Hopkins Says That Dole Is Gone Forever

Relief Administrator Claims That Americans Like To Work For Their Living

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 21—Harry L. Hopkins completed four years in charge of federal relief today, convinced that government work for the jobless permanently has replaced private charity as "the American system."

The lean, Iowa-bred administrator has supervised the greatest relief fund in history—amounting to almost $7,000,000,000 for work relief alone.

HARRY HOPKINS

"My years here have taught me that Americans like to work for what they get," he said, "and that the nation has use for their labor in public improvements when they can't find a job in private industry.

"I am confident that we will never go back to the dole or the vicious idea that poverty should be punished."

He Started Transition

It was Hopkins who, late in 1933, began the transition from state aid to federal work. The Civil Works administration, which put 4,000,000 on the treasury payroll within a month, resulted.

"The American system," Hopkins recalled, "was to take care of the jobless through private agencies. It worked well until the load became too great. State and cities had to get busy."

The present total of about 2,000,000 is slated to be reduced by at least 500,000 next year. The cost averages $800 a year per man. Pay is about $55 a month.

Bi-partisan coalitions are forming in congress to attempt to dismantle WPA and return relief administration to the states. Senator King (D-Utah) proposed appropriating $850,000,000 for allocation among the states by the president on a matching basis.

"The federal government," said Hopkins, "has no intention of turning relief back to local units or of liquidating its program."

Texan Believes Fight To Be In Order But He Wants To Get A Price List First

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, May 21.—A man walked into County Judge Roy Hofheinz's office.

"How much is the fine for fighting?" he asked Miss Jessie Traynor, the judge's secretary.

"Why, I don't know," she said. "Have you had a fight?"

"No," the man said, "but I'm going to have one and I want to know how much the fine costs."

Miss Traynor asked whether the fight was necessary.

The man said it was. He said another man was trying to break up his home.

The secretary advised him to confer with a justice of the peace.

The man went to the office of Justice of the Peace Tom Maes and repeated his question.

The fine for simple assault ranges from $5 to $100 and costs, he was informed.

"Well, how much is it in corporation court?" the man asked.

He was informed the price range is the same except there is no charge for court costs.

He hurried from the office.

Police Are Baffled In Mystery Case

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 21 — A federal agency took over an investigation today into the strange disappearance from a Potomac river steamer of Charles F. Keene, 65-year-old Washington real estate man.

Eight days have passed since Keene boarded an overnight boat here for Norfolk, Va. He was missing when the steamer put into port.

Theories Are Offered

Was he killed in his cabin and his body thrown into the river?

Did he commit suicide?

Is he still alive?

What appear to be bloodstains were discovered in his disheveled cabin.

His glasses, without which he was said never to have walked, lay smashed upon the floor — yet a brown beret he wore on deck was missing.

Three articles his family say are not his were picked from the cabin carpet:

Articles Are Found

A new pair of gloves.

A chamois pouch.

An empty black purse.

Armed with little more tangible evidence than this, the bureau of marine inspection and navigation called a number of witnesses today for a public hearing.

Assisted by the missing man's son, Charles F. Keene, jr., Maryland and Washington detectives have gathered from the boat crew and passengers what may develop into important clues.

Steel Industry Gets Warning From Labor

Drive For Contracts Being Renewed In Other Plants; Miners Are On Strike

(By The Associated Press)

The Committee for Industrial Organization hailed its victory in the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation election today as a forerunner of collective bargaining throughout the steel industry.

Out of 24,412 votes cast by employes in the biggest election conducted under authority of the Wagner labor relations act 17,028 ballots favored the C. I. O. steel workers organizing committee as bargaining representative. The majority vote made the S. W. O. C. the exclusive bargaining agency for all J. and L. employes.

Warning To Others

Philip Murray, C. I. O. chieftain commented:

"It should be a warning to other independent steel producers that the wave of favorable sentiment for the C. I. O. and organization of the workers cannot be thwarted by opponents of true collective bargaining."

With the election out of the way, C. I. O. officials renewed their crive for collective bargaining contracts from other large independent producers Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland and Crucible.

Miners Stay Underground

While ballots were being counted in Pittsburgh, approximately 500 miners entrenched themselves 360 feet underground at Gillespie, Ill., in a dramatic bid for concessions from the Superior Coal company. The strikers sought a stagger system of work that would permit employment of 300 fellow workers made idle by the closing of another pit for repairs.

Sympathizers and strikers' families brought food, clothing and reading material to the entombed men. An official of the Progressive Miners of America said the men would "stick it out to the last."

Production was resumed today in the Ecorse, Mich., plant of the Murray corporation after an overnight sitdown by workers objecting to the speed of production.

Agreement Reached

Representatives of the union and management met during the night and came to an agreement, terms of which were not immediately disclosed.

The plant manufactures frames for Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler corporation.

Three hundred U. A. W. unionists employed by the Champion Spark Plug company remained in possession of the firm's plant in Hamtramck, Mich. The sit-down strike was caused, a union organizer said, by the management's effort to discourage unionization. A strike at the Plymouth plant affecting 10,200 workers was settled.

At Hollywood, Calif., the Federated Motion picture crafts postponed indefinitely a strike against 27 independent producers pending negotiation of demands for a union shop.

Way Is Paved For Plea Of Self Defense

Counsel For Donald Wightman Seeks To Show That Police Did Not Mention Knife

(By The Associated Press)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 21—The way was paved further for a self-defense plea today in the trial of Gladys MacKnight, 17, and Donald Wightman, 18, for the hatchet slaying of the girl's mother.

With the prosecution nearing the end of its case, counsel for the red-haired boy sought to show that Bayonne police in early questioning of the young couple did not mention the knife reported found in the mother's hand.

Wightman

Gladys, who, the state charges, hacked Mrs. Helen MacKnight to death while Donald held her, was calm as the time drew near for her defense to begin.

Bayonne Detective Capt. Thomas McGrath, testified under cross-examination that Supt. John J. Rigney, head of the police department's bureau of identification, showed him a knife the night the pair were at headquarters and said:

Knife Is Produced

"This is the knife Mrs. MacKnight is supposed to have had in her hand."

Col. George Vickers, attorney for Wightman, asked "did you hear anyone say that was the knife used by Mrs. MacKnight to make a lunge at Gladys and Donald?"

The answer was: "I didn't hear that."

Edgar MacKnight—he looks like pictures of the "average American father" reading a paper and puffing a pipe—was in the court as prospective first defense witness for his daughter.

Leading Lawyer Hired

He hired one of the leading lawyers in Bayonne; came to court, wearing spectacles and a neat, conservative Oxford gray suit, to sit at the defense counsel table, and there were indications he would go on the stand to further a plea of self-defense for the girl.

Already on record was testimony from John J. Rigney, superintendent of the Bayonne police bureau of identification, that MacKnight told him he took a kitchen knife from his dead wife's right hand.

Also on record were alleged statements from Gladys and Donald given to police quoting them as saying she struck, while the boy held her mother, because the mother advanced on them with a knife as she found them "kissing" in the kitchen.

New Outbursts Heard Today

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 21.—The controlled nazi press renewed its broadsides against American Jews and Catholics today and demanded that the vatican "call to order" George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago for attacks on Adolf Hitler.

The outbursts were extended to include not only the cardinal but Catholics and Jews generally and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York, in particular.

Investigation Described

Under the caption of "hair-raising immorality in New York high schools," the official news agency distributed an item through Germany describing an investigation into charges that there had been wholesale bootlegging of contraceptives among students of Brooklyn high schools.

"This action by the board of education," the dispatch said, "is further evidence of what unheard of things are possible in this city under the eyes of the Jew LaGuardia."

Probe Under Way

(An investigation is being made by District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan of Brooklyn into what he termed immorality among high school students in that borough.)

The press generally insisted on a definite showdown with the vatican over Cardinal Mundelein's description of the reichschancellor as "an Austrian paperhanger, and a poor one at that" and of German trials of priests and lay brothers on immorality charges as worse propaganda than the atrocity tales of the World war.

Veto Is Given Proposal For East Texas

Governor Says That Financial Condition Of State Blocks Building Of Two Hospitals

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 21—Governor James V. Allred made good today on his promise to veto an appropriation of $817,000 for a new hospital for the insane to be built in East Texas but approved one for the same amount and purpose to be established in West Texas.

The governor said the financial condition of the state would not justify building two such institutions at this time and, moreover, the legislature made the appropriations in the general knowledge that he would knock out the one for East Texas.

Recommendation Cited

"In my message to the legislature dated Jan. 25, pointed out that the board of control had recommended the establishment of a new hospital for the insane in West Texas to cost approximately $817,000," he said.

"I adopted the recommendation of the board and myself recommended the establishment of this hospital. Up to that time no representative of either West or East Texas had conferred with me about it. I simply acted upon the recommendation of the board of control and their finding that this hospital was necessary and desirable.

Was Not Discussed

"No member of the legislature, or representative of East Texas discussed any proposed hospital in East Texas until after an amendment to this effect had been adopted in the state senate. When the matter went into conference a number of the members of the legislature did discuss it with me.

"I was advised that the legislature was unwilling to appropriate money for two hospitals at this time in view of the depleted condition of the treasury and the fact no tax revenues had been raised. An overwhelming majority felt we did need one hospital, and that this should be established to serve a vast area in West Texas not being served at the present time and to relieve congestion in other institutions.

"I am myself of the opinion that we cannot afford to build two hospitals at this time. I think one hospital, with the additions which have been authorized at existing institutions, are sufficient to meet our present and early future needs. Many members of the legislature voted for the passage of this bill because it was commonly understood that I would not approve the building of two hospitals at this time."

Suspects Will Face Charges

(Special To The Journal)

TAHOKA, May 21—Two men suspected of having broken into numerous oil stations of the South Plains probably will be returned to the South Plains from Ardmore, Okla., where they were arrested this morning with an asserted load of "hot oil," said Sheriff Bill Parker of Lynn county.

Parker, Sheriff Jim Cook of Muleshoe and possibly the Crosbyton sheriff probably will go to Ardmore for the men, one of whom reputedly served an imprisonment term at Santa Fe on an earlier offense.

Seveeral Towns Included

Authorities said stations at Muleshoe, Crosbyton and Tahoka were included in the list that had been robbed of motor oils and greases. Some of the property taken was sold later at widely scattered points, they said.

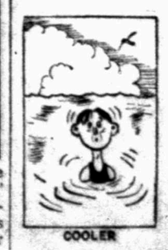

The men sought made a getaway from authorities in Lubbock less than two weeks ago after being accosted, when they "stepped on the gas" and sped away.

Both men have been charged with lesser offenses, peace officers said.

Exercise, Diet Make Up Recipe

* * *

Swimming is a recreation which is both good exercise and fun. Virginia Verrill, young radio singer, finds. She swims for a quarter of an hour every day.

When Virginia Verrill, the singer, sits down with cocktail-drinking friends after an evening's work, she orders milk — and takes a lot of fun-poking from the rest of the group.

But milk is part of her beauty recipe and she sticks to it. And she has the figure to show for it: bust 31 1-2 inches; hips 35 inches; and waist 24 inches.

Behind-the-scene work, too, contributes to that slender silhouette. It includes about six miles of brisk walking (in Central park), 15 minutes or so of swimming and a bit of exercise on a mechanical bicycle each day.

There's also a moderated diet that doesn't seem at all skimpy — but which works wonders over a period of several months.

The diet consists mainly of fish, fowl, fruits and vegetables. It is minus nearly all sweets and starchy foods. But it doesn't prohibit meat once a day and potatoes now and then.

A number of other helps for reducing are also finding favor with figure-conscious women.

Some use a "fatless butter" which resembles butter but is said to be free of fattening qualities. Others resort to the rubber rollers which manufacturers claim are especially effective for reducing arms, legs and hips that are over-plump. And still others faithfully follow exercise routines meant to redistribute the few pounds that make the difference between a sleek appearance and one not so neat.

Ask The Master Psychologist DR. LA ROSE, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness Success. Being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear . . than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. Men are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Determined Young Hitchhiker Has Novel Idea For Ride

EAGLE PASS, May 21 (AP) — A determined young hitch hiker from Houston, weary of having motorists pass him by, hit upon the novel idea of blocking the highway with rocks, forcing all cars to stop "for inspection."

The idea was all right but the ride he got was in the wrong direction. It was in Sheriff Herman Lehmann's car—to the Eagle Pass jail.

Was war or prohibition responsible for the crime wave?

Hill-Climbing In Mid-Pacific

New Weapon For War On Traffic Mishaps Now In Hands Of Public Safety Unit

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP)—A remodeled drivers' license law, signed by Governor James V. Allred Thursday, put in the hands of the public safety department a new weapon for its war against street and highway traffic accidents.

The bill, authorizing suspension or revocation of licenses after a hearing before a court of competent jurisdiction and requiring examination after a 90-day period of all new applicants for licenses, became effective when the governor affixed his signature.

Persons applying for the first time for licenses within the 90-day period can qualify by giving evidence of satisfactory operation of an automobile for at least a year. It was said unofficially that an affidavit to this effect would be sufficient but final determination of policy remained with the public safety commission.

Must Take Action

The department must institute suspension or revocation proceedings within 20 days after a noffense.

Offenses subject to such action were convictions or negligent homicide, driving while intoxicated, failure to render aid and minor offenses, previously excluded, as follows: responsibility for any accident resulting in death, personal injury to another or serious property damage; habitual recklessness or negligence; habitual violation of traffic laws; incompetency in driving; unlawful or fradulent use of licenses, and commission of offenses in another state which if committed in Texas would be grounds for suspension or revocation.

A license may not be suspended for more than a year and drivers have the right of appeal within 30 days except where suspension is mandatory.

RECIPES TO END CONSTIPATION

Every woman can protect her family from common constipation by careful menu planning. Often the cause of illness from constipation is lack of "bulk" in the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this "bulk" in generous quantity.

You can use ALL-BRAN in so many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Or make delicious bran muffins and breads—put it into griddle cakes, salads or soups, or over other cereals.

Just be sure each member of your family gets two tablespoonfuls every day — and forget the illness caused by constipation. Serve three times daily, in severe cases.

You can also forget pills and drugs that nobody likes to take—and that so often fail unless the dose is constantly increased.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to help tone the intestines, and iron for the blood. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STRETCH YOUR MILEAGE

...with this 100% Custom Tailored Gasoline

Let's get right down to the facts. Let's talk about why and how Phillips 66 Poly Gas saves you money.

The reason is simple. Into every gallon of this new-type, cost-cutting gasoline, Phillips packs extra energy units by means of the patented POLYmerization process. The result is twofold. Your motor not only gets more power out of every gallon, but also delivers more miles.

But sudden changes in climate would endanger the economy and improved performance of Phillips 66 Poly Gas, if it were not 100% custom-tailored, matched in advance to your weather in accordance with U. S. Weather Bureau standards.

Why 100%? Because Phillips pioneered the idea of custom-tailoring gasoline to break the vicious connection between changes in weather and changes in motor performance. Because Phillips has carried the process further and made it function more successfully. Because Phillips has greater facilities for custom-tailoring than any other refiner.

That is why no other gasoline, not a single one, is so accurately matched to your weather as Phillips 66 Poly Gas!

The benefits are yours every day in the year from January through December. There is a real thrill behind the wheel, when the tank is filled with Phillips 66 Poly Gas. The Orange and Black 66 Shield is the sign that you can get this improved gasoline which does more—but costs no more.

County Health Unit Sought

Health committee of Lubbock County Children's council unanimously approved a report recommending that a health unit be sought for the county at a meeting in the office of Joseph R. Griggs, county school superintendent, at the courthouse Thursday afternoon.

The report will be submitted to the regular meeting of the council at Slaton May 31, Griggs said.

Members of the health committee are Griggs, Mrs. Roscoe Cowart and Mrs. Daniel A. Blair, who attended the meeting; and David Lemon, Slaton school superintendent, and Mrs. R. F. Hinchey who were unable to attend, but who joined in signing the report.

In Favor Of Movement

While the report makes no specific recommendations as such, it details at considerable length the success of health units in other counties of the state. Individual members of the committee likewise have expressed their support of the movement to obtain a similar unit for this county.

Such units, it was explained, are supported jointly by city-county and state-federal, usually on a 50-50 basis, although in extreme cases the state and government may contribute two-thirds of the total.

While the amount to be expended would be a matter to be determined, a suggested budget contained in the report would call for annual total appropriations from all sources of $16,650. That sum, it was explained, would create a personnel consisting of a director, three public health nurses, a sanitary engineer, a sanitarian and a clerk.

The report points out that present appropriations for the Lubbock county health department would be almost enough, if not wholly sufficient, to obtain the matching state and federal appropriation for a unit.

Work Educational, Preventive

Work of health units was described as being wholly educational and preventive.

In other counties, the educational phase has included public and technical lectures, informal talks, newspaper articles, distribution of leaflets and bulletins and personal conferences.

Other work done by units in other counties has included control of communicable diseases, child hygiene including pre-natal care of mothers and inspections of children, sanitation activities including inspections of water supplies, camp sites, mosquito breeding places, dairies and the like, laboratory examinations and eliminations of rabies dangers.

Lease Play In This County Is Continued Thursday

Lease play in Lubbock county was continued Thursday, reflecting a tendency for general search of elusive oil and mineral deposits. A total of 560 acres was conveyed in instruments filed with the county clerk.

Rights on 80 acres of land belonging to Fannie Patterson and husband, O. R. Patterson, were obtained by J. E. Cunningham of Dallas. The land was described as being in section 27, block S, certificate 3-513 issued to the G. C. & S. F. Railway company. Later the east one-half of the tract was assigned to Eugene M. Rollins of Dallas.

J. T. Krueger and wife, Leila Krueger, granted rights on the east one-half of section 11, block E and northwest quarter of section 30, block 20, all of which contains 480 acres, the last tract being part of the H. E. & W. T. Ry. company lands, to John C. Ryan, trustee, of Fort Worth.

Pageantry Of Past Is To Surround Pioneer Roundup

PLAINVIEW, May 21 (Special)—Pageantry of the past will surround Plainview's ninth annual Pioneer roundup Saturday.

In a winding parade on city streets will be joined cowpokes, girl bronc riders, plainsmen, covered wagons and Indian braves.

Ten Comanche Indians under leadership of Chief Baldwin Parker, descendant of Quanah and Cynthia Ann Parker, will be here. The Indians will provide exhibits of relics and curios and will present a program Saturday night in which they will perform a scalp dance, an old Indian hand game, deliver an historical speech, sing Indian love songs, demonstrate sign language, and do an Apache war dance.

Terry Heads Program

J. C. Terry, Plainview postmaster, will be in charge of a memorial program observing the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the postoffice here.

Among the highlights of the celebration is the unveiling of a granite shaft commemorating the expedition of General Ranald S. Mackenzie who led troops that drove Indians from the Texas Plains. Col. R. P. Smyth, pioneer Plainview resident, will unveil the monument. Mrs. E. Graham of Plainview, another pioneer, will preside and Judge A. B. Martin of San Antonio will deliver the principal address. Judge H. M. LaFont will deliver the address of acceptance of the shaft on behalf of the county.

"Golden Wedding Circle" Feature

Features of the parade will be numerous early-day conveyances, groups of cowboys and cowgirls, and a "golden wedding circle" composed of couples married 50 years or longer.

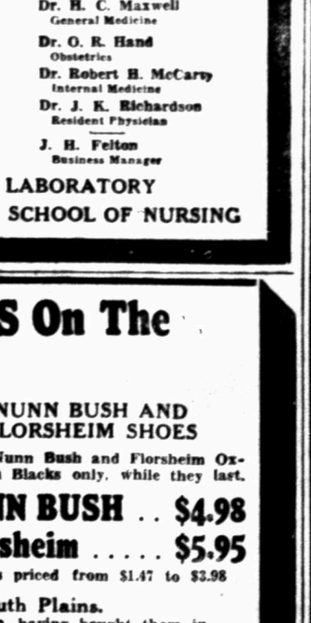

At 6 o'clock Saturday evening approximately 2,000 persons will be served a chuck wagon supper.

A pioneers' reception will be held at a central location in the city during the afternoon with view of providing opportunities for old timers to meet and relive the "good old days."

Many former Plains residents from several states have indicated they will attend the Round-up. Between six and ten thousand persons are expected to visit Plainview on the occasion.

Gainsborough, the famous artist, often worked with his paint brushes fastened to sticks six feet long.

Diplomas Are Awarded To 225 Members Of 1937 Graduating Class

Exercises Are Held In City

With color and solemnity appropriate to the occasion, 225 members of Senior High school class of 1937 received diplomas at exercises witnessed by an assembly which crowded the school auditorium to capacity. In addition, names of 42 students who will fulfill graduation requirements next July were read by Dr. J. Hutchinson, president of the city school board.

Dressed in traditional gray caps and gowns, seniors filed into the packed auditorium to the processional played by the high school orchestra. Rev. C. E. Hereford of the First Baptist church gave the invocation.

Student Delivers Speech

Following Jack York's marimba solo, J. W. Gamble, all-Westerner guard for 1936-37, spoke on "Life is an Unfinished Business."

Correlating with the student speaker's address, Dr. C. Q. Smith, vice president of Southern Methodist university, talked to graduating seniors about "Building the House of Tomorrow."

"In the beginning, he warned, you must be made to realize that achievement said to the conspicuousness of failure. The time has come when an educated man is needed everywhere, and graduation from high school is not enough today, he added.

Must Have Foundation

"Included in essentials for the building of the house of tomorrow is vision, a worthy objective and understanding of the environment in which you are building," said Dr. Smith. "One must know something of material that goes into the building, he must have the right kind of foundation and, above all, must build character into it."

Principal R. W. Matthews in a short talk presented the senior class of 1936-37 to Superintendent K. Oberholtzer, who in turn disclosed a report today from the state board of education that Lubbock Junior high school has been recognized as a fully credited 3-year high school. This, he added, gives Lubbock a 6-year secondary school system.

Scholarships Are Presented

Following this announcement, he presented scholarship certificates to Herbert M. Gray, highest ranker of the boys, Johnnye Mae Thompson, highest of the graduating students, and Iola Dale Findley, who received a scholarship to Draughon's Business college.

Other honor students were: Luene Anderson, Shirley Bass, Lillian Bain, Jock Holley, Arless Isom, Kendell Killin, Bob Lindsey, Mary Nell Moore, Mavis Pendley, Bernice Proctor, Chalones Roberts, Ima Jean Roberts, Billy Robertson, Betty Jo Savage, Yvonne Walker, Angelene West, Hazel Ann Wilson, and LaVerne Hulin.

After presentation of diplomas by Dr. Hutchinson and Matthews, Rev. Hereford gave the benediction.

Frenship School Exercises Held On Thursday Night

Twenty-three seniors of Frenship Rural High school were awarded diplomas at commencement exercises in the school auditorium Thursday night.

"More Sky" was the subject of an address by Wayne C. Eubank, principal speaker. B. M. Keese offered an invocation after the processional by Mrs. M. T. Daniell. A song by the class preceded a number by the high school band. Georgia Seale delivered the salutatory address, Misses Willadine, Eleanor and Mattie Martin sang a trio. Elmo McClendon delivered the valedictory address.

Miss Seale was presented in a piano solo, "Falling Waters."

Mrs. Daniell presented another piano number after the main address. R. S. Hobgood presented diplomas to the seniors of the class.

The recessional concluded the program after another number by the band and a benediction by Superintendent E. R. Haskins.

Members of the class were: Kathryn Bailey, John Bush, Dorothy Casey, Jamie Caviness, Lindsay Cave, Truett Dodson, Joy Feazel, Oleta Graston, Mary Heard, Theda Hinson, J. T. Jones, Viola Jordan, Howard Liner, Ollie Liner, Elmo McClendon, Pauline McClure, Burton McDougal, Juanita Meyers, Eleanor Moore, Mattie Grace Oden, Georgia Seale, Joe Stokes, and Woodie Strawn. Mrs. Ruby Payne was sponsor of the class.

Elder John T. Smith Will Speak To Roosevelt Class

Elder John T. Smith of Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock will be speaker at baccalaureate services for 26 seniors and 50 grammar school pupils of Roosevelt rural school in the school auditorium Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

All church congregations of the communities of the Roosevelt district are invited to attend services, said Superintendent M. L. Kelly, and several already have indicated they will dispense with Sunday night services to allow members to attend.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the school auditorium.

Members of the class are: Frank Gray, Gene Sawyer, Floyd Tidwell, Marvin Haralson, William Keith, Jeff Samples, Beryl Crossland, Frasier Bartlett, Chester Potts, Hubert Searsy, Alvin Parchman, James Vardeman, Peggy Polk, Mae Stennett, Thelma Cromer, Ruby Fay Snodgrass, Leta Mae Burleson, Bonnie Bass, Loraine Forbes, Byrdie Mae Meador, Dauphine Gilliam, Margie Marie Pace, Rosemary Patterson, Marguerite Blanton, and Vernita Brieger.

Levelland Exercises Are To Be Conducted Tonight

LEVELLAND, May 21 (Special)—Graduating exercises for Levelland high school seniors will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the school auditorium, according to B. F. Minor, superintendent.

"Life in the Making" will be the theme of the entire program. After the processional several members of the class will speak. Scheduled for talks are: Jack Moss, "Begin Where You Are;" Murl Leonard, "Keep Yourself Fit;" Mary Lou Allen, "Making Worthy Friends;" Raymond Langley, "Loyalty;" Anita Summers, "Life Enjoyment;" William McIlwain, "Life's Personality;" Marie Alverson, "Value of Influence;" Joe Pierce, "Keep on Learning;" and Nathan Tubb, "Going Forward."

Diplomas will be presented by Supt. Minor. Dr. Ray Ross and Edgar Brasch. Recessional will be by Mrs. Pauline Hudson. William McIlwain is valedictorian and Mary Lou Allen salutatorian.

Seniors At Dunbar High Are To Get Diplomas Tonight

C. H. Waller of the negro extension work of Prairie View State college at Prairie View will make the commencement address. Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, superintendent of Lubbock public schools, probably will speak, Struggs said. Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president of the school board, will present diplomas to ten seniors.

Evelyn Davis, member of the graduating class, will outline the history of the progress of the Dunbar school, Struggs said.

Struggs' wife will be in charge of music for the program. Special reservations will be made for white persons who wish to attend, Struggs said.

Members of the class are: Evelyn Davis, Louise Lewis, Eliza Banks, Archie Evans, Melvon Houston, Floyd Harris, J. B. Mason, M. J. Williams, Clyde Taylor, and Roy Perkins.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Odorous

OKOTOKS, Alta.—A skunk took possession of the skating rink here. The mayor referred the matter to the Royal Canadian police. The police passed it on to the town council. The council took it up with the constable and civic employees.

Some time later it was decided all would march on the rink together. By then the skunk had gone.

Two Saw This

NEW LONDON, Conn.—Joseph Watterson cast his worm baited hook into a stream. A trout and an eel raced for it. The trout won, but knocked the worm off the hook. The hooked trout and the eel continued fighting for the worm, and the trout twisted Watterson's line around the eel.

Watterson pulled them both up with the line, which was in a neat clove hitch about the eel. And he has two witnesses.

When In Rome

CARTHAGE, Mo.—Sparrows feed their young green food as a general rule. Bluebirds feed their young worms.

A cat recently killed the parents of baby bluebirds and the babies were adopted by some sparrows. W. O. Folkes was startled to note that the sparrows continued feeding the bluebirds the worms to which they had been accustomed.

Lawyers Do Talk

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—Mrs. Elizabeth Casselman appeared at police headquarters with an overtime parking ticket.

"I was talking to my lawyer and I guess I was gone longer than I thought," she explained.

Patrolman William Nadler advised her to tell it to Judge Ted Feidler.

"That's a good idea," said Mrs. Casselman. "He's my lawyer."

Topers

KINGSTON, N. C.—Will Jarman, local negro who says he once owned seven humming birds, described this method of catching them:

"You take a little gin, sweeten it as sweet as honey, drop a few drops in a few flowers and stand off and wait. The humming birds smell the gin and fall over themselves in getting to it. They get as drunk as coots. About three drops and a humming bird falls to the ground, squawks a few times, and invites anybody to come and pick him up."

Nix Is Chosen President Of Old Timers At Session

LAMESA, May 21. (Special)—E. C. Nix was chosen president and W. V. P. Baker secretary-treasurer for the next year as old settlers of Dawson county brought their annual reunion to a close Thursday afternoon.

Five hundred persons from as far as 2,000 miles were present for the gathering, which honored persons who lived in Dawson county 20 or more years ago. The program began with a barbecue picnic at 1:30 and continued with a sing-song of the old time songs. Dixie Kilgore, president, presided as old settlers made speeches and new officers were elected. A general visitation among the pioneers followed.

Retiring officers were: Kilgore, president, and H. H. Barron, vice president. No vice president was elected.

Cats Hurl Challenge To Beaumont

Copyright, 1937

A LOT OF SPIRIT and confidence is what the Hubbers needed, but lest they let that cocky feeling into their lineup following the last two games, let them be reminded that the Amerada Oilers, who come here Sunday, also scored more than 30 runs in one game last weekend.

LUBBOCK GOLFERS DO THEIR PART IN ACES

If there's another town with a population of less than 30,000 who can boast of more hole-in-one shooters than Lubbock, we'd like to hear from it.

The National Hole-In-One club apparently doesn't give prizes for the most aces produced in a town, but if it did, Lubbock would be a candidate.

Judge W. D. Girand's ace Wednesday at Lubbock Country club's No. 9 was only the third reported so far this season. It was the Judge's third of his career. It was the thirteenth ace registered in Lubbock in the last 14 months—nearly one a month.

In Lubbock's hole-in-one hall of fame for last season and this are Judge Girand, twice (he scored his first one in Lubbock and his second in history just before the grass greens were installed last year); Postmaster Amos Howard, who started the 1936 class of ten ace shooters; Francis Finberg, Windy Watkins, Sid Thrash, Panny Farmer, Graham Stinson, John Sears, who scored the first on the grass greens; Bob Hale and Shorty Woods, the Tahoka jeweler.

The only woman to score a hole-in-one here, so far as this department's records show, is Mrs. Cliff (Sue) Dean, who is possibly the outstanding linkswoman in these parts now. Mrs. Dean got her ace late in the 1935 season.

Judge Girand was more pleased with his third ace than with either of the first two, if such a thing is possible. He was playing in a foursome with Bill and Mrs. Helwig and Cotton McAfee Wednesday afternoon late. The ace gave him a 38 for the nine holes, which is "good golf for me."

THE BALK RULE IS REVIVED IN MAJORS

Reverberations from Wednesday's "battle of the century" in St. Louis, both according to rules and in extra-curricula activity, include the following citation by Paul Mickelson, AP scribe:

Like a prodigal son, the moss covered balk rule has returned to camp right in the hair of the big league baseball pilots who refused to let it die a natural death.

For as long as anyone can remember this rule, enforcement of which touched off the explosion of flying fists between the Giants and the Cards Wednesday, has decorated the rule book. Except for rare instances, not even hard-boiled umpires paid any attention to it. It was just a paragraph of words, meaning little or nothing.

But the club managers, who have an uncanny knack of remembering rules when the other side violates them, dug the antique piece out, set it right in the center of the National League office and demanded it be enforced rigidly or given a new home in the rule book of some other sport like table tennis.

So the National League president, Ford Frick, accepted the challenge. He ordered the league's supervisors of umpires, Ernest Quigley, into immediate action.

From May 4 to 8 this year, the harassed Quigley, who has umpired long enough to know what details are worth, visited the dressing rooms of seven National League clubs. To the eighth, Boston, he dispatched the veteran Bill Klem, as his emissary. Assembling each club's manager and entire pitching staff, Quigley and Klem explained the balk rule, announced it would be enforced to the letter at once, and answered any questions.

The balk rule simply says: "With a runner on first or second, the pitcher must face the batsman holding the ball in front of him. If he indulges in a preliminary stretch by raising his arms above his head or out in front, he must return to a natural pitcher's position and stop, ball touching glove, before starting his delivery to the batsman."

"And that's the story," explained the weary Frick, who was kept up half of Wednesday night making and answering long distance telephone calls to St. Louis to get full information on the battle, after which he slapped $50 fines on Dizzy Dean and Outfielder Ripple of the Giants. "The managers, and that includes Mr. Frisch of the Cardinals, asked that this rule be enforced. We took them at their word. Why, Frisch said the rule should have been enforced five years ago."

COUPLE TOO SHORT TO WED

Because they are too short, two dwarfs in a circus in Yugoslavia have been refused a license to marry. Belgrade reports say the man is two feet 11 inches and the woman two feet 8 1-2 inches. The law in Yugoslavia is that candidates for marriage must be more than three feet three inches high if they wish to have a civil marriage ceremony.

Hard Game Is Set Sunday

A touch of what may be overconfidence has replaced insufficient confidence and uncertainty on the Lubbock Hubber ball club, and managers and sponsors are prevailing upon their charges to "take it easy" as they go into a hard game Sunday and another a week hence.

Competition aplenty is coming Sunday when the Amerada Oilers of Hobbs make their first visit of 1937. It is possible that what extra confidence the Hubbers may have after their 36 to 1 victory Sunday over Littlefield may be offset by some of the same on the part of Hobbs players, who throttled the Carlsbad team last weekend, 31 to 6.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Hobbs team in as many starts this season. The team is made up of ball players who earn their salaries as hired hands of the Amerada Oil company, and who must meet baseball requirements or find other jobs. It is the second year of "organized" ball for the Amerada club, which made a fine start last year. They fell before the Hubbers, 4 to 5, late in the season.

Occupying first base for the Oilers is Lefty Barrett, former Abernathy, Wilson and Lubbock player who had no equal as a defensive first sacker on the Plains last year. Third baseman is R. D. Prather, who played short and third for the Hubbers last season. Carl Weaver, blue-eyed righthander who used to chunk for Littlefield and other clubs of the Plains, is the No. 1 hurling man for Hobbs and is to face the Hubbers Sunday. He probably will be opposed by Lefty Pair, probably the most settled and steadiest hurler on the Lubbock team.

Amarillo Here Next

The clubs clash at 3 o'clock at the local park, and it is due to be a nifty attraction, promising healthy rivalry and close combat.

Another tough contest for the Hubmen is coming up the following Sunday when Sammy Hale brings his Amarillo Phillips Oilers back to Lubbock, this time for a double header and half of the swag taken at the gate. Lubbock was scheduled to play at Amarillo on that date, but the game was switched when it became evident that the Amarillo park would not be completed in time for the game.

Admission for Sunday's game with Amerada remains the same, 40 cents for adults, 25 cents for youngsters.

Meadowbrook Golfers Are To Tackle Slaton Members

Challenged by the Railroaders of Slaton, the "Weedchoppers" of Meadowbrook golf club will engage in their second inter-city golf match of the season Sunday afternoon on the Santa Fe club course at Slaton.

The challenge came from Nick Carter, former Lubbock golfer, now of Slaton. Carter said: "We can match twenty of your players Sunday afternoon, starting at 1 o'clock."

O. A. "Terrible" Terry is captain of the Meadowbrook team. He is anxious that players contact him today and tomorrow and say if they plan to visit the Slaton course Sunday.

Another challenge has been issued by the Lamesa club for Sunday, June 6, Tosh said. "Lamesa informs me that it can match thirty golfers on that day."

TEETH BUILD HOSPITAL

Dogs' teeth have provided enough money to build a mission hospital in New Guinea. Last autumn Sister Maria Molnar, a missionary from Budapest, Hungary, wrote back home asking members of her church to collect canine teeth and send them to her as they are valuable as currency in New Guinea. Her appeal brought a large shipment of the teeth.

Lubbock golfers, several of them, are sharpening their clubs and their games for the thirteenth annual West Texas Golf association tournament at Brownwood next week.

Special invitations have been sent to Lubbock Country club and Meadowbrook golfers to enter the annual West Texas, and a delegation of at least ten, most of them from Country club, plans to attend.

Official qualifying day at Brownwood is Thursday, May 27, although out of town players may qualify Sunday, May 23, provided they notify Brownwood Country club officials tomorrow.

To Practice Wednesday

Most of the local delegates plan to be in Brownwood Wednesday for practice rounds over the rolling, grass greens, heavily turfed fairways of the tournament course, prior to qualifying on Thursday.

Professional Charles Akey of Lubbock Country club said yesterday that perhaps ten members of his club would enter the tournament. Jo Dick Slaughter, veteran tournament contender, Sid Thrash, Ted Tipps, Don Mitchell, Clyde Williams, Cotton McAfee and Bill Helwig have more or less definitely announced intentions of attending, Akey said, and the pro expects others to fall in line.

Lubbock will enter a bid for the 1938 tournament at the Brownwood business session. The tourney was last held here in 1931, and Charley Quail, then of Post now of Lubbock, was the winner. Quail has not said definitely whether he would seek the title again this year. Nor has the other local ex-champ, Clint Bussey, indicated his plans. Clint won the title in 1929 at Stamford.

Morris Norton is the defending champion, winning last year at Mineral Wells. Norton, along with several other former champs, is to enter this year's event at Brownwood.

Plenty Of Entertainment

The West Texas at Brownwood, according to the program of events, will not lack in entertainment and golf. Following the qualifying Thursday there'll be a long driving contest, the business meeting, stag dinner and the Calcutta pool auction. First and second round matches will be played on Friday, and a dance is booked that evening.

A senior flight will be an added attraction for older golfers this year. First round of match play starts Saturday, with two rounds. Semi-final matches in all other flights will be concluded with third and fourth rounds. Finals are set for Sunday.

Prizes will be awarded the medalist, the winner of the driving contest, winner and runner up in all flights, winner and runner up in all consolation flights, players making eagles in qualifying rounds and holes-in-one at any time. The winning four-man team also will receive a prize. Winners and runners up in the senior flight also will be rewarded.

It is possible that Lubbock will have two or more in the senior flight, provided Judge W. D. Girand and E. T. Daniel complete arrangements to go. Daniel is a permanent vice-president of the West Texas organization.

Panthers Open Up And Leap Into Second

(By The Associated Press)

It was Fort Worth's turn today to take on the fearsome scowl as challenger to Beaumont's Texas league pacers.

The Cats worked themselves into the No. 2 spot last night on the strength of some good pitching by Jackie Reid and a little help from Galveston, which was knocking over Oklahoma City, previous contender.

Pitches Fine Game

Reid pitched a fine game against San Antonio, whose batters had to be content with six hits, while Fort Worth massaged Lefty Mills for five hits and three runs in the fourth inning. The score was 4 to 1.

The Panther rise to a contending position was the fruit of a sustained drive which netted them 10 victories in 13 starts. Dallas made Beaumont's grip on the lead more precarious than ever, suddenly coming to life with a pitching and batting combination that caught up with and passed the South Texans, 9 to 8. A young Slovenian named Frank Papish rushed to the mound for Dallas in the first inning, when old Fred Marberry cracked. Beaumont scored two in the third and one in the fourth against him but from there on out he was as tight as a drum, allowing no runner past second and granting two hits.

Regain Old Form

In the fourth the Steer batsmen regained a semblance of their 1936 slugging form and rushed across four runs. At the end of the eighth they had tied the game up. In the ninth Les Mallon smacked out a double to score a runner from second.

Three pitchers couldn't match the performance of Galveston's Eddie Cole and Oklahoma City lost 8 to 1. Houston swapped cellar positions with Dallas in dropping their second straight game to Tulsa 5 to 4.

FAKE PHOTOS WIN

Faked photographs had much to do with the victory at the polls of Koichi Nagano, candidate for the Tokyo Municipal Assembly, his opponents declare, and the police are investigating. One of the pictures used in a campaign pamphlet should have shown Viscount Mushakoji shaking hands with Adolf Hitler, but the viscount's face was replaced with a likeness of Nagano.

The armadillo, once native to South and Southwestern Texas, has been migrating northward and appearing in counties where it has not been seen before.

Cripples Begin To Recover At Last

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 21 — The crippies are beginning to recover, but for the first month or so of this baseball season major league managers have found it necessary to read hospital charts and x-ray plates, rather than batting averages, before they could name their daily lineups.

Disregarding spring training troubles, every major league club has been affected to some extent by either illness or injury, with Chicago's Cubs easily topping the list.

Roll Still Growing

The roll still is growing. Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox manager, suffered a cut cheek when a thrown ball hit him Monday. His regular catcher, Rick Ferrell, got a broken throwing hand the same afternoon. Then young Bob Feller of Cleveland, whose publicized sore arm had kept him idle since his first game, had a workout and remained in the game just long enough to walk one batsman.

The Cubs' hospital list now has dwindled considerably, but since the campaign began it has been something like this: pitchers, Curt Davis, "dead" arm; Tex Carleton, chipped bone; Larry French, broken hand; Clay Bryant, flu; catchers, Gabby Hartnett, sore arm, then a split finger; Bob Garbark, broken finger; Ken O'Dea and John Bottarini, minor hurts; infielders, Bill Jurges, broken wrist; Bill Herman and Ripper Collins, minor injuries.

Two Serious Operations

Two serious operations have been performed on prominent and ailing ball players. Paul Dean of the Cardinals, running mate of his more famous brother, Dizzy, had a piece of cartilage removed from his shoulder in an effort to fix up the sore arm that forced him into retirement last season. Jake Powell of the Yankees had his appendix removed.

In addition the Yankees' young Joe DiMaggio was absent a while for removal of his tonsils after his throwing arm began to cause trouble. Hank Leiber of the Giants wound up in a hospital after Feller beaned him in an exhibition game.

Rowe Is Laid Off

Difficult to classify are the unidentified illness that has kept Detroit's Schoolboy Rowe from taking his turn and caused him to be "laid off" until he was in shape, and John Whitehead's lack of girth control which made Manager Jimmy Dykes suspend him until he got into condition.

Others laid up at one time or another include: Wally Berger, Bees; Leo Durocher and Johnny Mize, Cardinals; Joe Stripp, Babe Phelps and Randy Moore, Dodgers; Frank Gabler, Giants; Lloyd Waner, Pirates; Ernie Lombardi, Reds; Bill Dickey, Yankees; Johnny Allen and Bruce Campbell, Indians; Tommy Bridges, Tigers; Larry Rosenthal, White Sox; Cecil Travis and John Riddle, Senators; Jimmy Foxx, Fabian Gaffke and Bobby Doerr, Red Sox.

Indians Grab The Pole As A's Go Down

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The whole thing doesn't make much sense as an insane asylum, but the figures show the American league is off to a closer and more completely unlooked for start than it has been in years.

By the end of the first month last year, five games separated first and fourth place. This season, the race was regarded as New York, Detroit, Cleveland and nothing much else. But so far it's been as tight as a mustard plaster—so close in fact that only 4 1-2 games separate the leaders of the moment, Cleveland Indians, from the cellar riding Louis Browns.

Athletics In Second Place

And most astonishing of all is that the longest of the long shots, Connie Mack's mystifying Athletics, are in the second place, leading both the Yankees and the Tigers. They were on top until yesterday, but the Indians licked the tar out of the Boston Red Sox, 16-5, while the Tigers dropped a 3-2 decision to the Tigers which gave the Tribe the pace by a percentage margin.

Hottest of all right now are the reviving Washington Senators—and their sudden form reversal is just as explainable as the rest of the league's ways. Although their pitching still is in a sorry state, the Nats are starting to hit, and on the strength alone have won their last four straight to climb from eighth to fifth. It took two twirlers and 12 innings before they finally overcame the Browns yesterday 5-4 on Ossie Blue's timely single.

Yanks Drop Down

Thornton Lee found out the Yanks are still his "counts." The White Sox southpaw became the first flinger of the year to whip the hitless world champions twice, muffling them with three hits for a 3-1 win, thereby dropping them into third place.

Altogether, every outfit but the Tigers and Browns changed places yesterday. Mickey Cochrane's club held fourth with their decision over the Athletics, achieved through Roxie Lawson's sixth victory of the season. The Red Sox dropped the seventh; the White Sox, whipping the Yanks, advanced to sixth.

Featuring the National league larruping for the third straight day, the Giants and Cardinals wound up their three-game series with New York on top 7-4 on the strength of Dick Bartell's ninth inning homer with the bases loaded.

Roy Parmelee not only pitched a seven-hitter, but blasted a home run with two aboard as the Cubs clouted the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-1. Vince DiMaggio banged out a pair of homers and the Boston Bees knocked off the Reds, 4-1. Pittsburgh's pirates setting Pirates cashed in on Swift's six-hit flinging for a triumph over the Phillies.

Santone Host For Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, May 21. (AP)—Four Curtis cup team stars, a bevy of state champions and a fresh crop of youngsters converge on San Antonio June 1 for the start of the eleventh annual women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Slender Marion Miley, the Lexington, Ky., meteor, will defend the title she won last year at Denver, against a field blessed with quality and quantity.

Companions Entered

Three of her Curtis cup team companions, dynamic, freckled Patty Berg of Minneapolis; Mrs. O. S. Hill, the Kansas City veteran and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, Texas, were listed among the foremost challengers.

The homefolk, however, leaned towards Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, former Texas and Old Mexico champion and twice medalist of the women's southern. She was almost reared on the sloping fairways and greens of the San Antonio country club course, scene of the meet, and gives par a scare each time she blasts off the first tee.

Still another San Antonian rated nigh was Miss Betty Jameson, the 18-year-old schoolgirl state champion and former southern titleholder. For their "dark horse" entry, San Antonio offered Mrs. E. R. Hury, a come in women's golf noted for prodigious wood shots.

Lucille Robinson Mann of Milwaukee, Patti Newbold of Wichita, Kas., a former champion; Helen Hoffman and Betty Botterill of Salt Lake City and Mrs. R. D. Roper of Phoenix, Ariz., recent winner of the southwestern, were other links luminaries listed as definite entries by the tourney committee.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Dick Bartell, Giants—His homer with bases loaded in ninth beat Cardinals, 7-4.

Thornton Lee, White Sox—Muffled Yanks with three hits for 3-1.

Roy Parmelee, Cubs — Pitched seven hit ball and hit homer with two on base for 6-1 win over Dodgers.

Billy Rogell, Tigers—His double in sixth drove in winning run to top Athletics, 3-2.

Vince DiMaggio, Bees — Belted two homers in 4-1 victory over Reds.

Ossie Bluege, Senators—His 1 inning single sent in run that beat Browns, 5-4.

Bill Swift, Pirates—Fanned 5 and gave up only six hits in whipping Phillies 5-2.

Lyn Lary, Indians—Hit double and two triples, drove in three runs and scored three more in 5 win over Red Sox.

...nes Seeking ...id In Area

...ASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — ...resentative Marvin Jones of ...s said Thursday he was making ...y effort to have incorporated ... bill Senator George W. Norris ...cts to introduce this week, spe... provisions to take care of the ... bowl area.

... had planned to introduce a ...rate bill," Jones explained, "but ...ought results might be more quickly accomplished."

Refusing to discuss details, Jones said generally he is asking for separate authority or special committees familiar with care of soil and water utilization to study and recommend a dust bowl program. He seeks to have the special committees cover the water conservation subject in the areas where there is not primarily a question of flood control.

Norris' office declined to make public any details of his bill which would call for a nation-wide water and soil program until President Roosevelt has outlined his views to congress, expected soon.

Old Landmark Here Is Sold

Once the pride of the South Plains hostelries, the old Broadway hotel at Broadway and Avenue H Thursday was sold for cash.

Esteemed as probably the oldest business structure on the South Plains to occupy its original site, and bemoaned as out of date, passe, declasse and a fire trap, the hotel that once sold together with 11 lots for $1,200 brought a consideration of approximately 30 times as much Thursday, it was believed.

C. B. (Brownie) Akers, division manager of Griffith Amusement company, announced that L. C. and H. J. Griffith of Consolidated Theatres, Inc., of which the Griffith company is a subsidiary, had purchased the old structure.

Future Changes Planned

"It is not planned that there will be any changes for the time being, but there are future plans," said Akers, formerly manager of Lindsey Theatres, Inc., of Lubbock.

The old hotel has a frontage of 50 feet on Broadway and 115 feet on Avenue H. It does not occupy the entire lot.

The oldest building in Lubbock and the only remnant of the first public square, the structure is surrounded by a hoary historical aura.

Built Near Country Club Site

In the late '80's the building was constructed as headquarters for the IOA Cattle company, and was located on the north side of Yellowhouse canyon, just east of where Country club now is.

It was moved to Lubbock in the spring of '91, say most of those who lived here at the time. George M. Hunt, its first manager, died March 8, 1919, and F. E. Wheelock, first owner and whose widow lives at 1218 Broadway, died June 28, 1932.

Wheelock, who gave the name Nicolett hotel to the three-story structure, fell from the building when it was being built, but suffered only minor injuries.

Gay Young Blades Residents

Gay young blades who lived in the "most luxurious hotel on the South Plains" included E. L. Klett, O. L. Slaton, Neil H. Wright, the late Roscoe Wilson, J. E. Vickers, and numerous others at one time or another, said those whose memories go back that far. Walter Posey also lived there.

Inception of the building's removal to Lubbock was found in rivalry aroused by partisan townsite groups. There was a location on the north side of the canyon promoted by Wheelock and one north of where Texas Technological college now is, owned by W. E. Rayner. Through a compromise effected by "Uncle Gus" Carlisle, it was decided in an agreement filed Dec. 19, 1890, to build a composite township on "section 11, certificate 230, abstract 86, TTRR Co., Lubbock county... provided cost was not to exceed $3 an acre," and thus consolidate the townsites of Monterrey and Lubbock.

Guns Carried Ostensibly

Feeling ran high—and guns were carried ostensibly, they tell one.

Incidentally, Lubbock county was not organized then — its official identity not being recognized until 1891—and E. B. Covington, county judge of Crosby county, to which Lubbock county was attached for judicial reasons, attached his "hand and seal" to the agreement.

Each opposing party was to deposit $960 in the Colorado National bank to pay for the land and lots on the various blocks were divided between the leaders of the two factions, "even and odd."

Sale Of Lots Conducted

A sale of lots on the townsite was conducted July 1 through 4, 1891, said Monroe G. Abernathy, who with Mrs. Abernathy, conveyed title to the old hotel Thursday, and the removal of the structure dated about the same time.

When the building was towed across the canyon to its new location, Rollie C. Burns, now of 2407 Fourteenth street, furnished the teams of horses and mules from the IOA, of which he was manager.

Popularity Instantaneous

Popularity of the building was instantaneous. Persons came "from far and near just to put up there and enjoy its hospitality." There was an office and a lobby and a standard desk downstairs.

P. B. Penney, county commissioner, bought the structure and, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Penney, operated the hotel more than five years.

"I gave $1,200 for it, together with the two lots on which it stood and nine lots that, with exception of where Ross McWhorter's filling station now is, filled the whole south section of the block." His holdings included the spot where the Avalanche-Journal now is.

Fifty Dollars Top Price

"I could have had that lot for $50," he said, laughing.

In 1905, Penney sold the hotel to the late Van Sanders, whose widow lives on the west coast and his son, Sylvan Sanders, at 1724 Twenty-seventh street. Sanders sold to Mrs. Abernathy.

In the days when Penney was owner of the building, he and his brothers had more than one unique distinction. He was owner of the only hotel, as well as being the county's fourth sheriff; a brother; Joe and Jenks Penney owned the only livery stable; Bob Penney had the only barber shop, and Elder Penney operated Lubbock's only meat market.

Bill Lay First Sheriff

Bill Lay was the first sheriff, being elected in 1891 and serving four years; Ben Leggett was next and served two years, and Eastin Wolffarth of 2410 Thirteenth street served four years, up to 1902, when Penney was elected and served four years.

Numerous tales of how the old building defied fire, "because of nearly 50 years accumulation of sand," are told by firemen. Its fire-resisting qualities, as a matter of fact, come in for as many yarns as other historical allusions.

BIG TOE BETRAYS THIEF

When the police of Hermanus, South Africa, inspected the trail of a barefoot burglar, who had stolen $100, the Sherlock Holmes instinct told them that capture should be easy. One of the big toes was peculiarly formed. All the well known jail characters passed inspection, but the trail finally led to N. Cupido, an amateur burglar, who was sentenced to four months hard labor.

Entire System Is Toned By Gly-Cas

Mrs. DeAncira Found Gly-Cas To Be Just What She Had Been Needing For Years; Indigestion, Bloating Eliminated, Kidney Disorder, Dizzy Spells Yield To New Remedy

"Gly-Cas wasted no time in bringing about a remarkable change in my condition," said Mrs. Eurtari G. DeAncira, 416 Garsa St., Laredo, Tex. "I have not yet finished my second box of Gly-Cas, yet I am feeling like an entirely different person. For years I had been badly constipated, always took the strongest of laxatives but with no real beneficial results. My kidneys became disordered too, up all hours of the night, could not get my proper rest or sleep and was miserable all of the time. I had awful pains in my back and hips and my entire system was clogged with poisons. Then my stomach was badly affected too, attacks of indigestion began bothering me after every meal I ate, gas would form in abundance and I would bloat until I could hardly get my breath. Dizzy spells added to my discomfort and it is easy to see just how miserable I was. I lost faith in all remedies until I finally began Gly-Cas—it was just what I should have had years before.

"Gly-Cas went right to the source of my health troubles even after all else tried had failed," she continued. "From the first few doses I began to show improvement, today I am 100 per cent better in every way. My stomach and kidneys are now regulated, bowels functioning properly and I am again feeling fine. I eat and enjoy foods I had been denied for years and never suffer any ill effects afterwards, sleep good, have new strength and energy. I cannot praise Gly-Cas half enough for the remarkable change it has made in my condition—it seems to have that extra added power to reach the most stubborn cases."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug, 1219 Broadway and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

THE Plainsman was talking to Mayor Edwards the other day about the parking meter problem, which, as everyone knows, has reared its head again, and Hizzoner remarked that he, personally, is in no rush to get the gadgets to working.

Pointing out that we need some kind of parking regulations that will work, Mayor Edwards said he hoped some sort of a system could be worked out whereby the meters could be used, yet in a manner that would embrace the good side of them and none of the bad.

He is very much interested in having meters at every other parking space; three or four on each side of the street in each block, or something like that, and the rest of the space free.

"I'm a country boy," he said, "and I still like to see the town crowded just like every day is Saturday. If we use the meters like we started out, Lubbock will again look like a deserted village and I'd sure like to overcome that."

The Mayor said efforts were being made to find out what people would like best in the way of parking regulations which is, of course, as it should be.

* * *

Of interest to the public as well as to the City commission, should be that meters like Lubbock has contracted for at around $58 a throw have been bought by other cities at considerably lower rates.

Mayor Edwards says he is going to look into the matter and if he can find ways and means to do so will attempt to get Lubbock's deal commensurate with those given in other localities.

Not long ago The Plainsman quoted from the Christian Science Monitor that Kansas City had paid only $22 a meter and even then was dissatisfied.

DAPPER Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, is never a man to make an unreasonable request. Hence when he asks that parked cars be kept off paved streets at night he is only trying to do something for the good of the community.

According to Doctor Rollo when cars are left out all night it is impossible for the street cleaners to do their work as it should be done.

Time and time again, he says, they "back track" in an effort to catch spots where cars have been seen earlier, only to find them still there when the night's work is nearly done.

Lubbock streets—in the residential as well as the downtown districts—can be kept cleaner and better if cars are parked on driveways.

The health officer respectfully urges the public's co-operation in that regard.

"She's in the back room layin down," was the reply.

Trailer Adventure

BY NARD JONES
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARTHA BRITTAIN and BETTY HAYNES begin a trip up the west coast to demonstrate the new Airspeed trailer. They pick up GERRY NEAL, handsome young hitch-hiker. Neal tells them he is to meet a friend, JACK SPEDDON, at the Long Beach auto camp. But at Long Beach Neal disappears from the trailer and Speddon drives away with Betty, failing to return.

Frantic, Martha calls police. Then she gets a wire, hours later, signed "Betty" and advising that Betty will meet her at a San Francisco hotel. Feverishly, Martha starts out, trying to trace Betty en route. Returning to her trailer the second day she is startled to meet Neal. He tells her that "this thing may be bigger" than she imagines.

She agrees to accompany Neal back to San Francisco the next day to find Betty. She is troubled because she feels more than an ordinary liking for Neal. Yet she does not know whether she should trust him. Next morning Neal wires the San Francisco hotel where Betty and Speddon were supposed to be staying. An immediate reply reveals neither is registered there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

"But," said Neal, stuffing the telegram into his pocket, "she probably will be there when you arrive in San Francisco as per schedule, just as her message indicated. Now let's forget all this business, just for a day. Are you on?"

Martha was silent a moment. Then she nodded slowly. "I suppose I may as well. There doesn't seem to be anything I can do."

"You don't sound very enthusiastic." Neal laughed. "But I guarantee that a day here will make you feel differently."

She could hardly believe this could be true, but she reckoned without the combined charm of Gerry Neal and the country of Monterey Bay. When they left the table he suggested they inspect the little row of shops in the hotel. There was a sports shop, a gown shop, a little jewelry shop in itself a jewel. Each had its glass "front" giving into a lower hallway of the hotel, as if on a magic, sheltered street. Finally they turned a corner of the corridor to gaze into a great empty ballroom.

"That's the famous Ball room," Neal told her. "If you like, we can dance there tonight."

But he had many more plans before that. They rented bicycles and rode through the beautiful paths of Del Monte. They fed the ducks on the little lake. They raced on the bicycles into Monterey, turning into the main street flushed and breathless. Neal swung alongside the curb and held up a hand in surrender. "I give up," he laughed. "You win the pre-lunch cocktail."

"I never use 'em," Martha said, flipping the stand under her bike's rear wheel. "But I'll have a cigaret and watch you."

* * *

The cocktail lounge was pink and white and utterly modern. Martha exclaimed at the miniature tables and exciting murals. "This is clever," Neal agreed, "but not the real Monterey. The real Monterey is the old Monterey—and the fishing. We'll see it after I've let this cocktail get in its work."

And they did. He showed her the old Spanish theater and the government house and pointed out where Robert Louis Stevenson had lived. He took her along the venerable street of walled courtyards which had once shielded Spanish beauties from the eyes of the curious. "And now," he told Martha, "we'll go down to the wharves. I'll show you fishermen who know how to fish—because it's in their blood. And we'll have a seafood lunch."

"I don't," Martha pleaded, "like seafood luncheS."

Neal glared in mock severity. "You've never eaten one until you have done it in Monterey."

Later, in a cafe at the end of a dingy wharf, Martha was forced to agree. Beyond the window was the unbelievably bright blue of the Bay of Monterey. Gulls swept down between the wharf and the little fishing craft riding at anchor. Occasionally there drifted to them the soft chugging of one of the little boats bound out down the bay.

"It's heavenly here," Martha said at last.

Neal nodded. "It's the nearest thing to certain parts of Italy. That's one reason why my friend Tony here, who cooked us this kingly repast, likes it so well. Isn't that right, Tony?"

Tony leaned over the counter at the other end of the room, his teeth flashing brilliantly against his swarthy skin. "You are right, Mista Neal. That blue out there, she is like Lake Como. Me, I come from Como. It is maybe a little more beautiful than this." An infinitesimal space between Tony's thumb and forefinger indicated how much. "Just a leetle."

* * *

Laughing, Gerry Neal held his cigaret case to Martha. "Having a good time?"

"A marvelous time," Martha said, meeting his gaze gratefully. "So marvelous that my conscience—"

"None of that," he warned. "You and I haven't a conscience between us today. Do you know where we're going now?"

"Wherever it is," Martha said, "it's not going to be aboard those bicycles!"

"I agree. We'll leave them with Tony and the bike man can pick them up for us. I'll rent a car to take us over the Drive—and you must see Carmel." He rose. "Come on. There's lots more to do!"

"I thought," protested Martha ruefully, "you wanted me to rest?"

"This is the best kind of rest—an active change."

Though she lived to be a hundred, Martha would always remember that day as the most delightfully crowded one of her life. There was no denying Del Monte's spirit of play, no refusing the breathless beauty of cypress trees and rugged coastline, of blue bay and red roofs, of quiet missions and wild flowers.

In Carmel, Neal showed her the austere stone homes of Lincoln Steffens and Robinson Jeffers, pointed out the marble castles of Pebble Beach, and laughed with her at the contrast of having tea and biscuits at a tiny shake cottage inn near the sea.

"There's just one more thing," he said across the rickety little table. "A swim in the surf. I'll get our suits at a shop uptown." He looked at Martha judiciously. "Red. Flaming red, for you. You've just the hair for it."

* * *

Martha's protests were of no avail. Not 10 minutes later he had emerged from one of Carmel's shops with swim suits for both of them. "But where can we put them on?" Martha wanted to know. "I don't see any bath houses."

"That's another nice things about Carmel," Neal said. "Not a bath house in 100 acres. But there's plenty hundreds of acres." He jumped into the car and shoved it into gear. "We'll drive south where there's lots of privacy."

Down the Point Sur road Neal drove slowly, past the historic Carmel mission, out beyond the beautiful homes of Carmel Heights into a lonelier stretch where only an occasional rancher's shack broke into nature's plan. Finally he stopped where a wide point jutted into the surging ocean, handed Martha the package containing her suit.

"You can dress on the beach down there without the slightest hesitation—unless you mind seagulls or seals watching. I'll skin into these trunks right here." He grinned at her. "I'll be down in 15 minutes. Hope it's the right color of red."

Sheltered between two towering rocks, Martha donned the suit. And when Gerry Neal clambered down the slope to view his purchase he gazed at her in frankest admiration. "I was right," he said.

"Right about what?"

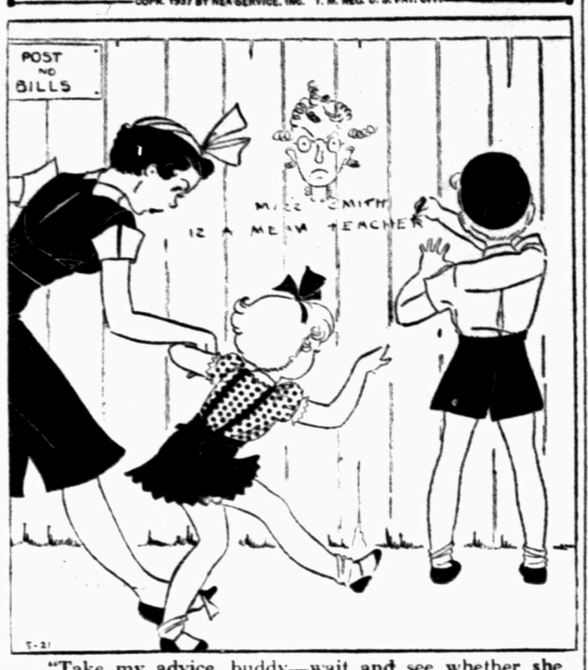

"About the red—and your hair. And how you'd look."

Ignoring the remark, Martha turned, ran down the white sand to the water's edge. Wading waist-deep against the breakers she dived suddenly beneath them—so suddenly that she missed Gerry Neal's alarmed shout. But no sooner had she plunged her lithe body into that green maelstrom than she knew she was caught. A force was drawing her down—and then while she fought and held out with bursting lungs she felt herself swing inward again with frightening force. Even in that terrifying moment's struggle she pictured in her mind the clutching jagged rocks which half circled the little cove.

NOTHING IN COMMON WITH FASCISM

Probably because the snaky adjuncts of communism have been more highly publicized than the equally disreputable features of fascism, most Americans think only of the "reds" when considering the possibilities of a change of government in this country. Nearly all of us are prone to forget that fascism, from a standpoint of liberty, is no more to be desired than is communism and that the threat of a fascist government in this country is fully as real as the threat of communism.

While The Journal does not subscribe to the theory that we are likely to be forced into either of the two forms of misgovernment, it is well to point out, now and then, the difference between our form of government and that in vogue notably in Italy and Germany. Senator Borah made some pointed remarks along that line recently—remarks we are glad to pass along.

After the Senator's blast on fascism, an Italian editor in San Francisco wrote him, taking issue with the Idahoan's remarks. Borah's reply, just made public, contains some excellent good sense.

"You profess to believe," wrote the senator, "that there 'is no incompatibility in believing in Italian Fascism and being a loyal American citizen.' Do you believe in free speech? Do you believe in suffrage? Do you believe in a free press? . . . and the right of labor to organize?"

It would be a fine thing if that paragraph could be called to the attention of every American of foreign birth who is striving to reconcile his Americanism with the dictatorial philosophies of his native land. Senator Borah puts the case perfectly. To be an American means to believe in things for which none of these European authoritarian governments has the slightest use whatever. It is hard to see how any reconciliation can be made.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 21.—When Gregory Ratoff went to see Darryl Zanuck about a job two years ago, the studio chief explained as gently as possible that the Ratoff accent outweighed all the good qualities of the Ratoff acting.

Of course, Zanuck hastened to explain, there might be parts from time to time. But there never could be enough of them to warrant writing him a contract.

At the word "writing," the sputtering Russian brightened immediately. How about an assignment as a writer? Zanuck said no.

A producer, then? Ratoff had produced lots of plays. In Europe he had had his own theater. Zanuck said no.

Surely, then, there should be a berth as a director. Ratoff had directed many stage productions. Zanuck shook his head.

But when Ratoff left the office that afternoon, he carried in his pocket the only four-way contract in Hollywood—as actor, writer, director and producer.

* * *

Wife On Stage

The arrangement has worked out very well, too. In spite of the accent—and sometimes because of it—Ratoff has played in 12 pictures during those two years. He directed one and has written three originals. In the last, "Cafe Metropole," he scribbled in a nice fat part for himself.

Since 1932 he has pretty much confined his activities to the screen, working for most of the major studios. His wife, though, has stuck to the stage, usually the European stage, and during most of their 15 years of married life, they've been separated by thousands of miles.

Mrs. Ratoff is, of course, Eugenie Leontovich. Just now she is in Hollywood appearing in the stage production, "Tovarich," and all the film companies are renewing their pleas that she stop over and make a few pictures. She may, too, especially since her husband so much desires it.

He says a little wistfully that he is tired of talking over the transcontinental and transAtlantic telephones, but admits they've been getting along fine.

"I think she is the greatest actress in the world and she thinks I'm the greatest actor. As long as we keep fooling each other we have no problems."

* * *

U. S. Debut A Flop

Ratoff was born in Russia and so was she, but they didn't know each other until 1920, when he gave her a job in his Paris theater. Before that, during the last three years of the czarist regime, she played in the Imperial Theater in Moscow.

During the revolution her first husband was killed by the Bolsheviks and she escaped only by disguising herself as a peasant.

In Paris she and Ratoff staged something called the "Revue Russe." An American producer saw it and signed the whole thing for New York. There, in 1922, it was a dismal flop.

Others in the company returned to Europe but the Ratoffs, who were married by this time, stayed on. They encountered other failures before their luck turned. She was a showgirl for a season, and they both appeared in "Blossom Time."

* * *

Blew Up And Fled

Both were hampered by their accents in those days, although she has very little now.

To try for an important role in a Shubert production she prepared and rehearsed a speech beginning, "Mr. Shubert, I have now learned English." On arriving at the office to deliver it, she was flustered by being introduced to a man named Simmons. Facing Lee Shubert a moment later, she began: "Mr. Simmons, I have now learned Shubert—."

Before his astonished glance she blew up completely and fled. It was a good deal later that another manager put her in the lead of "Grand Hotel" and made her a star.

* * *

In The Family

A small boy, perhaps 8 years old, bicycled up to the Toluca Lake market the other day and asked the butcher for some dog meat. Quite a lot of meat, he said, because his dog had had pups. How many pups? asked the butcher. "Forty-three pups," responded the boy.

Several patrons in the shop whooped with laughter. The boy looked indignantly at the whoopers, took his package of scraps and bones, and stalked to the sidewalk. There he turned. "She had 44 p[illegible]," he said, "but one died."

The customers laughed again and one of them asked, "Who's the kid?"

"Oh, he's a regular customer," explained the butcher. "He's the son of one of the studio press agents."

That Yellow Stuff That's Piled Up

Wage-Hour Bill, Yet Unreported By FDR To Congress, Already Drafted, Dutcher Says

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 21—A tentative version of the administration's long-waited wage and hour bill has been drafted, but the measure is not yet in final form.

This far-reaching legislative proposal will be the subject of the President's next message to Congress, in all probability. It may be sent to Capitol Hill within the next week or so, and it may be held up indefinitely. That depends on the time it takes for Roosevelt and his numerous advisers in this field to agree on details.

Dutcher

The bill, as previously forecast in these dispatches, will provide for general administration by a board, and for the establishment of wage and hour standards in individual industries considered to be operating in interstate commerce. Probably it will contain provisions for regulating child labor.

Attempts have been made to get trade practice provisions into the bill and make it provide a modified NRA. But that appears to be definitely out. Donald Richberg, who is now counsel for the U. S. Steel corporation, has been the prime mover in such attempts.

Various vexing problems remain to be settled. One is the question whether a new agency or an existing agency should administer the law, which means an under-surface struggle between Secretary of Labor Perkins and the National Labor Relations board. Another problem is presented by proposals for North-South wage differentials and this problem may or may not be sidestepped by framers of the bill. There is also some dispute within the administration as to constitutional and other legal angles.

* * *

Relief In Two Places

George L. Berry, the millionaire labor leader just appointed senator from Tennessee to fill a vacancy, has had an unusual record for getting his name into the public prints. There is no reason, moreover, to suppose he will not be heard from now that he's a member of the legislative group known to itself as "the greatest deliberative body in the world."

Most Tennesseans claim to be sure that Berry had an agreement with Governor Gordon Browning, who appointed him, whereby Browning could run for the seat in 1938 while Berry retired. They also believe Browning figured that in case Berry's memory lapsed, the portly labor leader-banker-farmer-manufacturer-public official would be easy to defeat for nomination. But Berry denies such tales and it's known that Roosevelt favored his appointment, presumably being sure that he could depend on Berry for a Supreme court vote and other support.

A certain amount of relief is noticeable both in the administration, which Berry had been serving as Federal Co-ordinator for Industrial Co-operation, and among labor leaders, with whom Berry has served as head of Labor's Non-Partisan league.

The co-ordinator's office, with a staff of 46 persons and a cost of nearly $150,000 a year—which has come out of work relief funds—will now be abolished. Created to receive the bones of NRA and preserve such co-operation between government industry and labor as might be possible, this organization staged meetings of labor leaders and business men which resulted in recommendations for "industrial self-government." Possibly its efforts were quite valuable, but that is by no means a common impression here.

* * *

Meeting Flopped Badly

Labor's Non-Partisan league is expected to be headed by E. L. Oliver, an able, energetic executive who came up from the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Berry was placed in command there by John Lewis and Sidney Hillman, who believed that since he was president of the A. F. of L. Pressmen's union, his selection would save the league from being pictured as a C. I. O. subsidiary. On April 19 the league staged what were announced as mass meetings for the Roosevelt court plan in many cities. This stunt, to the anguish of both the administration and C. I. O. leaders, was a flop.

Lately, Berry and others have been threatening to sue for $1,600,000 which they claim would be but proper compensation for some land inundated by the building of TVA's Norris dam. Rich deposits of marble are said to have been covered by the water. The Berry appointment came as an almost complete surprise here because it had been understood that this claim against TVA had ruled the millionaire labor leader [illegible] the picture.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP) — Cotton futures opened very steady, at 5 to 8 points advance on trade and spot house buying of July and foreign buying of the new crop. July 12.90; Oct. 12.85; Dec. 12.83; Jan. 12.84; March 12.87; May 12.93.

An overnight accumulation of Bombay buying orders which centered in the October position was the principal feature in a fairly active opening. Quiet conditions developed immediately after the call but prices lost practically all of their initial gains under a moderate amount of selling.

July liquidation was again in evidence with trade interests absorbing these contracts at about the same differences over later months as those prevailing Thursday. Light offerings reached the market from the south and commission houses and locals.

Oct. reacted from 12.85 to 12.76 and shortly after the first half hour prices ranged from 1 point net higher to 2 lower.

Liverpool is observing a holiday today and tomorrow.

The market sagged further later in the morning and by midday prices showed net losses of 3 to 5 points and were at the lows for the day.

October eased to 12.72 under light selling influenced by the favorable weather and continued July liquidation. Volume tapered off sharply and quiet conditions prevailed.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 21. (AP) — Cotton continued its forward march in early trading today, in response to higher stocks and some trade and commission house demand. Initial trades were three to six points over the previous close.

July opened at 12.78, October at 12.79, December at 12.89, January at 12.93 and March at 12.97.

Aside from the improved stock market, there was nothing in the overnight news to affect prices either way. Liverpool was closed for the three-day whitsuntide holiday and the local market was without influence at the start. The weather continued favorable, but selling pressure was decidedly lacking.

Trading was quiet, however, and toward the end of the first half hour the market was steady, unchanged to two points lower compared to the opening figures.

Four Persons Held In Probe Of Death Of California Girl

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., May 21 (AP) Four persons, including her mother and sister, were held in jail today as material witnesses while authorities sought a solution for the death of pretty, 19-year-old Dorothy Shrum.

The girl's semi-nude body was found in her home yesterday.

Coroner N. C. Houze said he believed she had been strangled with her leather belt from one of her own dresses. But he ordered an autopsy to determine whether she had undergone an illegal operation shortly before her death.

Her mother, Mrs. Hildreth Shrum, her sister, Bernice, 17, Percy Masson, for whom Mrs. Shrum worked as housekeeper, and W. G. Benton, another employe of Masson's, were questioned by District Attorney Tom Scott.

He said all steadily denied knowledge of the case, and that he has yet to discover a motive.

Mrs. Shrum said she believed Dorothy died from complications after an appendicitis operation six weeks ago. Scott declared Black marks on her throat first opened the case to investigation, he said.

Baldwin's Retirement Isn't Expected To Be Extended

LONDON, May 21. (AP) — Despite Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's remark to an empire youth audience "I have had my hour, I will pass soon into the shade," political circles today believed he did not intend to advance the date of his retirement.

The prime minister himself styled the occasion in Albert Hall last night as "the last speech I'll make before a great audience as prime minister," but observers discounted it as a reference to retirement within the next few days.

Baldwin has been expected generally to retire the latter part of this month or early in June, turning the reins of government over to Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer.

T. Maxey Hart To Take Position Vacated By His Father's Death

SAN ANTONIO, May 21. (AP)—T. Maxey Hart today announced he had resigned the clerkship of the fourth court of civil appeals here to accept appointment as clerk of the federal court of the western district of Texas to succeed his father, D. H. Hart, who died last week.

At the same time Hart announced that Robert L. Cook, director of the state old age assistance commission here, had been appointed clerk of the fourth court, effective June 1.

Hart, a former baseball and football captain and star at the University of Texas, was appointed to the federal position by Judge Charles L. Boynton of El Paso, senior judge of the district.

Cook will of couse, resign his state job to take over the fourth court position. Cook is a former rancher and banker of Atascosa county.

The Smiths Are Coming To Town At Dallas For Celebration At Pan American Exposition

DALLAS, May 21. (AP) — The Smiths are coming.

At least 15 branches of the family of Rev. John A. Smith, a founder of Dallas, will meet for the first time in 20 years at the Pan American exposition, which opens June 12.

News of the reunion is being circulated by chain letter. Mrs. Elsi Parker of Dallas started it. Each relative receiving a letter sends a summary of its contents plus a letter on his own activities to the next relative in line.

"It takes about two months in the mails to make the complete rounds," Mrs. Parker said. "But for 40 years we've kept account of one another this way."

Practically every section of the country will be represented.

The reunion is set tentatively for the last two weeks in June.

Four O'clocks New Substitute For Spinach, Houston Police Chief Discovers Sadly

ATLANTA, May 21. (AP) — Police Chief M. A. Hornsby surveyed a tiny bed of plants behind the police station from which leaves had been stripped, strode into the station and demanded:

"Where are my four o'clocks?"

Policeman Grover Fain looked — and felt—a bit ill.

"Your what?" he said feebly.

"Four o'clocks — you know, flowers."

"My, oh, my," said Fain, "I thought that was spinach."

Fain had plucked the leaves, bought a ham hock and prepared a feast in the basement at headquarters. Half a dozen cronies joined in the banquet. None was seriously ill.

American Telephone-Telegraph Votes Dividend Of $2.25

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—Directors of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. declared the regular dividend today of $2.25 a share on the common stock. The dividend is payable July 15 to holders of record June 15.

Baby Victim Of Tragedy In Home

SYLVESTER, May 21. (AP) — While adult members of the W. R. Moffett family sat at lunch in their home here today, tragedy invaded a bedroom where lay their baby, nine-months-old Donald Lee.

Donald Lee was at the crawling age. Left alone for about five minutes, he apparently pushed himself feet first off a large bed. His head caught between the mattress and a wood railing, and, unable to cry out, he had strangled when his mother came into the room. His death was fixed at about 12:30 p. m.

Thought Divided On Oil Situation

By ALFRED WALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

TULSA, Okla., May 21. (AP)—Two schools of thought developed today in the petroleum industry over expressed fears of an over-production of crude oil.

On the one hand were those who contended the sustained output in the past few months had boosted stocks of both crude and refined products to the danger point. On the other were leaders who discounted inventory figures and pointed to a sustained demand with the heavy consumption season just under way.

In the face of bureau of mines recommendations for increased production in both Oklahoma and Texas for June were the warnings of Col. E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission and President Charles F. Rosser of the Independent Petroleum association of America.

Receive Close Attention

Thompson said the figures indicating above ground storage of crude at 303,000,000 barrels and motor fuel stocks at 81,000,000 should receive the close attention of the industry and its regulatory bodies. Roeser held that "a serious situation exists."

Leaders here, while fully alive to the situation, were inclined to believe a steady market and vigorous demand justified both crude production and present refinery operations.

"The mid-continent refinery market is strong and unchanged," said one authority. "The demand and movement of gasoline is improving steadily and many industrial purchasers are inquiring already for next Winter's supplies. In the face of such business conditions we certainly are not pessimistic—yet."

Seeking Crude Connections

There are companies in the area actually seeking crude connections, he added, and no reports had been received of purchasing companies ready to give up any.

The deliberations of state regulatory bodies to set the June allowables were expected to result in a thorough canvass of the general market demand situation.

Agitation for an increase in the price of crude, oil disappeared in view of reports of large storage stocks.

Open weather brought a burst of activity in the field.

A total of 681 wells were completed in the United States during the week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported and that was 89 more than the week before.

The increase in operations this year over last was shown in the fact that to date the year's completions have totaled 10,470 as against 8,439 in the same period of 1936.

Operators pointed out that while good production had been uncovered and pool openers and extensions were included in the list, the year's drilling had failed to bring thus far a major discovery.

Insurgent Drive Is Increasing

(By The Associated Press)

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish frontier, May 21. — Spanish insurgents smashed ahead tonight to new conquests along their slowly tightening semi-circle of steel around Bilbao.

Gen. Emilio Mola's troops concentrated their thrusts against two points in the Basque defense while insurgents planes bombed the valley of the Nervion river in which the Basque capital lies.

The ground forces rammed a great dent in the government fortifications at Munguia, nine miles northeast of Bilbao on the Bermeo board, and they claimed capture of Mount Gondramendi and six villages just north of Amorebieta, nine miles east-southeast of the beseiged city.

The Basques conceded they had to "modify" their "positions of resistance" at Munguia, where an Italian tank column fought successfully with the insurgents.

The insurgent report on the capture of Mount Gondramendi said Bilbao's defenders abandoned 200 dead on the battlefield and lost 100 men and 30 deserters.

Parker Is Given Life For Wife's Slaying

BRADY, May 21. (AP)—A jury in district court here today found that Fred Parker maliciously slew his wife Jan. 22 and assessed his punishment at life imprisonment. The verdict was returned after three hours of deliberation.

At the time of Mrs. Parker's death officers were told that the former Fort Worth school teacher failed to regain consciousness after being kicked by a horse at the Parker farm in the Milburn community, 25 miles northeast of here.

Later the body was disinterred and Justice W. B. Duglass held that death resulted from a blow on the head with a rail.

The couple was married about a year and a half ago. Mrs. Parker, 42, taught for 17 years in the J. P. Elder and Jennings Avenue Junior high schools in Fort Worth and later was an instructor in civics and history at North Side high school there. She resigned in 1933.

Parker, 26, went on trial last Mon-

Farm Implement Business Up

By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor

CHICAGO, May 21. — A record-breaking volume of farm implement manufacturing business for 1937—possibly as much as $575,000,000 to $600,000,000—was indicated today by the industry's reported gains of 30 to 50 per cent over the same period.

Farmers who managed to get along through depression years with old and obsolete equipment are replacing it now that they have some extra spending money. Their newly unleashed buying power is providing direct employment for approximately 123,000 persons, as compared with 99,976 in June 1929, the previous top.

Increased Buying Reflected

Increased agricultural buying power is reflected, too, in implement factory payrolls. Government reports show the weekly average payroll for February was $2,821,000. The best previous weekly payroll average was $2,057,000 in June 1929.

Last year, with farmers in better financial shape than they had been in six years, implement manufacturers' business amounted to $445,135,000. This compared with the all-time high in 1929 of $570,000,000 which figure likely will be forced into second place by the 1937 volume.

Bankers Favor Fort Worth

SAN ANTONIO, May 21. (AP)—Texas bankers are going to Fort Worth for their annual convention in 1938. Only two places made application for the meeting a year hence, Caddo and Fort Worth. This was decided at the closing session of the Texas Bankers' association in the Gunter hotel Thursday.

J. E. Wooks, president of the Teague National bank and chairman of the board of the Farmers State bank at Temple, was elected president of the association without opposition.

Draper Is Elected

The only other elective office is that of treasurer. W. Guy Draper, president of the First National bank of McGregor, was nominated and unanimously elected to that post.

W. A. Philpot, jr., of Dallas, for years a fixture in the office of secretary of the association, will remain as such.

Tom K. Smith, president of the Boatmen's National bank, the oldest in St. Louis, and also president of the American Bankers' association, addressed the Texans, confining his remarks to the business of banking. He had much to say about government agencies in competition with bankers.

Sam J. Joeckel, professor, department of English Bible and religious education, Austin Presbyterian Theological seminary, took for his subject "The Worth of a Man to his Country."

Earl yin the afternoon nealy 100 bankers left over the Missouri Pacific for Mexico City. They will remain in the republic until June 1.

Lee H. Powell Is Named City Manager At Temple Thursday

TEMPLE, May 21. (AP) — Lee H. Powell, Tyler city manager from 1926 to 1934, was named city manager of Temple at a meeting of the city commission tonight.

Powell succeeds N. A. Ensor, who resigned last month after three years in office.

Powell will resign as an engineer with the inspection division of the Federal Public Works administration. His headquarters had been at Haskell but recently he was transferred to Hempstead. He will begin work here June 1.

State Labor Federation Names A. S. McBride Of Houston

TYLER, May 21. (AP) — A. S. McBride of Houston was elected president of the state federation of labor and Beaumont was chosen as next year's meeting place at the organization's convention session here tonight.

Other officers chosen were: Wallace Reilly, executive secretary; Alfred Bailey, Fort Worth; Emily Jordon, San Antonio; Harry Acerman, El Paso; W. W. Finch, Amarillo; W. J. Fox, Dallas, William R. Tooey, Port Arthur; J. S. Arant, Brownsville, vice presidents ranked in that order; L. C. Johns, Longview; reading clerk; L. M. Barber, El Paso, sergeant-at-arms, and Reilly, delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention.

Farmers Would Not Be Forced To Join Program Under Bill

AUSTIN, May 21. (AP) — Farmers would not be forced to participate in a state-wide soil conservation plan by provisions of a bill awaiting decision of the legislature.

Rejection by either house of the conference report would kill the proposal.

The bill contained no watershed feature and provided a 6-cent remission of the 35 cents state ad valorem tax to a state board of six which would return to county units not more than $10,000 each. If a balance remained it would accrue to a state equalization fund.

Administration Is Following Late Will Rogers' Advice

WASHINGTON, May 21. (AP)—The administration steered its monetary course clear of big international conferences today.

Officials revealed Secretary Morgenthau prefers to negotiate currency agreements with individual nations.

Like the late Will Rogers, they said, he feels this country "loses its shirt" every time it sends representatives to sit around a conferance table.

State Supreme Court Orders Release Of W. T. Cox Again

AUSTIN, May 21. (AP) — The supreme court, for the second time in as many days, today again ordered W. T. Cox, alleged Dallas walkathon operator, released from jail under $1,000 bond.

Everett Looney, his Austin attorney, said Cox had been placed in jail again after his release yesterday on another contempt charge.

Girl, Who Failed To Make Grade, Shoots Herself

(By The Associated Press)

CALDWELL, May 21. — Little Eris Hare's name was called out at school today as one who would not be promoted this year.

Last term she had failed in the same grade, the low sixth.

The 11-year-old schoolgirl had wanted so much to be promoted this term. Her father, J. M. Hare, is county school superintendent.

After the teacher said she had failed again, Eris trudged home and found her mother had gone to a club meeting.

At dusk, when Eris failed to answer the door, her frantic father broke it down.

They found Eris lying on the flood of her parents' bedroom.

She had been shot once above the heart. Her father's small calibre pistol was by her side. One shell had been fired from its chamber.

Eris' classmates silently went about their chores in this small central Texas town tonight. They had heard what had happened to Eris. Some of them walked past the morgue, where Eris' body awaited funeral arrangements.

Tomorrow there may not be any school.

State Prison's "Forgotten Men" Are Sought By Pardons Board Officials

(By The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, May 21. — J. B. Keith, manager of the Huntsville branch of the state board of pardons and paroles opened his office here today and announced that the "forgotten men" of the state prison system may look forward to a changed status.

He said he was formed a rough idea for keeping in touch with all convicts through the identification office at the prison.

Keith will have three assistants here, former Representative C. C. Canon of Honey Grove, Emmett Galloway of Amarillo and P. H. Singletary of Huntsville. Their office adjoins the warden's office.

Singletary is secretary and Canon and Galloway inspectors.

Keith said that through the identification office, the board will be able to determine when prisoners are eligible for clemency of any kind. He said it would be the contact men's duties to hunt out "forgotten men," or men too poor to obtain help in getting their releases.

"Of course," he said, "we can't turn them all out. But if applicants are deserving, no one will be found more sympathetic than the board of pardons and paroles."

The second branch of the pardon board has offices at Austin.

Southern Farmer 'Loves Cotton' And Has No Desire To Transfer That Affection To The Dairy Cow, Day Tells Solons

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 21. — The house agriculture committee was told today the Southern farmer "loves cotton" and has no desire to transfer that affection to the dairy cow.

When Representative Andresen (R-Minn) complained that many southern farmers were turning to dairying in competition with farmers of his section, Clifford H. Day, of Plainview, Texas, vice president of the Texas Agriculture association, replied:

"The Southern farmer loves cotton. He cannot learn to love the cow."

Day declared that if the dairy farmer would help the cotton farmer enact the proposed "Agricultural Adjustment act of 1937," drafted by major farm organizations, the cotton farmer would be enabled to make a living without turning to dairying.

Japanese View Is Expressed

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 21.—K. Fukishima, acting chairman of the Japanese economic mission, said here today that Japan is sympathetic toward the reciprocal trade principles as proposed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull. He expressed the hope that members of the mission, stopping here today, might discuss the proposals with Hull when they visit Washington.

Another member of the party, Genge Kodero, president of Dai Nippon Cotton Spinning company, Osaka, said the mission would like to see the possibilities of increased American use of Japan's raw silk and general merchandise so that trade between the two countries might approximate a balance.

"As Texans well know" Mr. Kodera said "Japan buys more from America than any country in the world except Canada and Great Britain. Japan purchases more from the United States than from all the rest of Asia combined. We buy about 400,000,000 yen of Texas and other American cotton alone, to say nothing of oil, hides and skins and other commodities produced in Texas. In return, America is the largest market for Japan."

The visitors left tonight for Houston.

Permanent CCC Is Voted By Senate

WASHINGTON, May 21. (AP) — Economy advocates failed to persuade the senate today to join a house revolt against President Roosevelt's request that the Civilian Conservation Corps be made permanent.

The senate approved the administration's bill to make the CCC camps a permanent federal enterprise, with only Senators King (D-Utah) and Borah (R-Idaho) opposed on the final vote.

Earlier Senator Byrd (D-Va.), vainly urged that the life of the corps be extended for only two years at this time. His proposal was voted down 42 to 26.

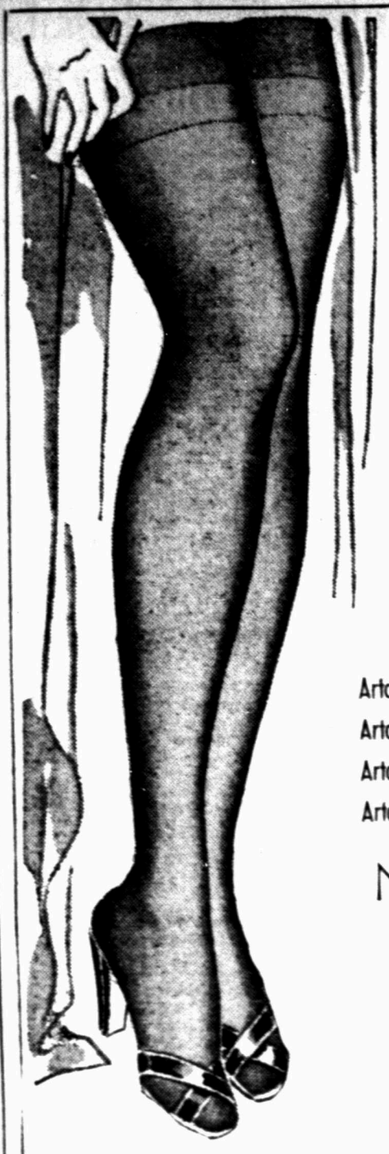

Seventeen Democrats — most of them leaders in the current economy campaign—joined Republicans in voting for the two-year extension, but were swamped by the solid bloc of administration supporters.

Constituent Elements Of Food To Be "Earmarked" In Test To Trace Their Courses

MINNEAPOLIS, May 21 (AP)—University of Minnesota scientists projected today an experiment to "earmark" constituent elements of food with six million volts of electricity in an effort to trace their course after digestion when the board of regents announced acceptance of a $36,000 gift from the Rockefeller foundation. Part of the money will be used in the construction of a generator capable of producing from 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 volts.

The generator will "bombard" into radio-activity such common chemical elements as phosphorus, calcium, sodium and potassium. From their lodging places in tissues or bones they then will give off radiations detectible by devices already available.

Officers Seek Lost Woman

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 21. (AP)—Baffled by a disappearance mystery brought to their attention almost two years to the day after four Illinois tourists dropped from sight in New Mexico, authorities sought today Miss Martha Rebecca Pifer, 40-year-old U. S. Indian sanatorium nurse.

Miss Pifer, who came here from Strasburg, Va., last October, was last seen six days ago. While her strange absence was called to the attention of the Indian service investigation bureau local authorities were not notified until late last night.

Search Is Launched

State police, the Bernalillo county sheriff's office and Albuquerque police launched into the mystery this morning.

A cursory search of the mesa east of Albuquerque on which the hospital is located revealed nothing.

The woman, described as 5 feet 2 inches tall, with dark hair and complexion, was last seen Friday morning, her day off.

Missing Woman Is Member Of A Prominent Family

WOODSTOCK, Va., May 21. (AP)—Miss Martha Pifer, who disappeared from the U. S. Indian sanatorium at Albuquerque, N. M., Friday, is a member of a prominent Shenandoah valley family.

Her father formerly was commissioner of the revenue in Shenandoah county and widely known in northern Virginia.

Miss Pifer, 40 years old, was assistant superintendent of the sanatorium, relatives said. She received her training and graduation from Rockingham Memorial hospital, Harrisonburg, Va.

Her twin sister, Mrs. George Chapman, and her brother-in-law left Woodstock late Wednesday night for Albuquerque after learning of Miss Pifer's disappearance.

Other relatives, who said they had not heard from the nurse in more than a week, declared they did not "know what to think about this."

She is the sister of Dr. H. I. Pifer, Winchester, Va., surgeon.

Baby Left Stranded By Its Father Gets Many Offers

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 21 (AP)—Thelma Josephine, the six weeks old baby left stranded at the county clinic because her father wanted no girls in his family, had scores of prospective foster parents today.

Scores of inquiries poured into the clinic, said Miss Thelma Ruff, superintendent, from persons wishing to adopt the girl left unwanted after her father issued stern orders she was not to be brought home because "I'll have only boys in my house." Thelma Josephine, the name given her by clinic attendants who have been caring for the child, has five brothers.

Clinic officials refused to disclose the identity of the child's parents and have made no effort to make them claim the baby.

K. Carter Winner Of Local Prize

K. Carter school was announced late Thursday as winner of the $5 cash prize for its record of cooperation in the city-wide cleanup-paint-up drive.

Asa W. May, general chairman, also announced the following winners of $2.50 awards for rooms in individual schools:

Dupre school, room 208, Miss Lois Hale, teacher; Sanders, room 4, Miss Lola Mangum; Guadalupe, room 2, Mrs. D. Jarrett; Geo. M. Hunt, room 6, Mrs. J. Ballenger; Central Ward, room 204, Mrs. Lattie Rankin; K. Carter, room 213, Miss Dimple Ann Watson; Junior High school, room 117, R. L. Burdette; and Dunbar, room 2, Cornelia Branch.

Junior High Class First

Burdette's class at Junior High school made the best record of all individual rooms, May said. Dunbar school for negroes won second place among schools.

Leaflets inviting pledges of cooperation with the campaign were taken into homes by pupils last week. The number of the pledges returned in proportion to the number distributed and the nature of cleanup work promised determined prize winners.

The campaign, which will close May 24, followed schedule today. Boy Scouts finished their second inspection of back yards and alleys during the afternoon, and their reports are to be completed by 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Saturday they will stage their annual junk gathering campaign, in which they will pick up nails and similarly dangerous articles from city streets and pile them together at city hall. Scouts participating will receive a free ticket to either the Lindsey, Texan, Broadway or Lyric theaters as a reward for their activities.
