Jap Note To Soviets Proposes Peace

On eve of an important election, Ed Crump, head of the dominant political machine of Tennessee, relaxed by taking some 50,000 friends for a day in an amusement park in Memphis. Here (straw-hatted) he rides on a roller coaster with a pretty guest. Election returns late Thursday night seemed to be bearing out his pre-election forecasts of victory.

Kentucky Political Battle Smokes With Charges And Counter-Accusations

Excise Levies Given Study

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Treasury experts are studying the question of whether excise taxes should be continued or substitute taxes devised, Roswell Magill, acting secretary of the treasury, indicated at his press conference today.

The excise taxes—called "nuisance" taxes by many people who will have to pay them—will expire June 30, 1939, unless re-enacted. They fall on such widely used products as gasoline, automobiles, radios and refrigerators. The manufacturer pays the tax and in turn passes it along to the consumer.

President Awaited

Magill said no recommendations had yet been drawn, that President Roosevelt and Secretary Morgenthau would probably take up the problem jointly when they returned to Washington.

Treasury records disclosed that for the fiscal years 1937 excise taxes brought in $450,000,000, of which $200,000,000 came from sales of gasoline.

Magill stressed the latitude of current tax studies and said the treasury was likely to study any tax proposal which was "seriously advanced."

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 4.—Renewed charges that public funds are being used for political purposes in Kentucky came today from rival Democratic campaign camps.

The New Deal's champion, Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley, up for re-nomination in Saturday's voting, said Gov. A. B. Chandler, his opponent, had failed to keep his 1935 promise to reduce state expenses.

"Instead," the senator shouted to a home-town crowd at Paducah, "he has increased bureaus and added hundreds of persons to the state payroll for political purposes."

Charges Fly Thickly

At Bowling Green, Gov. "Happy" Chandler charged Barkley with "using relief funds to get himself elected."

"The other day," Chandler said, "I got letters showing where he (Barkley) tried to assess a relief worker making $22 a month for his campaign."

Chandler said Barkley had forgotten the people of the state during his 26 years at Washington. "Why, I know more people in this county by accident than Barkley does on purpose," Chandler said.

The senate campaign expenditures committee issued a statement Tuesday charging federal and state funds were being used by candidates for the senate nomination. The investigation is to continue with the possibility that the successful candidate in the November election may find a hearing awaiting him in Washington before he takes his seat.

Bird Lights On High Tension Wires; Raging Fire Results

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 4. (AP)—A bird was blamed today for a raging brush fire that destroyed 1,200 acres of watershed covering and was controlled after a 16 hour battle by 400 persons.

C. S. Bagley, fire dispatcher for the U. S. forest service, declared the bird had alighted on two high-voltage wires, causing electricity to arc and that sparks had ignited patches of tinder-dry sagebrush and grass in the vicinity, 16 miles north of here, near Farmington, Utah.

Mexican Bachelors Can Thank Jurist For Former Liberty

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—A law imposing a special tax on bachelors, adopted several months ago by the Tamaulipas state legislature, has been declared unconstitutional by Magistrate Jesus Garza Cabello of the supreme court.

He passed the legislature's efforts to increase the birth rate but ruled the Mexican citizen can not be forced to assume a particular civil status.

ROGERS' HORSE TO AMARILLO

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 4. (AP)—Soapsuds, Will Rogers' favorite horse, will come out of retirement to appear at Amarillo, Texas, this month in a pageant dramatizing the rope-twirling humorist's life, his widow revealed today.

O'Daniel's Hill Billies Are In Demand In Another State

FORT WORTH, Aug. 4. (AP)—Frank C. Sibley of Detroit, Mich., was in Fort Worth today trying to hire the W. Lee O'Daniel hill billy band for use in a Michigan gubernatorial campaign.

Calling at the O'Daniel residence Sibley introduced himself as state chairman of the Roscoe Conkling Fitch campaign.

Fitch, he said, already has adopted O'Daniel's campaign methods and much of his platform, particularly his plea for honesty and simplicity in government based on the Ten Commandments and common sense.

Learning that O'Daniel and his musicians were out on a vacation trip, Sibley returned to Detroit but said he would be back.

Coppers Get Education

A 35-year-old Big Spring woman Thursday taught police new methods in shoplifting.

She was arrested by Carl Francis and W. J. Tucker of the police department at a down-town grocery store after store employes called officers. They noticed she was walking peculiarly.

At police headquarters she was questioned by Bill Mabry, police identifications officer, and other officers and was "mugged" and fingerprinted. They became suspicious of her walk and finally asked, "What is that you're carrying?"

She turned her back to them and removed a four-pound can of pineapple from between her legs. She had carried it from the store that way.

It was slightly bent.

R. C. Smith, About 62, Floyd County Man, Illness Victim

R. C. Smith, about 62, of Floydada, died in a hospital here at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night after a lengthy illness. He had been in the hospital about a month.

His body was removed to Sanders Funeral home for preparation for burial.

It was indicated Thursday night funeral services would be conducted at Floydada this afternoon and burial would be there.

Names of survivors were not available immediately.

Unpredictable Disney Reaches Out And Gets What It Wants

DISNEY, Okla., Aug. 4 (AP)—Disney, booming town of 1,000 beside the Grand river damsite, wanted a postoffice, so civic-minded residents went out to get it.

They began writing letters—thousands of them. They answered all the advertisements in the newspapers and magazines.

Shortly after Disney launched its ambitious project, the rural mail carrier staggered under bales of literature extolling the merits of frog raising and horse training, music by mail, etc.

They got the postoffice.

Two South Plains Counties In List Not Reported In Returns

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—All but eight of Texas' 254 counties have reported official returns of the July 23 Democratic primary, Vann M. Kennedy, secretary of the party's state executive committee, said today.

The counties which had not reported were Cochran, Crosby, Dewitt, Erath, Hill, Leon, Moore and Ochiltree.

Youth's Attempt To Steal Is Discouraged By Fat Woman

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Plump Mrs. Rosina Aioria, 47, knew how to use her 200 pounds to advantage.

She told police that when she caught Thomas Shearer, 18, in her candy store hiding $25 worth of cigarettes under his coat, he poked her in the eye. So she threw him down and sat on him—hard.

The 106-pound youth promptly fainted.

Bulgaria's Right To Arm Gets Recognition Of Italians

ROME, Aug. 4 (AP)—Italy today joined the Balkan entente in recognizing Bulgaria's right to rearm.

Approval was informal, consisting of a bulletin issued by the official Informazione Diplomatica. It proclaimed Rome's "lively satisfaction" over the agreement of the entente members—Yugoslavia, Rumania, Greece and Turkey—relieving Bulgaria of the arms limitation imposed by the post-war Neuilly treaty.

Closeness In Tennessee Balloting Revealed

Crump-Favored Candidates In Slight Lead

See-Saw Battle Sees Browning Take Early Lead Then Drop Behind At Midnight

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4.—A slowly tabulated city vote began late tonight to swing Tennessee's Democratic primary lead in favor of three candidates backed by the strong organization of National Committeeman E. H. Crump, Memphis political leader.

After a seesaw battle on the face of early rural returns, Prentice Cooper of Shelbyville moved out in front of Gov. Gordon Browning, seeking re-nomination, and Tom Stewart forged ahead of junior Sen. George L. Berry and Rep. Ridley Mitchell in the race for the United States senate. Crump's candidate for the public utilities commission had a substantial lead.

National Bearing Lacking

The election was regarded as virtually without national significance from the New Deal standpoint, as the campaign was fought largely on personalities developing from a break between Crump and Browning. The governor had Crump's support two years ago but they split later.

Returns from 1,210 Precincts out of 2,271 at midnight gave:

For U. S. senate—Stewart 50,964; Senator Berry 44,962; Representative Mitchell 38,146.

For governor (1,283 precincts)—Cooper 86,990; Governor Browning 82,195.

For utilities commissioner (1,200 precincts)—Hudson 61,428; W. H. Turner 37,912.

One election day fatality was reported, but officials said it had no connection with the balloting. Alton Richardson, 20, was cut fatally at Englewood during a street fight.

Nothing Backward About Gotham's Reception Of "East Is West" Corrigan; Intrepid Ocean Flier Flabergasted

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Douglas Corrigan, the daring young man of the flying machine—a 900 bargain that rumbled across the Atlantic from here to Ireland last month instead of proceeding properly to California—came home all agrin today to a roaring welcome that was but a meek prelude of what is ahead.

He arrived conventionally by liner—a flip little, tough little flier with a manner that delighted not only the large fond hearts of fellow Irishmen, but the others, Germans, Jews, Italians and all the rest, who had waited hours on the pier to scream a few greetings ahead of the official reception tomorrow—which includes a parade up Broadway.

Along that route of bedlam stenographers, clerks and executives downtown in the Wall Street district and on uptown were readying everything, tearing up telephone books, pulling out the ticker tape and generally preparing to loose a gigantic shower of white.

The hails of his welcomers reached the happy little aviator long before the S. S. Manhattan arrived at her pier. Far down the bay Brooklyn's Irish delegation turned up aboard the yacht Celtic Circle, shouting halloes.

Another group went out on the river steamer state of Delaware.

HUGHES (REMEMBER?) INVITED

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Howard Hughes—remember him? — has been invited to participate in the homecoming celebration tomorrow for Douglas Corrigan, the lad who mad-ocean-flying look simple.

"You who gallantly made the greatest flight of all time," the mayor's reception committee telegraphed Hughes, "might be happy to help us honor the little Irishman who landed in Ireland."

taking along a band of bag-pipers to pipe Corrigan home.

After the liner passed quarantine and started through the narrows a great fleet of nondescript vessels sent up a series of melancholy roars.

Civilian and army airplanes stunted high above; and Corrigan from the Manhattan's bridge threshed his arms in greeting.

At the pier, when at last she pulled in, a massed crowd roared a welcome, with screams of "Hi Corrigan! Yay Corrigan!"

Many of the Irishman's admirers waited for him at the hotel where he planned to spend the night. There, 30 patrolmen were on hand to keep some sort of order.

Corrigan, because of the crush of those who swarmed over the Manhattan, was not able immediately to leave the ship.

He had to be escorted back below to his cabin, where members of the official reception committee stood guard at his door.

Awed By Welcome

Beforehand, as he stood for a split second, free of admirers, he looked about him and murmured in awe:

"Gee, I never thought it would be like this for me."

Moscow Attitude Encouraging But Conditions Set

Negotiation Agreeable In Case Japan Will Withdraw And Recognize Soviet Lines

(Special To The Avalanche)

TOKYO, Aug. 5. (Friday)—Japan today offered Soviet Russia compromise peace terms for ending border warfare that holds the threat of an additional major conflict in the troubled Far East.

(In Moscow the Soviet government accepted the proposal on condition that Japanese troops withdraw from the disputed border area and that Japan recognize maps on which Russia bases her claim to the territory.)

Mutual Withdrawal Suggested

Reliable sources said the proposal suggested mutual withdrawal from the battle zone on the frontier of Russian Siberia, joins those of Japanese Korea and Manchoukuo, scene of bitter fighting for the past five days in culmination of tension that started July 15.

Then Japanese troops bombarded Changkufeng hill which Soviet forces had started to fortify July 11. It created the most serious incident of almost four years intermittent frontier friction between the Soviet union and Japan.

Buffer State Favored

The disputed territory would remain a neutral zone pending settlement of the boundary which the Soviets assert already is definitely marked by a Russo-Chinese agreement of June 26, 1886, but which Japan claims is hers.

A Japanese army communique said the battle zone, 140 miles southwest of Vladivostok, Soviet Pacific seaport, was comparatively quiet "although occasionally Soviet artillery directed shots at Japanese positions."

The Japanese said the Korean village of Kojo still was under sporadic bombardment, however.

Bombardment Continued

(Eye-witness accounts from Korea reported that Soviet troops had retreated from the battle zone but that their guns were continuing to bombard Japanese positions Thursday.)

Next Moves Are Left To Japan

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Aug. 4.—Soviet Russia informed Japan tonight she could have peace on the Manchoukuoan border but could not dictate the terms.

In conditional acceptance of Japanese proposals for diplomatic settlement of the dispute, Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff told Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu that if Japanese soldiers got back where they belong Soviet military activity in the disputed area would end automatically. (Tokyo dispatches said Japan suggested mutual withdrawal from the area.)

Russian Tone Significant

Litvinoff assured Tokyo's representative that the Soviet government always was willing to discuss peaceful settlement of frontier disputes; but any such discussion must be based on recognition of Soviet boundaries as established in existing treaties.

Japan's conquest of Manchuria, he emphasized, was no valid reason for altering the Russian-Manchoukuoan border.

The tone of Litvinoff's reply was regarded in foreign circles as an indication that Moscow not only was convinced of the legality of its claim to the disputed area, but confident of the ability of the red army to repel any attack on the

Wallace Rapped For Policies

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Aug. 4—J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, today termed as "unwise" and "foolish" the acreage control program of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and advocated the domestic allotment plan in an address here.

"The fight is on between me and Secretary Wallace," said McDonald. "He doesn't have the interest of the farmers at heart. All that Mr. Wallace wants to do is build up a political machine."

The Texas commissioner said he opposed the acreage control program back in 1933 when it was first being proposed.

I Told You So

"I told Mr. Wallace then that these ideas of his would increase foreign production of cotton and result in harm to our southern cotton growers, but Secretary Wallace said 'No, that foreign production of cotton would not be a result.'

"But you know and I know what the actual results are. During the past five years the secretary of agriculture has endangered the future of American agriculture by his ideas that he could have prosperity through a policy of scarcity.

"The adoption and administration of Mr. Wallace's impracticable ideas have done more to retard President Roosevelt's recovery program that any other one thing. Foreign countries have increased cotton production around 7,000,000 bales and have gained foreign markets formerly enjoyed by American cotton growers."

Commissioner McDonald scored Secretary Wallace's recently announced plan to send two assistants into the cotton and wheat belts "to make speeches opposing the domestic allotment plan for agriculture."

Duke And Duchess Of Windsor Happy, Says Opera Singer

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan opera soprano, said today she had never seen "such a happy, perfectly delightful couple," as the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

She and her husband, Frank Chapman, returned to America on the Italian liner Conte di Savoia which transported the former British monarch and his American wife from Genoa to Cannes.

Chapman said the duke "looks better and much younger" than he did in 1924 when he first met him.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 4 (AP)—Dr. Charles P. Gillmann, national president of World Vigilance, Inc., rented a large hotel ballroom to explain his 14-point program for "making the United States and the world safe for democracy." Then he invited industrialists and civic leaders.

Formally dressed, Dr. Gillmann appeared at the appointed hour, exhibited voluminous charts and gave a detailed address about the movement.

Slave Mammy's Eyes Mist With Happiness At Her Memory Of Old Days

By OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche Staff Writer

LOOKING back over more than 70 years of freedom a 104-year-old negro woman sat beside a negro Presbyterian church in Lubbock Thursday afternoon and said she preferred slavery.

Her gnarled hands fluttering proudly, "Aunt" Mariah Robinson recalled the days when she was "treated jus like one of the family" by her "marster and missus."

She spoke in syllables, her dim eyes apparently on the far-flung fields of a Georgia plantation and, later, on the ranch home of her young master and mistress, "General and Missus Bob Young," in Bosque county, Texas.

"Aunt Mariah," of Meridian, is visiting a daughter in Lubbock and is attending a convention of the Messiah Presbyterian church at Seventeenth street and Avenue B.

She has a seat of honor, a chair trimmed with lavender and white crepe paper, in recognition of her position as the oldest negro Presbyterian in Texas. She says she is the oldest resident of Bosque county. To her godchildren, of whom there are many in Meridian and their parents, she is "Mammy."

Few have lived as long or as varied a life as "Aunt Mariah," born a slave; remaining at the side of her bereaved mistress after the war in which her master was killed; wife of the first negro school teacher in Bosque; midwife; godmother; mother of 11 children, six of whom are now living; grandmother of 31, great-grandmother of 25, and great-great-grandmother of five.

Freedom Not Preferred

"I've lived a harder life since I was freed," she said. Asked in what manner her life had been harder, she said, "I wasn't able to educate my children like I wanted—and not having what I had been raised to have."

"My old marster in Monroe, Gawga, was Judge Hill. I was born into the family. I was allus a house negro," she said proudly.

"As soon as I got old enough to be able, I stayed right at the feet of my young Miss' Ida and when she wanted water or a hair brush, I got it. When I got older, she married Dr. Young's son of Kingston. He fought in the last battle for freedom of war. He got killed in Nashville, Tenn."

She explained that in the interval between her young mistress' marriage and the war, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Young had moved to Texas. She had been sent along to

Roosevelt Sends Message To Christian Endeavor Group

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 4 (AP)—A message of Christian hope from President Roosevelt was read today to 10,000 delegates attending the World Christian Endeavor union conference.

The message said:

"It is reassuring in a world in which greed, avarice and disregard of human rights are bringing disaster and despair to know that the Nazarene message is of vital force to millions.

"No single problem is unsolvable if men and nations ruled their lives according to the serman on the mount."

Nazi Spokesman Gives Attitude

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The Sudeten question involving Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Germanic inhabitants is Nazi Germany's touchstone of future foreign policy.

If the Czechoslovak government satisfies German demands for self-government of the Sudeten minority Nazi Germany will content herself with an economic imperialism that will make her the undisputed master of central and southeastern Europe.

If current negotiations between Sudeten leader Konrad Henlein and Premier Milan Hodza of Czechoslovakia prove a flop, Adolf Hitler is prepared to go the way of force, if necessary, to unite all Germans along the fringes of the reich with greater Germany.

Germany Would Risk War

A man high in Nazi party councils made these predictions.

"Supposing the Sudeten problem is not settled to Hitler's satisfaction," he was asked. "Is Germany ready even to risk a European war to gain his ends?"

"Absolutely," was the firm reply.

"Even this extreme possibility has been taken into account. But we hope and trust such a contingency will never arise. We count on the realistic sense of Great Britain and France.

"Nor would we ever start a war on behalf of the Sudetens. But if there should be a spontaneous uprising in that region (the part an appeal for aid were sent to us, we could not but rally to the support of our 3,500,000 brethren."

The man who predicted this as the path of Nazi policy, whose name must be withheld, sees the top Nazi leaders almost daily and writes most of the leading articles on foreign policy for his powerful newspaper.

"Our original idea was that all Germans, no matter under whose sovereignty now in the states bordering Germany, must in due time be reunited with the German empire," he said.

"Austrian Anschluss was the first great step toward the realization of this ideal. The Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia, Memel (part of Lithuania) and Danzig loomed as the next objectives.

"Konrad Henlein's program points a way, however, for Germans outside the reich to come under Hitler's protection without physical union of German districts outside Germany with the reich. In essence his program means the Sudetens could do within Czechoslovakia whatever they could do were they a part of Germany.

"Beyond that we also demand

Cooperative Health For Farmers, Plan

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 4. (AP)—V. R. Smitham, state director of the Farm Security administration, said today an agreement had been reached between the Texas State Medical society and the Farm Security administration under which cooperative health associations may be organized for farmers with low incomes.

Smitham said details and policies were outlined at a conference between the state medical society officials and state FSA officers in Fort Worth six weeks ago.

"Whether or not such associations are to be organized in any county is with FSA's county staff and the county medical society," Smitham explained. He added that a number of county associations were in the formative stage but said details were not ready for publication.

THE PWA JOKES

WONDER if PWA workers enjoy that series of jokes that has been going around about them since the administration got under way? We mean those weak, silly puns and jokes about the laborers needing shovels to lean against or wasting so much time.

Recently we have had occasion to watch PWA workers digging ditches and preparing a street for paving. Perhaps they haven't set any records for fast work but have you any idea what they eat for lunch? Well we know what several of them are eating because they sat under the trees outside our window to devour the hearty repast—two hunks of bread. Perhaps others ate meat and substantial foods but those we noticed were eating scanty meals.

We don't pity those men. They have jobs and as long as a man has a job we don't believe he is to be pitied. It's just that here after when we hear some one guffawing over a PWA joke we'll think of those men and their scant lunches. And we'll not laugh.

LIKES AND DISLIKES

RUTH MILLETT, who is a brilliant young woman, has set down a list of reasons why men do or do not like women. She believes men are not all alike—no matter how many disillusioned women swear they are. However, she admits they are all alike in some ways and that the technique that works with one man is almost sure to work with them all.

Result: The girl who knows how to attract one man attracts one after another. And the girl who can't get one man's attention fails time and time again. Miss Millett is carrying on from here:

"In short, we are willing to guarantee that the man you are interested in at the moment likes:

Good looking women.

Women who make a man feel both smart and handsome.

Women whose clothes fit where they should fit.

Women who walk like queens.

Women who shine with cleanliness.

Women who seem dependent on a man's strength.

Women whose voices are low and pleasant.

Women who are gracious in the role of either hostess or guest.

Women who smile with their whole face—not just with their lips.

Women who glow with health.

Women who are a little bit demanding.

Women who can make a man feel at ease.

AND IT IS a safe bet that this same man doesn't like:

Women who show their "ownership" before a man's friends or, worse yet, before an attractive woman.

Women who are so ill-at-ease that their self-consciousness is contagious.

Women who insist on worrying out loud.

Women who fill their conversation with the names of other men.

Women who never have anything good to say about another woman.

Women who are grimly ambitious for themselves.

Women who take the center of the stage.

Women who make themselves conspicuous, either by being loud or wearing loud clothes.

Women who punctuate their conversation with frequent profanity.

Women who tell questionable stories. (Though listening isn't barred.)

Women who drink too much.

Women who have a drab look.

Women who can take care of themselves—and never let a man forget it."

American Federation Of Labor Takes Solid Crack At CIO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Organizational warfare between the American Federation of Labor and the CIO broke out anew today when the federation announced its intention to weld American and Canadian merchant seamen into a single international union.

William Green, federation president, predicted the proposed merger would embrace 50,000 maritime workers within a year—double the present strength of the organization involved.

He aimed a verbal thrust at the CIO's national maritime union, already conducting an agressive membership campaign on the Atlantic and gulf coasts, declaring "there is no national or international organization of seamen in existence today."

Dorothy Anne Edits A Village Paper

VALSETZ, Ore., Aug. 4. (AP)—Ten-year-old Dorothy Anne Hobson decided this mountain village of 60 inhabitants needed a newspaper, so she started one.

Dorothy Hobson

Once a month she gets out a one-page edition, mimeographed in Portland by a printer whom she designates as "our publishers." The "Valsetz Star" sells at two cents.

There is a column of personal comment and two more interspersed with news of the world and nation, humor, poetry and local activities.

National news: "President Roosevelt is going to employ everybody and Anne Heydon (local postmistress) is helping him."

World affairs: "In geography, we are studying about France. They have many beautiful cathedrals and they owe us some money."

Local items: "We are going to study more about lumber and learn the difference between fir and hemlock and then we may raise the price of our paper."

Publisher's headache: "This may be our last issue as we are going broke. We have to pay out so much money. . ." Later: "We do not have to worry about going broke any more. Even after we said we were Republicans we sold lots of papers."

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Legal Loopholes Are Enumerated

(By The Associated Press).

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4. — The Mexican government appeared today to have established a precedent for delaying payment of indemnity in the expropriation of $400,000 of American and British-owned oil properties.

Dealing with seizure of American-owned farms since Aug. 30, 1927, the government replied last night to a United States proposal for arbitration on indemnities.

The reply refused arbitration; suggested discussion to determine value of the farm land; acknowledged the debt but held there was no legal obligation to make prompt or even deferred payment; said indemnification would be under Mexican law on the basis of the nation's ability to pay; insisted that inability to pay could not be accepted as a valid reason for delaying the program of social reform by which land is being turned back to the peasantry; said flatly these reforms would be continued.

Likely To Apply To Oil

The effect of this thesis upon the 17 foreign oil firms taken over by the government March 18 was a matter for speculation, but well informed persons believed that it would apply equally well to that question with little revision.

The Mexican note was handed to the American ambassador, Josephus Daniels, by Foreign Minister Eduardo Hay. It replied to a note by the United States on July 21 admitting Mexico's right to expropriate but insisting upon prompt payment.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull contended that international law provided for this, and said that in America payment was made at once in necessary expropriations for social reforms.

He said the owners valued at $16,132,311 the properties involved. Payment of indemnity on expropriated farms was suspended in 1930.

International Law Cited

Hay replied that no principle of international law "universally accepted in theory nor realized in practice" made obligatory immediate or even deferred compensation.

He said also that national stability depended on the land being returned to the peasants who work it and "could not be halted by the impossibility of immediate payment . . . to a small number of foreigners who seek only lucrative ends."

To do so in effect would be "special privileged treatment," because Mexicans have lost properties also and have not been paid, Hay said. He added that the United States "could not have postponed" reforms even had her economic position not permitted indemnity.

Tulia Woman Oldest Great-Grandmother, She Claims

TULIA, Aug. 4. (AP)—Mrs. George Metcalf, 48, who has lived on the same Swisher county farm 34 years, challenges other claimants to the title of youngest great-grandmother in the nation.

Born in Coquille, Ore., she married at 14, she became a mother at 15, a mother-in-law at 31 and a grandmother at 32.

Last Jan. 3, her first great grandchild was born, Carolyn Louise Tapley, the only daughter of an only daughter. The baby has 8 grand-parents living, and a grandfather, who also is an uncle by marriage. There is a step-grandfather, 34, and a great-great-grandmother on the father's side, Mrs. Etta McCune of Tulia.

Anniversary Of Declaration Of War By Britain Upon Germany Is Emphasized

LONDON, Aug. 4 (AP)—With wars and war talk claiming the anxious attention of much of the world, the London Press put unusual emphasis today on the 24th anniversary of Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany.

While energies of the country were concentrated on feverish preparations for a possible future armed conflict, newspapers devoted much space to anniversary editorials, feature articles, 1914 photographs and cartoons.

The Mirror asserted:

"What did they die for?

"Peace, we used to answer with the ring of pride in our voice for the heroes fallen in a great ideal.

"But how many of us can answer 'peace' today to that question?

"The answer from the living is a shocked silence. But the answer from the dead, from all those millions of nameless graves, is 'nothing.'"

Three Hundred Persons See Tech Recreation Picture

An estimated 300 persons Thursday night saw the screening of "The Magnificent Brute," starring Victor McLaglen, as a part of Texas Technological college's summer recreation program, according to W. P. Clement, director of the program.

The film was shown on the lawn south of the administration building at the college.

Tonight's program will be the weekly dance in the girls' dormitory from 8:30 to 11 o'clock, he announced. Students Saturday night will be admitted to the football game at the stadium between all-stars of North and South Texas for 40 cents if they present their summer recreation program ticket. Otherwise, admittance will be 75 cents.

Real Estate Man Charged Again

John W. Thompson, real estate man here, Thursday became involved in legal proceedings again.

Raymond Libby, through his next friend, Ed Libby, a brother, filed suit in the county court of Judge J. J. Dillard to obtain title and possession of a 1936 town sedan valued at $300.

Plaintiffs set out Thompson had possession of the machine, that he is in possession of it without legal authority, and that he had refused to return it to plaintiffs.

Receiver Appointed

Libby asked that a receiver be appointed to take possession of the vehicle and keep it until the suit is settled. John Lemond, deputy constable, was appointed receiver.

A check of records showed that 15 charges of swindling with worthless check had been filed in county court against John W. Thompson, J. W. Thompson, and Jno. W. Thompson, county authorities said all were the same man.

In five of the cases, the defendant was convicted and fines of $1 and court costs in each case assessed. In the other cases judgments had not been entered.

There have been nine cases of swindling with worthless check filed in the justice court of S. E. McMillan and five in the justice court of Walter Davies.

Burton S. Burks said Thompson was under two indictments in the 72nd district court of Judge Daniel A. Blair, charging forgery and passing. The cases are set for trial in the next term of court, it was reported.

Thompson also was made defendant in a recession of conveyance suit filed by Mrs. Grace Sessum in the 72nd district court. That case is pending.

Remarkable Twins Have Record That Offers Novelty

SEATTLE, Aug. 4. (AP)—Identical twins were pursuing identical careers—as army radio operators—at the federal office building here today.

They were Roy Frederick and Ray Francis Downing of Boise, Idaho, born at Minong, Wis., 23 years ago.

They enlisted in the army on the same day, several years ago at Fort Douglas, Utah, and were transferred to a signal corps radio section in Hawaii. They became orporals the same day in 1936 and were discharged together at Fort McDowell, Calif., when they completed their enlistments.

Later they joined the 116th engineers, Idaho national guard; became first class privates at the same time and were discharged simultaneously last month. They came here to re-enlist in the regulars and went into the 1st signal service co., together.

Each is 6 feet 1 inch tall; each is a skilled radioman, and Col. Lewis Turtle, district recruiting officer, said the only way you can tell them apart is Ray F. is a little more sunburned than Roy F.

WACO GETS OFFICE

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP)—The Dallas office of the Veterans bureau will be moved to Waco on Aug. 15, R. P. Shields, acting manager, said today. About 80 persons are employed here now. After Aug. 15, Shields said, 10 or 12 persons would remain here under the supervision of the Waco office.

Army Engineers Due In Denison Soon To Begin Survey For Big Dam Project

Appropriation Not Yet Made

(By The Associated Press)

SHERMAN, Aug. 4.—Army engineers under Capt. Lucius D. Clay, recently ordered home from the Philippine islands, are expected in Denison soon to establish a district office under the Little Rock, Ark., division for the completion of surveys preliminary to construction of a $54,000,000 flood control and hydro-electric dam on Red river. The dam was authorized in an omnibus flood control bill passed by the last congress.

As no money was appropriated to the project, the survey is for completing necessary information and plans preparatory to getting the project under way when the money becomes available.

To Be Three Miles Long

Data prepared by army engineers in a preliminary survey in 1936, showed that the dam, to be located five miles northwest of Denison, would be nearly three miles long, 190 feet high and 32 feet high and 32 feet wide at the top. A levee on the north end would extend beyond Platter, Okla., the river forming the boundary between Texas and Oklahoma. A hydro-electric power plant would be on the Texas side.

Area of the reservoir created by the dam was calculated at more than 312 square miles, or 198,000 acres, located in six counties. Excavation for the dam and levee was estimated at more than 30,000,000 cubic yards. The shore line of the reservoir would be nearly 1,000 miles long and maximum depth of water 40 feet.

Four town sites would be inundated. Preston and Hagerman in Grayson county, Texas, and Woodville and Aylesworth in Marshall county, Oklahoma. The estimated value of town property was $405,000.

Much Moving Seen

Portions of the Katy, Frisco and Rock Island railroads, totaling 64 miles, would have to be moved out of the area, and sections of four state highways and one United States highway, totaling 42 miles, would be relocated. Also to be moved are 27 miles of electric lines, 60 miles of telephone lines, 14 miles of pipe lines, several cemeteries and farm buildings. Total relocation cost was estimated at $3,677,000.

Land purchases necessary for the project were calculated to total 236,322 acres, valued at an average of $35.92 an acre for cultivated land and $8.98 for wooded land.

The storage capacity of the reservoir will be 5,900,000 acre feet to elevation 620; 9,300,000 acre feet at elevation 660, flood stage elevation. The Red river arm of the lake would extend about 50 miles upstream past Gainesville and the Washita river arm about 45 miles into Oklahoma, past Mannsville.

Contemplated was an initial installation of three power units to produce 75,000 kilowatts, with possible later installation of two more to raise the capacity to 125,000 kilowatts. Total cost of the dam and three power units would be $53,481,000, for the dam and five power units, $56,831,000.

Construction Cost Enormous

Construction cost alone was estimated at $32,394,030, with engineering costs, land acquisition and other items to fill out the total.

Benefits cited include the protection of 397,065 acres of land in Red river bottoms between Denison and Alexandria, La., at times of flood as great as the 1908 flood, and 596,663 acres at maximum flood stage. The project would afford additional protection to 600,000 acres in Louisiana now protected by levees.

The total estimated annual benefits in flood protection along Red river itself was placed at $1,767,000. No estimate was placed upon benefits derived from holding back Red river flood waters from flowing into the Mississippi river.

The entire project was expected to pay itself out eventually by revenues from the sale of power. The initial installation of three units was expected to return $1,250,000 annually in revenues, while with the five units the estimated annual income would be $1,800,000.

Red river is 1,350 miles long, sixth in length of rivers in the United States. Its watershed is one of the largest in the country, draining an area of 91,430 square miles, 50 per cent greater than the total of New England. Of this drainage area, 38,291 square miles is above the dam site.

Failure Of Men Not A Block To Women; They Oil Street

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug 4. (AP)—Five housewives put on shorts and boots today and undertook to oil their dirt-surfaced block on Fifteenth street.

The city graded the street and dumped the oil and the women, seeing the oil run down toward Woodward avenue, donned their working garb and improvised a drag to do the work. The neighbors had each contributed $1.67 for cost of the oil.

Mrs. Norval Ketch, forewoman of the crew, said Uncle Sam won't send his postmen down the street because it is on the edge of the city and isn't paved or oiled, but—

The women hoped the postman soon would ring twice and the rural boxes disappear.

Said Mrs. Ketch's husband, a postman:

"They certainly have things messed up. I hope the city finishes it fo' them."

Deadlock Of Rail Men To Be Referred To Mediation Board

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Hopelessly deadlocked, representatives of management of class one railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen agreed today to refer consideration of a proposed 15 per cent salary cut for railroad workers to the national mediation board.

The decision followed a conference between the carriers joint conference committee headed by H. A. Enochs and officials of the brotherhood which is headed by A. F. Whitney. The conferences started July 18.

Housing Lists Are Completed

Preliminary housing lists for the 1938-39 session at Texas Technological college were completed Thursday in the offices of dean of men and dean of women.

Houses registered thus far provide for accommodations for 383 men students and 339 women students.

Registration of homes of residents wishing to rent to students will continue. Other lists will be issued about Sept. 1 and afterward when deemed necessary before opening of the fall semester Sept. 19. Housing inspection is continuing.

The total of 722 students for whom rooms have been obtained, as shown on the lists issued Wednesday, does not include those who will stay in dormitories.

Lists were mailed to persons who had requested them. The women's housing list showed light housekeeping apartments are available to 125 women students, rooms to 74, and room and board to 140.

Given Wonderful Results By Gly-Cas

Now Enjoying Best Health In Months; Relieved Of Dreadful Attacks Of Indigestion; Says "Gly-Cas' Merit Outstanding

"Gly-Cas has proven its merit beyond all doubt in my stubborn case," said Mr. G. B. Blalock, 111 Northcut Ave., Longview, Texas. "Constipation had filled my body with poisons with the results of indigestion and extreme nervousness which wrecked my entire system. Foods soured. I bloated dreadfully and my heart would palpitate until I could hardly stand it. I tried many medicines but to no avail and I grew worse continually. Finally neuritis settled over my body and such sharp stabbing pains as I endured often made my rest and sleep impossible. It was many miserable months I endured before I learned of Gly-Cas—then it went right to the source of my health troubles.

"I am now enjoying the best health I have had in months," continued Mr. Blalock. "My stomach, kidneys and bowels are now regulated giving me proper elimination. I eat and sleep good, relieved of those dreadful attacks of indigestion, sour stomach and bloating. My nerves are now practically normal, awful neuritis pains have been relieved and I really cannot say too much in praising this vegetable remedy. Gly-Cas gives the health nature intended."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway St., and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Connally Calls For Less "Tourist Camp" Farming And For More Ownership

Senator Gives Own Diagnosis

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 4. — U. S. Sen. Tom Connally told Farm Security administration state and regional officials and workers here tonight: "Many of our agricultural problems would be solved if Texas were predominately a state in which farmers owned their lands and their homes."

The Texas senator, speaking at a dinner of the FSA group, which has been in conference here this week, declared that farm ownership is the root of political and economic democracy.

Objectives of the farm tenant program initiated by the government are acquisition of homes and ownership of these homes by men who cultivate the soil, Connally said.

"While the beginnings of the federal program are quite modest . . . it is our hope that the success of the project may be such as to justify increased appropriations from year to year.

"Other nations have made successful efforts along this line. Denmark has practically been transformed from a land of tenantry to a land of small independent landowners by farmers themselves. A long struggle over absentee landlordism in Ireland was finally largely solved by British and Irish governments through a comprehensive plan of sale of the land to tenants with long credit and cheap interest rates. We are hopeful that the United States may accomplish similar results.

"We want to make the farm homes of Texas and the United States something more than 'tourist' camps.'

August Building Permits Are Pushed Up By Thursday Sum

August's building permit total continued to surge upward, but most of Thursday's load was carried by one permit.

A $6,000 permit to the Panhandle Construction company, owner and contractor, to construct a one-story masonry building at 602 Texas avenue helped send the total for the month and week to $43,785, according to figures released from the city building inspector's office.

Four other permits, all for small expenditures, also were issued.

The day's licenses authorized expenditures of $6,940. The figures for the year stood at $1,550,777.18.

Colorado Floodwaters Subside And Business Is Resumed

MATAGORDA, Aug. 4 (AP)—Slowly, floodwaters of the Colorado river today receded from the record high mark of the past few days.

The river was emptying into Matagorda bay after high water caused damage to farm crops on the lowlands from Austin to the Gulf of Mexico.

The water here reached the floors of some stores and all motor traffic was tied up. Today, as the water began to recede, merchants resumed business and streets were being drained of the flood water.

Corn is grown in every state in the Union.

Crushing Defeat Aimed At CIO

NEWTON, Ia., Aug. 4 (AP)—Maytag employes, unionists and back-to-workers alike, silently marched back to their jobs between lines of national guard sentries here today after the C.I.O. union decided to capitulate in the face of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel's order opening the plant under martial law.

Company officials said more than 700 men were on the job early this afternoon when the wheels of the plant began to move. The company normally employes 1,400 factory workers.

Return of the union members to work followed passage of resolutions in a C.I.O. mass meeting criticizing Governor Kraschel for "coercion" in connection with his plant opening order.

The union voted 378 to 161 to return to work.

Meanwhile military authorities arrested William Sentner of St. Louis, regional C.I.O. organizer, on an unannounced charge.

Extremes At Polls In Last Primary

SHERMAN, Aug. 4. (AP)—Contrasts developed at the recent Democratic primary.

Mrs. Martha J. Alexander, 93, living near Gunter, cast her first vote. Although active she "just didn't get around to voting before."

On the other hand, J. E. Trosper, 80, of Tom Bean remarked on casting his that he hadn't missed voting in 59 years. He remembers when the first general merchandise store—incidentally, the first business establishment there—was built at Tom Bean. He said most of the surrounding land was covered with timber and herds of cattle often were driven through the country.

The amount of soothing drugs used by a Chicago hospital was reduced one-third when a nightly "music hour" was introduced as an aid to overcoming sleeplessness.

Although more than 150 miles of passageways already have been explored in the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, many miles still are to be seen.

No More Magazines, Thank You; Recreation Board Supplied

John W. Wilson, supervisor of the summer parks recreation project, doesn't want any more magazines, if you please.

Earlier this week, at Wilson's request, The Evening Journal's "Plainsman" mentioned that magazines would be welcome for distribution among participants in the parks program.

Since then, said Wilson, his biggest job has been hauling magazines. This morning, for example, he filled and emptied the back end of his car three times and another full load was to be secured.

The supply thus obtained, he added, has insured all the reading material which can be used during the remaining few weeks of operation of the project.

"Don't Release My Obituary," Gandhi Jests; Expects To See India Freed

Great Mahatma Is Triumphant

Eight years ago, Jim Mills of the (AP) marched with Gandhi, who was then stirring all India with his non-resistance campaign. Mills went with Gandhi to the London round table conference in 1931, saw him off to the Poona jail in 1932, and was the first to greet him upon his release in 1933. This year, reports that the Mahatma was dangerously ill sent Mills to his bedside. Here he tells about the Mahatma as he is today, and about the dreams he has for India.

By JAMES A. MILLS

BOMBAY, Aug. 4. (AP)—From a small room in the house of a friend on the Bombay seashore, India's bizarre political leader, Mahatma Gandhi, clad only in a sheet and resting on a cot, assured me in a low, solemn coice that he was still able to fight for freedom.

Declared the irrepressible rebel: "I am ready to die when my Maker calls me, but I hope He will spare me until I finish my life-work, which is to make India free."

Friends predict that the wiry little belligerent, opponent of the British empire for nearly half a century, will live at least five years more. If he does, they say, he probably will see his dream come true. He dominates the lives, thoughts and destinies of 360,000,000 Indians and his influence has grown so enormously since India's new Constitution was introduced a year ago that he is spoken of as the next governor-general of India.

Jokes At Frailty

"As you see," Gandhi told me, "I am still able to spin, to receive visitors, to grant interviews, to work for the emancipation of the 'Untouchables' (social outcasts), to keep up my correspondence, to toil for village improvement, and to carry out my usual duties, the same as ever.

"But if I were called upon, at 69 years, to climb Mount Everest, I probably would fail."

The little Hindu mystic chuckled. "I can still walk 10 miles a day," he went on. "I sleep well and eat well. In spite of all my hard work, I have gained several pounds in weight. I now weigh 106, but would like to weigh about 115. I still cling to my diet of goat's milk, ground nuts, honey, dates and figs. I find this suits me better than meat or eggs or vegetables. It is true I tire more easily than before, but then isn't that usual in a man on the threshold of three-score-and-ten?"

Illness Report 'Premature'

When I explained to the Indian leader that while reporting the war in China I had heard reports that he was dangerously ill, and that I had therefore speeded up my arrival in India, he roared with laughter and said, "So you wanted to get here in time to be a pall-bearer! Ha, ha, ha! Well, you are slightly premature. It is too early for us to meet at the gates of heaven, as I once promised you. Don't release my obituary just yet. Hold your presses until I give the signal!"

(Mills was the last person to whom Gandhi spoke before entering Poona jail January, 1932, and the first to greet him on his release 17 months later. "Why, Mr. Mills," exclaimed the Mahatma on that occasion, "If I should die and start to enter heaven I should expect to see you waiting to interview me at the gates!")

British Disciple Weeps

As India's toothless, half-naked wisp of a man lisped the words, "I hope to live to see India independent," Miss Madeleine Slade, his British disciple, who has been a devoted servitor to the Mahatma for 10 years, looked up at her idol with tear-suffused, reverent eyes, and exclaimed, "But you will live to see that day, Bapuji (father). God will see to that!"

I ventured to interject, "When do you expect India's freedom will come, Mahatma?"

"Within the next few years," replied the little brown figure, his eyes dancing with optimism. "Nothing can stop it now."

Gandhi can still work 12 or 14 hours a day. He rises at 4 o'clock, spends an hour in meditation and prayer, and then takes a bath in an old tub, which Miss Slade prepares. He then takes a long walk with Miss Slade and other disciples.

Looks Like Prophet

Gandhi's pure white, flowing robes, which resemble the old Roman toga, and his sandal-clad feet, bare head, and the staff which he carries, give him the appearance of a prophet or an apostle. Toward the end of the walk, when he tires, he leans on the shoulder of one of his disciples.

After his walk, which usually takes an hour, the Mahatma rests for a time and then has a light repast of goat's milk, almond paste and dates. He is then ready for his day's work. His only physical impairment at the moment, I noted, is a slight paralysis of the right hand, which forces him to "scribble" with the left.

The Indian "sage" also tires more quickly than before, which his doctor says is due to a slight weakening of the heart.

But his friends predict that he will live at least five more years, because of the simplicity of his life, his frugal diet, and the care he takes of himself.

Wallace Rapped

for political purposes" if Secretary Wallace should seek the presidency.

"The county committees operating under the Agricultural Adjustment administration may not be used by Secretary Wallace if he should choose to run," said Dr. William M. Jardine, "but they most certainly would be of use to him."

Jardine, Wichita farmer, secretary of agriculture under President Coolidge and former U. S. minister to Egypt, is vacationing in Logan canyon and in an interview talked in his admitted capacity as a "practical Republican politician."

CROSBYTON, Aug. 4. (Special)—Directors of the Crosby County Fair association, making plans for the annual county fair to be conducted here Sept. 21-22, consider "the outlook was never better."

The directors met Wednesday. The association plans to place an exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains fair to be conducted in Lubbock Sept. 26 through Aug. 1, and to take the same exhibit to the state at Dallas.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H clubs plan to show livestock at the fair. An especially large agricultural display is planned.

Carnivals and sideshows and commercial boothes will be included.

Unawares, Houston Judge Pays Seven Cents For Complaint

HOUSTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—County Judge Roy Hofheinz today paid 7 cents to receive a complaint.

The postman walked into the judge's office with a registered letter marked "Deliver to addressee only." It bore 24 cents postage, but an additional 7 cents was due. Hofheinz handed over the 7 cents and opened the letter.

It was from a farmer complaining about the drainage situation in his neighborhood.

Patman Says He Is Drawing Up Bill For Federal Old-Age Aid

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) said today he would introduce legislation calling for a federal pension of $30 per month to all persons 65 years of age and over who do not pay federal income taxes.

Patman said he is now drawing up the bill.

"I want to pay the old people this pension so that they may have it regardless of what their respective states may do. I believe they have been given 'the run around' in the matter of pensions and I want to correct that," Patman said.

Heat Victim Found Clothed In Long Underwear, Two Shirts

MILFORD, Conn., Aug. 4. (AP)—A man dressed for winter died from the heat.

DANBURY, Wis., Aug. 4. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Clifford Dietz announced this afternoon arrest of Harlan Hopkins, 18, and his confession that his parents and an older brother and then burned their home near Hinckley, Minn., last night.

Deputy Dietz said the younger son confessed that he shot his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hopkins, and his brother, Paul, 21, as they slept.

"I did it to save humanity," said the boy, according to Deputy Dietz, who expressed the belief he was mentally unbalanced.

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 4. (AP)—An infection said to have been due to sand which got into one of her eyes during a recent visit in Galveston, Texas, ended in the death here of Miss Viola Martha Nichols, 17-year-old Fair Park high school student and one of the school's beauty contest winners. The infection developed after Miss Nichols rubbed her eye.

Grand Jury Delves Into Case Of Dynamiting In Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 4 (AP) — A Dallas county grand jury began an investigation today of the dynamiting of a residence here July 25.

Witnesses included Miss Mary Jo Miller, Illinois school teacher who narrowly escaped death in the blast.

E. R. Wyatt, 35, superintendent-elect of Appleby, Nacogdoches county, remained in county jail here, unable to furnish $25,000 bond in each of three cases.

He is charged in two cases with assault to murder J. H. Miller, whose residence was demolished, and Miss Mary Jo Miller, an acquaintance of Wyatt's. He also faces a charge of burglary with explosives.

Professional Baseball Is Out For Sammy Baugh

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP) — Slingin' Sammy Baugh — the big league professional football player — is just about through as a professional baseball player.

"He can play down on the Texas sandlots if he wants to," said Owner George P. Marshall, of the world professional football champions, the Redskins, "but no more infielding for the St. Louis Cardinals of the International league."

Baugh's new three-year contract which he signed with the Redskins gives Marshall sole control of Sammy's athletic endeavors.

Germany Ready

that Czechoslovakia follow no foreign policy that is inimical to us or to which we do not agree.

(Czechoslovakia has mutual assistance treaties both with Soviet Russia and France.

(Viscount Runciman is in Czechoslovakia as Britain's unofficial mediator to study the troublesome minority question hoping to prevent it from becoming an issue of war.)

"Moreover Czechoslovakia must lean closely on her western neighbor economically. A customs union might not be advisable at the very beginning, but certainly a system of preferential tariffs should be adopted."

"If we can thus secure economic domination of the little Czech state, and if a fitting of her foreign policy into that of Adolf Hitler's, and if beside the Czech government will give guarantees there will be no cause for the Sudeten Germans to complain of their treatment, we might revise our Nazi conceptions and content ourselves with such an arrangement.

Further Control Likely

"Such an arrangement would then immediately be proposed to Lithuania as regards Memel and, I believe, be accepted.

"Great Britain and France simply must understand, once and for all, that Germany desires central and southeast Europe as her sphere of influence.

"We are willing to disinterest ourselves in Spain if we can have assurances that the Danubian states and other states contiguous to ours, especially those with sizeable German minorities, will develop close economic relations with us and adopt or pursue no policy inimical or detrimental to Germany."

The program of uniting all Germans, however, would not take the place of colonies, he asserted, even though Germany's Italian ally might consider conquest of Ethiopia satisfaction of Italy's colonial aims.

Nazis Want Spoils

"You don't suppose for a moment that Mussolini would sit idly by if, in the event of a collapse in Russia, Spain or China, the big powers would divide the spheres of influence?" he asked.

"Whenever there is a division of the spoils, we insist in being in on it."

In a more conciliatory mood he said "don't fear Germany will grow too strong. As regards colonies, all we ask is the return of those stolen from us at the end of the war.

"As to Europe, don't forget that France on the west, Soviet Russia in the east and Turkey in the southwest are there as factors we always shall have to reckon with—as brakes."

Japan's Move

far eastern frontier.

Once again, the next move in the course of the Changkufeng hostilities was left to Japan.

Shigemitsu submitted Japan's proposals for peaceful settlement of the intensified renewal of border warfare in the Changkufeng area at the junction of Russian Siberia, Japanese Korea and Japanese-dominated Manchoukuo.

Japan's terms for settlement of the hostilities were understood to have involved:

1. Cessation of hostilities;
2. Settlement of the boundary dispute through diplomatic channels on the basis of documents and materials in the possession of both sides.

No Major Conflict Expected

Maps attached to the Russian-Chinese treaty of June 26, 1886, would be studied along with other documents in the course of negotiations, under the Japanese proposal.

These are the maps upon which Russia bases her claim to the Changkufeng hills, occupied by Soviet troops July 11, and where there has been heavy fighting since Sunday.

Litvinoff replied that the Soviet government would be willing to open negotiations for peaceful settlement on the following conditions.

That fighting cease, that artillery be withdrawn, that all Japanese soldiers evacuate Soviet territory, and that Japan recognize the Chinese-Russian treaty and attached border maps.

The outcome of the conference and the fact that the Changkufeng fighting had not spread indicated the incident would not develop into a major conflict.

Shigemitsu said he would communicate the Soviet reply to Japanese peace proposals to his government at Tokyo.

Business And Aid In Old-Age Pensions Stressed By Mann

NAVASOTA, Aug. 4 (AP)—Gerald C. Mann, candidate for attorney general, said today he would aid the aged in obtaining pensions.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that economy in state administration and strict businesslike policies in our state affairs can save money for the purpose of meeting the requirements of the law governing old age pensions."

KILLED BY OWN GUN

LUFKIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—Robert L. Collins, 38, rural mail carrier, was accidently killed today when a pistol fell from a shelf at his home at Clawson, near Lufkin.

Texas Football Highly Praised

High praise for the football spirit of the Southwest, particularly that in Lubbock, was voiced Thursday by three football coaches attending the Texas High School Coaches association school at Texas Technological college, at the Kiwanis luncheon in Lubbock hotel. Ten coaches and six players were guests of the club.

President O. W. English presided and announced the district 5 picnic at Plainview Aug. 26, to which Kiwanians and their families are invited. Marion Sanford announced a donkey baseball game between the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Sept. 1.

Co-chairmen were Charles Still and Chas. A. Whitacre. The latter introduced as master of ceremonies Russell T. Smith, Kiwanian. John O. Morgan, better known as "Dell" and a former Kiwanian, spoke briefly. "You hear a lot about Texas Technological college all over the country," he commented.

Leahy, Stuhldreher Speak

Frank Leahy, line coach at Fordham, whose team has met with Southwestern teams the past four years, praised the style of football in this section. "We have a great respect for the type of football in this section." We have a great respect for the type of football played by these Texas players," he added.

Coaches are looking ahead to next year's team rather than the current team. Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin U. told his audience. Stuhldreher praised the treatment accorded visitors from other sections in Lubbock and lauded the enthusiasm as shown by support given teams by residents of the city.

Corrigan Back

every county in the "auld sod," raising their voices in every know brogue, boarded the Manhattan to greet the flier.

"The" Corrigan was raised to the burly shoulders of Brooklyn and Manhattan admirers.

Frank Tichenor, representing "all American aviation," was pushed through the crowd. He said, "we know you could do it, Douglas."

"Then you knew more than I," responded Corrigan with a chuckle.

To questions from the throng, he explained alternately, "I looked out and saw some fishing boats. Then I looked for the biggest city. I thought it might be Los Angeles because of the breadth of it and the size of its buildings. But imagine my surprise when I learned it was Dublin."

Corrigan looked down upon the parade of tugs that escorted the Manhattan. In apparent ecstacy he waved at the crowds. "There was no danger at all," Corrigan said of his flight, "far less than there is right here.

"The captain of the ship bringing me back said we should be going the way we were going; but I thought it should be the other way." The crowd roared.

Someone shouted, "How do you like it, Doug?"

Eyes Are Misty

He couldn't answer for a moment. There was a tear streaking his face.

"I never thought I'd see the Statue of Liberty like this," he said.

Many of those who talked with Corrigan during the voyage came away with the impression he did not realize the attractiveness of his flight to an air-minded world.

William Harding, Corrigan's room steward, said the flier spent much of his voyage studying.

"He always had that twinkle in his eye," said Harding. "Everybody went nuts about him; but he was so unassuming and his demands so few, there was nothing we could do for him."

Corrigan Says Appreciation

Corrigan, struggling with something a good deal more bewildering to him than flying the Atlantic, told the mayor welcoming committee:

"I appreciate the congratulations of New York City if I deserve them."

For the sake of the record, these congratulations were for this job:

At dawn of July 17, Douglas Corrigan, in a third-hand airplane, alone and without all the costly and fancy instruments of modern flying, took off from Floyd Bennett airport in Brooklyn and some 28 hours later he came down in Ireland to the astonishment of everybody, including—he keeps claiming—himself.

Excise Levies

measure and then retained. Other products on which they fall include:

Furs, automobile tires, matches, electric power, sporting goods, and cameras. A few products, such as cosmetics and toothpaste, were exempt this year.

As the present tax study process, one tax maxim will be given careful thought, Magill said. This is, "an old tax is better than a new one." Futhermore, he said, manufacturers were beginning to get accustomed to the excise levies.

If excise taxes were to be abandoned, what would be a likely substitute? One possibility cited by treasury experts is a general broadening of the income tax base.

Another is the sales tax. If it were used, the tax would fall directly on the buyer of a product instead of being part of the price he pays.

First Fatality Of Maneuvers Reported; Soldier Killed

BILOXI, Miss., Aug. 4. (AP)—The first fatality of the third army maneuvers occurred today.

A. E. Bailey of Augusta, Ga., private first class, battery D, second battalion, 83rd field artillery, died of a broken neck suffered in a dive from a pier railing into two feet of water in Mississippi sound.

Amarillo Child Says He's Not Lost—But That Mother Is; Has Confidence Of 3 Years

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP) — The uniforms are the thing, according to James Roy Christopher, 3, of Amarillo.

Tired of shopping with his mother, James Roy wandered off. He walked up to Officer C. J. Ballard at Main and Ervay streets.

"Are you lost, sonny?" inquired Ballard.

"Nope," responded James Roy, "my mother's lost."

At headquarters James Roy clearly informed Desk Sergeant Stevenson his father was a car salesman in Amarillo, that he and his mother and father had driven to Dallas and that everyone knew J. C. Christopher, the father in question. Furthermore, he said, he wasn't worried in the least—his mother would be found sooner or later.

As he had prophesied, she appeared at Stevenson's desk a few minutes later.

Slave Mammy

"take care of my missus."

When the Civil war broke out. "My boss left me with my missus. I stayed right with her. Then Marster Bob was killed. That was when the soldiers was just raked off in the pit. She never could get his remains. My mistress didn't get a thing. That worried her and it worried me. When they was buryin' 'em, they found General Young's little finger cut off and his diamond ring was gone, and his gold watch was gone, and the gold buttons off his coat."

"One worried about as much as the other," she said of she and her mistress, Mrs. Young. She paused reflectively. "He was so good to me," she said. "I wasn't treated like a slave. If I wanted anything for the house, he said 'I judge we can manage for it.'"

On the Georgia plantation, her mother had been the "old mistress" house cook. "My father, he belonged to another man off down the hill."

Knew Lubbock Family

She said she stayed with her mistress four years after she was freed. "My mistress taught school and I done the cooking and washing and ironing," she said.

"Her husband was one of a committee on reconstruction, she said. He once carried money from Meridian to a bank in Waco, she said.

A son was born to the slave couples two months before end of the war.

The negro said the records of her mistress had been burned and there is no record of her age. According to what she had been told, however, she is 104. She is emphatic on that point.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Standefer of Lubbock knew the elderly negro mammy when they lived in Meridian. Mrs. Standefer spoke of the esteem in which "Aunt Mariah" is held there.

The elderly negro spoke in more precise accent than ordinarily found in conversation of the negro of the Old South.

"Aunt Mariah" lives with a daughter, Lula B. Robinson, in Meridian. That daughter is a graduate of a negro college, and received an appointment to Prairieview college. One of the sons of the century-old negro, Walter, received a Carnegie medal for rescuin' a family from a run-a-way team, his mother said. A daughter, Mrs. Ida Sedberry, whom the elderly negro is visiting, and a son, Johnny M., live in Lubbock.

Germans Protest Presence Of Czech Planes Over Border

BERLIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—The German government protested sharply today to Czechoslovakia against alleged violation of the frontier yesterday by two Czechoslovak airplanes.

It demanded punishment of the persons involved.

A DNB (German official news agency) report from Glatz, 12 miles from the German-Czechoslovak frontier, yesterday asserted two Czechoslovak airplanes flew into Germany and observers photographed the town.

Less Danger Of Jap-Soviet War

reported sentiment was growing both in Tokyo and Moscow for localization of the fighting and for diplomatic effort to find a peaceful solution. Tokyo newspapers featured similar peaceful sentiments.

The empire's capital and other major cities of eastern Japan were blanketed in darkness Thursday night and early Friday as a result of the frontier fighting in which Soviet airplanes played a part.

No Prestige At Stake

Taking cognizance of the proximity of Vladivostok, only 700 miles to the west, and other Soviet sea bases authorities ordered "partial light control as a precautionary measure."

The foreign office announced that Japan's peace offer was made by Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs Kensuke Horinouchi in a two-hour meeting with Constantin Smetanin, Soviet charge d'affaires.

The Japanese foreign office announcement said Smetanin was requested to transmit the Japanese terms to Moscow, a proposal the Japanese said could be accepted by both sides without loss of prestige.

It was understood Soviet Russia was asked to agree not to attempt re-occpuation of territory which Japan offered to evacuate while a commission studied the frontier problem.

Army Men To Confer On Flood Problem, Announcement Says

GALVESTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Col. F. B. Wilby of New Orleans, in charge of the gulf division of the United States army engineers, and Col. Frank S. Besson of Galveston, in charge of the Texas district, will go to Columbus Monday to confer with Rep. J. J. Mansfield, chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee in congress, on the Colorado river flood problem.

Field workers of this district have been investigating the flood since its start, Colonel Besson said, having been in the vicinity at the time engaged in flood control surveys.

Fifty-Third Death In Bexar County Is Reported This Week

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Bexar county's death toll for the year soared to 53 today with the deaths last night of Miss Joyce Coleman, 20, San Antonio, and Reed Montgomery jr., 25, of Kermit, in a collision.

A loaded watermelon truck and a light coupe occupied by the couple were reported to have crashed head-on.

Also injured in the collision were Mrs. Maria Wilder, 19, her 9-months old baby, and her father, Frank Thomas, 46, operator of the truck.

Suspect Sought In Murder Of 17-Year-Old Sioux Falls Girl

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Aug. 4. (AP)—Armed with a warrant charging "Andrew Riska" with murdering 17-year old Betty Schnaidt, state and federal authorities today tried to pick up the cold trail of a Lebanon, Pa., jailbreaker.

Riska, they believed, may be an alias of Earl Young, 28, the fugitive from Lebanon who is wanted in Hutchinson, Kans., and Louisville, Ky., on assault charges. Young's picture has been identified as that of a man seen in the vicinity of St. Charles, S. D., near where the girl's bound and gagged body, a garroting towel around the neck, was found Monday.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Protection Of Police Given

(By The Associated Press)

HAMMOND, La., Aug. 4.—Gov. Richard W. Leche came to Hammond today, took complete charge of a strike called by the American Federation of Labor union at the Hammond Box company's factory and furnished police protection to the strikers.

The governor's visit to Hammond was unannounced in the two day old strike. He said that "if the box plant is closed it would stay closed."

The governor sent home a picket line of more than 100 union men and placed two state highway policemen at the plant to represent the pickets and conduct the strike for the union. He said the pickets were tired.

Kitchen Set Up

The governor also personally set up a soup kitchen for the strikers and hired wives of some of the union men at $3 a day to feed the strikers.

He told the box factory men he would not "permit them to work 10 hours a day for 21½ cents an hour" and lined up his administration behind the union.

The local union, the united brotherhood of carpenters and joiners of America, demanded an increase to 30 cents an hour. The present wage scale, the governor said, was 12 to 13 cents an hour.

Yesterday six men were injured in a clash between pickets of the union and men who reported for work and the plant operations ceased temporarily. The injured men were discharged today from the hospital.

State Legion Head Is Invited Here

Invitation has been extended by Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, state commander of the American Legion, to preside at installation ceremonies for new officers of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion here Monday night, according to A. C. Jackson, retiring commander.

Dr. Danforth had advised, he added, he will attend "if possible," but no further word has been received from him. George W. Brewer, abstracting company operator, will head the slate of new officers as post commander.

Jackson also said that a special committee will be named to arrange a special program on the occasion. Jim Willson of Floydada, district commander who was invited to attend, advised that he previously had accepted an invitation to officiate at installation ceremonies for the Legion post at Olton.

One of the events on the approaching program will be reports by Robert J. Allen, W. O. Daniels and M. E. Ware concerning the New Mexico department convention which they are attending. They were present there to repay some of the good will visits by New Mexico Legion members to the Lubbock posts at various times during the past year.

BEQUESTS LEFT BY COHN

HOUSTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Bequests to the Pauline Stern Wolff memorial home, Rice institute and a number of relatives and friends were left by Arthur Benjamin Cohn, secretary emeritus of the Rice institute board of trustees, who died in Baltimore July 27.

An estate valued at $100,000 was left by Cohn.

Bequests to individuals included: Doris Cohn Ross of Little Rock, Ark., niece, $5,000.

Bald-Pated Negro Cult Head And "Angels" Have Mansion Near Harlem For Retreat

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Father Divine, styled "God" by his followers, had a private 50-room heaven of his own today.

To the astonishment of its former white owner, the negro cult Messiah punched the doorbell of the commodious mansion on upper Madison avenue at East 122nd street, on the edge of Harlem, and announced:

"I am the new occupant. Peace!"

The big house, equipped with its own private telephone system, was presented to Father Divine by the mysterious source which is always announced as "a group of his followers." The plump, bald-pated cult leader himself professes never to have money or need it.

Last week, the same source presented him with a 500-acre country place at Krum Elbow, across the Hudson river from President Roosevelt's family estate at Hyde park.

A white agent of Father Divine purchased the house recently from Dr. Elihu Katz, stomach specialist, whose first knowledge that the negro evangelist was the buyer came when Father Divine came to the front door.

"I was astounded," said Dr. Katz. "I showed him through from top to bottom and he kept saying, 'It's wonderful. Peace, I never saw anything like it.'"

The house, purchased for $24,000, will serve as Father Divine's personal retreat, along with his 12 secretaries and a few chosen "angels."

Road Extension To Be Group Object

Movement to urge extension westward of U. S. highway 82, which ends in Lubbock, has been started in Levelland, according to advices here Thursday.

While plans of activities remain tentative, the information said, they likely will lead soon to a conference in Roswell, N. M., with representatives along a route for which designation as a trans-continental highway is being sought.

Lubbock Western Terminus

At the present time, it was explained, Lubbock is the western terminus of highway 82 which extends almost due eastward through Wichita Falls, Texarkana and Greenville, Miss. A movement in Greenville to finance construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river has gained considerable headway, according to information here.

The bridge, according to supporters of the highway, would be the essential link to assure another all-weather transcontinental highway upon which Lubbock would be an essential point.

Efforts in Levelland, according to word here, will be centered on the designation and development of the present highway 24 from Lubbock as a state and federal artery. The highway already is paved. From Levelland, the contemplated development is to Roswell and thence along a route west by slightly north across New Mexico into northern Arizona and almost due westward from there to California.

Knights Of Pythias Has Three Representatives At Angelo

Three Lubbock members of the Knights of Pythias and several other South Plains members Thursday afternoon and night attended a regional meeting in San Angelo.

From Lubbock went Victor H. Lindsey, royal visier of the Lubbock Dokey temple, Dr. G. H. Ater, grand inner guard, and Russell Hardin, chancellor commander of the Lubbock lodge.

Others who were scheduled to go were: Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, Rollin McCord of Tahoka, S. R. Steele, and Floyd Gunn.

The delegation will invite those attending to Lubbock for a regional district K-P meeting Sept. 13. The Pythian Sisters also are planning a regional district meeting in conjunction with the Knights of Pythias session.

Beeches, chestnuts and oaks all belong to the beech family.

Almost 50 Visitors Are Due On Train

Son of a former governor of Mississippi will head a touring party of 46 persons who will spend nearly five hours in Lubbock Monday enroute to Califronia, the chamber of commerce was advised Thursday.

Arrangements for the trip were made by the Murphree-Ford tours agency of Jackson, of which Dennis Murphree, former governor of Mississippi, is president. Heading the party will be Tom Dennis.

The stop here, said the letter, will be the longest at any intermediate point on the itinerary.

Members of the party are scheduled to arrive at 8:30 a. m. aboard two special Pullman coaches and will leave at 1:25 p. m. They are to have lunch at the Hilton hotel.

The chamber of commerce good neighbor committee, of which Chas. Whitacre is chairman, will arrange sight-seeing trips for the visitors and a program for their luncheon.

Sawyer Finds Gold Mine When Drains Pitch From Fir Tree

HOQUIAM, Wash., Aug. 4 (AP)—J. H. Mathieson, a mill sawyer, noticed pitch running out of fir logs. Hating the waste, he tried attaching spouts to trees, much as maple sap spouts are attached. From one fir alone he took 53 gallons of pitch and sold it at 50 cents a gallon.

Loggers approve the pitch draining. They say it helps fallers, who cut the tree immediately afterwards.

Kidnaping Case Is Dismissed

DALLAS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Justice Walter J. Stovall today dismissed a charge of kidnaping filed against Larry W. Reed, 39-year-old World war veteran, in connection with the alleged forced detention of Mickey Ricketts, 24-year-old negro.

Six other persons, including Dr. F. H. Newton and his wife, Dr. Cosette Faust Newton, educator and world traveler, also were charged with kidnaping in connection with the case.

Ricketts, formerly employed by the Newtons, was alleged to have been abducted July 22 and held a prisoner in the attic of the Newtons' Highland Park home until July 29. Previously, charges of theft in connection with the disappearance of a $5,000 Chinese jade ring were dismissed against Ricketts.

Mrs. Newton was reported to be in Denver today seeking clues to the missing ring. Deputy Sheriff Hillard Estes of Ellis county and Deputy Sheriff Ted Hinton of Dallas county also were in Denver. A negro maid formerly employed by the Newtons was reported living in Denver.

Ninth-Inning Uprising Kills No-Hit Performance; Hubbers Take Barons 10-2

Big Spring And Lubbock Clash Again Tonight

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Young Robert Decker, who does a lot of nifty second basing for the Big Spring Barons and who is quite handy with the willow, cracked a clean single just past the defending shortstop's reach last night after one man was down in the ninth inning.

It was the first semblance of a hit off Lubbock's Ralph Marshall during the ball game, the second ball to pass the infield, and it was the touch-off that spoiled Marshall's chances of a second no-hit, no-run performance since he joined the Hubbers less than three weeke ago.

The Hubbers had gone hog wild in the eighth to mutilate the hitherto strong pitching arm of Willard Ramsdell, and came away with a 10-2 victory and a second straight victory in the Big Spring series.

LADIES FREE TONIGHT

Tonight will be Ladies Night at the ball park here. The feminine fans and youngsters will be entertained free when the Hubbers and the Barons meet for the third and final game of the series, marking the final scheduled appearance of the Barons here this season. The game is booked to begin at 8:45 o'clock. Big Ernest Terry is slated to toe the rubber for the Hubbers.

Saturday's series opener with the second place Midland team will start at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, due to the football game here Saturday night.

His no-hit ambitions gone with Decker's single, Marshall pitched a fence ball to Red Greer and the Baron center fielder slammed it to the left field palings for a double, scoring Dick Hobson, who had walked before Decker's single, and Decker.

Tight Till Then

Until the ninth, only three men had been on base for Big Spring, and these had walked, and two had pilfered second, the third being stabbed in a double play. Marshall struck out 16 batters, six short of the record but good enough to give the fielders a gentle evening. Only one outfielder, Al Carr, figured in Lubbock's defense. He caught one fly, and couldn't get to Greer's two-bagger.

The game was a scoreless tie for three innings, then a 1-0 affair favoring Lubbock for four innings. The Hubbers were almost as helpless before the steady chunking of Ramsdell as the Barons were before Marshall's mound work. Until the eighth, Lubbock had collected four hits, no two in the same inning. They included Stevens' double, Gedzius' triple and Manager Miller's home run, the latter coming in the fourth with nobody aboard and nobody out.

Twelve Met Bat

Ramsdell faded definitely in the eighth, however, and the Hubber bats started booming. Gedzius led off with a double, Watkins beat out a bunt for a single, and Taylor was hit, filling the bases. Miller, for the second night in a row, attempted a bunt, which an infielder handled easily. But Al Carr came through with a long single to right, scoring Gedzius and Watkins. Stevens singled to center, scoring Taylor and Carr. Hillin fouled out to Seigbert at first, and Mosel singled past first. Marshall singled, scoring Stevens. Gedzius, batting again, walked, and Watkins cleared the hassocks with a mighty triple to the center field wall, then completed the picture by stealing home. Taylor ended the attack with a long fly to center. Twelve men batted, nine scored, none were left.

"It should have been a 1-0 game," said genial Skipper Charley Barnabe after the game. "Marshall deserved a shut-out, and Ramsdell just simply tired out after seven innings. Both boys turned in a fine pitching game."

Speculation Over "Dream Game" Saturday Night Marks Interest At Coach School

Coaching school interest leaned more strongly toward the approaching all-star contest yesterday as "students" at the Texas High School Football Coaches association convention watched workouts closely and exchanged opinions regarding possible outcome of the "dream" game and potentialities of certain high school grid graduates being prepared.

The regular routine of lectures and field demonstrations continued to attract a large majority of the enrollees, Lynn Waldorf and Harry Stuhldreher holding the attention of the mentors at both indoor and outdoor lectures and practice sessions.

Coaches Show Wear

Both the "head" coaches appeared more weary yesterday after two more daily workouts. Stuhldreher and Waldorf ordered lighter drills as the squads began tapering off for tomorrow night's contest under the Texas Tech lights. The game, which begins at 8:30 o'clock, is expected to draw some ten thousand fans, at six bits a throw—and there will be grandstand seats for all in Tech's 20,000 capacity horseshoe stadium.

Cream of last year's crop of senior high school football players, being coached by Stuhldreher and Waldorf and their assistants, will perform in the annual north-south game. Stuhldreher and Standard Lambert of Austin are coaching the Northerners. Waldorf and Bill Meyers of Fort Worth have charge of the Southerners. Yesterday's drills consisted of general workouts in the morning, with more attention to fundamental blocking and tackling, with less hard work, in the afternoon.

The coaches have not indicated lineups, wishing to see the boys through today's workouts before naming starting teams.

John "Ox" Da Grosa and Frank Leahy, from Philadelphia and New York, respectively, continued to hold attention of the student coaches with lectures and blackboard illustrations concerning line play. Frank Cramer, well known athletic trainer and manufacturer of athletic medical supplies, of Kansas, appeared on yesterday's lecture program in a discussion of injury treatment.

Ramsey Also Invited To Play In Cotton Bowl Labor Day

DALLAS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Four West Texas grid stars—two from Hardin-Simmons university and two from Texas Tech—today had been invited to play with the collegiate all-stars against the Washington Redskins, National Professional football league champions, in the third annual dream game in the Cotton Bowl here Labor Day night.

James H. Stewart, game director, said invitations had been issued to Ed Cherry, scintillating backfield performer, and Odis Crowell, husky tackle, to face the Redskins. He also named Herschel (Red) Ramsey, end and captain of last year's powerful Texas Tech Red Raiders to the squad. Previously he had announced acceptance by Lewis Jones, 210-pound guard and line captain of the Red Raiders.

"Ramsey sent in a tentative acceptance for the same reason," he said.

Morris Norton Beats Tournament Favorite

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Two players highly regarded by the gallery, one of them a former champion, were turned out of the Broadmoor invitation golf tournament's second round today.

E. J. Rogers, silent Oklahoma City shotsmith who won the title in 1935 and 1936, couldn't meet the pace set by Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, Texas, and lost, 3 and 1. Norton ejected O'Hara Watts of Dallas yesterday.

The other favorite getting the gate was Eddie Stokes of Denver, a semi-finalist last year, who lost to Gomas Green of Fairfax, Okla., 2 and 1.

Lefthanded Howard Creel, tournament medalist, stayed in the running. He was two down at the turn to Harry Broadhead of St. Joseph, Mo., but rallied to square the match at the long 17th, and won out with a par 4 on the lake-guarded home green.

Maxie Rosenbloom Thinks He'll Blast Bob Pastor

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 4. (AP) Few believe him on either count, but old, bald-headed Maxie Rosenbloom, night club entertainer, screen actor and for fifteen years a box fighter, maintained today with that dead-man expression that he will whip young Bob Pastor at Gilmore stadium tomorrow night and then quit the ring.

The Rosenbloom who at 34 (he admits only 32 of these years) has had 360 fights, gives one excuse for his promises to win over the 23-year-old New York fighter and then quit.

"I got a future in the fillums," he insists, "and do you think them producer eggs would give me a tumble if I quit a loser?"

North Promises Competition For South Saturday Night

By BILL MEYERS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was written by Bill Meyers, coach at Paschal High school, Fort Worth, at the request of the Avalanche sports staff. Meyers is assisting Harry Stuhldreher in coaching the Northern team and was of the committee selecting the players.

The fans of Lubbock and the Plains region are accustomed to high grade football, and many of the most brilliant Texas schoolboy stars have ranged the gridirons of this section. A great treat is in store Saturday night when the greatest constellation of football warriors ever to range the northern half of Texas do battle with Lynn Waldorf's "Rebels" from the lower half of the state.

We of the North have a wholesome respect for the reputedly invincible aggregation from the South. The bulk, skill and speed of the Southern team is unquestionable—yet it is our duty and pleasure to make the fans acquainted with those of the North's personnel.

Team Shows Spirit

Genial Harry Stuhldreher has molded the Northern team with the hand of a master. The North squad, after a few short periods of practice, is going through its workouts with speed, precision, and power. The enthusiasm, spirit, and response of the team has been noticeable to the many observant coaches attending the school. There has been nothing lackadaisical about the boys representing the North—the spirit indigent to West Texas permeates their veins.

Now for the backfield of the North—as fine a group of performers as was ever assembled. Led by Wichita Falls' Harold "Preacher" Fleming the backs present a versatile collection.

Scored Over 550 Points

Horace Young, 185-pound Sweetwater boy, divides time with David Gay, pride of Highland Park, Dallas. Ray Niblo, 180-pounder from Adamson High, Dallas, and Jack Crain, the sensation of Nocona, are slated to divide time.

Crain in four years of high school competition scored over 550 points. He is only one of several "Jackrabbit" backs the South must worry about.

Preston Johnson, Newcastle 190-pound battler, has created a ripple of sensation among coaches with his magnificently placed and terrifically long punts. R. B. Patrick of Olney, Jim Wardy of Austin High, El Paso, and Dan Reese, Northside High, Fort Worth, are outstanding passers, punters and tacticians.

Terminals Well Handled

The flanks are capably manned by such outstanding performers as Harold King, Amarillo captain; Saxon Judd, Vernon's all-district end, Arnold Johnson, Stephenville's great warrior; Norman Melton, Woodrow Wilson, Dallas, and Ronnie Brumbaugh of Riverside High, Fort Worth, an aggressive, speedy pass receiver of unusual brilliance.

Tackles are nimble-footed young giants who should fortify the North wall more securely than Gibraltar protects the gateway to the Mediterranean.

Jack Ware, Lubbock, 215-pound stalwart, presents a veritable impregnable front to opponents and is capable of opening great holes for his teammates to gallop through.

Four Good Tackles

Edward Brand, the giant of the Northern squad, come from Wichita Falls. A mere 230-pound lad who spells disappointment to those who oppose him—a finer tackle is hard to find. Pat Lowry, El Paso Austin High's field goal specialist and a trim lightheavy, is one of the most polished players of either team.

Bill Crawford, brilliant, colorful battler, a shifty, hard-to-box tackle from North Side, Fort Forth, teams well with the other three to give the North sufficient strength to combat the onslaughts of the "Rebel" invaders.

The boys to uphold the honor of the North in the guard positions are led by the brilliant all-state performer, Arthur "Double-Ug" Goforth, Wichita Falls, 204 pounds of toughness and sagacity.

Centers Rank High

Nick Pappas, San Angelo's pride, who is a mere shadow at 205 pounds, should be able to initiate a few headaches among South supporters. J. P. Mathews of Pampa and Jay Lowry of Paschal, Fort Worth, are fast, shifty, polished exponents of "holding the fort." Both are lightheavies and attracted statewide attention of their staunch play the past season.

Two great schoolboy centers represent the North. Odell Damarall, 170-pound all-state pivot man from Wichita Falls, is a tower of strength. Lilius Virden, Abilene's great center, is the other bulwark who should give the North all protection need at this important post.

It always has been and will continue to be our policy not to make predictions on cutcome of gridiron conflicts, but there is one assertion that we can safely make—that the North undoubtedly is one of the fastest, most powerful high school squads ever assembled in Texas. And we will predict that the Northern boys should give a brilliant performance Saturday night.

Puny Wilson Named Sam Houston Coach

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 4. (AP)—Fred (Puny) Wilson, former Texas A. & M. college football star, was appointed head coach of Sam Houston State Teachers college.

Wilson, who played at A. & M. in the twenties during which time he was an all-Southwest conference end, coached a year at Bryan High, then in 1926 went to Allan academy where he remained until 1935 when he was named coach of Lon Morris college at Jacksonville.

President C. N. Shaver of Sam Houston said Wilson would take over the duties of head coach from H. O. (Molly) Crawford who becomes assistant coach and will continue teaching in the physical education department.

Mrs. Dean Wins Women's Contest With Equal Shots

Consist driving was more of a feature of Mrs. Cliff Dean's winning first place in the "ladies" night driving contest at the Tee Box range Thursday night, than the win itself.

Mrs. Dean fired three balls, each for 175 yards. Her average was easy to figure from that.

Coaches will compete at 9:30 tonight in a contest, and Joe Bihl, manager of the range, will display his trick shots as an added attraction.

Tech Trainer Shows Knee Brace Invention

An invention for which he has been roundly congratulated and from which he expects to reap financial reward as well as gratitude is being demonstrated in the picture above by Lewis "Doc" Spear, former Lubbock High school grid star, now chief trainer of the Texas Tech Red Raiders. Spear is showing his gadget, a flexible knee brace designed to prevent the "popping out" of knee cartilages and to support stricken knees, to Frank Cramer, well known trainer and athletic medical supply manufacturer of Kansas who is a lecturer at the current coaching school here. Spear has obtained a patent for his knee brace through the U. S. patent office, and hopes to market the product before long. The dozen or so braces Spear is showing at the school were manufactured in Lubbock.

West Texas Tennis Tournament Starts On Tech Courts Today; Finals Are Sunday

The cream of West Texas tennis will launch the annual West Texas invitation tournament on Texas Tech's new concrete courts this afternoon.

Scattered entries from near and distant points indicate that competition will be heated throughout. Some players have been given option of waiting until Saturday morning to fire opening shots.

Finals will be played Sunday afternoon.

Marshall Boyd, El Paso city champion, has promised in correspondence with Dub Rushing, tournament director, that he will enter and probably will bring other border netters here.

Kendall Jones and Maurice Fincher of Abilene are expected to participate. Amarillo entries are expected to wait until Saturday morning to appear. Drawings will be made early today.

Lubbock's most likely hope to keep the title here rests on shoulders of Wilson Chapman, Texas Tech varsity netman. The elongated stroker from California has kept in good trim this summer while tending Tech's clay courts.

Harry Jordan, former captain of the Raider team, is expected to compete.

An added feature of this year's tournament is the boys junior division. Trophies will be awarded to men's single champ, individual to men's doubles team winner, and to the junior titlist.

Definite entries have been received from Lamesa, Littlefield, San Angelo, Amarillo, Lawton, Okla., and Lubbock.

Included in the Lamesa delegation are Dell Roberts, Bob Crawley, M. T. Key, and Cecil Roberts. Cecil Roberts is a national guard champion and Lamesa city champ.

Morris Replin and David Storey, both of Littlefield, are entered in junior events, with Replin also in the men's singles.

From San Angelo will come Billie Matlock and George Richey. Pancher Upshaw, H. A. Bozeman, John White, and Roger Stone will represent Amarillo. Upshaw and Bozeman are former Tech lettermen and White is city champion of Amarillo.

Stanley Sasser, Louis Sasser, and Bud B. Binning are entered from Lawton. Hubert Burgess, Newt Walton, J. D. Donaldson, Bill Pierce, Chapman and Rushing already have filed entries from Lubbock and others are expected at the last minute.

The tournament is sponsored by the Lubbock Lions club.

Ferebee Plans To Get In Plenty Of Golf Between Dawn And Dark Today

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—J. Smith Ferebee is going to try to get in some golf between dawn and dark tomorrow—144 holes of it—and has wagered $2,500 and 1,200 acres of a Virginia plantation he can complete the marathon at an average of 95 strokes, or under, for the eight rounds.

A husky young Chicago investment broker, Ferebee will gamble on his stamina over the four heavily wooded courses at Olympia fields. A locker room "fanning bee" ended with several friends wagering Ferebee he could not perform the feat.

"About a month ago I played 90 holes one day," he chuckled, "and I'm confident I can do 144 holes. A friend, Fred Tuerk, bet his half share of the 2,400 acre plantation we own jointly in Princess Anne county, near Norfolk, Va., against my half share, that I couldn't do it. Other friends put up $2,500 additional."

The 31 year old business man, who said his game averaged between 83 and 85 strokes for 18 holes, intends to start out at 5 a. m., and "eat on the fly." He isn't contemplating any rest periods between rounds. The Olympia fields professional, Chuck Tannis, gives him a good chance to win the wager, declaring "the fellow will do it if it depends on physical condition."

Gernand Is Low In Tournament

Bubba Gernand, former Baylor university grid great and present coach at Livingston High, paced coaches tournament qualifiers Thursday afternoon at Meadowbrook Golf club with a sparkling 72.

Gernand's score was two strokes better than that of J. G. "Goober" Keyes, Lubbock High school coach. Keyes fired a 36 on the front nine, while having trouble with his putter, but faltered on the back side to take a 38.

The two leaders will vie for honors through medal play today in the first flight. Flights were arranged with emphasis on close comparative scores.

Second flight comprises shooters of 79 to 83. In that bracket are M. O. "Red" Pittman of Iraan, and R. M. Hodgkiss of Beaumont, 79; Buckie Wadzeck of Spur, 80; and W. W. Hill of Snyder, 83.

New Version Of Littlefield Slayings And Of Seduced Daughter Recounted

Courtroom Full For Hearing

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Aug. 4. (AP)—Paul M. Dwyer today admitted under cross-examination he made no mention of former Deputy Sheriff Francis Carroll, the man he now accuses of the double slaying, after his arrest in North Arlington, N. J., where he was found asleep in an automobile containing the bodies of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Littlefield of South Paris.

Dwyer, 18-year-old youth who previously confessed the killing and is serving a life term, yesterday stifled Carroll strangled the physician when he threatened to expose Carroll's alleged relations with his own 18-year-old daughter, Barbara.

He testified today, under cross questioning by Defense Counsel Clyde Chapman that the North Arlington police took from him letters from Barbara Carroll in which she said her father seduced her.

Admits Story Was Lie

Chapman drew from the slim, pale Dwyer, the assertion he did not tell Maine officers the truth about the death of Mrs. Littlefield. In his original confession, Dwyer said he strangled the doctor's wife.

Yesterday he repudiated that statement and testifed Carroll killed the woman.

Chapman offered the statement as a defense exhibit. Dwyer identified the document as his.

In the statement, made to Sheriff F. F. Francis last fall, Dwyer said he killed Dr. Littlefield "because I needed the money." In it Dwyer also said the "girl angle" was a mistake and was based on letters found in his valise.

Carroll is charged only with the killing of Dr. Littlefield, the crime to which Dwyer pleaded guilty last fall.

The hot courtroom was filled to capacity. Many women spectators carried lunches.

Youth Reiterates Details

Evidently attempting to break down Dwyer's new version of the strangulation killings, which the youth contends is the "true" story, Chapman plied him with questions about statements made in New Jersey and in Maine last fall.

Mention of a "dope ring" was made when Chapman drew from Dwyer admission that the boy had talked with officials on that subject on one occasion.

Carroll, in a jail statement before being brought to trial, had said he believed members of a "dope ring" killed Dr. Littlefield.

Dwyer said he had made a confession attributing robbery as the motive for the killing of Dr. Littlefield after Carroll had asked him to keep Barbara's name "out of it."

Chapman asked Dwyer "Had the dope ring story been suggested to you?" Dwyer replied it had been suggested by Carroll.

The defense offered as exhibits written statements by Dwyer to New Jersey police in which the youth admitted he had struck and killed the doctor when the latter made a disparaging statement "about an old friend of mine."

Bloody Story Told

Under Chapman's searching examination, Dwyer unfolded a macabre account of the automobile ride he said he took through New England with Mrs. Littlefield while her husband's body was stuffed in the rear compartment of the physicians car.

Dwyer insisted he was afraid to appeal to authorities in Maine, but had "thought" of informing Massachusetts police.

"What were you scared of?" Chapman asked.

"I don't know," Dwyer replied.

The witness repeated direct testimony of the slaying of Mrs. Littlefield, which occurred, he said, after they returned to South Paris and saw Carroll driving away from his home.

Dwyer testified that after Carroll killed the elderly woman he asked "why I had taken Mrs. Littlefield away, and, so not to appear to have double-crossed him, I said I had intended to kill her but did not have the opportunity."

"You lied to him?" the defense attorney asked.

"Yes," the witness replied.

Dwyer said he did not get out of the car and made no attempt to escape because "Carroll had a gun right there."

Defense Counsel Chapman read a statement Dwyer made to Bergen county, N. J., officials.

Former Yarn Recounted

It said Dwyer had been to a dance with a "girl" and later learned her reputation had not been the best. Desiring to learn whether he had contracted a social disease, the statement said, he went to Dr. Littlefield for examination.

The statement quoted Dwyer as saying the doctor had made a remark about a "girl I had been going with."

Chapman halted his reading and asked the witness:

"Who was that girl?"

"Barbara Carroll," Dwyer answered.

Chapman then read from the statement Dwyer's earlier assertion that as Dr. Littlefield continued to talk about the girl, he struck the doctor with his fist, later with a hammer, and finally strangled the aged man with a belt.

Barbara, sitting beside her mother, Mrs. Ruby Carroll, gently waved a fan before her face, sometimes turning her face from the witness stand to gaze around at the spectators.

Carroll sat, leaning forward slightly, sometimes looking at the floor.

Press Outspoken In Favor Of Letting Dog Enter Isles

LONDON, Aug. 4. (AP) — Hazel Hurst, 22-year-old blind American, appealed to King George VI and American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy today to waive British animal quarantine restrictions which prevent her from taking her Alsatian dog guide into England.

She rejected the offer of a one-eyed man to have his eye transferred to her by surgical means. She also refused the offer of a British guide dog.

The blind girl telegraphed King George "Making my last appeal to your majesty to permit me and my 'seeing eye' to enter your country. My dog is my eyes. I know you can help me."

The argument was advanced meanwhile that the British law provides the quarantine regulations could be relaxed on Miss Hurst's behalf.

"What is seems to have escaped attention is that the law regarding the importation of dogs provides for quarantine except in the case of performing dogs, exhibition and breeding dogs or dogs imported for other special purposes," the News Chronicle declared.

"Could not guidance of the blind be considered as a special purpose?" the newspaper asked.

He got sore, but he got ideas, too. For instance:

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 4. (AP)—Hugh R. Wilson, United States ambassador to Germany, arrived by air today from Warsaw "to get a closer view" of developments in the Sudeten German minority problem since the arrival of Viscount Runciman, unofficial British mediator and advisor.

Although the semi-official newspaper Prager Presse hailed Wilson's visit as a manifestation of the United States' interest in the fate of Czechoslovakia, the ambassador denied he was on an official mission.

He said he would not talk with Lord Runciman unless they met "by accident" and declared he had no plans to visit Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia.

A Too Prejudiced Opinion

EDDIE CANTOR, the pop-eyed stage, radio and motion picture star, is likely to bring more censure and praise upon himself because of his criticisms of Henry Ford for having accepted a medal from German Dictator Adolf Hitler.

Cantor's statement questioning "the Americanism and Christianity" of the automobile manufacturer causes one to wonder whether the comedian, a Jew, is letting his compassion for persecuted members of his race in Germany sway his prejudice to an unreasonable extent. Most people regard Mr. Ford as being an intensely loyal American who has been a benefactor to the human race. The Morning Avalanche certainly does.

It is true that most Americans, including those who are not Jews, have little regard for Hitlerism. They and we resent the persecution of any people anywhere because of race or religious belief. But we cannot believe that the cause of the unfortunates in Germany can be helped by such extreme statements as those attributed to Mr. Cantor.

The Death Of Pearl White

THOSE old enough to have been witnesses to the growth of the motion picture industry from its smallest infancy to the world's most popular medium of entertainment will feel a sense of personal loss because of the death of Pearl White, one time queen of the melodramic serial.

Persons who did not live through the era of the "serial" cannot appreciate their hold upon the public. Today they would provoke only the wildest howls of laughter. But there was a time when they packed motion picture houses to the doors. It seemed to the audience the proper thing that the heroine should be left on the brink of horrible death at the end of each week's installment only to be rescued in some wholly impossible manner by the hero at the beginning of the next installment.

Of the heroines of such serials, Miss White without dispute was the queen. There were others, of course, who may have disputed her supremacy from time to time. But they came and went. Miss White's position remained secure until advancing years, enlarged girth and a sufficient amount of wealth caused her gradual fading into obscurity.

Her contribution to the motion picture industry without doubt was a very large one. She, more than any one of her day, "packed them in" and thus provided the money for a financially insured industry to climb higher and become stronger. The industry, in short, owes much for what it is today to the one-time queen of the thrillers.

The One-Minute Sermon

Ye shall observe to do therefore as the Lord your God hath commanded you: ye shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

Ye shall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye shall possess.—Deuteronomy 5:32 and 33.

THE REWARDS OF A BEST SELLER

Charles M. Sheldon, who was born in Wellesville, N. Y., in 1857, wrote "In His Steps" in 1896. The manuscript was offered to many publishers in vain. In the end the author succeeded in having the book published, but neglected to acquire a valid copyright in his work. It proved to be the fiction best seller of all time, having sold more than 23,000,000 copies. But due to his defective copyright, the author did not reap any rewards for this most popular work. More than 50 publishers in the United States, Asia, Europe and Africa took advantage of the defective copyright to publish the work without the author's consent.

THE STORY SO FAR

Under the name of Abe Streeter, quick-fire ANKROM takes a job on the trouble Rafter T ranch to help lively LEE TRONE. COLONEL STRUTHERS and his daughter BETTY come to visit, and Ankrom recognizes Struthers as an imposter. Kelton Drean. Drean is shot and Betty slips Ankrom her gun, saying she did it. RATCHFORD, the burly sheriff, holds them all for questioning, including CLAYDELL, a neighboring rancher. Accidentally, Ankrom drops Betty's gun on the floor.

Chapter 14
Questions

In plain sight, blue and cold and grim it lay. The surprise had frozen them all to a rigid tenseness. Ankrom thought the pounding of his heart must surely shake him.

"Well!" the sheriff drawled at last. "Well! What parlor trick is this, Streeter?"

Ankrom grinned with a mirthlessness that showed the whiteness of his teeth. "Shucks," he said. "I feel downright ashamed to call that weaklin's mine."

"I shouldn't wonder." With heavy irony Ratchford stooped to pick the weapon up. Yet even as his fingers spread to grip it, Ankrom covered the pistol with his foot.

Grimly Ratchford straightened. The head on his thick neck came forward until his heavy features were within ten inches of Ankrom's. Unblinking, the smoking eyes stared balefully.

His words were low, spaced wide apart: "Where did you get that gun?"

Across Ankrom's mind came the vision of the girl from Peso Pinto rising from the crumpled form of Kelton Drean with one hand holding papers, a pistol in the other. This pistol!

He eyed it warily. Had the spurious Struthers' life been snuffed with this?

He let his glance rest upon the sheriff's. "By your tone," he told him, "a man would figure it was a crime to own more'n one gun in Texas?"

"Never mind airin' your opinions. I want to know where you got this gun."

"I don't know that it's any of your business, Ratchford."

"I'm making it my business."

"Boot Hill is filled with fellas that had that habit—"

"Damn you!" Ratchford swore. "You answer my question an' answer it quick or I'll slap the bracelets on you an' take you in for this killin'!"

"What evidence you got that I downed Struthers? Law says you got to have evidence before you can arrest a man for a thing like this."

"Yeah? Well, that law don't cover you. The laws ain't made for driftin' saddle tramps that go round stirrin' up trouble. Talk, fella—talk, or I'll take you in!"

Ankrom stood there, his eyes like tempered steel, the lean cheeks drawn taut. Trouble, he told himself, was like his shadow. He could not escape it—wherever he turned his eyes, there lay trouble waiting. To move amid scenes of turmoil seemed to be his portion. There was no escape . . . save death.

Very well, then; he was through trying. He would serve these trouble-bringers what they asked for. He would give them all they wanted from here on out; he would hurl it in their teeth.

As the sheriff's voice stopped Ankrom's right hand shrank into a hard fist. He took a forward stride as the sheriff stepped back a pace and stood. His eyes held Ratchford like a grip; they were palely blue like ice, they were baffling, mocking, hateful. "What was it you wanted, Ratchford?"

Who Hired You?

Caution clouded the sheriff's glance. "I want to know where that gun came from."

"From the waistband of my trousers."

"Where'd you get it?"

As Ankrom was about to make answer, from the tail of his eye he caught a warning gesture. Just a tiny movement of a hand it was, a girl's hand—Lee's! Then she was not completely indifferent to him: the thought crossed his mind like light. Evidently she realized as did he himself, that Ratchford was out to find a goat and meant to find one before he left this room.

But Lee's cautioning gesture no longer held the force it might have held this morning. Stooping swiftly he came up with the gun his foot had covered; came up so suddenly the sheriff had no time to guess his purpose before the pistol's muzzle held him in grim focus as Ankrom backed to the wall beside the outer door.

"It didn't come from no dead man's hand, if that's what you're insinuatin'," Ankrom drawled. "If you're aimin' to find a goat for this night's work, Ratchford, you better pick on someone else."

"Any man can talk behind a gun," the sheriff sneered.

With a blur the pistol left Ankrom's hand and no one saw where he had sheathed it. White teeth gleamed coldly behind his parted lips. His attitude was a challenge to big Tom Ratchford, yet Ratchford did not move.

Ankrom said. "What caliber gun did the colonel use, Miss Struthers?"

"Why . . . a thirty-two, I believe."

"The pistol I just picked up was a thirty-two. It came off the ground near Struthers' body. One shell has been exploded. Do you know, Ratchford, what caliber slug it was that killed the colonel?"

"A forty-five," the sheriff's voice came back. "I cut it out." A moment's pause, and then: "Like the gun I took out of your hand a while ago."

"Did you?" Ankrom said.

The sheriff shrugged. His lids concealed the expression in his eyes. "All right then," he said, "like the forty-five you gave up at my request a while ago—if it makes you feel any better to have put it that way."

"It does. No man ever took a gun away from me yet, Ratchford—"

"Hard hombre, eh? I've seen your type of drifter before—the kind that hires out its guns to the highest bidder. Who hired you to gun the colonel?"

"I didn't gun him. I told you that before. Now let me ask you one: How'd you know the slug that downed him was a forty-five? Mightn't it have been a forty-four?"

'Where Were You?"

"Listen," Ratchford said testily. "I've fooled around guns long enough to recognize whether a chunk of lead was thrown from a forty-four or forty-five, no matter how badly it happens to be battered. There's a diff'rence in the weight. Besides, this slug was pretty smooth. It was like the ones your gun—the one you give me—shoots."

"That doesn't mean anything," Ankrom said. "You've got a forty-five yourself. It's slung in that shoulder holster under your coat. Mr Trone may be packin' one too, for all I know. Claydell, here, produced a thirty-eight at your insistence, but he may likewise have a forty-five cached about him some place. I don't see any guns on these two cowboys, but if I was to judge them by the rest of you I'd say they was each packing a forty-five, at east. For a country that's shucked its irons—"

"Never mind the sarcasm," Ratchford broke in roughly. He turned toward the two girls: "Miss Struthers, where were you when your ol man was shot?"

The unexpectedness of the question brought a startled breath from Lee Trone. Her eyes flicked wide and darkened. Instinctively they sought Ankrom's. He gave her a reassuring quirk of the lips and turned his glance on Betty.

The sheriff's procedure elicited no sign of dismay from her. She had her wits about her every minute of the time, Ankrom reflected sardonically. "A girl that has all the answers," he summed her up.

When she spoke her voice held that amount of huskiness genuine grief for her father's death might have caused.

"I—I—let me see," a white hand went to her forehead, rumpling the golden curls; a tiny pucker grew between her thoughtful eyes. "I had just stepped out the door there. Father had asked me to meet him out beneath that pepper tree; he said he had something private which he wished to talk to me about . . ." She bit her lip: her thoughts seemed far away. "I'm trying to recollect—it seems to me I had just stepped out the door and crossed the veranda. I was leaning against one of those funny posts—"

"Come, come Miss Struthers," the sheriff exclaimed impatiently. I asked you where you were when you heard the shots. I'm not interested in the history of your movements from the time you finished supper."

Upon the big sheriff the girl from Peso Pinto turned wide blue eyes in which there shone the hurt expression of a child who has been unjustly reproved. "But Mr. Ratchford, that is what I am trying to tell you. I had stepped out on the veranda when I heard two sharp reports—"

"Then you did not see the gunflashes?" the sheriff growled. "You couldn't say from which direction the reports came?"

The girl shook her head. "I'm

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE relationship between Harry Hopkins and Harold Ickes is outwardly friendly, but the ancient war between the administration's strong-armed pump primers has broken out again behind the scenes. Each aims to be the big shot in the recovery drive.

When P.D.R. closed down the P.W.A. shop because private industry appeared ready to shoulder the burden of employment, many cities and states had applications pending with Mr. Ickes. With understandable speed they shifted their problems to Harry's office, where the funds are dished out much more generously and speedily than at P.W.A. Now that P.W.A. spending has been resumed, they prefer to deal with Mr. Ickes' less carping rival.

Some mayors and governors don't even answer the secretary's letters when he notifies them to come and get it. Others write back effusively, but on the sly they palaver with Harry. Recently Mr. Ickes detailed a committee of his engineers to W.P.A. headquarters to check up on these maneuvers. It was supposed to be a cooperative body—more effective liaison between the spending agencies. But some of Harry's men suspect them of ulterior aims and ambitions.

CAUTION: The feud has become so fierce that Mr. Ickes quietly ordered his experts to furnish no details on the status of pending projects to "outside agencies." Most of the inquiries they're not supposed to answer have originated nowhere except W.P.A.

It also explains the new arrangement under which R.F.C.-er Jesse Jones will finance federal loans, while P.W.A. will subsidize the outright grants. It represents a ganging-up of the slow, conservative spenders—Messrs. Jones and Ickes—against the more big-hearted Harry. With the R.F.C. exercising a sharp check on applications for loans, Mr. Ickes will be able to keep a closer watch on Harry and his mayors and governors. Next step will probably be the establishment of a three-agency coordinating committee—hitherto needed but never created—to permit a minute supervision of would-be borrowers.

Local officials have become more reluctant to get in hock to Uncle Sam—a novel and surprising development. When they borrowed through 1935 and 1936, economic conditions were on the upgrade, there were fewer on local relief, people were better able to pay their taxes. On the power sector many private companies have cut electric rates, thereby dissipating the demand for an Ickes-financed plant. Lastly, staggering under a peak load of debt, local units figure it's time to quit their spending spree.

COALITION: Even key Republicans have abandoned any hope of resuscitating the party through sweeping gains on the Congressional or gubernatorial battlefields next fall. Their most optimistic private estimate forecasts a House increase of 50 seats and only four G.O.P. senators. Earlier figures had been 100 and 11, respectively.

The reason for this amazing decline in G.O.P. expectations is the unofficial and unadmitted growth of anti-New Deal coalition. It doesn't signalize any lack of desire to administer a stunning defeat, if possible, to the administration. But in many sections the conservatives have taken matters into their own hands. They have smashed party lines in a way that neither Mr. Roosevelt nor his worse enemies dreamed of. They are ganging up behind conservative Democrats where they seem the most likely winners, behind Republicans where they have the better chance. The antis exhibit only slight regard for ancient emblems, traditions, district leaders, party candidates.

Ironically, this smashup suits the more extreme Rooseveltians perfectly—or it will if they win out in the scramble. It's what they have been begging for and urging the President himself to precipitate with his somewhat defunct purge.

NECESSITY: American bankers are holding their breath pending the Fascist purge of prominent Hebrews in the Italian government, as exclusively reported here. Their Washington representatives have been peering around diplomatic corners for weeks in an effort to get the lowdown.

Mussolini's boys at Washington are extremely close-lipped about the affair, but Il Duce's animus is supposed to have been inspired by the belief that leading Jewish financiers within the charmed circle have been casting an anchor to windward. It is understood to have taken the form of helping to ship capital abroad in anticipation of a reputation of the same sort of confiscatory moves Hitler recently made against Jewish holdings.

A better but unofficial guess is that this charge, whether true or not, will be voiced so as to win the Italian people to the anti-Hebrew crusade. So far it hasn't seemed to appeal to the populace, though public protests have been missing for obvious reasons. The truth seems to be that Il Duce, pinched by his Ethiopian expansion and Spanish exploits, needs the money.

PENSIONS: The Congressional pension bloc did not score as sweeping a victory for World War veterans as was first thought.

What they accomplished was to obtain a flat $22 monthly rate for the widows of veterans who had suffered from a 10 per cent service-connected disability. They also amended the qualifications so that if an ex-soldier had any service-connected disability, and died from it, his widow received $30 a month. Both marked long strides back to the pension front they occupied before the 1933 economy act, but no provision was made for outright payments to veterans themselves who suffered from only a 10 per cent disability.

In view of the mood of most of the men winning in both party's primaries, however, it wouldn't surprise any of the legislative and pension experts if the next session recognizes veterans' claims more generously than at any time since the World War. It's going to be a pension-minded Congress.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

ONE by one, important federal agencies are getting out from under the Treasury department's wing. The Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Commodity Credit corporation are no longer included in the Treasury budget. Hereafter, like the Farm Credit administration and the Home Owners Loan corporation, they will finance themselves by selling their own securities, backed by a federal government guarantee.

Financial sharps predict that the Tennessee Valley authority, the Rural Electrification administration and the United States Housing authority will soon be granted a similar independent financial status. Each of these bodies would then do its own banking. Theoretically they are all supposed to show a profit on their activities, but they needn't worry too much if they run in the red. A deficiency appropriation from Congress will always remedy that.

Two angles in this development are worth noting. Most of these agencies were set up ostensibly as emergency organizations to combat the depression. Now they are being revamped on a permanent basis. Also their eliminaation from Treasury figures makes the national debt look smaller and minimizes the Treasury's own borrowing.

DISCIPLINE: The soft coal industry has been in a condition bordering an anarchy since the Bituminous Coal commission's price-fixing program broke down. A wild game of cutthroat is going on and practically all producers are losing money heavily. In many cases, the more coal they produce the greater their losses.

But the B.C.C. isn't as dead as you might suspect. On the contrary, it has been busy in recent months holding hearings and gathering information on which to base a brand new comprehensive schedule of prices for the industry. Profiting from its earlier mistakes, the commission has kept these hearings very quiet and will shun publicity until it is ready to promulgate the new price set-up. This time it intends to build a foundation solid enough to withstand court attacks from any angle.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"If we're going to spend our vacation quarreling, let's go home where it won't cost us twenty dollars a day."

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, the Fort Worth flour broker, was the first candidate since enactment of the run-off primary law to win the Democratic nomination for a first term as governor in the July primary.

His feat was the more remarkable because the number of entrants in the governor's race this year was larger than ever before. O'Daniel had eleven opponents.

Dan Moody came within 1,000 votes of a first primary majority in 1926. He had five opponents but one was Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, then governor.

System Same Since 1920

The run-off primary statute was enacted in 1918 and first used in 1920. In that year Pat M. Neff trailed former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey by a few votes in the first primary but received a substantial majority in the run-off.

Neff was renominated in 1922 with a clear majority over three opponents.

Mrs. Ferguson ran behind Felix D. Robertson in the first primary of 1924 but defeated him by nearly 100,000 votes in the run-off.

In the 1928 first Democratic primary, Moody was renominated with a majority over three opponents. Two years later, Ross S. Sterling finished far behind Mrs. Ferguson in the initial primary yet defeated her in the run-off. In 1932, Mrs. Ferguson was ahead of Sterling in the first primary and again in the second.

Allred Record Equaled

O'DANIEL was the second candidate for governor in Texas history to receive more than 500,000 votes in a Democratic primary.

James V. Allred got 553,219 votes in the first primary two years ago. Until then, Allred's total of 499,3.. in the 1934 runoff and Moody's total of 495,723 in the 1926 runoff were high.

Moody "Put On Spot"

Some one asked Moody recently whether he would have accepted a federal judgeship appointment as Allred did near the close of his last term as governor.

"Knowing what I did then," Moody replied, "I think I would have; knowing what I do now, I don't know whether I would."

Moody did not conceal he was in debt when he completed his term as governor. He served at $4,000 a year, whereas the present salary is $12,000.

The former governor emphasized that he considered a federal judgeship an office "of great dignity and importance."

Moody "Is Through"

MOODY'S name continues to bob up in speculation concerning future United States Senate races. He is 45. The former governor says, however, he has no intention of running for anything.

"I quit politics a winner and want to stay that way."

Twins In Legislature

There will be a twin brother team in the next legislature. Ross Hardin was renominated without difficulty to his third term in the house of representatives. His brother, Doss, won by a wide margin in the contest for the State Senate position left vacant by the death of Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron.

The 27-year-old brothers, who live in Limestone county, are so much alike one frequently is mistaken for the other.

Ross, who is a candidate for Speaker of the House, says he didn't spend much time on his campaign for renomination. He concentrated on helping get Doss nominated for the Senate.

The last legislature had a father and son team consisting of Dr. Newton and his son, George. George did not seek another term in the house.

Doss Hardin will become the "baby" Texas Senator in place of J. Manley Head of Stephenville. A Senator must be at least 26.

Sponsors Of New Eden Want Companions Psychoanalyzed

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 4. (AP)—Two men advertising for companions in a new "Garden of Eden" in the Marquesas Islands, 1,000 miles off the nearest trade route in the dead center of the Pacific ocean, have been deluged by requests.

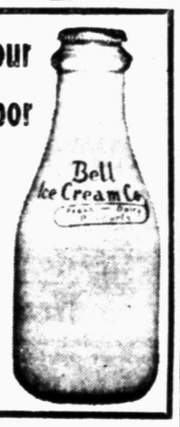

Essentials for applicants are that each man and woman be married "and for their children, if any, to be young." The originators of the scheme also insist each person chosen to be examined by a psychoanalyst.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 77 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Poor Doc's knees weakened so that he remained standing only with an effort. The boy seemed to be held in a paralysis of fright that gripped every muscle of his body. He felt the goose flesh rise upon his cold skin. A sickening tremor raced up his spine.

Not five feet from him stood a great lion, its round yellow-green eyes peering straight into his. Doc tried to think of a prayer, but the only one he could remember was, "Now I lay me down to sleep." He could only think of it, for his lips were stiff with fear.

It seemed an eternity that the lion stood there glaring at him with those unblinking eyes, yet it was only a moment. Then the beast moved slowly toward him. Doc did not try to run away, or offer resistance, for the spell of terror held him paralyzed.

Doc believed that this was the end. At any moment he expected one of those savage talons to strike out, or sharp fangs to bury themselves in his flesh. Nearer, nearer, came the dread carnivore. Already Doc could feel the lion's hot breath on his naked flesh!

HEAT FELT IN MARKET
By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Buying in steels and motors helped keep a fairly good looking stock market going today, and while there was an assortment of losers at the close gains running to a point or so were fairly well distributed.

Continuance of the heat wave caused many traders from the boardrooms and those who remained here none too eager to step out very far on either side of the market. Transfers dropped from yesterday's moderate total of 837,160 shares to 609,600, the second smallest turnover for a full session since June 17.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up 1 of a point at 49.1.

Most modest business news items were on the side of recovery forces.

Foreign currencies rallied in terms of the dollar as the London gold buying rush slowed down and the price of the metal in the British capital, mounting sharply lately, was unchanged from Wednesday.

The apparent lessening of Russo-Japanese war tension in the Far East contributed to the somewhat better performance of the market although the recent clashes have been more unsettling to European thought than to domestic share prices.

Another upturn in Pittsburgh steel mill operations was stimulating to stocks in this department.

Rails shifted over a major fractional route, with discussion centering on whether the wage cut controversy now passed over to federal mediation would result in at least a compromise.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Cotton futures prices gained 4 to 5 points here today in dull, narrow and trendless dealings.

Support came principally from reports of continued unfavorable weather in the eastern section of the belt. The most pessimistic crop reports were from Alabama and Georgia. New business was held off pending release of the government crop estimate Monday.

The Oct. position closed at 8.60. Dec. at 8.67, Jan. at 8.69, March at 8.74, May at 8.78 and July at 8.82 bid, at or near the highs of the day. Spots closed dull with middling 4 points higher at 8.65 cents a pound on sales of 11 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Cotton moved slightly higher today as a moderate scattering demand created a scarcity of contracts. December advanced from 8.52 to 8.61 and closed at 8.58, with final prices 4 to 5 points net higher.

The market opened 1 point higher to 1 lower with the effect of slightly easier Liverpool cables offset by further showers east of the Mississippi river. Trade buying orders at around the basis of 8.50 for December and a little Liverpool buying helped the rise.

A private estimate placing the crop at 10,572,000 bales was the smallest of the private reports issued thus far.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 5 points higher at 8.58 cents a pound, average for the past 30 market days 8.84 cents a pound.

CONFERENCE HELD

MARLIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—Senator Tom Connally conferred here today with Roy Sanderford of Belton, chairman of the Brazos river flood control committee and Jim Baskin of Cameron, member of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation board.

Prominent Man Death Victim

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 4 (AP)—George Whitcomb, 37-year-old mine owner and son-in-law of former Gov. John E. Erickson of Montana was shot and killed early today during an altercation with patrolman Tom Martin, 60, of the Helena police department.

In a statement to County Attorney Harold K. Anderson, Martin said he was patroling his beat when he saw two men in the shadows near a monument works.

Martin, in his statement, said he went to investigate and recognized Whitcomb and Tom Curtis, a Helena restaurant proprietor.

The patrolman said he talked to them a minute or two and when he turned to go Whitcomb, who was six feet tall and weighed 308 pounds, grabbed him around the neck. Martin told the county attorney he swung with his club and struck Whitcomb once and both fell over a tombstone.

Whitcomb, the statement said, seized the club and started striking the patrolman who then drew his gun and fired one shot.

Japanese Soldiers In Shanghai Are Saluted By Italians

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 4 (AP)—Japanese army and naval officers rate salutes from Italian soldiers and bluejackets in the Shanghai area.

While no orders to this effect from the Italian commands have been made public Italian service men entering Japanese-occupied districts of the International Settlement never fail to salute Nipponese officers according to American observers. The salutes are returned. The same practice is carried out with regard to Italians by Japanese soldiers and sailors.

Italians have been the only foreign service men permitted to enter Japanese-controlled areas of Shanghai.

Gunman Shrouds Whereabouts

Officers here Thursday learned that the automobile abandoned in an alley in the 500-block Avenue R Wednesday night by a lone hijacker of a Lubbock filling station had been reported stolen at Austin May 26. The machine bore a Travis county lisence.

No trace of the gunman who staged a holdup at the new Gulf filling station at Broadway and Avenue Q leased to C. J. Bell had been found, officers, said, although a network of officers throughout West Texas were warned to watch for suspects. Descriptions of the man were broadcast.

Accomplice Suspected

The hijacker took the money from George Gilfillan, the only attendant at the station at the time of the holdup at 9:20 o'clock Wednesday night. Gilfillan was taken for a three-blocks ride before released by the gunman. Bell said the loss amounted to $44.

Authorities were of the opinion Thursday the man probably had an accomplice in another car "planted" near where he abandoned the car stolen at Austin.

The hijacking was one of the most daring staged in Lubbock recently. The intersection was well-lighted and is one of the most traveled at night in the city.

Old Days Will Live At Dalhart

DALHART, Aug. 4. (AP)—Visitors to the third annual XIT reunion in Dalhart Aug. 8 and 9, will be welcomed by Mayor Frank B. Farwell, grand-nephew of the original owners and probably the only mayor extant who once was an XIT ranch employee.

The annual reunion is to honor former XIT cowhands and their families. Since 1900 the ranch has been sub divided and only a fraction of the original domain remains in control of direct descendants of its founders.

U. S. Senator Charles B. Farwell and his brother, John V. Farwell, Chicago financiers, in the early 1880's bargained with Texas to build the $3,000,000 state capitol at Austin and accept three million Panhandle acres in payment. That acreage became the XIT ranch.

Mayor Farwell's father was C. H. Farwell, nephew of one of the owners. He ran a stock farm for them at Montezuma, Iowa, where they experimented with breeds of cattle, sending some of them to their Texas range.

Trail Drivers To Meet

C. H. Farwell moved to Channing, once the general XIT headquarters, 30 miles southeast of Dalhart, in the late 1880's where the future mayor realized his boyhood dream of becoming an XIT hand. He came to Dalhart 31 years ago.

Farwell also will welcome the old trail drivers of the southwest, who will hold their annual meeting on the XIT dates. The group is headed by Col. Jack M. Potter, who was a Texas trail driver until he settled at Clayton, N. M. when it was founded 50 years ago. Tom E. Owen also of Clayton, whose father brought the first Hereford cattle into that state, is secretary of the group.

He and Col. Potter will meet each morning at 9 o'clock and adjourn in time for the 11 a. m. parade that will be held each day of the reunion. Col. Potter believes that among speakers for his meeting he will have former Gov. Jim Hinkle of New Mexico, now living at Roswell. "Hinkle and I punched cows together in the Pecos river breaks in New Mexico in the 1880's," Potter said.

Among other speakers will be F. P. Streeter of Hays, Kas., author of the book, "Prairie Trails and and Cattle Towns," and A. W. (Albert) Thompson of Denver, Potter said. Thompson, author of many articles, and books, is one of the few men living who saw Black Jack Ketchum, New Mexico's most notorious train robber, hanged at Clayton in 1903, and is considered the foremost authority on northeastern New Mexico history. Thompson was the last man, except the sheriff and priest, whose offices Black Jack scorned, to shake hands with the famous outlaw before he mounted the 13 steps to his doom.

Here's Something Different—Argue About Smallest Fish

MIAMI, Fla., August 4. (AP)—When Dr. William Beebe announced, after capturing a 1 1-2 inch sailfish, that he believed it was the smallest ever taken, Al Pflueger, a Miamian who mounts important catches, got peeved.

"I've seen hundreds that size," Al sneered. "I've seen them caught and I've removed them from the stomachs of other fish. They're so common off the southeast Florida coast we think nothing of them."

Thomas Aitken, an authority on big game fishing seconded Pflueger.

Anyhow, When A Sow Farrows Litter Of 19 Pigs, Owner Can Stick Out His Chest

D. E. Ramsey, farmer who has resided many years 18 miles south of Lubbock on the Tahoka highway, was uncertain Thursday whether to claim a maternity record for a certain sow on his place.

He reported, however, on the occasion of a visit to Lubbock Thursday, that the 19 pigs to which she gave birth on Aug. 1 is the largest litter of which he ever has heard, and he has been in the hog business most of his life.

Three of the pigs were stillborn, he related. The remaining 16 are still alive, but it is necessary to feed six of them by hand since the mother has only 10 teats.

The sow is a pure-bred Chester White weighing more than 400 pounds. Three previous litters numbered 16, 8 and 7 pigs, respectively. A sow at Lorenzo farrowed more than 20 pigs last year.

Mississippi Piloting Is Family Tradition

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 4. (AP)—Fontaine Martin Johnson stoutly maintains that sentiment had nothing to do with his determination to become a Mississippi River pilot.

He will admit, though, that his grandmother, Grand Old Nettie Johnson, the only woman pilot on the river three decades ago, was a glamorous figure of his youth.

Then, too, his grandfather, Cap'n I. S. Johnson, was a colorful pilot in the days when packets flourished.

Pilots also are his father, Capt. A. C. Johnson, operator of the Helena, Ark., ferry, and his uncle Capt. E. B. Johnson, master of the Federal Barge Line steamer The Cairo.

But, of course, that had nothing to do with his quitting college, where he had gone to prepare for a medical career, to resume "learning" the river a year ago. Now, at 20, he has a second-class pilot's papers and knows every point, bend and reach of the river between Memphis and New Orleans.

Sentiment? Not much!

Garner Really Is Working Man Now

UVALDE, Aug. 4. (AP)—When Vice President Garner wired President Roosevelt on his recent visit to Texas that he was unable to meet him "because I am now working for a living," he meant it literally for the vice president can now be classed as one of the big ranchmen of the southwest Texas.

Having acquired a 24,000-acre ranch in northern Webb county, he spends much of his time on the ranch where a vast program of improvement under way calls for drilling new water wells, construction of several reinforced concrete storage tanks of 30,000 to 60,000 gallons capacity, new windmills and other improvements.

Chamber Of Commerce Is Asked: "Want To Rent An Indian"

LARAMIE, Wyo., Aug. 4. (AP)—Want to rent an Indian?

Members of the Laramie chamber of commerce raised eyebrows when their secretary, W. C. McCann, asked them that question.

In his hand he had a letter from Pine Ridge, S. D., where there is an Indian reservation, asking if Laramie could use "a truck load of real show Indians" for part of the summer. The letter suggested the Indians would lend "atmosphere" to attract tourists.

The chamber is undecided.

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 4—Victor H. Roberts, a carpenter, lost his saw while remodeling a building 34 years ago.

The other day when the building was torn down he found the saw where he had left it, sealed up in one of the cornices.

It was in good condition and Roberts is using it again.
