is the greatest under the American flag.

Did you?

INCIDENTAL INFORMATION: Most of the Panama hats do not come from Panama, but, instead, from the Far East. And most of the Leghorn hats don't come from Leghorn, but, instead, from a small area near Florence, Italy. . . . According to the U. S. Department of Labor, there are about 18,000,000 women employed in the U. S. today, and 5,000,000 of that number had never worked before the current war's manpower shortage. Remember those figures. You'll be hearing a lot, after Victory, of how to get the women out of outside jobs and back into the kitchens of the land . . . Although you don't hear as much about it in this war as you did in the last—because now there is more merging and co-operating on the part of various agencies—the Salvation Army is "still on the job over there" as well as over here. The "Army" is represented by trained workers and their helpers on every front in the war.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

MANY people are worrying about adjustment problems of servicemen who will return to civilian life at the war's end.

But nobody much seems to be concerned over the disillusioning process in store for service women when they step back into civilian life. It isn't going to be an easy adjustment for many of them.

MILLETT

Of course many service-women are finding husbands — and their step back into civilian life will be comparatively simple. From the feminine point of view, when they shed their uniforms for house dresses they'll be trading a good job for a better one.

But what of the girls in uniform who don't marry during the war? They may have a rather painful adjustment to make when the war is over.

MARRIAGE SOLUTION

TAKE the case of the WAC, WAVE, MARINE, or SPAR who resumes the job of school teaching or working in an office after a taste of being a uniformed glamor girl. That is what the women in service actually are. Because they are usually surrounded by men, even the least attractive of them gets masculine attention.

And the uniform makes them noticed and singled out wherever they go. That kind of attention and admiration is easy to get used to—and hard to do without once a woman has it.

A girl may find it difficult to get back into civilian clothes which don't make her stand out from the crowd and to go back to working at a job where she isn't surrounded by men.

The best solution seems to be for a girl to get a husband while she is still in uniform, as so many of them are doing.

Birth statistics show that quadruplets occur once in 658,403 births.

REFUTING AN UNFOUNDED CLAIM

It seems more than a little strange that a few Americans expound most vociferously the doctrine that the refusal of the United States to join the League of Nations after World War I was the basic cause for the present war.

In other words, say they, the United States is to blame for World War II.

Doubtless some of those who preach this doctrine actually believe it. Others, however, can be suspected of trying to create a state of mind in the United States which will demand prompt approval, virtually sight unseen, of any sort of world organization that may be cooked up in secret conferences like the Dumbarton Oaks international parley now in progress. These people would ignore completely the unquestionable dangers that the wrong sort of world league would do more to make future wars inevitable than to guarantee an enduring peace.

The contention that responsibility for the present war can be traced to United States refusal to join the original league is nothing short of absurd. That league was strictly the brainchild and handmaiden of the British. Through their various commonwealths, the British had five representatives in that world organization. The United States would have been allowed one. The British still would have dominated the league policies. The United States would have been a minority power. The very fact of membership might have tended to create, in some degree, the feeling the United States was obligatd to string along with the British majority even when America's representatives disagreed. There is absolutely no reason for believing that the United States could have saved the league from becoming the horrifying mess it did become.

None of this is intended as argument against American participation. In future world organizations designed for peace and security. But this does brand as libel all the implications that Uncle Sam is to blame for the torrents of blood which have been flowing in the world since 1939.

Girls' Kow-Towing To British Is Irksome

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—Congressmen who have heard the inside story of Gen. Benny Giles kow-towing to the British in Egypt are all burnt up, some talk of probing the whole Near Eastern picture.

One thing which especially burns them up is General Giles' instruction to Americans in Cairo last month that there should be no celebration of the 4th of July. The general sent out word that celebration of American independence from Great Britain might offend our British allies and there should be no dinners or parties among those under his command.

PEARSON

As a result, Cairo was so quiet on July 4 that one Britisher approached an American friend next day and said: "Very inhospitable of you fellows, not to invite us to any of your 4th of July parties. We've always been invited before."

NOTE—Many Britishers to not agree with Churchill's empire policy of throttling the Greek liberation movement; also have no great respect for General Giles' subservient attitude toward Churchill policy.

COLD AIR

AN engineer at the Navy department building got a call the other day to come to a room on the second floor, raise the temperature in an overchilled, air-conditioned suite. Arriving at the room, the engineer was surprised to learn the man who had complained was Polar Explorer Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

NOTE—Washington doctors say their summer business has never been better since air-conditioning hit the capital. Donald Nelson recently got midsummer pneumonia. Lt. Earle Mayfield, son of Texas' ex-senator, came to Washington's air-cooled hotels from Houston, was taken to the hospital on a pneumonia stretcher.

OVERTON'S RECORD

MOST significant election development of the year has been the increasing casualty list of isolationist members of Congress, including Bennett Clark of Missouri, Worth Clark of Idaho, "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, Lambertson of Kansas, Starnes of Alabama, and Dies of Texas.

Now it looks as if the trend were continuing in Louisiana, where Sen. John Overton faces the fight of his life. Last time Overton ran for renomination, in 1938, he was unopposed; had only 250 votes cast against him in the final election. This time, however, he faces two hard-hitting opponents.

Difference is that between 1938 and today, Overton made the mistake of leading a vigorous crusade against Roosevelt's attempt to revise the Neutrality act in order to send arms to England. Overton led this fight even after war had started in 1939. Again, in 1940 he told Senate colleagues:

"I am not one of those who expect that Hitler will be over here tomorrow or possibly next year."

While this happened before Pearl Harbor, the people of Louisiana have long memories. Also, Overton has been shown up on occasion by opposing important war legislation in the secrecy of the Appropriations committee, of which he is a member until he got certain patronage out of the White House. Thus, he covertly opposed the lend-lease bill until the little matter of a U. S. marshal in Louisiana was adjusted. After that he voted for lend-lease.

All of which is now coming back to haunt him.

MARLBOROUGH'S GHOST

CLOSE friends of Winston Churchill reveal that the key to his most important moves is his ancestor, the duke of Marlborough, founder of the Churchill dynasty. The men Churchill chooses for important posts, his policies of empire—all are influenced by studying the life of Marlborough.

Lord Halifax, for instance, will never have to leave his post as British ambassador to Washington as long as Churchill is prime minister, for Halifax's ancestor once saved the duke of Marlborough from jail.

Likewise, Churchill's friendship for Sir Alexander Cadogan and the latter's appointment as British peace-machinery negotiator date back to the fact that Cadogan's ancestor was chief of staff to the duke of Marlborough when Marlborough invaded Ireland in 1690.

Cadogan is now chief British delegate to the Dumbarton Oaks conference to lay the cornerstone for future world peace.

Churchill best tells the story himself in his book on Marlborough. "William Cadogan (later earl of Cadogan), a Dublin lawyer, had won Marlborough's confidence at the taking of Cork and Kinsale," Churchill wrote. "Throughout the 10 campaigns, he was not only quartermaster general, but what we should call chief of staff and director of intelligence. It was Marlborough's practice to send with the reconnoitering cavalry an officer of high rank who knew the commander-in-chief's mind and his plans and could observe the enemy through his eyes. Cadogan repeatedly played this part.

"He shared Marlborough's fall, refusing to separate himself 'from the great man to whom I am under such infinite obligations. I would be a monster if I did otherwise.'"

TIES WITH HALIFAX

CHURCHILL'S ties to Lord Halifax, ambassador in Washington are even deeper.

Halifax's ancestor, according to Churchill's own account in his book, "conducted a rudimentary form of life insurance. At 24, Marlborough purchased from Lord Halifax for 4,500 pounds (given him by the duchess of Cleveland) an annuity of 500 pounds for life. It was a profitable investment. He enjoyed its fruits for nearly 50 years. It was the foundation of his immense fortune."

However, the earlier Lord Halifax performed an even greater service for Marlborough, which Winston Churchill has not forgotten. Marlborough was suspected of treason for communicating with the exiled King James and was thrown into the London Tower by King William of Orange. Churchill tells in his book how, after Marlborough had been in prison six weeks, Lord Halifax "did not fail him" and secured his release after putting up bail of 6,000 pounds.

Today, Churchill will never fail the present Lord Halifax.

NOTE—The duke of Marlborough, who fought the Battle of Blenheim against the French, is considered one of England's greatest soldiers. Somewhat like Winston Churchill, he is described as having "held together for years an army drawn from every nation in Christendom."

BY JACK LAIT
Editor, New York Mirror

WALTER WINCHELL, who should be resting, can't shut off the dynamo. He telephones me, with his usual staccato earnestness, urging me to publish some revelations about Fritz Mandl, former husband of Hedy Lamarr, of which the following is a brief summation:

Mandl is a power behind the present Argentine government. . . . Once worth $60,000,000 in Austria, he managed to salvage a sizable portion of it through an understanding with the Nazis . . . He was a munitions manufacturer by inheritance and followed the political intrigue which goes with that business in Europe, was decorated by Mussolini in '34, supplied much of the war material for the rape of Ethiopia . . . He left Austria in '37, became an Argentine citizen, changed his first name to Frederico . . . Though his father was Jewish, he is reported hand in hand with the Argentine anti-Semites.

His first South American activities were camouflaged as a project to build bicycles . . . But by now he has a network of munitions industries spreading into Uruguay . . . He negotiated with an American firm to buy airplane engines here, but was balked; ditto to manufacture an American and a Canadian engine under license. . . . He visited this country in 1940 and was in close touch with the Italian consul in Baltimore . . . Now that Germany is licked, his scheme is to establish in South America heavy industries transplanted, via plans, dies, etc., to be conducted by Nazi-schooled experts with a market in all countries of our Good Neighbors.

Walter points out that neither England nor the U. S. has blacklisted Mandl, but that "he will feel the mighty hand of the United Nations shortly."

* * *

If the Chiang Kai-sheks ever live together again under one roof, it will be for reasons of state only . . . Harry Hopkins is hopping mad—he was so sure FDR would name him as head of the Red Cross . . . . The brother of an Eastern millionaire movie theatre magnate disappeared three weeks ago and the family fears the worst . . . The head of a Hollywood picture producing corporation left a string of hotel and restaurant tabs in Manhattan when he departed without notice . . . The name of the business agent of the union striking against Electric Boat Co. is Harold Cruise . . . Ed Flynn, Bronx boss, is on the West Coast to recuperate—sicker than is generally known . . . Spencer Tracy spent two weeks in a Chicago hospital, incognito.

RUDY VALLEE is dating Judy Starr, relighting an old flame. . . . Myrna Loy will come to New York as soon as she gets her Mexican divorce . . . Tallulah Bankhead went on the wagon the night of Pearl Harbor and swore it was for the duration. But with my own eyes I saw her knock off a couple of cocktails . . . Gary Cooper, due here Aug. 18, will arrive weeks behind schedule, stopping at about 30 army bases and hospitals en route . . . One of Hollywood's top producers has changed his religion . . . Marlene Dietrich seen at El Borracho with a new escort—her husband, Rudolph Sieber . . . Benny Bickers, the little Texas tornado who floored big Pat diCicco . . . Suggestion for perfect type-casting: Jimmie Gleason as Ernie Pyle.

Miriam Hopkins and John Gunther clubbing and making very—but very—merry . . . The mysterious references to "enemies of the nation" behind the Philadelphia transportation strike will turn out to be a charge that the trouble was fomented by the remains of the Ku Klux Klan, and plenty of money was spread. The allegations include a definite hookup with the instigators of the Detroit race riots. . . . The huge Grumman Aircraft plant at Port Washington L. I. will be taken over by Pan American Airways as an air depot for present and post-war use . . . The day the Armada started for the Riviera, the punch-line of Eleanor Roosevelt's daily masterpiece was: "—and just now our first concern is full employment."

FRANK SINATRA'S wife handles all the family dough, even does the tipping . . . Townsend Netcher, Chicago department store heir, seen with Norma Hall . . . The big heart-shaped gem cut from one ruby, which flashes on Jane Pickens' shoulder, is a symbol of one of the most romantic stories on Broadway . . . Steve Crane being consoled by Chili Williams . . . Carol Bruce, often seen with Gene Krupa, has switched to Lt. Art Jarrett . . . Georgianna Young, Loretta's sister, is sweet again on Gabriell Dell, one time Dead End kid.

Irvin Marks originally of Chicago, but for many years a Hollywood and Broadway representative in Paris, who made his way here after the invasion, has done a "disappearing act". For three months he has not been seen around his office, at 512 Fifth Ave. He checked out about that time from the Alrae hotel and left no forwarding address. Western Union has been unable to locate him in Hollywood, where he has many connections. His last known activity was handling the autobiography of General Giraud for book publication and movie rights. The script was loaded with dynamite.

Injured British Pilot Trapped Eight Days In Wrecked Plane

Americans Pay Tribute To Englishman's Pluck

By ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

ON THE WESTERN FRONT (By Wireless) — We ran to the wrecked British plane, lying there upside down, and dropped on our hands and knees and peeked through a tiny hole in the side.

A man lay on his back in the small space of the upside-down cockpit. His feet disappeared somewhere in the jumble of dials and rubber pedals above him. His shirt was open and his chest was bare to the waist.

ERNIE PYLE

He was smoking a cigaret.

He turned his eyes toward me when I peeked in, and he said in a typical British manner of offhand friendliness, "Oh, Hello."

"Are you all right," I asked, stupidly.

He answered, "Yes, quite. Now that you chaps are here."

I asked him how long he had been trapped in the wrecked plane. He said he didn't know for sure as he had got mixed up about the passage of time. But he did know the date of the month he was shot down. He told me the date. And I said out loud, "Good God!"

For, wounded and trapped, he had been lying there for eight days.

* * *

"Limies Have Guts!"

His left leg was broken and punctured by an ack-ack burst. His back was terribly burned by raw gasoline that had spilled. The foot of his injured leg was pinned rigidly under the rudder bar.

His space was so small he couldn't squirm around to relieve his own weight from his paining back. He couldn't straighten out his legs, which were bent above him. He couldn't see out of his little prison. He had not had a bite to eat or a drop of water. All this for eight days and nights!

Yet when we found him his physical condition was strong, and his mind was as calm and rational as though he were sitting in a London club. He was in agony, yet in his correct Oxford accent he even apologized for taking up our time to get him out.

The American soldiers of our rescue party cussed as they worked, cussed with open admiration for this British flier's greatness of heart which had kept him alive and sane through his lonely and gradually hope-dimming ordeal.

One of them said, "God, but these Limies have got guts!"

IT TOOK us almost an hour to get him out. We don't know whether he will live or not, but he has a chance. During the hour we were ripping the plane open to make a hole, he talked to us. And here, in the best nutshell I can devise from the conversation of a brave man whom you don't want to badger with trivial questions, is what happened—

He was an RAF flight lieutenant, piloting a night fighter. Over a certain area the Germans began letting him have it from the ground with machine-gun fire.

The first hit knocked out his motor. He was too low to jump, so— foolishly, he said—he turned on his lights to try a crash landing. Then they really poured it on him. The second hit got him in the leg. And a third bullet cut right across the balls of his right-hand four fingers, clipping every one of them to the bone.

He left his wheels up, and the plane's belly hit the ground going uphill on a slight slope. We could see the groove it had dug for about 50 yards. Then it flopped, tail over nose, onto its back. The pilot was absolutely sealed into the upside-down cockpit.

"That's all I remember for a while," he told us. "When I came to, they were shelling all around me."

Eight Days In Hell

Thus began the eight days. He had crashed right between the Germans and Americans in a sort of pastoral No-Man's Land.

For days afterwards the field in which he lay surged back and forth between German hands and ours.

His pasture was pocked with hundreds of shell craters. Many of them were only yards away. One was right at the end of his wing. The metal sides of the plane were speckled with hundreds of shrapnel holes.

He lay there, trapped in the midst of this inferno of explosions. The fields around him gradually became littered with dead. At last American strength pushed the Germans back, and silence came. But no help. Because, you see, it was in that vacuum behind the battle, and only a few people were left.

THE days passed. He thirsted terribly. He slept some; part of the time he was unconscious; part of the time he undoubtedly was delirious. But he never gave up hope.

After we had finally got him out, he said as he lay on the stretcher under a wing, "Is it possible that I've been out of this plane since I crashed?"

Everybody chuckled. The doctor who had arrived said, "not the remotest possibility. You were sealed in there and it took men with tools half an hour to make an opening. And your leg was broken and your foot was pinned here. No, you haven't been out."

"I didn't think it was possible," the pilot said, "and yet it seems in my mind that I was out once and back in again."

That little memory of dilirium was the only word said by that remarkable man in the whole hour of his rescue that wasn't as dispassionate and matter-of-fact as though he had been sitting comfortably at the end of the day in front of his own fireplace.

Today's Thought

The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished. —II Peter 2:9.

* * *

It is advantageous that the gods should be believed to attend to the affairs of man; and the punishment for evil deeds, though sometimes late, is never fruitless. —Pliny the Elder.

Texan Claims State Can Decide Election

LONGVIEW, Aug. 24. (U.P.) — County Judge Merritt Gibson, who initiated the free elector movement and who was one of the regular state delegates at the Chicago Democratic convention, claimed today that Texas can probably control the outcome of the national election in November.

"Since it is unlikely that Roosevelt will have the necessary 266 electoral votes without Texas, we can give the other Democratic states the choice of giving up the fourth term and retaining their patronage or of losing both by voting vainly for the national nominees," he said.

Gibson said that Sen. Byrd of Virginia was his choice for president.

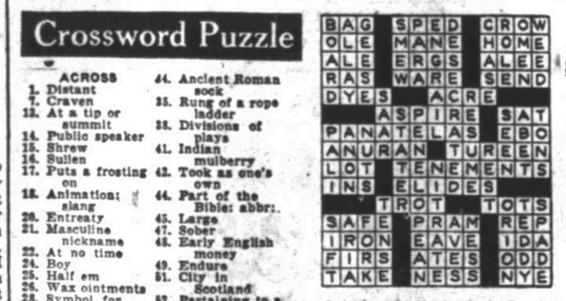

"Texas can achieve the election of the first southern president since the Civil war," he declared.

The strategy outlined by Gibson was the threat to elect Dewey by throwing the election into the House of Representatives if Roosevelt electors would not switch their votes to Byrd in the electoral college.

ANONYMOUS THANKS

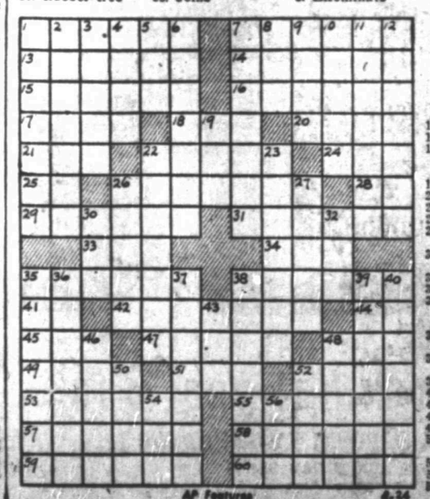

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 24 (U.P.)—An out-of-town couple found refuge from the famed 1938 hurricane in the Union hospital. Now they have expressed their gratitude by donating a special $1,500 orthopedic table to the hospital, under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous.

Daily Market Reports

Stock Market

STOCKS LIMP LOWER

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—The stock market, with scattered exceptions limped into lower territory today without being given much of a liquidating push.

While issues with good peace prospects did better than others that may face reconversion difficulties, bidding for these was on the timid side and few were able to make any notable progress.

Rails drooped, from the opening on, holders seemingly suffering a belated chill over the anti-trust suit against 47 roads. Steels and motors also were down fractions to a point or more. In the final hour extreme declines were reduced in most cases.

Bendix contested the move by touching a top for 1944. Resistant were Goodyear, American Can and Cerro de Pasco. Casualties were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Briggs Mfg., Standard Oil (N. J.), Philip Morris and International Harvester.

Smiths And Johnsons Top Jones In Navy

DETROIT, Aug. 24 (U.P.) — The "Smiths" keep up with the "Joneses" in the Navy — in fact, they stand out ahead.

Every 115th man or woman sounds off "Smith" in a cross-section Navy roll of the nation, according to the Detroit naval office. Statistical accounts show 21,476 "Smiths" out of 2,474,502 officers and men. And the "Johnsons" top the "Joneses" with 15,045 against 11,035.

Only three "Bluejackets" are shown in the Navy roster—believe it or not.

WPB Shakeup

"I have been aware of some dissension within the War Production board. I had hoped it would disappear. I have accepted your judgment in other things. I must accept it in this matter.'

Former GE President

Wilson, former president of the General Electric company, joined the War Production board at the President's request about two years ago to devote himself particularly to aircraft and shipping programs. He has tried previously to resign and return to private life but each time Mr. Roosevelt asked him to stay.

He renewed his request to leave last Saturday, he said in his letter dated yesterday, but the President asked him to remain until Germany capitulated.

"Since Saturday when you issued your public statement regarding Mr. Nelson's trip to China and your request that I assume direction of the War Production board," Wilson wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "there has been renewed circulation in the press and over the radio of stories to the effect that because of my former position as president of the General Electric company, from which company I resigned when I joined the War Production board, I am opposed to reconversion. These statements, like many similar statements that have appeared in recent months, were, in my opinion, inspired by subordinate officials of the board connected with the personal staff of Mr. Nelson. Many of my immediate staff and I have presented to Mr. Nelson urgent requests that these individuals be forced to discontinue their unfair attacks and criticisms of members of the organization."

NELSON EXPLAINS THE CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson was disclosed today to have told Senate investigators that Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell complained of manpower shortages on the eve of a recent cutback in airplane production that released thousands of workers for other jobs.

Although acknowledging the need of men to meet expanded requirements of specialized items, Nelson said in his testimony last week before the Senate War Investigating committee that virtually all critical munitions programs "are being met."

He added that the remaining problems would not be solved "by letting loose a blunderbuss against the whole manpower situation or by general edicts and broad limitations on the use of labor."

Nelson Testifies

Testifying the airplane cutback would solve the manpower situation in the forging industry completely, the war production chief said the Army had anticipated the cutback for three months.

He added that when Somervell, chief of the Army's services of supply, was talking with War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes "about the great shortage of manpower, and so forth, I told General Somervell, 'you have an airplane cutback coming soon, probably next week.'"

Asked by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) how he reconciled the manpower shortage statement and the subsequent cutback announcement, Nelson replied:

"We just don't, sir."

Kept In Dark, Claim

Release of the testimony also disclosed a statement from Nelson that he is not kept informed as to military reserves at the front.

While his testimony was being made available on Capitol Hill, Nelson spent an hour with President Roosevelt in a farewell conference before his departure on a special mission to China.

Nelson's side of his row with the Army was released by the Senate War Investigating committee today as the aftermath of earlier publication of testimony by Maj. Gen. Lucious D. Clay, Army materiel director, placing primary blame on manpower shortages for big deficits in heavy ammunition and other items.

Further Decline Seen

"The decline in employment," Nelson told the committee last week, "must be recognized as a decline in labor requirements even though there is an urgent demand for about 100,000 workers in direct war production and another 100,000 in sustaining civilian production.

"Our own estimate is that overall manpower requirements will go down by at least another 300,000 by the end of the year, even though both Germany and Japan continue at war with us and all our production schedules remain in effect.

Nelson said flatly that war production "does not need more than 100,000" of the 700,000 workers already released from munitions industries, that war plants could not employ the 700,000 and that the millions still needed at their war jobs "should be given the assurance that civilian jobs will be available when the war production eases up."

Postwar Military

of the House Military Affairs committee.

May and other members, however, said they did not want to take up the general subject of postwar military policy until after the November elections so it could be kept out of politics.

Wadsworth agreed with Rep. Leslie C. Trends, Ill., Republican whip, that if the people react against a strong peacetime military army, it will be the duty of Congress to take the lead in moulding public opinion against such a feeling.

"The people are in a mood now to maintain an adequate military force after the war, but that mood may change when the shooting is over," Arends said. "The longer Congress waits the harder the job will be."

Chairman J. Buell Snyder, D., Pa., of the special committee on war appropriations said it was "human nature" to have a letdown after a long struggle and that the solution would be to act before that feeling sets in.

Balkan Nations 'On Way Out'

was periled from the north as well and in an entirely untenable position.

Slavs And Greece Next?

Yugoslavia and Greece, where patriot armies has waked long and bitter guerrilla war against the Nazi yoke, were in positions for quick liberation.

Russian armies driving swiftly toward the heart of Romania signaled the punch which finally blew down the house of cards which deposed Premier-Marshall Antonescu had built in Romania.

The Germans announced Romania's capitulation had been expected. The Berlin correspondent of Aftonbladet of Stockholm cabled that "German counter measures can be expected." This Swedish report said Berlin circles blamed Romania's move on the Russian offensive, Turkey's break with Germany, Budgaria's peace overtures and the sustained Allied bombings of the Ploesti oil installations.

Germans Told of Armistice

In midafternoon, Berlin broadcast an official DNB dispatch giving the Germans their first news on the Romanian armistice insisting that King Mihai's new government actually was a "Communist regime." The broadcast said rioting had broken out in Romania.

The Germans were plainly in panic as the Balkan crackup seemed to be repreating the history of 1918 when the collapse of Bulgaria shocked the kaiser's generals into a quick plea for peace.

Berlin announced the formation of a "Romanian national government" but it was not clear whether this regime of King Mihai's government controlled Bucharest. Nor was it clear who controlled the Bucharest radio, which announced a curfew from 8 p. m. to 5 a. m. and ordered all civil officials to report for duty.

Dominant Factor Military

As in 1918, however, the dominant factor was military more than political. Two Soviet army groups driving toward Galati and Ploesti knocked out Romania's defenses.

Even before Romania's announced acceptance of armistice terms, reports reaching London told of German troop withdrawals from southern Greece in apparent preparation for a large scale contraction of their lines in southeastern Europe.

The Germans appeared to be moving quickly to control the situation in Bulgaria where Turkish reports, a few hours before Mihai's capitulation, pictured the Bulgar government as still trying to get peace without sacrificing territory taken from prostrate Greece and Yugoslavia.

War May End Soon

Franz Basch, leader of Germans in Hungary, ordered formation of an armed German home protection organization, the Swiss reported.

Some optimistic prophets in London said there was a good chance for the European war to end before Oct. 1 on the basis of the Romanian switch. In 1918, Bulgaria was the German keystone in the Balkans, just like Romania was in this war. The Allied offensive through Salonika knocked out Bulgaria in 1918 just as the German situation on the western front became critical. On Sept. 29, 1918, Bulgaria signed an armistice and the German high command decided to sue for peace. The appeal went to President Wilson and 42 days after Bulgaria quit, the war was over.

Nazis Killing Romanians

Moscow announced German troops on the eastern front were killing Romanian forces seeking to pull away from the two-fisted Russian offensive driving through northeastern Romania and Bessarabia toward Bucharest, less than 179 miles away.

A German military broadcast heard in London said the Romanian Third army was fighting beside the Russians. The Swiss radio said other Romanian troops had marched into Transylvania, wrested from Romania in 1940 by Hitler and given to Hungary.

Romania's about-face, disclosed by young King Mihai in a broadcast announcing formation of a new government headed by Gen. Konstantin Satanescu, knocked a major prop from Hitler's Balkan position.

Radio Nazi Recourse

The Germans, frantically trying to repair the damage, termed the capitulation the act of a "clique of traitors" and announced formation of a "national government"—presumably a puppet regime—around which Berlin broadcasts asked the Romanian people to rally.

"Obey only its orders and not those of the traitors," urged Barlin in a broadcast beamed to Romania.

The Swiss radio, relaying Bucharest dispatches, said Marshal Ion Antonescu, deposed Romanian premier, had fled to Germany—a report indicating he may have been chosen to head the pro-German government.

Apparently, one effect of the capitulation would be to bar Germany from Romania's productive Ploesti oil region, where Hitler once obtained one-third of the supply needed to operate his war machines. Allied bombing, however, has reduced this flow to a comparative trickle.

Germany also found large numbers of her forces in the midst of a hostile country with uncertain communications to the rear.

Politically, Hitler's Balkan edifice was cracking badly. Bulgaria has been edging toward peace for at least a week. After the Romanian announcement, the cabinet of puppet Slovakia reported "important decisions" were made in an "urgent" meeting.

Hungary is still tightly in the Nazi grip, but the effect there was expected to be electric—especially since King Mihai declared conquest of Transylvania a major Romanian objective.

Without specific mention of Romania's shift, the Moscow radio shortly after the Bucharest announcement called upon the German people to "surrender immediately" adding:

"This is the eve of victory for the Allied nations."

In World War I, only 41 days elapsed between the time the first German satellite—Bulgaria—ceased fighting and the date of Germany's own signing of an armistice.

Peace Terms Undefined

It was widely assumed that the Romanian capitulation was based on Russian terms offered early in the summer after communication with the British and United States governments.

These terms never were disclosed. Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons Aug. 2 called them "generous." Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, reaffirmed on the eve of the Russian entrance into northeastern Romania last spring Moscow's claims to Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, taken from Romania in 1940, but gave assurance Russia had no other territorial claims or any intention of interfering with Romanian affairs.

The Bucharest announcements said the Allied governments had guaranteed Romania's independence, had promised non-interference with internal affairs, and had recognized "the injustice" of Germany's award of Transylvania to Hungary at a Vienna arbitration conference in 1940.

War Contribution Restricted

King Mihai's proclamation summoned his armed forces to the side of Allied armies as a cobelligerent but by all indications Romania's main offensive intentions will be directed against Hungary to recover Transylvania.

Transylvania, long a disputed region, was cut from Hungary and ceded to Romania, then one of the Allied nations, at the end of the last war.

The new premier, Konstantin Sanatescu, in a broadcast to the Romanian people immediately following the king's announcement, proclaimed the Antonescu "dictatorship" had been "cast aside."

Sanatescu pledged a "democratic regime in which public freedom and rights of the citizens will be guaranteed and respected." In his first decrees he closed concentration camps and turned loose virtually all political prisoners.

Blood Segregation Heatedly Demanded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (U.P.)—Rep. John E. Rankin, D., Miss., protested in the House today against a reported move by the CIO and other groups to stop the segregation of blood being sent to American fighting forces overseas.

Facing a circular which he said was distributed by the CIO National Labor congress and National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Rankin told the House it urged everyone to set aside Labor day to raise their voices against blood segregation.

"There are many southern white troops with the Allies chasing the Nazis across France," he said, "and I resent having the blood of other races pumped into their veins when they are helpless to do anything about it. I protest in the name of the white people of the United States."

Italians Requested To Intercept Nazis

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (AP)—The United Nations radio at Algiers said today that Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in Italy, had called upon patriot forces operating in northern Italy to halt or destroy the "considerable number" of German troops attempting to flee from southern France.

The broadcast, reported by United States government monitors, quoted Alexander as saying air reconnaissance had disclosed a general movement of German troops from southern French fighting zones toward the Italian border.

Fighting In France

S. Third army had pushed 15 miles beyond Sens, 62 miles southeast of liberated Paris, toward the German frontier, 150 miles away.

Much Of France Free

The two forces apparently were less than 200 miles from a junction isolating all southern France—but already much of southern France is free.

In Algiers broadcast said Bordeaux, big French port on the South Atlantic coast, had been captured by a combined force of Americans driving south from the Loire and French Maquis who had marched north from the Spanish border.

Patch's Seventh army, continuing its lightning pace northwest past captured Marseille, drove into the Rhone valley, capturing Salon, only 20 miles from Arles at the mouth of the river.

Patriots Hold Lyon Area

French patriots were reported in control of the entire Lyon region, the great southern metropolis on the Rhone in southern France, and at Perpignan, just north of the Spanish border on the Gulf of Lion.

Paris and Marseille, the first two cities of France, had been captured in a single 24-hour period.

The Second French armored division and some American units were reported to have entered Paris. American, British, Canadian and Allied units rode roughshod over parts of two Nazi armies cornered below the Seine.

Yanks Gain 25 Miles

With a swiftness indicating the completeness of the German rout, the American Third army thrust 25 miles northwestward along the south bank of the Seine toward the sea and captured Elbeuf, one of the chief ferry points where Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluge had been trying to rescue his broken forces.

This thrust—to within 30 miles of the mouth of the Seine and only nine miles from Rouen—narrowed to disastrous size the pocket into which the splintered divisions of the German 7th and 15th armies were caught.

This and other advances cut the pocket down to half its former size.

Nazis Report U. S. Setback

The German communique declared American forces which had crossed the Seine northwest of Paris at La Roche-Guyon, near Mantes, had been thrown back across the river. Allied headquarters, however, gave out no news concerning this spearhead which was in a position to strike northward toward the Somme battlefields of the first World War and the rocket coast.

The Germans also declared Americans had suffered a reverse northeast of Fontainbleau where they had crossed the Seine southeast of Paris.

On the contrary, supreme headquarters announced a 15-mile advance from Sens to the southeast and beyond Montargris, 30 miles southwest of Sens. The Loing river had been crossed.

South of Paris the Americans had a front 40 miles broad pointed toward Nancy, Strassbourg, Belfort — a string of former French strongholds facing the Rhine.

Joint Attack Expected

The Americans who reached the Swiss frontier presumably were the force which took Grenoble. This force apparently was headed for a junction with Patton's army and a joint attack on the Germans' west wall.

Advices from Paris said a French soldier of legendary fame, Brig. Gen. Jacques Le Clerc, headed the troops as they joined patriots in the city on orders from Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

Charles Collingwood, CBS correspondent, radioed from the front near Paris that Gen. Bradley decided to act when an armistice negotiated by the Germans with the French forces of the interior expired Wednesday. It was disclosed here that Bradley had ordered certain U. S. units to enter the city with the French armor.

Dashing Cavalry Officer

Le Clerc, a dashing cavalry officer who escaped from the Germans after the fall of France to fight in the African campaign, is known as Gen. Charles de Gaulle's "right arm." LeClerc is not his real name, but a nom de guerre assumed to protect his family in France.

Hal Boyle, Associated Press correspondent with the American armies driving beyond Sens toward the German border, said in a field dispatch that the Americans could have entered Paris at will during the last few days, but that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's forces were more concerned with the task of chopping the Germans to pieces.

The Germans were reported using their armistice with the FFI to withdraw their forces which had been battling west and south of Paris, and the order to occupy the city was issued.

Roughly one third of France, 212,569 square miles, has been liberated by the Allied armies and the FFI and the last vestige of the Vichy government of Pierre Laval has disappeared as a political force.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Finnish Peace Rumor Revived

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 24 (AP) — The Finnish minister to Sweden, G. A. Gripenberg, suddenly departed by air today for Helsinki in a journey obviously connected with efforts to get Finland out of the war.

Reliable quarters said, however, that "As far as we know, the Finnish government has made no attempt directly to contact Moscow up to Thursday morning."

It was Gripenberg's second trip to Helsinki in two weeks.

Romanian Effect Watched

Opinion here was that Romania's exit from the war might hasten action by Baron Mannerheim, president and marshal of Finland.

Finnish sources said the old leader had been "clearing the decks for an armistice." Reactionaries, Germans and the former Finnish minister to the United States Hjalmar Procope were reported taking advantage of inactivity by pushing a "go slow" propaganda campaign regarding peace.

Raids Hit Reich

ed the channel skies during the morning.

Mosquito bombers raised the 24 hour bag of German tanks, barges and vehicles destroyed or damaged to around 1,000 as the Allied air offensive knocked out two of the Germans' crossing points over the Seine near Elbeuf.

With Allied ground forces within 150 miles of the German border, air attacks on the Reich itself can make an increasingly important contribution to the immediate progress of the campaign.

OIL PLANTS BLASTED IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

ROME, Aug. 24 (AP)—A strong force of heavy bombers, probably numbering 750, attacked Czecho-Slovak oil refineries at Kolin, 40 miles east of Prague, and at Pardubice, 55 miles east of Prague today.

The airfield at Pardubice, the railyard at Vinkovici on the main rail line from Zagreb to Belgrade in Yugoslavia, the rail bridge at Szeged, Hungary, and the Ferrara rail bridge over the Po river in northern Italy also were bombed.

It was the second bombing of the bridge over the Po in two days.

Enemy opposition was on a smaller scale than on the past two days when 102 Nazi planes were shot down over Austria.

The U. S. 15th Air force chewed off another hunk of Luftwaffe's fast dwindling power in Central Europe yesterday, destroyed 45 enemy planes in the course of sweeping raids which included a heavy attack upon the Vienna area.

The battle of attrition over Central Europe thus has cost the Nazis at least 102 planes in the last two days, in addition to 100 reported destroyed recently in raids on airdromes in Hungary and Yugoslavia.

Pacifists Roughed, Eight Men Charged

EMPORIA, Kan., Aug. 24 (U.P.)—Eight men in Reno and McPherson counties today faced charges of simple assault and battery as a result of the alleged hazing of several conscientious objectors aboard a bus bound for the Fort Leavenworth, Kan., induction center last week.

Four of the men were from Reno county, the other four from McPherson county, Everett E. Steerman, Lyon county attorney, said. Steerman said the defendants could report of their own volition between now and 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The conscientious objectors allegedly received crude hair cuts, administered by pocket knives, during their ride with the draftees to Fort Leavenworth.

Cotton Loan Rate Raised By Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (AP)—The Senate amended its surplus property disposal bill today to raise from 92½ to 95 per cent of parity the 1944 loan rate on cotton.

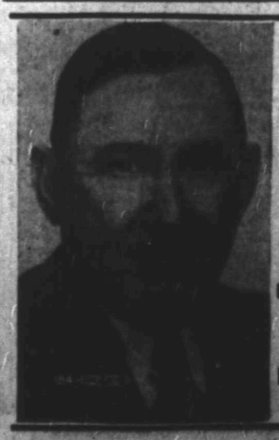

The amendment was offered by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) as one of a series of proposals upon which he is working to force up cotton prices.

It was accepted without objection although Senator Johnson (D-Colo) said he was not clear as to its relation "to the subject of surplus property."

Earlier, the banking committee approved the increase.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was born June 13, 1887.

Nazis Fail To 'Break' French

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 24, (AP) — If the people of Provence are typical of all of France, it is certain that the French have come through four years of German occupation as a vigorous people with confidence in the future and a determination to make the fourth republic something that will restore French prestige in the world.

Not only have the ubiquitous resistance forces waged a full-scale war against the invaders but they have taken over the local governments and have them working smoothly. They are maintaining order throughout the liberated territory in southern France.

On the surface, at least, there is little to support the oft-heard prediction that liberation of France would be followed by civil war.

French Are United

The French, at the moment, seem united as they never were in peacetime, and class bitterness, which marked the days of the people's front, seems much less now. Hardship apparently has made Frenchmen more tolerant of one another.

The anticipated clash between De Gaulle's provisional government and the resistance leadership inside France likewise has not materialized as yet. French interior force leaders here invariably say they recognize De Gaulle as the man who galvanized the French into continuing the war and as head of the French government.

"Very Much To Left"

While the working classes seem to form the backbone of the French forces of the interior, there are also many aristocrats, professional and business men in them.

The bulk of the resistance people expect France's government to be "very much to the left" but not Communist.

They say, however, that the Communists were the most zealous and most effective of all the elements in the resistance movement.

"The proof is in the number of Communists who were shot—120,000 of them," a flashing-eyed, pistol-toting girl fighter said.

Carol Overjoyed At Action Of Romania

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 24. (AP)—Former King Carol received joyfully today the news that his country was out of the war. When he spoke the name of his son, King Mihai, it was with warm emotion.

With the points in King Mihai's proclamation before him, Carol said he was "very happy that my son listened to the real sentiments of the people and has pulled Romania out of the war, that Romania ceases being an enemy of the nations which always have been her friends."

The Hawaiian Islands were formed by lava shooting up from a crack in the bottom of the ocean, three miles down.

Joint Aerial Force May Police Germany

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Allied air leaders were reported today to be planning an occupation air force, possibly of 15,000 bombers and fighters to work with ground troops which will be sent into Germany to preserve order when the Reich capitulates.

Most indications are that for ground operation purposes Germany will be divided into three spheres of influence, controlled respectively by the United States, Britain and Russia.

On the air side, a joint, combined setup without separate spheres of influence is believed likely because the air distances in Germany are small and because pooling of the three nation's differing air resources probably would be more advantageous.
